County adopts new '92 tax rate 47.69 cents/$100 is slight hike

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN Editor-Publisher Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court Monday formally adopted a tax rate of 47.69 cents per $100 valuation to support the 1992-93 budget of $4,062,957. The rate had been proposed in order to raise the same revenue as last year, with the rate being about 7/10th of a cent higher due to a lower tax base. In other action during a five-hour session, commissioners took the following action: --approved the purchase of a computer system at a cost of $93,695, which includes a year's maintenance; --accepted a bid on health insurance for county employees, renewing with the same company at a fixed, annual cost of $82,368.96; --accepted a proposal for the county audit from Brown, Graham & Company at an estimated cost of $8,450 to $8,950; --accepted the lone fuel bid from Conway Oil Co. at a cost of 1.7 cents a gallon over the refinery and freight costs; --approved making application for a grant to help provide water and sewer services for Campbell Street residents, provided residents pay the difference between the grant, if approved, and the cost of the project. The Commissioners Court also approved appointment of election judges and alternates, and gave permission for a gas company to cross a county road with a line in Precinct 1. The lengthy session resulted from the more complicated discussions on the computer system and insurance bids. The computer system came in lower than the projected cost due to discounts on the hardware obtained by Foster Electronics of Hereford. Only Foster and Apollo Data Services submitted bids. Foster's bid on the hardware system was $60,775, plus $1,000 for cable installation. The Apollo software was bid at $26,520 plus $5,400 for first-year maintenance. Total for the system was $93,695. The county opened six bids on employee health insurance and company representatives were on hand to explain the proposals. County Judge Tom Simons asked the

Guerrero, Williamson argue on qualifications

AUSTIN (AP) - Railroad Commission candidates Lena Guerrero and Barry Williamson, dueling over their resumes, accuse one another of not being fit to hold the office. Williamson on Monday charged that Ms. Guerrero is telling a "second big lie" over a claim that she was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa academic honors society. Ms. Guerrero said family oil business ties give Williamson a major conflict of interest. The commission regulates oil and gas. Williamson, a Republican, said his Democratic opponent showed an "appalling lack of credibility and integrity" by claiming for 12 years to hold a college degree she didn't have, then by denying that she ever took credit for the scholarly honor. "That web is starting to grow of deceit and misrepresentations. And that's unfortunate in a public official of this state," Williamson said. Responding, Ms. Guerrero said she had believed she was a graduate and never personally claimed to be a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She accused Williamson of using an honest mistake about her college record to divert attention from his family's oil and gas holdings, businesses the Railroad Commission regulates. The Democrat described Williamson, a former U.S. Energy Department appointee, as "a guy who spent five years in Washington, D.C., whose wife has oil and gas holdings, and whose father-in-law is in the oil and gas business. And now he wants to be the fox to go guard the henhouse. "It was very clear to me in this debate today that as long as he can keep bringing up the academic record, then he doesn't have to deal" with conflict of interest questions, Ms. Guerrero said. The two clashed during and after a taping of the program "The State of Texas," to be aired by Austin's KLRU-TV Thursday. It was their first face-to-face meeting since Ms. Guerrero acknowledged last week that she wasn't a 1980 University of Texas graduate. "Until Thursday, I really believed in my heart that I had completed my course work at the University of Texas," she said. But during the debate and a news conference Monday, Williamson accused her of other exaggerations in her resume. He gave news reporters a 1984 biography from Ms. Guerrero's state House campaign, in which it was stated she belonged to Phi Beta Kappa. Ms. Guerrero told a news conference that she hadn't written the campaign biography Williamson distributed. "I did not" prepare it, she said. She also said she was unaware of a 1985 Texas House biography which claimed the academic honor. Williamson called those statements "the second big lie she's perpetrating on the people of Texas... We can't have someone leading $60 billion worth of industry that is not honest with the people of Texas," he said. Williamson said he has achieved a bachelor's degree and law degree from the University of Arkansas and offered to make public his college transcripts. He called on Ms. Guerrero to do the same to prove her statement that she needed only four more hours to earn a degree. She said she wouldn't. "I've released the most important transcript of all - and that's my income tax returns" which show no oil or gas holdings, she responded.

HOMESTEAD, Fla. - "Fresh cut meat" it says in orange spray paint on a piece of plywood, with an arrow pointing across a parking lot toward a supermarket. South Florida is slowly - very slowly - returning to normal.

Students return to calmer Palo Duro

AMARILLO (AP) - Students on Monday returned to Palo Duro High School, site of last week's shooting that left seven students wounded, but many students and parents said they remain concerned about security.

Henry Worth said he was wary about sending his ninth-grade son and 10th-grade daughter back to the school.

"I'm thinking of home schooling," Worth said, adding that he didn't blame school officials for the shooting.

"I think a lot of this is their parents' fault," Worth said. "Parents let their children off easy and then expect someone else to do something about it."

Six students were shot and another trampled Friday morning when a 17-year-old student opened fire in a crowded hallway after a pep rally.

Donyel Austin, 16, and Bobby Archie were released from Amarillo hospitals on Sunday. Delmond Carruthers, 17, who was shot in the chest, remained at Northwest Texas Hospital Monday. A nursing supervisor there said he requested that his condition not be released.

