County Pays $2,800 in Bills for Hawkins Trial

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

The aggravated rape trial of Samuel Christopher Hawkins has cost Deaf Smith County approximately $2,800, Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul told the county commissioners court Monday during the regular semi-monthly Saul said that not all the bills have been paid yet by the county, but the final figure should be "around six or seven thousand.

He told the court that the only other large bill to be paid is "whatever the judge down there (in Houston) decides to pay the defense counsel.

Hawkins was found guilty earlier this month of the 1976 aggravated rape of a young Hereford housewife. She had been raped, stabbed repeatedly and apparently left for dead, as area law enforcement authorities intensified their search for the so-called "traveling rapist", who was thought to be responsible for numerous Panhandle assaults

Hawkins was arrested in Amarillo last year and charged with both the murder of a Borger housewife and the Hereford rape. A Lubbock jury found him guilty of the murder and sentenced him to die.

He was given a life prison sentence after the Houston jury found him guilty of the attack on the Hereford woman. The trial had been moved to Houston on a change of venue

"When you consider that Borger spent something like $150,000 in their capital murder case, we're not paying very much. We had anticipated it could cost as much as $50,000." Saul told The Brand.

He told the commission that the largest bill paid so far was $1,400 to Amarillo psychiatrist Dr. Hugh Pennal, who charged his regular hourly fee while

Equipment Purchased For EMTs

Deaf Smith County will pay $7,176 for emergency medical service equipment to be used by local paramedics, the county commission voted Monday

County health officer Dr. Duffy McBrayer and emergency medical technician (EMT) John Gililland, a local funeral director, asked the commission to pay 60 percent of the $11,960 needed for emergency equipment to be used in life-and-death and other critical situa-Gililland said the federal government would provide for 40 percent of the equipment's cost. He added that the county must apply for the equipment by Thursday to receive it.

'We have a unique opportunity in the community now that John Gililland and Jerry Walls have become qualified in emergency situations," McBrayer told the commission. "In order to take advantage of their training, we've got to have the proper equipment

That equipment includes a heart monitor/defibrillator, telemetry, walkie talkies, portable mobile radio unit, three cervical collars, two mast trousers and a

A walkie talkie would be placed in each of the two Hereford medical clinics, McBrayer said. A radio also would be put in the hospital emergency room.

"We have to have what is called medical control,' McBrayer said. "That is the way we communicate with the paramedics. This is an extension of the physician out there in the field.

The medical staff of the community has fully endorsed the paramedic program.

McBrayer told commissioners that a full-scale paramedic program would someday be required by law in every county."There will come a time when we must have it," he said. "There is

Bloodmobile Sets Hereford Visit

Hereford residents are reminded to contribute blood to the Coffee Memorial Center's Bloodmobile Wednesday when it makes its monthly stop at the Community Center.

Blood donations totaling 171 pints will be sought to replace blood which has been provided through the center for Deaf Smith County residents. The traveling unit will be on the parking lot of the Community Center from 3 - 6 p.m. Donors may specify recepients to be credited with blood they contribute. Joan Bookout, blood drive chairman for the county reported that patients needing blood include, Annie Barlow, 40 pints; Glyn Bilbrey, 4 pints; Larry Bain, 51 pints: William Frank, 20 pints; Mary Landers, 8 pints; Harold Milam, 12 pints; Maria Marquez, 8 pints; and Norman

USDA Seeks To Up Farm Price of Corn

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is looking at ways to boost the farm price of corn but has not yet decided how to proceed, according to a senior official.

Howard Hjort. USDA director of economics, said that he leaned toward larger participation by corn farmers in a three-year grain reserve program but has not ruled out a number of possible actions aimed at boosting corn prices.

With those prices weakening the way they have, we're looking at anything and everything that can be done." Hjort said Monday in an interview with AP reporters.

The farmer-owned grain reserve is aimed at taking part of the nation's excess 1977-crop wheat and feed grain from the free market by storing it for up to three years or until higher prices trigger their release.

