Absentee voting in the Hereford Rural School District trustee election deadline is Tuesday.

"Don't be fooled on April Fool's Day and not vote," city commissioner Dr. R. R. Willis said at the Thursday Kiwanis luncheon. Portions of the high school play "Oklahoma" were also given as part of the day's program.

VISITING IN HEREFORD for a short period this week were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly of Buena Vista, Colo., and Mrs. Ray Graham, Las Cruces, N. M. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, moved to Amarillo from Hereford. Mrs. Kelly's parents are Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Cagle, former minister of the First Baptist Church of Hereford. Mrs. Graham is from Hereford and Ray, a mathematician at White Sands Proving Grounds, is the son of former school superintendent George Graham.

Part of $11 million advance construction allocation approved this week by the Texas Highway Dept. will include the re-enforcement of base and surfacing shoulders of Highway 60 from Farwell to Friona.

None of the High High track entries in the Amarillo Relays was listed as qualifying in the preliminary events held Friday afternoon at Amarillo Stadium. More preliminaries were scheduled for Saturday morning.

The curriculum sub-committee of the Hale-Aikin School Study Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Stanton Junior High library. The meeting will be open to the public.

each. The three leading ladies, Carla Sue Crosthwait, Karen Albracht and Linda Noland, each received a bouquet of roses.

Carroll Hickey, high school speech teacher, assisted Moore in directing the show.

THE STORY is situated in Indian Territory, shortly before it became the state of Oklahoma. The plot revolves around a love triangle which includes Laurie, a pretty girl; Curly, a handsome cowboy, and Jud, the brooding hired hand.

As the romantic male lead, Gwin Morris sang and acted the part of Curly both nights and Leon Roberts portrayed the twisted Jud.

Thursday night Sharon Owens was Laurie and Friday night Carla Sue Crosthwait took the part. Ado Annie, the comic-relief girl, was played by Emily Pavlicek Thursday and Linda Noland Friday.

Morris and Roberts were impressive in their roles, particularly in the smokehouse scene where Curly suggests to Jud that Jud hang himself and have a beautiful funeral. Their duet, "Pore Jud," was the best-rendered song of the night.

DAVID LARSEN, as Ali Hakim, the philandering traveling salesman, got, and deserved, laugh after laugh. Hakim was continuously in trouble with the women-folk, squirming out a marriage with Ado Annie only to wind up hitched to Gertie Cummings (Sandra Story).

Although Miss Crosthwait was troubled by a bad cold, she sang and acted her important role well.

Karen Albracht as tough-but-kindly Aunt Eller was outstanding, as were Miss Noland as Ado Annie and Carol Willoughby as Will Parker, Ado Annie's boy friend.

A ballet sequence, well-done and illuminated in dim blue, also pleased the audience. The dance illustrated a dream of Laurie's, where-in she is married to Curly and Jud slays the cowboy and takes Laurie.

The stage properties were effective and scenery changes were made quickly. Costuming was authentic and decorative.

Summed up: Darn good entertainment, the likes of which Hereford probably won't see again until next year when the choir puts on another production. — STEVEN HOLMESLY.

Religion Begins At Home' Topic For El Nino

Mrs. Melvin Young served as hostess for El Nino Study Club Monday night at her home.

Following a brief business session, Mrs. Byron Durham presented the scheduled program on "Religion Begins At Home."

"We are not sure that religion is taught, nor are we sure how it is taught, but the religious background you give your child is of great importance. Stay close to God and take Him with you in everyday plans and your children will learn to live a religion with which they can go through life," she concluded.

Members attending were Mesdames Darrell Blanton, Jim Bookout, Ben Childers, R. A. Daniel Jr., Bill Decker, Byron Durham, Virginia Hartman, John Jacobsen Jr.,

Dimmitt Soldier Now in Germany

NURNBERG, Germany (AHTN C) — Army Pvt. Douglas L. Moke, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moke, Dimmitt, recently was assigned to the 48th Transportation Company at the Ober-Schleissheim Army Air Field in Germany.

Moke, a fixed wing aircraft mechanic, arrived overseas from an assignment at Fort Eustis, Va. He entered the Army last May and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La.

The 18-year-old soldier was graduated from Dimmitt High School in 1957.

Dewitt Allsup Replaces Golden At Hospital Here

Walter Dwitt Allsup, 39, reported for duty Monday at the Deaf Smith County Hospital as laboratory technician replacement for O. Z. Golden who has been working in that capacity here since 1950. Golden is to work in the same field in the new research laboratory now under construction behind the Hereford Clinic.

Allsup has been a combination laboratory technician-hospital administrator for the 30-bed hospital at Shamrock since 1956. Previously he worked at the Southwestern Baptist Hospital in Mangum, Okla., 1950-53, Gregston Hospital, Marlow, Okla., 1953-54, and was employed by the Midcontinent Surgery Supply Co., 1954-56.

The Allsup family, wife Betty, and three sons, Eddie, 11, Gene, 10 and Rex 4, now reside at 330 Ave. J.

In Shamrock the Allsups attended the Baptist Church, and Dewitt belonged to the Lions Club and Masons.

Golden is to leave the hospital for work at the research laboratory April 19, at which time Allsup will take over full duties at the hospital as laboratory technician.

Secretary Flies High

PAT McKEEN—Flying secretary at work in plane.

AP Newsfeatures
Pretty Pat McKeen figures she is the luckiest secretary in the country.

What with the shortage of good secretaries nowadays, a competent girl can just about write her own ticket. Some demand air-conditioned offices, wall-to-wall carpeting, electric typewriters and unlimited lunch hours.

Some will work only in offices where there are plenty of eligible bachelors. Others choose jobs that offer travel opportunities or contact with glamorous celebrities.

But Pat is one of the few secretaries in the country who does her work a mile up in the air.

This attractive blonde is at present in the midst of a 13,000-mile air tour of the country. Her office is a "flying show-case"—a specially equipped DC-3 plane designed to introduce throughout the country a line of all kinds of sticky stuff—glues and tapes.

When Pat is on duty, usually 10,000 feet in the air, she wears a smart suit of pale blue flannel, similar to that of an airline stewardess. The schedule of the "flying showcase" calls for visits to 38 cities in 41 days. So Pat usually is in a different city each night, and in each she is welcomed by the mayor, often interviewed by the press and invited to appear on radio and television shows.

The tour began in Miami, and is scheduled to make stops in cities north, east, south and west before winding up in Philadelphia.

Pat, the perfect secretary is having the time of her life.

"But I can't forget my regular duties," say she. "I still have to take dictation and get out letters without a mistake even when we're a mile up in the air."

VISITS FROM DIMMITT

Mrs. Earl Brock and Bobby of Dimmitt visited with relatives and friends in Hereford Friday. Bobby, who has recently been discharged from the Army, returned from Germany this month where he was stationed for over two years.

The Cullinan Diamond, largest diamond in the world, weighs more than 3,000 carats, and was found near Pretoria, Union of South Africa, in 1905.

Schoolgirl Knows How Cinderella Felt

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—As they say in show business, everybody loves an opening night. But there's a high school senior here who more than loved a recent one, for she ended up with everything a real-life Cinderella should have.

She's Virginia Chadwick who appeared in the movie "Raintree County" nine times ("But I was so excited I only was sure of six of them.") as a stand-in for movie actress Eva Marie Saint.

The whole story began when she was visiting Danville, Ky., last summer and signed up to be an extra while Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was filming the movie there.

The next thing she knew, she was told she would be stand-in for Miss Saint.

Says she: "I was so excited that night I couldn't sleep."

But the real Cinderella story began about premiere time in Louisville.

Ginny was furnished with a carriage (a white Jaguar), a Prince Charming (her brother Dave, 21), a ball (the premiere) and the proper adornments (a white mink stole).

The car and the mink stole were donated for the evening by a neighbor. Brother Dave was filling in for William Wheeler, Ginny's boy friend. He was part of an honor guard for the premiere with his R. O. T. C. unit from the University of Louisville where he is a pre-medical student.

The premiere and its accompanying parties and the ball turned out to be everything a Cinderella's ball should be. "I had three glasses of champagne and got giddy. But I think it wasn't the champagne. It must have been all the excitement."

Ginny introduced her brother to all the stars. And at the ball, when she was on Bill's arm, she introduced him to everybody. "I wanted to get everybody I could into the act. There was just too much for me by myself."

Now Ginny's mother and Miss Saint's mother are good friends.

And both Ginny and her mother plan on corresponding with the stars.

But when it comes to following in Miss Saint's footsteps, that's another thing. Ginny would rather be a model—or just plain married.

To manufacture a perfect lens for eyeglasses requires about 363 different operations and skills.

Herd Places Two on All-District Squad

Hereford's Jim Curtisinger, Johnny Cleveland of Dumas and Phillips' Donnie Gaines were unanimous selections on the 1958 All-District 1-AAA basketball team announced today. Fred Lookingbill of Hereford and Doug Cannon of Levelland, the only sophomore on the otherwise all-senior squad, nailed down the other two places. Both missed being unanimous selections by only one vote.

Under the system used to determine the team, two points were awarded for a first team vote and one for a second team vote. The coaches in the five-team league selected the teams, voting only on boys who played against their team.

CURTINSINGER, a 6-4 senior forward, also has been named on the all-state third team. He also made the all-tournament team in the Region I play-offs and the all-tourney five in the state tournament at Austin.

Lookingbill, a six-foot senior guard, was all-tournament in Region I and made honorable mention on the state all-tourney team. The second team is composed of nine players due to a five-way tie for the fifth position on the team. It is composed of Terry Higgins and Steve Slagle of Hereford, Milton Hoff, Phillips and James Goldston, Littlefield, Jesse Ballew, Levelland; Miles Stephens, Littlefield; Bobby Moore, Phillips and Gary Haseloff and James Copeland, Dumas all received two votes to tie for the fifth position on the second team.

HIGGINS, 6-4 center, is a graduating senior. Slagle is a 6-3 junior. He plays center also.

Honorable mention honors were awarded to Al Taylor and Frank Cariker of Dumas and Jack Burke and Gary Yungblut of Phillips.

Cleveland was the leading scorer on the talented first team with a 20.7 average. Curtisinger and Gaines hit at 18.8 and 18.4 clips, respectively. Cannon, who, incidentally, was an all-district football choice, averaged 13.8. Lookingbill boasted an 11.4 mark.

Op-Ti-Mrs. Club Holds Luncheon

A noon luncheon entertained members of the Op-Ti-Mrs. Club at the home of Mrs. Sam Long Wednesday. Daffodils and pussy willow carried out the spring motif in decorations.

During the business session club projects were discussed and making clothes for needy children was considered.

Those in attendance were Mesdames Bill Angel, Jimmy Bownds, Marvin Coffey, Dale Young, Dwayne Campbell and the hostess.

