School Board Leaves Trustee Position Open

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Lawyers of the Hereford Independent School District have said that appointing a trustee to replace a school board member who resigned may be illegal, board president James Gentry said Tuesday.

Gentry's comment came during the regular monthly meeting of the board, which apparently will operate with six members until an election can be called in April.

Gentry said school district attorneys advised against an appointment to fill the vacancy because a federal three-judge panel ruled in July that HISD's place system of voting was subject to a federal government decision that the method should be changed.

The U.S. Department of Justice has stated that HISD's place system might be discriminatory under the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and is invalid. The judges' ruling was a victory for the federal government and a blow to the school board, which decided to attempt to prove that the place system is not discriminatory in federal district court in Washington, D.C.

That route of appeal is provided in the Voting Rights Act. No date for a hearing in Washington D.C. court has been set.

"Our lawyers tell us in a memorandum of opinion that we can't appoint anyone to this position while we are under the place system," Gentry told the board. "The three-judge panel said we can't use the place system, and that might make an appointment illegal."

The vacancy was created when Paul Ramirez resigned last month because his wife had been an employee of the school system for less than two years. A state law requires school board members' spouses to be employed for at least two years.

The board, in other business, authorized Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder and Gentry to sign for short-term bank loans.

Assistant superintendent Bill Phillips said the reason for the loans is to make up for a temporary deficit. "The state doesn't send out its money quite as early as we approve the payroll," Phillips said.

Gentry appointed board members David Hutchins, Mack Tubb, Sallie Strain and Clark Andrews to an insurance-study committee. Representatives from Blue Cross-Blue Shield, Boon-Chapman and California Pacific insurance companies were at Tuesday's meeting trying to persuade the board to purchase their hospitalization policies.

Gentry appointed the committee after Holder recommended that "we get some input from our employees as to what type of insurance they want."

The district is insured under the Boon-Chapman plan, but higher rates have prompted the letting of bids for insurance.

Holder reported that representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would be in Hereford Thursday to study the district's bi-lingual education system. HEW's Office of Civil Rights has stated that the system must be improved, prompting creation of a detailed language-response plan in the district.

The plan was submitted for approval to the Office of Civil Rights, which will send representatives to Hereford to determine if the plan has been implemented.

The board studied the enrollment report, which showed that there were 5,594 students in the school district on Tuesday, compared to 5,572 on Sept. 13, 1977. High school and elementary enrollments are up, while junior high figures are down from last year.

Enrollment at Hereford High School Tuesday was 1,169, as compared to 1,112 last year. Elementary enrollment totaled 2,495, up 12 students from a year ago. Junior high enrollment Tuesday was

Leaders Scrutinize Palestinian Issue

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) - President Carter is personally directing the search for a way to compromise Israeli and Egyptian differences over the future of the Palestinian Arabs.

Carter, it was learned, is working closely with both nations' delegations on the precise language of a statement or declaration encompassing the Palestinian and other issues.

He has yet to impose a deadline for winding up the weeklong Middle East summit, although it threatens to disrupt his own schedule for speechmaking and politicking.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said on Tuesday he knew of no plans to cancel Carter's planned trips Friday and Saturday to the Carolinas, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

"If we get to the point that it becomes an issue, we will deal with it then," he said.

The summit itself represents potential political peril for Carter, whose woes would be compounded by a failure here.

On the Palestinian question, Carter's goal is to find language acceptable to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin as well as Jordan's King Hussein.

Hussein has a big state in the issue because many of the Palestinians live on the Jordan River's West Bank - a region Israel seized from Jordan in the 1967 war.

Powell belatedly acknowledged on Tuesday that Sadat had telephoned Hussein a day earlier. He gave no details but said the Jordanian leader would not join the talks here.

Carter hopes for a Begin-Sadat compromise that would draw Jordan into the peace process at some future point. Hussein, however, has pledged to boycott Mideast peace talks until Israel agrees to withdraw from the West Bank.

A compound acceptable to Hussein would bolster Arab support for Sadat, who has risked alienating other Arab states for his willingness to negotiate directly with Israel.

Begin last year offered civil self-rule to the 1.1 million Palestinians living on the West bank and in the Gaza Strip in the Sinai desert. Sadat rejected that proposal, which would have left the Palestinians under Israeli military control.

Powell said he could not speculate when or how the mountaintop summit will end.

Carter and Sadat met Tuesday for the second straight day. It was learned that Carter sought not only Sadat's ideas but also his reaction to Israeli thinking, presumably about a summit-climaxing statement or declaration.

Neither Carter nor Sadat talked to Begin on Tuesday and, in fact, Begin and Sadat have not met formally since last Thursday.

Powell, however, cautioned reporters against drawing any conclusions from the lack of any Carter-Begin-Sadat meeting.

"There hasn't been any need for one," he said.

'78 Corn Harvest Yields Average of 100 Bushels

WASHINGTON (AP) - Super growing weather in major production areas this summer has boosted 1978 corn harvest prospects to a record of 6.8 billion bushels, average yield of more than 100 bushels an acre.

The new estimate, based on field conditions as of Sept. 1, was up 5 percent from corn crop indications a month ago, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

By comparison, last year's corn harvest - which was a record then - was 6.37 billion bushels.

The average corn yield this year is expected to be a record 100.3 bushels an acre against 91 last year and the previous high of 97 bushels an acre in 1972.

Four Corn Belt states were reported with average yields exceeding 100 bushels an acre. Together, they are expected to produce 58 percent of the entire U.S. corn harvest this year.

They are Illinois 116 bushels an acre and a production of more than 1.24 billion bushels, Indiana 107 and 631 million, Iowa 115 and 1.39 billion and Nebraska 107 and 674 million.

Howard Hjort, the department's chief economist, said the estimate of 6.8 billion bushels was somewhat of a surprise but that weather in the Corn Belt has been "about ideal" for the crop.

Asked about the possibility expressed by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland recently that cash corn prices might drop to .50 a bushel - they averaged $1.09 nationally in mid-August - Hjort said some farmers in areas where storage space is scarce at harvest time "could very well" see prices that low.

But Hjort said he thought this would not be typical and farmers "can prevent prices going to disaster levels" by taking out government loans on their crops and participating in USDA's three-year grain reserve program to store excess corn until prices go up.

