Our College

تاریخ تاسیس تاسیس

On Tuesday the REPORTER printed a number of circulars stating that there would be a mass meeting at the Christian church for the purpose of making a report of the progress of the directors of the Hereford College Association in their efforts to build and maintain a college of high degree in this place. Notwithstanding the Amarillo orchestra was to give a concert on that evening, there was quite a crowd of our representative citizens present to hear the report. It might be said to the credit of the manager of the Amarillo orchestra that he postponed the commencement of his concert until 9 o'clock to give people a chance to attend the mass meeting without missing the concert.

There being a number of ladies present (it being prayer meeting night) the meeting opened up with singing by the audience, followed by prayer by Rev. Addison Clark of Amarillo.

Judge Gough, the chairman of the college committee, then gave an outline of the work done and said that about $4,500 cash had been subscribed or more properly speaking, had been invested, and that the charter was signed and ready to go to Austin for the state legislature to act upon the same. He then introduced Prof. Randolph Clark, who is to be at the head of the educational part of the institution, and who is already quite well known here.

Prof. Clark said that for the past thirty years he and his brother, Addison, had been connected with college work, most of which time had been spent in the college of their founding—Ad-Ran college at Thorp Springs—and that during that time they had had the education of about 6,000 children, many of whom are now married and have children of their own, and that nearly 90 per cent of this large number are now residents of Texas.

At the time he gave up the presidency of Randolph College at Lancaster, he fully made up his mind that he would retire from college work for a while at least and take a much needed rest, and upon the invitation of G. R. Jowell, whose children had been under his educational care, he decided to make this gentleman a visit. When he got here he saw that, while he had visited every part of Texas worth visiting as he supposed, he had thus far neglected to visit the real "garden spot" of Texas. He readily saw that this country, with its fertile soil and excellent water so easily obtained, was capable of supporting comfortably a large number of people, and that it needed a high grade college to supplement the work of the public schools. Such an institution would do more to keep up the quality standard of the people already here than anything else. He said that it was his highest ambition to be identified with the building up of a country such as this is destined to be—to be an instrument in moulding the character of its people. That the first settlers of a new country in nearly every case decided the character of the future generations, and that with the excellent class of people already here, a college such as is proposed would tend to keep up that high standard as would no other enterprise. Instead of attracting an indigent, squatter class of people here a college would bring an intelligent, cultured and well-to-do people. Mr. Clark said that in a conversation with F. T. Ramsey, the Austin nurseryman, that gentleman said that the plains country would in fifty years' time be the garden spot of Texas, and that he would establish a nursery here in the near future. Mr. Clark proposed that he establish his business at Hereford in close proximity to the college, and that the college students be given instruction in horticulture in all its branches. Mr. Ramsey said that if he decided to come to Hereford he would not only do that, but would pay the students for their work thus enabling many in straightened circumstances to earn something with which to defray the expenses of their college education. If he did not decide to come himself and move his family here at present he would place a thoroughly competent man in charge of his nursery business here, but the chances are that he will decide to move here when he pays this country a visit and sees the delightfulness of the climate, the excellent educational facilities, and gets acquainted with our people. Here it might be added that with the establishment of the college and the nursery we are sure to get the next state appropriation for an experimental station, which, added to the dairy experiment station which Prof. Clark proposes to establish in connection with the college, will make Hereford the educational center of the Panhandle.

The College faculty will require people who take students to board to sign a contract that they will co-operate with the faculty in maintaining discipline among the students, and that they will report to the faculty any misdemeanors of the pupils which will tend to corrupt the morals of the students, thus assuring the school a reputation for rigid moral character.

During the summer vacation months the building will be used for the conducting of a summer normal for teachers from all over the state.

In fact, during the coming summer a summer normal will be established here, the public school building having been engaged for that purpose.

In regard to the sectarianism or denominationalism of the college Prof. Clark said that it would be folly for anyone to try to conduct a school of that kind in this section of the country and assured his hearers that nothing savoring of sectarianism or denominationalism would be permitted. He said that every student would be asked their religious preference and the teaching of religious creeds would be left to the pastor of their preference, and that the pastors of all churches would be requested to co-operate with the faculty in the moral and religious training of the pupils. He said that the school was not for the purpose of teaching religious creeds, but was for the moulding of character, and to develop the mind intellectually and the body physically.