In a report Monday, the department said the reserve so far includes about 370.9 million bushels of wheat. The original goal was to have at least 330 million bushels of wheat stored by farmers plus about 670 million bushels of corn and other feed grains.

But corn has dribbled slowly into the reserve program and amounted to about 120 million bushels as of July 21, plus lesser amounts of other feed grains.

Sen. Dick Clark, D-lowa, last week urged Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland to take action on raising corn prices which, he said, have dropped to less than $2 a bushel in most lowa markets, about 28 cents less than the cost of producing corn.

Clark said that one step could be for USDA to re-open the loan program for 1977-crop corn for an additional 60 days so that farmers can put more of their grain under loan and thus remove it from

Clark also wants the department to make "a solid commitment" to the goal of getting at least 550 million bushels of corn into the three-year reserve program by Oct. 1 when the new 1978 crop will be ready for harvest. Hiort said that he and other USDA officials "are taking a look" at Clark's proposals. But Hjort indicated that he thinks getting more corn into the three-year reserve would have more market price impact than if the 1977 loan program was reopened.

The 1977 corn loans, the amount farmers can borrow from USDA by using their grain as collateral - are for nine months. Thus, Hjort said, loans made on corn last October are beginning to come due now, meaning that farmers will repay the loans or let the department take over their grain to satisfy what is owed.

Applications for the corn loans were shut off on May 31.

"I sure would like for him to" accept the constitutional amendments package, Clayton said of the governor.

The governor cannot veto a proposed constitutional amendment but Briscoe could call another special legislative session if he does not believe lawmakers have gone far enough in providing the property tax relief he has requested.

The House Constitutional Amendment Committee approved the measure, 8-0, shortly before 10 p.m. Monday, but only after making a drastic change.

Key features of the proposal include: -Taxation of agricultural land according to its productive capacity rather than its value on the real estate market, a step recommended by Briscoe. -Elimination of an old and unused provision that subjects intangibles, such as bank accounts, stocks and bonds, to

Bell an Obvious Choice for Follies Chairman

By O.G. NIEMAN Publisher-Editor

Charlie Bell is another one of those people in the community who wears several hats -- so if you haven't met him in the insurance business, it's a good bet you've seen him in civic projects or as director of his own dance band.

A local insurance agent representing Southwestern Life Insurance Co., Bell is also a multi-talented musician and is a former Hereford High School band director. He is also a former director of the First United Methodist Church choir and still a member of that church group. Bell was recently named as general chairman for the forthcoming Chamber Follies, a musical variety show to be staged under sponsorship of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. With scripts, music and costumes provided by a professional company, the show will feature all local talent and has been scheduled for Nov. 13-15.

Aside from his professional background in music, Bell comes well qualified for the man to guide the Follies. For many years, the Hereford Lions Club staged a variety show and Bell served as director for seven years. Bell and other Lions wrote the scripts from scratch and the shows are still comembered in the community

Bell started his own dance band some 20 years ago and, for many years, the group has performed more as a hobby than a business. "I've decided to fold up the band once or twice a year ever since.' quips Bells, "but somebody calls for us to play and I forget that we've disbanded!"

Two members of his band--Tommy Weemes and Gerald Martin-have been with him since the start. The late, Woody McDermitt was with the group for a number of years. Susie McGee and Patsy Morris have been popular members the last few years.

Bell and his wife, Margaret, moved to Hereford in 1956 when he became director of the high school band and she began teaching in elementary school. He quit the school system in 1959 to enter the insurance business.

Since that time, Bell has been one of the top producers for Southwestern Life. He is a member of the Presidents Honor Club, a frequent member of the Million-Dollar Roundtable, and is currently president of Southwestern's (See BRANDING, Page 2)

Limitations Statute Expires for Ex-Cop

DALLAS (AP) - The federal statute of limitations expired at 12:01 a.m. today on the Santos Rodriguez murder case, which frees former Dallas policeman Darrell Cain of any worries he might have had about federal civil rights prosecution.

"Everyone should be reasonably satisfied with the outcome, because it was looked into fairly. It was reviewed more than any other case. Whether you like the outcome or not, it has been reviewed." said Phil Burleson of Dallas, one of Cain's attorneys.

