Congress Ready To Look at Gas Bill

Labor Day Disastrous For Some

By The Associated Press

Death and fear were unwelcome visitors at Labor Day festivities in two states, as the nation marked the traditional end of summer with a long weekend of parades, picnics and time at the beach.

Seven people died and 19 others were injured in Derry, Pa., when a helicopter plunged into a concession stand at a church festival after swooping low to drop pingpong balls bearing prize numbers.

The whirling helicopter blades left a scene of blood and severed bodies in the parking lot of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

All three occupants of the helicopter survived: pilot Pam Nelson; church janitor Leo Allison; and Allison's daughter, Mary Beth, 12.

But on the ground, Mary Allison, the janitor's wife and Mary Beth's mother, was in the helicopter's path. She

Come On in, the Water's Fine...for Now

It's possible that these boaters and hundreds of other water enthusiasts who spent Labor Day at Buffalo Lake may have to look elsewhere for a recreation site soon. Judge Halbert O. Woodward of Lubbock is expected to rule this week on whether the lake should be drained or the water in it should remain. The U.S. Department of the Interior wants the lake drained because it says that a flood situation could occur during a heavy rain.

Judge Woodward Decision Due Soon on Buffalo Lake's Fate

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward of Lubbock, who holds the fate of rejuvenated Buffalo Lake in his hands, may rule tomorrow on whether the impoundment should be drained of water accumulated during flooding May 26.

Judge Woodward has heard testimony on two occasions from officials of the Department of the Interior, who want the lake drained, and from members of the Buffalo Lake Survival Committee, who want no further draining of the impoundment.

Interior officials ordered draining of the lake to begin on August 22, citing unsafe conditions at the Buffalo spillway as their reason for the move.

Water was drained from the 6,000 acre-ft. lake at a rate of 30 acre-ft. per day until Aug. 29, when Judge Woodward issued a restraining order to halt the draining after a suit was brought by the lake survival committee.

After both parties presented testimony in a hearing in Lubbock on Friday, Judge Woodward opted to delay the granting or rejecting of a temporary injunction until sometime this week, with the temporary restraining order remaining in effect.

The judge stopped the draining of the lake based on the provision that it would be resumed if heavy rains threatened to endanger the spillway at the impoundment.

The immediate lake area received some replenishing rains during the long weekend, with up to three inches of rain falling there.

The rains failed to make the Tierra Blanca Creek, the lake's main watershed, flow, however, and presented no danger of running water over the spillway.

Judge Woodward was originally expected to issue his final decision on the lake draining on Monday, but did not do so due to the holiday.

Reports late Monday indicated that Woodward probably will not rule on the lake today, and may not do so on Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration's lobbying effort for passage of the natural gas bill has become a hard, uphill climb.

In the past week businessmen, bankers, farmers and governors have shuttled through the White House for meetings with President Carter, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger, Federal Reserve Board Chairman G. William Miller, Special Trade Representative Robert S. Strauss, Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Carter's chief domestic adviser, Stuart Eizenstat.

And Schlesinger and his aides have contacted members of Congress still in Washington and telephoned some who left town during the pre-Labor Day recess. Congress returns today.

White House and Energy Department coordinators interviewed about the results say cautiously that the contacts have at least made listeners reconsider their feelings about the bill. They do not claim any wave of immediate converts.

"We have had a few converts," Landon Butler, deputy to presidential assistant Hamilton Jordan, said in an interview. "But generally they say: You've made us think about this."

The compromise measure, which took House-Senate negotiators more than eight months to assemble, would lift price controls on recently discovered natural gas by 1985.

Senate leaders expect to bring it up next week. A filibuster is considered possible, although opponents are hoping to kill the measure with a motion to replace it with a short bill simply giving the president emergency powers to deal with natural gas shortages.

An Associated Press survey found one-third of the Senate undecided on the compromise measure and the other two-thirds almost evenly split for and against, but including a lot of "leaners."

The administration strategy has emphasized three main themes: correcting what the administration sees as widespread misinformation about the bill and its effects; pleading a need for such legislation to strengthen the international value of the dollar; and contending that if this bill fails, Congress is unlikely to pass another one soon.

Legislators Return To Face Showdowns

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is returning from its Labor Day recess to face showdowns on natural gas deregulation and on a $2 billion nuclear powered aircraft carrier President Carter does not want built.

Both issues pose crucial tests for the president's policies and his ability to deal with Congress.

Senators coming back to town are sure to find themselves heavily lobbied on the gas-pricing bill, both from the administration, which supports it, and from opponents. Most of the opposition is coming from consumer groups and some segments of the oil and gas industry.

A large group of undecided senators still appears to be the key to the measure that took more than eight months for House-Senate negotiators to work out - and both camps are out to win over these wavering members.

Senate leaders hope to begin debating the bill on Thursday - although there remains a chance that action will be put over until the following week.

The White House is depicting the legislation - which would remove large quantities of natural gas from federal price controls by 1985 - as critical to the success of Carter's long-stalled energy program and to U.S. prestige abroad.

It is being opposed by an unusual coalition of Senate liberals who see it as too costly to consumers and conservatives who do not think it would deregulate enough gas.

Once the bill is brought up, opponents plan to offer a motion to recommmit it

T.J. PARSONS
Area Farmer Dies; Services Today

Services for a longtime area farmer, T.J. "Buck" Parsons, 68, of 321 Star St. are being conducted at 2 p.m. today in First United Methodist Church. Officiating will be the Rev. William McReynolds, minister, and the Rev. Rob Ferrier, a Lubbock minister.

Burial will follow in Restlawn Memorial Park under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Born in Van Zandt County Sept. 15, 1909, Mr. Parsons married Helen Stephenson Oct. 15, 1932 at Claude. The couple came here in 1939 from Claude.

He was a longtime member of First United Methodist Church.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, Lloyd of Lubbock and Don of Garland two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Evans of Clifton and Mrs. Doris Cory of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Maude Talley of Plainview and Mrs. Pauline Johnson of Amarillo; and eight grandchildren.

United Way, Agencies Set Discussion

This year's Deaf Smith County United Fund Inc. campaign will be the topic of discussion during a meeting of United Way officials and representatives of participating agencies at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Members of the United Way executive committee and budget and admissions committee have been asked, along with at least two representatives of each participating agency, to attend the meeting by UW president Paul Sims.

"The purpose of the meeting is to explain changes in the United Way format, to go over United Way by-laws with the agencies, and to answer questions the agencies might have," said Sims, who is on the executive committee along with vice president Mal Manchee and Lupe Cerda, secretary Howard Birdwell and treasurer Helen Rose.

Sims said that agency board members wishing to submit budget requests may do so at the meeting.

The United Way board last week voted to give participating agencies consent to hold fund drives only if money raised in the campaigns is placed in the UW general fund.

"We're not encouraging fund drives," Sims said. "The United Way is just seeking to have a more unified effort this year and spare people the burden of so many different drives."

The United Way kickoff date is Oct. 11.

Annual Crops Tour Slated for Wednesday

The annual Deaf Smith County Crops Tour will get underway at 1 p.m. tomorrow, presenting local farmers and businessmen an opportunity for a first-hand look at the latest crop culture and pest control practices in area agriculture.

