Crazy Weather Dominated News Scene in '57

Bad weather, the spring blizzard and the wet, cold and finally windy fall, made the biggest news of 1957 in the Hereford area, according to a survey of the year's events by The Brand's news staff. The most dramatic event was, undoubtedly, the blizzard of March 23-24. The tornado of May 24 resulted in the greatest scare of the year. But the pure cussedness of the elements that was demonstrated during the October-November harvest season had a greater impact on the economy and morale of the community than any other event.

OTHER NOTABLE happenings, as reported in your newspaper, include the tax fuss that followed county commissioners' action to raise taxes on rural lands; the $639,000 school bond election recently proposed to meet growing school building needs; the failure of the jail bond issue; the passing of the airport bond issue and the airport construction program; the city's paving program and that of the state along 25 Mile Ave.; the opening of the Children's Wing at county hospital; formation of the Athletic Club to provide a varied, year-round sports program for youth; opening of the telephone exchange; and the election, resignation, deaths and appointments affecting various county and city offices.

The moisture that did fall in the Hereford area during the year came in quantities greater than many residents had come to expect after a long drought, but the 15.71 inches that fell often came in dangerous and expensive forms.

That big storm in March focused national attention on Hereford and the High Plains, and resulted in the death of a father attempting to obtain medicine for his son. W. C. Metzgar's death was attributed to exposure after his car stalled in a ditch while he was returning to a farm home 11 miles southwest of Hereford on March 23.

MRS. RICHARD Martin gave birth to a baby boy unaided in her farm home 22 miles northwest of Hereford Sunday morning after her husband was stranded while seeking aid. With all roads in the area blocked by drifts, an Air Force helicopter flew here for two mercy flights, one bringing a sick child from Vega and the second for a farmer who had suffered a heart attack.

A big tornado funnel swept through the countryside southwest of Hereford May 24. Little damage to property resulted, but a number of minor accidents occurred as residents raced about town, either toward or away from the impending danger. The storm brought from four to seven inches in the western part of the county. From that time until grain sorghum harvest started in October, there was little sensational about our rainfall.

BUT HOT WINDS got in their licks to take the bloom off prospects for an outstanding wheat harvest. Grain shriveled and few fields came up to expectations at harvest time.

In October, rain, more rain and finally snow hampered efforts to harvest grain sorghum. Finally, high winds sent the final portion of the crop to the ground, resulting in some severe damage to yields.

And the same series of weather, starting with an early-than-expected freeze, cut cotton yield prospects and grades.

Harvest of late vegetables was hampered, delayed and damaged to some extent.

Pastures and some winter wheat received the principal benefit from the erratic fall of moisture, which was an even 8 inches, more than fell in 1956. But the final total, 15.71 inches, was still almost 4 inches below the average, 19.64 for Hereford.

TAX EQUALIZATION, a subject discussed intermittently throughout the year by county and school district citizens and officials, became the hottest topic in the community after the county commission in July raised valuations from their range of $5 to $20 per acre to $6 to $30 per acre. A series of special court sessions, and protest meetings of citizens followed.

Many complaints were seen in a new light after individuals met with the commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization. The subject of tax equalization was still under study by school trustees at year's end.

Creek Survey Gets Army Chief's Okay

A survey of Tierra Blanca Creek, to determine whether the construction of a dam would be economically justified, has been authorized by the Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, according to Dr. A. T. Mims, president of the chamber of commerce.

Information regarding approval of the survey was forwarded to Dr. Mims by Rep. Walter Rogers. Congressman Rogers was informed by Brig. Gen. J. L. Peterson, assistant chief of engineers for civil works, that the district engineer of the Tulsa district will make a reconnaissance investigation of the flooding problem.

The survey will determine whether the area might qualify for remedial action under Public Law 685. This law is the authority under which the Chief of Engineers can construct small local flood control projects that have not been specifically authorized by Congress.

Mrs. Olive Hinds, a Music Teacher, Claimed by Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Olive Hinds, 62, 310 McKinley, were held Friday afternoon in the Central Church of Christ. C. F. Kay and J. B. David of Lubbock officiated. Mrs. Hinds died in Deaf Smith County Hospital early Thursday morning after a long illness. She was a private music teacher here.

She was born Nov. 8, 1895, at Springfield, Mo. She was married to J. H. Hinds on Aug. 15, 1915, in Oklahoma. They moved to Texas from Oklahoma in 1929 and came to Hereford from Friona in 1948.

Survivors include her husband and a son, Dale, both of Hereford; a daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Scherrie of Friona; a brother, H. R. Lemons of Venice, Calif., and one grandchild.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery, Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ness of the project, and a maximum Federal cost of not more than $400,000, plus assurances of local cooperation are required for Public Law 685 projects.

The Tulsa engineers have not yet contacted local authorities regarding when the survey is to start or its probable completion date. Dr. Mims said. The chamber of commerce has suggested that the advisability of constructing a dam or series of dams on Tierra Blanca west of Hereford be investigated. Flood control, plus recreational value and possibly the recharging of underground water-bearing sands are seen as possible benefits of a small dam project on the creek, as described by c-e members when the project was initially outlined earlier this year for Congressman Rogers.

3 Drivers Cited after Mid-Week Auto Accidents

Howard Cameron Gault, 28, 804 E. Fourth, was given traffic tickets for collision with a parked vehicle and leaving the scene of an accident following a collision Thursday night.

Gault's car collided with a Hereford Creamery Truck on E. Third at the alley between Schley and Sampson streets. Gault was cited Friday by city police when he reported the accident.

Damage to the creamery's truck was estimated at $225 and $325 to Gault's car.

On Christmas Eve, Tuesday, police handled two traffic accidents. At 1:15 p.m. cars driven by Domingo Bermea, 48, and Johnny M. Latham, 18, 232 Star, collided at the intersection of Fourth and Sampson with $95 total damage. Bermea was given a ticket for failure to grant right-of-way.

At 5 p.m. cars driven by Roy C. Smith, 17, 806 Miles, and Steve Williams, 40, 139 Ave. B, collided at the intersection of Park Ave. and 25 Mile Ave. Total damages were estimated at $600. Smith was cited for failure to grant right-of-way.

Herd Fights Back To Gain 54-53 Win Over Dimmitt

Coming through with the pressure on, Jim Cursinger dropped in a free throw with eight seconds remaining in the game to give the Hereford Whitefeats a 54-53 win over the Dimmitt Bobcats here Friday night.

Dimmitt's Keith Lowe took a desperation shot at the buzzer as the buzzer was sounding but the ball hit the hoop and rolled away.

Cursinger and Lowe staged a personal scoring duel in the raggedly played game with the Hereford captain tallying 27 and Lowe notching 31.

Hereford got away to a 23-17 lead at the first quarter rest point but had a tough time gaining a 33-30 halftime advantage. Dimmitt pulled into the lead for the first time, 42-41, at the end of three quarters.

The lead changed hands five times in the last period. With one minute remaining Lowe hit for two points and a 53-51 Dimmitt lead. Cursinger tied the score with a jump shot with 40 seconds on the clock.

As Hereford was working the ball in for another shot Cursinger was fouled by Truman Touchstone. He then made the shot which won the game.

Tuesday night the Herd will go to Plainview for another attempt at beating the strong Bulldogs. Plainview has defeated Hereford twice this season, 61-57 the first time and 61-56 the second time. Dimmitt won the B game Friday. (Continued On Page 2)

Double-Take! AUTO DEALER REPORTS CAR, CASH STOLEN

A burglar stole a brand-new 1958 Chevrolet from Orsborn-Norwood Chevrolet Co. early Friday night and also broke into a soft-drink machine for about $10 in cash.

John Orsborn discovered the jimmied drink machine about 10:45 p.m. Friday when he returned to his office to do some work. The stole car wasn't noticed until Saturday morning.

Orsborn said the car had been received from the factory Friday. It is a two-door black and white Impala sports coupe. It is valued at $3,200.

The burglar took license plates off a service car and apparently put them on the new one, Orsborn said. The license tag number is AU 4522.

Police said the burglar gained entry by breaking a window. The thief also tried to break into cigarette and candy machines, Orsborn said.

Sheriff's officers and police are investigating.

Hot Check Artist Object of Search by Local Police

City police are searching for an expert "paper hanger," commonly known as a hot check artist.

Last week a man calling himself C. C. Phillips rented an apartment here and had all his utilities turned on and bought some groceries. The man's profit came from a $50 check to Hunter's Food Store for $8 worth of groceries.

Police said the man skipped town after writing his checks. The man signed his checks Chas. C. Phillips and had a phony business card which said he represented the Holland Furnace Co.

The hot check artist is described as being 55 to 65 years old, about 5-7, 180 pounds, brown eyes, partially bald with reddish graying hair, wearing a hat and a tan and brown topcoat.

ANNUAL C-C BANQUET TICKETS SALES BEGIN

Tickets go on sale tomorrow for the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet, scheduled for the high school gym on the evening of Jan. 16. The area's biggest social event and the best attended chamber of commerce banquet in the Southwest, the banquet is expected to attract 514 members, guests and visitors.

The speaker this year, Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kan., in numerous surveys has been found to be the nation's foremost speaker, according to Dr. A. T. Mims, c-c president.

A second attraction, scheduled to appear on the program following the banquet, will be Wes Harrison, "Mr. Sound Effects." This entertainer, a native of Dallas, has appeared on several network television shows during the past year. He is slated to begin a foreign tour shortly after his engagement here.

NOT THE least among the attractions of the evening, declares rotund Bill Lenderman, c-c manager, will be the charcoal broiled steaks. Walter Jetton, the Fort Worth caterer who serves major conventions and meetings across the nation, will again prepare the meal.

The Lions Club "Citizen of the Year Award," an annual "best kept secret," will be presented during the evening by Boss Lion D. C. Martin.

The tickets, at $3 per plate, will be available at the chamber of commerce office during the coming week to members only. The remaining tickets will go on sale to the general public the following week, and may be purchased then (Continued On Page 2)

Water Committee Election Date Set

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District will hold its annual election of directors and county committeemen Tuesday, Jan. 14, 1958. The date is the same as that of the special school bond election. Qualified resident voters in the Hereford area will be concerned only with the election of county committeemen, two men for three year terms in Deaf Smith, Castro and Farmer Counties. The district director posts at stake are those in Precinct 5 (Floyd County), where Marvin Shurbit of Petersburg, president, will be up for reelection unopposed, and in Precinct 2 (Cochran, Hockley and Lamb Counties), where three candidates will be contending for the position to be vacated by Gus Parish of Springfield.