The others were released from hospitals Friday and Saturday.

Police said the 17-year-old shot Carruthers in the chest during a scuffle. The other students were hit while the teen-ager continued shooting at Carruthers, according to reports.

Randy Earl Matthews was charged Monday with six counts of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. That first-degree felony is punishable by up to 99 years in prison or life, and a fine of $10,000.

Matthews also was charged with one count of carrying a weapon on school campus, a third-degree felony punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Bond was set at $115,000. Some students returning to school Monday said they weren't worried about further such incidents.

"It's almost like a normal day, except for the increased security and they are checking everyone's IDs," said sophomore Lisa Bruce. "It is not the school's fault of what happened. It's the people who did the shooting and my friends say the same."

Added 14-year-old Sabrina Grantham, "I'm not nervous. This could happen at any school."

Book fair at Northwest

The public is invited to a book fair from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. this week at Northwest Primary School. The fair will also be held from 5-7 p.m. today.

People help environment

New hope for inner-city young adults and new help for the environment can come from an old idea.

The Earth Conservation Corps (ECC), a nonprofit organization that provides young men and women ages 18-23 with opportunities to address critical environmental issues, is modeled on the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s. All volunteers in the program must commit to several months of hands-on conservation work and environmental education for which they get a $100 weekly stipend. Upon successful completion of their duty, the volunteers also receive a $1,500 Public Service Award in the form of an educational scholarship or a savings certificate.

A recent project in the nation's capital involved cleaning up one of the Anacostia River's most polluted tributaries, Lower Beaverdam Creek. The project was funded by Coors Pure Water 2000, a national program dedicated to preserving and protecting American's water resources by increasing public awareness and grass roots action. The 10-member ECC team spent three months removing more than 4,000 tires and other debris, including car engines, shopping carts, bicycles and sofas from the four-mile stretch of river.

Says ECC Executive Director and noted filmmaker Robert Nixon, "Our objective is to top the energy and idealism of young adults from all backgrounds in this society. In this way, we hope to lay the groundwork for a new generation of conservationists and environmentalists." Nixon plans to set up other ECC teams in major urban areas throughout the country. Other projects will include tree-planting, wetland and habitat preservation, urban park restoration and emergency services such as storm damage and oil spill clean-up.

By creating careers for young adults who are interested in conservation and the natural sciences, ECC aims to help solve two of America's most pressing problems: unemployment and the environment.

More than 900,000 copies of The Hereford Brand were distributed in 1991. If your advertising message was not included in many of these issues, you need to call Mauri Montgomery or Regina Herrington, 364-2030, and let them put together an advertising schedule to fit your budget.

Tri State Fair to feature variety of entertainment

The Amarillo Tri State Fair, planned Sept. 21-26, will celebrate its 69th anniversary this year with fun for everyone attending the six-day event.

In addition to championship bull riding, music concerts, livestock shows, agricultural exhibits and carnival rides, visitors to the fall event will receive even more with their general admission...plenty of entertainment.

Master hypnotist, Ken Whitener, will take fair attendees out of this world and into his world. For those who have been hypnotized or those who haven't, all will be delighted with his humor and enigmatic show.

From the Hills of the Ozarks comes "Zeke", the model "A" hillbilly, with all the dress and actions of the 1930s. Young and old alike are invited from the spectators to participate in different antics performed by the Hillbillies and their 1930 Model "A" Ford.

Young fair-goers will be provided with a "hands on" opportunity to learn about and enjoy a variety of animals, such as llama, zebra, ostrich, emu, Sicilian donkeys, camel, wallaby and families of African pygmy goats. These animals make up the Hendricks Educational Petting Zoo.

The 1992 edition of "Marionettes on Parade" is a unique comedy and variety show that will feature many trick and novelty marionettes. The marionettes were all handcrafted and designed by David Sturges.

In this year's show, fair visitors will meet Happy, the high-wire clown, Michael Jackson-a dinosaur that does a rap routine, a fireman kangaroo and a most unusual geometric puppet.

Man's best friend and working partner take to the competition arena on Sept. 22-23 when the West Texas Sheep Dog Association holds its sheep dog trials. Watch in awe as these working dogs assist their handlers in fetching, driving, sorting and holding ewes.

NEW YORK (AP) - Kurt Vonnegut, hospitalized with chest pains, didn't have a heart attack, his wife says.

The novelist's wife, photographer Jill Krementz, said Monday the illness was "not serious, he just had chest pains."

She wouldn't say where the 69-year-old Vonnegut was hospitalized.

"I'm not going to tell you," she said. "It's not news unless he had a heart attack - and he didn't."

Vonnegut's books include "Slaughterhouse Five," "Cat's Cradle" and "Sirens of Titan."

NEW YORK (AP) - Arthur Ashe is recuperating from a mild heart attack doctors say was unrelated to his AIDS infection.

The 49-year-old former tennis star was listed in stable condition Monday at New York Hospital. There was no word on when he might be released.

Ashe had the heart attack Thursday at his New York apartment.