The tour will form at the parking lot of the county museum. Those tour members without rides will be able to board a bus there for the afternoon of farm visits.

Stops on the tour will include the Clark and Joe Andrews farms, the Charles and Ray Schlabs farms, the Bill Walden farm and the Jerry Roberts farm.

This year's tour will focus on current information pertaining to disease and insect control in local crops. The latest practices in irrigation will be examined and a look at alternate cropping will also be featured.

Among Extension service personnel who will make comments on the tour will be Leon New, Dr. Carl Patrick, Dr. Frank Petr and Dr. Robert Berry.

Dr. Steve Winter of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland and Calvin Jones, agricultural manager at the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford-plant will also be featured tour speakers.

The crops tour is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee.

"The committee has planned this year's tour to be as short as possible. Yet, it will cover information that should be useful to farmers in making management decisions for next year's crops," commented County Extension Agent Justin McBride.

The tour is expected to conclude shortly after 4 p.m.

MDA Nets $8,000

In Local Pledges

Despite the rainy Labor Day conditions, more than $8,900 was collected this weekend from local residents for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America during the 13th annual Jerry Lewis telethon.

This early figure is expected to be swelled by the arrival of late pledges. According to telethon chairman Raymond Artho, there were not enough volunteers during the local campaign to collect all of the telephone pledges.

Late donations may be sent to MDA in care of Hereford State Bank.

Telephone pledges here totaled $1,764 and house-to-house contributions equalled $2,418.35. Fishbowls located throughout the city gleaned $379.33. Rounding out the figures were proceeds from the BPOE Elks Carnival for MDA, which earned $4,390. The carnival was dampened this year by the incimate

Tucker's Rodeo Work Pays Off in Profits

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Nothing is official yet, as far as how much money was made, but you can bet your rodeo ticket stubs that this year's version of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame All-Girl Rodeo was a success.

For the first time in four years, the rodeo made money. That's because Jim Tucker never gave it a chance to lose.

Tucker, auctioneer, rodeo announcer and KPAN advertising salesman, was chairman and organizer of this year's recent rodeo, which he said probably netted around $1,500.

"Our production cost was about half of the previous years. And we had been having very, very small crowds," Tucker said. "This year, our crowd attendance was up—it was the biggest attendance at the Hereford Riders Club Arena ever for anything—and our advertising sales campaign in the program was about twice what it had been in the past."

"Nothing went wrong. Everyone was thrilled, and we didn't hear one negative remark about the show or anything."

Tucker began organizing the rodeo months prior to it. Even in its early stages of preparation, he promised it would be a success. It was evident to anybody around him that Tucker worked hard to keep the promise.

"This year, we learned a lot about producing a rodeo. The profit we made from this year's rodeo will go into producing next year's show. And next year, after we have our profit picture, we'll know what we have to have in seed money and we can give the rest to the Hall of Fame," Tucker said.

Tucker was a natural choice to announce the rodeo. After all, he has announced more than 200 rodeos since learning how five years ago from Al McKay, of Sulphur, Okla., considered one of the country's top announcers.

"Al was one of my instructors at Ft. Smith, Ark., where I went to auction school in 1973. I had a week's vacation that year at KPAN, so I went to school. It was the best vacation I ever had because

Mideast Peace Summit Begins at Camp David

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) - President Carter prepared a quiet welcome today for his partners in a Mideast summit conference, pressing for compromise but admitting the dangers in disagreement and making no predictions.

"We will do the best we can," Carter pledged, although he noted the summit issues are complex and the differences between his guests - Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt - are deep.

Sadat was arriving first, being formally greeted at an air base near Washington by Vice President Walter Mondale and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance before proceeding by helicopter to this presidential hide-away.

Begin was not due at Camp David until late this afternoon, after getting a similar welcome by Mondale and Vance at Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

Before leaving the White House Monday for Camp David, Carter said the summit comes at a time "when the political consequences of failure might be very severe and when the prospects for complete success are very remote."

Sadat sounded the same theme, saying before leaving for the summit, "Failure at Camp David means an endless conflict."

Carter prayed at a Baptist Sunday School session Sunday: "Let every heart involved be cleansed of selfishness and personal pride. Let us all turn to thee, God our father, for true guidance, wisdom, forgiveness of others in the search for common ground."

Congressmen Claim FTC Now Too Busy

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Trade Commission, a consumer protection agency once criticized for doing too little, now is widely accused in Congress and state capitals of doing too much.

So far in 1978, the agency has: - Been accused of usurping the role of parents by proposing limits on television advertising aimed at children.

- Raised the hackles of states by overruling 45 state laws on price advertising of eyeglasses. Hundreds of other state laws are due to be preempted in the future unless the courts say the FTC is acting illegally.

- Fought running battles with some of the nation's largest businesses over its demands for information to help regulate the companies.

Those issues likely will be debated this month on Capitol Hill, where many legislators want to allow either house of Congress to veto FTC actions.

Rep. Elliott H. Levitas, D-Ga., is leading the veto push. "The FTC is really a mini-legislature, but the people who compose it have never suffered the inconvenience of running for public office," he said in an interview.

Levitas and his allies say Congress should be the judge of policy decisions the FTC has been making.

American Businessman On Trial in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) - American businessman Francis J. Crawford went on trial today on Soviet charges of currency speculation. Sources close to the case said the Soviet government was eager to get the trial over with quickly and swap Crawford for two Soviet U.N. employees accused of spying in the United States.

American oil magnate Armand Hammer, after a recent meeting with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, said he believed Crawford would get a light sentence and then be allowed to leave the country. Other sources said this was a "good analysis" of the situation.

Crawford, the Moscow representative of International Harvester, was arrested June 12, apparently in retaliation for the arrest of the two alleged Soviet spies. Denying that he had broken any Soviet laws, Crawford said he was a "pawn in a political chess game."

The two Russians are scheduled to go on trial in Newark, N.J. on Sept. 12.

In contrast to the trials of Soviet dissidents, four Western reporters were admitted to the courtroom today along with Crawford's American fiancée, Virginia Olbrish of the U.S. Embassy staff; his American legal adviser, Peter Maggs; U.S. consular official Robert W. Pringle and U.S. commercial attache Stephen Sind.

Postal Talks Enter Joint-Session Stage

WASHINGTON (AP) - Postal Service and union officials negotiated at a distance Labor Day, setting the stage for today's face-to-face talks. They're trying to resolve a contract dispute and avoid a nationwide mail strike.

The two sides talked separately with mediator James Healy on Monday who then scheduled today's joint session. There was no word concerning possible progress in those talks, part of a 15-day round of meetings begun last Friday.

Three big postal unions voted nearly two weeks ago to strike rather than accept a tentative contract agreement of July 21, pressing for resumption of negotiations. The Postal Service resisted but then agreed to return to the bargaining table. Healy, a Harvard professor with long experience in labor-management mediation, was called in to help.

U.S. District Judge John Pratt has extended until Sept. 18 his temporary restraining order barring a postal strike by the two largest unions. Strikes by postal employees are illegal, and the court order is intended to strengthen enforcement of that law.