Rites in Missouri for Fred Winfrey, Former Resident

Fred Cecil Winfrey, 69, former Hereford cattleman, died Dec. 20 in a Kansas City, Mo., hospital. Services were held Monday at Carrollton, Mo., and interment was in DeWitt, Mo.

Mr. Winfrey had moved from Hereford in March of this year to Kingsville, Mo., where he had purchased a farm. He had been in failing health for several years.

He was born in Carroll County, Mo., Feb. 11, 1888, and spent the greater part of his life there.

He is survived by his wife of Carrollton; two sons, Fred and L. W.; two brothers, Emmett and George, both of Wakenda, Mo.; and two grandchildren.

The county committeemen ballot in Deaf Smith County show Earl Holt and Edward Paetzold nominated for one place, and T. L. Sparkman, unopposed, for the second.

In Castro County, George Bradford and Tom Lewis, both of Dimmitt, have been nominated for the two committeemen's places.

In Parmer County, John Gammorn of Friona, and A. B. Wilkinson of Bovina, have been nominated for the two elective positions.

Voting places will be in each county courthouse. County Clerk Ralph Smith reports that ballots are now available for absentee voting in Deaf Smith County.

Real property owning voters who are otherwise qualified, will need their 1956 poll tax receipt to cast their ballot.

advisory committees, the school administration and consultants from two universities, before a decision was reached in recent weeks to call for a $636,000 bond election and adoption of a new school taxation system.

With the election set for Jan. 14, 1958, it will probably be an outstanding event of the coming year.

Two bond issues submitted to the voters here during 1957 made news. The first, passage of a $100,000 bond proposal, has resulted in the city obtaining a secondary-class field on a mile square tract just two miles east of the city limits. The second, a county proposal for issuance of bonds for the purpose of constructing a new jail was defeated.

THE CITY last summer began an ambitious paving project, calling for the widening of Ave. X, and paving of many blocks of residential streets. Over three and one-half miles of paving resulted, with individual property owners picking-up the major share of a cost exceeding $151,000.

And the state's project, widening of 25 Mile Ave. (Highway 51) through Hereford, brought reopening of a wide, new street from north of the city to Highway 60. Completion of an underpass at the Santa Fe tracks, originally scheduled for this month, has been delayed by steel shortages and finally bad weather, but is expected now in early March.

The Children's Wing at the county-owned hospital, made possible by a grant from the Jim Hill Estate and matched by individual donations, was opened in May. Affording 13 new hospital beds, with room for an additional 12 beds, the wing was made possible without the expenditure of any local or Federal government funds. The furnishings were provided by gifts made through Hereford's unique Project Christmas Card, which again this year was operated by the Women's Medical Auxiliary to raise funds for new furnishings in the hospital's maternity ward.

Hereford's telephone system finally "went modern" on Dec. 15, with the throwing of switches that cut-in a cross-bar-dial system to replace an outdated "central" office. The new Emerson Building, which houses the new Southwestern-Bell Telephone Co. telephone exchange, proved to be the year's

KNOW THEIR ONIONS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U) — Radcliffe College girls who know their onions know this about them: They don't want them.

And thanks to the efforts of their food committee, they won't have them.

Henceforth, Friday dinners and Saturday lunches and dinners will not include onions on dormitory menus.

Why are onions taboo on those particular days?

Maybe because they're "big date days at Radcliffe."

His many interests and far-flung responsibilities has resulted in his being granted a plaque as the "Nation's Number One Air Passenger." The inscription on this plaque says, "Dr. McFarland sees more people in more different places in the United States and Canada, and does it in shorter periods of time, than any other American."

Additional persons taking part in the banquet will include Dr. Mims, master of ceremonies; Mrs. John T. Sims, organist; The Rev. Alby J. Cockrell, who will deliver the invocation; and the Bud to Eosom Garden Club, who will decorate the high school gym for the occasion.

"Salome," the one-act opera by Richard Strauss, was first performed in Dresden in 1905. It is based on the Oscar Wilde play.

Most of us like to go back sometimes... back to the big moments, the great events of our time that stick in the memory.

There was the excitement of the Roaring Twenties... the days of the speakeasy and the Charleston... of Bob by Jones winning every golf title in sight... of the ferocious Jack Dempsey stalling a victim across the ring... of Babe Ruth clouting No. 60.

Remember those years? We're going to bring back some of those moments of recent history in these columns. Look in on us... and see if you can remember the year before we tell you!

Give Him Driving Lessons

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Do you have a boy nearing 16 or just past his 16th birthday? If you do, there has probably been a lot of pressure to be permitted to drive the family car. You cannot put it off much longer.

Why not get him a learner's permit and a paid-up course of driving lessons for Christmas?

Every American boy wants to drive a car, and almost every one will. It is part of our cultural pattern. It is much better to encourage your boy to be a good safe driver than to forbid his driving and set the stage for unwise transgressions.

Christmas is a wonderful time to show your boy that you recognize his growing up and have faith in his developing responsibility. He will live up to your high opinion of him. He will take pride in being the best of possible drivers. You may have to watch yourself that you are as good as he is!

Insist on absolute observance of the law. Do not let him take the wheel of the car until he has a learner's permit, and no permit until he is old enough by law to have one.

Almost every 16-year-old boy itches to drive. That's why the tedious hours of practice are looked forward to eagerly, never felt as a burden. Once the real driver's license is acquired he may express a sudden desire for long Sunday trips. Go with him and let him drive a good deal of the time. Let him talk about the car, the road, and his driving. Praise his careful driving, encourage him to prove that teen-agers make the best drivers.

When he finally is able to take the car out on his own the question of car insurance comes up. Unfortunately the rates for this kind of insurance are considerably higher when a teen-ager is one of those permitted to drive. No car should ever be on the road without adequate insurance. This matter should be thoroughly discussed with a teen-ager wanting to drive. It is my feeling that the additional cost of the car insurance is an expense the boy himself should pay. Let him get some out-of-school and weekend jobs and earn the money that is needed to have him covered by insurance. This adds to his feeling of responsibility about the car.

So at Christmas time give your boy the first step in learning to drive. He will appreciate your recognition of his growing maturity, feel warm and friendly toward you

MISSED CURVE—Eskia Lee Rogers, 22, of Route 4, was treated for facial lacerations Tuesday night at Deaf Smith County Hospital after his car, above, missed a curve, and flipped down a 10 foot embankment on Airport Road 1.8 miles north of Hereford. Rogers, who was riding alone at the time of the accident, was cited for speeding by investigating Highway Patrolmen following his release from the hospital Wednesday. (Staff Photo)

WRONG HALL

NORMAN, Okla. — A man rushed into the Norman Chamber of Commerce office and told City Manager John F. Malone "sorry I'm late for the meeting."

"What meeting?" asked Malone. "A retail trade committee meeting," said the man.

"That last Monday," Malone explained. Suddenly a light dawned on the man's face and he explained as he rushed for the door: "I remember now. It wasn't the Chamber at all. The meeting is at the Baptist Church."

CHEERING VISITOR

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. — "Stockade Annie" is a familiar figure around this Army post.

But you won't find this 80-year-old woman around the service clubs. She visits the stockade and the hospital.

Each Sunday, Mrs. Anna Mabry, a visitor at the post for 15 years, shows up with presents for the sick and a word of cheer for a GI who may have gone wrong.

and most likely do everything in his power to warrant your confidence in him.

Wall Paper Removal

A quick and clean way to remove old wall paper is to whip up a solution of four ounces of pulverized saltpeter to one gallon of water and apply this to the walls. This will soak through and loosen the paper quickly. You'll have to work fast in stripping off the paper, because this solution dries quickly, and once dry, you'll have to repeat the process.

Dark Furniture

If dark polished furniture has cloudy streaks, remove them by wiping with a chamomile wrung out of cold water. The luster will be clear after the furniture is polished.

Washing Woolens

To prevent the woolens from becoming stiff and hard after washing, add a few drops of glycerine or a pinch of borax to the wash water.

Alcohol

Any mixture containing alcohol will dissolve the shellac on polished furniture if spilled and not removed at once. It should be wiped off immediately, then the spot rubbed thoroughly with sweet oil.

Bolling Eggs

Boil the eggs in salt water and see how much easier the shells will peel. The salt has a tendency to separate the shells from the eggs.

Medicine Stains

A medicine stain can usually be removed with alcohol.

Cake

If one finds that there is not sufficient milk for the baking of a cake, merely add water until the required amount is reached. In this instance "watered milk" will make no difference. Sometimes it even makes the cake a little lighter.

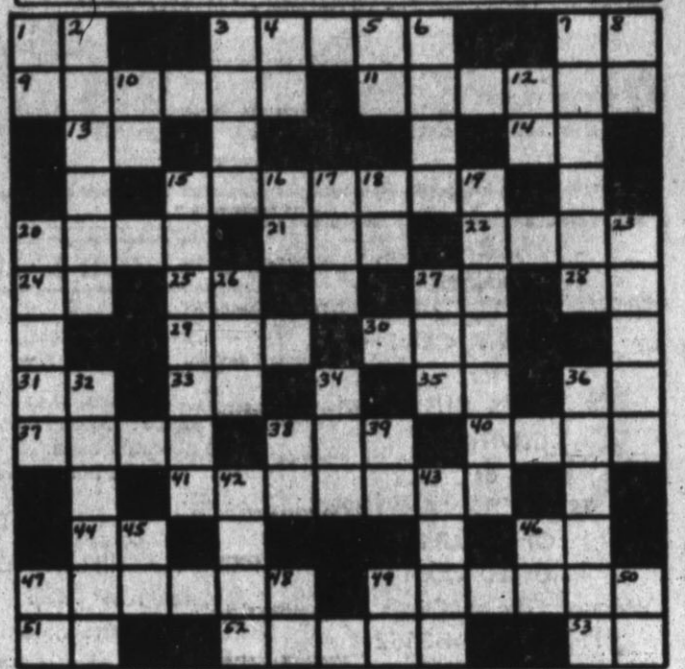

Brown Sugar

To soften hard or lumpy brown sugar, place it in a shallow pan in the oven for a few minutes. Then cover with a damp cloth to keep it soft and moist and put away in a cool place.

Eyelashes

The growth of the eyelashes will be stimulated if they are rubbed with pure petroleum jelly every night before retiring.