Judge Ferguson then spoke briefly on the necessity of establishing the college and said that Hereford citizens could not afford to let the opportunity pass. He said that heretofore our citizens had successfully carried out any project undertaken and that there was no reason why this proposition should fall through and added, parenthetically, that it was not going to fall through.

Prof. Clark then added that the building of the college would give at least eight months' work to 100 workmen, as many extra residences would be needed for people who would come here to live on account of the college.

S. S. Evans then arose and said that in addition to the 100 acres of land which he had given for the establishment of the college he would give $300 cash. This announcement was greeted by loud applause, as was the speech made by A. J. Lipscomb in which he said that he would give $100 in addition to the $50 he had already invested.

Rev. Addison Clark then made a few remarks and stated that he was afraid that the impetus to land values on account of the college would prevent him from buying what land he wanted here.

After the dismissal by Rev. C. A. Clark, Judge Gough announced that Judge Ferguson had his list with him and that anyone wishing to invest in the college could do so. R. R. Harris took advantage of the opportunity and put his name down for $50.

Dr. Edgar P. Lewis, of the Amarillo dental firm of Dodson & Lewis, will be in Hereford for three days only—February 13, 14, 15—to attend to the dental needs of Hereford citizens.

K. of P. Banquet

A short time ago Tierra Blanca Lodge No. 279, Knights of Pythias, sent out invitations to a number of their friends to attend a banquet to be given at the Hereford House, of which Messrs. Morris & Jacobsgaard are the popular proprietors, on Tuesday evening, February 4th. The Knights made all preparations for the comfort and amusement of their guests, many of which were from out of town, and deserve great credit for the manner in which the visitors were entertained. The Amarillo orchestra was secured to furnish the music for the occasion, and that organization, assisted by Prof. W. E. Rush and S. C. Wilson, rendered some very difficult musical productions in a manner that would do credit to a much older and better salaried organization. This orchestra consists of ten members, among whom are five young lady solo violinists, and to say that they handle the king of musical instruments in an exceedingly creditable manner is putting it mild. The orchestra is led by Miss Starkey Dees and is accompanied on the piano by Miss Alberta LeMoine, both young ladies being musicians of a high degree of accomplishment. During the evening Misses Starkey Dees, Laura Potter, Alberta LeMoine, Corbie Thomason and Messrs B. G. Stegman and W. E. Rush rendered some very pleasing vocal and instrumental solos. At about 8:30 o'clock the guests began to assemble in the spacious parlors of the Hereford House, which under the new management has been refitted and undergone a complete renovation, and promptly at the appointed time, 9:30 o'clock, W. R. Evans, in a well worded impromptu speech, in behalf of Tierra Blanca lodge, K. of P., welcomed the guests and invited them to the dining parlors where a tempting spread was awaiting them. Landlords Morris & Jacobsgaard spared neither pains nor expense for the comfort and convenience of their guests as is evidenced by the menu which is given below. Under the artistic guidance of the housekeeper, Mrs. G. W. Dale, the setting of the tables was a beautiful sight to behold, and were prettily decorated with flowers and house plants in addition to the tempting viands with which they were loaded. The three-color menu cards, which were printed at this office, also came in for their share of the compliments, and are being preserved as a souvenir of the occasion as they contain on the inside pages the autographs of the guests present, which numbered an even sixty.

The hotel management is to be highly complimented for the able manner in which they cared for their honored guests of the evening.

The following menu was served, which was prepared by the Hereford House's expert chef.

F. H. Britain has an Antonio Stradivarius Cremonensis violin which was made in 1713, consequently being 189 years old. Mr. Britain has had the instrument 22 years and bought it of a man who said that he had purchased it from an Indian in the Territory. The instrument is without doubt very valuable, but Mr. Britain could hardly be induced to part with it.

Thompson & Fierabend, the saddlers, have decided to move their business to Amarillo, and will make the change next week. Inability to get suitable quarters for their business is the reason given for the change. We regret to see this establishment leave Hereford as Mr. Fierabend is an expert workman and the town needs an enterprise of this kind.