Under ground rules of the present negotiations, if no agreement is reached by Sept. 16, the arbitrator would decide disputed issues if he believed a negotiated settlement was not near.

Police Report

Dennis Beasley, 107 Ave. A, reported to police Sunday that someone burglarized a towel machine after prying it open at Park-A Car Wash, 107 Ave. A. Police said that $5 was taken in the burglary.

Grand Ave. Grocery, 505 Grand, reported Sunday that someone stole a bank bag containing about $310 from beneath the counter.

Bob Ronca, manager at Red Carpet Inn, said that someone opened a soft-drink machine, apparently with a key, and stole between $75 and $100.

Jesse Leal, 405 Ave. D, told police that someone cut a tire on his car Sunday while it was parked at Grand Ave. Grocery, 505 Grand, Sunday night.

Elm Courts, W. Highway 60, reported that someone stole a television set out of a room Sunday or Monday.

Jesse Castillo, 206 Lake, reported that someone shot a hole in his pickup with a small caliber gun sometime Monday morning.

The Coast Guard issued the alert after the wave was reported by occupants of a private boat about 14 miles offshore.

Halbert Completes ED Workshop

Ouida W. Halbert, Hereford Country Club manager, recently completed a three-day educational workshop on marketing and promotion at the University of Houston.

The workshop was sponsored by the Club Management Institute of the Club Managers Association of America. The workshop was part of CMI's annual Continuing Educational Program which draws more than 300 experienced club managers and other management personnel from selected private membership clubs throughout the world.

During the session, participants spent more than 20 hours in a program designed to assist them in improving their managerial skills. CMI's workshops included management philosophy, economics, government, law, organization structure, interpersonal relations and environmental issues.

Mrs. Halbert is president of CMAA's West Texas region and is on the board of directors of Texas Lone Star Chapter. She completed her 14th year as HCC manager on Aug. 15.

Scrub Your Mouth

Dentistry, as far as I know, is the only profession which seeks to improve itself out of business.

We now have enough devices and dental aides and dental expertise so that most of us can keep most of our natural teeth all of our natural lives.

One toothpaste that's better than most, by evaluation of the American Dental Assn., is nothing more than the baking soda which grandmother recommended-flavored.

Now comes an emerging consensus among oral hygienists that there is something else we used to do and should again: Brushing-or scraping-the tongue.

How is it that so many primitives had such beautiful teeth? Roughage in the diet was part of it. But early cultures-in Africa, Arabia and India-emphasized cleaning the teeth.

the mouth, the tongue:

The brush may have been a chewed green tree twig, but at least once a day the earliest Buddhists "scraped" their tongues.

Hindus regarded the mouth as "the gateway to the body" and made tongue scrapers of silver and gold or copper, tin or brass.

Tongue scraping, still a common practice in India, is done with flat plastic strips.

For Mohammedans, scrubbing the mouth is prescribed in the Koran: "You shall clean your mouth for that is the way to praise God." And they interpret that both figuratively and literally: clean words and "clean-clean."

In "Pictorial History of Dentistry" Proskauer and Witt revealed an ancient Roman tongue-scraper.

And in Europe from the 15th to 19th centuries oral hygiene included daily tongue scraping.

Dental historians are intrigued by the fact that only in this last century did the practice of cleaning the tongue decline.

In the celebrated National Preventive Symposium of 1915 it was barely mentioned.

But then in 1920 Sarrazin presented bacteriological evidence that the dorsum of the tongue is "hardly ever free from staphylococci and streptococci."

He recommended daily tongue scraping, preferably in the morning.

But it was February of 1978 before two dentists in our Air Force, Arden Christen and Ben Swanson, alerted their colleagues to the neglect of this practice.

Auctioneering for Tucker began as a youth in Tulia.

"I did charity pie auctions in Tulia and things like that. The man I was working for in a furniture store one day decided to put in an auction house, and he put me on the block as the auctioneer.

This motion would have the effect of killing the compromise.

If the motion fails, a filibuster is expected - but Senate leaders say they have enough votes to block it.

The House, meanwhile, has scheduled a vote for Thursday on the president's veto of a $37 billion defense bill containing the authorization to build the nuclear carrier.

Carter claims another nuclear carrier is unnecessary and would be wasteful.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill predicts that the veto will be sustained. But supporters of the carrier are well organized and are expected to put up a heavy fight.

A two-thirds vote in both chambers is required to override a veto.

When it convenes on Wednesday, the Senate is to take up a proposed $489.5

avored the small lakes as a recreation area whenever water has been available, were out in force at the lake over the long Labor Day weekend.

The availability of good camping and picnic areas that feature attractive trees are a strong drawing card for the lake, and with boating open on the drought-starved lake again for the first time in many years, recreational use of the area has been heavy this summer.

Hopes had been sparked for an outstanding waterfowl wintering season at the refuge this year as well, due to the availability of water in the southern end of the lake.

During its peak period, Buffalo has wintered up to 40,000 ducks and a half million geese, and has served as an area for banding and observation of waterfowl in addition to numerous other wildlife species.

While a decision is awaited on the draining or retention of Buffalo Lake's waters, lake survival committee members have concerned themselves with a statement presented by an Interior Department witness at last week's hearing, which indicates the department's only alternatives in the Buffalo Lake matter are to drain the lake or breach the dam at the site.

Survival committee members contend that the breaching of the Buffalo dam

Candidate Wants Better Sentencing

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Republican attorney general candidate Jim Baker today said that certainty of punishment is the "most effective deterrent to crime," promising to push for fixed-length sentencing if elected.

Baker made a similar statement during a recent campaign visit to Hereford with Republican railroad commission candidate Jim Lacy.

"There is no certainty in our present criminal sentencing system," Baker said today. "Its wide disparities in punishment actually encourage criminals to gamble with a hit-or-miss system of justice."

"The sad truth is that there is no certainty of punishment in Texas today. A criminal may get 20 years or he may get probation-it's pure chance."

Baker said that in order to turn the situation around, "we should consider moving away from our present overly-loose system and toward a process of fixed-length sentencing where, by similar crimes would draw similar sentences."

"A fixed-length sentencing system is flexible enough to meet the unusual case and to adjust to existing resources, but it is also rigid enough to dramatically reduce disparity in sentencing."

Baker, who is running against Democratic candidate Mark White, said during his stop in Hereford, also promised to overhaul the open records and open meetings act.

"I have proposed penalties for failure to comply with these acts," Baker said. "We have an open records law that's a very good law, except that it doesn't have any teeth. If an official knows he is subject to a fine or a few weeks in the pokey, he'll turn the record over to the public."

Baker said he was glad to see that a recent independent poll showed White with 37 percent of the potential voters who were of the potential voters who were contacted and Baker with 22 percent. Baker said the poll showed that 41 percent of those contacted were undecided.

"Those undecided voters are very significant for a Republican running in a statewide race."

Baker, who said his qualifications included a stint as undersecretary of the U.S. Department of Commerce and 18 years of fulltime law practice, criticized White for his support "from big labor-the AFL-CIO and teamsters and United Auto Workers have endorsed him, and they didn't even invite me to their convention."