He suffered his first heart attack in 1979. He said he contracted the AIDS virus during a bypass operation in 1983, before blood was screened for the disease.

Ashe is the only black to have achieved No. 1 ranking in men's tennis. He now covers the sport as a TV commentator and newspaper columnist.

Another kill

Hereford's Robyn Watts goes around the block for one of her team-high seven kills against Lubbock High Saturday in Hereford. Looking on is Hereford's Erin Bullard (11).

Herd spikers prepare for difficult schedule

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team scored an easy victory over Lubbock High Saturday, but they won't see any more lightweights on the schedule for a while.

Hereford's next four matches are against four of the best teams in the Panhandle, starting with Tascosa at 6 tonight in Whiteface Gym. The Herd goes to Lubbock Saturday to face Coronado, hosts Amarillo High Sept. 22, then hosts Dumas Sept. 26 in the district opener.

"It's real tough, but it's good for us right before district," coach Brenda Reeh said. "To give ourselves a chance to win those, each individual will have to play well. It's good mental preparation."

Lubbock High didn't provide a challenge, falling 15-2, 15-0. Reeh found something good from it, though.

"To keep the score that low shows that we're starting to focus on the point at hand," she said. "Maybe our intensity is getting better. (Also) I thought our serves were pretty good as far as serving what I was calling." Reeh gives signals for the server to hit to a particular position on the court.

Robyn Watts led the Herd over Lubbock High with seven kills and one stuff block. Kathy Hernandez and Erin Bullard each had six kills. Bullard also had three aces and 13 points on 13 good serves. Kara Sandoval had two aces and nine good serves.

In the first match of Saturday's doubleheader, Hereford's ninth grade A team beat Lubbock High's junior varsity 15-7, 15-0 as Brittney Binder served for 18 points, nine in each game. The ninth-graders followed that up with a 15-7, 15-2 beating of Borger Monday in Borger.

Hereford's junior varsity took sixth in a tournament in Borger over the weekend. The catch is that this tournament wasn't a JV tournament; in fact, Hereford was the only JV squad there.

They started with a loss to Sanford-Fritch, 15-6, 9-15, 15-10.

Netters play at PD after shooting

The Hereford tennis team came back after a first round defeat and overcame the nervousness of playing Friday at Palo Duro High School to win the consolation bracket of the Amarillo Team Tennis Tournament.

After falling to Lubbock High 10-5 in the first round, Hereford's consolation bracket match Friday was Palo Duro. They met at the courts at PDHS at 2:30 p.m., only four hours after a shooting incident at the high school left several students wounded.

Hereford coach Natalie Sims said the incident had her team nervous, and it must have been worse for the Palo Duro team.

"There was no concentration out there at all," Sims said of the PD players. "In fact, the (PD) coach had to go in for an emergency meeting, so the coach wasn't even out there. The whole block was being paraded by police. That got (the PD players') attention. I'm sure that reminded them."

In the team tennis tournament, all matches stop when one team wins its tenth match, which means the team has clinched the most wins out of 18 matches.

Against Palo Duro, that didn't take long as Hereford only lost one match before winning 10. On Saturday, they completed the consolation win with victories over Plainview (10-3) and Brownfield (10-5).

"We ended the tournament playing very well and won some very exciting matches," Sims said. "The exciting (team) match was Brownfield. They're a tough team, which was great practice for all of us."

Sims had praise for many of her players. She pointed out that No. 1 girls' singles player Bri Reinauer won all four of her matches against the other schools' No. 1 girls.

Odessa Permian won the tournament, beating Lubbock Coronado in the finals. Tascosa beat Amarillo High for third place.

The Herd hosts Canyon after school today at Whiteface Courts. Sims said they may start as early as 3:45.

Here are the scores from each match that was finished. Many of the matches were left unfinished when the tenth match was won.

Girls' cross country team fourth in P-view; Hereford to host meet

The Hereford High School girls' cross country team took eighth place in the Plainview Invitational Saturday. The team will host a meet this Saturday in Veterans Park.

Hereford, running in the Class 5A-4A division, scored 172 points to finish behind two district rivals and several 5A teams. District 1-4A's Randall won the division with 60 points, and Caprock edged Hereford by 12 points.

In second place was the team from Clovis, N.M., with 82 points. Clovis was followed by four 5A schools: Plainview, 115 points; Amarillo High, 119; Palo Duro, 146; and Coronado, 156. Hereford finished ahead of Frenship with 178; Tascosa, 193; Monterey, 315; and Lamesa, 369.

Hereford did not enter a boys' team. Three boys ran as individuals.

The girls' team ran as a pack. Ricka Williams led, placing 26th in 14:10, followed by Nicole Chance, 30th, 14:18; Nora Herrera, 33rd, 14:22; Renee Banner, 38th, 14:37; Melissa Lucio, 40th, 14:42; and Belinda Murillo, 48th, 15:01.

"It's great to have the top five runners only 32 seconds apart," Coach Martha Emerson said, "but we must get closer to the top of the pack. We did run much, much better than last week. If we can only show as much improvement in another week, we'll be where I would have liked to have been after the first meet."