Dog Biscuit

A good substitute for dog biscuits can be made by placing stale bread in the oven until it is crisp as pulled bread. It can be stored in a tin box and used with the dog's meat and gravy. This will save the expense of buying biscuits.

Young Moderns Etiquette Important to Dancers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

It's the dance season, and the handwriting is in the mall. That first big dance poses many problems, especially when it is a holiday one, and an Oakland, Calif., mother has all the questions well in hand. She writes for answers so her 15-year-old daughter will be up on dance etiquette:

Q. Where does your head belong — on your partner's shoulder or near him or should it be erect on your shoulders?
A. Only a couple who are engaged may be excused for using each other as cushions when dancing. The ideal stance is relaxed with the head held erect, but not stiffly.

Q. How should your partner hold you? Where should his hands be placed?
A. A very tall boy dancing with a small girl may be forced to hold her at the shoulder line. The usual spot is slightly above the waistline. (Some boys do take a death grip, and you can only get him to desist by asking him to take it easy. Don't hesitate.)

Q. Is it permissible for a girl to ask a boy to dance? Where there are more girls than boys?
A. Things can't be that tough for any girl. Think what would happen if he refused. Some boys would, too.

Q. May girls dance with each other?
A. At an all-girl party, maybe, but surely taboo in a mixed crowd.
Q. Do you dance the first and last dance with the boy who took you to the dance?
A. You should certainly reserve these dances for him, and he should courteously ask you for them. But boys will be boys, so don't expect him to come through with perfect manners. (Also they like to get as much mileage out of a dance as possible, and it presents opportunities to meet other girls.)

Q. How do you accept or decline a request to dance?
A. If he asks — say "Yes, I'd like to dance." If you want to refuse, decline gracefully, saying something like "I'm sorry, I'm going to sit this out." (A smart boy will figure out you don't want to dance with him, unless you add: "Later, perhaps," or some such encouraging remark. But it is good manners not to dance that dance with another, if you have turned one invitation down.)

Q. What do you say at the end of a dance number?
A. Be enthusiastic, not gushy if you enjoyed the dance. Say: "That was fun" or "I enjoyed that very much." If the dance was a bore, just smile and nod your head slightly when he thanks you (and he should. But who can tell.)

One point every girl should know is that if her dancing partner does anything distasteful, from clutching like an octopus to cavorting like a monkey, he should be left flat on the dance floor. You don't want to be a party to his exhibitionism.

ON WAY OUT
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — This city, which has many equestrian statues, says statues of future heroes must be on foot — or replaced by something like a memorial carillon.

Planning officials say the age of equestrian statues ended when tanks, planes and other mechanical devices replaced the horse. And they don't think a Patton or a MacArthur in a PT boat would be appropriate as a memorial boulevard.

Traffic officials are expected to be happy about this.

BILL MAKES SPLASH
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A water bill upset the girls at the Kappa Delta house at the University of Oklahoma.

The bill was for $15,730,015, considerably higher than the normal charge. A quick trip to City Hall corrected the error and reduced the bill considerably more than 15 million dollars.

ON THE HOUSE

AFTER REMODELING, the enclosed porch became a pleasant family room. The addition of heating would make it adaptable for year-round living.

BEFORE REMODELING, the porch was used most often only on pleasant summer days. The space was largely wasted.

LONG RANGE RECRUITING
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A Norwich, Conn., Navy man of 18 years' service flew across country from San Diego, Calif., to Springfield in order to re-enlist.
Chief Yeoman Carlo Rudlosso, took a commercial airline from the West Coast after being discharged and re-enlisted at the regional recruiting station here.
Another objective in his long trip East was to visit his wife, Dorothy, a student at Willimantic (Conn.) State Teachers College, and their 17-year-old daughter, Maria.

GARDENERS' HAZARD
COSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — That vegetable garden that retired Police Capt. Robert Walters dreamed about is having neighbor trouble.

The first time Walters planted it, a neighbor accidentally went over the boundary and disked it as part of his cornfield.
The garden was replanted and nearing maturity when a neighbor employed a crop dusting plane to kill weeds in his corn. The weed killer finished off Walter's garden again.
"Maybe next year," says Walters.

PAID AT LAST
BRANDON, Man. (AP) — Brandon General Hospital received a money order for $23.75 in payment of an overdue bill. It had been overdue since October, 1910.

Remodeling an old and neglected enclosed porch often can provide a family room at comparatively little cost.
An example of what can be achieved with minimum cost is shown in two photographs taken before and after a porch remodeling job in a midwestern home.

Prior to remodeling, cracks in the windows allowed dust to settle on the porch and the area was largely neglected by the family except on the most inviting summer days. Necessarily, the furniture was the outdoor variety.
Here was space needed by the family — space which would provide a sunny room for indoor-outdoor living. After the remodeling, the area became a favorite family room, making it possible to enjoy a pleasant yard many extra months of the year.

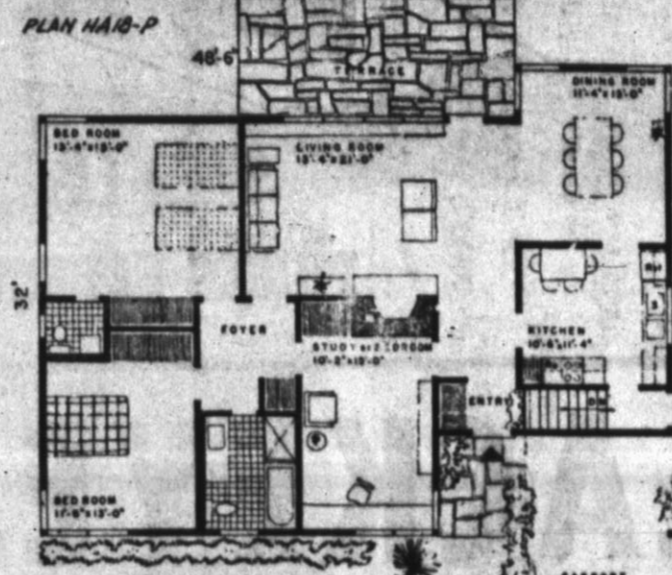

The enclosed porch made use of a mixture of fixed and ventilating windows. Such windows can be bought as separate units in a variety of sizes. They can be combined to fit almost any existing space within a few inches.

After remodeling, the furnishings and decor of the room were tailored to fit the smartly-changed appearance of the area. Heating could have been added to make the remodeled room suitable for year-round living.

In this particular case, however, the room has been used without heat throughout most of one year. It was usable on one bright January day when the outside temperature was near zero. Solar heat, coming through the large windows, made this possible.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. My face is triangular-shaped — that is, narrow at the top and wide at the bottom. What is my best rouge placement to counteract this?

A. Don't put your rouge in a circle above the upper lip, as this will only make the lower part of your face look wider — and don't use heavy rouge. Apply rouge in a modified triangle, shading it up to the temples and just under the center of the eyes, then down faintly over the jawline. The rouge should cover the outer half of the cheeks.

Q. Is cologne, in your opinion, a good substitute for perfume?

A. Yes, it is — and especially if you want to economize. It has a good concentration. Keep it in a cool dark place until ready to apply with cotton pads to the skin.
Q. What can I do about fingernails which tend to split or crack?

A. Try daily applications of colorless iodine around the cuticles. Within a month or so, they should show marked improvement.
Q. I'm worried about signs of dandruff on my scalp. What can I do about this?

A. Faithful and regular scalp massage, oil treatments, and more frequent brushings and shampoos should provide the answer to your little problem.
Q. How do I go about bleaching the hairs on my legs?

A. Apply periodically with cotton pads a mixture of one-half teaspoon of toilet ammonia and three tablespoons of peroxide. Mix fresh for each application.
Q. What kind of beauty mask is especially beneficial to an oily type of skin?

A. Fuller's earth mixed to a smooth paste with witch hazel.
Q. What can I do to help brighten up my blonde hair, which has begun to take on a dull and drab appearance?

A. Add the strained juice of two lemons and one tablespoon of salts of tartar to a quart of hot water. Wet the hair and apply this solution, rubbing in thoroughly through the hair. Rinse and dry.

Q. What is a good cleansing compound for a blackhead-infested skin?

A. Mix a tablespoon of oatmeal and one of cornmeal with soap and water, then rub this over the blackhead area. Scrub with a complexion brush, and rinse.

Q. How can I remove perspiration odor from a dress?

A. Rub over the affected area with a light solution of ammonia and water — about eight parts of water to one of ammonia.

Q. Is it a good idea always to use some kind of oil to remove makeup from the skin?

A. Although some women use mineral oil for this purpose, this could prove somewhat heavy for some types of skin, especially thin, dry ones. Baby oil works out very nicely for the removal of makeup.
Q. What is a simple and easy exercise for encouraging slimmer hips?

A. Stretching exercises are good. One consists simply of sitting on floor with legs apart and backs of knees close to the floor. Then reach forward with the hands and grasp the toes firmly, pulling them gently toward you.
Q. What is a good and inexpensive lotion for a dry type of skin?

A. A bottle of lanolin or baby oil is excellent for this condition.
TO PAY OR NOT TO PAY
ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP) — It's an in-and-out proposition with one Rock Hill resident.
Mrs. James Tew reported a barking dog to police.
"Sorry, lady, you're outside the city limits," she reports being told.
A few days later she got a city tax notice in the mail.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove ink spots from wall paper?

A. Most ink spots can be removed from wall paper by applying a weak solution of water and oxalic acid. It should be applied with a paint brush and pressed with blotting paper, as the acid might affect the color of the paper. It may be necessary to repeat this process a second or third time.

Q. How can I restore shrunken woollens?

A. By using clean soapuds as the last rinse. Squeeze the woollens with the hands instead of rubbing them. Soda in the wash water will cause shrinking.

Q. How can I remove a bruise from a piece of furniture?

A. Soak a piece of blotting paper in warm water, place it over the bruise, and apply a warm iron until all moisture is gone. Repeat if necessary.

Q. How can I make burnt cork for use in minstrel shows?

A. By using one grain of best lampblack, six grains of cacao butter, five drops oil of neroli. Melt the cacao, add the lampblack while it is cooling, and add the perfume while stirring.

Q. How can I produce a high gloss on linen?

A. Mix the starch with lukewarm water instead of cold. Then mix with boiling water until the desired thickness is acquired, add 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, and stir with a white wax candle.

Q. How can I mend worn or torn galoshes?

A. Use black or tan adhesive tape as a mending tissue. It is easy to apply and will hold securely if the work is carefully done.