Lacy, during his campaign stop in Hereford, called his race "a low-visibility race," even though the railroad commission "is responsible for regulating an oil and gas industry which pays 22 percent of all state taxes."

Lacy said the railroad commission needs to be more outspoken to the U.S. Department of Energy.

"If you get bad regulations up there, you have all types of problems since Texas is such a big oil and gas state. The commission must be more visible in Washington," the Republican candidate said.

Lacy said that no one on the commission has credentials to serve the public's interests.

"And my opponent (Mack Wallace) said when he met with a group of oilmen in Midland that he knew nothing about the oil and gas business, but he was willing to learn. It's too important a business to be regulated by an oil and gas trainee."

The candidate added that, if elected, he will seek to initiate a review of the commission. "There hasn't been a review of resources and procedures since the 1960's," he said.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Picking a lifetime career is pretty important. It must be a kick in the head when you've completed your education only to discover the supply far exceeds the demand.

It's happening to teachers who are facing a decline in population and journalists who are becoming disciples of Woodward and Bernstein and ending up in the unemployment line.

I read two stories the other day that are really discouraging. One said if crime didn't increase, they didn't know how they were going to take care of the lawbreakers as the jails are running at capacity. The other story said that future priests in the Episcopal church far exceed the number of available congregations.

Now, if it doesn't pay you to be good -- or bad -- where do you turn for a job that you can count on?

I don't know about all of you, but I'm directing my sons in a career that never seems to have enough personnel, whose services are always in demand, and who are the darlings of every group where housewives gather: a washer repairman.

As I told my son, "Forget medicine. Forget law. Who gets rewarded for science and research that saves lives? You find out how to take a pair of training pants out of a clogged-up pump, boy, and you can write your own ticket."

"How would you like to turn the corner of a street in your truck and see women rush into the street with flowers and shouts of 'Liberator! Liberator!' I'm telling you a man never stands so tall as when he stoops to replace a timer."

"It's not an easy road, believe me. Women throwing themselves in front of you saying 'Me next! I've been waiting since a week ago last Wednesday!' Wading through dirty clothes up to your waist....working in a space so small the mice are crouching...blazing trails where no other man or woman has ever gone before -- behind a woman's washer."

"But you'll never be out of work. Laundry, like leftovers and junk mail, will always be with us."

"But what about that washer repairman on television who says he's the loneliest guy in town?"

"You nunny," I smiled. "When you get to be really big you get an unlisted number!"

Intriguing Special Spice

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Spices and flavor extracts from faraway lands have always fascinated me, and one of the most intriguing is vanilla, the fruit of a lovely lemon-yellow orchid. This tropical plant has no odor but it is the source of one of the world's most aromatic flavors.

Vanilla beans are grown today mainly on the island of Madagascar, off the east coast of Africa. But history associates them with the Spanish conquistadores. More than four centuries ago, Hernan Cortes quaffed a cup of xocolatl at the court of Montezuma, ruler of the Aztecs and found it delicious. He discovered that the Indians made this beverage by powdering the beans of the cacao tree along with bean pods from the vanilla orchid.

To this day, the combination of vanilla and chocolate has been a unique success. The best chocolate candy, cakes and frostings are usually enhanced with vanilla extract. But the invention of ice cream in the 17th century really brought vanilla into its own. It is three times as popular as any other flavor of ice cream in America and accounts for 750 million gallons of the frozen mixture consumed here each year.

In olden times, most American housewives bought their vanilla, not from the corner grocer, but from the pharmacist. One reason was a federal standard which specified that a manufacturer must use 13.5 ounces of beans per gallon of alcohol to make pure vanilla extract. Most druggists went the law one better and used a full pound of beans in the spirits and aged it in glass-lined

Real vanilla extract runs about 20 cents an ounce more than the imitation, which is synthesized from the sulphite liquor that is a by-product of pulp paper manufacturing. The price difference is mainly because of the labor involved in producing the bean on Madagascar. Since the orchid will bear no fruit when transplanted from its native Mexico, it must be pollinated by hand.

Here's a recipe for vanilla bread pudding given a lift by the vanilla.

1 quart milk
2 1/2 cups firm bread cut into 1/2 inch pieces
1/2 cup sugar, divided into two 1/4 cups
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced, peeled apples
1/2 cup seedless raisins

Scald milk in medium saucepan, stir in bread and set aside. In mixing bowl beat 2 of the eggs plus 2 egg yolks, setting aside 2 whites. Stir in 1/4 cup sugar and salt. Slowly pour in cooled milk mixture, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla extract. Stir in apples and raisins. Turn into 1 1/2-quart buttered casserole and set it in a large baking pan. Pour hot water into pan to within 1 inch of top of casserole. Bake in 350-degree oven about 1 hour 15 minutes and remove. Beat reserved egg whites and remaining 1/4 cup of sugar till soft peaks form. Spoon meringue over pudding, spreading well. Return to oven and bake till meringue is light brown, about 15 minutes. Serves 6 to 8 persons.

Clinic Offers Care

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The young girls were ill at ease, troubled by the score or more older women sitting in the doctor's waiting room. Some wanted to leave without seeing the physician because they felt out-of-place in the surroundings.

Dr. Patti Jayne Ross had witnessed this scene on many occasions and decided the time had come to open an obstetrics and gynecology clinic for girls between the ages of 10 and 19. Those older need not call for appointments.

"Some felt too old to go to a pediatrician and uncomfortable in an obstetrician-gynecologist office because they felt too young," Dr. Ross said.

With the help of the University of Texas Medical School, Dr. Ross opened the youth clinic and the "response has been very, very good. The girls now are with their peers. They have common interests and can relate to one another. The adolescents are a group that has been overlooked in the past and their needs are great," she said.

The clinic offers routine gynecological examinations, care for venereal disease, obstetric care for pregnant teenagers and sex education.

Dawn Church To Observe Anniversary

Area residents are invited to celebrate the 35th anniversary of Dawn Baptist Church by attending the 11 a.m. worship services Sunday, Sept. 17. Bible study will begin at 9:50 a.m.

A dinner will be held after the services at Dawn Community Center. Following the dinner there will be a period of recognition and reminiscing from 2-3 p.m. at the Church.

Those wishing to attend are asked to RSVP if possible.

Heart Board To Convene On Thursday

The initial meeting of the new fiscal year is planned by the board of directors, Deaf Smith County Division, American Heart Association. The group will convene at 7 p.m. Thursday in the E.B. Black house, 508 W. Third St.

All persons interested in supporting the Heart Association are welcome to attend, according to Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wall, president of the board.

A brief orientation will be held to explain Heart Association programs and fund-raising projects to new board members. Also the board will discuss the continuation of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) classes, a blood pressure screening program and public information campaign.

The Heart board is currently composed of approximately 23 individuals.

Treasure Enthusiasts

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Most of them come up empty-handed, but that has not deterred thousands of French enthusiasts from invading the countryside with spades and pickaxes, searching for buried treasure.

According to experts, there's lots of it submerged in the verdant fields and glistening lakes of France.