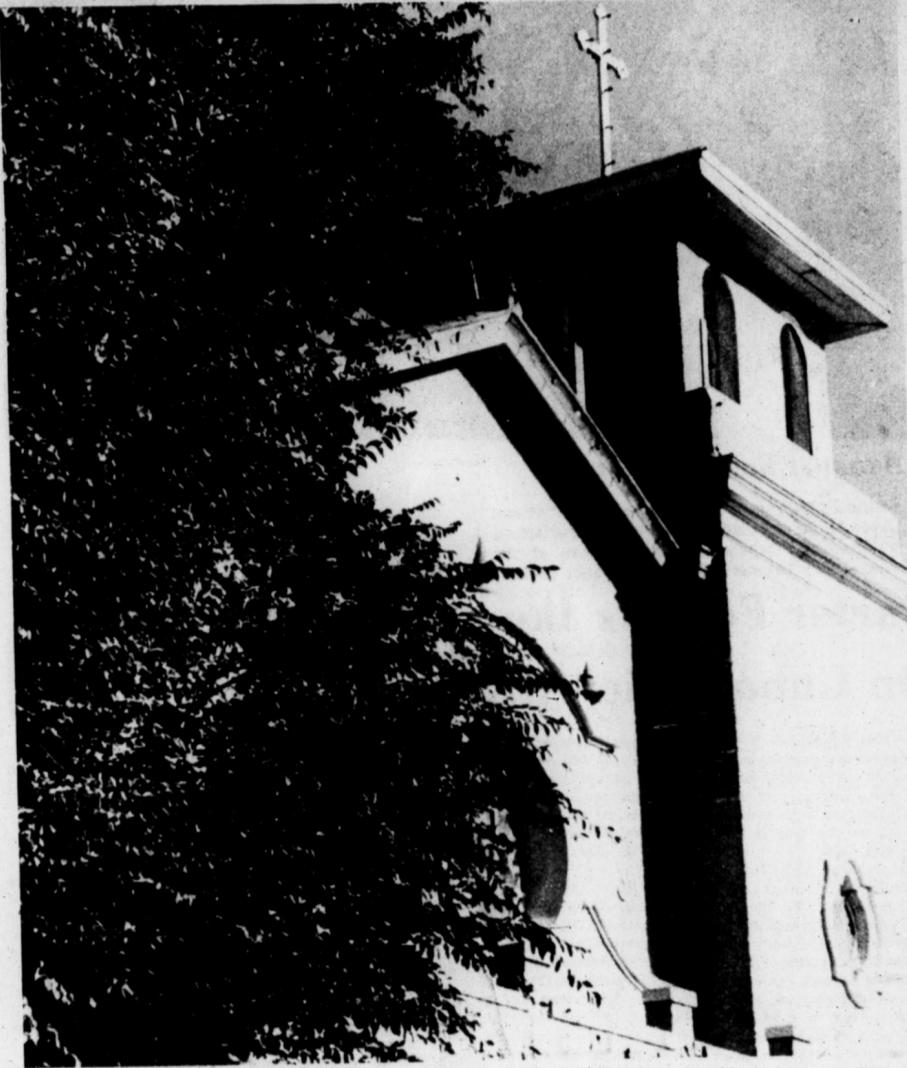

Although many producers are not eligible for loans and the reserve because they did not participate in the federal acreage set-aside program this year, Hjort said he thought enough corn is eligible to keep prices generally from sagging to the $1.50 level or lower.

But in any case, he said, this year's corn crop is larger than will be needed to meet domestic and export requirements in the year ahead.

To the extent that the huge supply does keep feed prices from going up, this will help stimulate livestock feeding in future months, Hjort said.

The soybean crop was estimated at a record of more than 1.77 billion bushels, slightly more than last month's estimate. Wheat production, at 1.79 billion bushels, was down 2 percent from the August estimate.

Cotton output was estimated at 11.2 million bales, down 6 percent from prospects Aug. 1, the department said.

Celebration To Benefit Church

A new San Jose Catholic Church is in the works, or at least in the minds of labor camp residents, who are involved this week in preparation for Mexican Independence Day Saturday. Festivities begin Friday, with a dance and queen coronation at the Bull Barn. Proceeds from Friday and Saturday's dances and the annual queen contest will be placed in the church building fund. Several thousand dollars will have been raised by this weekend for the new church.

Hereford Mexican-Americans Prepare for Independence Day

Mexican-Americans of Hereford will celebrate the independence of Mexico Friday and Saturday with a coronation, a parade and a dance, all of which will be open to the public.

"We're going to have a very good celebration. This should be the best parade we've ever had," said parade marshal Victor Cantu. "We've had more participation from local people this year."

Mexican Independence Day is

Saturday, Sept. 16. Activities will begin Friday with an 8 p.m. dance at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. The dancing will end at 9 p.m. long enough for Fiestas Patrias Queen Delilah Guerrero to receive her crown.

Dancing will resume following the coronation and will continue until 1 a.m. Saturday.

Saturday, the parade will begin at 2:30 p.m. at the Community Center and will travel down Main Street.

Persons wanting to enter floats in the parade should contact Cantu at Jones Motors before Saturday.

"We'll award prizes to the top three floats," Cantu said.

Singing, dancing and other entertainment is planned to start at 4 p.m. at the Bull Barn. A public dance will begin at 8 p.m. and will last until 1 a.m. Sunday.

Proceeds from both Friday and Saturday's dances will go into the San Jose Catholic Church building fund.

Vice President Lobbies in Senate For Natural Gas Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) - The vice president's office just off the Senate chamber is an ornate place normally given over more to ceremony than hard work.

But with a natural gas compromise hanging in the balance, Vice President Walter F. Mondale has moved in for real to orchestrate the administration's lobbying campaign for the bill President Carter claims is so crucial to the U.S. energy future.

Sources say Mondale doesn't plan to leave until the issue is resolved one way or the other. For one thing, Mondale might be needed to cast a tie-breaking vote. It's that close.

MS-Victim Fund

Set Up at Banks

A fund to defray expenses for acute multiple sclerosis victim Sandra Combs has been established at Hereford State Bank and First National Bank. It was announced Tuesday by Combs-family friends.

Mrs. Combs is in the John Seely Memorial Hospital in Galveston undergoing treatment for the disease.

Meanwhile, he is holed up in the office, where he entertains wavering senators, tries to persuade longtime colleagues on the other side to change their minds, and occasionally wanders out onto the Senate floor to confer with the leadership.

As the Senate began its third day of debate on the measure today, the vice president's constant presence was a reminder of the heavy lobbying the legislation is undergoing.

Both sides agree it's the most intense lobbying since the Senate took up the Panama Canal treaties last spring.

An Associated Press survey shows 39 senators supporting or leaning toward supporting the compromise, 41 against or leaning against and 20 undecided.

However, an analysis of undecided votes suggests the administration now has a better shot of prevailing than do opponents.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker conceded Tuesday that opposition forces probably do not have enough strength to have the bill recommitted to a House-Senate conference committee for retooling in what would be a killing blow. If he is correct, the opponents would have to resort to other tactics - perhaps a filibuster.

A motion to recommit the bill was expected today, with a vote on the move possibly coming as early as Thursday.

The compromise would lift federal price controls on newly discovered natural gas in 1985 and allow for a steady increase in the regulated price between now and then.

With so much still unresolved, the

Teachers Welcomed At Chamber Banquet

Approximately 50 teachers were welcomed to Deaf Smith County Tuesday night at the Community Center during the chamber of commerce-sponsored New Teachers Welcome Banquet.

The event marked the official public unveiling of the newly-constructed Community Center dining room. About 200 persons welcomed the teachers, who were sponsored by the Hereford business community.

Dan Welty served as master of ceremonies, with the highlight of his program being a summary of the history of Deaf Smith County. Welty complimented the aggressive, pioneer spirit of the county in speaking to teachers and their business sponsors.

Chamber of commerce president Speedy Nieman welcomed the crowd to the affair.

Chamber Care Committee chairwoman Norma Walden presented season tickets for the Community Concert Association to six lucky teachers who had their names drawn.

Providing entertainment were musical trio Bob Stice, Joyce Allred, and Jan Walsler who were accompanied by Mrs. Randy Vaughn.

Four Governors Face Serious Opposition

By The Associated Press
Fourteen states and the District of Columbia, representing nearly a quarter of the nation's population, held primaries Tuesday. Four governors faced serious opposition, there was an important Senate race in Minnesota, and the nation's capital picked candidates for mayor.

The most closely watched contests were in New York, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Maryland, Minnesota, and the District of Columbia. But there were also races of interest in Florida, Colorado, Rhode Island, Wyoming, Arizona, New Hampshire, Vermont, Utah and Nevada.