Bard Students Are Expected To Hold Jobs

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) — Working their way through college is the rule rather than the exception for most students at Bard College — it's part of the curriculum.

Following Christmas holidays each year, Bard students scatter throughout the United States for an eight-week field period to practice what has been preached in class. They hold jobs ranging from assistant in a mental hospital to hired hand on a farm, finding out — before graduation — what type of work they're fitted for.

About 70 per cent of Bard's 255 students get paying jobs for the field period during their first three years. As seniors they "retire" to spend the two months on their senior projects. Faculty advisers keep an eye on them and can assign extra studies to fulfill program requirements. As a double check, students and employers write reports of what was accomplished.

The Winter Field Period began at Bard in 1934 as an experiment. At first, all students returned home for special reading or research projects. Gradually the period evolved into the work-study program. The students get a regular vacation in the summer.

Hereford Student In Leading Role

O. C. Renfro, sophomore speech major, has been chosen to play the leading role in Shakespeare's play, "Macbeth," which will be given April 10 and 13 on the Texas Tech campus.

Renfro, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Renfro, Rt. 3, Hereford, will play the dramatic role of Macbeth.

The Tech speech and drama students will be playing their roles in a unique theater, the Agricultural Pavilion, a place which resembles in many ways the famous old Globe Theater of the Elizabethan era.

family for her stay.

"I HOPE TO GO to France or Germany, but any country would be fine," Eugenia said Friday. She wants France or Germany "because of the music there."

She has studied piano since she was seven years old and is now studying under Robert Hoffman of Amarillo. She received a superior rating in contests last year.

As for languages, Eugenia is now in her second year of Spanish and her first year of Latin. She has excellent grades in both courses.

As a member of FHA, Eugenia has helped raise money to bring three of Hereford's four foreign exchange students to this country. Money for transportation of the students from home and they back has been raised by the FHA and the community. It takes $700 for a round-trip ticket.

Money for Eugenia's transportation also must be raised here. Should Eugenia be sent to Europe, she hopes to visit the exchange students who have been in Hereford High: Helga Thome in Germany, Elisabeth Brummer in Sweden and Silvana Felizia in Italy. Miss Felizia is now in Hereford and will return home in June, the same time Miss Alexander will go abroad.

"I am really honored by being chosen. I hope I can give as much to the people over there as those who have been here have given us. I also hope to bring as much back," Eugenia said.

Ceramic Art Club Studies Methods Of China Painting

Mrs. W. H. Awtry was hostess to members of the Hereford Ceramic Art Club Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Leon Denton, president, presiding.

During the business session a nominating committee for new officers was named to include Mrs. Luther Norvell, Mrs. O. H. Culpepper and Mrs. John Robinson.

The program was presented by Mrs. W. C. Hromas who gave a lesson on china painting, paying particular attention to equipment and first steps in painting, and displaying a group of plates she had painted. She suggested using designs from Christmas or Birthday cards.

Mrs. Hromas will present a second lesson in china painting at the next meeting.

Those present were Mesdames Leon Denton, O. H. Culpepper, Luther Norvell, Alice Steen, Carlos Vaughn and the hostess.

Attend Garden Club Meeting

Six members of the Hereford Garden Club and seven members of Bud To Blossom Club attended the annual District 1, Texas Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc. convention held in Lubbock recently. They included Mesdames Norman Moore, M. T. Rutter, C. D. Kelson, S. S. Williams, A. O. Thompson and John Jacobsen Jr. of the Hereford Garden Club and Mesdames R. A. Daniel Jr., Preston Hagans, W. H. Patton, Pat Robinson, Ira Scott, Lloyd Sharp, and Herbert Haseloff, representing the Bud to Blossom Club.

Highlight of the program was a talk on varieties of mums for this area, given by E. W. Zukauckos Jr., assistant professor of the department of agriculture of Texas Tech. who listed named varieties suitable for this area.

Mrs. H. D. Lewis of Dumas was elected governor for 1959. Mrs. J. D. Dillard of Midland is the retiring governor.

New Hiway Patrol Supervisor Here

Texas Highway Patrol Sgt. Dan Duggan will assume duties Tuesday as supervisor of a nine-county district with headquarters in Hereford.

Duggan replaces Sgt. Bob Brookshire who organized the district in September, 1957. Brookshire has been transferred to Amarillo.

Duggan will be in charge of Highway Patrol units in Deaf Smith, Randall, Dallam, Sherman, Hartley, Oldham, Castro, Swisher and Parmer counties. His office is in the sheriff's department in the county courthouse.

He has been a member of the Highway Patrol for seven years. Duggan is being transferred to Hereford from Beaumont, where he has been stationed the past five years.

Sgt. Duggan is 31. He is married and has three children, a boy and two girls. He is a Navy veteran of World War II.

Bond Chairman Given Citation

Robert L. Thompson, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Savings Bonds Committee, has been awarded a special U. S. Treasury Citation for his efforts in achieving 121.7 per cent of his county's 1957 savings bonds goal. Last year's sales in Deaf Smith County were $219,010.

The Treasury award was presented to Thompson by Ed Gossett, Co-Chairman of the Texas Savings Bonds Committee. In presenting the award to Thompson Gossett said, "The Texas Savings Bonds Committee is deeply grateful to you and your Committee who are standing behind this program and are making it so successful in Deaf Smith County."

In accepting the award, Thompson said: "I feel greatly honored to have been cited by the U. S. Treasury Department and I wish to thank the citizens of this county who are buying bonds so liberally, because it was through them that our county surpassed our 1957 bond sales goal."

The contract also called for furnishing free rodeo arena decorations, as well as labor for entire arena and business district installations and materials.

"All the old stock has been replaced by new," Harbin stated in his letter.

Main day of the Pioneer Days celebration will be May 29. A parade will be held at 3 p.m., barbecue at 5 p.m. and the first rodeo event that evening.

Refreshments will be furnished pioneers through the entire day at the Jim Hill Hotel.

In other business, the Boosters voted to purchase plastic card holders for use in a "Most Courteous Salesman and Saleswoman" contest to be held the middle of May.

Public voting for the most courteous in each sex of all sales people in Hereford will be held between May 12 and 24. Announcement of the winners will be made May 29.

Prizes of $50 savings bonds will be made to each winner.

The plastic card holders will be used by every sales person in the business houses of Hereford. On the card will be the wearer's name, making voting easier for the public.

Lenderman told the Boosters his office had secured a film entitled "Crossroads: Mainstreet and the Minimum Wage," from the United States Chamber of Commerce.

To be shown at four civic clubs, the film will be seen at the Rotary Club Monday, April 14, Optimists Tuesday, Lions Wednesday and Kiwanis Thursday. A special showing for all merchants who failed to view the film at any of the previous meetings will be made on the following Friday.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

The tall, dignified man with the umbrella was the Prime Minister of England, Neville Chamberlain. When he stepped off the plane in his native land after that historic meeting, he was smiling. He felt that he had just insured peace for the world. He had just returned from Munich. There, with the Premier of France, Daladier, and with Premier Mussolini of Italy, Chamberlain had entered into a four-power peace pact with Nazi Fuehrer Adolph Hitler. The pact took strife-torn Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia and gave it to Germany. For a price, peace had been bought for Europe.

The pact was signed just 24 hours before the October 1st deadline Hitler had given. His troops stood prepared to march into Czechoslovakia. Now they would not march, and war had been averted — or so that honest, peaceful man thought as he stepped off his plane in England. For Chamberlain couldn't know that the "Munich Pact" was but a temporary delay in the war that was soon to come. Remember the year?

That was a time when a car buyer knew just what was in his contract when he signed to buy a new car. After all, it's just common sense to know what you're signing.

The year was 1938.

You won't get any "double talk" when you see us about buying a new 1958 FORD. We'll give you the facts and figures, straight, just as they are, and they'll add up to the finest deal you can find anywhere!

Lone Star Club Has Program on Judaism Religion

Lone Star Study Club met in the home of Mrs. H. E. Henslee Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. J. Grady serving as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Roger Corbett presented the program on "Judaism," commenting "Religion for the Jew is primarily, though not entirely, a way of life. Its chief reward is the good life itself. An old Rabbi once stated 'One hour of repentance and good deeds in this world is better than the whole of life in the world to come.'

"There is no creed which is accepted by all Jews - the whole concept of Salvation as redemption from sin in the world and from its consequences in the hereafter, is the main trend of Jewish belief."

A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. D. Kelton.

Members attending were Mesdames Joe Kendall, G. W. Newsum, R. G. Blue, Vivian Major, Robert Thompson, L. L. LeGrand, W. C. Meharg, C. O. Wilkins, Jim Higgins, Roger Corbett, E. J. Grady, S. S. Williams and the hostess.

VFW Auxiliary Elects Officers

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 4818, featured a covered dish supper-affair at the regular meeting held at the VFW Hall Monday night.

Following the informal supper a business session was held when new officers were elected. Those chosen for the coming year were Mrs. Wayne Lawrence, president; Mrs. Bill Craig, senior vice president; Mrs. Jim Lookingbill, junior vice president; Mrs. T. D. Devenport, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Coffin, chaplain; Mrs. Louis Beckman, conductress; Mrs. Leonard Davis, guard; and Mesdames L. H. Lookingbill Jr., Perry McMinn and Sam Lindley, trustees.

Mrs. Doice Nivens was initiated as a new member and members voted to make a contribution to the Memorial Arch Fund in Austin in memory of sons of Auxiliary gold star mothers.

Engagement of Margaret Sexton, Thomas Mathies Announced Here

Announcement has been made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Margaret Ann Sexton of Houston to Thomas Mathies of this city. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sexton, formerly of Hereford and now of Dimmitt, and Mr. Mathies is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mathies.

The wedding will take place in Houston sometime in May at Christ Episcopal Church cathedral.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith were hosts at a buffet supper honoring Mathies the past weekend, assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary of St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The party was in the form of a farewell gesture to Mathies who plans to leave Hereford soon, and a gift of appreciation from co-workers in the church, was presented.

The buffet table was laid with a pink cloth and an arrangement of pink carnations and Scotch heather was used as a center attraction.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames V. O. Hennen, Elmer Mathies, Jess Carter, Curtis Trawick, Bruce Miller, Joe Smith, Jon Fraser, F. L. Alexander, Alton Fraser, Terry Kirby, Mrs. Marcus Bell, the honoree and his sister, Mrs. James Bowen of Odessa.

Classroom Teachers Observe Public Relations Week Here

Hereford Classroom Teachers Assn. observed Public Relations Week with a reception and program held Monday night in Shirley School gymnasium. Approximately 250 guests attended. Mrs. Merlin Kaul served as master of ceremonies.