Q. How can I make maple candy?

A. Take a pint of rich milk and a pound of maple sugar. Cook until a soft ball is formed when dropped in water; flavor with vanilla, add a cup of pecans, or other nuts, and pour out on a greased pan to cool. Mark off in squares before it becomes too hard.
Q. How can I remove ink spots from paper?

A. By applying a solution of muriatic acid with a soft brush. When the stain disappears, rinse, and then dry the paper carefully.

Q. How can I hasten the cooking of meat?

A. When cooking meat and vegetables, add a little sauerkraut and it will hasten their cooking and make them tender.

Q. How can I remove scars caused by severe burns?

A. These scars can often be removed entirely by massaging with pure olive oil. Use the finger tips and massage lightly, with a rotary motion. It often takes many repeated treatments to do the work. Be persistent.

Q. How can I make baking powder?

A. Mix 12 ounces of pure cream of tartar, 6 ounces of cornstarch, and 6 ounces of baking soda. Sift each ingredient about 12 times before mixing. Make it on a bright, dry day.

Q. How can I prevent drawers from sticking?

A. They will not stick if floor wax is rubbed on the slides and also on the drawers. Polish well, because unless rubbed in thoroughly the wax forms a sticky coating.

Q. How can I kill the odor of perspiration?

A. Bathe with a solution of bicarbonate of soda in water.

Q. How can I get another season's wear out of lace curtains that are at the bleaching stage?

A. Place the curtains in a pillowcase and let them soak in a tub of soapy water and kerosene. When the water is dirty, remove the curtains and repeat the process if necessary. This method will avoid tears, because there is no strain on the curtains.

Q. How can I keep onions for a longer time?

A. Onions will keep for a much longer time if they are dried thoroughly in the sun, then tied in bunches and suspended by strings from the attic ceiling.

Bible Words for Today

I COR. 13:12 — "For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall understand fully, even as I have been fully understood." (RSV)

Life begins with the question "why?" Children beseege their parents with numerous questions, most of which are prefaced with "why?" Maturity only intensifies our questions: "Why should my loved one have died?"; "Why do some evil people prosper?"; "Why should I behave myself on a date?" In a moment of reflection upon these ever-present questions Paul suggested the above advice to the Corinthians. Satisfactory answers never come easy and there always seem to be too few, but then with the sharpness of a flash of lightning we get a new insight into our questions. Our Christian faith gives us such an insight in the person of Jesus Christ who revealed God as Love. If we have captured this glimpse of truth most of our questions about life will be temporarily satisfied until the future life where we shall grow into a fuller understanding.

Clara Jesko, Kenneth Wheat Wed in St. Anthony's Church

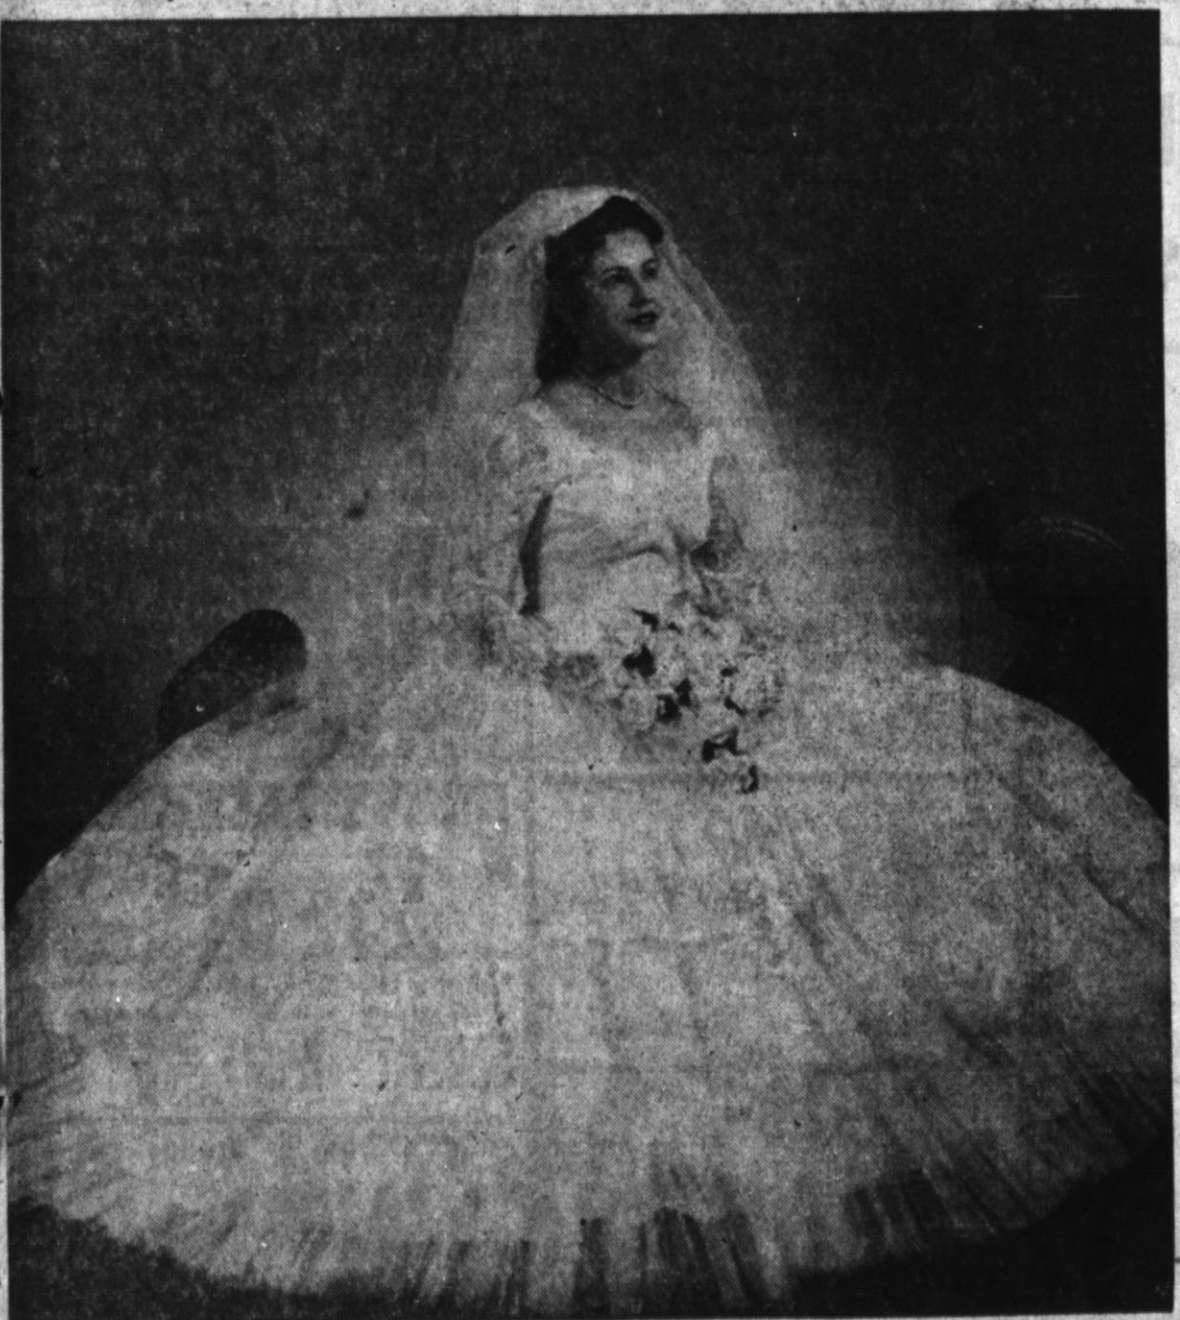

Rev. Father Cletus McGorry performed the double ring ceremony when Miss Clara Jean Jesko became the bride of Kenneth Wheat at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jesko are parents of the bride and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wheat of Pasadena, Tex.

Blooming red poinsettias and greenery were used with the altar candles in decoration for the church to accent the Christmas season.

Susie Loerwald, organist, and Don Lewis, vocalist, provided the wedding music for the nuptials. Vocal selections included "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "Mother At Thy Feet We Are Kneeling." "On This Day" was played preceding the ceremony and the processional and recessional by Rosini were used. Theresa Jesko, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Kathleen Wheat, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Joe Cox and Mrs. Morris Hacker. Their gowns were fashioned alike of red velvet made with fitted bodice, flared ballerina skirts and red satin cummerbunds. They wore white feather hats with short veils and carried white fur muffs. Flower girls were Vickie Disclafani and Janelle Jesko. They wore white crystalline dresses with red satin cummerbunds and bands of red and white flowers in their hair. Jolene Craighead was in charge of the ribbons marking family pews. Billy Vernon Wheat, cousin of the bridegroom, was his best man. Groomsmen were Paul Jesko and Rudolph Jesko of Muleshoe, Norman Malone of Pasadena and Bill Sims. Ushers were Bob Phelps of Houston and Jack Ross of Austin. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Designed with portrait neckline framed with folds of tulle traced with scallops of lace, the fitted lace bodice had long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and terminated with fitted midriff. From the elongated bodice stemmed a voluminous tiered skirt (Continued On Page 2)

Sue Wimberley and Joe Pruet Wed in Canyon

The marriage of Miss Sue Wimberley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn, and Joe E. Pruet, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pruet of 1818 Clinton Ave. in Abilene, took place at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel at West Texas State College in Canyon.

Dr. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon, read the ceremony.

The chapel was decorated with baskets of white gladioli against a background of palm trees.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Juanelva Rose of Tulla presented a concert of nuptial selections and Miss Joan Stalaland of Tulla sang "Through the Years," "Because of You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Rose played Claire de Lune as vows were exchanged and the traditional wedding marches.

Attendants were Mrs. Lynn Sherron, matron of honor, and bridesmaids; Miss Phyllis, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Norman Tucek.

The attendants wore identical ballerina length dresses of delustered wine-colored taffeta designed on princess lines with v-shaped neckline. A matching pill box hat and elbow length gloves completed the costumes and they carried matching arm bouquets of white rosebuds.