In New York, Gov. Hugh Carey was challenged by his lieutenant governor, Mary Anne Krupak. The Assembly Minority Leader, Perry Duryea, was unopposed in the GOP primary.

In Connecticut, it was Gov. Ella Grasso against Lt. Gov. Robert Killian. Again, the Republican nominee, Rep. Ronald Sarasin, was unopposed.

The Wisconsin and Maryland Democratic primaries featured challenges to acting governors. In Wisconsin it was David Carley against acting Gov. Martin Schreiber, who took over when Patrick Lucey became ambassador to Mexico a year ago. In Maryland, acting Gov. Blair Lee, who took over when Marvin Mandel was convicted of bribery, had three opponents.

In Minnesota's Senate contest, there was a challenge from the conservative side of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party by Robert Short, the former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Police Report

Police are investigating an assault on a Hereford woman, who reported early today that an unidentified man hit her on top of the side of her head in her bedroom.

Kendra Plummer, 204 Witherspoon, told police that she found her front door open when she returned home around 2 a.m. today. She reportedly went into her bedroom, turned on the light and was struck by a man described as 5-feet, 8-inches tall with light brown hair.

The man reportedly knocked Ms. Plummer onto the bed and ran from the house.

Alvin Ruckman, 607 Lee, told police that when he returned home around 6:25 p.m. Tuesday, he found most of the drawers and a filing cabinet open. Reportedly taken in the break-in were six bottles of Michelob beer.

Mrs. H.M. Mobley notified police Tuesday that someone had tried to break into her residence at 516 Willow while she was away. Police said the latch on the front door had been pulled off, indicating an attempted burglary.

Two females were arrested around 10:30 p.m. Tuesday for fighting at Orval Watson Ford parking lot, 200 W. 1st.

Alien Hearing Centers On Barred Children

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - "A real subculture of poverty" is being created in Texas, especially in already poor South Texas border areas, because illegal alien children are barred from free public education, say three attorneys who have attacked the law in court.

"It is creating an underclass of people we will not educate...a real subculture of poverty," Edinburg attorney David Hashmall said Tuesday during a hearing before the Texas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

"These children will have a harder time getting a job and will stay along the border where they can speak the language. A real danger is aggravating a strip of poverty in South Texas and making it worse," he added.

Hashmall and attorneys Alfredo Saenz and Linda Hanten have all been involved in lawsuits challenging the 1975 state law forbidding school districts from giving free education to illegal aliens.

The law was aimed at preventing increasing numbers of illegal alien children from becoming a financial burden to Texas school districts, especially those along the Rio Grande.

"I think that the state, by passing this law, is doing an extreme injustice to the children of the state," said Saenz. "These children are not going back to Mexico. They have no control over where they are. They're here with their parents. It's keeping them at home without an education."

Labor Mediator Tries To Settle Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) - A labor mediator moved Tuesday to settle the deadlocked postal contract dispute on his own as big-city union leaders warned that his action could trigger an illegal mail strike this week.

Mediator James J. Healy said he would make a final, binding contract decision by Saturday because the Postal Service and three unions representing 516,000 workers had failed to make progress toward a settlement after 10 days of talks.

Healy said the two sides still could reach their own agreement before Saturday's 10 a.m. EDT deadline, superseding his decision. But "while a negotiated settlement is still possible, it is almost certain now that it will be necessary for me to resolve the issue," he added.

Cabinet members are among those calling on senators to praise the compromise.

Senators are busy lobbying each other. "There are groups of senators going around all with little lists in their pockets," said one bemused Senate aide.

The administration campaign "is a tightly coordinated White House effort," said Jim Bishop, a spokesman for Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

He said much thought goes into deciding the best way to approach each senator - whether to send Schlesinger or White House inflation fighter Robert Strauss, for instance, whether an appeal from Mondale is enough or whether the president himself should phone a wavering senator.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, one of the leading opponents of the compromise, had this to say of the White House lobbying campaign:

"They carry on their lobbying activities morning, noon and night. I've heard of them calling one senator while he was in a hospital bed and another while he was on a boat up in Alaska. I've heard of other senators being called by almost one after the other: the president, the vice president, Strauss, Schlesinger..."

GSA Furniture Specs Violate

WASHINGTON (AP) - The General Services Administration, already the object of several federal investigations, has been paying millions of dollars to a New Jersey firm for chairs and file cabinets that do not meet specifications, it was reported Tuesday.

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources, said that GSA investigators had found the contract violations in an examination of Art Metal Inc., the agency's main supplier of office furniture. GSA technicians who examined and tested the office furniture supplied by Art Metal found that it bore little resemblance to what GSA had specified when it sought bids from manufacturers, the sources were quoted as saying. Although GSA knew from pre-production tests that the office chairs did not meet specifications, the agency chose to ignore those findings earlier this year and award Art Metal a $5.5 million contract to make the chairs, The Post said.

In the process, GSA turned down bids from three other firms whose chairs met specifications, sources told the newspaper.

The firm has challenged in federal court a recent decision by GSA Administrator Jay Solomon to cancel a $9 million contract awarded to Art Metal in August to supply more filing cabinets.

Drivers Sitting Lower

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Most Texas drivers are sitting lower than ever before - and it's dangerous, says a preliminary study by Texas A&M University.

A brief summary of the study was published in a newsletter by the Governor's Office of Traffic Safety.

Road design and traffic engineering assumes that a driver's eye is 3.75 feet higher than the pavement.

The A&M study, however, shows that 80 percent of the compact and smaller passenger car drivers and 73 percent of the drivers of intermediate and full passenger cars drive at less than this standard eye height.

This standard height is used in calculating the length of no-passing zones and the design of curves.

Carter Follows Ike On Cuba Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) - As it warily watches developments in Nicaragua, the Carter administration is taking many of the same steps that the Eisenhower administration took in 1958 regarding Cuba.

At that time, Fidel Castro's guerrilla movement was gaining strength, and the days of strongman Fulgencio Batista were clearly numbered.

The State Department reacted then as it is reacting now to the troubles of Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza. It cut off the shipment of military aid to Batista, just as it has now cut off military aid to Somoza.

In its pronouncements, the Eisenhower administration tried to strike a moderate balance, hoping that a peaceful solution might be found. Of course, it was not. Castro seized power on Jan. 2, 1959.

For the first few months of the Castro regime, the Eisenhower policy seemed to be working. Relations between the two countries were fairly friendly, although Castro did not like the way the American press covered the early purges he conducted.

Castro visited Washington in April 1959 and had a friendly lunch at the State Department. But problems already were marring the relationship.

Historians still debate whether Castro was a life-long Marxist who waited for a year or two to show his true colors, or whether he was pushed into the arms of the Soviets by clumsy American diplomacy.

Whatever the case, relations soured as the Cuban revolutionaries began expropriating property - Cuban and American - without compensation. The American economic presence was huge. The United Fruit Co., for example, owned 270,000 acres of the island's best sugar land.

By May 1960, Castro established diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union. Eisenhower responded by ending American purchases of Cuban sugar, a bodyblow to the Cuban economy. The Soviets picked up the slack. By January 1961, Eisenhower had severed diplomatic relations. They are still severed, and the Cuban problem has been a chronic headache for the United States.

The analogy between Nicaragua today and Cuba in 1958 is imprecise. One major difference is the opposition to Somoza. While Castro was clearly the leading figure in the Cuban revolution, there is no corresponding figure in Nicaragua.

There are civilian foes of the Somoza regime, and there are several factions within the Sandinist guerrilla movement. While all of the Sandinists inveigh against "Yankee imperialism," only some appear to be doctrinaire Marxist revolutionaries. Others are nationalists, some even church-oriented.