The Concert Given Wednesday Night by the Amarillo Orchestra.

Last Wednesday evening the Amarillo orchestra, which is managed by L. D. Thomason, the Amarillo piano dealer, gave a very creditable concert in the vacant store in the Hay building, which was listened to by an appreciative audience. Considering the high standard of the musicians and the excellence of their productions, there should have been a larger crowd present, and those who were not present missed a rare treat indeed.

The program was as follows:

Tenth Regiment	Band
Irwin Waltzes	Orchestra
Moonbeams on the Lake	Quartet
Bill Boards	Band
Scarlet Letter	Orchestra
Violin Solo	Miss Starkey Dees
Whistling Rufus	Orchestra
Coramba	Band
Vocal Solo	B. G. Stegman
Recitation	Miss Corbie Thomason
Medley	Orchestra
Dixie	Band

Every number was especially well rendered and we hope that this organization will visit us again in the near future, believing that a much larger audience will greet them.

O. W. Bryant of Plainview came in this morning and will henceforth be an employe of the REPORTER office.

THE HEREFORD REPORTER in recounting the causes for its town's rapid growth mentions the unanimous purpose with which its citizens have labored to make it a town and the support they have given the paper.
That is true. The REPORTER is the paper that has been patronized as it deserved to be, and about the only one in this country. And there is just this tho't connected with this—the men who patronize a paper and appreciate its value build towns and big business in it and those who do not do the first do not do the last.
Stinginess with printer's ink and utter ignorance of a paper's value are killing many towns in West Texas.

Bridge the Gulfs.

Just a few words in regard to our school.

Gathered reports from both pupils and teachers tend to verify the statement that the school, since September 1, 1901, has made a wonderful progress under the adequate superintendence of Prof. Page.

He, and also his assistants, each seem to realize that our growing little town must continue to be reared upon something elevating and ennobling. Hence the strenuous efforts put forth each day to instill the brightest principles of manhood in the young minds of our youths.

Of course there are some difficulties under which we have had to labor. We have children here from every part of Texas and from every grade of school, consequently we have had some difficulty in getting the work in some kind of a systematic order.

But, regardless of any obstacle that might be thrown in the way, we are moving on very smoothly, so far as the teachers and pupils are concerned. But these are not all who should be concerned in this work.
The teachers may exert themselves to the utmost, and the pupil may do all he knows to do, but if the patrons do not take any interest and fail to respond to our calling, the interest of the pupil, in time, will lessen to some extent. The teacher, pupil and parent should work hand in hand if any good is accomplished.

It is the parent's duty to know what his boy or girl is doing; and, if he does not get a satisfactory answer from the pupil and he knows not the reason, why does he not come and see where the fault lies? In doing this, he not only satisfies himself, but he encourages the pupil and also makes the teacher feel that he is not working alone. Home should be school and school should be home with a cord of sympathy stretched from one to the other. If any gulfs exist between these places we want to bridge them with love, reason and compassion. In this way, each, lending a sympathizing hand, works in accordance with the other and to the advantage of the other, consequently much good is obtained.

The Mathushek Piano

THIS is without doubt the best Piano sold in the Panhandle today. Its easy action and pure, clear, mellow tone give it a standing among competent musicians that is not reached by any other Piano sold in these parts. The fact that during the thirty-six years that the Mathushek Piano has been manufactured, over thirty thousand have been sold and not a single case of broken plate has been reported, is sufficient testimony as to the strength and stability of the iron frame, one of the most important features of a piano. Only the best of materials is used in the construction of this Piano, and the building of the same is entrusted only to competent workmen, who are employed by the day instead of by piece work, as is common in all other makes.

If you are contemplating buying a Piano it will be greatly to your advantage to investigate the qualities of this excellent instrument. We carry a large stock of these Pianos at our store in Amarillo and will be pleased to show them to you whether you buy or not. Every instru-

The many friends of F. M. Avis will be pleased to learn that he has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness as to enable him to be out around his ranch. These beautiful summer days are aiding him in his convalescence.