Some of it has lain in hiding for more than 2,000 years. Other troves date back only a few decades. But much of the treasure is gold, and gold does not age.

To assist the treasure hunters, two French enthusiasts have written a book listing 248 promising sites.

"The treasure seeker is motivated by the same reflex as a hunter or a fisherman — the reflex of love," says Henri Tell, co-author with Didier Audinot of "All the Treasures of France To Be Discovered at Leisure."

"To bring to the surface something that has lain in wait for centuries — is that not the resuscitation and concretization of love?" he asks.

The means of searching are a lot simpler than Tell's gushing explanations of the treasure mystique. According to the book, all you need is a spade, a pickaxe, a penknife, patience and stamina. A $100 metal detector helps, too.

For the true aficionado, the book recommends a proton differential magnetometer (translation: a very powerful metal detector), a microgravimeter for deep subterranean probes, a resistivimeter for locating buried ruins and an acoustic sander for looking inside ancient masonry.

Among the sites recommended are Calvi, on the Corsican coast.

Ann Landers

Happy Birthday Grandpa

Glacial Origin

Any large mass of snow and ice on the land which lasts many years is a glacier. Glaciers are formed over a number of years where more snow falls than melts. As this snow accumulates and becomes thicker, it is compressed and changed into dense, solid ice. Also, the mass of snow and ice tends to flow due to its own weight.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today is my father's 90th birthday. When I asked him about what he wanted for a birthday gift he said, "Write a letter to Ann Landers and tell her I've been reading her column for years and I think she is the greatest. If she will run for President I will support her candidacy."

Dad is A.C. Eastridge and he lives in Spotsylvania, Va. I know he would get a big kick out of it, if you would print my letter. Sincerely yours -- His Daughter Claudette

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son is being married in the fall. His fiancée has decided to keep her own name. She wants this put on the wedding invitations. She has also made it clear that she wants no mention of her parents or of us to appear on the invitation -- says "there's no point in it."

I have no objections to any of this but my husband is furious. He has told me he wants all the names of his relatives taken off the invitation list because he doesn't care to listen to their comments about his "Women's Lib daughter-in-law."

He also says he will not consider our son's wife as a relative of his since she doesn't want our name. More fallout: We had planned to give them a check for $10,000 for a down payment on a home but since she has come up with all these "regulations," my husband has decided that $1,000 is enough.

The parents of this young woman are very nice. They are as embarrassed as we are but her father confided to me that she has always been "headstrong" and there is nothing they can do about it.

Our son is an only child and I don't want to lose him. He says he believes his bride-to-be has a right to her own views and goes along with them. I need some advice on how to deal with this. -- Mrs. E.W. Of Virginia

DEAR MRS. E.W.: Since your husband doesn't want any of his relatives to be on the guest list, their names should be taken off. His rights deserve to be respected as well as "Miss Headstrong's."

If you hope to maintain any kind of relationship with your son and his wife it will have to be on their terms. So, dear, do your best to keep the lines of communication open. It sounds as if your future daughter-in-law would like nothing better than to cut you off completely. Do your darnedest to see that this doesn't happen.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is a good person but she is a terrible liar. I hand over my paycheck every week and she is supposed to pay all the bills. I'm the type of person who wants my reputation to be clean. My wife spends money on things we don't need and then hides the unpaid bills and the dunning notices.

When I find these things (stuck in magazines and under the desk blotter) she cries and says she meant to tell me but it slipped her mind. I don't want to insult her by taking over. We've only been married six months. What do you suggest? -- Sickvuit

DEAR S.: Take over. NOW. You won't insult her -- you'll relieve her. She has proven she can't handle money and you're a boob to let her ruin your credit. Give her an allowance and pay the bills yourself.

Pioneer Amphitheatre To Host Ballet Company

Balloons and banana splits, champagne and cheese will greet the "Godparents" of the Lone Star Ballet as they arrive at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R.M. Nugent Jr. for the party after the Gala performance in the Pioneer Amphitheatre of "Stars in Palo Duro Canyon."

The "christening" of the developing Ballet company at the performance on September 8 (Friday), celebrates the first long season the dancers have presented. It also celebrates the fact that the artistic director can now devote all of his time to dance.

The "Godparent" plan to raise funds to back the Ballets venture is the work of the members of the newly formed Lone Star Ballet Guild, organized at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Rick Klein on Wednesday, August 23. Officers for the developmental period are: Chairman, Mrs. Max Banks; Co-chairman, Mrs. Rick Klein; Secretary, Mrs. Ples Harper; Treasurer, Mrs. Arch Hunsley. Mrs. R.M. Nugent is chairman of the committee for the gala celebration after the "Stars" performance on September 8. The gala will be at her home.

Backers who donate $50 apiece for the evening become "Godparents". Because dance is so interesting for children, they are invited to become backers as well, for $10 each. Part of the program in the theatre, "Alice in Canyonland", and part of the celebration: balloons and banana splits, may interest them particularly.

To become a "Godparent", write Lone Star Ballet, Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2182. Checks should be made out to Lone Star Ballet Inc.

Dallas Romp Over Stumbling Colts

DALLAS (AP) - It was the second most explosive offensive show in the 18-year history of the Dallas Cowboys, but quarterback Roger Staubach was more peeved than pleased. Staubach destroyed Baltimore's "sack pack" with four touchdown passes as Dallas opened defense of its world championship with a 38-0 nationally televised route of the Baltimore Colts Monday night.

Dallas didn't even punt as it charged up and down the field for a 583-yard offense for coach Tom Landry's 14th consecutive season-opening victory. "I was good in some spots and bad in others...I wasn't particularly pleased," said Staubach, who had started the night with two interceptions early in the game. Staubach's touchdown passes covered 91 yards to Tony Dorsett, eight yards to Billy Joe Dupree, 38 yards to Drew Pearson and 36 inches to Jay Saldi.

Completing his last 11 passes, Staubach finished with 16 completions in 22 attempts for 280 yards. Dorsett, the flashy tailback who was NFL rookie of the year in 1977, did something no other Cowboy has ever accomplished. He rushed for 147 yards and caught passes for 107 steps. No Cowboy had ever rushed and received for 100 yards or more in each category in one game. Dorsett wasn't overly pleased. "I feel receiving is one of my weakest points and I need a chance to get accustomed to it," said Dorsett.

Dorsett left three Colt tacklers in his wake for the second Cowboy touchdown after he caught a batted pass which was intended for a wide receiver. He was so alone on his touchdown jaunt that he slapped hands with Drew Pearson and Tony Hill before he crossed the goal line. Baltimore played without injured No. 1 quarterback Bert Jones and halfback Lydell

Mitchell, who was traded to San Diego in a dispute with management. "Once we broke it open, it was hard for Baltimore to come back with Jones out," said Cowboy coach Tom Landry.

"Baltimore is a very solid football team and they will regroup as the season moves on, with or without Jones."

