Key Club Honorees

secretary Ronald Plummer and president Ricky Matchett. The Hereford club was ranked ninth out of the 226 organizations represented at the convention. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

Hereford High Key Clubbers Bestowed Convention Honors

The Hereford High School Key Club was ranked ninth out of 266 clubs in the Texas-Oklahoma Key Club Convention recently in Dallas.

The ranking marks the first time in Hereford High history that the club has been considered as one of the top 10 clubs in Oklahoma and Texas, according to Gene Brock, Key Club advisor.

Brock was named outstanding faculty advisor for 1977-78 during the convention, held in the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Mitchell George of Hereford, district secretary for 1977-78, was recognized by the district board and governor as the outstanding district officer for the year. George assisted in preparations for the convention and presided in the opening of the first session.

George received his honor for excellence in performing the secretary's duties, which included grading the 266 club reports, reporting grades to the clubs and district officers and assuring their publication in the district newsletter.

Ricky Matchett, president of the Hereford Key Club, received the $500 Doyle Stalcup Scholarship, awarded annually to a Key Clubber who demonstrates leadership and dedication to the organization. Stalcup was a long-time regional counselor for Key Club.

Ronald Plummer of Hereford was a recipient of the Tom Duncan Memorial

Bell Says He's for Alien Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter Administration believes that millions of illegal aliens will come out of hiding and register with the government if the president's proposed Alien Adjustment and Employment Act becomes law.

Movement

Meeting

Set Tonight

Local residents will receive an explanation of the long-range goals of the American Agriculture Movement and an update on its recent activities during a meeting to be held at the Bull Barn tonight at 8:30.

Gerald McCathern of Hereford, who recently returned from a meeting with the legislative branch of the AAM will be the speaker.

According to McCathern, a bill for achieving AAM goals will be introduced by Rep. Richard Nolan of Minnesota in the near future.

The bill includes provisions for 100 percent parity, a quota system for producers, import tariffs and a provision for a board of agriculture producers to serve within the USDA.

AAM is requesting that all agribusinessmen, farmers, cattlemen and their wives attend tonight's session.

Following tonight's meeting and a similar one to be held in Panhandle on Tuesday, a delegate body of AAM representatives from various states will meet in Washington on May 18.

According to McCathern, the delegate body will determine if the pending bill outlines a program AAM will support.

is a provision that calls for establishment of a temporary resident alien status for any alien that entered the country illegally after 1976. The alien could remain "temporary" for a maximum of five years.

"While the bill does not specify what will happen to the temporary resident aliens after the five-year period, this is not intended merely as a postponement of a major decision; rather it is a part of a step-by-step approach to a major social problem," said Attorney General Griffin B. Bell during testimony Wednesday before the Senate committee considering the bill.

"The important underlying question that must be answered is whether, once the facts are presented, the undocumented aliens will decide that it's worthwhile to come out of hiding," Bell continued.

"We believe that they will because the advantages of the temporary status so outweigh the disadvantages. The most important advantage is the right to live and work in the United States without fear of apprehension by the authorities and without being easy targets for exploitation by unscrupulous employers or landlords."

The attorney general also pointed out that the administration's plan also calls for adjustment of revenue sharing formulas to account for the impact of temporary alien residents on state and local governmental services.

Bell and Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher testified before a Senate Judiciary Committee session concerning the bill proposed by President Carter in August 1977.

The bill was introduced in the Senate by four Democrats, including Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland of Mississippi. At the conclusion of Bell's testimony, Eastland invited the attorney general to return to answer questions "when more members of the committee

Governor Endorses John Hill

CATARINA, Texas (AP) - Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will support Attorney General John Hill in the November general election against Republican Bill Clements of Dallas. The Dallas Times Herald reported today.

In a copyright story, Briscoe told the newspaper in an interview at his South Texas ranch here that he will support Hill because "I was born a Democrat and I'll die a Democrat."

Briscoe, who lost the Democratic Party's gubernatorial nomination in last Saturday's primary election to Hill, also said he will remain active in politics and may again run for governor someday.

There have been reports indicating that Clements wants to meet with Briscoe, reportedly to seek Briscoe's support against Hill.

Of his future plans concerning politics and another possible attempt to return to the governor's mansion, Briscoe said "I don't have any plans but I certainly don't want to close the door on politics. I'm not going to foreclose on anything in the future."

Briscoe declined in the interview to discuss at length the election or to speculate on what caused his defeat. "I'm not going into a post mortem right now. What has happened, has happened. People have spoken and I'm going to look to the future," Briscoe said.

Jane Briscoe, the governor's wife, had more to say about the election than her husband. She said her husband was the target of a "mean campaign."

Burelsmith Named Investigator

Patrol Sergeant Larry Burelsmith of the Hereford Police Department has been hired as investigator for the Deaf Smith County District Attorney's office. The Brand learned today.

Burelsmith, who has resigned from the police department in order to begin his new duties on Monday, will investigate felonies and major misdemeanors for the DA's office.

"I thought this would be an improved position for me, give me a greater understanding of the law and help me with my career," said Burelsmith, 28, a police officer in Hereford for 7 1/2 years.

"I give a lot of credit to my police career to Chief Bush (Don Bush), and it's been a rewarding experience the last seven years working with the police department. I just felt this would be a chance to improve myself."

Burelsmith, who is married and has two children, worked as a fingerprint clerk with the Federal Bureau of Investigation prior to joining the police force. He holds an intermediate certificate in law enforcement.

Burelsmith is the second policeman to recently resign from the department. Bud McClendon quit late last month to become juvenile probation officer for the county.

The new investigator will be the second new face in the DA's office Monday, with WASHINGTON - Senior members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say President Carter's promise to sell 20 extra warplanes to Israel will not stop a bruising floor fight by critics of his proposed Mideast jet plane sale.

On the eve of today's committee vote on the issue, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and others said a divisive fight now is inevitable, in part because the Carter compromise did not produce the consensus once expected.

Church also said that a close reading of arms sale law shows that opponents of the sales can kill the deal on the Senate floor even if the committee refuses to adopt a disapproval resolution.

To kill the deal - which also includes sales to Egypt and Saudi Arabia - both the House and the Senate must adopt rejection resolutions by May 28.

Church said the assumption that the sale would go forward if the committee failed to adopt a resolution is incorrect because the law permits members to call for rejection on the floor despite committee inaction.

Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Robert Dole, R-Kan., say they are prepared to call for such resolutions.

In addition to the commitment to sell Israel the additional planes in the mid-1980s, the administration promised to give sympathetic consideration to future Israeli requests for planes.

It also issued a series of assurances to increase confidence that Saudi Arabia will never use the planes to attack Israel.

The original Carter proposal called for selling 15 F-15s and 75 F-16s to Israel, 60 F-15s to Saudi Arabia and 50 less advanced F-5Es to Egypt.

Selling Israel the 20 extra F-15s will bring the Israeli and Saudi Arabian F-15 fleets to 60 each.

Although administration officials described Carter's compromise as his last, some senators, including Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said they hope more concessions are forthcoming.

He said he believes the administration should adjust the sales totals to match estimates of defense needs originally issued by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

That would mean adding 75 F-16s to the Israeli sale and subtracting 20 F-15s from the planes to be sold to Saudi Arabia.

Key House opponents of the Carter deal also said the compromise offer is insufficient to allay their fears of a possible Saudi threat to Israeli security.

But Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House International Relations Committee, said the real issue is the proposal arouses so many emotions that few members want to go on record as voting on it.

Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., the Republican leader, had been a principal negotiator in the process that saw the Carter compromise become a reality after

Amount of Grain Depends on Nature

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a highly tentative look at global crop prospects in the coming year, the Agriculture Department says that world grain reserves a year from now could be the largest ever or more than 20 percent below their present levels.

It depends on the weather, the department's Foreign Agriculture Service said Wednesday in its first projection of 1978-79 world grain production and use. For the first time, the agency used a two-weather-based alternatives in its figures.

For example, with good weather the Soviet Union's 1978 total grain harvest could get a record of 229 million metric tons, compared with 195.5 million last year and the old record of 223.8 million tons in 1976, the report indicated.

Even with poor weather, the Soviet grain harvest this year could be around 191 million tons, the fifth largest in Russian history. Moscow's goal is 220 million tons of grain this year.

The projected Soviet grain figures included 217 million tons of wheat and coarse grains such as corn and barley under the good-weather alternative and 183 million tons with poor weather, the report said.

Not included in the report were miscellaneous grains such as rice, beans and peas which Moscow counts in its over-all grain production statistics. A USDA official said that those could total 12 million tons with good weather and eight million tons with poor weather. Looking at total world grain possibilities, the report said that production in 1978-1979 could be 1,168 billion tons with good weather and 1,033 billion with poor weather, compared with

New Cheerleaders Named at HHS

Ballots were tallied this morning at Hereford High School to determine the school's cheerleaders for the 1978-79 year.

Chosen by their peers were Ronda Clark, Staci Payne, Diana Castro and Judy Hill, all seniors, and Laura Martin and Janae Pagett, both juniors.

Triouts for the coveted cheerleading positions were staged Wednesday before the entire student body, who then voted on the candidates.

Iranian Protests Continue in Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Troops firing tear gas and bullets into the air routed thousands of demonstrators shouting "Down With The Shah!" on Tehran's main street today, the third day of anti-government protests in Iran.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi postponed his visit to Hungary and Bulgaria four days, and an informed source said he took personal command of a special headquarters set up to prevent "unnecessary bloodshed."

There were no reports of casualties in the latest demonstration. But at least nine persons have been killed in riots in the holy city of Qum, Tabriz and 32 other cities and towns since Tuesday, scores have been injured, and millions of dollars worth of public property has been damaged.

The troops opened fire today when the mob defied orders to halt and began marching toward the telecommunications building on Nasser-Khosrow Street. There also were reports of shooting on Cyrus Street, east of the Tehran bazaar.

The demonstrators had listened to two hours of anti-government speeches in the Jome Mosque in the heart of the troop-ringed bazaar before taking to the streets.

The official reason for the postponement of the departure of the Shah and Empress Farah for Hungary and Bulgaria was that the Shah had a "cold." They were to have left Friday.

OSHA Says It Warned About Scaffold

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal safety engineer warned 14 months ago that "disastrous consequences" could result from questionable repairs to a West Virginia scaffold that collapsed April 27, plunging 51 men to their deaths.

But the warning apparently was lost in the bureaucracy of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration until only recently.

Frank Greer, an aide to OSHA administrator Eulah Bingham, said a memo warning of possible disaster at the Willow Island, W. Va., site came to the attention of OSHA officials in Washington only this week.

"Some people here are madder than hell," Greer said.

The memo was written by Walter Wilson, an OSHA safety engineer who conducted what superiors described as a "detailed inspection" of the ill-fated scaffolding at Willow Island in March 1977.

Wilson's memo was made public Wednesday by Health Research Group, a Ralph Nader-affiliated organization which obtained it under the Freedom of Information Act.

In it, Wilson wrote that the scaffolding was badly in need of repairs when first shipped to the Monongahela Power Co.'s Pleasants Power Station site at Willow Island two years earlier.

Since then, he added, repairs were made by field mechanics without the knowledge of qualified engineers.

Man Kills Wife, Stabs 2 Others

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Four hours after Richard Greist was seen standing outside his house with his arm around his pregnant wife, he dashed from the home, his bare chest and trousers splashed with blood.

State police say Greist, 27, a training aide at a state hospital for the retarded, had mutilated and killed his wife and her unborn child, blinded his 6-year-old daughter in one eye and stabbed his grandmother.

State police said the wounds may have been inflicted with a screwdriver. They did not know what triggered the quarrel Wednesday.

Greist was arraigned Wednesday night on one count of criminal homicide and two counts of attempted criminal homicide and jailed without bail.

Chester County District Attorney William Lamb said Pennsylvania law makes no provision for charging Greist in connection with the death of the 7-month-old fetus.

Greist was subdued by police in a field after charging from the house where police said he had held the victims about two hours. He was led to a police car sobbing.

Terrorists Continue Rampage in Italy

ROME (AP)—Terrorists wounded an Italian bank manager today as the Christian Democratic government's allies in Parliament demanded stronger police policies because of the government's failure to catch Aldo Moro's kidnappers and prevent his murder.

Moro's family buried him at private village rites Wednesday, one day after his bullet-riddled body was found in a car in downtown Rome. But the government planned a state funeral without a body Saturday in defiance of the family's demand that there be no official rites. The family is angry because of the refusal of the Christian Democrats to negotiate with the terrorists of the Red Brigades for Moro's release.