State Department officials say they have no way of knowing which opposition leaders, if any, are likely to replace Somoza. If the Sandinistas come to power, these officials have only hazy ideas of which leaders represent what factions.

Tax Inflation Makes Bonds Attractive

NEW YORK (AP) - The "automatic" increase in income taxes that comes with inflation over the years has put more and more investors in a position to consider municipal bonds.

As most taxpayers know all too well, inflation tends to push individuals into higher and higher tax brackets even if their purchasing power remains the same.

Suppose for example, that a given family's taxable income rises from $19,000 one year to $20,500 the next.

If the annual rate of inflation is close to 8 percent, the family has made no gain whatsoever in real purchasing power - but it has climbed from the 28 percent income tax bracket into the 32 percent bracket.

This situation has prompted proposals to Congress that the tax structure be "indexed" to inflation, permitting higher tax rates only on income increases that exceed the inflation rate.

But even if such a measure is enacted, many Americans have already reached income levels where the tax-free feature of municipal bonds has appeal. In 1967, analysts at Standard & Poor's Corp. noted, only about one of every 50 American families had incomes above $25,000. By last year almost one in four were at $25,000 or higher.

A second factor making municipal bonds attractive at the moment, S&P noted, is the relatively high yield they offer after this year's general rise in interest rates. The firm's index of municipal bond yields recently stood at 6.04 percent.

Like other bonds, of course, municipals offer little or no protection against inflation. And sometimes the emotional impulse to save on taxes, regardless of other important considerations, can tempt investors to go into municipals when they would be better off elsewhere.

"You should only consider municipal bonds if tax-free income is more attractive than the after-tax return from other investments," Standard & Poor's said.

For those who have determined that municipals are suited to their needs, the firm offered these suggestions:

"Strive for diversification. If you don't have enough capital to invest in a few different issues, select a mutual fund or municipal trust."

"If you buy bonds on your own, stay with the higher ratings - AAA, AA or A - and the larger issues. In addition to greater safety, you will have greater marketability if you decide to sell."

Ann Landers

Nix On Spankings

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do you take such a stubborn stand against wife-spanking? As a student of psychology you should know that women respect men who assert their maleness.

It took two divorces before I learned how to handle females. I tried to reason with my first two wives but soon realized they were a couple of brainless donkeys. My superior mind was wasted on them.

My third marriage got off to a good start. Midway into our first argument she began to scream at me and stamp her foot. I took her over my knee and spanked her with a hairbrush. I told her if she was going to behave like a child I was going to treat her like one.

Since that time I've had very little back-talk. I've given her an occasional spanking but not nearly so severe as the first one.

If more husbands spanked their wives there would be fewer divorces in the country. Why don't you tell them so? - King In My Castle

DEAR KING: If more husbands spanked their wives, there would be fewer men.

This might come as a surprise to you, Bub, but a great many women would view such degrading treatment as intolerable. In fact, they just might pick up a lamp and brain the guy.

And now will you answer a question? How did a man with such a "superior mind" wind up with two brainless donkeys?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter will sound like something out of the Middle Ages, but believe it or not, people still get TB.

Four months ago, I was released from a TB hospital after two years of intensive treatment. I am cured but must have a medical check-up every four months for the next three years.

My husband refuses to come near me. I've assured him that he can't possibly get TB from me. (I wouldn't have been discharged from the sanatorium if I were infectious.) His answer is, "I know it intellectually, but I'm unable to accept it emotionally." (Is this possible?)

It's hell to live with a man who treats you as if you had some loathsome disease. I'm beginning to wonder if perhaps he found a new love in my absence, and is using my illness as an excuse to satisfy his sexual appetite elsewhere.

I need some sensible advice. -- Untouchable Wife

DEAR WIFE: Your husband should have a talk with your doctor at once. He needs to have a better understanding of the role family members (especially a spouse) can play in the recovery of a TB patient.

It is indeed possible to know something intellectually and be unable to accept it emotionally. Now your husband is the one who is sick. See that he gets the help he needs.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I answer the woman who wanted to know if her husband's brother's wife is her sister-in-law?

My husband has a lovely sister. I've always considered her husband (our child's godfather) my brother-in-law. On the other hand, I have a brother I don't care for. I refer to his spouse as my brother's wife. It's what's in the heart that counts. - Up Front

DEAR UP: Your answer makes more sense than a Supreme Court decision. (Especially lately.)

Each week, Mr. Trevino, the Dog Control Officer picks up 25-30 dogs, either strays, or unwanted pets. The ratio of dogs that end up having to be destroyed to dogs that are placed in new homes is about 30-1.

The task is destroying these animals is Mr. Trevino's, and it does not come easy to him. We urge people of Hereford to be more careful in keeping up with their pets, and also urge pet owners to have their animals neutered, so as to cut down on the number of unwanted animals that pass through the City Dog Pound.

The Animal Action Committee also would like to commend Mr. Trevino for his constant efforts in helping pet owners find their lost pets.

Herd Offense Looks to Roll Thursday

Fired-Up Herd

Pre-game enthusiasm—such as shown in the photo from last Friday's opening game—will be exhibited again Thursday night in Amarillo when the Hereford Whitefaces take on the Palo Duro Dons in a non-district contest. Both teams have 1-0 records going into the contest, but the Dons will be favored by about two touchdowns, according to most sports forecasters. This is the Herd's first road game, and they're on the road again next week when they travel to Borger.

Spinks Fatalistic Under Pressure

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "I knew I was gonna be somebody," said Leon Spinks. "If it was a drunk, I was gonna be the best drunk that ever was."

Well the kid that grew up in a St. Louis ghetto is somebody. He isn't the best drink that ever was...he isn't even a drunk. He isn't the best fighter that ever was, either...but he is the heavyweight champion of the world, the conqueror of Muhammad Ali.

Leon Spinks knows where he came from, what he is and is learning what he can do.

"I'd like to be a world figure but I'd like to be a world figure my way," said Spinks, who, in a way, presently is mainly a figure of curiosity, a kind of fate-made freak who beat a living legend but in the minds of many people can't do it again Friday night in the Superdome.

Spinks is a man under pressure, and his reaction to the pressure is a fatalistic one. "I don't do any predicting," he said of his rematch with Ali.

"The best man wins. The Man upstairs says you ain't gonna win, you ain't gonna win."

But while the spectre of defeat doesn't seem to frighten him, he is spurred by the knowledge that a victory takes him further up the road from poverty, a station in life that shaped him but one he never wants to visit again.

"I think about the ghetto," Spinks said before a training session. "I think why do I want to go back and play my life as a repeat. You don't want to go back where you came from. If you do, you're a fool."

"The 25-year-old Spinks doesn't fit the mold of a fool. But his public image since he won the title has been one of carelessness, possibly recklessness. His attitude is one of 'I don't give a damn.'"

Spinks, painfully aware of the endless comparisons with Ali — "Ali is one hell of a promoter. He's a hell of a man" — said his image has been distorted.

Since winning the title last Feb. 5, Spinks has had several run-ins with the police about driving violations and one concerning drugs. The drug charge was dismissed but the incident, like the others, was widely played in the news media.

"A lot of people in the press turn things around and manipulate things against me," he said. Then, as if to emphasize that he is his own man, he added: "They ain't puttin' no food on my table. They ain't putting no clothes on my back."

"I'm learning to deal with the world the way I want to," Spinks said, noting that he is not, and does not want to be, a world figure like Ali.