Highlight of the program was an address given by Mrs. Mary Alexander, president of Classroom Teachers Assn. of Texas, who spoke on "Teachers of Tomorrow." She cited the growth of the teaching profession and outlined a broad scope of endeavor on the teacher's part in striving to assist the student in accomplishing physical health, proper social status and self respect.

The Rev. Eugene Naugle gave the prayer and Robert L. Thompson, public relations chairman, introduced the Bluenote Sextet of Hereford High School who sang a group of popular songs. Singers were Sandra Roberson, Ann Wingert, Barbara Jacobs, Fosalie Strange, Sheryl Patterson and Joan Rogers. Lois Christman served as accompanist.

Refreshments were served from a table carrying out a spring motif in decorations with yellow jonquils and other seasonal flowers. Members of the serving committee were Mesdames Bob Wilson, Mildred Ramey, Jim Garner and Fred Welch. Special guests were

Camp Fire Week Is Climaxed by Grand Ceremonial

APPROXIMATELY 400 persons attended the Grand Ceremonial which climaxed Camp Fire Week celebrations, in the Bull Barn Friday evening March 21. All girls and their leaders wore their ceremonial jackets and costumes. Boy Scouts Carl Stapp and Butch Hoff served as flag bearers and Mrs. Vance Crume was the announcer. Mrs. J. T. Gilbreath Jr. was in charge of candle arrangements. Mrs. Abe Davis served as soloist.

Leaders of the groups opened the impressive ceremonies with the Wo-he-lo call as lights were dimmed and Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls joined in singing Wo-he-lo marched in to take their places bearing lighted torches.

Then the Camp Fire Girls sang the official "Camp Fire Prayer" and the Blue Birds echoed with "Sing Blue Birds Sing." The remaining candles were lighted including the large center Birthday Candle which was flamed by the torch bearers, Phyllis Goettseh and Betty Paetzold. They also told of the meaning of Camp Fire Week celebration.

MRS. URLIN STREU, who was one of the first to become interested in Camp Fire work for Hereford, and who served as leader and guardian for Camp Fire groups, and advisor of Horizon Club groups for many years, also serving as a member of Camp Fire Council, traced the history of the local organization, told something of the Camp Fire program and cited the progress and growth of the organization.

Mrs. S. S. Williams, regional representative and awards chairman, presented 74 girls with national awards.

Included were Horizon Club: TEN YEAR AWARDS — Ella Marie Williams, Phyllis Goettseh, Dolly Paetzold, Sue Channer, Jo Ann Fowlkes and Carolyn Knox.

FIVE YEAR AWARDS — Linda Hair, Nona Marie Strange, Betty Paetzold, Janie Bookout, Carol Ann Newell, Dolly Jo Prowell, Eugenia Alexander, Betty Kropff, Linda Phillips, Patsy Cowart, Judy Patterson, Orvella Finley, Janice Higgins, Patricia Ramsport, Betty Huckert, Royce Ann Gilliland, Barbara Barrett, Diedra Thomas, Joyce Linderer, Kathelene Knox, Betty Turner, Juana Turner and Carolyn Brumley.

Pioneer Study Club Has March Luncheon, Program

Pioneer Study Club held its March luncheon - program in the home of Mrs. J. M. Gilliland Tuesday. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Myrtle Wright, Mrs. Carl Gilliland and Mrs. H. E. Miller.

Luncheon tables carried out the Easter motif with lovely yellow jonquils, easter eggs and bunnies.

Following the luncheon a short business session and program was held. During the business meeting members voted to make an Easter contribution to the foreign exchange student in Hereford High School, and Mrs. Ralph McCulough, president, gave a report on the Seventh District TEWC Convention held in Childress recently. Two awards were won by the club.

It was noted that in March, 1959, the Pioneer Club will celebrate its golden anniversary and plans for celebrating were discussed.

Miss Roberta Campbell presented the program on "Cattle Brands-Laws and Legends." She named many brands and told of their origin and discussed the laws that existed governing cattle branding in the old west. Miss Campbell also told many of the legends of the west.

Members answering roll call on "My favorite Texas brag" included Mesdames Fred Barrett, Allen Bell, Burl France, O. H. Herring, Ray Johnson, F. M. Kester, L. H. Lookingbill Jr., C. N. McClure, Ralph McCullough, H. E. Miller, Mary Seigler, Delmar Sigle, Charlie Walser, Bess Werner, Myrtle Wright and the hostess.

Miss Sue Barnard, Joseph Hannon Exchange Vows in Tucson Church

The Rev. Charles Townes performed the ceremony when Miss Mattie Sue Barnard became the bride of Joseph Stafford Hannon at 10 a.m. Saturday in the St. Ambrose Church of Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis C. Barnard of 4042 Calle Chica, Tucson, Ariz., formerly of Hereford, are parents of the bride. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Hannon, 304 West H. St., Brawley, Calif.

The formal, double-ring ceremony was read before an altar banked with basket arrangements of white stock and gladioli and branched candelabra holding wedding tapers.

Attendants to the bride were Mrs. Jack Hannon of Brawley, Calif., the bridegroom's sister-in-law, matron of honor; Mrs. Hilton Higgins of Hereford and Denise Barnard of Tucson, sisters of the bride; and Miss Wendy Gibbons of Barrington, Ill.

All of the feminine attendants wore identical gowns of jonquil yellow organza bound in yellow satin, designed with figurine bodices with full puffed sleeves and bouffant skirts. They wore matching picture hats, shoes and gloves and carried baskets of giant daisies.

Jack Hannon, of Brawley, Calif., the bridegroom's brother, was best man and ushers were Michael Layne of Corona Del Mar, Calif., Alucin Fifield of Brawley, Calif., and Bob Lutes of Yuma, Ariz.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white wedding gown of imported peau de sole designed with basque bodice appliqued with Venetian lace and embroidered with beads and pearls. The floor length skirt featured a sheath front and back panel.

Navy Nurse Ends Visit in Hereford

Lt. J. G. Anne Tierney returned this weekend to California following an extended visit in Hereford with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Babione, 303 Irving St. Lt. Tierney and Mrs. Babione were high school classmates.

A member of the Navy Nurse Corps, Lt. Tierney was before her trip to Hereford, stationed aboard the U. S. S. Breckenridge. While aboard the Breckenridge, a military transport, she served with a medical staff of 13. The ship's ports of entry included Korea, Japan, Formosa, Okinawa and Guam. Lt. Tierney's new duty station is the Naval Hospital at Oakland, Calif.

During her leave, Lt. Tierney accompanied Mrs. Babione to Oklahoma, where the two women visited their respective families and friends in Clinton, Oklahoma City and Norman.

Ford Boys' 4-H Club Is Organized

A 4-H Club for boys was organized Thursday night for the Ford area at the Ford Community house, with David Pickens being elected president and Joe Freimel secretary-treasurer. Twelve boys are in the charter.

Adult leader for the group, as well as the girls' 4-H Club, is Mrs. J. E. Dyer.

The girls have been organized in that area for 10 years.

Two demonstrations were presented during the evening's meeting. Johnny Pickens and Wayne Roberts gave a demonstration on safety and Sharon Beemer and Peggy Browning one on electricity.

The Hereford Child Study Club met at the Camp Fire Hut Thursday evening with Mrs. Clinton Jackson serving as cohostess.

An enjoyable program on interior decorating, with Mrs. Geo. Springer as program chairman, was presented. Pat Elam, manager of the Decorator Shop of Sears, Roebuck and Co. of Amarillo showed samples of new drapery materials, and slip cover materials, ready made window treatments including fiberglass, dacron, and many other materials. He showed how homemakers can have draperies of quality without being custom made, demonstrating cafe curtains, bamboo, priscilla and draw drapes.

Custom made slip covers were displayed, showing the traditional, contemporary, and ultra-modern prints. Custom made furniture, with accompanying upholstery materials was also displayed.

A social hour followed the program and refreshments were served.

Guests from Sears included Mrs. JoJo Rankin, Mrs. Christine Petty, and Mrs. Sue Hayhurst, home consultants, Ted Golca, installation man, and H. L. Whisenant, merchandise manager. Models were Misses Martha Sue Hollar, Cella Gaines, Janice Gillia and Mrs. Pat Elam.

Traveling Dad Solves 'Away' Problem By Taking Along One of His Children

AP Newsfeatures

HAPPY TRAVELER—Jill Bailhe squeals with delight at her father's attempt at hair-braiding during a train trip. She and her four brothers and sisters take turns tagging along with Dad, whose job frequently takes him away from home.

Is your husband a part-time father, a valise-juggling dad who spends more time on the road than at home?

If so, don't despair. Tell your husband to take a tip from a traveling father of five who thinks he's found the answer:

"If you can't be with your family, take 'em with you. But — one at a time."

Jack Bailhe, New York advertising executive, has done it for some 15 years — booties, diapers, pabulum and all!

"It makes no difference how young they are," he says, "if you want to see more of your children, this is the ideal way. What's more it gives you a chance to be alone with each child for a little while."

You won't miss out on fun either, when you take your child on a business junket, explains Bailhe.

"It's real adventure for the old man," he says. "You'll find yourself doing things you've always wanted to do, but hesitated for fear of looking foolish, maybe; like the time I went up in a blimp in Florida, and visited an underwater aquarium with my child."

Bailhe still recalls that first hilarious trip with Sharon, now 17, when they set off with a suitcase loaded with bottles, food, rattles, and two kinds of diapers, mostly disposable.

"Even in those days," Bailhe says, "it was easy to get a baby sitter at a good hotel. Telephone operators and maids work at it in spare time or can recommend friends who do."

Everyone loves children, and that makes the whole project simple, Bailhe found out after his first trip. Hotel room service never objects to preparing baby's food, and youngsters are always made acquainted with bellboys, maids, assistant managers, desk clerks and other hotel employees. "They are better chaperoned away from home some of the time," he says.

What happens when dad has a business date in his rooms?

"Easy," says Bailhe, grinning. "There's nothing like a tube of toothpaste to keep a small youngster busy for a few hours. Just put her in the bathtub with the tube and let her go to it."

Office appointments are no big hurdle, either. The maternal instincts of secretaries and other female office help come to the foreground to take a youngster over for a little while.

"A small child loves the fun of playing with typewriters or using pencils at a grown-up desk, and office help are the best chin-chuckers of all," Bailhe says.

The trips are educational for the youngsters too.

Six-year-old Zippy recently had a trip to Washington, bringing back maps, folders and other paraphernalia from the Smithsonian Institution to delight his class. He also produced a pilot's ring and pilot's certificate (airline courtesies to small travelers) which make him a big man in the neighborhood.

Margo, now 13, has been traveling since age 2, and learned to swim by being left in the care of lifeguards at Florida swimming pools while Dad was off on business.

Sometimes trips are by train, as a recent one to Chicago with Jill, 10.

"We had a wonderful time, although I wish Jill had short hair," says Bailhe, who finds braid-making a little intricate for male fingers.