Police in Milan said a man and a woman shot Marzio Astarita, the 37-year-old manager of a branch of the Chemical Bank of New York, as he left home for his office. Three bullets hit his legs, the target of "kneecapping" attacks by the Red Brigades, but one shot hit him in the stomach, and his condition was believed serious.

It was the sixth such attack in six days. Police said the terrorists escaped in a waiting car driven by an accomplice.

Interior Minister Francesco Cossiga, whose ministry controls the police, resigned Wednesday because of the government's failure to save the former premier, and legislators from several political parties said Justice Minister Paolo Bonifacio should also quit.

Police Report

Twana Kendrick, 404 Ave. C, reported to Hereford police that someone knocked out a window in her car with rocks or clods sometime Wednesday night.

Police also are investigating obscene phone calls to a convenience store.

NEW PENNEY CHIEF

Julius Bodner has been named the new manager of the J.C. Penney store at Sugarland Mall. He replaces Cleve Corliss, who recently retired from the company and moved to Colorado. Bodner is a native of Atlanta, Ind., and has been with Penney's for 12 years. He served in the U.S. Air Force five years and attended San Antonio Junior College. He met his wife, Sharon at San Antonio. They have one son, Jason, age 9. Bodner has been associated with Penney stores at San Antonio and Waco, and was manager at Hamilton, Mo., before moving to Hereford. He was a member of the Lions Club in Hamilton and he and his wife were active in the Methodist Church.

0 Plus Dialing To Arrive Here

Zero-Plus Dialing comes to Hereford telephone users early Saturday morning according to Southwestern Bell Manager Gary Terry.

"Zero-Plus Dialing works much like One-Plus," Terry said. "The customer dials zero, then the area code, if different from his own, and then the distant telephone number." Zero-Plus is used for person-to-person, collect or credit card calls, calls billed to a third number, or calls from pay phones and hotels/motels.

"The advantages of Zero-Plus are numerous," Terry said. "Long distance calls can be handled faster, more efficiently, billing is automatic to prevent fewer long distance billing errors and emergency calls can be handled better."

"The primary benefit of Zero-Plus," said Terry, "is that customers are able to dial their own operator-assisted long distance calls."

'Homework' Important In Buying Appliances

COLLEGE STATION — Consumer "homework" before buying a major appliance can pay off—money-wise and time-wise.

The wise consumer will want to invest sound pre-purchase study to maximize purchase satisfaction and avoid the pitfalls experienced by consumers who buy appliances in a hasty and uninformed manner, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist.

Unfortunately, in all too many situations, major appliances are hastily purchased and the consumer becomes a victim of his or her own lack of pre-purchase thought and investigation.

Dr. McKinney is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Consumer appliance buying and features, fuel requirements and energy efficiency, family size and lifestyle, and available space, she suggests.

Also, the wise consumer will think in advance about what questions to ask and discuss with the appliance dealers and salespeople.

Dr. McKinney recommends asking about items such as the following:

- (1) Is the delivery and installation cost included in the sales price or are these charges extra? If the charges are extra, what will the estimated cost be?
- (2) What is the estimated operating (fuel) cost of the appliance on an annual basis and over its' lifetime?
- (3) Does the dealer service the appliance? If not, where can authorized service be obtained?
- (4) Will the dealer arrange for a demonstration of the appliance—especially the special or unique features?
- (5) What information is available in the use and care manual? The dealer should have one available from the floor models on display. Ask to see it—it will suggest additional pertinent questions about the specific appliance.

(6) What safety or certification seals are applied to the appliance to indicate safety, performance and durability standards? American Gas Association, Underwriter's Laboratories and the AHAM certification seals are those commonly used.

In addition, the consumer will need to consider the appliance cost in relation to the family budget.

Color and style factors, size or capacity requirements, and construction features that will contribute to long-term durability, ease of cleaning and convenience are also important, the specialist adds.

AG Opinions

Attorney General John Hill held the Texas Commission on Jail Standards lacks authority to promulgate a rule equalizing salaries of county jail personnel with those of law enforcement officers in the field.

The opinion noted commissioners courts have authority to fix salaries of jail personnel at a level lower than the pay of other county law enforcement officers of equal rank and seniority.

Hill also concluded two employees of Dallas County Community College accused of sexual harassment could see only part of a grievance filed against them by a female employee of the school. No violation of law was alleged.

In another opinion, Hill said the three-year statute of limitations for collection of unemployment contributions does not prohibit Texas Employment Commission from filing suit. The statute applies to a suit by the commission to recover an overpayment of benefits but does not apply to the deduction of overpayments from future benefits.

Short Snorts

J. Michael Irish of Lubbock is new president elect of the Texas Young Lawyers Association. Irish defeated Eduardo Rodriguez of Brownsville in written balloting.

Texas stood third in the U.S. with $6.6 billion in cash receipts for its farm goods in 1977. Texas also has the most acreage—139.8 million—devoted to farming and ranching and the largest number—197,000—of farms and ranches.

Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation will accept bids May 17-18 for 57 highway improvement projects estimated to cost $89 million.

A tax to finance the Texas Utility Commission produced seven times more than was necessary to do the job last year. Revenue was $9.1 million, and the agency's budget $1.2 million. The budget next year has been raised to $3.85 million.

Texas officials ignored a deadline for developing "ombudsman" programs to help nursing home patients, in spite of warnings a federal grant may be lost.

Allowing for variables in consumption, world grain stocks left over in mid-1979 could range from a low of 135.1 million tons to a record of 22.7 million tons, the report said.

The expected world grain reserve left over his July 1 is 174.8 million tons, down slightly from 176 million last year. World grain stocks were a record of 197.1 million tons in 1969 before skidding because of poor harvests in many are present. Eastland and another sponsor of the bill, Dennis DeConcini of Arizona, were the only members of the 17-senator committee present during Bell's testimony.

Some of the bill's other controversial measures include sanctions against employers who hire undocumented workers and amnesty for illegals who entered the country prior to January 1977.

Bell stressed "the need to move forward now to come to grips with the difficult and complex social problems associated with massive illegal immigration."

"It is also argued that the problem of illegal immigration is too controversial, that we will never be able to agree as a government and as a people on what the proper solution should be," Bell added.

"I disagree because I have great faith in the ability of Americans to achieve political and social progress through creative compromise. The administration's proposals have been offered as a means of opening the dialogue with the Congress and with the public."

"Some may say that not enough is known about illegal immigration to make policy decisions... and, while the exact dimensions of the illegal alien population are not known, it is clear what the impacts of this population are," he continued.

"Thus, steps must be taken to do something about the problem of undocumented aliens irrespective of whether 2.5 million or 5.2 million are in the nation.

By mid-1976 global stocks of wheat and coarse grains were down to 114.9 million tons but have jumped sharply since then because of recent good crops.

"A candid assessment of the 1978-1979 global supply-demand outlook for grains must reflect the fact that worldwide crop conditions continue to be highly variable, and any projections made this early for the 1978-1979 global crop season are particularly tenuous," the report said.

Another factor in the outlook is the and membership development. There also were training sessions for all officers, directors and members of each local club.

Numerous contests were held during the convention, with the Hereford club entering the oratorical and scrapbook contests. Jim Banner, Hereford Key Club editor, submitted the scrapbook, while Bret Hallows and Ryan Lawson it was suggested by former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"I think the last thing we need in the Senate right now is a knock-down, drag-out fight on this subject and I think there ought to be a way to avoid it," Baker said.

But he said he sees nothing that might serve as the basis of an acceptable compromise and consequently is stepping aside as a negotiator. "I tried to be a peacemaker and failed," Baker said.

One member who was convinced by the administration offer was Sen. Muriel Humphrey, D-Minn. "I'm going to go along with the administration," she said.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., called the Carter-Kissinger approach to compromise "fair and reasonable."

But Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., said that no number of additional planes for Israel can win his support for the sales plan because. "I do not believe added arms enhance peace."

U.S. crop situation and the acreage cutbacks by the Carter administration for 1978 wheat and feed grains in order for farmers to qualify for federal price support benefits.

With poor weather, U.S. grain output would decline sharply while other countries collectively would produce about the same as last year, the report said. Even with good weather, U.S. grain production might increase only 2 percent to 3 percent this year while production in other countries would go up around 10 percent.

practicable and that the rationale behind it is sound. It is also necessary, I might add, because it is the only way to get the people illegals to come out and register.

Bell also said there is "no magic" in the Jan. 1, 1977 amnesty date. "It is an attempt to meet legitimate humanitarian and practical concerns without creating incentives for increased migration, which a complete amnesty most surely would do."

Christopher said the State Department had contacted officials in countries that contribute most to the illegal alien problem in the United States. He mentioned four specific meetings with officials in Mexico and, when asked by DeConcini if he believed Mexico was cooperating on a "reluctant basis," Christopher replied: "I take Mexican President Luis Portillo at his word when he says they want to export their products, not their workers."

Teddy Bear Lovers Abound in Country

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Jan Meyrick was sitting near a Christmas fire to ward off the Boston oil when her husband casually picked up a worn teddy bear and pointed a miniature cap pistol at the bear's head.

"Jan, look at this," he said, kiddingly, and pretended to pull the trigger.

"I went white," she recalls.

In Jan's mind, "Cowslip," a silent friend and confidante since she was an infant, momentarily faced death.

"He didn't pull the trigger," she says with relief. It was as if in holding back, her husband had reaffirmed her belief that he was a good man - and saved a life.

Jan, 28, a petite blonde secretary, is a "bear person." She always has been and always will be. To teddy bear lovers, age doesn't matter.

Bear books tell us Prince Charles of England took his bear to prep school; Elvis Presley was fond of them; and John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson played with them as children.

The Soviets reportedly are featuring a teddy bear known as "Micha" as the 1980 Olympic mascot.

The Good Bears of the World (GBW) - which furnishes teddy bears to children in hospitals - has headquarters in Bern, Switzerland, and publishes a Honolulu newsletter that goes to an adult "underground" of bear lovers around the world.

Austin has its share of arctophiles - bear lovers.

"It's only recently that grown people have been willing to admit their affection for teddy bears," says Jan.

"Men did not show sentiment," says pharmacist Juan Ochoa, 29, "but things have changed."

He started his collection when a friend gave him "Bubba," a bear that had been hugged by numerous young children during mental health counseling.

After initial embarrassment, he talks of his bears with ease. "Every bear," he says, "was given to me by someone close to me. Besides, bears are huggable and I consider myself a huggable person."

Bear lovers seek each other out for "bear talk," but most are inveterate collectors and are careful not to disclose their sources. Jan, for example, has first refusal rights on bears found by a Massachusetts dealer, but she prefers not to divulge the name.

She once spent $80 trying in an unsuccessful attempt to trace a $30 bear she glimpsed at a flea market.

Tennie Hefner propped her bear up at her clothing shop for company, but so many customers asked to buy it that she took it home.

Mary Gayle Stromberger and Shelley Dumas stocked a few bears at "Grandmother's House," a children's boutique, and they sold so quickly they are now on constant order.

The "BB Bear" - basic brown bear - has become the store's signature, and the women given a party each year on Oct. 27, which is "Good Bear Day."

That is Teddy Roosevelt's birthday. The origin of the name "teddy bear" is a 1902 Washington Star cartoon of the former president refusing to shoot a bear cub.

Guests at the annual party include a bear once owned by Gladys Ray, who wrote the book on which the movie "Red River" was based, and "Teddy Williams," whose nearly furless appearance shows his age of 70 or so.

He belonged to Cal Williams of San Antonio, who is 67 and received the bear as a hand-me-down from his father.

Further evidence that bears are part of a man's world, too, is the bear Mrs. Stromberger and Mrs. Dumas gave their carpenter, James Inman. The next time he did some work for them he brought along his bear, dressed in overalls that were a replica of those he wore.

"There is an insatiable demand for bears," says Mrs. Dumas. "and the old ones are not easy to find."

"I gave one away when I was 14," Jan remembers, "and I've regretted it ever since. I wonder if he has been well taken care of."

Counties Liable For Warnings

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Counties can be sued for deaths and injuries if they fail to provide adequate warnings of flooded stream crossings, the Texas Supreme Court held Wednesday.

The decision, which could have serious impact on state and local governments, upheld a Waco Court of Civil Appeals ruling.

Finding "no reversible error" in the appeals court decision, the high court did not write a new opinion of its own.