Tom Murry was best man and groomsmen were Dag Ruegger of Arcola, Mich., and Ross Smith of Olean, N. Y. Ushers were Floyd Pruet of Abilene, brother of the bridegroom, and Bill Gray of Denmark, S. C. Candles were lighted by Gene Pruet, brother of the bridegroom, and Ted Wimberley, brother of the bride.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage. She wore a traditional wedding gown of delustered satin and chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice and very full skirt in princess effect. The sculptured lace bodice had a scalloped neckline and fitted sleeves that came to points at the hands. Back interest was obtained by a Watteau bow caught at the waistline of the skirt which fell into a graceful chapel length train.

Her tiered veil of scalloped illusion was attached to a princess tiara of seed pearls and she carried a prayer book arrangement of stephanotis centered with a single white orchid tied with satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a blue wool suit with winter white and black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown crepe dress with beige accessories. Each wore a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

At a reception held in the Baptist Student Center, the house party included Miss Carolyn Maples of Pampa, Mrs. Bill Thomas of Floydada, Mrs. Jarrell Hurst of Reedy, W. Va., sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Carroll Vaughn of Canyon and Mrs. Bobby Jones of Amarillo.

The bride's table was laid with a wine colored cloth with overlay of lace and featured a floral centerpiece of white gladioli.

When the couple left on a short honeymoon trip the bride was wearing a powder blue saxonin sheath caught at the neckline with a pearl and rhinestone pin, with short jacket. Accessories were in black and the orchid from the wedding bouquet formed her going away corsage.

Upon their return the couple will be at home at 2110 Seventh Ave. in Canyon.

The bride was graduated from Hereford High School and attended Oklahoma Baptist University at Shawnee. She is a senior student at West Texas State College where she is a member of Phi Gamma Nu Sorority.

Pruet is a graduate of Abilene High School and is a member of the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Amarillo. At present he is attending Amarillo College.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Hurst of Reedy, W. Va., Mrs. Sam Altum of May, Raymond Altum of Abilene, and Miss Anna Smith of Sweetwater.

Hill Memorial Chapel at West Texas State College with Douglas Rohre, head of the W. T. Church of Christ Bible Chair, officiating.

Music for the wedding was presented by the Abilene Christian College college quartet, by tape recording. Selections were "I Love

You Truly," "True Love," "Because" and the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. James M. Oswald, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a Christmas red velvet suit with navy accessories, and a shoulder corsage of white carnations. Bob Veigel served his brother as best man.

Agriculture, 'Next Year', Area's Two Greatest Assets

Two more days and we will be faced with the chore of writing 1957 instead of 1958. With the new year will also come the task of taking inventory, a chore faced by many merchants—and not a bad idea for the individual or, for that matter, the community.

Most people would apparently be pleasantly surprised if they did take a complete inventory, listing their assets and liabilities. Since the population has increased only slightly, if any, and bank deposits are running parallel with reports of 1956, it is logical to believe that financial conditions are in fair shape, despite widespread discussion of the subject.

And while there are more vacant store buildings than at any time last year, including some of unusually large capacity. Retail businesswise, we would say that the community has made some gains.

Expansion of carrot production possibly added more growth to the area than any other single factor during the past 12 months. The carrot crop, in addition to providing heavy farm income, also created thousands of man hours of labor in the territory. This new crop, along with the old ones did much to keep the area on an even keel while scores of neighboring Panhandle and High Plains communities fell back sharply on all fronts.

Education-wise, local facilities show little change from one year ago. School leaders, however, are again reporting crowded conditions and have already called a bond election for proposed expansion.

In the religious field, the area has possibly shown its greatest percentage gains. Several new churches have been completed during the past 12 months, and others are scheduled for completion in the near future.

The construction of new homes and housing, although apparently adequate, is probably less than in previous years since World War II.

All in all, there have been many changes in the way people live during the past 12 months, but most of these changes can be reviewed on a personal or individual basis. Not near as many people bought new cars in 1957 as in 1955 and 1956, neither was there any great upsurge in relief rolls or charity cases over the same period.

The most important phase, it seems to us, rests on the fact that Hereford and Deaf Smith County are still 100 per cent dependent upon agriculture. Even the small strides toward industrialization are based on agricultural development and the area's growth in the field of irrigation.

Likewise, things are looking up for next year, a situation which usually goes hand in hand with agriculture. This always has, and we hope, always will be a wonderful "next year" country. As long as we are able to look forward to next year, we have a country and a people who are hard to beat. If the time ever comes when "next year" looks dismal and fruitless, then it will be time to look for a different place to live.

ATOMIC POWER SUBMARINES AFF ORD PRACTICAL U. S. PLAN!

A Striking Force Our Enemies Cannot Find...With Weapons He Cannot Stop

Vice Admiral Daniel E. Barbey, USN, Retired, recently advocated a program which could do much toward ending some of the trouble in our over-taxed and, apparently, ill-protected democracy.

The Admiral first points to the declining power of the U. S. Air Force's far-flung bases now that the Russian Sputnik has entered the picture. Instead, Admiral Barbey recommends the atomic powered, missile-firing submarine as the logical weapon with which to keep the Russians in line.

"If we start building now," says the Admiral, "we can, in little more than a year have a striking force an enemy cannot find, carrying weapons he cannot stop... We can guarantee the Soviets that if they start a shooting war they will never be able to finish it."

Establishment of such a fleet would, at the same time, cut down on the need for establishing and maintaining far-flung military bases which, incidentally, are always under observation and subject to being wiped out by enemy fire. Even our fastest planes could easily become victims of missile fire, while the lurking atomic submarines provide a mobile base, the whereabouts of which can be known only to its commander and crew.

More important than the savings offered through the plan, though, is its practicability. Add to this the United States unquestioned leadership in the atomic submarine field, plus its development and present facilities in the missile field, and the total comes out in favor of such a plan, which Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover summarized as follows:

"Nuclear-propelled submarines capable of launching intermediate-range ballistic missiles with nuclear warheads will become underwater satellites. They will be able to move anywhere at any time, completely submerged. The problem of locating them will be tremendous. The enemy would be in the position of trying to find a black cat on a vast and empty plain on a moonless and starless night."

All in all, the plan is an excellent one. It would solve many of our immediate problems and, without doubt, would enable us to sleep better at night—even out on the plains in Texas. We are not, especially in the squabble between the army, navy and the air force.

What we are interested in is protection of the best and most practical type.

Just how fast and how well our leaders adopt and promote the submarine-missile plan will definitely indicate the quality of the leadership we now have in Washington.

Canyon Man Files Federal Farm Suit

If it does nothing else the suit of Everett Haley Jr. against the U. S. Department will bring to light the status of a man on the farm who votes for nothing, signs for nothing, takes nothing, has no part in quotas, allotments, "practices" and what not. Haley, who is the son of Texas' historian and outspoken (to put it mildly) candidate for governor grew about 40 acres of wheat on an Oklahoma farm on which he had no allotment for wheat (or anything else). The wheat he raised he fed up on his farm and did not offer in the channels of trade. Question is, could he do that? The county committee said he couldn't and the government backed them up. They have Haley "penalized" $506 or some such figure.

How far can the government go toward invading a man's domain in a "program" or in any other civil matter is one of the things Haley wants to know in the suit he is defending. He is not going to pay the $506 until he has to do so, and in fact, may be broke by the time he gets through hiring lawyers, paying for depositions, plane fare and the like, so that the government could have only a judgment against him for the trouble. Haley wants to know who gave the committee or anybody permission to come on his place and measure up his land and if they had a right to do so. He says he is going to have a court tell him what he has to do before he does it. Among other things he has interrupted Secretary Benson's busy schedule with a 60-question deposition. A federal district court judge said Mr. Benson would have to answer the deposition in the court's district but it turned out they couldn't make him come to Oklahoma. But he did have to answer the questions at his office in the national capital. —Floyd County Hesperian (Floydada).

Khrushchev Named Man of the Year

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Newsfeatures
Writer

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the now grim, now amiable, now reckless peasant who appears to have carved his way to the top spot in the Communist world, has claimed another distinction.

He is the first leader of an Iron Curtain country to be named Man of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll of newspaper, radio and television editors.

The editors, reflecting the concern of the West over Khrushchev's rise to power, gave the burly, balding Kremlin leader nearly four times as many votes as his nearest rival, President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower was the winner in four of the last five years. The Russian party boss attained preeminence in the Red world by apparently winning the long post-Stalin intraparty struggle for Russian power.

Chief concern for the West is Khrushchev's unstable personality. He can tell jokes or make threats, with or without a vodka glass in his hand.

Some have expressed fears that the emergence of Khrushchev as top dog in the Kremlin is the greatest threat to world peace since Adolph Hitler ruled Germany.

The AP editors also named Khrushchev man of the year in foreign affairs, the first time that any person has swept two categories in the year-ending survey.

German-born Wernher von Braun, the acknowledged leader of American space thought, was the editors' big man in science, despite the fact that the United States trails the Communists in space progress.

The Russian scientists who successfully launched the two earth satellites that dealt a tremendous propaganda blow to Western school.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

New Year's Resolutions Help, but Seldom Kept

Do you make New Year's Resolutions? Do you find such resolution of any lasting value?

LORRAINE ABLES—Oh, but are not generally kept. At times yes. You make a certain goal you want to attain, or something similar to that.

E. B. BERRYMAN—No, hardly ever. No, I don't find these of lasting value, if any, there are very few that are lasting.

MOZELLE CHILDERS—Oh, yes. Yes, I do. Oh I think they stimulate your desires to do better and help you do what you want to and it is just a lot of fun to try to do the things you want to do.

J. P. JONES—Occasionally. Very seldom. I just don't keep them. I'm sure they would be of value if I kept them.

MRS. S. S. DODSON—Never, if I do I always make the last one saying I will break these if I see fit. They would be of lasting value if people would only keep them.

DOUG KELLY—Well, sometimes, whether we keep them or not. It sorta depends on the people who make them. Some of them I make myself, yes, and some I think you make you feel you ought to and have no idea to keep them. At least you have good intentions.

MRS. CLIFF ESTES—I always make them because I think it's better to make them and break them than not make them. I usually break them but someday I might keep them.