Does Mom (Pat) Bailhe approve of the routine?

"I should say so," she laughs. "Traveling broadens youngsters and lightens chores for me, and keeps Dad well-occupied when he's on the road."

Pat gets to go on a trip, occasionally. She, too, takes a youngster along. Last time it was John, 15, who got to see the sights of Portugal, Africa and South America.

Hereford Students Working on H-SU Fund Campaign

ABILENE (Special) — Two students from Hereford are currently working on the campus drive for funds to build a new chapel auditorium and student center for Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

The university is conducting a campaign for $1.5 million for the erection of these buildings. H-SU's Behrens Chapel was destroyed by fire last November.

Students already have personally pledged more than $4,000 toward the project. The university faculty and staff are conducting a drive among themselves to complete the campus fund-raising program. Students, faculty and staff are expected to complete the drive on the campus by Easter.

The public campaign will be developed following Easter.

The students from Hereford now working on the campus drive are Carolyn Virden and Marlene Legg and Sammie McLallen.

Hardin-Simmons University is planning to build a half million dollar chapel auditorium and a million dollar student center.

STAR THEATER

Don't Go Near The Water: Listed as a "money back guaranty." Story of a group of Navy men on the tropical island of Tuluru during World War 2. These men are armed only with typewriters and vivid imaginations, whose duty it is to tell the world about the Navy but who don't go near the water. The main plot of the story centers around Ensign Max Siegel and his romance with Melora Alba, beautiful, Spanish-educated daughter of one of the island's most distinguished residents. Booked for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and starring Glen Ford and Gia Scala.

Story of Esther Costello: Socialite Margaret Landi helps teen-age, blind deaf-mute Esther Costello learn to read and write Braille. Stories by reporter Harry Grant make Esther world-famous. Margaret's husband Carlo persuades her to use the girl in a fund-raising campaign for charity. He misappropriates funds and makes love to the girl, shocking her back to sight and speech. Margaret leaves the girl and the charity drive in Grant's care and, just as Esther goes to speak at a rally, word comes that Margaret and Carlo have died in a car crash. Stars Joan Crawford and Rossano Brazzi. Wednesday and Thursday.

Perk Up Nursery for Spring

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Make your resolution for spring decorating include the youngster's nursery or that tiny corner of your room where she parks her booties. Little folk adore color, and there is nothing drearier than a child's room without it.

Hitch a mobile to your ceiling. It'll catch the eye of the tiniest youngster and charm the older tots, too. Choose a color that appeals to the age of the child.

Small fry are partial to bird mobiles that may be bought assembled. Or a handy Mom can try her hand at making the bird mobile, using combinations of gay colors in old scraps of materials, felt, corduroy or what have you.

Flowers intrigue older children. Use artificial daisies, tulips or roses to make a gay, colorful ceiling decoration. Attach the flowers to wire, bringing the wires down from a central point, and then fasten the bouquet to the ceiling, like a chandelier.

One good decorating idea that is easy to do and ideal for play pen admiration is a colorful mobile that may be made from the drawings of Mother Goose, type characters to be found on cereal boxes.

There are tiger kittens, teddy bears, mother cow, bunnies and Mother Goose herself to be found on cereal boxes and these may be framed to hang on walls or strung together with colorful twine to make a little picture book.

Make the mobile this way: Cut the animal characters from the cereal packages in free form shapes and punch a hole in the top of each one. Cut the ribbon into 6 inch lengths. Slip one end through the hole and tie a knot to secure it. Tie the other end of the ribbon to the end of the stick. Repeat this at the opposite end of the stick.

GAY NURSERY MOBILE—Make it from free form cut outs from cereal boxes to delight a youngster.

A mobile is constructed from the bottom up, so the first stick is your base. You can find the balance point of the stick by resting it on your forefinger. At this point attach another length of ribbon to the first stick and tie it to the end of the second stick. Attach a third picture at the opposite end.

Establish a balance point on the second stick and proceed upwards until the mobile is completed. Top all ribbon attachments on each stick with tiny bows.

MISCHIEF

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — The Parents-Teachers Assn. called police to its meeting. Members complained of small boys peering through windows of the meeting room "making faces."

proudly announces that:

Steve Clements servicing the Hereford trade area has received shipment of his DeKalb Hybrid sorghum seed. Mr. Clements says, "This is the finest looking seed I've ever seen. It has passed DeKalb's wintertesting program, of good germination, and ready for spring planting. Since this seed is in short supply, all my DeKalb customers are urged to make arrangements for their seed in the very near future."

Present were Fayrene and Anna Evans, Gayle and Billye Woolbright, Don, Mary Lou and Jimmy Riley, Jackie Lee, Freda House, the Rev. Merle Weathers, Dianne Clearman and Mrs.

Whither the Whether Of this Here Weather? IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

MY GOODNESS! If somebody doesn't push the button to turn this weather off, what are we going to do? Too wet to plow, too wet to plant, too wet to do much of anything. And cold to boot. Of course, it would be all right if all a body had to do was sit inside and read or play bridge, but this sure should be a busy season for everyone.

No one told me, when I came to the Panhandle, that this territory had a monsoon season! Well, as typical of me, that is an exaggeration—but gee whiz, enough is enough.

One thing tho, the sun has come out just enough to keep us all from getting ricketts (I quote Dean Johnson in this gem of philosophy.)

IF THE ELEMENTS had cooperated on the day of the recent Merchants' Showcase, it would have surely been fine. And in spite of the weather, the affair was pretty much of a circus at that.

Anyone who didn't make it to town that day really missed some fun. The sensation which comes with watching store windows come to life and our main street turn into a midway is sho a treat. And besides enjoying the circus atmosphere, you have the advantage of a short walking distance for looking over everything new and interesting from cars to clothes—lots of fun, even if one is not a prospective purchaser.

The merchants seem pretty pleased at the result of the afternoon's endeavor (of course, it involved a bit more than one day's effort on their part). I believe the feeling is that an occasional repeat of the event is good for business, especially during a slack time.

I, for one, surely do hope they do it again. What a festival! Everything from Little League players and chef's cooking barbecue, to sun bathers in the display windows... sewing machines to printing machines on the sidewalks... all manner and colors of vehicles and implements all up and down the street... music, balloons, and pop corn, and a real happy time was had by all!

It was told me that Irving Alexander of The Popular Store was responsible for putting over the idea here, so I imagine he is plenty pleased that it was successful.

Oh gee, I have lots to talk about but no time. I suspect that I will get fired for sure, if I don't quit putting things off until "next week." But honest, dear reader, if you'll just bear with me there may be something in this column yet.

Before I go, hello to Geneva King and Sally Skelton who, with their precious new babies, are residing for a few days in the local hospital.

Smithsonian Sending Folk Art For Display at Brussels Fair

WASHINGTON (AP)—The artists' names will create no stir, but the Smithsonian Institution guarantees that American visitors will have no cause to hang their heads while touring the American folk art exhibit at the Brussels World's Fair.

Chosen as typical examples of folk art in this country, the group of 70 paintings and sculptures is largely the work of unknown or little known 18th and 19th century "week-end artists."

But their lack of fame is no gauge of the present-day price tag on their products.

Some of the quaintly crude paintings are valued as high as $35,000. "It is amazing how the early American settlers began painting soon after they got here. They painted very well, too," said Mrs. John A. Pope, chief of the Smithsonian Institution's traveling exhibition service.

Mrs. Pope, who cajoled various museums into lending the pictures for display at the Brussels fair opening April 17, said in an interview that most foreigners—and many Americans—have no idea that the United States has such a rich store of early folk art.

"We sent a collection to the 1954 summer festival at Lucerne, Switzerland, and the people were greatly impressed," she said. "It was something totally new to them."

One of the standouts of the folk art exhibit which will be hung in the U. S. pavilion is a painting called "Minstrel Banjo Player," executed by an artist who signed his name D. Morrill. It was loaned by Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, Conn.

"MINSTREL BANJO PLAYER" is one of the paintings in folk art exhibit which will hang in U. S. pavilion at the Brussels Fair opening April 17.

ISRAEL THREAT TO JUDAISM?

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP)—Unless Israel establishes emphasis on its distinctive religious character, the Jew in Israel "will cease to be a Jew," a leading Jewish scholar told a world conference on Judaism here.

Dr. Eugene Mihaly, of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in New York, said failure of Israel to stress its Jewish religious mission would be "calamitous for Israeli Jewry" and "would threaten world Jewry itself."

NEW LUTHERAN FILM

NEW YORK (AP)—A new religious motion picture, "A Living Church," to be used in celebrating the 40th anniversary of the United Lutheran Church in America, had its premiere here recently. Produced by Louis de Rochemont Associates, which also made the film, "Martin Luther," the picture will be available for showing to the church's 4,400 congregations this fall.

PRESBYTERIAN LIFE AT MIL-LION MARK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Presbyterian Life, official magazine of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., has reached a circulation of a million. Editors said this was the largest subscription total of any official church journal in Christian history.

BUDDHIST HOLIDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Buddhists in many lands celebrate a major holiday for their faith late this month—called "O Bon." It is an occasion when the spirits of the dead are believed to return to earth for a visit, and is marked with festivities and dancing in joy over the eternity of life.

35 Million Visitors Expected at Brussels

TAKING SHAPE—The Atomium (left background), a reproduction of a steel atom magnified 150 billion times, sets the keynote for the architectural fantasies which dot the Brussels fairgrounds. In the foreground is an arm of the Belgium civil engineering pavilion. The arm will support a platform from which visitors will view a map of Belgium's engineering achievements.

BRUSSELS (U.P.)—From a sea of mud here an exciting dream of the future and a stirring record of the past is steadily taking shape as the World Fair of 1958.

Despite rains, cold and snow, the Belgian backers of this extravaganza of the atomic age say its going to be opened as advertised on April 17 by King Baudouin. It will continue until Oct. 19 and is expected to attract an estimated 35 million visitors.

FIFTY COUNTRIES, eight international organizations and various institutions of the five continents have united to exhibit the material and cultural accomplishments of 2,000 years of civilization.

But, dwarfing all else for Americans is a side show — major bids by the United States and Communism to Russia to drastically display to the world the fruits of their conflicting ways of life.

While the giants of East and West jostle for this competition, the battle by all nations taking part in this first world fair since the great exhibition in New York in 1899 is against the twin enemies of time and mud. Mud is everywhere, but it will soon be displaced by winding concrete roads lined by emerald col-

HERE'S HOW

The Black and White Of Home Decoration

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"What in the world am I going to do with a prospective husband who says he doesn't like color," asks a bride-to-be. "He likes black, and white. But that's as far as he'll go."