The decision gives Estline Aleta McVicker the right to a full trial of her $434,000 lawsuit against Johnson County.

She was injured and her husband was drowned when their pickup truck was washed off County Road 705 by floodwaters of Buffalo Creek at 5:10 a.m. June 10, 1975.

Mrs. McVicker contended the county was at fault and should pay because there was no flood gauge or other warning signs at the crossing.

The county said the McVickers were well acquainted with the road and voluntarily risked traveling it even though it was covered with water for several

Conviction Upheld

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Kerry Andrus Crocker's conviction on charges of castrating his son by radiation was upheld Wednesday by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Crocker, a petroleum engineer, was sentenced to 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine following his conviction by a Harris County jury.

Crocker was divorced in 1971, but his sons Kirk and Patrick visited their father frequently on weekends and for a month during the summer of 1972.

In 1971, Crocker received a license to possess cesium 137, a substance which is radioactive even when encased in a steel capsule. When he applied for his license, Crocker said he needed the cesium for professional reasons.

Kirk, then 11, began noticing sores on his thighs following visits to his father's apartment. He also testified that he noticed small metal cylinders inside an earphone his father told him to use when watching television.

The boy at one point found a medicine bottle with three metal cylinders under his pillow.

Kirk's hair temporarily fell out in 1973, and he was later hospitalized for several months.

One of several physicians who examined Kirk said radiation ulcers had caused one of the boy's testicles to disintegrate and the other was left non-functional.

The appeals court rejected Crocker's arguments that the state should have separated the alleged attempts to injure Kirk instead of considering the acts of one offense.

Former Duval Judge Remains In Prison after Court Ruling

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday upheld the theft conviction and four-year prison sentence assessed O.P. Carrillo, whom the Senate removed as Duval County district judge in 1976.

Carrillo, who also has been disbarred and is serving a federal prison sentence on a tax evasion conviction, was convicted of stealing from the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District.

According to testimony and evidence at Carrillo's trial in Edinburg, the transaction worked this way:

Carrillo bought a station wagon in November 1971 for $5,631, obtaining a 60-day bank loan and paying for the vehicle with a personal check.

Two months later, the water district paid four invoices totaling $5,625 to Benavides Implement and Hardware, in which Carrillo was a "silent partner." Carrillo's father was president of the district board at the time.

Rodolfo Couling, who operated Benavides Implement and Hardware, said the store had neither performed services nor sold goods to the county.

Couling said he deposited the check, then gave Carrillo a blank check on the firm's account. The check was made out to Carrillo's bank for $5,725 and was used to pay off the loan for the station wagon, with interest.

Carrillo contended the evidence did not clearly account for his activities and might show he received stolen property but was not guilty of theft.

"We do not find these arguments to be persuasive," the court said.

The evidence here showed a common design and understanding between appellant (Carrillo and Couling, and perhaps others,) to steal money from the water district," the court said.

It said that under the circumstances disclosed in the trial, "the evidence is sufficient to show that appellant was a principal to the theft."

Carrillo contended that Couling's accomplice testimony was not sufficiently backed up by other evidence, as required by Texas law.

But the court said the evidence "meshes perfectly with the testimony of the accomplice witness Couling and makes that testimony more likely than not."

"The relationship of the persons, the similarity of the amounts of money involved, and especially the timing of the event ties in appellant with the commission of the offense charged," the court said.

Carrillo was indicted in Duval County, and he contended the indictment was invalid because members of his political faction were systematically excluded from the grand jury.

"The overwhelming preponderance of the evidence, however, showed no discernible class of persons who could be identified as the 'Carrillo Party,'" the court said.

Undercover Agent Lived Shady Life

HOUSTON (AP) - He would come home in filthy clothes, unshaven weeping from exhaustion after three or four days on the streets. The neighbors would shake their heads in disgust.

His wife once saw him driving a $10,000 car with a beautiful woman sitting closely by his side.

The family had no close friends and his three children couldn't answer the question, "What does your daddy do for a living?" The children didn't know.

John Tanner, an undercover narcotics agent for the past five years said in an interview, "My God it was tough for the wife and the kids. Sure, I was in danger and I was scared at times, but what they went through was the hardest part."

Tanner, a sergeant with the Harris County Sheriff's Department, said the family can "toot their horns a little now and the kids can do some bragging and they deserve it."

Tanner, 35, recently was presented the National Drug Enforcement of the Year award, given by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Although a member of the sheriff's department, Tanner worked mostly with the DEA, traveling throughout the United States.

He has been credited with bringing more than 500 narcotic cases to trial; confiscating more than 10 tons of marijuana, and millions of dollars in heroin and cocaine.

After winning the award, Tanner was pulled off the streets and into the sheriff's office as second in command of the narcotics division.

Born in Tulsa, Okla., the son of a migrant farm worker who traveled from place to place to pick the fruit and harvest the vegetables, Tanner still managed to finish high school, receive additional education while serving with the 101st Airborne Division, and then joining the sheriff's office.

A husky, handsome man, with the build of a highly-trained professional athlete, a flowing mustache, and black hair reaching his shoulders, Tanner said being a "narc" is a chess game.

"You must be one, two, moves ahead. But, remember, we have to play by the rules. The crooks out there have no rules. They do anything and everything they want," he said.

"That's the greatest satisfaction," he said, "to outsmart them, to beat them when they have the odds in their favor."

"Once I conned a guy into delivering me a ton of marijuana without showing a cent. I wore the silk suits and the diamond rings and I outsmarted him and we busted him."

Tanner, dressed in slacks, a sport shirt and with Indian jewelry on three of his fingers, said the narc has to think on his feet because "those people on the street aren't dummies. You have to know the street language. You have to know your product. They'll test you all the time."

"They'll try to pass talcum powder as cocaine, and you must spot it right away and then they'll say, 'okay, you're cool.'"

Tanner also recalled that while attempting to make a heroin buy the dealer tossed a syringe at him and said, "Go ahead and shoot up."

The officer, who said he has never used dope, even marijuana, took the syringe, rolled up a sleeve and then mumbled, "Hell, this isn't a No. 10 needle. My veins are gone. You think I'm going to punch holes in my arms all day."

"Then the dealer was convinced and he told me I was cool and to take the stuff to my pad and use my own rig. And we busted him."

One night Tanner was taken for a ride down a country road and a shotgun was pointed at him and he was accused of being "the man", street language for an undercover officer.

Tanner said to the gunman, "You better pull that trigger ... because if you don't, I'll kill you the first chance I get. That convinced them I wasn't undercover. They figured no cop would react like that and we ended up busting them."

The former undercover agent said the drug problem in Texas, and through the nation, "is a lot worse than people want to realize. Rather than making the laws stronger, they are getting easier and that makes it tough on all of the officers. If it wasn't for the undercover narcs, there would be more junkies and pushers around than you could count."

"No I don't want decriminalization of any drug and that includes marijuana. No scientist has proved to me yet there is no harm in smoking pot."

11 South Texans Indicted In State Manpower Scandal

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) -

The federal government has added its part to the growing Texas Manpower scandal with 11 indictments charging eight South Texans with alleged grand jury has also indicted

The indictments, handed down Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Brownsville, came on the heels of a Travis County grand jury's indictment of two persons less than two weeks ago in the state's probe of the alleged misapplication of funds.

A Cameron County Brownsville grand jury has also indicted 19 persons resulting from its local probe.

Tony Canales, U.S. Attorney for the solution district of Texas, said the federal indictments contained 86 counts of fraud against the government, conspiracy and providing false information to banks.

Among those named Tuesday were Don and Clarence Gray, free on bond in the state case. Don Gray is the business manager and financial secretary of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local Union No. 823. He was named in six federal indictments alleging 68 counts of wrongdoing. His brother Clarence, who headed South Texas Building Trades Educational Service Inc., was named in 57 counts in five indictments.

Clarence Gray's secretary, Cruz Z. Castillo, was named in three indictments, 46 counts, for alleged misapplication of various amounts of Title I training funds.

The earlier indictments had alleged the Grays conspired to steal more than $10,000 from the state. The brothers also face indictments from a state court of inquiry's investigation, conducted by State District Judge

Darrell Hester of Brownsville.

Eliseo Sandoval, former executive director of the Associated City-County Economic Development Corp. of Hidalgo County, was named in eight federal indictments, 40 counts.

Nicolas Ramirez Jr., former director of the Hidalgo County Manpower program, was named in five indictments, 19 counts.

Sandoval and Ramirez also were among the 19 indicted by the Cameron County grand jury. They were accused of using their private business to launder kickbacks from the Grays.

Court Tosses Out Judgment

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - County mutual insurance companies - on which many Texans rely when they can't obtain coverage elsewhere - are not covered by deceptive trade practice laws, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The court agreed with an El Paso Court of Civil Appeals decision throwing out all but $3,000 of a $96,403 judgment against the defunct Mobile County Mutual Insurance Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Jewell had obtained triple-damages under deceptive trade practices laws plus $50,508 in exemplary damages for alleged gross negligence, as well as lawyers' fees.

They sued the company after a squabble over payment for fire damages to a mobile home. The firm paid only $6,062, while the Jewells claimed the home, valued at over $16,000, was totaled.

First Savings of San Angelo repossessed the home, used the insurance company's check for repairs, then sold it for $5,000. The Jewells then were sued for the loan balance of $10,000.

The Jewells said Mobile's alleged delaying tactics, coupled with a statement that proof of loss documents were not binding, constituted deceptive trade practices.

A jury in Monahan said failure to pay the claim was a deceptive trade practice and found Mobile acted with malice.

The appeals court, however, agreed with Mobile that it was exempt from the deceptive trade practices law. It also said that when San Angelo Savings accepted Mobile's check, the company was released from further liability.

In upholding the decision, the Supreme Court "called the attention of the Legislature" to the fact that county mutual customers lack "the protection against unfair and deceptive insurance acts or practices afforded to persons who deal with other types of insurance companies."

Today In History

Today is Thursday, May 11, the 131st day of 1978. There are 234 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1943, American forces landed on Attu Island in the Aleutians. It was the first American territory regained from Japan in World War II.

On this date: In 1507, France annexed the Italian city of Genoa.

In 1674, Peter Stuyvesant became governor of New Amsterdam.

In 1858, Minnesota was admitted to the Union as the 32nd state.

In 1867, the Treaty of London was signed guaranteeing neutrality to Luxembourg and the withdrawal of Prussian troops.

In 1949, Israel was admitted to the United Nations.

In 1972, Ireland voted overwhelmingly in favor of joining the European Common Market.

Ten years ago: Holed-up Communists continued to fight in a southern suburb of Saigon although U.S. planes had pulverized half a square mile in the area.

Five years ago: The white House said the United States would continue bombing in Cambodia although the House of Representatives had blocked future funds for such raids.

One year ago: The final communique of a top-level NATO meeting in London endorsed an American proposal to strengthen the alliance's military force.

Today's birthdays: Song writer Irving Berlin in 90 years old. Artist Salvador Dali is 74.

Time is running out for these five men...

Princess Margaret, Spouse Agree to End Marriage

LONDON (AP) - Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowdon have agreed to a divorce, Buckingham Palace announced Wednesday.

An official statement announcing the impending end of the stormy marriage said:

"Her royal highness, the Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon, and the Earl of Snowdon after two years of separation have now agreed that their marriage should formally be ended. Accordingly her royal highness will start the necessary legal proceedings."

Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth II, separated from her photographer husband March 16, 1976, after 16 years of marriage.

The 47-year-old princess and Lord Snowdon, 48, have two children - David Viscount Linley, 16, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 14.

A spokesman at Kensington Palace, Margaret's home, said the princess had "no plans for re-marriage."

Margaret has drawn criticism in recent months for her friendship with 30-year-old socialite Roddy Llewellyn.

She is currently in King Edward VII Hospital in London suffering from suspected gastroenteritis. The Kensington Palace spokesman said Margaret was "making progress...The result of tests taken by the doctors will not be known until Friday."

He said he had no knowledge of Lord Snowdon's plans. "We are not in a position to comment about Lord Snowdon." The last member of the British royal family to be involved in divorce proceedings was the Earl of Harewood, the queen's cousin, who divorced 11 years ago.

The spokesman said the divorce proceedings were already under way and the princess will be represented by the queen's lawyer, Matthew Farrer.

The queen has been kept informed of the situation but her constitutional consent is not necessary.

"The princess is suing for divorce. This is a technicality, one party has to start the proceedings," the spokesman said. "The marriage has broken down and the couple have lived apart for two years. These are obviously the grounds for divorce."