Boosters To Meet Tonight

The Hereford Booster Club will meet here tonight for their first annual meeting. The boosters will view last Friday's scrimmage between Hereford and Amarillo Tascosa. A report on Friday's contest with Pampa is also expected. The boosters are selling memberships for $5 each to any interested fans. The club meets in the high school cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Colt Coach Ted Marchbroda said, "We thought we could beat them if we didn't give them anything, but we gave them two easy ones. It was a loss you could blame on any one player. It was something all 45 had a part in." Jones' condition is a week to week thing, I really can't say when he will be back. Jones and second string quarterback Bill Trout each suffered shoulder injuries last week.

Marchbroda said, "The other teams in our division Miami and New England lost games they should have won, so I don't think we are any farther behind than when we started the week. We were just beaten by a better team. Dallas Cowboy strong safety Charlie Waters said, "Our defense played well. But it would have been different if Bert Jones had been in there. That's the way we should have beaten them without Bert in there. He is the heartbeat of the Colts. He is definitely one of the best."

Waters said, "We are also not naive enough to think every game is going to be like that." Free safety Cliff Harris said, "We really did play good defense, and our offense exploded. Kirkland is a good quarterback and they have some good receivers, but their intensity was down because Jones was gone." Linebacker D.D. Lewis said, "Without Jones in there, we just teed off on their running game wiped them out." Colt fullback Roosevelt Leaks said, "A lot of teams are going to lose to Dallas."

Baltimore linebacker Darrell Luce said, "We just didn't tackle. On almost any of their long runs, we had a shot at them. Sometimes two or three of us had a chance but missed the tackle. We just missed too many tackles. We certainly didn't expect them to score 38 points against us, but you can see why they did." Baltimore blew two early scoring chances against the Cowboys and then seemed to wilt after Dorsett's long touchdown gallop through the Colt team.

Marchbroda said, "The main thing wrong with our defense was that we just missed a lot of tackles." Landry was already thinking about having to play the New York Giants on the road in Dallas' second game of the year. "It's tough to travel after a Monday night game," said Landry. "In New York, we always have a tough time. They always play us well. They play us tooth and nail."

Houston scored a fourth inning run on an RBI single by Terry Puhl and added single runs in the seventh and eighth innings on a home run by Dennis Walling and an RBI single by Jose Cruz. "We're in no position to be watching the scoreboard," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson. "We've just got to keep winning and beat the leading teams when we play them head on. If we can't do that, then it's adios."

Angel's Edge Rangers, 8-7

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - It hadn't been a good couple of months for the California Angel's Bobby Grich.

In July, the three-time All-Star selection and four-time winner of a Golden Glove for fielding excellence drove in three runs. He added five more in August and had so much trouble in the field that he had to ask manager Jim Fregosi to bench him for a rest.

But Monday night, Grich turned his season around as he slammed a three-run homer and a run-scoring single off Dock Ellis to give the Angels an 8-7 victory over Texas. The Angels remain a game behind Kansas City.

Bobby Bonds hit a pair of home runs for the Rangers, Jim Sundberg added a third and Don Baylor hit his 28th for California.

Grich underwent back surgery on July 3, 1977 to remove a herniated disc. "The doctor told me, 'next year is going to be a rough year - be patient with

NEW YORK - Defending champion Guillermo Vilas, after a five-set, four-hour struggle, succumbs to Butch Walts and the fast U.S. Open tennis surface.

ENDICOTT, N.Y. - Tom Kite could have called another penalty on himself - as he had done the week before - and had plenty to spare to win the B.C. Open golf tournament.

yourself," Grich said. "He said, 'Don't expect too much from yourself.' As a ball player you don't want to believe it. He examined me a little while ago and said, 'You are doing better than I expected.'"

Monday's victory was the Angels' fourth in succession, matching the club's longest winning streak of the season.

"We know we are in a pennant fight," said Grich. "We are one game behind and we know it is up for grabs. Everyone else has had an eight-game or a 10-game winning streak. Hopefully, we timed our eight or 10-game streak at the right time."

Errors by third baseman Kurt Bevacqua and second baseman Bump Wills helped California to four runs in the fifth inning with Ellis also hitting a batter.

"Ellis deserved a better fate," said Texas manager Bill Hunter. "Errors are going to happen and they ended up killing us. We have to start winning now. The fact we don't play Kansas City any more makes it even more important we win now. They have a lot of games left at home and they play very well there."

Before the game Hunter said, "We have to win three out of four, not only here but everywhere. The next 10 days will tell for us. I hope we are in contention by the time we leave Anaheim."

Nolan Ryan, 6-11, who has been out for two weeks with a rib injury, pitches for the Angels tonight against the Rangers' Steve Comer, 7-3.

Sailing, Sailing

Labor Day activities were at a fever pitch over the weekend and Monday as evident at Buffalo Lake. Skiers, sail enthusiasts, and picnickers were in abundance as warm weather greeted the holiday seekers.

Kite Wins B.C. Golf

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) - This time, Tom Kite could have penalized himself one stroke - as he had done a week earlier - and it wouldn't have made any difference.

Kite completed a front-running victory in the $225,000 B.C. Open Monday with a five-stroke advantage over runner-up Mark Hayes.

Last week, Kite had finished one stroke behind winner Tom Watson in the Hall of Fame Classic at Pinehurst, N.C. where he penalized himself one stroke in the final round for an infraction that no one else witnessed.

Had he not called the penalty on himself - for nicking the ball while trying to line up a six-inch putt on the fifth hole - Kite would have finished in a tie with Watson and gone into a playoff for the $50,000 first prize.

"I've never had anything like that happen," Kite said after his costly penalty. "That cost me the tournament."

He made few costly mistakes in the R.C. Open, over the EnJole Golf Club.

Kite never trailed in the tourney's four rounds in earning the $45,000 top prize.

After sharing the first round lead with Tom Purtzer, Kite pulled away from the field and had stretched his lead to five strokes going into the final round over the 6,915-yard, par-71 course.

His biggest challenge came Monday when Hayes eagled the third hole and Kite bogeyed the fourth hole, cutting the deficit to two strokes.

But Kite carded four straight birdies and went on to finish the 72-hole tournament with a 17-under-par score of 267, one stroke above the B.C. Open record held by Hubert Green.

Hayes closed with a 68 for 272 and little-known Peter Jacobsen of Portland, Ore., finished third at 275 after a final-round 69.

The victory was Kite's second since joining the pro tour in 1972. He has earned $149,737 this year, with second-place finishes in the Hall of Fame Classic and the British Open.

Hayes received $25,650 and Jacobsen collected $15,975.

Dr. Gil Morgan, the defending champion, tied with Ed Sneed and PGA champion John Mahaffey for fourth place at 276.

Reds Top Astros, 6-3 Monday

HOUSTON (AP) - In many ways, the 1978 baseball season has been a nightmarish one for Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan.

The 14-year veteran, saddled with numerous injuries throughout the year, has seen his batting average plummet to the lowest level in nine years. If his latest two games are any indication, Morgan's nightmares may be over.

"It feels great to make things happen like that," said Morgan, who collected three hits for the second straight game and drove in a run as the Reds topped the Houston Astros 6-3 Monday night.

"I've been asleep for so long, it's about time I woke up. We've got our backs against the wall, but anything can happen," he added.