Mexican-American leaders failed in their bid late last week to persuade Justice Department officials to file federal civil rights charges against Cain, who shot a 12-year-old boy to death in July, 1973, as the youth sat handcuffed in the rear seat of a squad car.

They had protested his five-year prison sentence by a state court jury as too light. Burleson said he has not talked recently with Cain, who works in the diagnostic unit of the state prison, but "I am reasonably sure he's relieved not to face prosecution. In my correspondences with him, it was a matter of concern. I'm sure he's greatly relieved."

Ruben Sandoval of San Antonio, the Rodriguez family counsel, said although he and others feel the Rodriguez case has gone unvindicated, the civil rights struggle among Mexican-Americans is still alive

"Contrary to what people say, this case will not set the Mexican-American community back as far as civil rights violations are concerned. Instead, it has set us forward." he said.

South African Girl Named Miss Universe

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) - The black winner of the Miss Universe title in 1977 put the 1978 crown on the head of a white South African model Monday night, but there was none of the unpleasantness that usually accompanies South Africa's participation in international competition.

Margaret Gardiner, a 5-foot-10. 135-pound 18-year-old from Cape Town succeeded Janeile Commissiong of Trinidad Iobago on the beauty throne. Miss U.S.A., 20-year-old Judi Andersen of Honolulu, was second.

The other finalists were Miss Spain, Guillermina Ruiz, 21; Miss Colombia, Shirley Swanz, 18, and Miss Sweden, Cecilia Rodhe, 17.

Officials of the competition said the Mexican government, which opposes the South African government's whitesupremacy policy, made a special concession allowing Miss Gardiner to participăte.

The 75 entrants in the month-long contest included one black African, Joan Libuseng Khoali of Lesotho, and several blacks from the Caribbean and Pacific island. There was also one black among the 11 judges, the American singer Melba Moore.

Although black athletes usually boycott competitions in which South Africans take part, Miss Khoali said she "saw nothing wrong" in Miss Gardiner's

Migrants Not Happy With Wages, Conditions

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Migrant farm workers took more than three hours to tell a legislative committee their concerns Monday about low wages and living conditions in the Texas crop fields.

Carrying flags and banners with the Texas Farm Workers Union emblems, the 45 migrants also vowed to maintain a vigil at the state capitol under Gov. Dolph Briscoe meets with them.

The governor denied their meeting request, according to union spokesman Antonio Orendain.

Committee members packed a hearing of the legislative sub-committee on migrant workers. The migrants tried to block committee room exits when members wanted to recess for House debate, but capitol security officers kept the doorways open.

The group advocates higher wages and collective bargaining rights for agricultural workers, Orendain said.

In addition to the farm workers, several state agency officials testified on migrant workers' problems in Texas.

Texas has an estimated 350,000 citizens who follow crop harvests across the country, one state agency official told the subcommittee.

Rafael Quintanilla, acting director of the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs (GOMA), suggested that the Legislature form a new agency to oversee all health, education and welfare services for migrant workers.

The Texas Education Agency is trying to coordinate migrant education with other states where migrants travel, said Frank Contreras of the TEA.

Wildcat Strikes Enter 4th Day with Warnings By The Associated Press

A militant New York postal worker union local that led a week-long nationwide mail strike in 1970 has authorized its members to take a strike vote following the firing of 122 picketing postal workers at two bulk mail centers.

Meanwhile, the wildcat strikes at the bulk mail centers in Jersey City, N.J., and Richmond, Calif., that have been sparked by unhappiness over the proposed new postal contract, today entered their fourth day despite warnings from Postmaster General William R. Bolger of possible further firings and legal action against the strikers.

The executive board of the New York Metro Area Postal union, the local of the American Postal Workers Union, agreed unanimously Monday night to have its 26,000 metropolitan area members vote on a strike at various locations over the next several days.

And the executive board of the 8,000-member Branch 36 National Association of Letter Carriers voted unanimously to support the Metro members if they decide to strike.