The 1960 marriage of the effervescent 29-year-old princess and globe-trotting photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones - raised to the peerage as the Earl of Snowdon in 1961 - was a glamorous match that caught the fancy of romantics throughout the world.

But as the years passed, it became clear the relationship was wearing thin. Even before their formal split in 1976, she began to be seen with Llewellyn, a brewery heir who aspires to become a nightclub singer.

The two took frequent vacations together on the Caribbean island of Mustique and often spent weekends together on Llewellyn's Wiltshire farm. Critics, including Church of England clerics, said the affair was damaging to the image of the royal family, and some said Llewellyn was distracting Margaret from her royal duties.

It was disclosed last month that Margaret intended to continue her public life, and the implication was she would not see Llewellyn so often, at least not publicly.

Taxes Get Dander Up

ENON, Ohio (AP) - Dairyman Earl E. Chapman says if the government is going to tax property to pay for schools, it ought to tax the knowledge a person gets by going to school.

"I'm a docile dairyman until I get to talking about taxes," said Chapman, 54. "Then I get my dander up."

He bought his farm in 1965 for $45,000 after more than 10 years of running restaurants in nearby Springfield.

"But they say the farm is worth $125,000 now for tax purposes," he said. "That's $85,000 that I have to pay taxes on that I don't have a penny of because it is unearned increment on the land."

Much of what he pays in property-tax goes to the local school system.

"I'm being educated to poverty," he said, adding that he's thinking about selling his 100-acre farm and 40 head of milk cows.

He said his 1965 property tax bill was $440, but that by the time a new school tax was approved in 1970, his taxes had gone up to $1,120.

"I only made $4,400 that year before taxes," he said.

That rankled him enough to organize a petition drive repealing the school tax. But his tax bill has gotten worse instead of better. His farm was reappraised, as required by law, and he said his taxes are now $1,450 a year.

Chapman, who grew up five miles from where he now lives, walked among his Holsteins as he outlined the reasons he considers property taxes for education unfair.

"They are continuing taxes and if we vote them down they go back on the ballot until they pass," he said.

"When the school boards tell teachers and janitors they'll get a raise if the tax passes, how do you think they will vote? When the teachers tell students the schools will close if their parents don't vote for the tax, how do you think the parents will vote?"

Chapman said educated people should be taxed on knowledge they use to earn a living, just as his farm is taxed.

"They bought their education just like I buy my land and I pay taxes on the land, but they don't have to pay taxes on their knowledge and that irks me," he said. "I use the land to earn my living and they use their knowledge to earn theirs. If the government can tax my investment, then it should tax their knowledge."

Chapman didn't say how this might be accomplished.

Both his son and daughter have some advanced education.

"But my daughter doesn't have to pay tax on the knowledge she learned to be a nurse," Chapman said. "If the government is going to tax my investment in this farm, then it should tax her knowledge."

Chapman said the income tax is the only fair tax he can think of.

"A good tax should be a compulsory contribution of your wealth to help the governing body," he said. "If I make money farming, I'm willing to give it in taxes. But I don't want to be taxed on my working capital."

Mother's Day Ma Bell's Busiest

Many women will be expecting on May 14 this year, but most will be expecting telephone calls.

That's why Southwestern Bell is gearing up to handle calling on Mother's Day, the busiest single day of the year, and offering these tips:

"The heaviest calling periods on Mother's Day are between 9 and 11 a.m. and 7 and 11 p.m.," Gary Terry, Southwestern Bell manager for Hereford, said.

"Because telephone people and equipment are busiest then, some slight delays may result.

To make sure those special calls go through, we are advising customers to call at off-peak times."

Terry said that extra operators will be on duty to handle the expected calling load. "But people should remember that customers dialed calls cost less than operator-assisted calls regardless of the hour."

The manager said the lowest long distance rates will apply all day Sunday until 5 p.m., when evening rates go into effect. "Nearly 1.7 million long distance calls will be placed in Texas this Mother's Day," Terry said, "and 15.4 million interstate calls are expected nationwide. Last year 1.5 million calls were made in Texas, up six percent from 1976."

Cabinet Officers Recommend Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two top Cabinet officers are recommending that President Carter promised 20 additional F-15 jet fighters to Israel in an effort to win congressional approval of the sale of warplanes to Israel, Saudi Arabia and Egypt, a White House source said today.

The recommendation by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Secretary of Defense Harold S. Brown would bring to 110 the number of jet fighters promised Israel in the current arms sale controversy.

The source said Carter will not change the terms of the proposed sale of 60 F-15s to Saudi Arabia, 75 F-16s and 15 F-15s to Israel and 50 F-5s to Egypt by 1982, but would Administration officials believe Carter's concession will pick up enough votes to win a go-ahead for the sale from the House International Relations Committee.

Congress has until May 28 to veto part or all of the sale. If the House committee defeats veto resolutions against the sale, it would be impossible for the full Congress to act on them and the sales would go through.

Efficient House Lighting Possible Through Planning

COLLEGE STATION - Efficient home lighting depends on a plan and the type of lighting used, says a housing and home furnishings specialist.

In addition to better seeing, good lighting can also enhance the appearance of a home and its furnishings. Sue Young points out.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

OVERALL LIGHTING PLAN

A lighting recipe to follow for most homes provides two kinds of lighting: general lighting and task lighting, she continues.

General lighting creates a feeling of spaciousness and enhances room appearance. It provides easier seeing and greater eye comfort.

Task lighting is needed where any visual task-reading, sewing, studying, serving or food preparation-takes place.

However, avoid lighting a room with only task lighting, because that will create undesirable pools of light and shadows. This means eye muscles must constantly adjust to the differences in brightness.

To obtain the maximum amount of light regardless of source, keep fixtures, bulbs and tubes clean, the specialist recommends.

Home light sources are incandescent and fluorescent.

INCANDESCENT

Incandescents, with watts from 40 to 300, are used in fixtures and portable lamps for task and general lighting, Mrs. Young says.

Standard light bulbs give more light than long-life bulbs of the same wattage.

High wattage bulbs are more efficient than low wattage bulbs-a 100-watt incandescent bulb produces more light than two 50-watt bulbs.

Avoid using a higher wattage bulb than recommended. For maximum efficiency, read manufacturer's recommendations, she advises.

Three-way bulbs provide a choice of lighting levels-high for seeing task, medium for less demanding activities, low for safety.

FLUORESCENT

Fluorescent fixtures cost more initially than incandescent but are much more efficient. They provide more light for an equal amount of energy than incandescent lights, the specialist adds.

For even greater efficiency, remember that high-wattage tubes are more efficient than low-wattage tubes.

For example, a 40-watt fluorescent tube produces more light than two 20-watt tubes.

The best selection of fluorescent lights for the home

NEW MUSEUM IN LATIN AMERICA

NEW YORK (AP) - The first museum in the southern part of South America to be devoted to Latin American prints and drawings will be opened in Roldanillo, Valle, Colombia, in June.

The Museo Rayo de Dibujo y Grabado Latinoamericanos was planned by the Colombian painter and printmaker, Omar Rayo, to serve as a center for instruction in printmaking and for exhibitions.

The opening exhibit will feature the permanent collection that includes 2,000 works by Rayo, plus 500 works by other Latin American artists.

are deluxe warm white and deluxe cool white. Unlighted, they look alike but they can be identified by the end of the lamp.

Deluxe warm white furnishes a slightly pink cast that is complimentary to complexions, foods and home furnishings.

This shade or tint brings out or accents such warm colors as pink, tan, ivory and rose.

On the other hand, deluxe cool white lighting will bring out cool crisp tones in a room.

These tones include blue and green.

Deluxe cool white is not used as often as the deluxe warm white, Mrs. Young says.

ABC To Drop Baseball?

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

From the rumor mill comes word that ABC may decide to drop out of baseball come contract renewal time at the end of the next season.

If so, it would be a blow to baseball which would dearly love to have all three networks on board just like the National Football League.

Baseball has done about as well as ABC expected it to do on Monday nights but it almost always finishes third to entertainment programming on CBS and NBC. And with ABC currently ruling the ratings roost, executives may want to rethink their commitment to baseball.

Adding fuel to the speculation is the fact that Monday night baseball was not on this week and won't be on next week. May is one of television's "Sweeps" months, a time when the A.C. Nielsen Co. gets ratings from all the local markets. These ratings determine advertising rates for the local stations and the networks go all out to provide their affiliates with attractive programming.

That's why so many specials and assorted extravaganzas turn up on TV during May. It has been suggested that ABC purposely picked May for the two "byses" in its baseball schedule in recognition of the fact that baseball is not a big draw in prime time.

An ABC spokesman denies it all and points out that ABC's long-time policy on Monday night baseball has been to televise at the start of the season, when everyone presumably is dying to see it, and then pick it up once the division races are somewhat established. May seems like the obvious time to skip a couple of weeks.

Another factor in any decision ABC make on baseball is that if it drops the Monday night games it also will lose the World Series, playoffs and All-Star Game, all of which are most desirable properties.

Potts Named SMU Athletic Director

DALLAS (AP) - Russ Potts, assistant athletic director at Maryland, was named Wednesday as athletic director for Southern Methodist University.

Potts and his wife met with the SMU athletic committee Wednesday morning after arriving in Dallas Tuesday night.

An official announcement was

Whatever ABC decides to do, it won't affect football. The average Monday night football games pulls about a 36 percent share of the TV audience, which is considered very good. Monday night baseball averages about a 24 share, which is not particularly good.

Should ABC decide to drop Monday night baseball, and the decision won't be made for a while, it is unlikely either NBC or CBS will pick it up. NBC more or less is content with its Saturday afternoon games and CBS apparently is quite interested in a Sunday afternoon package, provided, of course, that it gets a piece of the World Series, playoff and All-Star Game action.

Potts has been director for advertising and promotion at Maryland since 1970. He succeeds Dick Davis, who announced his resignation in February to resume his private business.

Potts is to take over June 1. "Sure, I wanted it," Potts told the Dallas Times Herald shortly after he emerged from a meeting with SMU coaches Wednesday morning.

"The potential for growth here is incredible, tremendous."

Ben 'Feels Good' For Colonial Golf

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) -

Ben Crenshaw returned to the scene of his most bizarre conquest today to defend his title in the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

"I really feel pretty good about it," the slender little Texan grinned as he led a field of 102 on the first of a four-day seige across the treacherous Trinity River battleground.

"I'm playing much better than a year ago," he laughed, recalling the madcap 1977 adventure in which he scrambled riotously but relentlessly to a winning 8-under-par 72-hole total of 292.

"I was just telling Lee Trevino the way I won here last year was by hitting all the fairways and all the greens," Crenshaw deadpanned.

Gentle Ben hit on occasional fairways and even fewer greens en route to the 1977 crown and emerged from the woods to sheepishly announce: "I felt like someone grabbed me by the hand and led me from the wilderness."

Crenshaw, a non-winner this year, ranks 14th among the current money winners with 165,478 and collected much of that as runner-up to Tom Watson in the Crosby.

Watson and Gary Player, both triple winners this year, headline a Colonial field that also includes double winner Hubert Green and the 1976 Colonial kingpin, Trevino.

The Merry Mexican ranks seventh on the money list and twice was runner-up in his last four starts, including a rousing duel last week with Watson in the televised climatic round of the Byron Nelson.

Portions of the third and fourth rounds will be televised this weekend by CBS.

Club officials contend the par 70, 7,170-yard Colonial course, called Hogan's Alley in honor of the five-time champ Ben Hogan, could yield a record low score this year.

"The greens are in the best shape ever and the rough is not as high as usual," tournament chairman Bill Spears said. He did not mention the gusty, swirling winds that play havoc with golf's most synchronized swings.

"It's like hitting into a tornado," Trevino once quipped.

A victory here by either Green or Player could produce a new leader among the money winners, now headed by Watson, with $174,264, and Jack Nicklaus, with $171,990.

Nicklaus is not here. Green is currently in third place with $142,860 and Player is a chip short behind with $142,333.

Crenshaw, meanwhile, has been struggling to regain the form that carried him to three tour victories and $257,759 in 1976, second only to Nicklaus.

"I'm really playing pretty well, although the scores are not showing it," he said. "I've been working lot on a few changes, and it's a matter now of going out and trusting what I've done."

"Actually, I've worked on my long game so much, my short game is suffering a little. My putting's been up and down, but I feel like I'm not stroking the ball badly. They'll start dropping."