Bill Bonham, 10-4, hurled the first six innings for the Reds to notch his first triumph since July 7. Doug Bair pitched the final 1 1/2 innings to record his 24th save of the season as Cincinnati remained 6 1/2 games behind first place Los Angeles in the National League West.

The Reds took a 2-0 lead against losing pitcher Joe Nickro, 11-12, on a run-scoring single by Bonham and a bases-loaded walk to Pete Rose.

Dave Bergman's third inning throwing error and Morgan's fifth inning RBI single helped the Reds build their lead to 4-0.

A seventh-inning solo homer by Johnny Bench and Cesar Geronimo's run-producing double in the same inning accounted for Cincinnati's final two runs.

Houston scored a fourth inning run on an RBI single by Terry Puhl and added single runs in the seventh and eighth innings on a home run by Dennis Walling and an RBI single by Jose Cruz.

"We're in no position to be watching the scoreboard," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson. "We've just got to keep winning and beat the leading teams when we play them head on. If we can't do that, then it's adios."

YMCA Activities

September 9th is the registration deadline for anyone wishing to participate in the YMCA youth Football League.

The season takes on a new look this year with the addition of a 1st and 2nd grade league to go along with the 3rd and 4th and 5th and 6th grade leagues.

The league itself is designed to promote wholesome competition while teaching the fundamentals of team play and good sportsmanship. Every boy plays in every game. Parents are welcome at the games and are encouraged to actively take part of the program by coaching or refereeing.

Registration fees for the league are $6.00 for YMCA members and $10 for non-YMCA members. The registration fees include a team shirt for each participant, adult supervision, instruction, awards and use of necessary equipment.

League play will start on September 23rd and all games will be played on Saturdays.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened. His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression. The foreign situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

PUZZLED
 by increasing electric bills? Part of the explanation is:
RISING FUEL COSTS!

27. Rice vs 28. Iowa State

The tremendous jump in the cost of fuels needed to produce electricity accounts for a large part of higher electric bills. Users of fuel turned to less expensive forms of energy when oil prices began to rise a few years ago. The demand for the less expensive types of fuels increased, and so did the cost. Now all fuels are expensive. It appears the cost of fuel will continue rising and this will cause the cost of electricity your Cooperative purchases to increase.

Shoppers Pay Less In August

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
August brought a little bit of relief to consumers struggling to make both ends meet at the grocery store, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The cost of a selected list of products dropped by an average of more than 1 percent at the stores surveyed.
The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.
The latest survey showed general declines in regular prices last month as well as a number of special sales. In Providence, R.I., for example, the regular price of coffee at the checklist store declined from $3.05 a pound at the start of August to $2.95 a pound today. Shoppers taking advantage of a pre-Labor Day sale at the store could buy coffee for $2.19 a pound.
On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the 13 checklist stores was 1.2 percent lower at the start of September than it was a month earlier. During July, in contrast, the marketbasket bill rose an average of half a percent.
The August decrease was not enough to offset earlier rises in food costs. Comparing today's prices to those at the start of 1978, the AP found the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores had increased an average of 5.1 percent.
The ups and downs of retail grocery prices this year generally can be traced to ups and downs in supplies. Beef prices, for example, rose sharply because there fewer cattle came to market. Coffee prices dropped because of an abundant supply of green beans.
No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

Nicky Louie's Health, Fate Watched by Police

NEW YORK (AP) - Nicky Louie had a smile for everyone, but this week his charm failed. Somebody shot him in the head. This may help him make a decision he told acquaintances he was wrestling with for some time: retire early or - at age 23 - move further into international gangsterism.

Police in the Chinatowns of New York, Boston, Chicago and Toronto are interested in his decision. But they'll have to wait. The bullet-ridden Louie, with serious wounds in the head and back, lies in a New York City hospital. He is in satisfactory condition but faces several weeks in intensive care.

"I don't trust anyone," he had told a reporter last year, and only his parents have been allowed past the round-the-clock police guard at his door to find out how he feels now.

Nicky Louie's fate is being watched by New York police who have for nearly a decade been attempting to stamp out Chinatown gangs.

Hired as thugs to protect the traditional illegal gambling that flourishes in Chinese communities, the aggressive teen-agers soon went into business for themselves and profits grew into the millions.

Famous Chinatown streets such as Mott and Pell became prosperous turf for youth gangs calling themselves such names as the White Eagles and the Flying Dragons. They systematically demanded protection money from businessmen and their own rivalry sometimes erupted in gunfire.

Gangs sprang up in other American and Canadian cities, accompanied by public shoot-outs and private murders. Police seemed unable to penetrate the traditional Chinese silence toward outside authority, even though some Chinatowns were threatened with bankruptcy.

Police believe that Nicky Louie tried to link it all together.

head a teen-age gang that called itself the Ghost Shadows and roamed one of the poorer neighborhoods of Chinatown.

By 1974, the Ghost Shadows had pushed out competing gangs and moved to the heart of the community.

By 1977, police estimated the Ghost shadows were taking in more than a million dollars a year in extortion. Chinatown rocked with gunfights as other gangs competed, but Nicky Louie reigned supreme, avoiding at least one assassination attempt.

Then it all fell apart.

Police say one reason was ambition. Nick's brother, Eddie, led a Toronto chapter of the Ghost Shadows, and the brother attempted to recruit gang members in Boston and Chicago. When these new recruits began arriving here, Nicky's formerly loyal, close-knit lieutenants rebelled because they felt threatened by the outsiders.

Two, nicknamed Mongo and Applehead, early this year formed another Ghost Shadows faction. Other gangs began muscling-in.

But a bigger reason for Nicky's downfall, police claim, is the success in an international campaign to stamp out Chinese gangs. Following a conference in Toronto last year, intelligence on gang activities is now routinely filed across the country.

A special task force of 20 New York officers was assigned to Chinatown in February, and they claim to have closed every regular gambling game in the community.

"There may be a floating crap game or two, but that is all," said Capt. Allan Hoehl, who heads the Chinatown police precinct.

With revenues cut so drastically, gang members became even more unruly.

"Nicky was clever up to a point," one detective said. "But he wanted too much and it blew up in his face."

On Monday night, Nicky was playing a friendly game of mah-jongg in the dimly lit basement of the Gin Beck restaurant on Mott Street. It was supposed to be a safe haven, but a man with a .38 pistol walked through the downstairs kitchen and blasted Louie four times in the head and back.

Louie crawled and ran to the police station around the corner, splattering blood on the pavement. When he regained consciousness two days later, he declined comment on the crime, though police believe he knew his assailant.

"Nicky's already too old for the youth gangs," commented one of the investigating detectives. "I'd say it's time for him to retire."

Sandoval Attacks Tower's Billboards

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Civil rights attorney Ruben Sandoval attacked Sen. John Tower's Spanish campaign billboards Friday as offensive throwbacks to antiquated ethnic political pitches.

Sandoval endorsed Tower's Democratic opponent, Rep. Bob Krueger, at a news conference.

The Republican senator's campaign has posted billboards around the state proclaiming Tower is 'con nosotros,' which translates 'with us.'