ED LOERWALD—No. Well it depends on how much faith you put in them, I would say. In the first place you would

NEW INDUSTRY FOR LITTLEFIELD

Another major step in the industrialization of Littlefield materialized recently with the announcement that construction of a $200,000 fertilizer manufacturing plant here would begin immediately. The Coprock Fertilizer Company, slated to be the largest of its type in the western half of the state, will be geared to produce more than 30,000 tons of solid fertilizer annually. Some 30 people will be employed during the company's busy seasons. The new plant will be owned and operated by the Longhorn Construction Company of Sulphur Springs. Production is scheduled to begin in February. The first year's output is expected to reach 15,000 tons. — COUNTY WIDE NEWS

MASKS AID FIREMEN IN SAVING HOUSE

Gas masks fed by bottled air and an alert Olton volunteer fire department Thursday night were credited with saving the $25,000 Floyd Light home from destruction by fire. Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the kitchen of the Light home some time between 7:40 p.m. and 8:30, when it was discovered. Damage by the blaze was estimated at near $4,500. The fire was discovered by Jimmy Roy Davis, Mrs. Light's brother. The lights were away from home at the time. The Olton fire department was called. Within minutes, firemen were swarming about the home. Chief Smith said the worst part of the fire was in the exhaust fan in the kitchen. Two firemen—equipped with airfed masks—entered the house and battled the fire. The firemen had the fire under control within five minutes after their arrival.—THE OLTON ENTERPRISE

PATRONS APPEAR RESOLUTE IN SCHOOL MATTER

Twenty-six patrons of the Farwell School District sat and listened to some straight talk from the school board and administration Thursday night, in a special meeting called to seek a solution to the seriously overcrowded conditions at the school. The main part of the evening revolved around the just released report from the school accreditation division of the Texas Education Agency. In November, a team from the agency visited the local school and made a routine, though revealing, inspection of conditions. The seven-member school board and the administration made it clear that Farwell has been put on the Agency's warned list, and will be expected to take remedial action or else endanger the school's accreditation rating. Without this endorsement, a diploma from the local school would be of no value to a graduating senior. Also, state assistance in the amount of about $107,000 annually could be jeopardized.—THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm apparently still doesn't understand international finance, his letter this week indicates. Or maybe he does, we don't know.

Dear editor:

Some people still think us folks in the country are narrow-gauged, can't see beyond our own fences, and I was reading in a copy of a newspaper which turned up in my mail box as a sample copy where an international expert in Washington said if the United States is going to survive everybody has got to think in international terms.

Well in the same paper I read the following article from London:

"Britain will postpone its annual payment of $175,000,000 on its United States postwar loan, due in December, because of its financial straits."

The article went on to say that this will be agreeable with Washington, as the loan payments are handled on what is called a "simplified procedure," with the understanding that England can defer payments whenever its financial position requires it.

Now if this is what that expert means by thinking in international terms, just mark me down as an internationalist.

If I can find any bank or other lending institution in any part of this state willing to make me a loan on international terms, I'll be at the door waiting for it to open the first thing in the morning.

But the trouble with most loans is that they're made on a narrow, sectional basis, and when the money is due, it has to be paid.

Under the international system, though, you just have to meet one standard when you're borrowing: do you need the money? Then when the time comes to pay it back, the same standard applies: are you able?

It's pretty obvious that the international banking business has come to recognize one of the fundamental truths generally overlooked by regular banks, which is, with most folks, they need the money worse when the time comes to pay it back than they did when they borrowed it.

If I could find a bank that'd send out its note-due notices to read: "This note is due if you're able to pay it," I'd swing all my business to it, and I have an idea a lot of other people would too.

I don't know how long such a bank could stay in business, but it'd sure be busy while it lasted.

Yours faithfully,
I A

have to make a resolution and stay with it.

MRS. MYRTLE FORD—Oh, sometime. Oh, I guess sometime. I usually break any resolutions I make.

HAROLD MORTON—Well, I make them, but sometime I don't keep them. I usually don't make them. Oh, not particularly. Well, they could be if a person stuck to one.

MRS. WILBUR GIBSON—Yes, well, I think so. From one year to another you say I'm gonna do so and so and if you really put your mind to it I think that you can do it.

PAT NEILL—Well, as a rule but I seldom ever keep them. Well, they would be if you could keep them. I think it would be very nice if we would make them and then keep them, they don't do much good otherwise.

MRS. H. D. HENSON—Yes, I try to make resolution, not too many but I do try to keep the ones I do make. Well, I try to make one that I can do some good with, something to do easily.

W. N. SMITH—No, I haven't made any yet, but I usually do. I sure do, seems like they help every way and they always come out best. I have broken them a time or two but I don't very seldom.

Man of the...

...was trailed by Braun by only a handful of votes.

George Meany, the embattled president of the AFL-CIO, was named man of the year in labor for his fight against union corruption.

Teamster Union President-elect James Hoffa and retiring President Dave Beck, both rocked by charges of corruption, were a close second and third respectively.

For the seventh time since the poll was started, Henry Ford II, chief of the automobile company that bears his family name, was chosen man of the year in the industrial field.

Neil MacElroy, the Proctor & Gamble head who became secretary of defense, was a distant second to Ford.

Another man who maintained domination in his field was evangelist Billy Graham.

His crusade for souls in New York's Madison Square Garden which provided headlines through most of the summer, made him the top man in religion for the fourth straight year. In the lighter fields of sports, literature and entertainment, last year's winners were overthrown by wide margins.

Low Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves, the first pitcher in 37 years to start and win three World Series games, was handily the sportsman of the year.

It was the third year in a row that World Series heroes caught the editors' eyes. Don Larsen of the New York Yankees and Johnny Podres of the Brooklyn Dodgers won in '56 and '55 respectively.

A good distance behind Burdette was Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox' hardy perennial, who became the oldest man ever to win a major league batting title at the ripe baseball age of 38.

A new figure of some controversy supplanted Elvis Presley as the top choice in entertainment—movie producer Mike Todd.

Todd's production "Around the World in 80 Days" was the top movie drawing card and his two lavish parties, one in London, the other in New York, caught world attention.

James Gould Cozzens won the plaudits in the field of literature for his best-selling "By Love Possessed," a sensitive novel of an ethical man trying to do good in a world of evil.

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — An Internal Revenue Service agent tells of a Roswell woman who called the office and asked, "How do you spell 'immediately'?"

A YEAR OF GRACE

As we look back over the past year, two great mountain peaks, as it were, loom up before our eyes—the mountain of our sin and the mountain of God's grace.

The past year, we must confess, has been a year of sinning for all of us. But it has also been a year of God's grace, either accepted or rejected.

As the Bible puts it, "where sin abounded, grace did much more abound." No matter how great our failure to measure up to God's expectations, His love is great enough to cover it.

Christ, the Son of God, has made amends for every sin of last year and for every sin of every year.

For those who have found forgiveness in the Christ of Christmas, the coming 12 months will be another "happy new year," for they will be another year of grace.

Our church is anxious to assist you in making this coming year a blessed year.

COURTLY PROBLEM

WAUKEGAN, Ill. — A court-house still is a court house to Assistant County Supervisor Frank B. Peers.

He raised the question of spelling before a meeting of 34 other supervisors who could not offer help.

The dictionary, he said, calls it the "courthouse" — one word.

But there are many people who insist it is the "court house" — two words.

And then, he added, you look outside and at the east door of the building a huge sign says it is the "County Building."

ELVIS' CHRISTMAS ALBUM SUNG IN TIMID WHISPER

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the carolers outside your door this Christmas season come decked-out in dovelike haircuts and Victorian sideburns, you'll know that Elvis Presley's latest album has had its usual fallout effect on the nation's teen-agers.

In a masterpiece of seasonal broadcasting, RCA Victor has called on the undulating one to warble (whisper, actually) a few Christmas carols and has plastered his sugarplum features on the jacket of a gaudy album otherwise decorated with color prints of Elvis in his latest movie, an unseasonal drama entitled "Jailhouse Rock."

The result is ludicrous and pathetic.

It is not that Elvis is irreverent, blasphemous or sacrilegious in chanting such hymns as "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Far from it. Most of the time, he's so hushfully reverent in his approach to these unfamiliar themes that he just isn't there at all.

Deprived for the moment of his rock 'n' roll yodel, Elvis is reduced to nothing more than a timid whisper in a crowded choir loft.

His voice drops down somewhere behind the bellowing organ that has been laboring mightily to salvage the melody and almost completely disappears. Just when it seems that the whole album is about to lapse into a moment of grateful silence, a choir of angelic voices fades in from nowhere, retrieves the traunt here after something of a search, and hands it back to Elvis, who manages somehow to stagger onto the end.

As Samuel Johnson might have put it: The wonder is not that he did it badly but that he did it at all.

Elvis among the carolers is just one example — albeit an extraordinary one — of the fantastic and abiding faith that record companies have in the sale of Christmas albums.

Practically every major singing star, trio, quartet, orchestra, instrumentalist and glee club has been summoned for a command performance under the tree.

Among the best, they include Fred Waring, Mario Lanza, Perry

Conductor's Choice: U. S. Fans, German Musical Opportunities

By JOHN BAUSMAN
FRANKFURT, Germany

Young American musicians, stymied by a scarcity of concert or orchestra and opera jobs at home, have in recent years enviously eyed the busier musical life of West Germany.

Some have come to try their luck at establishing a reputation in Germany's government-supported, well-attended opera houses and concert halls.

What do they find here and what might others who follow expect to find?

One answer is given by a young conductor who, after seven years' advance study and work in the United States, came over last May to further his career in West Germany.

For Thomas Baldner, on leave from the Philharmonic Orchestra of Greenwich, Conn., this meant a return to his native country. He was born in Berlin in 1928, the son of a well-known German cellist, Max Baldner.

"The first and most obvious factor for a musician here is the larger opportunity to perform," Baldner began. "State and city opera houses and orchestras all over the country have large staff demands. Any city of any size at all has its own opera company. And many of them are very good, with excellent reputations. Music here is not dominated by just a few big-city symphonies or opera companies the way it is in the states."

There are other advantages, but balancing them are a number of drawbacks.

Baldner summed up one drawback in the word "routine."

"A young conductor, for example, starts out as a coach with one of the opera companies," he explained. "Gradually he works up through fourth to first conductor and finally, if he is lucky and good, he might become general music director."

"This traditional climb, this treadmill, takes a long time and it involves performing a lot of routine, and often pretty dull, music. It has the advantage, though, of giving a man thorough and excellent training."

For Baldner there is all the difference in the world between an American and German concert audience, and he frankly admits he prefers the former.

"I admire and like the open, and often naive, audience response you run into in many places in the United States, especially in smaller communities. To me, it is much more gratifying to play for an audience, like that than for a comparable audience in Germany, which is often loaded with traditions that are not necessarily valid and with sentimentality rather than true understanding or capacity for exhilaration."