Most importantly, Ben indicated, he was ready to defend his unlikely title.

"I don't know what I'm gonna shoot," he sighed. "But what the heck, I'll just go out there and let 'er rip."

After last year, anything's possible.

Arnwine To Coach Ponies

The Hereford Whitefaces will have to get used to seeing Barry Arnwine crouching next to the team bench again next basketball season. The main difference is that the former HHS head mentor will be down the sideline a bit.

Arnwine, who guided the 'Faces to the District 4-4A crown two seasons ago before moving on to do the same for Amarillo High in District 3-4A last season, has been hired to coach the Coronado Mustangs in Lubbock.

The official announcement of Arnwine's move to the Pony helm was expected to come this morning when the Lubbock school board convened. The coach of the year in Districts 4-4A and 3-4A respectively the past two seasons will replace departed Mustang coach Jimmy Fullerton who resigned after the last cage season.

Arnwine guided the Sandies to a 23-7 record last year after posting a 22-12 mark his final campaign at Hereford. The Sandies defeated District 4-4A champ Monterey in the bi-district playoff only to fall to power Fort Worth Dunbar 60-57 in the Regional. At the time Dunbar was the top-ranked 4A team in the state.

Arnwine isn't the only former Hereford resident to make moves in the basketball world. Former Herd standouts Mike Mayberry and Keith Kitchens accepted head cage posts at Muleshoe and Shallowater respectively recently. Mayberry will join former Herd football star Mike Wartes at Muleshoe. Wartes was hired to replace Don Cumpston, who quit the Mules post to come to Hereford.

Kitchens replaced Joe Tubb at the Shallowater school. Tubb moved to Odessa.

76er Defense Keeps Them in Playoffs

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia 76ers talked about dreams and positive thinking and tempo and crowd encouragement, but they are still in the National Basketball Association playoffs today because of an unbending defense.

The 76ers, often referred to as the best team money can buy, stuck with their money players Wednesday night and it paid off with a 107-94 victory over the Washington Bullets.

Philadelphia got the job done with Julius "Dr. J." Erving, Doug Collins, Caldwell Jones and Henry Bibby, not only putting the ball in the hoop, but stripping the Bullets of their high-scoring offense.

The best-of-seven series is headed back to Landover, Md., for a sixth game Friday night with the Bullets leading 3-2, but the 76ers confidently are selling tickets for a seventh game here Sunday.

Washington Coach Dick Motta insists there won't be any seventh game, however.

"I still like our odds," said Motta. "I'd hate to be down 3-2 against them and coming up here for the sixth game. They ran us tonight, but I still think we're the better team."

Collins and Erving led the 76ers' fast-break offense in staving off elimination from the playoffs. And 7-foot-1 center Caldwell Jones and Erving did the defensive jobs on the Bullets' two big guns, Elvin Hayes and Bob Dandridge.

Collins and Erving each scored 24 points. Jones shut down Hayes, who had averaged 26.3 in the first four games, with just four field goals. Hayes got but 13 shots. And Erving turned on his all his court magic to bottle Dandridge with just 12 points. Dandridge had been averaging 24.3 in the series.

Coach Billy Cunningham of the 76ers said the name of the victory was defense.

"We communicated beautifully on defense and that's where it all stems from," Cunningham said. The offense was generated by the defense. And we're going to do the same thing Friday."

Bibby handed out 10 assists, scored 10 points, and held Kevin Grevey in check. Grevey wound up with 17, but most of those came in the final period when the game already was out of hand.

Collins revealed the team had undergone a 15-minute lecture Wednesday on the theory of positive thinking.

The lecture was delivered by Bill Glass, a former end for the National Football League's Cleveland Browns.

"He (Glass) talked to us about... picturing ourselves being successful," Collins said. "In my case I walked around picturing myself making my shots. The key is to think positive. So, all day I was dreaming, just sat around and dreamed about the ball swishing, and it worked."

Local Reps Named To IYC Committee

A group of golf-minded Independent Insurance Agents of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties have been appointed to the tournament committee for the local qualifying round of the Independent Insurance Agents of Texas's final of the insurance Youth Classic Golf Championship, the 10th annual event of the nation's biggest teen-age golf tournament.

They are Charles Wagner, Lone Star Agency, Inc., Tournament Director; Bill Johnson, President of Tri-County Independent Insurance Agents Association of Plains Insurance Agency, Hereford, Texas; Ken Horn of Horn Insurance Agency, Boniva, Texas, Publicity-Promotion Chairman; Lynn Carter of Lone Star Agency, Inc., Hereford, Texas, Finance & Registration Chairman.

Local qualifiers will advance to the state qualifying round to determine who will play in the national championship at the Silver Lake Country Club in Orland Park, Ill., August 12-15. The local qualifying tournament will be held June 5 at the Pitman Municipal Course.

The tournament is sponsored by the Independent Insurance Agents of America and its affiliated state and local associations.

The national championship is also sponsored by a number of leading insurance companies, including Aetna Life & Casualty Company, The Continental Insurance Companies; Crown Life Insurance Co.; Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies; The Hartford Insurance Group; The Home Insurance Company; Reliance Insurance Companies; Royal-Globe Insurance Companies; The St. Paul Companies; Transamerica Insurance Group; The Travelers Insurance Company; United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company; The Western Insurance Companies; Westfield Companies.

Bad Guess Blows Boston Win Streak

BY FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer
Baltimore's Eddie Murray says he's a bad "guess" hitter, but it was Boston Manager Don Zimmer who made the bad guess.

"With the wind blowing in from left, I wanted all their switch-hitters to bat right so they couldn't hit the ball out," said Zimmer. "So Murray bats right and hits it over the right field fence."

Murray's fifth homer of the season, a two-run shot off reliever Tom Burgmeier with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning, gave the Orioles a 3-2 victory over Zimmer's Red Sox Wednesday night and broke Boston's seven-game winning streak.

In the other American League baseball game Wednesday night, Toronto trimmed Oakland 3-1. Chicago topped Minnesota 7-2. Texas topped Milwaukee 4-3 and Cleveland drubbed Seattle 6-1.

Ken Singleton's home run had been Baltimore's offense before the ninth. Then pinch-hitter Carlos Lopez led off with a bloop single and took second on a Singleton sacrifice before Murray unloaded.

The Orioles' Mike Flanagan permitted just five other Red Sox hits while striking out 10 and evening his record at 3-3. One of the safeties was by Carl Yastrzemski, who became the 13th player in major league history to play in 2,600 games.

Blue Jays 3, A's 1
Oakland managed a third-inning unearned run to break its scoreless streak at 312-3 innings. Jim Essian scored from second from left fielder Willie Upshaw dropped Bill North's fly ball.

But four consecutive singles - including RBI hits by Rick Bosetti and Bob Bailor - and a groundout gave Toronto three runs in the bottom of the inning and backed a six-hitter by Rick Clancy.

White Sox 7, Twins 2
Chicago snapped a scoreless streak of its own, collecting three runs in the first after being shut out or 23 straight innings. Lamar Johnson and Bill Nahorodny hit two-run homers as the White Sox overpowered Minnesota. Chicago also made five double plays in support of rookie Rick Wortham, who worked eight innings and picked up his first victory.

Rangers 4, Brewers 3
A two-run homer by Bump Wills and a two-run double by Al Oliver helped Texas survive three Milwaukee home runs and beat the Brewers.

"We've scored four runs in our last two games and we've had four home runs," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger. "It's really strange."

Indians 6, Mariners 1
Ted Cox had a two-run single and Ron Pruitt hit a solo home run to lead Cleveland past Seattle. Rick Wise pitched six innings for only his second victory in seven decisions, then rookie Dennis Kinney added three innings of hitless relief to record his fourth save.

Craig Reynolds drove in the Mariners' run.

'Cool' Sonics Forge Ahead

By TONY BAKER
AP Sports Writer
SEATTLE (AP) - Calm, cool, collected - and hungry.

That's the Seattle Super-Sonics.

"This team shows it's a good team every time it gets out on the court," said a smiling Coach Lenny Wilkens after his Sonics rode the fourth-period shooting of Fred Brown and John Johnson and the intimidating defense of Marvin Webster to a 105-91 victory over the Denver Nuggets Wednesday night.

The triumph before a roaring Coliseum sellout crowd of 14,098 was the Sonics' second straight over the Nuggets and gave them a 2-1 lead in their National Basketball Association playoff series.

Game 4 of the best-of-seven Western Conference championship series is set for Friday night in Seattle.

The Sonics put a defensive collar on David Thompson, Denver's high-scoring guard, when the game was close in the third period, then easily shook off Nugget threats down the stretch for their 18th straight victory at home, including six in the playoffs.

"I felt we kept our poise very well," said Wilkens. "We lost it a couple of times, but we called time out and got it right back. Our poise comes from the whole season and every game having been a big game for us."

Denver, which trailed by as many as 13 points early in the third period, closed to 77-74 at the end of the quarter on a Mack Calvin jumper. But Johnson, rammed home a 10-footer and Brown followed with a 25-footer for a seven-point Seattle lead.

Padres 1, Cubs 0
George Hendrick hit a homer and Randy Jones hurled a six-hitter to lead San Diego over Chicago. Hendrick, who came into the game hitting just .192, connected for his third homer of the season off Cubs starter Dennis Lamp with one out in the fourth. The home run ended an 0-for-17 slump for Hendrick and provided Jones with the only run he needed.

Cardinals 6, Dodgers 5
Lou Brook delivered a tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the sixth inning and Mark Littell hurled six innings of strong relief as St. Louis rallied to beat Los Angeles.

Littell allowed the Dodgers just two hits in the final six innings in relief of John Denny to pick up his first National League victory.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Linebacker John Garlington, a 10-year National Football League veteran, has informed the Cleveland Browns he is retiring.

Garlington, from Louisiana State, was Cleveland's second-round draft choice in 1968.

Blyleven Shapes Up!

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

They've been saying the same thing about Bert Blyleven for some time now: one of the best curve balls in baseball and one of the better fastballs.

So why doesn't his record reflect his talent?

"He gets lackadaisical sometimes," is the way Pittsburgh Pirate teammate Phil Garner explains Blyleven's relatively unimpressive career record.

Garner believes, as many others do, that better concentration will help fulfill Blyleven's promise of greatness. Like the type of concentration he had Wednesday while pitching the Pirates to a 5-1 decision over the San Francisco Giants.

Blyleven virtually wound the Giants around his sweeping curve, striking out a National League season high of 12 batters and allowing but six hits. The performance was all the more dramatic, coming off a fierce pounding by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Houston Astros 3-1; the New York Mets trimmed the Montreal Expos 7-2; the San Diego Padres blanked the Chicago Cubs 1-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5.

Winning his second game in five decisions this year, Blyleven was supported by a 10-hit attack that included four extra-base hits. The right-hander struck out at least one batter in each inning.

Phillies 3, Astros 1
Rookie second baseman Jim Morrison belted a two-run homer and Jim Lonborg hurled a five-hitter to lead Philadelphia over Houston. Morrison, called up from the Phillies' Oklahoma City farm team when regular second baseman Ted Sizemore was injured on April 28, connected off Houston starter Mark Lemongello in the second inning.

Mets 7, Expos 2
Elliott Maddox drove in three runs with a double and single and John Stearns walloped a home run to lead New York over Montreal. Maddox's RBI single highlighted a two-run first inning and the Mets' outfielder doubled home two more in the fifth to support the six-hit pitching of Nino Espinosa.

Padres 1, Cubs 0
George Hendrick hit a homer and Randy Jones hurled a six-hitter to lead San Diego over Chicago. Hendrick, who came into the game hitting just .192, connected for his third homer of the season off Cubs starter Dennis Lamp with one out in the fourth. The home run ended an 0-for-17 slump for Hendrick and provided Jones with the only run he needed.

Gerulaitis Hungry To Defeat Bjorn

By GREG THOMPSON
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Vitas Gerulaitis intends to beat Bjorn Borg if it's the last thing he ever does. And at the rate he's going - eight losses in eight matches - it might be.

"I'll never give up. If I've got to play the guy in the --damned seniors until I'm 80, I'm gonna beat this guy - if it's the last thing I ever do," Gerulaitis quipped Wednesday night after he dispatched Paul Ramirez to set up a semifinal showdown with the top-seeded Borg in the World Championship of Tennis Finals.