Asa Martin has traded his Oklahoma ranch, which he secured in the recent drawing, with A. B. Bynum for the latter's place just east of town. Mr. Bynum will leave soon and send for his family as soon as he has erected a house on his new place.

C. L. Potter of Gainesville, who is a candidate for congressman from this district, came in Wednesday to get acquainted with Hereford's voters. Mr. Potter is a very pleasant gentleman, and his capabilities are such that should he be elected this district will be well represented in our national congress.

To inexperienced patentees all patents are of equal protective value. They all have the seal of the government and a blue ribbon; but some patentees know the importance of claims, and it is to their skill and perseverance in securing protecting claims that C. A. Snow & Co. of Washington owe in part their reputation and success.

B. T. Hinton, the confectioner, has ordered a $500 soda fountain, to be here about April 1st. Mr. Hinton believes in being up-to-date in everything, and you can rest assured that his will be a popular resort during the summer months, at least, for the young people of both sexes.

The Hereford House has a new adv in this issue. Messrs. Morris & Jacobsgaard are renovating the hotel and refurnishing the rooms as fast as possible, an addition will be built which will give them many more rooms for sleeping purposes and also a large sample room to accommodate the traveling men, and when all improvements are completed the Hereford House will be the swellest hotel in the Panhandle.

We learn that D. F. Johnson and C. C. Ferguson have bought the coal and grain business of Smith, Walker, & Co. and will assume charge on Monday next. These gentlemen have a large acquaintance hereabouts and their popularity and business integrity will assure them their full share of the business of this vicinity in that line. Mr. Johnson is perfectly familiar with the business, having had charge of that department of the business during his long employ with that firm, while Mr. Ferguson has been identified with the cattle business since coming to Hereford. We bespeak for the new firm unbounded success.

We are pleased to note that Fred Spikes, who has been under the surgical care of Drs. Estes, Gough and Johnson since being brought here from New Mexico, is improving as rapidly as can be expected, considering the nature of the wounds. His recovery will be a revelation to the Panhandle people as it was supposed by many that anything serious in the surgical line was necessary to be taken to Ft. Worth or elsewhere for treatment. But you can rest assured that Hereford is up-to-date in everything. This operation is probably the most delicate and difficult piece of surgery ever performed in the Panhandle.

Rat Jowell returned last Monday from Kansas City, where he had been attending the Hereford sale. He purchased two of these fine animals, a male and a female, which arrived here on Tuesday and are now on Rat's model Tierra Blanca ranch. When the nine head of registered Herefords arrive which he purchased from S. T. Howard of Quanah and which was the prize show herd of the state in 1900 and 1901, Mr. Jowell will have a nice start toward the "quality" herd which he will run on his ranch. The bunch of steers which he now has will be sold in the spring and he will thereafter devote his attention exclusively to the breeding of registered Hereford cattle.

WE HAVE MOVED.

Contractor Snyder Pushed the Work so as to Enable Us to Move in Saturday.

Well, we are moved. Everything is not in ship-shape, but we are moved. We are no longer in the crowded little room on Dewey avenue, but are in a comodious office of our own just back of the Hereford National Bank. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather during the erection of the office building, Contractor Snyder fulfilled his part of the contract and got the house in readiness for us to move in on the appointed day by putting an extra force of men at work. The building is 16x32 feet in dimensions, has a solid glass front with double doors, which added to the north and west windows, give ample light to the office, so essential to an establishment of this kind. The work was done by experienced carpenters and builders under the watchful eye of Mr. Snyder, which is a guarantee of the best of workmanship, and if we do say it, there is not a better built house in the Panhandle. Ed Bullock is now engaged in painting the same. We will be pleased to greet all our old friends in our new abode, and if you are not acquainted with us, come in and get acquainted. We love to have many friends and will try hard to retain your friendship, when once it is gained.

Swindlers About.

Merchants should be on guard against a couple of men who drive up in a farm wagon late in the afternoon, run in and make a small purchase and offer a check on the bank for $10 in payment. They look like farmers and the merchant seeing the farm wagon outside will think they are all right and cash their check. A large reward is offered for their arrest by Oklahoma officers.—Amarillo Record.