Why not give the man black and white? It'll be easy to sneak in accessories in your favorite bright color, once you get your decor set. The chances are the man has been living with garish colors, and he's color shy. But give him a tastefully appointed home, and he'll take his colors like a man. Women have long admired white on Hollywood screens, but knew it was prohibitive in their own homes. Now it is no longer a problem, with wonderful miracle fabrics, and new cleaning formulas.

A white rug always has been a thing of luxury, as any woman knows. But now anybody can own one. Cotton rugs may be laundered and tumble dried, nylon rugs may be cleaned with detergent and warm water on the floor, left to dry overnight; white rugs of other materials may be pre-treated to make wear and tear less. One new cleaning instrument makes the project of home cleaning a rug simple.

You shampoo the rug with cleaners, let it dry, then vacuum up the suds and dirt. White upholstery is also a joy these days. Miracle fabrics such as nylon are not weakened by mildew and do not attract moths or other insects, always a threat to fine upholstery.

Curtains may be white and sparkling, without worrying about sun rot, yellow stains, and dirt. Dacron, noted for strength and touched with gold, may lend an elegant air to windows for all its easy maintenance. Black coffee tables, end tables, room dividers and book cases add to the attractiveness of the room. Chinese lacquered pieces are popular, and lend chic styling that will go with anything from now on. Many handsome contemporary pieces are available in black.

If your home is furnished in a contemporary theme, you may like the drama of African masks against white walls. The African accent in table accessories is a handsome fillip in the black and white room.

Charming effects may be achieved on a white sofa with throw pillows of all colors perhaps chosen from a background of paintings. A painting of a French street scene, for example, may offer red, yellow, orange, magenta, green to liven up your sofa and other room accessories. Or choose one gay color throughout, using lively plants as accents, with the green of leaves, the red flower of the geranium, and the yellow of tulips lending enchantment.

There are many ways a black and white room may be accented with color. A collection of old glass — amethyst, cranberry, vaseline pressed glass — are accents that will harmonize with modern or contemporary decor. And if you can't sell your man on other colorful accents, certainly he should have no objection to paintings and plants.

WOODSY ROBOT — NEW YORK (U.P.) — The newspaper industry is experimenting with the idea of a robot capable of traveling through the woods, felling trees within its radius and bunching them in piles of cords. The Newspaper Information Committee says a small task-force of engineers is at work planning the machine. The idea is to check the mounting costs of getting trees to the paper mills.

BLACK AND WHITE—The striking contrast of black and white may be achieved with easy-to-clean white furnishings with handsome accents of bright pillows and green plants.

Mrs. A. O. Thompson Demonstrates Corsage-Making for La Madre Mia

La Madre Mia Study Club held a regular study program in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank Thursday evening with Mrs. Harold Morton and Mrs. Hershel Miller serving as hostesses.

Members answered roll call with comments on the Academy Awards and the annual out-of-town club trip was discussed. Plans were made for the group to hold a dinner and show affair in Amarillo on April 10.

Mrs. Paul Schroeter, program leader, presented Mrs. A. O. Thompson who gave an interesting program on "Corsage Making."

She told of types of corsages suitable for different occasions and demonstrated how to make corsages, flower head pieces and wristlets, advocating the use of backyard flower gardens when possible. She also demonstrated how to make ribbon and maline bows and tufts for use with corsages and in conclusion, presented the corsages

Wear Hair as You Like It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

One fact seems certain in the world of glamor: Modern hairdressers do not agree on how we should wear our hair this season.

That is good news for the woman who'd maintain her individuality in the face of fashion regimentation. We do not have to put our hair up, or let it down, or give our old worn last year's hair to the Salvation Army. It's different from our fashion world of dress, in which we are challenged to be prime, choice or third grade sheep.

So, currently, we should take advantage of the opportunity to keep our hairdressers proud of their independence. Wear the hairdo that becomes you, they say. So why not?

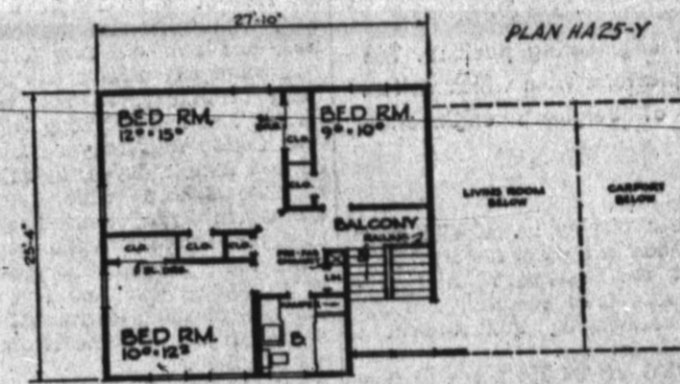

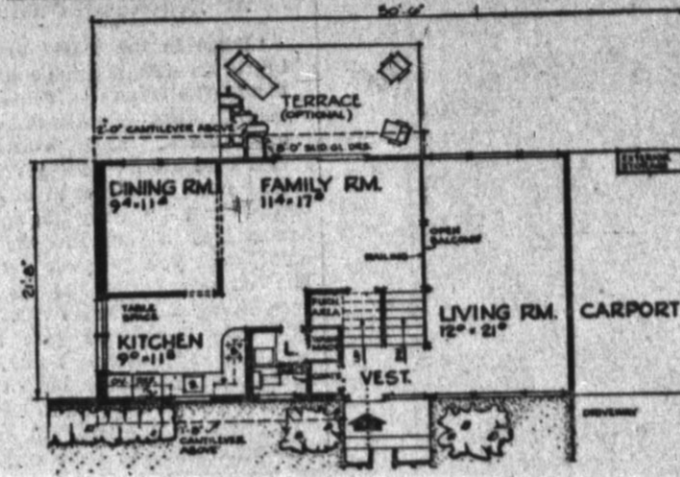

Fashionable women who'll wear the chemise but do not want the short bob might be pleased by a prediction from Albert in New York. The popular hairdresser predicts that shoulder length hair or just a little shorter will be ideal for spring. But give it some style, some shape. Don't just let it hang like wilted lettuce. Albert explains: "The smart hairdo follows a line today. There is very little curl. The hair style is based more on the shape of the face and the texture of the hair, and from this pattern the most becoming hair styles may be originated."

Albert believes also that there is more than one hair style for any woman. The trick, he says, is to find out which one suits her best.

He predicts that hair will take on color this spring, as more women go in for spring and summer colors as tops for spring and summer, with accents of the silver blonde shade. The vivid red shades are more popular than ever.

And here's a tip for older ladies: "If you want to maintain a youthful appearance, and hesitate to bleach or dye your hair as it grays," says Albert, "try tipping or highlighting your hair with colorful streaks for a wonderful, youthful look."

MSU's Athletic Rats Exercise for Science

SINK OR SWIM—Dr. Henry J. Montoya give white rats their daily forced exercise in a Michigan State University test designed to measure effects of regular exertion on the heart and other vital organs.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A study of an unusual group of "athletes" at Michigan State University may reveal important information on the effects of exercise on the heart and vital organs.

The athletes are three groups of white rats.

Group A leads a sedentary existence, sleeping, eating and generally taking life easy.

Group B exercises at will by running in whirling cages. They average between two and three miles of galloping a day, the researchers say.

Group C has a strict daily exercise routine. The rats in this group run on a treadmill or swim an hour. Small weights are attached to the swimmers to give them a real workout.

The rats will be compared as to size and growth of heart, liver, and other vital organs.

Periodically the rats are given a physical examination, complete with an electrocardiogram. After six months of this routine, endocrine glands, spleen, kidneys and other vital organs.

Dr. Henry J. Montoya, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation, heads the research staff. Of particular interest, he says, is whether the exercises result in a richer and healthier blood supply by opening more capillaries to the heart and other vital organs.

Dr. Montoya said the findings could be important in the prevention of heart diseases.

In an earlier project using human guinea pigs, Dr. Montoya found that proper exercise may help ward off heart attacks by lowering the blood cholesterol level. Cholesterol is a fat substance found in the blood.

MISS LEE, YOU MAY BE THE OWNER, BUT YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT'S SHIP-SHAPE AN' PROPER! THE MAN SHOULD OUGHTA SIGN THE CREW LIST IF'N HE'S ABOARD!

WHAT'S THIS? YOU WANT ME TO SIGN ON AS AN ORDINARY SEAMAN? THAT'S AN INSULT—IT'S LOWER THAN BEING THE SHIP'S CAT! YOU GOTTA DO BETTER THAN THAT OR I WON'T SIGN!

WHO ARE YOU TO--

HOLD IT, GRAN'PA! I MAY LOOK LIKE A BUM NOW, BUT I'M STILL J.K. FLING—THE MAN WHO MADE MILLIONS, AND I'LL MAKE 'EM AGAIN, I--

OH—EVERYBODY LOOK—IT'S POLICEMEN COMIN' DOWN THE DOCK!!

POLICE OFFICERS—WE'RE ROUNDING UP ALL WATERFRONT CHARACTERS WITHOUT VISIBLE MEANS OF SUPPORT—HAVE YOU BEEN TROUBLED?

WHERE'S THAT PEN???

WELL—THAT'S HARD TO SAY—COME ABOARD AND LOOK AROUND FOR YOURSELVES, GENTLEMEN!

WHO'S THAT?

YOU MEAN WHAT'S THAT? THAT'S AN ORDINARY SEAMAN, A LOWER FORM OF MARINE LIFE, AND ORDINARY SEAMAN FLING IS EVEN MORE ORDINARY THAN MOST!!

HEH! HEH!

New Ships Help Track ICBM Missiles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has bridged the final gap in its 5,000-mile missile test range stretching from Florida across the Equator into the South Atlantic.

With the commissioning of five more ships as floating telemetry stations, the Air Force now stands ready to begin flight testing of intercontinental ballistic missiles over their full 5,000-mile range.

The first ICBM, the Atlas, has been flown successfully twice, but only for distances of about 600 miles.

Testing over ranges of increasing length will begin soon and will be followed late this year by the flight tests of a second greatly improved ICBM, the Titan. For the first 2,000 miles of its missile range, the Air Force maintains a series of island-based radio and radar tracking stations — from Grand Bahama to St. Lucia.

Now installed on the second 3,000-mile leg between St. Lucia and Ascension are 11 ships, packed with radio receiving and recording equipment to gather and relay data transmitted by missiles under test. The six smaller ships of the force (32-foot beam, 178-foot length) have been operating since last fall in support of the Snark testing program. Five 340-foot 3,000-ton vessels have just arrived for duty on the ICBM

Here's The Answer

Question: I have just finished the construction of an attic room except for the trim. I would like to add shoe moulding to give it a professional appearance. Should the moulding be nailed to the baseboard or to the floor?