"If I have to invite him over to my house when I'm 95 and get him out of a wheelchair, I'm going to beat the guy. If someone asks me how long I'm going to play tennis - until I beat Borg."

Gerulaitis' hawking play at the net overcame 14 double faults Wednesday night for his easy 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory over Ramirez.

Borg, meanwhile, won the last 12 games en route to reeling off a 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 quarter-final victory Tuesday night over Dick Stockton. Borg, seeking his second WCT title, meets Gerulaitis on Friday night.

The 23-year-old New Yorker was the point-leader this year among the WCT's elite eight finalists, but Borg was selected the tournament's No. 1 seed because of his higher world ranking.

Borg has beaten Gerulaitis five times this year, including the finals of two tournaments. In the finals at Copenhagen, Gerulaitis won the first set 6-2, only to lose the next two sets, 6-4, 6-4.

In fact, Gerulaitis said his plague of double faults against Ramirez was due to his development of a more aggressive serve aimed at beating players like Borg.

"I would be great to play well here, but I'm looking forward on my serve... to Wimbledon and Flushing Meadows... and to cracking the top three guys," said Gerulaitis. "You can't play defensive tennis against the top guys."

Fred Stolle, Gerulaitis' coach for the World Team Tennis New York Apples, has convinced Gerulaitis to hit a harder second serve as a means of improving his game.

"I go into the match knowing I'm going to try to serve aggressively," said Gerulaitis. "I can afford a couple of double faults."

"Why should it bother Vitas to double fault so much when he still wins the games?" asked Ramirez.

In tonight's two quarter-final matches, Brian Gottfried meets Italy's Corrado Barrazzutti and Eddie Dibbs and Ilie Nastase stage a rematch of their volatile 1977 quarter-finals clash.

ATLANTA (AP) - Two free agents, from North Carolina State have signed contracts with the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League, the team announced.

Mrs. Paul Sims Devoted To Baby Daughters Care

By DIANNE BANNER
Brand Staff Writer

Since the arrival of her daughter three months ago, Mrs. Paul Sims, 709 Ave. G., feels as if she is "playing house," except when it comes time for those 4 a.m. feedings.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims moved to Hereford approximately one year ago when he took the post of managing editor of The Hereford Brand. Their daughter, Angela Marie, was born at the local hospital in February.

Mrs. Sims claims that she would have plenty of time for crafts and other hobbies, but prefers to devote her extra time to her dark-haired infant daughter. In addition to managing her household, the young homemaker confesses that she has started watching soap operas "of all things."

Mrs. Sims contemplates returning to her job at M.E. Moses, but her prime concern now is raising her tiny youngster. She is also active in the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division which involved her in the recent clean-up campaign and rabies clinic.

The former Denise Srader, she grew up at Victoria, and attended Bloomington High School. She moved to the Panhandle with her family who settled at White Deer. She married her journalist husband in December of 1976. They resided at Pampa before coming to Hereford.

It took a while for the young newlywed to adjust to her husband's irregular work schedule, but she has learned to adapt to the lifestyle of a newspaper reporter.

The slender brunette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Srader of White Deer. She commented that hers is a close-knit family including a brother, a sister, several nieces and a nephew.

Mrs. Sims takes pleasure in cooking for her family. Two recipes that she shares today are:

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

1 C. nuts (if desired)
Spread in 9 x 9 pan.
Mix:
1 C. brown sugar plus 1/4 C. cocoa and sprinkle over batter.
Pour 1 1/2 C. hot water over batter.
Bake 45 minutes. Serve warm.
Also good with ice cream or whipped cream.

4 lb. chicken, cutup
4 tbsp. flour
3 tsp. salt
One-eighth tsp. pepper
4 C. water
1 quartered large onion
4 tsp. shortening

CELERY TOPS

1/4 C. raw rice
Dredge chicken with flour combined with 2 tsp. salt and pepper.
Brown on all sides in deep kettle. Add boiling water, with onion and few celery-tops and remaining 1 tsp. salt. Simmer tightly covered for 1-1 1/2 hrs. or until tender. Rice should be added during the last 25 min. before tender. Remove to hot platter and make gravy as follows:
Measure chicken stock and add:
2 tsp. flour mixed to a paste in 3 tbsp. of cold water for every cup of stock. Simmer for 5 min. while stirring continually.

Window Treatments Add to Room

COLLEGE STATION — Turn a dull room into an interesting, exciting one with window treatments, suggests Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Treating one entire wall as a window is a space stretcher—for example, treat a picture window reaching from wall to wall, or a pane of windows, or a group of two or three unmatched windows as one wall, she continues.

Use draperies in a neutral color as an effective background.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Regardless of whether the window treatments will accent or camouflage the windows, keep a few guidelines in mind, the specialist says.

—There are only three lengths that look right—to the sill, even with the bottom of the window apron—which is the entire window frame—or just barely clearing the floor.

—Also, draperies should always clear the entire window glass when being opened, even if it means mounting the rod out on the wall to make room for the stack back.

—Drapery headings should overlap and swag gracefully from the center point and the rod should not show in the center. If the rod is in sight, add a narrow matching panel to the outside.

St. Anthony Falls on the upper Mississippi River at Minneapolis, Minn., were discovered and named by Father Louis Hennepin in the 1680s.

Dawn Club Ends Year With Hawaiian Luau

Dawn Community Center was the site of a Hawaiian Luau Tuesday afternoon when members of Dawn Music Club met for their last session of the 1977-78 club year. This portrayed the final "Flight around the United States," program theme for the past year.

Leis and "papaya" seeds tied in net bags provided place settings for luncheon guests, who were dressed in tropical attire in keeping with the Hawaiian theme.

A menu of Hawaiian foods was served, including baked pig (ham), lomi-lomi (a fruit plate of pineapple, papaya, mango, strawberries, melon balls and banana), sweet potatoes, poi (rice), stuffed tomatoes, avocados, lano loaves, pineapple cream pie and rum punch.

Following the meal, Mrs. Carl Wimberly presided at the business session. In appreciation for her service as club president during the past year, members presented Mrs. Wimberly a pair of pearl earrings.

Mrs. Wimberly then installed the new slate of officers for the ensuing two years; Mrs. R.T. Stewart, president; Mrs. H.R. Stewart, vice president; Mrs. Bill Caraway, recording secretary; Mrs. L.W. Tooley, treasurer; Mrs. H.V. McCabe, treasurer; Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger, reporter; Mrs. J.B. Caraway, choral director; and Mrs. Wimberly, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Bill Alexander was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. J.B. Caraway introduced the afternoon's program, beginning with Mrs. Bill Caraway reading "I Am Your Federation," written by Mrs. Frank Vought, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Melody of Love," by Tom Glazer and H. Englemann was sung by Mrs. Tooley, accompanied by Mrs. Wimberly.

Mrs. Wimberly also presented a piano solo of "My Isle of Golden Dreams" by Walter Blaufuss.

Mrs. H.R. Stewart and Mrs. Bill Caraway joined in singing "Blue Hawaii" by Leo Robin and Ralph Ranger, with Mrs. R.T. Stewart at the piano.

"The Power of Music," written by the "Old Philosopher" Clint Formby was read by Mrs. Curtsinger.

As a fitting conclusion to the program, Mrs. R.T. Stewart gave a report and showed slide photographs of her tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

Others present for the festivities were Mmes. Alfred Smith and Walter Lemons and guests, Mrs. H.H. Miller and Melissa Caraway.

Cake Club To Sponsor Bake Sale

Cakes specially decorated for the Mother's Day occasion will be on sale Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. in the Sugarland Mall.

The sale is held annually by the Sweet 'n' Fancy Decorating Club as a fund raising project.

All cakes are homebaked and decorated by the club members.

L'Allegra Contributes To Fine Arts Council

Members of L'Allegra Study Club donated $25 to Deaf Smith County Fine Arts Council for the renovation of the English House recently during a regular meeting in the E.B. Black house.

Janette Caviness, president, called the meeting to order. Vicky Green and Naomi Schroeter volunteered to recruit members to serve on a team during the YMCA "Anything Goes" program on May 20.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. Green and Mrs. Caviness.

Members then gathered at Hereford Day Care Center to see the playground equipment which was made possible by L'Allegra's donation last year.

Members present were Marlene Farley, Carmen Flood, Maarki Hutto, Mary Kaye McQuigg, Linda Reinauer, Mrs. Schroeter, Jodi Skiles, Ella Marie Veigel, Linda Warrick and Jean McCarter.

The club's final spring meeting will be May 18, when officers will be installed at the Country Club.

Salty Seal

Southern California's Saltion Sea, formed when the freshwater Colorado River overflowed from 1905 to 1907, is already more briny than the oceans. Agricultural waste waters carry more than 10,000 tons of salt into it every day.

Blood Pressure Check-Ups Set

Because May is National Blood Pressure Month, several local health agencies will be offering free blood pressure check-ups here in the coming weeks. The blood pressure tests are painless and take less than a minute.

On tomorrow, Tillie Miller, R.N., will be available to administer blood pressure checks at the Red Cross office, 406 W. 4th St., from 9 a.m. - 12 noon and from 1-5 p.m. Mrs. Miller will also be testing blood pressure Monday, May 22 at the Red Cross office.

Mrs. Miller is a representative of the Public Health Region

1 of the Texas Department of Public Health. The blood pressure clinics tomorrow and on May 22 are being sponsored by the Red Cross and the Department of Public Health.

"Have your blood pressure checked as a Mother's Day gift" is the motto of the Deaf Smith County Chapter, American Heart Association. Residents are invited to have their blood pressure checked from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Saturday in Sugarland Mall.

Administering the BP tests will be Janie Matthews, R.N., chairman of the hypertension screening program of the County Heart Association Chapter.

High blood pressure is a serious, chronic disease which has no symptoms to warn of its presence. Treatment for most cases of high blood pressure calls for daily medication.

In addition, doctors often advise that the patient lose weight, stop smoking, reduce the intake of salt and exercise more. These additional recommendations help the prescribed medicine work more effectively, but are not alternative treatments.

If a doctor prescribes daily medication for high blood pressure, those instructions should be followed. Other activities are not a substitute for daily pills.

High blood pressure adds to the work load of the heart and arteries. If untreated, hypertension can cause damage to the heart, kidneys and the brain. The possibility of suffering a stroke—blood vessel damage in the brain—is increased if a person has high blood pressure.

Secretaries To Be Host At Tourney

Tierra Blanca Chapter (National Secretaries Association, Int'l) Annual Bridge Tournament for Charity will be held Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Community Center, Ave. C and Park Ave.

Advanced tickets for the duplicate players, including two sessions, 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. have gone on sale for $9 each. This includes dinner.

Tickets for party bridge are also on sale for $2. There will also be two sessions of this, 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Dinner tickets may be purchased at the door for $2.50.

Proceeds of this project are for a scholarship fund to a young woman graduating from Hereford or Canyon High Schools, or an enrollee at West Texas State University. These young women must be planning to enter the business field, or already majoring in business.

Tickets may be purchased at Property Enterprises, Buick-Pontiac, or Deaf Smith REC.

Beware of Camel

Mailmen in the United States have difficulty with dogs, but things could be worse. Egyptian mailmen complain of being nipped by camels, mailmen in Brazil have been bitten by jaguars, a Tongan Island mailman was killed by a shark and Afghanistan had to suspend rural deliveries a few years ago because leopards ate letter carriers.

Unique Gift Idea

A blood pressure check-up is the unusual gift being suggested by the local chapter of the American Heart Association in conjunction with Mother's Day and National Blood Pressure Month. In this picture, Jerry Klechak insures her continued good health by having her blood pressure checked by Janie Matthews, R.N. and chairman of the hypertension screening program here. Mrs. Matthews will be checking blood pressure at Sugarland Mall from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Saturday and the public is encouraged to take advantage of these free painless exams. Oil Painting To Be Prize Of Drawing

An oil painting is to be given away in a drawing at 4 p.m. Saturday in Sugarland Mall by West Hereford Home Demonstration Club, it was announced during that chapter's regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Almeda Penman, 213 Ave. H.

Tickets for the drawing are still being sold by club members. The artwork was donated by Carie Mae Doak, who painted the western landscape.

Prior to the routine business meeting directed by Mrs. Doak, members made gifts for 4-H girls who recently presented the club's program.

Alice Cox delivered a program on versatile meals, providing a variety of dishes, which were sampled by members present, who included Eldora Boyd, Mrs. Doak, Evelyn Bell, Nettie Boyd, Mary Flowers, Wilma Nell Pierce and the hostess.

