Warrants prepared in alien smuggling case

EDINBURG, Texas AP — Authorities prepared arrest warrants today against two men they believe were drivers in an illegal-alien smuggling operation that ended tragically when four Salvadorans died in the back of a 18-wheel truck whose air conditioning system quit.

The aliens told officers they came from El Salvador to the Mexican border town of Reynosa by bus and paid up to $1,500 each to be smuggled by truck to Houston, and then on to Los Angeles, Washng'ton, New York or other cities.

"We'll probably charge him tomorrow because he was the driver. We haven't located him yet," Young said late Tuesday.

The truck was traced to the man, along with items found in a "safe house" where some of the aliens stayed over the weekend, he said.

The other man being sought was the driver of a delivery van that was used to transport some of the aliens from place to place, the investigator said.

The aliens are supposed to look at some photo lineups in the morning. We're kind of holding off on the warrants until we get positive identifications from the lineups," Young said.

The aliens — part of a total party of about 50 — swam or waded across the Rio Grande over the weekend, split into three groups and then were put in the back of a large, refrigerated truck sometime Sunday night, Young said.

"We don't know what time it was, but 26 of them apparently were put into the truck, and the air conditioning was kept on. The smugglers came back Monday morning and gave them all Cokes and so forth. According to the aliens, I think they were waiting for another group (of aliens)," he said.

The smugglers left again, but later Monday morning, probably about 10 a.m., the air conditioning quit, Young said aliens told officers. The door to the 40-foot compartment they were in could be opened only from the outside. Temperatures were a sweltering 92 degrees Monday in Edinburg, and the 13 males and 13 females inside, ranging in age from 14 to 37, began suffering quickly.

The aliens tore sheet metal plating inside the truck in unsuccessful efforts to get out, Young said.

Monday night, the smugglers returned, he said. "My feeling is that they came back — either to bring more aliens or to come check on them — and when they opened the thing up, they saw the dead and sick and just panicked. They got the well ones and drove off. They left the trailer open, and the people just stayed around until they were found. Most of them were in kind of a daze," he said.

The truck was impounded and towed from Edinburg to DPS offices in McAllen, where it was found in good operating condition.

Young said he looked at the truck and found nothing to substantiate early reports that the smugglers set fire to the truck when they left.

Erasmo C. Bravo, chief investigator for the Hidalgo County sheriff's department, said early indications lead him to believe "this is a large smuggling operation" operating "for quite some time."

Authorities were pursuing a tip the vehicle used to remove 10 of the 26 passengers was a white Dodge van, Bravo said. "Either he got them all or some of them took off and ran," Bravo said of the driver.

"The ones they left behind were delirious," Border Patrol agent Manuel Torres said. A woman driving down the

10th shuttle crew named

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly will command the first space shuttle mission totally devoted to secret Department of Defense work, the space agency announced.

The mission, which will be the 10th flight by a reusable spaceship, is scheduled to blast off from the Kennedy Space Center in late 1983, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday.

Mattingly, who also flew one Apollo mission, was commander of the shuttle's fourth voyage.

With him on the shuttle flight will be Astronauts Loren J. Shriver, as pilot; Ellison S. Onizuka, and James F. Buchli, both mission specialists.

A fifth crew member, who will be an Air Force officer acting as a spaceflight engineer, will be named at a later date.

NASA officials said nothing else was being released at this time regarding the plans for the secret DOD mission.

Aliens pay heavy price

DALLAS (AP) — Those who charge as much as $2,000 to smuggle an alien into the United States extract an even higher price — in the form of slavery, torture and even death — upon arrival, federal agents say.

The netherworld of alien smuggling is a multimillion-dollar business run by "one of the meanest, nastiest groups of people you could ever be involved with," said Jack Richardson, chief U.S. Border Patrol agent in Del Rio, Texas.

Immigration and Naturalization Service officials in Washington say there is no way they can accurately estimate the numbers of illegal aliens entering the country each year.

But Border Patrol agents say almost half of the smugglers — and the aliens they transport — evade apprehension.