The actions came following the U.S. Postal Service's dismissal of 80 wildcat strikers at the New York Bulk and Foreign Mail Center in nearby Jersey City on Sunday and Monday, and 42 workers on Monday at the West Coast facility in Richmond, outside San Francisco.

The National Post Office Mail Handlers, Watchmen, Messengers and Group Leaders Amalgamated Local 300, AFL-CIO, the third major postal union in the New York area, has not publicly announced its stand on a strike.

Leaders of the West Coast workers urged them to return to work because the strike is unsanctioned.

Rep. Bob Hendricks, D-McKinney, persuaded the committee that the Legislature should have the flexibility to change the exemption to keep up with inflation.

Legislators also would decide how much the state should pay school districts as reimbursement for taxes lost due to the homestead exemption.

I became pregnant at 16 and was married. The first seven months of our marriage were filled with terror of being alone. which I was almost all the time because my husband had to hold down two jobs. My "friends" shunned me. I was plagued with morning sickness and my parents were ashamed to have me in their home.

HEREFORD- Japan and the Texas Panhandle may have little in common, in many ways, but this summer they will share 24 citizens.

As part of the 4-H Labo International Exchange, 22 Japanese youths will become, for a month, the sons, daughters, brothers, and sisters of 22 area families. The young people, between the ages of 12 and 18, will arrive Tuesday, July 25. They will be accompanied by two Japanese tutor-chaperones.

Two of the Japanese youngsters with families in Deaf Smith County, Claudette Mitchell, County Extension agent, said.

The guests, their ages, and their host families in Deaf Smith are: Kana Oyalu, 13, staying with the J.L. Rowland's, Seiji Kunieda, 13, staying with the Lynn Jones

The visitors are among 68 Japanese youths coming to Texas under auspices of the Labo Foundation, said Dr. John our area. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Over the past several years, the foundation has sent several thousand Japanese youths to the United States, primarily the western states.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

We are living in an age of temperance.

You can't go to a gathering anymore without coming face to face with a group of reformed smokers, sanctimonios joggers. committed dieters, or born-again drinkers.

I sit through entire evenings with people who have given up watching TV and want to tell me why, who no longer baste themselves in the sun and give me their reasons for abstinence, who have made a decision not to have children and insist on stating their case.

Everyone listens. After all, people have their own personal, reasons for doing things. No one gets too uptight about a stand.

Until the other night.

The conversation around the dinner table was about 86 decibels when the hostess placed on my plate a meringue shell, filled with ice cream, topped with butterscotch sauce, whipped cream, and a maraschino cherry on top.

"No thank you," I whispered as she placed the dish in front, of me, "I don't eat dessert."

The entire room fell into silence. The host gasped. Forks poised in midair. Jaws stopped chewing. The hostess stopped breathing. Every eye in the room was on me.

'What do you mean you don't eat dessert?" asked my table, "Do you mean to tell me you are going to pass up Helens" dessert -- Future Blimp -- which she has worked on all day,

"It's stubborn and it's spiteful."

"I suppose you're too big for desserts anymore."

"Are you saying that just this once you couldn't make an exception?" asked a woman across from me. 'How can you resist? Just a bite of it wouldn't kill you." *

"I've never seen anything so rude," came a muffled voice at the end of the table. Dinner continued, but a pall had settled over the entire group as I sipped at my coffee. Yesterday, I was shopping in the supermarket when I met a couple who had been at the party. "You remember her, George. She's the one who refused Helen's dessert."

It's funny. I could discover a cure for boredom, run for governor, or give birth while running the Boston Marathon, but I will always be remembered for refusing to succumb to meringue and butterscotch.

Martin Fired, Lemon New Yank Pilot

Royals Top Yanks, Birds Bomb Texas

By BARRY AILNER AP Sports Writer

In the past two American League Championship Series, the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Royals in five games and it was generally noted that Yankees Manager Billy Martin outmanaged Kansas City field boss Whitey Herzog.

Despite those playoff losses, the Royals' players stand behind Herzog 100 percent. And now they know Martin won't be , outmanaging Herzog in this season's playoffs.