Another drawback, in Baldner's opinion, is government ship of music which, while being a big financial help, is also a dulling force. Many theaters receive 50 per cent or more of their income from government subsidies. Some operas receive 80 per cent.

CONDUCTOR ABROAD—Thomas Baldner, 29-year-old pianist and conductor, plays piano between conducting engagements in West Germany. He took a year off from the Greenwich, Conn., Philharmonic Orchestra to gain European experience.

"There isn't the same challenge under this system of subsidized orchestras and operas which guarantees the performing artist position and income without his having to make every performance his very best," Baldner observed.

"In the states you face a constant challenge to prove yourself, to do your best every single time."

Back on the plus side for Germany is the comparatively orderly opportunity for progressing up to the top ranks, particularly in the opera houses. The top-flight companies have a wider base of intermediate and near top level companies of fine reputation to draw from.

The United States, Baldner observed, has a very active musical life on the university and small city level. But the gap between these groups and the top positions is extremely hard to bridge. As a result, he said, many leading American orchestra leaders have European experience.

Baldner, who originally went to America in 1949 on a scholarship from the University of Indiana, moved on to Baton Rouge, La., to become assistant conductor of the university opera department and the Civic Opera Co. In 1954 he founded the Greenwich orchestra and in 3½ seasons built it into a going operation.

Since coming here in May he has been taking advantage of opportunities as a guest conductor, particularly with the nation's fine radio station orchestras. He has led the RIAS orchestra in Berlin, the North German Radio Orchestra in Hamburg and the Suedwestfunk Orchestra in Baden Baden.

School Holds Its Yule Activities

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS

Walcott's all school Christmas program was given to a capacity crowd on Thursday night, Dec. 19. The classes presented songs, poems and plays to the guests.

The tall, decorated Christmas tree was well filled with gifts for many of the children. Santa Claus arrived to greet those present. All were given treats.

Then came a "Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."

Principal, Thomas L. Collins, announced that Walcott School would re-open Jan. 2.

Guests for the Christmas program included Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Coley and Glen of Wildorado, Mrs. Coy Tice of Lubbock, Mrs. Jim Cates of Hereford, Larry Niblack of Wichita, Kan., Dick Connally of Dameron Ranch, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Payne, Darla and Larry of Hereford.

Friday afternoon was party time for Walcott school. All of the classes had their Christmas parties.

Mrs. Bertram Jack was chairman for the first and second grade party and was assisted by Mrs. Norman Minks and Mrs. N. E. Tyler. This group played games, opened gifts and had refreshments.

The third and fourth grade party was given by Mrs. J. V. Perrin, Mrs. Bob Wyly, Mrs. Chester Minyen, Mrs. Woodrow Benton and Mrs. Vernon DeArman. The children of that group were entertained with a "Santa Pinata." Gifts were opened and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Cliff Patton, Mrs. Alvin Wilkerson, Mrs. Al Myers and Mrs. J. M. Taylor planned games and entertainment for the fourth and fifth grades. Gifts were opened and refreshments were served.

Games, gifts and refreshments were included in the party planned by Mrs. H. D. Buse, Mrs. Bill Stewart and Mrs. C. F. Lockhart for the seventh and eighth grade.

Dan Guseman is in Deaf Smith County Hospital with the flu. Holiday plans for Walcott people included staying home, going visiting and having guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Perrin and boys drove to Haskell to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stone, and his mother, Mrs. Julian Perrin.

Mrs. Charles Hoover had her father, Mark Williamson, of Oracle, Ariz., with her for Christmas. Other guests for Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Anderson of Portales, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon DeArman went Sunday to Wayne, Okla., to visit her mother, Mrs. Mary Minyen.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Myers and children had her mother, Mrs. Bessie Peckford, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Myers of Amarillo, to visit with them Friday at noon. The Al Myers visited in

Worm Rancher Makes Success

PITTSBURG, Okla. — That lowly earthworm that squirms on your fishhook may be only bait to you, but to Johnny Mathis of Pittsburg it's his big business.

Mathis' backyard worm farm supplemented the family income with a tidy $3,500 last year, and the business is growing all the time.

His regular job is at the Lone Star Steel plant.

The market for fishing worms is vast, too, Mathis says, with his sales limited only by the number of worms he can produce, count and ship.

Mathis' entire production is sold wholesale to one bait dealer in Louisiana, "and I can't even supply him," Mathis said.

It all started eight years ago when Mathis began raising a few worms for his own fish bait and to give to his friends.

AS THE WORMS multiplied, he expanded his facilities and started selling a few worms. Later he constructed a small building on the rear of his lot in Pittsburg, and added more worms and more beds to house them.

Today the shed contains a half-dozen beds, each containing several hundred thousand worms. Built of rough lumber, the beds are filled six inches deep with leaf mold and worms.

Mathis worms are hand picked for size and counted one by one. Young worms are culled back to grow.

His present method of shipping is in waterproof bags, with 2,500 worms packed in peat moss in each. At one time, Mathis packed in individual cartons of 50 worms. Counting and packing is a big job, with 20,000 worms included in recent shipments. But he says he and three helpers can count and pack 10,000 worms in an hour.

THE WORM RANCH is a family project, with Mathis' father-in-law, J. H. Milligan, a partner. His small son assists with much of the work, as does his wife.

Mrs. Mulligan, a former beauty operator and a licensed barber refused to handle the worms at first, and later wore rubber gloves to help with the packing.

Now, she says, "they don't bother me a bit."

Occasional extra help is hired for heavy holiday shipments, and worm counters are paid 50 cents a thousand.

Worm raising is not as easy as it looks, Mathis pointed out. Amarillo for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Benton and children will visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Benton, at Plainview, and her parents at Lorenzo, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baker, during Christmas vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shelton went to Amarillo Saturday morning to be in their home there for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rader went to Littlefield on Sunday evening to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas.

Don and John Willouby of Hereford and Bruce Collins explore Escavada Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins and boys had as their guests for Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Read of Kingman, Kan. They are Mrs. Collins' parents.

Much hard work is involved. Worm beds must be changed periodically, as the dirt and leaf mold "wears out." New leaf mold must be gathered in nearby woods and hauled to the beds.

"But it's not as hard as picking cotton," Mathis admitted.

WORM RANCHING is not all profit, either, he said, in a word of caution to would-be worm raisers.

Sacked chicken feed scattered on the beds for the worms to eat cost $1 a day, and there is a constant struggle with the soldier flies and mites and other parasites that eat the feed, kill young worms and cut production.

Mathis lost his entire stock of worms several years ago when, during an expansion program, he bought a supply of barnyard fertilizer for worm beds from a dairy farm.

"I didn't know that the barns had been treated heavily with DDT," he explained, "and killed every worm."

Many worms crawl out of the beds and are lost, despite a light which is left burning most of the time to keep the worms underground.

WORMS REPRODUCE rapidly, laying eggs about every 21 days. The newly-hatched worms grow to fish-bait size in nine months.

Mathis raises commercially only one type of worm, the familiar red California and Georgia wigglers, but experiments with a variety of others, including African worms which reach 14 inches in length and the size of a pencil in diameter. Asked how he became interested in worm ranching, Mathis explained he had a friend with a small worm business and a herd of fine Hereford Cattle. "He made more money on the worms than on his $500 bulls."

DICK DOINGS MIDDLETOWN, Ohio — It was clear and dry, certainly not a good day for ducks. But that's what was holding up traffic when patrolmen Clarence Bailey and Lloyd Brewer arrived — a duck.

Then the owner, Mrs. Ralph DeJarnette, arrived to say the duck's name was Mort and that she wanted to give Mort away. Patrolman Bailey ended his report: "All parties concerned are happy, even Mort."

Bailey took him home... as a pet.

BIG OPERATION LAWTON, Okla. — Officials of Southwest Hospital here believe they have set a record of some sort. Six brothers and sisters, ranging in age from 5 to 14, had their tonsils and adenoids taken out on the same day.

The six children of Mrs. Jean Grace of Lawton are Virginia, 14; Howard Earl, 13; Eugene, 11; Helen, 9; Harold, 7, and Heth, 5. They were described as model patients.

LITTLE CHOPPER LLANO, Tex. — Little David Lynn Maddox should cut quite a figure when he grows up. At least he got an early start. He was born with two good bottom teeth.

TOO FRAGILE TO TOUCH—A boy so fragile he can't be touched. That's Mickey Chapman, 9, who breaks like a china doll if he ever laughs too hard is pictured here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. The disease was determined to be Osteogenesis imperfecta, though deforming, it is not a quick killer or a brain retarder. (AP Photo)

OLD FASHIONED TYPE
SALIDA, Colo. — During 33 years in the printing and office supply business, Dick Law has made a hobby of collecting antique typewriters. He has 25 and estimates most of them are at least 70 years old.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spratt and children of Lubbock were guests of his mother, Mrs. I. H. Spratt, during the holidays. The two daughters Suzanne and Carol Jane remained for a longer visit after their parents returned home.

SMALL START
INVERMERE, B. C. — Invermere has probably the smallest boy scout troop in Canada. The three scouts and four Wolf cubs, however, have plenty of enthusiasm.

TONGUE TWISTER
FT. CARSON, Colo. — Pvt. Albert Kahalekulu of Wailuku, Hawaii, figures he has the longest middle name in the armed forces. It's Kahelikilikalewaokamehameha. The name means "Thunder, Of Great Chief of the Island." Kahalekulu is a combat trainee here.

KEEPS RECORD CLEAR
COLUMBIA, S. C. — After driving 3 1/2 million miles in over 40 years, Lewis E. Wright Jr. of Columbia got his first ticket — a summons for a parking meter violation. Mildly ruffled, Wright went to the police station and protested. The name and address were his all right, Wright said, but the liense number of the overparked car certainly wasn't. Police quickly admitted a mistake had been made. The summons was cancelled, leaving Wright's traffic record unmarred.

Miss Patricia Ann Howard

Patricia Ann Howard Will Wed Robert L. Davis Today

The marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Howard and Robert Lee Davis will be solemnized today at 4 p.m. in the Bauman Chapel of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock with the Rev. Joe Emmanuel, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Albuquerque, N. M., officiating, assisted by Rev. Edmund Kirby, pastor of St. Johns Methodist Church in Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Howard of Lubbock. She is a graduate of Carlsbad, N. M., High School and is now a junior student at McMurry College, Abilene.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lane of 113 Ave. E Hereford. He is a graduate of Hereford High School and is now a sophomore at McMurry College. He is also serving as minister of the Dumont-Guthrie Methodist Circuit.