Answer: Shoe moulding is quarter-round moulding — a strip of wood with 2 flat sides at right angles to each other, so that one side fits against the baseboard, the other against the floor. This type of moulding is sometimes nailed to the floor and sometimes to the baseboard. But it now is generally believed that the right way to nail it is at an angle, so that the nail goes right between the floor and the baseboard. In that way, the nail penetrates the subfloor and holds the moulding tightly in place. This prevents any cracks if either the baseboard or the upper floor shrinks. You've probably often seen a small space between the floor and the shoe moulding. That takes place when the moulding has been nailed to the baseboard. If the space is between the moulding and the baseboard, the moulding was nailed to the floor.

Question: I intend to paint the outside of our house soon, but I have had no experience with long outside ladders. How far from the house should the bottom of the ladder be for complete safety?

Answer: The matter of safety depends on other things besides the position of the ladder, although that factor is important. For the best balance, the distance from the base of the ladder to the bottom of the house should be about one-fourth the height of the ladder. For instance, with a 20-foot ladder, the distance would be 5 feet. Some other safety tips are: after the ladder is in position, stand on the bottom rung and spring on it a few times to test its solidity; get one of the new gadgets that fit on the feet of the ladder to keep it steady on uncertain ground; when on the ladder, never reach out more than an arm's length; and never paint a ladder, because the paint will hide any future defects.

Question: Can you give me some information on how to select hacksaw blades? Usually when I go to a hardware store to buy a blade, I get one that I see on the counter that happens to strike my fancy. I know this is wrong and that it probably accounts for the trouble I have sometimes in cutting tough metal.

Answer: If you do much metal-cutting, it's a good idea to have several kinds of hacksaw blades on hand. The general principle is that a fine-toothed blade should be used for cutting tubing and thin stock, a coarse-toothed blade for cutting thick stock. Hacksaw blades have so many teeth per inch. Therefore, for cutting sheet metal and tubing, you would use a blade with 32 teeth per inch. For thick stock, it would be a blade with 14 teeth per inch. And there are other teeth sizes in between. To insure good results, use light pressure when sawing with a fine-toothed blade, heavy pressure with a coarse-toothed blade. And always remember that a hacksaw blade cuts only on the forward stroke, which means that the blade should be lifted the tiniest bit from the work on the return stroke.

At impact end of the range. Because of their most conspicuous feature — two rounded white radomes in either wing of the flying bridge — the ships have been dubbed "Marilyn Monroes."

The telemetry stations, afloat and island-based, are all operated under Air Force contract by Pan American World Airways Directly in charge of the Air Force tracking fleet is F. Erich Bruhn, manager of Pan American's marine department. A retired Army colonel, he is an engineering graduate of the Colorado School of Mines.

Radio Corp. of America handles all the telemetry and other electronic technical work of the missile test range and has six technicians abroad each of the ships.

Replacement value of the 11 ships is estimated at 32 million dollars. Modifying them for their special function alone cost about seven million. The six smaller vessels are air conditioned throughout to protect the delicate instruments. The five larger ones are partially air conditioned.

The ships are based at Trinidad and Recife, Brazil, and move anywhere from 500 to 1,200 miles from their home ports to take up stations for a missile shoot.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I mend broken glass?

A. Purchase about ten cents worth of water glass from any drug store, and paint the broken edges of the glass, using a small, soft brush. The mended portion will not show.

Q. How can I give the impression of extra width and height to a small window?

A. By setting the curtain rods beyond the casing at top and sides, and then using material heavy enough that the casement cannot be seen.

Q. How can I soften shoes after being in the rain?

A. By first washing them in warm water, then rubbing either glycerin or castor oil thoroughly into the leather.

Q. How can I prevent starch from blowing out of drying clothes?

A. Add a little salt to the starch and it will prevent the starch from being blown out of the clothes when drying them on a windy day.

Q. How can I remove rust from steel?

A. Rub with linseed oil and allow it to soak for several days. Wipe off, then polish with powdered, unslacked lime until the rust is loosened.

Q. How can I retain the flavor of spices?

A. Always keep spices in tightly-closed cans or boxes, as they will quickly lose their flavors if left in open receptacles.

Q. How can I repair a broken place in the plastered wall?

A. By applying a thick paste made of two parts of sand, two parts of sifted coal ashes, and one part of white flour, adding enough water to get the proper consistency.

Q. How can I prevent the ribs of umbrellas from rusting?

A. Rub a little petroleum jelly on the ribs of the umbrella about once a month. This will prevent rust from loosening and forcing out the small wires.

Q. How can I clean gold and silver articles?
A. By dipping a wet cloth into cigar ashes and scouring.
Q. How can I make sash cords last longer?
A. Before installing the new sash cords, soak them in boiled linseed oil, then allow them to dry thoroughly, and they will last indefinitely.

Q. How can I clean the soiled leaves of house plants?
A. By applying equal parts of milk and warm water. Use a sponge, and rub gently to prevent breaking the leaves.

LUTHERAN MERGER
NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations toward the merger of major Lutheran groups in Japan may be completed by 1959, a Japanese church leader says.

Dr. Chitose Kishi said the new body would unite the 8,388-member Japan Evangelical Lutheran Church, of which he is president, with churches that came into existence through missionary efforts since World War II.

J. D. DRIVE
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Notable success in combating juvenile delinquency has been reported by the Rev. R. Edward Dowdy, chairman of the Court and Probation Committee of the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis.

Since the committee's juvenile referral plan was launched in 1946, he said, the names of some 80 per cent of the youngsters it has guided have not appeared on police records a second time.

The Federation also operates a camp for "difficult" youngsters.

Beauty at Home
By Lynn Carter

Q. What sort of foundation makeup should the mature woman use?

A. One that is light in weight and applied very sparingly. The heavy bases line the sides of wrinkles, forming cracks that make them more noticeable. Top with a finishing powder and brush it away.

Q. How can I cleanse my skin thoroughly without using soap and water?

A. After wetting a piece of cotton in cold water, squeeze it almost dry, then moisten it with a tonic of witch hazel diluted with a little toilet water; dip into cold cream, and apply this to the skin, rubbing upward and outward.

Q. What is the cause of and corrective for a coarse skin texture?

A. Many women who have a coarse skin texture tend to treat their complexions too gently. A coarse skin is the result of too little exercise both for the skin and body. To correct this condition, one must stimulate the skin well, through firm hand massages and by exercise of the body daily until it perspires freely.

Q. What treatment will help to remove whiteheads from the skin?

A. Try applying a thick paste of fuller's earth and witch hazel, wrapping some gauze over this to keep it in place. After a few minutes, wash off with cool water.

Q. What can I do when my eyes have been strained by working, shopping, or driving?

A. Lie down after bathing the eyes and place some soothing eye pads over them. Relax completely and think only of the color black. Rest is a great eye beautifier.

Q. Please suggest a good waist-slimming exercise.

A. Lie flat on floor on your back, palms flat on floor next to hips. Now, with knees stiff, toes pointed, heels together, bring both legs straight up and over the head, making an effort to touch the floor behind the head with the toes. Slowly bring the legs back down to original position, and keep repeating.

Q. What can I do about perspiration stains on one of my unwashable dresses?

A. Sometimes these will yield only to dry cleaning. But first try sprinkling some cornstarch on the affected areas, then brushing it off after it has dried.

Q. What is a good home remedy for getting rid of warts?

A. Your best, quickest, and SAFEST solution is to take them to your doctor, who can get rid of them promptly with acid, X-ray, or electrotherapy. A wart on the sole of the foot demands immediate attention, because it can become deeply imbedded and very painful if neglected.

Q. How can I bring unruly hair under control after a shampoo?

A. A brisk brushing and a good scalp massage should encourage the flow of natural oils into the scalp that within an hour's time after the hair is dry, it should be manageable.

Q. Please suggest a good emergency treatment for bringing life back to a pale and wan-looking face.

A. Try pouring a few drops of cologne over a piece of gauze and patting this lightly over the face — and this should help revitalize your skin. A bath of tepid water, without soap, followed by a dash of cold water, also helps to recall the color to your face.

French Fashions Suggest Sputnik

HAREM SKIRT — This bloused chemise designed by Pierre Cardin is made of a pale blue diagonal weave wool with new harem-type skirt rounded and turned under at the hemline.

SUIT DRESS—This street dress has the look of a suit, with simulated tunic length jacket cut out in front. Designed by Guy Laroche, it has a low-placed belt joining the sides of the jacket, a low neckline and shawl collar, filled in with a yoke. Fabric is a fine worsted Glen check.

TRAPEZE LINE—This is the new silhouette which was introduced in Paris by the young successor to Christian Dior, Yves Saint-Laurent. Short double-breasted jacket and flared short skirt form a pyramid line from shoulders to hem. The fabric is wool check.

PARIS — There'll always be a France, as far as fashion goes.

Paris dress designers have always been good at producing something new, but this season they have outdone themselves. Some of the new silhouettes are so out-of-this world that they hint at outer space travel costumes. Maybe they were inspired by the Sputniks.

One American buyer complained, "The silhouettes make all the news this time; they haven't even bothered to use new materials." But the buyers were wildly enthusiastic about the debut collection of young Yves Saint-Laurent. This 21-year-old heir to Christian Dior produced, with his blimp-like "trapeze" line, a loud affirmative answer to those who asked, "Will French fashions still be French fashions without Dior?"

Leading colors of the season are: string beige, blue (from sky to navy), orange pinks, yellow, grey, and — surprisingly — a lot of black for after-dark. Chiffons, laces and organzas are equally popular for dressy-summery styles.

Leading question of the season: Are those shapes sacks, or have they turned into something else? The big store buyers would like to have you think otherwise, but essentially they're still sacks, whether you call them chemises (as the buyers do), trapezes (Dior), spoons (Heim), scythes (Cardin) tubes (Balmain and Chanel), baby dolls (Griffe and Maggy Rouff) or the forward line (dresses).

That is, they're still sacks if you accept the definition of a sack as anything without a real waistline. Only Lanvin brought out models which admit that women have middles in the middle. It isn't a pretty-printy spring, as women might expect for spring. The designers seem reluctant to do anything that might detract interest from the silhouette. The season's hemline flirts with the knee — now you see it, now you don't. Mostly, skirts afford the kneecap a bare coverage, but sometimes they cut it halfway. Evening gowns are often bare topped, and either ankle-length or floor-length and trained. Some are up to the knee in front, down to the floor behind.

Some décolletage is deeply daring — a French newspaper described one Saint Laurent (Dior) neckline as "a V to the navel," and hardly exaggerated the matter. All in all, the fashion editors found plenty to write about, and the photographers plenty of novelty angles. The mood of pessimism which fell on the Paris fashion world when Dior died was dissipated. Said an American manufacturer:

"I predict that next season will see this place swarming with buyers."

CLERICAL CLICHE

NEW YORK — Church congregations demand a "grinding adherence to convention" by their clergyman, says the Rev. James B. Moore, a Methodist minister of Alliance, Ohio. Writing in Harper's magazine, he says many protestants have a ludicrous idea of what clergymen are supposed to be.