Landry Defends 'Poke Defense'

DALLAS (AP) — The leading tacklers on the Dallas Cowboy team are free safety Cliff Harris and strong safety Charlie Waters, but don't come to the conclusion that the World Champions' front four and linebackers aren't doing their job unless you want a mini-lecture from Coach Tom Landry.

Landry bristled briefly Tuesday when asked why his safeties were having to make so many tackles. Harris has made 10 tackles and 6 assists in two games and Waters is 8 and 6-tops for the team.

"That's their job," said Landry. "Safeties make a lot of tackles. We have two good safeties and they will lead in tackles in most cases."

Dallas uses its safeties like linebackers. In 1975 and 1976, safeties were Dallas' leading tacklers. Middle linebacker Bob Breunig was the top running back stopper last year.

The Cowboys yielded 24 points to the New York Giants last Sunday after blanking the Baltimore Colts in the first Monday night game.

Landry seemed relatively unconcerned about the letdown against the Giants because end Harvey Martin missed half the game after being kicked out for fighting, and linebacker Thomas Henderson and cornerback Aaron Kyle were injured.

"Our defense didn't play well but there's nothing wrong that can't be fixed," said Landry. No. 1 draft choice Larry Bethea got a workout in Martin's position but Landry was not displeased.

"Bethea was active," said Landry. "He is capable and strong. He hasn't learned to pass rush but he makes things happen. He's going to be a good player."

Landry praised the Cowboy offense which has its accustomed No. 1 spot in the National Football League statistics.

"This team has the potential to be as good as the 1966 team," said Landry. "Of course, Tony Dorsett is in his second year now. It's just hard to say how good our offense will be."

Landry said "Tony sees everything in our offense so much better. He knows it now when he does something wrong. He had no idea last year."

Landry said he will miss the rivalry this year with George Allen, his long-time rival at Washington who was fired as the Los Angeles Rams coach two games into the preseason.

"I'll miss competing with Allen — it brings out the best in you," said Landry.

Landry said Harvey Martin was ejected from the New York Giant game last Sunday because the All-Pro was reacting to an illegal block by runningback Willie Spencer.

"Temper was hot and Denver tackled Harvey and Harvey tried to kick loose... Harvey was the last one the referee saw," said Landry. "What Spencer did was illegal."

Earlier, Martin was flagged for unnecessary roughness when he tackled quarterback Joe Pisarcik.

"That was a good call," said Landry. "There was too much enthusiasm on the tackle. You can't use your forearm when you tackle. Harvey hit him in the back and knocked him down."

"Defense" was the battle cry as the Hereford Whitefaces opened the season with a close victory over Pampa last week, but Hereford boss Don Cumpston knows his team will have to produce some offensive movement to have any hopes of knocking off the vaunted Amarillo Palo Duro Dons Thursday night in Amarillo. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. Thursday as the two teams battle early in the week in order to use the busy Dick Bivins Stadium.

Both teams go into the contest with 1-0 records, as the Dons fought to a 3-0 win over the tough Dumas Demons last week. The Harris Rating System this week favors Palo Duro by 10 points. The Dons were pre-season favorites in District 3-AAAA.

The Whitefaces came out of the Pampa game without major injuries, but they'll still be missing the services of speedster Paul Bell, senior running back who injured a knee in a scrimmage session. The loss of Bell, for at least three weeks, takes away an important "all-the-way" offensive threat.

Coach Cumpston is expected to field about the same starting lineups as last week, playing two platoon football as much as possible. That would include a backfield composed of quarterback Jackie Mercer (165), fullback Joe Walker (192), tailback Robert Graves (177), and wingback Ron Lucero (162). The offensive line: center Frank Medrano (173), guards Lee Reyna (181) and Buzzy Abalos (194), tackles Mike Kerr (238) and Greg Melugin (187), and ends Keith Adams (145) and Joe Mitchem (200) or Kevin Golden (172).

The defensive probable starters: middle guard Cory Christie

(171), tackles Robbie Fish (171) and Cory Springer (191), ends Keith Finch (178) and Glen Yosten (161), linebackers Richard Olson (192) and Steve Sauter (171), halfbacks Kevin Bunch (150) and Barry Morgan (178) and safeties Bud Hughes (149) and Terry Huffaker (165).

Co-captain Richard Olson led the defensive charge in the opener and was credited with being in on 20 tackles, but coach Cumpston praised the entire defensive unit for a great effort.

It wasn't a lack of effort on the offensive side of the ledger in the Pampa game, however. Mistakes and penalties were big handicaps in the opener, and Cumpston hopes to cure some of those ills this week. Fullback Joe Walker showed great promise in the first game, rushing for 90 yards on 15 trips with the ball, while Graves — the tailback — got 51 yards on 16 rushing attempts. Mercer added 66 yards in the balanced attack, and he also hit 3 of 4 passes — all of the short distance to add 13 yards.

The Whitefaces had 52 offensive plays last week and averaged 4.2 yards a play. The defense yielded 3.5 yards a play on 37 rushing attempts and 11 pass plays.

Tickets for the game can be purchased at Troy's Sweet Shop on E. Park Avenue or at the school business office. Hereford fans park on the south end of Bivins Stadium.

Dodgers Sink Giants Deeper Into Second

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bill Madlock calls the National League West race a "gunfight" — and right now, it would seem the Los Angeles Dodgers have the drop on the San Francisco Giants.

The Dodgers further buried the Giants in second place by beating their top rivals 8-0 Tuesday night behind Burt Hooton's five-hitter and a four-RBI night by Dave Lopes.

"It's like finishing second in a gunfight — you lose," Madlock concluded after the fading Giants dropped six games behind the Dodgers.

The victory left the Dodgers extravagantly optimistic. "We have the killer instinct — I can't see us losing if we keep doing what we're doing," said Hooton, who upped his record to 18-8.

"It's the first time I've done anything against them all year," added Lopes. "Hooton's the man — he just wrapped up the Cy Young Award with a shutout in a big game."

Hooton joined three other National Leaguers — Ross Grimsley, Gaylord Perry and Phil Niekro — as 18-game winners.

Elsewhere in the NL, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Houston Astros 4-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1; the San Diego Padres trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1 and the Montreal Expos whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1. The Chicago-New York game was postponed by rain.

The Dodgers only managed three hits off loser John Montefusco, 11-7, in 7½ innings and held a 3-0 lead before scoring five times in the ninth inning off reliever Gary Lavelle.

Hooton improved his 1978 record to 4-0 against the Giants and registered his seventh straight victory while equalling his major league career high for victories in a season.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on Steve Garvey's RBI single, then wrapped up the game up with two runs in the eighth on Lopes' double and five more in the ninth in a rally capped by Lopes' double and five more in the ninth in a rally capped by Lopes' two-run homer. Bill Russell doubled home three runs for the Dodgers in the ninth-inning rally.

Reds 4, Astros 3
Champ Summers slammed a home run in the sixth inning and a freak play in the ninth led Cincinnati over Houston.

The ninth-inning play came with one out after Joe Sambito had walked pinch-hitter Ken Henderson. Rich Auerbach attempted a sacrifice, Sambito fielded the ball and attempted to force Henderson at second base. But shortstop Rafael Landestoy missed the throw, allowing Henderson to score the winning run.

Doug Bair, 7-5, got the victory, pitching the ninth inning and allowing one hit.

Pirates 5, Phillies 1
A pair of two-run homers by Dave Parker and a solo shot by John Milner powered Pittsburgh over Philadelphia, snapping a five-game losing streak and reducing the Phillies' lead in the NL East to four games over the second-place Pirates.