The boys who ran on varsity were Aurelio San Miguel, who finished 32nd in 18:23; Pedro Dominguez, who was 37th in 18:38; and Ismael Arroyos, who was 61st in 20:30.

The junior varsity boys were: Miguel Carrillo, 6, 18:33; Josh Pena, 39, 19:43; Leon Garcia, 44, 19:49; Adolfo San Miguel, 67, 20:29; Lee Mungia, 77, 21:01; and Justin Criner, 99, 22:02.

"The boys--varsity and JV-- also showed much improvement over the last week," Emerson said. "We're progressing, but with six of these nine new to cross country it takes time."

The JV girls placed fourth with 133 points. Irons Junior High won with 69 points followed by Canyon with 86 and Frenship with 95.

"These girls showed a lot of improvement also," Emerson said.

Bethany Townsend won the JV race with a time of 13:47. She was followed by Linda Martinez, 10, 14:25; Karon Harder, 32, 15:03; Cady Auckerman, 34, 15:07; Michelle Garza, 58, 15:44; Ana Torres, 80, 16:05; Beverly Celaya, 93, 16:15; and Vanessa Garcia, no place, 17:02.

At last count, there were 16 5A and 4A teams coming to the Hereford meet Saturday, and 30 were entering the Class A, 2A and 3A division.

There will be six different races, starting at 9:30 a.m. with the Class A, 2A and 3A girls' varsity. The 4A and 5A varsity girls go at 10; the 4A, 2A and 3A varsity boys go at 10:30; the 4A and 5A varsity boys go at 11; all JV girls go at 11:30; and all JV boys go at noon.

Rickman wins all-around at rodeo

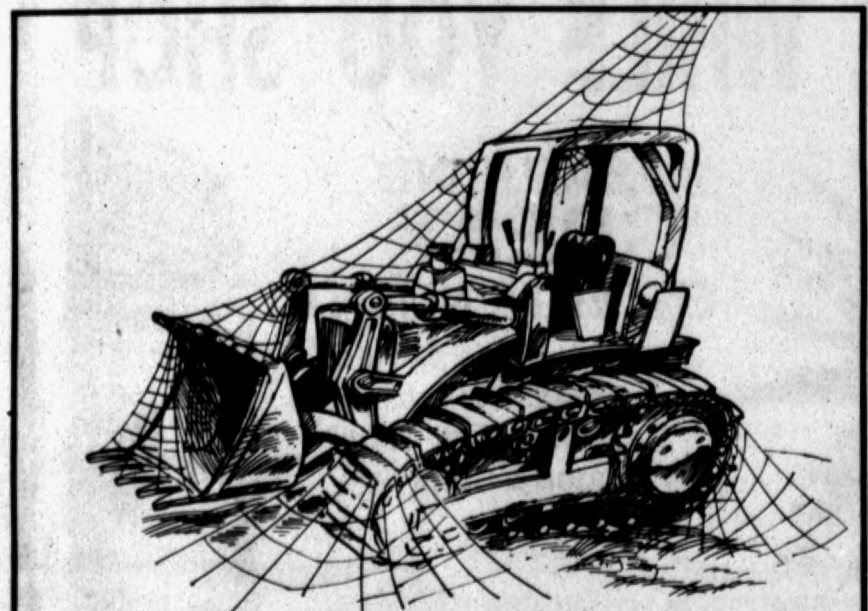

Hereford's Chasity Rickman took the all-around girl title at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association's rodeo Saturday at Boys Ranch, while Samantha Winters won the barrel racing event.

Rickman placed in three events. She was second in pole bending, third in goat tying and fourth in barrels. Her pole bending time of 21.065 seconds was second only to the 20.012 turned in by Heather Dixon of Hub City. Rickman tied her goat in 11.392 seconds, with Wheeler's Sonya Coy won with a time of 10.333.

Winters won barrel racing with a time of 17.255 seconds, beating Manchi Light of Randall's 17.594. Rickman's time was 17.782.

Travis Goad of Wheeler and Jim Locke of Canadian took all-around boy honors. Goad won steer wrestling, and Locke won calf roping.

Other winners included: Bareback, Dusty Drake, Wheeler, 74; Saddle bronc, Lance Bray, Dumas, 59; Bull riding, Drake, 84; Ribbon roping, Jared Norris, Canadian, 7:30.1; Breakaway roping, Jessica Dean, Wheeler, 3:64; and Team roping, Locke and Ryan Rankin, Canadian, 6:51.

Concentration

HJH spikers win openers

Two of the Hereford Junior High volleyball teams opened their seasons Monday with wins over River Road.

The seventh grade A team won 15-6, 15-12. Julie Rampley served for nine points in the match.

Hereford's eighth grade A team won the first game easily 15-6, then quelled a River Road uprising in the second, 17-15. Katie Bone served for the first 11 points of the first game.

"For our first game, they did good, except there are some things we need to work on," coach Maria Eck said. Eck pulled double duty as coaches Martha Radford and Jason Culpepper were out of town.

"The seventh grade served well," she said. "The eighth grade played well except for serving. We really need to work on our serving."

River Road was unable to bring B teams, so Hereford's B teams held split-squad scrimmages. In the seventh grade scrimmage, Team 1 won 5-15, 15-8, 15-12, and in the eighth grade scrimmage, Team 1 won 15-3, 15-7.