"It may be a mixture of puritan piety, Victorian prudery and the pious moralism of the American middle west, but wherever it came from it casts the Protestant minister in America in a role which succeeds not in spiritualizing but only in dehumanizing him."

CHURCH COLLEGES

LAKE JUNALUSKA — The success of church-related colleges depends on their excellence as educational institutions, says Dr. Henry T. Heald, president of the Ford Foundation. He told a conference of trustees of church colleges that the Christian role of these institutions is "best fulfilled by forward-looking educational management."

Teachers Attend Amarillo Meeting

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shelton and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins attended the Teacher's Meeting of District 4 in Amarillo Friday, March 14. The theme, "Education an Investment in the Future," was emphasized by both of the speakers for the morning. Speakers were Dr. Frank O. McIntyre of Los Angeles, Calif., and Dr. George S. Benson of Searcy, Ark.

The T. L. Collins family drove to Fritch to get Mrs. Leonard Pittman, Kathy, Sherri and Terrell. Together they went on to Perryton to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Collins, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rader and daughter, Mrs. J. M. Payne of Hereford, made a business trip to Lubbock Friday. They made a hurried visit in the Grover Durham home on their return trip. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henderson and boys were in Levelland visiting relatives over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bomar, Don and Wayne went to House, N. M., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whorton, who accompanied the Bomar family back home for several days visit.

Allice Myers was eight years old Wednesday, March 19. The J. T. Tice family visited in her home that evening. Sharon Tice spent the night with Allice to help celebrate her birthday.

Walcott continues to have wet, cloudy, foggy weather. Snow covered the ground last Sunday morning, but by noon it was melted and quite muddy. Because of muddy roads, school was dismissed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins attended the Wednesday night meeting at Hereford's First Methodist Church. It was the Annual Meeting of Northwest Texas Conference of Women's Society of Christian Service.

Friday, March 21, was an extra busy day at Walcott School. Besides usual studies, it was the birthday of principal Thomas L. Collins. A group of students sang "Happy Birthday" as he came in the lunch room.

A party was held in the auditorium Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Eldred Brown as the hostess. Several of the ladies of the community attended.

Dr. H. A. Cavness, dentist from Hereford and his nurse came out to Walcott to check each child's teeth Friday afternoon just before school was out.

Final work on some Easter decorations was done by the children Friday. They are for the American Junior Red Cross to use in a children's hospital for Easter. Mrs. Waldron Melton took these to a Hereford representative after the display Friday night at the P-TA meeting.

Mrs. Norman Minks presided over the P-TA meeting Friday night in the absence of the president, Mrs. N. E. Tyler. Mrs. Waldron Melton, secretary, read minutes of the last meeting. These were approved by the group. Mrs. G. V. Hall, treasurer, showed a balance on hand to be the same as before.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Buse both gave public "thank you's" for food, flowers, cards, visits and etc. which were given them during her illness. The principal, Thomas L. Collins, read Wes Izzard's column in the Amarillo Daily News Wednesday.

Wednesday, March 19. It concerned Walcott's first and second graders. He commented on how well they were being taught handwriting by their teacher, Mrs. A. L. Shelton.

The seventh and eighth grade pupils had the program for the evening. It consisted of monologues. On the program were Sue Lockhart, Kathryn Burrus, James Burrus, Grady Cates, Johnny Buse, Adair Melton, Clyde Lockhart, John Ferrin, Dianne Jack, Bonnie Buse, Geneva Cates and Gay Wylie.

Refreshments were served and a film entitled "10,000 Feet Deep" was shown.

A. L. Shelton, Walcott's coach, announced that the Vega Tournament would be held Monday afternoon with Vega, Adrian and Walcott playing volleyball. Both the boys and girls will play.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Melton, Adair and Denise, visited in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cogdell, Monday evening. Her mother, Mrs. E. D. Fox of Amarillo, was also visiting there. Mr. and Mrs. Claud Beckett of Greensburg, Kan., arrived Friday evening to visit with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Minks, Nancy, Mary and Larry.

DUCKING THE ISSUE — On page 10 of a Cheyenne newspaper appeared a letter to the editor wondering what happened to the flock of 27 ducks which stayed in a lake at the city park all summer.

On page 12, under the heading "Today's Recipe," was the selection "Danish Wild Duck with Sotolon Cream," the Mayor's Favorite, contributed by Mrs. Val S. Christensen, the mayor's wife.

The mayor was quick to explain. He said the ducks had been moved to warmer quarters for the winter — not to the Christensen dinner table.

COSTLY WHALE — LAKE VANCOUVER, B. C. — Lt. Anderson accidentally caught whale in his gillnet while fishing off Prince Royal Island. The whale began towing the boat out to sea. Anderson had to hack off the $80 net.

Smart Globe-Trotters Wear Jersey

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Sun-seeking travelers are wearing jersey this year. Travel and vacation wardrobes for both men and women are strong on this packable, wrinkle-erasing fabric which appears nowadays in washable drip-dry versions and with water-repellent finishes.

New weaves also add interest to an old favorite. Many of the new jerseys look like tweeds and other woven fabrics. A herringbone pattern is notable in this group.

There are also imported bulky jerseys that look like hand-knits, and others that appear to be hand-socketed.

Travel suits may be had in pin-stripes or other patterns which look like worsted, but have all the light-weight comfort and practical virtues of jersey.

The male contingent also has discovered jersey more than the female. In addition to the familiar sports shirts, wool jersey appears nowadays in sports coats, blazers, waistcoats, walking shorts and even slacks.

The new jerseys come in many yarns, newest of which is a blend of orlon and wool which can be washed and allowed to drip dry. It holds its shape, dries quickly and can be worn without ironing. Cotton knits also are being used in many high-style versions, featuring tones of melon, aqua and blue with white.

TRAVEL SUIT—Textured oatmeal silk-and-wool jersey by I. A. Wyner makes a smart suit that looks like tweed.

SOLID COMFORT—Blazer, shirt and slacks are all of wool jersey in coordinated tones, designed by Alexander Shields, who believes in male comfort.

GLOBE-TROTTER—Travel coat in navy or red wool jersey by I. A. Wyner has easy lines, snug collar, plenty of pockets, brass buttons and an air of distinction.

Makeup Outlook Peachy

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

THE GLAMOUR LOOK for spring may be real peachy. Way back when Mom was a girl it was considered a compliment to be called "Peaches." A girl earned this title because her complexion was "school girl" or "peaches-and-cream," different from the heavily rouged face that was the alternative to this look of natural beauty.

AM, SPRING—A wild peach lipstick is ideal for peaches 'n' cream complexion.

Well, that look is on the way back, peach-smooth, considered a handsome accent with the important new fashion colors — greens, blues and all the sun-splashed hues.

'Tis said the peach look should flatter the fair or olive types, blonde, brunette, red-or-gray-haired. It's as flattering to matrons as the sweet-16 group.

The basis of this look is a sparkling clean, dewy-fresh skin, say the beauty seers. Over that you use a powder base in a peach glow, one that has a moisture foundation to lend a youthful sheen. Liven the effect with golden red rouge.

The new wild peach shade of lipstick is flattering to the peaches-and-cream look. If you wear eye-shadow, iridescent turquoise, green or blue tones should enhance the peachy look.

Young girls may go all out with a makeup of this sort, employing all the tricks of the season to achieve glamour. But while the makeup is suited, and flattering, to older women, it should be applied with different technique.

Older women should use the foundation cream sparingly, blotting it after the application. The rouge should be applied very lightly, and rubbed in until it fades into the complexion. The powder should be applied lightly too, so that it does not give a layer-upon-layer makeup. Lipstick should be blotted until it fades into the lips leaving just the right amount of color.

The point to keep in mind when using lighter makeup is that the success is in the application. You can make a multitude of errors with darker makeups, and no one may be the wiser, but lighter makeup can emphasize glaring imperfections in your technique. The results may be clown-like in appearance.

HOLIDAYS AROUND THE WORLD

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP) — At least one city in the United States takes note of the many special holidays celebrated throughout the world.

A Janesville pen company flies the flags of 85 countries on the various special days along its "path of nations" here.

The firm notes the Union of South Africa's Van Riebeeck Day (Apr. 16), for instance, and Japan's adult Day (Jan. 15), Burma's Martyr's Day (July 19), and Southern Rhodesia's Boxing Day (Dec. 26).

A FAMILY planning to build a new home starts out with a bundle of dreams. Helping to make these dreams become a reality is the day-to-day job of a trained professional man, the architect.

get the best possible home for your money. And, remember, that buying a home is likely to be the largest single investment of your lifetime.

When should an architect be consulted? What service does he give? What does it cost to employ an architect?

First, remember that an architect does much more than provide you with a pretty sketch of your home. Ideally, he should be consulted even before you choose the site.
An architect is trained to see the hidden liabilities of some lots and to detect the assets of other lots which in some cases may possibly be available for less money.
Giorgio Cavaglieri, chairman of the house consulting committee of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Architects, says an architect should be chosen with care. You should like an architect personally as well as his work. Cavaglieri says, "because mutual respect is essential between an architect and his client."

OUTLINING THE role of the architect, Cavaglieri's committee makes these points:
The architect should know what you can afford to spend. In this way he can help you to get the best home for your money.
Because no two families are alike, the architect must study your way of living, your hobbies and special needs. This helps him in preliminary drawings showing the size and arrangement of rooms and the general characteristics of your home.
Once these plans are approved, he starts final working drawings. He suggests and selects building materials, plumbing fixtures, the heating plant and all the myriad of items that go into a home. His specifications include not only all these items but exact instructions as well on their installation.

The architect assists in getting bids from contractors and supervising the work of the contractor selected for the job. The architect visits the site during construction to make sure the house is built according to specifications.
What does an architect charge? His fee is a percentage of the cost of the house. In metropolitan areas, the fee ranges from 10 to 12 per cent of the cost of the house. The fee may be lower in other areas.

ALL OF HIS services, from selecting the site to designing the house, from helping choose a builder to supervising the actual construction, are included in the fee.
An architect gives you a house with no waste space because it's tailored to your special needs. The house is built of the best materials, used in the right way. A house planned by an architect usually is appraised at a higher value by lending agencies and it usually has a higher resale value.

Most important of all, Cavaglieri says, is the "preventive medicine" built into a home by an architect. The basement of an architect-designed house doesn't flood. The building is properly insulated. Maintenance costs are low because the architect has selected quality materials that give long service. Architects would like to design and plan individually all homes built in America. Low-cost development houses, however, cannot be built on an individual basis. But if you buy in a development, many architects offer their services on an hourly fee basis to look over the plans and make certain that you get the best house for your money.

Expert Says 'Chauffeur' Mother Hinders Her Child's Development

KANSAS CITY (AP)—When mother piles the children into the car and drives them four blocks to school she isn't doing them any favor.