The fiery Martin resigned Monday, several hours before the Royals rallied to beat the Yankees 5-2.

George Brett was one of the heroes for the Royals, driving in the winning run with a single to left off reliever Sparky Lyle in the seventh inning. Brett's hit followed pinch-hitter Steve Braun's two-out double, which Thurman Munson dropped in right field.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston and Minnesota split a double-header, the Twins winning the first game 5-4 and the Red Sox the second 4-2; Detroit bested Oakland 4-1; Chicago beat Milwaukee 4-1; California outlasted Cleveland ·5-4 in 16 innings; Seattle swept Toronto 1-0 and 7-2 and Baltimore overcame Texas 10-6.

Twins 5-2, Red Sox 4-4 Boston broke a five-game slide with its nightcap victory as Carl Yastrzemski knocked in the 1.500th run of his career with an single in the sixth inning. After a long standing ovation, Carlton Fisk belted Minnesota hurler

KANSAS CITY (AP) - When he suspended Reggie Jackson last Monday, Billy Martin cocked the gun. When he sharply criticized the outfielder. Martin in fact aimed it right at his own head.

And when he sniped at Yankee owner George Steinbrenner Sunday night. Billy Martin pulled the trigger on his career as manager of the New York Yankees.

"I knew it would be just a matter of time," said Kansas City Royals pitcher Larry Gura. who "escaped" the Yankees in 1976. "You just knew. knowing Billy. He never sticks around one team very long."

There had been one season with Minnesota, three with Detroit, two with Texas, and just nine days less than three years - three tumultuous. tension-wracked years - with the Yankees before what's left of Billy Martin resigned Monday.

Tearful, trembling, ultimately unable to speak, Martin said he resigned to salvage, as he put it. 'my health and mental well-being." He was replaced by former Yankee pitching coach Bob Lemon.

Terms of the contract with Lemon have not been decided. Yankee President Al Rosen

"It was just a matter of time," said New York first baseman Jim Spencer. "It's baseball, I guess," said Yogi Berra. "It's a complete shock." said Yankee utilityman Paul "It's the best thing," said

Whitey Herzog, the Royals' manager. "I feel life's too short to put up with all he's been putting up with. I don't think he's been looking too good lately. I noticed when I was with him during the All-Star breakand in New York last week."

Rosen called it "health reasons," and Yankee center fielder Mickey Rivers said. Billy was taking care of all our problems and maybe it just wore him out."

But everyone seemed to know that no other option existed after Martin told two newspapermen traveling with the team that Jackson and Steinbrenner "deserve each other. One's a born (liar (Jackson) and one's convicted (Steinbrenner).

Steinbrenner, convicted in 1974 of making an illegal campaign contribution, had countenanced the ongoing turmoil that surrounded Martin's Yankee - including the near-fight in Boston last year between Jackson and his manager.

But he had a clause written into Martin's contract that prohibited public criticism of the owner. When that clause was defied. Martin was finished.

"I couldn't let any employee of the New York Yankees say things like that about the front office." said Rosen.

The financial end of Martin's contract will be honored through 1979 - $80,000 this year and $90,000 next - while the low-key Lemon holds the reins of the stubborn stallion called the Yankees.

"You never really know how hot the kitchen is until you get in it." said Lemon, who is expected to start checking his thermometer tonight.

Wayne Wilkerson stepped up to the plate for the Tulsa Drillers in the second inning of their game Monday night with two runners on and slammed Jeff Albert's pitch out of the park.

But the Drillers still were shut out in the Texas League baseball game, 10-0, at Midland and umpires gave Wilkerson also held two workouts Monday only a single on the play, instead of a three-run homer.

Joe Stewart, the first man to come home, failed to touch the blate and was out on an appeal. Since two men were already out, that ended the inning and Wilkerson was denied his round ankle in the first workout. Joe Hernandez gave the Midland Cubs a 2-0 lead with his eighth home run of the year Registration started today in the first inning with one man on. Albert raised his record to 6-8 and Mike Griffin, the loser, fell to 5-12.