The junior high teams are at Pampa next Monday.

Marino rallies Miami to win

CLEVELAND (AP) - Very few quarterbacks can make you nervous when they're three points down, 84 yards away, with a minute left in the game. Joe Montana comes to mind. John Elway. And of course, Dan Marino.

After the Miami Dolphins blew a 20-3 fourth-quarter lead Monday night, Marino hit four quick passes on an 84-yard, 68-second drive that beat the Cleveland Browns 27-23. Mark Higgs finished it off by diving over from 1 yard out with seven seconds remaining.

It's the 19th time Marino has brought the Dolphins back from a fourth-quarter deficit. He went 25 of 35 for 322 yards, leaving him eight completions away from surpassing Johnny Unitas for fourth all-time.

"That's about as thrilling as you can make it," coach Don Shula said. "It was vintage Marino."

"It's almost as if their offense is better at that time than at other times," Cleveland linebacker Clay Matthews said. "We did our best to try to be prepared, but we couldn't pull it off."

Marino, proving the layoff was inconsequential, completed his first seven passes, including a 25-yard scoring pass to Mark Duper and a 45-yard pass to Robert Clark that set up Higgs' first touchdown, a 7-yard burst up the middle.

Two field goals by Pete Stoyanovich extended the lead to 20-3 early in the fourth quarter.

You make the call

This looks like a close play as Juan Fuentes runs into second base and Frank Maes waits for the ball to arrive. Umpire Steve Bigham will have a tough decision. Maes' team, Cantu's Texas Thunder, beat Fuentes' team, Hereford Bi-Products, 9-4 in Thursday's finals of the Hereford YMCA softball league tournament. Members of Cantu's Texas Thunder include Maes, James Hernandez, Jackie Mercer, Richard Perez, Bart Stevenson, Robert Caballeros, Robert Gamboa, Manuel Cantu, Pat Mercer, Paul Maes, Danny Del Toro, Albert Pena, Freddie Gamboa, Roger Rocha, Clint Cotten, Arnold Villegas and Rodney Torres.

SPIKERS

"We started fairly slow," coach Royce Spies said. "We never got going early in the morning."

They beat Dalhart, 15-5, 15-10, in the consolation bracket, then fell to Randall, 16-14, 15-11, in the consolation finals.

"We were really scrappy, kept a lot of balls in play," Spies said. "We played really well against Randall. It was good for the kids to know we could step up and play at that level."

No stats were kept, but Katie Young had a good day hitting and would have had good kill numbers, Spies said.

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins are getting closer to conceding that they may not catch the Oakland Athletics.

The Twins fell seven games back of the first-place A's in the AL West with only 18 games remaining Monday night when Terry Steinbach's RBI single in the eighth inning lifted Oakland to a 3-2 victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Cleveland beat Toronto 2-1, Baltimore beat Kansas City 2-1, Milwaukee beat Boston 6-0 and Chicago beat New York 8-6.

In the National League, it was Pittsburgh 5, St. Louis 4; Philadelphia 6, Montreal 2; New York 10, Chicago 8; Houston 5, San Francisco 0 and Los Angeles 5, San Diego 4 in 11 innings.

Boys are not permitted to wear hard or cleated shoes. Flying blocks and tackling are not permitted. Unnecessary rough play is not tolerated. We believe FLAG FOOTBALL offers the excitement of competitive football while minimizing the danger of injury to the players. YMCA FLAG FOOTBALL IS FUN! It's better to be a football player than to watch one. This is a chance for a boy to be a COWBOY, PACKER, RAIDER, JET, SAINT, BUFFALO, OR YOU NAME IT! IT'S GREAT! Even a small "dose" of harmful bacteria can make a tiny baby sick with foodborne illness. This is because infants do not yet have fully developed immune systems, the body's defense against invading organisms.

Mothers can protect their babies against the life-threatening dangers of foodborne illness by preparing and handling the baby's food safely and by taking precautions when feeding the child.

When leaving the baby in the care of a sitter or family member, explicit instructions for warming and handling food should be given. Safe food handling and hygiene practices should also be considered when choosing a day care facility.

These suggestions can help prevent the risk of dehydration and other consequences of foodborne illness in your baby:

- Keep everything spotlessly clean. Harmful bacteria can spread from hands, utensils, dish towels, almost anything, to your baby's food. Use detergent and hot water to wash all utensils, including the can opener, which comes into contact with the baby's food.

- Discard leftover formula in the bottle from a previous feeding. Bacteria from the baby's mouth can be introduced into the formula where it can grow and multiply enough to cause illness.

- Don't feed your baby from the jar. Again, bacteria from saliva on the spoon contaminates any remaining food in the jar. Transfer food to a dish before feeding. This can also help prevent waste.

- Don't leave the baby's milk, formula or food at room temperature. Food left out of the refrigerator for more than two hours may be unsafe. Also, don't leave a bottle in the crib with an older baby where it might be consumed over several hours.

- Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for preparing baby bottles before filling. Observe the "use-by" dates printed on cans of formula.