That's the warning of Dr. Patrick Ruth O'Keefe, president-elect of the American Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and director of the physical education program in Kansas City, Mo., public schools. "Muscles are essential to life," she says, adding that there is growing evidence American children are not developing enough of them. In one survey, nearly 60 per cent of a group of American children aged 6 to 16 failed a test of physical strength that all but 8.7 per cent of a similar group of Europeans passed.

"Americans must really fight against softness and fight for strength. The 'good old days' are not coming back. Automation is here to stay," Dr. O'Keefe asserts. "But we can do something about it and I have faith we will."

Backyard playgrounds are one answer. But Dr. O'Keefe quickly adds:

"If it has only one piece of equipment, this should be a climbing apparatus, with poles and ladders. Not swings and teeter-totters, which are fun but contribute little to development of the body."

It isn't necessary to have a lot of fancy expensive equipment to provide exercise. A hoop on the garage for basketball or a clothesline which serves as a volleyball or badminton net often are all the encouragement children need.

And Dr. O'Keefe points out that the single best activity for developing youthful stamina still is jumping rope.

"Thirty seconds is the length of time it takes most children to tire while jumping rope — but if they can do it for one minute, that's stamina."

Physical education must not be considered just a school program, Dr. O'Keefe insists. The children need exercise after school, weekends and in vacation periods.

If parents could only have less fears, about their children; let them encounter more difficult situations so they'll be able to meet larger ones when they grow older.

"If mother doesn't want her child to walk to school alone, it would really do her a lot of good to walk with her," Dr. O'Keefe says.

THE PUNY ONE

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Helen Colvin, secretary of the Terre Haute Boys' Club, reports this conversation with an 8-year-old and her 5-year-old brother:

"He's a nice little boy," Miss Colvin told the girl.

"Yes, but he's sick," replied the little lass.

"I am not sick," the boy said.

"He is too sick," his sister shot back, "because every time I hit him his nose bleeds."

DEAD DOG

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Shane," their St. Bernard dog mascot, is not as dead as he sometimes appears, Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity members at Ohio State University say. He just likes to sleep on his back with all four paws up in the air.

Thirty of the 48 United States have an annual snowfall of from 40 to 140 inches.

Decorate Around AirConditioner

AP Newsfeatures

IF YOU PLAN to dress up a window that will house an air conditioner, better take the decorating effect into consideration when planning the new look of your window.

You don't want to splurge on expensive draperies that will be out of step with the bulge created by your air conditioner. And you don't want to risk using a design pattern that will not lend a softening effect to the mechanical gadget at the window.

Air conditioners are, of course, smaller than before. New thin types, just 13 inches deep, may be installed by the man of the house with a screw driver and saw in about 30 minutes. But you must still allow for even that small protuberance.

A tailored effect at the window seems to minimize the bulk created by the machine. The new no-iron broadcloth cafe curtains hung in tiers give a decorative look without sacrificing charm. Avoid using curtains or draperies that must be pulled clear across the area.

Window shades may be used above the conditioner so that light may be let in and shut out at will, without disturbing your cafe curtains. Fold-wood window shades, similar to the kind that grandma used on the veranda, lend a chic effect, without closing out light completely.

Other designer window shades in tweedy patterns and nubby, silken textures are available to enliven this area, without over-whelming it.

There are interesting shade pulls, too — wooden and brass rings and crystal prisms. A valance of swagged material or an interesting cornice may create a focal point of interest at the window. If two windows close together harbor just one air conditioner, frame each window in its own draperies to reduce distortion.

If the lower sill of an unobstructed window is deep enough, use it to display an interesting collection of accessories in a variety of shapes and heights to help balance the windows. Glass decanters and other lightly scaled articles are good choices. Trailing ivy plants are always a pleasant filip to a room.

More decorating skill is required to decorate around an air conditioning unit used in the living area, which is the more elegant part of the house.

The dining area, where the machine is popular because of the need for cool air at eating time, requires less imagination at a window, and the tailored look may offer the answer.

SEES REFORM JEWS IN MAJORITY

NEW YORK (AP)—"Reform Judaism is on the threshold of becoming the majority faith of American and Canadian Jews," says Solomon Elmer of Hartford, Conn., chairman of the board of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the reform branch of U. S. Judaism. The other two branches are Conservative and Orthodox Judaism.

RELIGION BY SENSATION

CHICAGO (AP)—Religious movements communicate their ideas in the language of sensation, Dr. Ira A. De Augustine Reid, sociology professor at Haverford, Pa., college, told a Disciples of Christ executive meeting here.

By the "light of symbols of religion," he said, believers "enter into darkness of social problems. The symbols are not the knowledge of reason. They are those of belief. The symbols tell us nothing, but they inspire and inspire us. We believe in them at our own risks. We know this and we are not afraid."

RECEIVES RELIGIOUS CITATION

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Chicago Artist Warner Sallman has received a citation from The Upper Room, international devotion al guide, for contribution to world Christian fellowship.

Sallman painted the widely known "Head of Christ." The Rev. Dr. J. Manning Potts, editor of The Upper Room, said more than 60 million reproductions of the work have been sold in many lands.

The Upper Room is published by the Methodist General Board of Evangelism.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Frank E. Johnston of Hartford, Conn., has been elected associate budget advisor of the American Baptist Convention.

Rev. Johnston, minister of administration at Central Baptist Church in Hartford, will work closely with Dr. Henry R. Bowler, the budget advisor in preparing the Convention's 1959 unified budget.

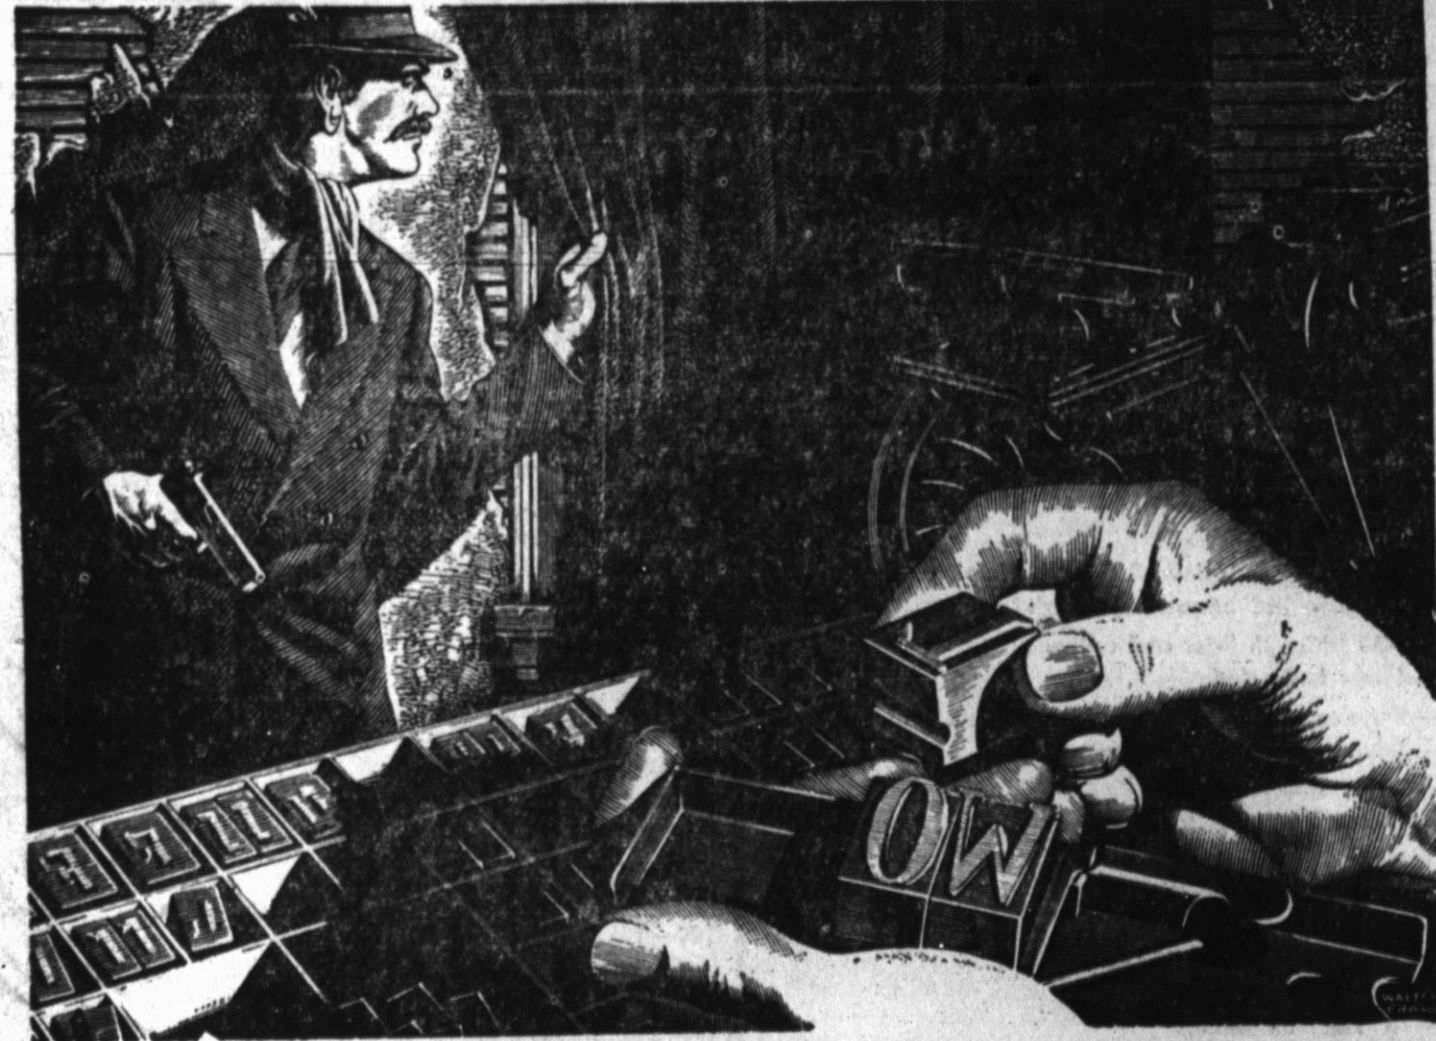

ADVENTIST WELFARE DRIVE

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Plans for a year-long social welfare drive by 75,000 Seventh-Day Adventist youths in communities across the country were formed at a church youth conference here.

The community programs, including surveys to determine what youth can do for the deaf, blind, elderly, shut-ins and others, will begin Jan. 1, 1958. Part of the aim is to channel young people into useful activity.

Freedom of the Press, Here and Now

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact it cannot be killed — not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store.  To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.