> It was the Western Division's night Monday. All four division teams beat counterparts from the Eastern Division. El Paso defeated Jackson 5-1. Amarillo edged Shreveport 3-2 and San Antonio nipped Arkansas 3-2.

GNP Increases But Economy Still Dismal

povernment's announcement that the second-quarter Gross National Product exceeded $2. trillion for the first time ever scarcely drew rave reviews from the economic community this past week. " --

The Commerce Department announced that the GNP, which represents the value of all goods and services produced, came to $2.08 trillion at an annual rate in the spring quarter of the year. That represented a 7.4 percent rate of growth, after adjustment for inflation, which was the biggest surge in more than two years but still somewhat less than the 8 to 9 percent rate many private economists had expected. At the same time, the Commerce Department announced that the inflation rate during the quarter was 10 percent, the worst for any quarter in three years.

Much of the spring quarter's growth was seen as catchup from the almost non-existent level of growth in the previous quarter, which was hampered a Congressional committee that bad weather and a nation-wide coal strike.

So economists generally were more concerned about the inflation figures than impressed with the rate of economic growth, which amounted to about 3.5 percent growth in the first six months.

Recent increases in shortterm interest rates, which are partly the result of an inflation fighting move by the Federal Reserve Board, also seen as signals of a possible weakening in the economy.

A slowing of economic growth this year from last year's percent growth rate is widely expected. But most economists had been saying that the current business expansion, which started about three and a half years ago, would have enough steam to keep going through 1979, before a pause or recession.

Also this past week:

-Barry Bosworth, President Carter's director of the Council of Wage and Price Stability, told the overall productivity of the nation is slipping badly. Productivity, a measurement of output per worker, has declined by about 3 percent in at least the first quarter of the year, he said.

-Alan J. Hirschfield, was fired as president and chief executive officer of Columbia Pictures, in a move he blamed solely on the "Begelman Affair," a controversy that has kept the company in turmoil for months.

-A seven-nation economic summit in Bonn, West Germany, resulted in pledges from West Germany and Japan that the two countries would attempt to increase their economic growth. The United States promised to reduce its imports of foreign oil by 2.5 million barrels a day by 1985.

As of last June 8, the Soweto Community Council was granted legal status: a large measure of self-government for that black community and another historic barrier crumbles.

A continuing problem which many Americans do not comprehend is the fact that African blacks are made up of many different tribes which tend to segregate themselves. They do not integrate with each other. They do not intermarry. They speak different dialects-in many cases, different langua-

It will be these barriers which retard a more total amalgamation of blacks with whites in South Africa.

But it is on the playing fields of Johannesburg that those differences are dissolving.

Elson used to wonder why, unlike in his native New York, the streets of Madison had no pushcarts pushing hot dogs. Now, after mortgaging his home to buy four carts to dispense "Mad Dogs" on downtown's Capitol Square, Elson knows. State health officials say 'Mad Dogs' don't cut the mustard and are threatening to close down his business. But rather than folding up his brightly colored umbrellas, Elson relishes the controversy.

The problem is the state code under which Elson was granted a license to run mobile restaurants.

Roy Clary of the Department of Health and Social Services says Elson was granted the license on the assumption that the young vendors he has hired would be selling pre-wrapped sandwiches.

His carts are adequate for that, but Clary says the hotdogs constitute "food preparation." and that is another matter.

Clary says Elson's pushcarts, on the streets here since June, don't have enough sinks and water tanks to prepare and then sell food.

Clary has asked Dane County District Attorney James Doyle Jr. to act. Doyle says he is waiting for an opinion from Attorney General Bronson La Follette on whether putting a frankfurter, sauerkraut and chili on a bun is food preparation.

'Mad Dog' Nixed By Health Officials

if I've ever seen it," Clary says. Elson says it would be impossible to re-equip each $3,500 pushcart - he would have to have four sinks instead of one and carry 40 gallons of water instead of 10.

Elson, a practicing lawyer, says he is sure that selling "Mad Dogs" is not food preparation. But he's less certain about staying in

"I'd bet everything that I own that I am right in terms of the interpretation of the law," says Elson, "but down the road what good would that do me?"