- Check commercial baby foods to see that the safety button on the lid is done. If the jar lid doesn't "pop" when opened, or is not safely sealed, do not use it. Also, do not use any jars with rusty lids.

- When making homemade baby food, thoroughly clean the blender or food processor after each making. Use a brush to clean areas around the blender blades or processor parts. Old food particles can harbor bacteria and contaminate other foods put in the appliance.

Observe recommended storage times for milk, formula and baby food. Opened or freshly made baby foods containing only fruits and vegetables can be stored for two to three days in the refrigerator. Keep refrigerated and use meats, egg or meat/vegetable combinations in one to two days. Expressed breast milk may be safe for five days in the refrigerator, formula for two days and whole milk for five days. Foods can be frozen for longer storage, although it is not recommended to freeze formula.

When traveling with the baby, store bottles and food in an insulated cooler. Place the ice chest in the passenger section of the car.

Auckerman, Johnson are top rookies

Kylee Auckerman and Jerad Johnson were named the top rookies of 1991-92 at the Deaf Smith County 4-H Achievement Luncheon on Sunday at the Bull Barn. They were selected by an out-of-county committee based on their record books, completed projects and service to others during their first year in 4-H.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about that letter from "Trapped in Texas." She is the woman who was getting all those calls from a suicidal friend. I went through the same thing and came to the conclusion that anyone who cries suicide for a long time is looking for attention.

When I was 16, I foolishly gave my phone number to a man I'd been talking to on the CB Radio. He was 21, lived with his parents and had a learning disability. Whenever he called, he would end up threatening suicide if I didn't keep talking to him. He kept repeating how much he needed me to talk him out of killing himself. I was afraid to hang up.

After six months, the strain became unbearable. I told him I couldn't help him anymore, that he shouldn't have put the burden of saving his life on my shoulders and that I was only 16 and not able to handle the load. He threatened to kill himself "within five minutes" if I hung up on him and said it would be my fault. I hung up anyway and unplugged the phone. At this point, I had decided it was either him or me.

Two weeks later, I heard him on the CB radio again, trying to talk a woman into giving him her phone number. Please, Ann, tell "Trapped in Texas" that she should not talk to her friend again until they can have a normal conversation. And tell her that she should never be alone with him. Luckily, I never met my caller, and he didn't know where I lived, but "Trapped" has known hers for several years, and she shouldn't take any chances. He just might decide to get even with her for refusing to be his outlet--The Warner

DEAR WARNER: You were pretty savvy for 16. Thanks for those words of wisdom. You've given that Texas woman excellent advice. Let's hope she takes it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a friendly, non-threatening person and easy to talk to or unload on, whichever way you want to put it. There's a good deal of marital cheating in my social circle and I decided to find out what goes on in the heads of the players, so

I asked a lot of questions. This is what I learned:

Almost all the divorced, widowed and single women are sorry they became involved with a married man and said it made them feel guilty and sleazy and wasn't worth the trouble.

The men who cheated said they did it because their wives had gotten sloppy, careless and too involved with kids and club work, and marital sex had become humdrum and boring. The women they cheated with were much younger than the wives and were usually met in the workplace.

Most cheated-on wives decided to ride out the storm and keep their marriages intact for a variety of reasons, mostly the kids and financial security. And to my surprise, they did not let their husbands know that they knew.

However, when the humiliation became more than she could tolerate, one woman did have a big bundle of her husband's soiled laundry delivered to the other woman's house at midnight (she was married). Attached was a note which read, "Since you are enjoying my husband's company and accepting his gifts, it is only fair that you do some of the dirty work."

What do you think of her approach, Ann? Splitsville Southern Style

DEAR S.S.S.: Not much. Those dramatic scenarios may seem like a good idea at the time but too often they create such a rift that there can be no healing. (P.S. Readers, wouldn't you have loved to be a fly on the wall when they laundry arrived?)

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Auxiliary members drape charter for Alma Coursey

The charter was draped in memory of the late Alma Coursey when members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Roy Wederbrook Veterans of Foreign Wars Post #4818 met in regular session Sept. 7.

Dorothy Collier and Kathryn Acton were reinstated as members and Nancy Mata was voted in as a new member.

During the business session with Linda Maeder presiding, roll was called, minutes read and approved, treasurer's report presented and correspondence read.

The schedule for the three remaining District 13 Conventions are: Hereford, Nov. 21-22; Childress, Feb. 20-21, 1993; and Littlefield, May 15-16, 1993.

The next meeting is planned at 8 p.m. Oct. 5.

The meeting was preceded by a supper for auxiliary and VFW members. Those present were Betty Boggs, Martha Bridges, Doris Coffin, Dorothy Collier, Marie and Tom Goheen, Linda Maeder, Essie Martin, Erma Murphey, Ruth Stethem and Doris Wilson.

HELP YOUR HEART RECIPES

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan that would not include more than 30 percent of daily calories from fat.

Lemon Baked Chicken

The tangy taste helps make this anything but your everyday chicken.