Parker, who started the game leading the league in hitting, third in RBI and fifth in home runs, struck the game-winning blow in the sixth inning, his 25th home run, that scored winning pitcher John Candalaria ahead of him. It gave Pittsburgh a 3-1 lead.

"I'll take what I can get," said Parker. "The batting title, the RBI title, the home run title. But what I really want to win is the division title."

Padres 3, Braves 1
Perry, aided by Dave Winfield's 22nd homer of the season, collected his 18th victory with a five-hitter as San Diego beat Atlanta.

Perry, 18-6, the major league's winningest active pitcher with 264 lifetime victories, pitched his first complete game since June 23. The victory gave the Padres their 75th victory of the season, the best showing in the club's 10-year history.

Expos 5, Cardinals 1
Rudy May fired a three-hitter for his first victory since June 4 as Montreal defeated St. Louis. May, 7-9, was making his third appearance and second start since recovering from a severely sprained left ankle.

Gary Carter drove in the first Montreal run on a fielder's choice in the second inning and a single in the fourth. The Expos scored three runs in the fifth on an RBI triple by Dave Cash, a run-scoring double by Andre Dawson and a sacrifice fly by Ellis Valentine.

AL East Race Kept Boiling With Losses

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The three leaders in the American League East have found yet another way to keep things interesting. But none of them could be satisfied with the new method.

All three of the top contenders lost Tuesday night. The Milwaukee Brewers, who were beaten 6-5 in the bottom of the ninth by Seattle, had to be the most disheartened. The Brewers knew first-place Boston had lost to Baltimore 3-2 and New York, now trailing the Red Sox by one-half game, was beaten 7-4 by Detroit. By winning, Milwaukee would move within 3½ games of first place.

The Brewers carried a 5-4 lead into the ninth, mainly on the strength of Larry Hise's three-run homer. But Tom Paciorek's two-run single with the bases loaded and one out gave Seattle the triumph.

"We had it all wrapped up," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger. "We're letting so many get away. We've had lots of chances to pick up ground. We've got to start winning games with leads in the ninth inning."

"Some of these last-place teams like Seattle get tough against you. They play hard."

Of rookie Mark Bombardier, who was knocked out in the first inning in his major league debut, Bamberger said, "I thought he could do the job. He had a good curve. He must have been a little nervous."

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City strengthened its hold on first place in the West with an 8-1 romp over Oakland while second-place California fell to Texas 7-5, and Chicago dumped Minnesota 6-1.

The Toronto-Cleveland contest was rained out.

Orioles 3, Red Sox 2
Dennis Martinez threw a three-hitter and the Red Sox made three errors in one inning to help Baltimore to victory. Martinez, 13-11, struck out seven in besting Mike Torrez, 15-10, who pitched a five-hitter.

"I've been pitching my best baseball in the second half," said Martinez, who lost a two-hitter to Boston last week. "I was having a problem with my motion. I was lifting my shoulder when I should have been dipping it and my wife pointed it out."

"We're in there now. All the Sox and Yankees have to do is play .500 while we keep winning and it might be ours."

The fourth-place Orioles trail Boston by six games.

Tigers 7, Yankees 4
Detroit, which still has two games to play with New York and seven with Boston, pummeled Yankees starter Dick Tidrow. Steve Kemp's three-run homer in the first inning set the tempo, with Ron LeFlore and Rusty Staub later adding solo homers.

Reggie Jackson had a three-run blast for the Yankees, who had won six in a row.

"The way things are going now and as healthy as New York is, I can't see Boston beating them out," said LeFlore. "New York has more momentum and Boston has the injuries."

"With all the talent the Yankees have, I hope they don't go out and blow it. I think it'll go down to the last week, maybe the last three or four games."

Royals 8, A's 1
Larry Gura, having his greatest season, upped his record to 14-4 with a five-hitter. Pete LaCock supported the left-hander with three RBIs.

Gura said he gave up Oakland's run in the first while experimenting.

"I knew what I was doing," he said. "I was trying to throw more sidearm instead of going over the top."

"It was an experiment. I guess the pennant race is a strange place to be experimenting, but where else can you do it? Anyway, that didn't work and I don't think I will try it again."

The victory moved Kansas City 2½ games ahead of California in the West.

Rangers 7, Angels 5
Juan Beniquez's two-run homer and Jim Sundberg's bases-loaded double helped Texas deal a damaging blow to the Angels' pennant hopes.

Sundberg had been annoyed by California pitcher Frank Tanana's remark that the Rangers resembled a 'B' team.

CHICAGO (AP) - Veteran center Tom Boerwinkle has signed a multiyear contract with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association. Tuesday's announcement made no mention of the length or the terms of the contract. Boerwinkle, 33, was the Bulls' No. 1 draft choice in 1968 and has been a backup center most of his career. He underwent knee surgery on Dec. 6 and missed most of the 1977-78 season.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Free agent offensive guard Greg Fairchild has signed with the Cleveland Browns, a spokesman for the National Football League team announced.

Leo Tierney, a second-year guard from Georgia Tech, was placed on waivers Tuesday by the Browns to make room on the roster for Fairchild, who played two years for the Cincinnati Bengals.

Fairchild, 6-foot-4, 257 pounds can also play tackle and center, the Browns said.

Fairchild, from the University of Tulsa, was a fourth-round 1976 Bengal draft choice.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - The Tampa Bay Buccaneers have acquired quarterback Mike Rae from the Oakland Raiders for an undisclosed future draft choice.

The National Football League club made the announcement Tuesday, the day after four-year veteran Mike Boryla was placed on the injured reserve list for the second straight year.

Rae, 6-feet, 190 pounds, joined the Raiders in 1976 after spending three years with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League. In his two seasons with the Raiders, Rae completed 50 of 95 passes for 579 yards and seven touchdowns.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - An Iowa man offered the highest price of the two-day, four-session Keeneland September Yearling Sale.

Ken Opstein of Sioux City paid $142,000 Tuesday night for a bay colt by 1973 2-year-old champion Protagonist out of No Need Askin. The yearling was purchased from the consignment of Bruce Hundley of Midway, Ky.

The top price of Tuesday's afternoon session came for a chestnut colt by Apalachee out of Ideal Day. The Newmarket Bloodstock Agency, acting as agent for a Saudi Arabian, bought the horse for $141,000 from the consignment of E.A. Cox Jr.

The third highest price of the day was $110,000 paid for a gray filly by Rise A Cup out of Our Jackie. Phillip E. Hurley of Lexington was the buyer from the consignment of Dr. E.W. Thomas. The filly is a half-sister to Our Native, winner of $426,969.

During the first two days of the sale, 580 horses were sold for $12,892,100, an average of $22,228. During the same four sessions last year, 578 horses were sold for $10,775,400, an average of $18,543.

CANTON, O. (AP) - Coach Weeb Ewbank, one of the five inductees this year into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, has a unique distinction. Ewbank is the only coach who has ever won league championships in both the NFL and the old AFL.

Ewbank coached the Baltimore Colts when they won National Football League titles in 1958 and 1959. His 1968 New York Jets not only took the American Football League championship but followed that with a 16-7 upset of Baltimore in the Super Bowl in Miami's Orange Bowl.

NEW YORK (AP) - Ilie Nastase, frequently a tennis rebel, has managed to get around the International Tennis Federation edict against the so-called "spaghetti" rackets.

The resourceful Romanian came up with an oddly-strung racket which gave his shots exaggerated topspin. His "gimmick" was that the four horizontal center strings lay flat on the vertical strings instead of being intertwined.