The club's closing meeting will be a noon luncheon May 22 in the home of Evelyn Bell.

Lodge Organizes Dance

Preparation for the teen dance, scheduled Saturday night at the Community Center, was the main item of business tackled by Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 Tuesday night at the IOOF Temple.

Sponsored by the Rebekahs, the dance will feature the music of the band "Taxi" from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. All teenagers will be welcome.

Noble Grand Edna Mathes presided at the business meeting. Members who are sick or troubled were reported and greeting cards were signed and will be mailed.

"When God Created Mothers" by Erma Bombeck was read in honor of Mother's Day by Susie Curtsinger.

The fellowship hour following business was hosted by Mrs. Mathes. Others present were Lydia Hopson, Ada Hollabaugh, Karroll Rettman, Martha Bridges, Susie Curtsinger, Peggy Lemons, Helen Sowell, Blanche Williamson and Guy and Bessie Lawrence.

Leading scientists and engineers from education and industry will address the symposium and the participants will spend two afternoons touring the laboratories at the University, including those in which the TAERF program for thermo-nuclear fusion research is conducted.

Ann Landers

Privacy Needed

DEAR ANN: A few years ago we moved my husband's mother and grandmother in with us. They were both ill at the time. They are no longer ill, but I am going to be sick if we don't get something settled.

We had an apartment built off our kitchen for Mama and Grandma—with complete cooking facilities. They prepare their own breakfast and lunch. I cook dinner for all of us and we eat together.

The problem is this: I work all day and am surrounded by people. When I get home I need peace and quiet-time to be alone. Mama and Grandma insist on having the door between our home and their apartment open at all times so they can "feel like part of the household." It drives me crazy to have the two of them sit there and watch me prepare dinner every night. (They ask a million questions and it's impossible to keep my mind on what I'm doing.)

Am I being selfish to want this private time? My poor husband is caught in the middle. Please settle it—once for all.—No Garbo But Need To Be Alone

DEAR NO GARBO: What has your "poor husband" got to do with this? Explain to Mama and Grandma that cooking is your best form of relaxation and you need to prepare dinner in peace and quiet of your kitchen—alone. Tell them the door will be closed from now on until dinner is served. Then close it. This has nothing to do with being selfish but it has a lot to do with your own survival. A woman who cooks dinner every night for her husband's mother and his grandmother is entitled to this small consideration.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your answer to "Born in 1962" regarding the "nutty lyrics" of the tunes of her grandparents' day was incomplete, to say the very least.

The tunes under fire were strictly novelty songs written to take people's minds off the Depression and World War II. For every piece of nonsense there were ten beautiful songs such as "Stardust," "Deep Purple," "My Reverie," "Moonlight Serenade" and "Sentimental Journey," to name just a few.

Today's nutty tunes, such as, "My Ding-A-Ling," "Disco Duck," "Alley Oop," "Purple Dreck" and "Chic-A-Boom" are nothing to brag about. The music sounds like load of pots and pans falling out of the cupboard. The words are insane. As for the so-called "ballads" of today, a great many of them deal with sex, suicide and depression. You call that entertainment?

Music is a faithful reflection of the times and the people. The chaotic state of our nation, with all the violence, rape, dope and VD, is so nervous-making it's not reasonable to expect our music to be uplifting and beautiful. —The Best Is Behind Us

DEAR BEST: If people can't look ahead to something better, life isn't worth living. Sorry, I don't share your pessimism. I think we're going to come out of this abyss and rise to greater heights than ever. And what makes me think so? Faith.

Perception Pays

In 1886, Joseph Hobson Jagger won over two million francs at Monte Carlo in eight days of playing the roulette wheel. He came to be known as "The man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo." An expert on spindles, Jagger suspected one of a faulty spindle and watched it for over a week. Thereafter, he bet on numbers turning up with more than just mathematical probability and won his fortune.

'Member of Year' Named By Young Mothers Club

Maureen Self was named "Young Mother of the Year" Tuesday night at a salad supper held in the First National Bank Community Room by Young Mothers Study Club.

Also on the agenda was the installation of new officers. Those to serve their club during the 1978-79 season are Kathy Haney, president; Leta Kelso, vice president; Dee Dee Coker, secretary; and Mary Ann Nunley, treasurer.

Guests who attended the meeting were Leona Carruth, Nicky Walser, Caroline Frye, Jodie Josephson, Jennifer Reed, Brenda Campbell, Pam Hill, Lea Alston, and Sheila Upshaw.

Members in attendance were Jan Dudley, Dee Dee Coker, Linda Compton, Kathy Haney, Leta Kelso, Mary Ann Nunley, Maureen Self, Rhon Stewart, Darla Stone, Jan Weishaar, Linda Woodard and Mary Russell.

Mrs. McLain Installs Valeda Club Officers

Rounding out the closing club year and preparing for the upcoming one, members of Valeda Study Club assembled Monday night in the Frank Zinser home for their closing spring session.

Club president Marcella McLain brought her term to a close by conducting the installation of new officers. She likened each officer's post to the ingredient in a loaf of bread, commenting that the kneading of the dough is akin to the hard work necessary for a successful club year.

Those members installed were Billie Birdwell, president; Marcella Bradley, vice president; Frances Crume, treasurer; Janice Brownlow, recording secretary and reporter; Berta Ottesen, historian; and Juanita Brown, historian.

In the ensuing business session, members answered roll call with "Wisdom I have learned from this year's programs."

Beginning her tenure as president, Mrs. Birdwell appointed her committees as follows: yearbook committee - Mrs. Brady, Jean Rutherford and Retha Tucker; service committee - Norma Walden, Teddy Poindexter, Betty Gilbert and Arvilla Lauderback; membership committee - Dorothy Clearman, DeAnn Sisson, Betty Olson and Waneen Ragsdale; telephone committee - Mrs. Zinser, Joyce Ritter, Mrs. McLain and Ruth Owen.

In discussion of programs for the coming year, it was agreed that cardio-pulmonary resuscitation instruction be offered again. Also, a committee was appointed to make plans for a summer party.

In attendance were Meses. Birdwell, McLain, Brady, Brown, Clearman, Crume, Olson, Ottesen, Poindexter, Ragsdale, Ritter, Rutherford, Sisson, Tucker, Walden and Zinser.

Protein Diets Dangerous to Health

COLLEGE STATION - Liquid protein diets have resulted in 40 deaths in the United States, according to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

These diets are dangerous to the millions of weight-conscious people who have gone on them, especially those without adequate medical supervision, warns Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Liquid protein diets are even more dangerous for infants, children, pregnant or nursing women, people taking medications and people with kidney, liver or heart disease, she adds. These people especially should not take liquid protein products, she advises.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

LIQUID PROTEIN NOT DIET FOOD

"Labels on liquid protein products themselves show that these are really intended to be used as protein supplements—not as diet food.

"None of the liquid protein products contain all of the nutrients necessary for good health.

"Therefore, it is not recommended that people take them alone—even though some people claim these products supply enough nutrients to maintain the lean body mass," Mrs. Sweeten explains.

Most of the liquid protein sold under a variety of trade names are made from predigested protein (collagen or gelatin) obtained from animal hides, tendons and bones.

As for the diets, no liquid protein diet is approved by the FDA.

WEIGHT-LOSS CLAIMS NOT ON LABELS

Although labeling of the liquid protein products themselves falls under the responsibility of FDA, the label directions do not mention using them for weight loss.

People have heard about the weight-loss claims from books, word of mouth or the media, Mrs. Sweeten says.

These claims cannot be controlled by the FDA.

In addition, the FDA cannot seize or recall the product unless it has been adulterated.

FDA PROPOSES WARNING LABEL

Currently, FDA is involved in research about the liquid

To avoid accidents while cleaning in the home, wear shoes with good support and traction, advises a consumer information specialist.

Don't do housework in floppy slippers or stocking feet, Claudia Kerbel with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, warns.

Textiles are the nation's third largest industry, employing more than three million people, reports Marlene Odle-Kemp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Although youth ages 11-13 search to discover their "sexual selves," it is better if they delay actual experimentation until they are more mature, advises Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In the meantime, listening, reading and talking about sex with peers and adults they trust will help teens overcome the need to explore, she says.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

My son came home from college last week and gave me his usual greeting, "Hi, Mom."

I gave him mine: "Get a haircut." He dropped in a chair and said, "Okay."

"What's mean, 'Okay'?" "I mean I've been meaning to get one. My hair is too long and hangs in my eyes and I'm always having to flip it back. Besides, it looks sleazy."

"And another thing," I said. "I hope you're going to shave off that ridiculous-looking beard. You look like Abe Lincoln with a case of the frizzies."

"You're right. Besides, it always smells like pizza. Tomorrow it goes."

"Don't fight me, but if your suitcase has those jeans with the hole in the crotch that is mended with white thread and the zipper has a pin connecting it, you can toss them out."

"I did that already. Bought a pair of new slacks."

"To wear with those diseased-looking tennis shoes, I suppose."

"Nah. Threw those out too. No one wears dirty gym shoes with a sports coat."

"A sports coat? The last time you wore a sports coat you dribbled milk on it from your Yogi Bear cup. I'm giving you fair warning, you aren't going to sleep every day until the crack of noon."

"No problem, I'm into jogging now and I go about five miles before breakfast."

"You are into jogging? You, who never took out the garbage until I organized a car pool?"

"I know, but it's really good for you."

"And stay out of my refrigerator and all my junk food. You're not having a chip dig orgy with the stuff I'm saving for Saturday night."

"All that rich stuff breaks out your face. I'm into milk and yogurt now."

The next morning, I opened his door and peeked into the room. He was at his desk studying.

"I didn't know you were here," I said. "I didn't hear the stereo."

"I keep it low. After all, why should I inflict my taste in music on everyone else?"

As I started to leave I saw a gum wrapper on the floor. I let it lay.

He was going to be home three more days and we had to leave something to talk about.

Sensible speakers, at a sensible price.

Listen. Sony has invented some new hi-fi speakers. Speakers that give you rich sound. Without sending you to the poorhouse. You get a big bass driver. A big passive radiator for extra heavy lows. And a separate tweeter for crystal-clear highs. They're called Sensible Bass speakers. And they're a very sensible choice.

Computer Foulup Changes Losers into Winners

By The Associated Press
Officials discovered two 14,600-vote swings - apparently caused by a mis-programmed computer - and announced Tuesday night that two Dallas County "losers" in Saturday's Democratic primary had actually won.

And a recount was in the works in the 6th Congressional District, where three Democratic candidates were separated by razor-thin margins. Chet Edwards, the apparent third place finisher in the congressional race, called for the recount after a canvass showed him only 100 votes behind the runnerup out of 82,000 votes cast. Edwards, 26, is a former aide to U.S. Rep. Olin Teague, who is retiring after 32 years in Washington.

Edwards' tabulation of votes from the 11 counties in the district - stretching from Bryan to the Dallas-Fort Worth area - showed him with 22,145 votes; Phil Gramm, 36, former Texas A&M economics professor, with 2,257 votes; and Ron Godbey, 42, an attorney and former television weathercaster, with 23,489 votes.

Returns tabulated Saturday by the Dallas County Election Bureau, a cooperative effort sponsored by local news media, indicated veteran criminal District Court Judge Jerome Chamberlain had held off the challenge of Ron Chapman, a 37-year-old former assistant district attorney, 44,413-35,456.

Saturday's unofficial returns also showed Mrs. Theo Bedard a victor over District Judge Pat McClung, 39,276-33,594.

But the canvassed returns Tuesday by the county Democratic Executive Committee's canvass committee showed Chapman, who once worked as a prosecutor in Chamberlain's court, a winner over the incumbent, 39,267-33,608. They showed McClung a winner over Mrs. Bedard by 44,499-35,526.

The figures released Saturday by the Election Bureau in each judge race were within a few votes of the canvassed totals for the other judgeship. Conjecture was that the computer was erroneously programmed so that the vote totals of the Chamberlain-Chapman race were entered into the McClung-Bedard columns in the computer and vice versa.

L.R. "Bob" Gibson, chairman of the canvass committee, said in precinct after precinct, the votes shown for McClung and Bedard on the county election printout had no relation to the actual votes shown on the tally sheets turned in by election judges.

The county executive committee's canvass report goes to the State Democratic Executive Committee, which meets next Tuesday to officially certify the primary winners.

"I don't know anything about this. Is this a joke?" Chamberlain said late Tuesday when he was called at home.