The altar will be decorated with baskets of white gladioli trimmed with red ribbon, against a background of greenery and fern set off by tapering candles in candelabra.

Betty Shewbert of Vernon will be at the organ and will accompany Miss Nancy Crawford of Hereford singing the "Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Nancy McMillan of Abilene will recite "How Do I Love Thee" and "The Song of Love" preceding the ceremony.

Attending the bride will be Miss Helen Bowman of Deming, N. M., as maid of honor, and Marjorie Jacobs of Quannah and Ann Resonover of Tahoka as bridesmaids. They will wear red velvet sheath dresses featuring Sabina necklines coming to a "V" in the back and matching cummerbunds. They will carry white fur muffs with matching headbands.

Cheryl Foster of Earth, cousin of the bride and Mike Howard, the bride's brother, will serve as candle-lighters. She will also wear red velvet with white fur muff and headband.

Weyman Dunn of Amarillo will be the groom's best man and groomsmen will be Wayne Diekle of Abilene and George Ellis of Southland.

The bride will be escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She will wear an original model of white imported nylon lace and tulle over satin. Designed with a high neckline having a Mandarin collar of lace, the fitted bodice has a sheer yoke enhanced with appliques of lace, long sleeves ending in points at the hands and terminates with a deep point at center front waist line. The voluminous floor length skirt is made entirely of alternating ruffled tiers of scalloped lace and nylon tulle. The immense fullness is emphasized by hoops and erinoline worn underneath.

Her veil of silk illusion is joined to a tiara of lace embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

She will carry a Bible, traditionally carried by every member of Delta Beta Epsilon Sorority, topped by a cascade of carnations centered by a white orchid.

At the reception which will be held in the church parlors, the bride's table will carry out the red and white colors used in the wedding. Candelabra and the bride's bouquet will form the table center piece and red punch and tiered cake will be served. The bride will travel in a charcoal brown and black suede flannel suit with brown velvet hat and gloves. She will also wear the orchid lifted from the wedding bouquet.

After Jan. 6, the couple will make their home at McMurry Apartments, Abilene, where both will continue their education at McMurry College.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars.

This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

One of the most unusual Christmas presents of the season is a bullet-proof vest which some unknown donor unloaded on Mayor Ray Godwin. The worst part is that he can't decide whether it is a warning — or from some well-meaning friend. In either case, it seems to have the mayor on edge. Then, again, maybe he was just kidding about the whole thing. You never can tell about these politi-

However, I wouldn't put it past one of the barbers. Those boys will do just about anything. Even the banks were open Thursday, but not the tonsorial parlors. I thought maybe I could get a little reduction on one of the old 1957 model haircuts, but Charley Morris says they are just as good as the forthcoming 1958 models, therefore the cost is just the same.

"Besides," added Carrol Krelg. "You really needed this haircut back in October of 1957 — and we ought to charge you double."

Before they go through with me, I was glad to get out at regular rates.

To cap it all, some sneak slipped into the office Christmas Eve and left me a package containing one of those "Hair Brushes for Bald Heads." I am sure this was one of the barbers, chiefly because you could hardly read the writing on the card.

The worst thing I got, though, was a genuine, dyed-in-the-wool, certified barometer. I can't help watching the fool thing from time to time — and I am afraid it will be the undoing of my here-to-fore accurate weather forecasts. I compiled a couple, just for home use, and they turned out just exactly like the weather bureau boys. This is bad. In the first place, everyone can get the weather forecasts and, in the second place, they are seldom ever right. All of which puts me right down on the bottom of the totem pole. I either have to get rid of the barometer or once again give up making weather forecasts. Friday my barometer was falling, which means rain, maybe snow. However, I have no personal hunches in this regard. Before I got the barometer, I would have predicted fair weather on through the New Year. However, right now I really don't know what to do. I am in a quandry. All I can say is "Maybe the weather will be bad and, on the other hand, maybe it will be good."

THE KIWANIS had quite a program last Thursday, when Supt. Cunningham was guest speaker to detail the proposed school bond issue. Bill Nafzgar got strung out on a series of questions — and the program ran over by a 30-minute margin. Right now, the Kiwanis Club seems to be the only organization which had a good dose of both sides of the proposed school expansion plan.

Atha McIver says she doesn't happen to know anyone who got a mouse trap for Christmas, but she is sure a lot of people must have. She went to five places, including all of the variety stores, before she was able to locate a mouse trap Friday. Then, she had to take one of the new-fangled kind. It seems as if the old boy was wrong when he said, "Build a better mouse trap and people will beat a path to your door." Most housewives, it seems, prefer the old fashioned type. One good thing about mouse traps, though, they still cost only one thin dime.

Francis Hardwick is sponsoring a special New Year's Eve matinee for children. It starts at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 31, and runs for two hours. Free noisemakers, funny hats and balloons. The show will include a special "boy and dog story," along with cartoons and comedy. Francis says the idea is to give the grandparents of the community a rest from baby sitting. He says a terrific lot of grandmothers are simply worn out from Christmas sitting — and he thinks they need a break.

JOHN ORSBORN, the Chevrolet man, believes in watching the little things. He came back to work Friday night and discovered that someone had tampered with the Coke machine and made off with the money. He turned in the robbery and went home to mull over the loss. Saturday morning when he came down and started looking around, he also discovered that the thieves had taken a brand new '58 Chevy, which had come in Friday.

Right now, John is trying to figure out what he was thinking about Friday, when he tracked down all of the little things and completely overlooked the big one.

About last Tuesday, I skipped the Bull Column and cleaned off my desk. It's the truth! A sort of Christmas present to myself. Right now, I can't find anything and every time I walk into my office, I automatically look twice to see if I am in the wrong place. However, it does make for a lot of conversation. Rose Curry, who worked many years for Alex Thompson, says that my desk never really was in the class with Alex's — but she does admit that it is consistently the second messiest one she ever saw. Anyway, it's getting back to normal and, before long, the recent clean-up campaign will probably be overshadowed and forgotten.

THE OIL WELL west of town has a lot of people guessing. My grapevine sources have it that they will probably pull back up the line and perforate at a spot where they had some indication of possi-

Two Compounds May Help in Cancer Fight

GALVESTON, (AP) — Two compounds which may prove helpful in cancer and virus infection have been reported by Dr. Gerald Seaman, University of Texas Medical Branch physiologist. Some of this work has been published in scientific journals, but Dr. Seaman reported the four-year study in its entirety to his colleagues in a seminar period. He said the next step is preparation of enough of the compounds to go into clinical testing. Both of the compounds are considered to be new members of the Vitamin B-12 family. Since 1948, Vitamin B-12 has been known to be the necessary cobalt-containing vitamin to halt pernicious anemia. When humans lacked enough B-12, obtained principally from the consumption of liver, the deadly anemia developed.

DR. SEAMAN reported one of the compounds, described as a B-12 "like" compound, is a potential anti-tumor and anti-virus agent because it is believed it will block the growth of cancer cells and multiplication of viruses. In his other work, he isolated a new group of compounds which are similar to the B-12. However, instead of having to be produced in a laboratory, these new compounds were found to occur naturally in many microorganisms, such as bacteria.

In explaining his B-12 "like" compound, Dr. Seaman said work of other researchers had shown if a chemical blocking agent is introduced the cancer cell can be expected to stop growth, but he added, "we never know until we try."

Isolation of the new group of compounds, which are similar to the B-12, opens what Dr. Seaman called an entire new concept. THE SIGNIFICANCE of this is that instead of having one source of B-12, which has to be made in the laboratory at a usually great cost it can be obtained from the single cell organisms themselves. He said his research has shown that the B-12 extracted from microorganisms, one of which is a first cousin to the parasite which causes African sleeping sickness, performs the same function as in humans.

Therefore, he said, it is possible the B-12 from microorganisms might be another cancer blocking agent in humans. This research has been supported by the Elsa U. Pardee Foundation of Midland, Mich. and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Meanwhile, wheat prospects are looking up for the coming year. I still think we will turn up with a bumper wheat yield. I wonder what happens to this oil land if it happens to be in the soil bank? I guess it wouldn't make any difference.

The most urgent problem offered by the New Year, however, is remembering to make 8's instead of 7's. This, combined with the new telephone numbers, will be a real chore for most people. And it really is a tough little hill to climb. Bill Linderman says that one Hereford business firm has already turned in an order for 50 C. of C. tickets to the annual banquet, and several others have ordered 18 and 20 each. Tickets officially go on sale Monday. Bill figures we will break last year's record of $13 in attendance.

When two little girls brought home a box full of dirt and kept warning their mother to be careful with it, she finally said, "Oh, but why is it so special?" "Instant mud pies," answered the girls.

If you travel 75 mph in your car and are in an accident, there's a one in eight chance you'll be killed, the National Safety Council says. Slow down to 55 mph and your chances of being killed if a crash comes drop to one in 40.

SCENE OF GRIEF—Uncontrolled grief overcomes Abran McGraw as he kneels over the burned body of his six-year-old daughter, Irene, one of three persons who burned to death when flames swept through a dwelling they occupied in Dallas. A neighbor looks on in horror and another seeks to comfort the grief-stricken father as Patrolman L. R. Stuff Turkey with Rice and Yams

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

FOR SOMETHING NEW to stuff your turkey, try this rice and yam combination. If your family insists on a traditional bread stuffing, you can use this combination as a casele dish.

SWEET POTATO AND RICE COMBINATION

Ingredients: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 2 cups long-grain rice, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 cups finely sliced celery, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon white pepper, 1 teaspoon ground coriander, 1 teaspoon finely crushed dried rosemary, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar, 2 1/2 cups chicken or turkey broth, 2 eggs, 1 can (1 pound and 2 ounces) vacuum-packed sweet potatoes (cut in 1/2-inch pieces).

Method: Melt butter in a medium-sized skillet (9 or 10 inches); add rice, onion and celery. Cook over moderately low heat until rice is lightly browned, stirring often. Add salt, pepper, coriander, rosemary ginger and brown sugar; stir in 2 cups in the broth. Cover and cook slowly until rice is tender - about 20 minutes. Remove from heat. In a large bowl, beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; beat in remaining 1/2 cup broth to blend; stir in rice mixture, then sweet potatoes. Turn into buttered 2-quart shallow baking pan. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven uncovered, about 30 minutes. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Note: Instead of baking mixture, it may be used as stuffing for an 8-to 9-pound (ready-to-cook weight) turkey.