"The racket is like a new toy to ilie," another pro, Jaime Fillol laughed.

Clock-Stopping Move Backed

By BRUCE LOWITT

 Norris Weese could have saved everybody a lot of grief simply by fumbling the ball toward the end zone. Denver's quarterback laughed at the suggestion. Weese, under the gun - and half a ton of Minnesota Vikings as well - only a few hours earlier, allowed himself a moment of comic relief. "Yeah," he joked, "we've practiced that play a lot, where I sort of flip the ball toward Jon Keyworth and he sort of kicks it ahead to Riley Odoms. But we just didn't have enough time to set it up." Had he pulled off a play equal to the Ken Stabler-to-Pete Banaszak-to-Dave Casper "fumble" that won Sunday's game for Oakland, Monday night's game between the Broncos and Vikings would have ended on a lot less confusing note. The National Football League has rules governing just the sort of mayhem perpetrated by Weese and Denver Coach Red Miller.

To quote the pertinent section of the rules, an automatic referee's time out is called "...from the time an intended passer is downed behind the line until all players involved in a clearly intended pass have had a reasonable time to reassemble."

"It was a run all the way and the clock still goes," he fumed later. "If he was sacked, it would be different. But we shouldn't have had to wait for the team to gather for a field goal."

Weese admitted he was taken aback by the time Wedge gave the Broncos. "I did think it was a little bit of a long time. Yeah, I was surprised that we could get all lined up and ready before they blew the whistle."

Ford Proves Another Gridiron Curiosity

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
 It seems young bull Mike Ford is destined to qualify this year for the weekly George Woodard memorial health bulletin.

Woodard, the massive Texas A&M fullback, was a giant curiosity each week in the 1977 Southwest Conference questions peppered the A&M switchboard over how much he weighed or what section of his 280-pound torso was banded up.

Woodard is sitting out the season after breaking his leg sliding into homeplate during a slow-pitch softball game.

At 6-foot-3 and 230, Ford looks like a linebacker. But his size or eating habits don't worry SMU Coach Ron Meyer. What bothers Meyer a lot is a dove hunt six games before the season opens with the 12-gauge shotgun making mincemeat of Ford's right shoulder. Ford's arm was so sore he couldn't throw three days before SMU played Texas Christian Saturday night.

Ford promptly went out and calmed the butterflies in Meyer's stomach with two touchdowns passes and 280 yards on 17 completions in 26 attempts.

His performance earned him

The Associated Press SWC Offensive Player of the Week award.

"He came to me on Monday after going hunting on Sunday and said 'Coach, I can't lift my arm.' Can you imagine how this made me feel?" said Meyer. "I almost died. Obviously, he got over it."

There's a lot of difference between the Mike Ford of 1977 and the Mike Ford of 1978. He knows so much more about coverages. He's so mature. Of course, he knew a lot when he got out of Mesquite High School. He came from a good high school program."

Ford said "I feel like we had a pretty good opening game. Derrek Shelton ran well and this helped open the passing game. We have tremendous receivers."

Ford hit tight end Robert Fisher on a 14-yard scoring pass then found wingback Emanuel Tolbert behind the Horned Frog secondary for a 57-yard touchdown bomb.

Home Ownership Changes Essence of Single Life

NEW YORK (AP) - They have long set the style, beating a course from bar to ski lodge to beach party to bed.

Single life may still be one big blast for some, centered on apartment complexes with swimming pools and no children. But for an increasing number this generation of single people - both the not now and never marrieds - the stability of home ownership is changing the essence of going it alone.

The trend started in the early 1970s, and real estate people say it is still growing. Social scientists say it could have profound effects on the traditional suburban life centered on children.

But it's not that the single population is moving to suburbia with vast changes in mind.

"I have a greater sense of security. I also have a feeling of a sense of home, which I never had with an apartment," says Paula H.J. Cholmondeley, a 31-year-old budgets manager who bought a house in Stamford, Conn., after living in a New York apartment for five years.

"My lifestyle has changed," she said. "I go out less. I spend more time at home and less time roaming around. I feel there's someplace I can now go and totally relax and unwind, which I did not feel I could do as well when I lived in an apartment."

Ms. Cholmondeley, like other young singles on today's housing market, decided to buy a house for financial reasons as well as practical considerations. She needed more space and to rent a larger apartment, she said, would not have been a positive return on the money spent as rent.

Dr. Margaret Levi, a 31-year-old political science professor, has owned a house in Seattle, Wash., with her boyfriend for 2 1/2 years. Their mortgage payment is the same as the rent they paid for a smaller apartment.

"We figured it was cheaper than paying rent for the same space," she said. "Plus, we get equity and it's nice to have a place of your own. You can really create a space you like rather than take what the rental market gives you."

Single home ownership has made dramatic increases between 1970 and 1976, according to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The number of single male homeowners under age 35 rose 213 percent from 158,000 to 495,000 during that time. Female homeowners, also single and under 35, jumped 141 percent from 80,000 to 193,000.

And the purchases are nationwide. In Atlanta, 8 percent of all homes sold are to singles, says the Chicago based National Association of Realtors. Twenty-five percent of all houses sold in Phoenix are purchased by singles.

Today's single homeowner is buying everything from factory lofts that need renovating to townhouses, brownstones, one- and two-family houses in the suburbs, farmhouses and barns, condominiums and cooperatives. And the market has yet to peak.

"We now have a whole generation of youthful adults who know inflation. They don't remember when things were cheap they know only that things will be more expensive so they are buying now," said Dr. George Sternlieb, director of the Center for Urban Policy Research at Rutgers University.

"What we have now is a housing buying panic by everyone," he said. "There is the feeling that if you don't do it now, you never will. More younger people are determined to go into a forced savings. Homeownership for some young people is like a super Christmas Club."

Singles are not just buying small homes to meet their immediate needs. Many are purchasing - or thinking about three- and four-bedroom homes with an eye to reselling before the mortgage has expired.

"I want to make an investment and have it turn over in five years," says Victoria Chapman, a 34-year-old magazine editor. "Many young people don't even think in terms of paying off a mortgage. They're thinking of turning it over. Later I can buy something larger."

Ms. Chapman, who currently lives in a Manhattan co-op apartment, is looking to buy a country home for weekends and vacations. She plans to sell it and her coop in five years and buy a larger house.

"The house I always assumed would happen when I married and had a family might not happen," she said. "If I start buying things now, I'll have a place that means something when I'm 60 or 70. The place I have now is not my settling down place."

The emergence of the single homeowner in family neighborhoods and the suburbs has had an impact not only in the community, but on establishing the single lifestyle as a desirable and acceptable one.

"Our real problem is reshaping the suburbs to meet the demands of the new market," says Sternlieb. "There's the problem of how to reduce the forms of public expenditures that were geared to people who originally lived there and not for those who are now there. These new homeowners want swimming pools and tennis courts, not schools."

"But the concept of a homogeneous suburbia has not been the case ever, much less now. Suburbs now contain a critical mass of single people - never married, divorced, widowed."

Those who by choice have removed themselves from the mainstream of disco hopping, pickup bars and trendy boutiques are often surprised to find a new, but just as vigorous social life in the suburbs.

"When I first moved I thought there would be a lot of isolation," says Ms. Cholmondeley. "But I found quite the contrary. There's a subculture of single people who buy houses and do rural things like go to tag sales and play golf."

"There are men out there who would rather date women who live in the country than those who live in the city. It's the convenience and they prefer that lifestyle."