"I feel it's offensive, the appeal to ethnicity in billboards with 'con nosotros' when the record speaks otherwise," said Sandoval, who has represented families of three Mexican-Americans killed in law enforcement officers' custody.

Sandoval also endorsed Attorney General John Hill for governor.

"Both Tower and Krueger are friends to me," the San Antonio attorney said. "But we have decided in looking at the record that we feel Congressman Krueger will most likely serve our needs in areas which we are involved - mostly civil rights."

Tower's votes against the Voting Rights Act and the Civil Rights Act are fact, said Sandoval.

"In voting no, against that, we fail to see how he can be 'con nosotros,'" he said. "I know of Congressman Krueger's involvement. He's been with us and is with us now."

Schools to Test Lunch Program

Schools were authorized this week to voluntarily test new meal patterns for the school lunch program.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Carol Foreman, said, "The purpose of the interim meal patterns is to more accurately meet the nutritional requirements of children and to bring the lunch requirements into conformance with the 1974 revisions of the Recommended Dietary Allowances published by the National Academy of Science."

"The interim meal patterns reflect changes recommended in 2,000 public comments to our proposed regulations published Sept. 6, 1977, as well as testimony received in public hearings the Department held in eight major cities," she said.

The interim meal patterns announced today contain several major changes from the proposed meal patterns: They are:

aides listened to Sandoval's remarks at the back of the news conference room.

"I'm also concerned that the Republican party bandleader, or whatever you want to call him, Mr. Bill Clements made the statement that under no circumstances would he support establishment of a Civil Rights Commission," Sandoval added. Clements is opposing Hill for governor.

Clements' comment that he is not running for governor of Mexico typifies some politicians' insensitivity to minorities, Sandoval added.

Although he was not speaking for the League of United Latin American Citizens LULAC, the GI Forum or the Mexican-American Legislative Caucus, Sandoval said he was speaking for individual members of those groups.

In other comments, Sandoval said that Benjamin Civiletti of the U.S. Justice Department will announce a package of new policies for handling civil rights cases after Labor Day.

The policies will include establishment of civil rights units within each U.S. attorney's office; affirmation of a justice department pledge to investigate and prosecute civil rights violations; and creation of federal police-community relations units.

Curry Fair Underway

CLOVIS, N.M. - The annual Curry County (N.M.) Fair began Monday with the crowing of Fair Queen Treca Bunce, with more activities planned through Saturday.

Red Steagell and the Coleman County Cowboys who sang Monday night at the fair, will perform again at 8 p.m. today here.

Today's activities include The Curry County Youth Horse Show. A gymnastics show was scheduled for 5 p.m., followed by a Ladies Lead Contest. Wednesday has been designated 4-H and FFA Day, with cattle, swine, paint horse and breeding sheep judging on the day's agenda.

The Little Buckaroo Rodeo will begin at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Thursday, Parents Day will feature the open-beef show at 9 a.m., junior breeding cattle show, junior dairy show and open dairy show, the cattle carcass contest will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The junior market lamb show will begin at 8 a.m. Friday. Tractor pulls are planned for 3 and 6 p.m. A dog show and the NCHA cutting horse contest also will start at 6 p.m.

Saturday, dedicated to pioneers by the Curry County Fair board of directors, will feature an Old Times Celebration at 10 a.m.

meat/meat alternate requirement of lunches. The proposed meal patterns required that these alternates be served either in combination with one another or with meat, poultry, fish or cheese.

Schools wanting to participate in interim meal testing must first obtain approval from the state administering agency. States are responsible for overseeing the test and providing guidance to schools. The test will end Feb. 2, 1979. At that time, schools may choose to continue to use the interim lunch patterns or revert to the present meal pattern, until final regulations are developed, she said.

In addition to the field test, the Department plans a comprehensive evaluation which includes three demonstration projects to assess how the revised meal patterns affect student participation and acceptance of the program, as well as food costs and school administrative activities. This evaluation began last spring and covers the following subjects: involving students, faculty and parents in the school lunch program; controlling sugar, fat and salt in school lunches; and evaluating the use of second helpings to meet the high energy needs of certain children.

Comments are invited and should be sent by Feb. 15, 1979, to Margaret O'K Glavin, Director, School Program Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Those who comment should indicate if they are directly involved in the field testing.

Firestone To Recall Radial Tires

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House panel is calling for immediate recall of all 13 million Firestone 500 Steel-Belted Radial tires in use nationwide, saying they present an unreasonable risk of death and injury.

The House Commerce subcommittee on oversight and investigations said Friday the Firestone tires had caused at least 34 deaths, hundreds of injuries and thousands of accidents.

A spokesman for Firestone in Akron, Ohio, said the subcommittee's conclusion was not justified, but promised the company would work with the government to resolve the controversy.

The subcommittee said the tires fail frequently, even with careful maintenance. It recommended a government-ordered recall if Firestone refuses to act.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration recommended a recall on July 7 after analyzing more than 6,000 consumer complaints alleging "more than 14,000 individual tire failures, 29 deaths, more than 50 injuries and hundreds of property-damage accidents."

The safety agency has not ordered the recall, although administrator Joan Claybrook said on Thursday a decision is expected in two weeks.

Ms. Claybrook was responding to a complaint by her former boss, Ralph Nader, who said government delay in ordering the recall is saving Firestone $1.25 million weekly.

Nader said the saving results because the number of tires in use has dwindled from 15 million to 12 million since the agency investigation began in February.

Firestone spokesman Jim Standberg declined comment, saying Nader's letter was written to Ms. Claybrook, not the company.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., said the company showed a "disregard for the safety of its customers."

The panel said the company issued only "belated and minimal warnings to owners" that the tires needed unusually careful maintenance because of safety problems.

Five year olds will be served lunch in one sitting, while children ages 1 through 4 will be served at two sittings, as proposed.

meat alternates such as dry beans, peas, eggs or peanut butter may be served alone, or in combination, to fulfill the

Ikeda Moderate Now

TOKYO (AP) - Daisaku Ikeda, one time wonder boy of the new Japanese religions, at 50, still is going at breakneck speed but is more moderate in his intellectual, philosophical and political outlook.

The Soka Gakkai, which he heads, was one of the new religions that came to the forefront after the disillusion of Japan's defeat in World War Two.

With temple architecture of the Disneyland type, the new religions offered the faithful surcease from care through a variety of appeals, from dancing and singing to universal culture and "perfect liberty."

Soka Gakkai, more accurately described as the lay organization of an old religion - the 800-year-old Nichiren Shoshu - exerted a powerful appeal to the rootless millions who had moved from the rural areas to Tokyo, Osaka and the other big cities. It promised them happiness now rather than pie in the sky.

Established in 1930 as the "value creating society," it was banned during the war and was down to a few thousand members when Ikeda, then 32, took over as president in 1960.

The Komei clean government party, which it organized and supports alienated others by taking a position closer to the socialists than to the middle.

Ikeda built up Soka Gakkai's fortunes through a combination of muscular, Billy Graham-style revival meetings and intensive proselytizing work at the street and neighborhood level. His appeal was greatest among clerks, salaried employees, and domestic servants.