2 Tbsp. Vegetable oil spray*	1/2 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
2 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice	1 2 1/2 to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut into serving pieces, skinned, all visible fat removed
2 Tbsp. acceptable vegetable oil or acceptable margarine, melted
1 clove garlic, crushed

Preheat oven to 350 F. Lightly spray a baking pan or a shallow casserole dish with vegetable oil. In a small bowl, combine lemon juice, oil, garlic and pepper. Set aside. Rinse chicken and pat dry. Arrange chicken in prepared pan or dish. Pour lemon mixture over chicken pieces. Cover and bake about 40 minutes, or until tender, basting occasionally. Uncover casserole and bake 10 minutes longer to allow chicken to brown. Makes 4 servings.

* Do not use vegetable oil spray near an open flame or a heat source. Read directions on can before using, and follow directions carefully.
 Canola, corn, olive, safflower, soybean or sunflower oils.
 Select margarines that have no more than 2 gm of saturated fat per tablespoon.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: A long time ago I remember seeing a recipe for making an egg substitute like the new products on the market. I don't remember if it was in your column or not, but if you have such a recipe, would you please print it again?

My husband and I are both required to be on low-cholesterol diets, and since egg substitutes are so expensive I would like to make my own. — Lois Corwin, Defiance, Ohio
We don't have a recipe per se. We did, however, print a hint from Charley Sayre of Newark, Ohio, about his way of making his own fried-egg substitute.

He made it by dropping an egg white into a frying pan sprayed with a little cooking spray. He added a tablespoon or two of egg substitute on top to replace the yolk and cooked without stirring, then added a little pepper and salt to taste.

Hope this works for you. — Heloise

WHIPPING CREAM

Dear Heloise: When whipping cream, place the bowl in the sink. The splatters only go in the sink and there's less mess to clean up. — A Reader, New York, N.Y.

RECYCLING A MILK JUG

Dear Heloise: The hint I would like to share with you is not only recycling but it is also time-saving. I recently made jam for the first time. In the middle of cooking it I realized that I didn't have any way to get it into the jars. With no funnel, ladle or large spoon I knew I was in trouble.

Realizing that time was short, I looked around my kitchen and spotted an empty milk jug. I grabbed a utility knife and cut the jug in half. After washing and rinsing it, it was ready for use.

The top part worked great as a funnel, and I used the bottom as a spoon rest. This helped with cleanup too. — Alicia McDonald, Billings, Mont.

OVEN-BROWNED MEATBALLS

Dear Heloise: Since I am trying to watch calories and all, a friend told me to start oven baking meatballs instead of frying them. Would you share the directions for doing this? — Delores Smith, El Paso, Texas
I'd be happy to pass along this healthy alternative.

Simply shape the balls and place them on an oven rack inside another solid oven pan so the grease will drain off. Bake for approximately 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Enjoy! — Heloise

Q. My husband loves to wear white shirts, especially cotton. However, after a very short time they become stained yellow at the armpits from perspiration. How do you get these stains out? — V.M., Manhattan, Kan.

A. The yellow stains are usually caused by the combination of perspiration and the antiperspirant or deodorant not being completely washed out.

Try sponging the stain with white household vinegar before washing. If it persists, apply a fairly wet paste of enzyme laundry presoak to the yellowed area, rub it in and wait at least eight hours before washing as usual, using the hottest water safe for the garment.

This is one stain that doesn't respond well to cold-water washing, so the best prevention is to always wash shirts in the hottest water safe for the garment and plenty of detergent. — Heloise

MINI-BLINDS

Dear Heloise: When shortening mini-blinds I found an excellent use for the plastic strips that I removed. I use them for markers when planting seeds in the garden.

Just cut to the length needed, make a point at one end and with a grease pen write the name of the plant and the date planted. Works great. — Faye Ledward, Talent, Ore.

WINDOW CLEANER

Q. Some time ago in the paper you had a recipe for a window cleaner. I made a batch and found it was wonderful, no streaks or smears, but I put the article away and can't find it. I'd appreciate your printing it again in the paper. — Irene Repay, Whiting, Ind.

A. Here it is. Simply add 1/2 cup of vinegar to 1/2 gallon of water. Fill a spray container and it's ready to use. For a sparkly window, mist the window well, then dry with crumpled newspaper, an added recycling hint.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Hottest trends in fashions explained

"Paris Fashion Forecast" was the theme for the opening meeting of La Madre Mia Study Club Saturday when members met for a breakfast in the home of Francine Bromlow, chairman of the yearbook committee.

Other yearbook committee members assisting Bromlow included Betty Lady, Betty Owen, Mary Beth White and Glenda Marcum.

The hostesses were attired in tuxedos and escorted each member to the dining room where tables were decorated with fresh flower arrangements and laid with white cloths. Members were served breakfast of quiche, miniature sweet rolls, muffins and a variety of fresh fruit.

La Jean Henry, owner of The Pants Cage, gave the fall fashion forecast. She said she would admit that most of the fashion trends she sells come from Dallas, not Paris.

The guest speaker emphasized that she sees a Parisian trend for fashion this year. For the men, the stylish look will be plaids, checks, pinstripes, the "gangster look", cotton shirts with button-down collars and ties, some of which have zippers for those having trouble tying knots. Pants will have slightly fitted waistlines.