Pending La Follette's decision, Elson is sticking by the stance he took when officials first moved in: "I said, drop dead, I'm selling hot dogs; try to get the license away from me."

Clary says Elson's pushcarts would be legal in New York City, under the U.S. Public Health Service code. But Wisconsin has stricter requirements for mobile restaurants.

Elson says his future plans are to improve "Mad Dogs" by using the same frankfurters sold from New York's pushcarts. But Clary says he's not interested in sampling Elson's wares - not since he saw Elson try to prove his hot dogs were pre-cooked by tearing open a package with his teeth and eating a couple.

"That," Clary said, "is certainly not a food handling practice we would condone."

moved through their third week of a special session facing a warning from Gov. Dolph Briscoe that he may keep them on the job if they fail to produce "meaningful" tax relief and limitations.

Both houses passed rival versions of legislation to repeal the sales tax on home utility bills and to increase to $200,000 the inheritance tax exemption, then moved the issue to conference com-

The Senate quickly completed action on a proposed constitutional amendment to permit tax valuation of all ranch, farm and timber land on the basis of productivity rather than market value. Main issue raised was whether the tax break should be enjoyed by corporate agriculture and timber growers. Senators rejected 14-15 an amendment to restrict the advantage to small family farmers and ranchers. Briscoe, two weeks deep in the session, opened the agenda to consideration of the property tax code reform bill by Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange and Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene. Committee hearings advanced the bill in the House and Senate, but controversies remained.

Proclaimed Briscoe, as the legislative pace lagged: "It is essential that we have some sort of tax limitation. The people deserve this. If it is not done in 30 days, we will have to take a look at what can be done. I will not rule out any potential on how long it will take. *It has to be done—the sooner the better."

Allowable Set

While companies complained they are finding less oil available for purchase, Texas Railroad Commission set the statewide production allowable for August at 100

Highlights

Spokesmen for Exxon and Amoco explained their lower requests for purchase reflected an effort to bring nominations in line with actual purchases. Shairman Mack Wallace said crude and petroleum imports were 7,862,000 barrels a day for the four-v average of July 7, a decrease of 697,000 from 1977.

Total nominations for next month came to 3,517,436, a decrease of 4.171 from July.

Flaws Reported Secretary of State Steve Oaks reported results of his investigation into alleged absentee voting irregularities in five counties to local district attorneys.

The probe centered on Bexar, Brooks, Duval, Gregg and Van Zandt counties.

Oaks said local prosecutors can complete the investigation and file any appropriate charges. He added he will draft bills for the legislature, setting greater penalties for tampering with election pro-Irregularities, Oaks said, centered on such things as forgery of voters names on absentee voting applications or ballots, persons other than voters applying for absentee ballots, delivery of absentee ballots when the law requires mailing, and assistance to absentee voters by persons others than designated deputy registrars.

Oaks said there were other allegations of payments for transporting voters to the polls on election day.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals found a San Antonio judge was wrong to force lawyers to represent a man charged with murdering his wife.

The same court ordered dismissal of a criminal con-" tempt charge against Potter County District Attorney Tom Curtis for remarks made in a March 9 pre-trial

"Sidelights

In other action, the court: -Reversed an order previously entered and affirmed a 50 year imprisonment sentence in a 1974 Laredo mur-

-Upheld a life imprisonment sentence in a San Antonio heroin possession case. -Sent back for possible new trial a Houston aggravated robbery conviction which ended in a nine-year prison sentence. The Texas Supreme Court refused to order the Board of Law Examiners to permit a young woman already licensed to practice law in California and several other states to take the State Bar The Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a State Banking Board order allowing First State Bank of Hearne to move to College Station and change its name to College Station Bank.

AG Opinions

Attorney General John Hill said a school district employee is entitled to a copy of a superintendent's memorandum which concerns him.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded the Austin County commissioners court can amend salary provisions of a contract with the City of Wallis even though the amendment would raise the pay of a commissioner's daughter employed by the city. Hill said the nepotism statute isn't violated because the county cannot control selection of the city's employ-

Short Snorts