Chapman, now an attorney in the law office of U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox, said he had been stunned by the apparent 9,000-vote loss and "was like a coach waiting for the game films to see where we went wrong. I wanted to see if I had done as badly as the returns indicated I did in the areas where I campaigned hardest."

McClung, likewise, said his apparent loss had jolted him.

Ethiopia Relentlessly Pounds Guerrillas from Air

EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of this dispatch and AP photographer Claudio Luffoli returned recently to rebel-held parts of Ethiopia's Eritrea province which they visited a year ago. Here is a report on what they saw on a two-week tour with the secessionist guerrillas.

By MICHAEL J. DUFFY
Associated Press Writer
MANDEFERA, Eritrea (AP) - The Ethiopian government is carrying out a relentless daytime air war against secessionist guerrillas in Eritrea, forcing many civilians to go about their tasks during the night. Classes for schoolchildren begin at dusk.

Leaders of the Eritrean Liberation Front claim the aircraft-U.S.-made F-5 Freedom Fighters and Soviet-supplied MiG-21s-are flown by pilots from Cuba and the leftist Arab nation of Yemen.

During the two weeks this reporter and AP photographer Claudio Luffoli toured areas controlled by the Liberation Front, known as the ELF, we saw the effects of Ethiopian air power on life inside Eritrea. Militarily, the planes allow the Ethiopians to soften guerrilla positions in hot fighting areas, to maintain some military presence in distant areas controlled by the rebels and to prevent movement of troops and material during the day when every truck on the road is a target.

For civilians, the planes are a source of death and terror that keep life in the cities and villages from returning to normal.

Eritrean rebels have been fighting for independence since Ethiopia annexed their homeland in 1962. Victories in the last two years have brought the ELF and the Eritrean Peoples Liberation Front control of the entire countryside and all but a few of the major cities.

Eritrea, a 45,000-square-mile area, about the size of Pennsylvania, with a population of three million, provides Ethiopia its only access to the sea and is strategic spot in the Horn of Africa for control of oil traffic through the Red Sea.

Now that Ethiopia has succeeded, with Cuban and Soviet help, in chasing Somali troops from the contested area of Ogaden in the southeast, the northern province of Eritrea has become the focus of activity.

Backing the ground troops are F-5s left over from the late Emperor Haile Selassie's era when Ethiopia was a principal African ally of the United States and MiG-21s that have been imported since the new military regime proclaimed itself revolutionary socialist.

ELF military leaders told us they estimate 4,000 Cuban troops, 35,000 Ethiopians and 100 Soviet-built T-54 tanks are massed south of Eritrea's attack. They said airstrips in neighboring Tigre province are being expanded for intensified air strikes.

Most of the estimated 15,000 ELF troops are concentrated in the area between the border and Asmara, the Eritrean capital near the coast, where besieged Ethiopian troops recently made unsuccessful attempts to break through a guerrilla noose around the city.

Our first day inside Eritrea, at an ELF base camp near the Sudanese border, we heard a jet fly overhead just after day-break and attack a position some 10 miles away. We were told later that the plane had attacked some trucks but that a goat was the only casualty.

Texas Wheat Board To Host Brazilian Mission

Brazil, one of the five highest economic growth areas in the world, annually buys up to 50 million bushels of U.S. wheat—a five times increase since 1972, according to C.L. Edwards, Chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board. Edwards pointed out that "Brazil purchases imported wheat not only to satisfy domestic food deficiencies, but also in support of its foreign policy. Consequently, price considerations may be swept aside for political objectives—balance of trade between nations that trade with her. This has resulted in wide fluctuations and periodic losses of U.S. wheat exports to other Brazilian suppliers such as Canada and Argentina."

The Texas itinerary for the international agri-business group will include farm production and test plots in the Wichita Falls - Burkburnett area, country elevator receiving and quality maintenance at Iowa Park and storage, handling and shipping facilities at Vernon. At each scheduled stop ample opportunity will be provided for wheat producers and local grain trade individuals to meet and discuss wheat interests with the visitors, according to Nelson. Also a program has been organized in Houston to study the Port facilities, Federal Grain Inspection Service, and export marketing facilities in cooperation with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Other stops for the visiting wheat officials to study the U.S. production and marketing system include: Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Minnesota, North Dakota, Washington, D.C. and New York City.

Great Plains Wheat, Inc., which conducts overseas market development programs in Latin America, Europe, the Mid-East and Africa is supported by wheat boards and commissions throughout the wheat belt. The Texas Wheat Producers Board supports this work for Texas through a 1/2 cent-per-bushel self-assessment on producer deliveries to country elevators.

Stamp Program Changes To Exclude Higher Incomes

DALLAS — Proposed food stamp reforms to eliminate over one million participants with the highest incomes, and to make the program more accessible to several million "poor" not currently participating—especially the elderly and working poor—have been announced by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Families owning luxury cars would be made ineligible for food stamps and persons convicted of food stamp fraud would be disqualified for up to two years. Some students would be dropped from the program, while others would have to sign up for work half-time to get food stamps.

The new regulations also would do away with the requirement that participants pay a certain amount in cash to receive food stamps. Under the proposed new regulations, a family currently required to pay $95 a month for $174 in food stamps—or a net benefit of $79—would simply receive the $79 in stamps without having to come up with cash first. This action was proposed by President Carter, who said some poor families are unable to get food stamps because they cannot make the required cash payment.

The proposed changes would implement reform food stamp legislation passed by Congress last year.

"We expect the changes to be of particular benefit to the elderly and working poor," Secretary Bergland said. "More elderly and low-income working families will now be able to participate and improve their nutrition."

The secretary said the new law, and the proposed regulations, were designed to "strike a fair balance" in food aid to the needy.

"The changes would assure that those with the highest income—and those not significantly in need of food stamps—would no longer qualify, while we do a better job of reaching those who truly are in need," Secretary Bergland said.

The proposed rules lower the net income levels for food stamps to the federal poverty level and simplify eligibility determinations by replacing most itemized deductions now used in the program with standard deductions.

4-H'ers Take Part In Grass Judging

Deaf Smith County 4-H members recently participated in the District Grass Judging Contest at Guthrie.

The senior range and pasture grass identification team composed of Sygale Rhodes, Barbara Brumley, and Christi Beene placed second in District competition. Sygale Rhodes was third high individual in the contest.

The junior grass team was high team in the overall contest and was second in district identification. Junior team members were Jenness and Tori Self, and Jimmy Boen.

The senior range and pasture grass team will compete in State 4-H contests June 6 and 7. The grass identification teams were coached by Jodie Hart of the local SCS office.

What Should be Known on Ag? Farm Line Seeking Answers

SPRINGLAKE — K.B. Parish, Springlake area National Director for the Agriculture Council of America announced that ACA will conduct a "Farm Line" phone-in program to gather information on the topic—"Agriculture today: what should the American people know about it?" Farmers and local, farm-related businessmen are urged to voice their opinions by calling ACA's toll-free number (800-368-8050) on Wednesday, May 24th between noon and 4 p.m. E.D.T. A total of 12 lines will be available to callers anywhere in the continental U.S.

The ACA leader said Representative Tom Foley, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee (D-Wash.), Senator Carl Curtis (R-Neb.), Ray Fitzgerald, Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Lynn Daft of President Carter's Domestic Policy Staff will head up the panel of experts on the farm economy that will answer the phones and speak with callers. They will be joined by other Members of Congress who deal directly with farm and food issues, and several top officials from USDA.

Information gathered over the Farm Line will be used in a new comprehensive effort ACA is planning, to communicate the facts about the current economic situation in agriculture.

"ACA is planning an agriculture visibility program—a comprehensive, factual report to the nation—to provide any concerned individual, company or organization with interesting creative material so they can tell their own story," commented

ACA Chairman John Barringer, a cotton and beef producer from Memphis, Tennessee. "We hope farmers and businessmen from all over the country will call the Farm Line to voice their opinions on what facts need to be told to the non-farm public."

Each caller will be asked to respond to a special questionnaire designed to interpret opinion on the subject being addressed. Results of this survey will be studied closely by ACA in planning the visibility program.

"There's been a steadily increasing demand for material from people wanting to serve as spokesmen for agriculture in their own communities," added Barringer. "Our goal is to respond to this challenge in a meaningful and direct way that can have real impact."

Also answering the Farm Line phones and helping to interpret data will be members of the ACA Media Council. This group is made up of some 100 of the nation's leading farm broadcasters and editors who advise ACA on program content and effectiveness. The morning after the Farm Line, members of the Media Council will discuss results of the phone-in with several of the program's key panelists.

ACA operates the Farm Line program on a periodic basis to provide a forum for discussion to let people at the local level discuss major issues with national leaders in Washington. As a non-political and non-lobbying organization ACA does not advocate any particular position or view; the opinions expressed via the Farm Line are strictly those of the participants. Phone-in programs conducted in 1977 addressed the subjects of: Citizen Guidelines for USDA, status of the farm economy, and energy conservation.

About 500 calls are expected to be actually completed during the four-hour session. Anyone who is unable to complete their call on May 24th between noon and 4 P.M. E.D.T. is urged to put their comments in writing and mail them to: ACA, P.O. Box 23421, Washington, D.C. 20024. All written comments will also be reviewed as a part of the planning process for the visibility project.

The Agriculture Council of America, formed in 1973, is made up of individual farmers and ranchers nationwide, farm and commodity groups, and companies that supply the farmer. Its purpose is to promote better understanding of American agriculture.

Holly Sugar Announces Intention To Produce Gasohol From Beets

COLORADO SPRINGS — Holly Sugar Corporation has announced that it wants to produce ethyl alcohol (ethanol) from sugarbeet molasses to mix with gasoline to make gasohol.

Last month, Holly submitted an application to the U.S. Department of Agriculture to participate in a USDA-sponsored pilot program to produce hydrocarbons and alcohols from agricultural commodities.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 authorizes four guaranteed loans to finance construction of pilot projects to produce alcohol at a net energy saving.

Holly would like to erect the pilot plant in California where it produces about 300,000 tons of molasses annually. The plant would produce about 16 million gallons of ethanol a year.

The company also is constructing a corn wet milling plant at Tracy, Calif., and could use corn starch—a by-product of the wet milling process—to produce ethanol.

According to Whitney Newton II, vice president-technical director of Holly, ethanol combined with gasoline produces gasohol, with 10 percent of the mixture being ethanol. Ethanol can be used by itself as a fuel or mixed with gasoline.

Newton said that ethyl alcohol is a non-polluting, renewable source of energy when manufactured from raw materials containing sugars, starches or cellulose.

"Holly has been interested in this process for some time," Newton explained, "and we are pleased at the possibility of a product which has a potential for progress in the areas of energy, the environment and balance of payments while at the same time strengthening the sugarbeet industry in California."

He reported that Holly's proposal to USDA has the full support of California Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr., the California Department of Food and Agriculture, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and other state and consumer organizations.

Newton said he doesn't expect USDA to announce the successful applicants under the program until December 1978.

A&M Officials Will Advise on Pest Control

COLLEGE STATION — Dr. P.L. Adkisson, Texas A&M University's vice-president for agriculture and renewable resources, and Dr. John G. Thomas, project leader in entomology and Extension entomologist, have been invited to serve as advisors to analyze "Alternative Pest Management Strategies" for the U.S. Congressional Office of Technology Assessment (OTA).

OTA is the advisory arm of the U.S. Congress and is charged by the two legislative bodies to "provide legislators and the public with an independent, balanced analysis of the likely beneficial and harmful aspects of developments in science and technology." OTA has been labeled the "technology watchdog" of the Congress, according to Adkisson.

Three major objectives regarding the analysis of the "Alternative Pest Management Strategies" are these:

1. To assess the potential development and impact of alternative pest management strategies in major regions and crop production enterprises in the U.S. in the next 10-15 years.

2. To identify and evaluate federal policies recognized as constraints on the development of alternative pest management strategies.

3. To assess the potential adaptation and impact of U.S. advances in alternative strategies on pest management in the developing countries.

The assessment of "Alternative Pest Management Strategies" was requested by Senator Herman E. Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry, in a letter to Senator Edward M. Kennedy, chairman of the OTA Congressional Board. The 19-member advisory group of scientists, public interest members and industry representatives involved in the assessment met for an initial planning meeting April 3-4.

Adkisson is serving on the three-member panel of "Scientific Experts in Pest Management."

Don't let hail put a halt to your operations.

It just makes good sense to cover your crop investment with adequate crop hail coverage. We can help.