"Animal prints are abundant in women's clothing," the guest speaker emphasized. "Long straight skirts with slits up the side or front, or long prairie skirts worn with a little shorter jackets just below the waists, will be featured a lot. Tapestries will be good."

"Leather is in with lots of hardware (which should go good with your Harley Davis)," Henry said.

She also reported that the black dress, sometimes known as the CCC dress, is making its comeback. She explained that CCC stands for church, cocktail and cemetery.

Other trends include walking shorts worn with opaque tights, platform shoes, ranch trim, lots of denim and Southwest styles.

There will be brushed cotton which looks almost like suede, long boot skirts, chambray with Guatemala trim, leather belts trimmed in conchos, silver and turquoise jewelry, fringed shirts and vests or fringed skirts with simple skirts.

"Love it a lot or love it a little—it's this year's trend," Henry concluded.

Following the program, yearbooks were presented to each member and a brief business meeting was conducted by President Nicky Walser.

Tricia Sims, who was recently elected treasurer, was appointed finance chairman and Carolyn Baxter took her place as chairman of the project committee.

It was reported that Beverley Lambert resigned as an associate member and the club now has 25 members.

The next meeting, with husbands invited to attend, will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 24 in the home of Lucy Rogers. Members and guests will take a tour of the Rogers' ostrich farm.

Those who had secret pals for the summer brought gifts for them and names were revealed.

Those attending were Carolyn Baxter, Ruth Black, Merle Clark, Linda Cumption, Mary Herring, Carolyn McDonald, Gladys Merritt, Lavon Nieman, Tricia Sims, Georgia Sparks, Debbie Tardy, Betty Taylor, Walser and the hostesses.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 38-year-old female and was diagnosed with hypothyroidism almost a year ago. I am 5 feet tall and weigh 89 to 91 pounds. My hypothyroidism was discovered by blood tests taken when I had symptoms of a stroke, which was ruled out.

I was put on Synthroid and take it every day. I have made tremendous progress, but I still feel sluggish and my weight has not changed at all, before or after the medication. My doctor is concerned about my sluggishness and weight and has requested I have some metabolism tests taken. Any insight would be welcome.

DEAR READER: A test that shows a person has low thyroid function is pretty accurate. Your improvement after beginning thyroid hormone replacement therapy would certainly support the diagnosis.

It is true that severe low thyroid function can cause symptoms that could be confused with a stroke or even senility. That might have been particularly true in your case since you weigh so little. Usually a person who has low thyroid function will gain weight because one's metabolism is slowed down. Even when eating very little, a person can gain weight.

However, the idea that people who have underactive thyroids are greatly overweight is not true. Usually, they are only moderately overweight, or may have normal body weight. I must add that most people who are overweight have normal thyroid function.

Of course, you will need studies of your metabolism to judge how much thyroid hormone replacement you need. The amount is commonly adjusted in relation to the patient's response. For more information on how low thyroid function affects you, read Special Issue 32-04, Your Thyroid Gland, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/32-04, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Perhaps your weight is entirely normal for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB: For years I have enjoyed a glass of wine in the evenings, and with proper exercise, I have been able to maintain a healthy body. I have read that white wines contain HDL and red wines contain LDL. Further the HDL are good for your heart and I should drink white wine. Now I read researchers attribute the lower incidence of heart problems in France compared to the United States to Frenchmen drinking more wine than Americans and Frenchmen prefer red wines. Which is preferred?

DEAR READER: Neither wine contains either high-density or low-density lipoproteins, both of which are fat.

Don't be taken in with the slick "60 Minutes" presentation about the French and wine. The French do not live appreciably longer or have better health. They have a lot more problems with alcoholism and liver disease. The French as a population do not consume more fat than Americans. Deaths from heart disease are lower, perhaps because of alcohol, which need not be in wine. Alcohol in beer or other sources does increase HDL cholesterol — "good cholesterol." Nearly half of Frenchmen drink no wine.

Natural enzyme can help slipped disc sufferers

Recent studies show that about eight out of ten carefully selected patients who have a condition called lumbar disc herniation, also known as a slipped disc, have gotten relief from a natural enzyme treatment that can be a welcome alternative to surgery—and many people are calling their doctors to find out more about it.

Called chemonucleolysis, it works like this:

The doctor injects an enzyme called chymopapain into the center of the herniated disc. The natural enzyme breaks down and partially liquefies the jelly like material in the disc that's responsible for the painful symptoms—back pain that spreads to the legs.

This reduces the pressure exerted by the disc on the nerve root, relieving the pain.

Benefits of the treatment include avoiding surgery with its greater risks of complications and higher costs.

Relief may be immediate, although you may experience some pain, stiffness and soreness for a short period. Your doctor may prescribe special exercises that you can do at home.

The successful outcome of such treatment depends upon a number of factors. First, your surgeon must be sure:

-You have a herniated lumbar intervertebral disc which will respond to treatment with chymopapain.

-You're not allergic to chymopapain or other products obtained from the papaya plant.

-You have none of the conditions contraindicating this form of treatment.

Second, you must be sure your surgeon has had experience in spine surgery and the use of chymopapain.