General Satisfaction Expressed Over Jr. High Textbook Picks

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Both feminist and conservative critics expressed general satisfaction Tuesday with junior high readers approved by the State Textbook Committee.

The committee leaned away from heavily protested titles in recommending five supplementary readers each for seventh and eighth grades but did select a revised version of a series that was strongly protested a few years back.

"I batted 1,000," said Norma Gabler of Longview, who has been protesting school books from a conservative and traditionalist stance for more than a dozen years.

A feminist spokeswoman also said she was generally satisfied. But she said she would have preferred that Macmillan's "Journeys" for seventh graders and "Caravans" for eighth graders not be adopted.

"There are no non-sexist readers at this point, but progress is being made," said Twiss Butler of Nassau Bay, a Texas leader of the National Organization for Women.

The committee recommended the Economy Companies "Keys to Reading" series, a revised version of a set of books that was turned down several years ago.

Economy filed but never pursued a $30 million lawsuit against both feminist and conservative critics who had attacked it before the textbook committee. The critics said the series contained too many violent and depressing selections.

At this year's hearings, Drusilla Bearden of the Daughters of the American Revolution, contended some selections were depressing and undermined parental authority. She said a selection mentioned the painter Pablo Picasso without disclosing he was "a self-proclaimed Marxist."

Other books recommended by the committee were Houghton-Mifflin's "Vistas" series, Harcourt's "Rally" series, Ginn's "To Make a Difference" for seventh graders and "Gifts of Promise" for eighth graders.

Seventh and eighth grade math texts were approved Monday. The final decision on textbook adoptions will be made by the State Board of Education after a hearing in November.

Conservative and traditionalist textbook critics were largely silent about math - a subject where protests have been lodged in the past, particularly over "new math" content.

"Math is a real pleasure this year. These are the kind of books we asked for five years ago....They are good in every way. They have really rewritten these books. There are very few instances of stereotyping - women buying fabrics and men buying houses," said Twiss Butler of Nassau Bay.

Ms. Butler, a housewife with five children, is coordinator of the Education Task Force of Texas NOW - the National Organization for Women.

One of the few math protests was made by Mrs. John Graves of Fort Worth, who objected to Scott Foresman's "Mathematics Around Us" for 7th graders - a book that got 11 out of 15 possible votes.

A photo of rolling dice, used to illustrate the concept of probability, "encourages disobedience of the law in the state of Texas where gambling is not permitted," Mrs. Graves' written protest said.

Alice Kidd, the Texas Education Agency's program director for mathematics, said some of the math books recommended by the committee are "computationally oriented. This is how you do it. Get the answer."

Others, she said, are oriented toward "understanding the way the number system works."

"We moved away from the modern math in 1965, so this adoption won't affect that at all," Mrs. Kidd said.

Math books that are recommended are the 7th and 8th grade editions of Macmillan's "Series," Harcourt's "Growth in Mathematics, Silver Burdett's "Mathematics for Mastery," Addison's "Mathematics in Our World" and Scott Foresman's "Mathematics Around Us."

Feminists lost a round with approval of Scott Foresman's "D'Nealian Handwriting" for first graders. American Association of University Women members in the Bryan-College Station area attacked the reliance on line drawings to depict characters.

"In this way, females and males must be distinguished primarily by their clothing and hair styles, both unfair and superficial ways to judge people," the group's written protest said.

MARRIAGE, AMERICAN STYLE

WASHINGTON (AP) - More Americans stay married rather than get divorced. According to the American Council of Life Insurance, 62 couples out of each 100 marriages remain together. It says a government study of women who marry for the first time "shows that for every 100 who marry, 38 will get a divorce but 29 of the divorced women will remarry and 13 of these marriages will again end in divorce.

"Because of the remarriages and second divorces, the original group of 100 will experience 129 marriages and 51 divorces. However, in 62 of the 100 couples, the partners will not change."

Steelworker Swaps Crane for Pulpit

NILES, Ohio (AP) - During the week, John T. Stephens operates a crane at the McDonald Works of U.S. Steel Corp. On Sundays, he does something a bit different. He trades his hard hat for vestments and preaches at the Gethsemane Baptist Church in Youngstown. He concedes his sermons are often "active and sometimes longwinded."

Even though he went to church regularly as a child, it's ironic that he is a man-of-the-cloth now. "My mother and father didn't give me a choice when I was growing up. I wanted to church whether I went to or not," Stephens said he stopped attending church as soon as he left home.

Home was Silver Run, Ala., a rural community where he worked on farms and construction projects. In search of a better job, he came to Niles and lived with a relative until he found his job as a crane operator.

He credits his wife, Betty, with his interest in the church. His life was considerably different before they met, he said. "I liked to party on the weekends. We'd go from bar to bar and when they closed, we'd usually end up at somebody's house to play cards."

"I was leaving a house near where Betty was babysitting one night, met her and that was the beginning. I got interested in her, and she got me interested in going to Valley Baptist Church in Niles." When he was in training to become a deacon at Valley Baptist, Stephens said, a speaker came to the church who proved to be the catalyst that propelled him into the ministry. "During the sermon the Lord called me," he said.

He was ordained in 1967 and a few months later he was called to be the pastor at Gethsemane. His style of preaching is not passive. "I can't stand in one place. I move around and wave my hands, and if I get happy I might even jump up and down a couple of times," he said.

He says he knows that he's talked too long if the congregation starts nodding off. Stephens puts in long hours, being a father to three children, a husband, preacher and steelworker. He is on call 24 hours a day to minister to his congregation.

But he feels it's all worthwhile. "The joy I feel in relating to and helping people is more than any amount of money I could receive."

TWO JOBS—John T. Stephens of Niles, Ohio, a crane operator for a steel company during the week, switches from hard hat to vestments on Sunday to preach at Gethsemane Baptist Church in Youngstown, Ohio.

Experts Say 'Superflies' Have Redeeming Value

By MARCIA DUNN Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Some people call them the "superflies" - giant bugs that like people a whole lot more than people like them.

But entomologists say the nasty reputation given to Blepharipa pratensis and Parasetigena silverstris, commonly called superflies, is undeserved. They neither bite nor sting. In fact, experts say they are the only parasite that has caused a collapse in the state's gypsy moth population, which has stripped leaves from more than a million acres of Pennsylvania's forests.

"They're a large, friendly fly," said Robert Fusco, biological control supervisor for the state Department of Environmental Resources in Harrisburg.

At maturity, superflies are more than a half-inch long - larger than the pesky house fly. They're most common in June and July, when billions of eggs hatch following the mating season. But most people notice them in the spring.

"In the spring, the gypsy moth isn't breeding in large numbers yet, so they (the superflies) spend a lot of time around the human population," said Fusco.

Superflies were introduced in this country from Europe in the early 1900s to fight gypsy moths. They migrated from

New England into Pennsylvania seven years ago.

The number of superflies has grown in proportion to rampaging gypsy moths, he said. But there's still an imbalance favoring the moths.

About 1 1/2 million acres in Pennsylvania were affected by the moths this year, Fusco said. The moths strip trees of their leaves, causing many to die.

Superflies control the moths by insidious means.

The Blepharipa species lays up to 5,000 eggs on leaves of host trees, Fusco said. Gypsy moth caterpillars eat both the leaves and eggs, which later hatch inside their stomachs.

Tiny maggots, born from the eggs, eat their way out of the caterpillar, he said.

The second species, Parasetigena, simply places its eggs on the caterpillar's outer walls. The maggots hatch from the eggs and eat their way into the caterpillar's body.

"Both species have had a stabilizing effect on the gypsy moths," he said.