The treatment of 16 Salvadorans abandoned in a truck in South Texas is typical of the smugglers, agents say. Four of the aliens were dead by the time officers found them Monday night and the other 12 were suffering from a lack of water.

"They are simply cargo to be transported," said Alan Eliason of El Paso, chief Border Patrol agent for far West Texas and southern New Mexico. "It's not untypical for the organization to transport aliens in the trunks of cars as far as Chicago."

Other aliens have been killed because they wouldn't — or couldn't — pay hefty smuggling fees, agents say. Twelve people have been indicted on murder and kidnapping charges in the deaths of four Salvadorans near Houston in August. Other aliens among the group told authorities their smugglers tortured them by cutting off their hair and stuffing it down their throats and by pouring alcohol into their noses.

Two Haitian boat captains were charged in the deaths of 16 Haitians who allegedly were thrown overboard to their deaths during an illegal passage to Florida. Survivors said the captains charged inflated prices for food and water and allowed those who couldn't pay to starve aboard the 33-foot sailboat. The charges later were dropped because of lack of U.S. jurisdiction.

In 1980, a boat captain was convicted in the drownings of a Haitian woman and five children who witnesses said were ordered overboard when the captain spotted a police boat off the Florida coast.

Smugglers often force women into prostitution and bring in children "for immoral purposes," Richardson said. Smugglers "sometimes actually sell persons to the employers," Richardson said. "If you're an illegal alien and you complain, the harbinger says he'll turn you in" to

Proposed amendments on Nov. 2 ballot

In addition to the numerous candidates on the November General Election ballot, there will also be six proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Secretary of State David Dean's office had published a brief explanatory statement about each of the proposed changes to the constitution

According to a statement by Dean the low voter turnout in the November, 1981 election "was due in large part to a lack of education on the part of the voters as to the content of the amendments."

"Because of the importance of constitutional amendments, it is essential that Texas voters be educated to the fullest extent possible."

Following are descriptions of the six proposed amendments:

PROP. No. 1
House Joint Resolution 1 proposes a constitutional amendment that prohibits any state ad valorem taxes that are collected after the effective date of the proposed amendment shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund of the county collecting the taxes and may be expended for county purposes. Taxes collected before that date shall be distributed by the legislature among educational institutions eligible to receive those funds under prior law. The proposed amendment also repeals a section of the Constitution levying an ad valorem tax for a construction fund for 17 state colleges and universities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment repealing the state property tax."

PROP. NO. 2
House Joint Resolution 62 as amended by Senate Joint Resolution 10 proposes a constitutional amendment that would eliminate the $80,000,000 ceiling on state welfare aid during any fiscal year.

The amendment would set the state welfare spending limit at $160,000,000 for the 1982-1983 biennium.

The amendment further provides that, for each subsequent biennium, the maximum amount spent for shall not exceed one percent of the state budget.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to provide assistance through the appropriations process to needy persons and to place a ceiling on payments for needy dependent children at one percent of the state budget."

PROP. No. 3
Senate Joint Resolution 8

proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt machinery and equipment used in the production of farm and ranch products from taxation. No dollar limits would be imposed and the exemption would apply to corporations and partnerships as well as to families and individuals.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting implements of husbandry (agriculture machinery and equipment) from ad valorem taxation."

Harsher penalties wanted

DALLAS (AP) — A second conviction for driving while intoxicated should carry an automatic sentence of at least two days in jail and at least 90 days' loss of driver's license, several Democratic members of the Texas Legislature say.

The legislators, all from the Dallas area, held a news conference Tuesday to outline several reforms they plan to push for in the areas of drunk driving and child abuse when the Texas Legislature reconvenes next January.

"The Republicans have been taking credit for law-and-order issues, but we think it is important for the people of Texas to know that all the war-on-drugs programs that were passed last term were carried by a Democrat," said Rep. Ted Lyon of Mesquite, who is running for the state Senate.

Reforms are needed to keep drunk drivers off the highways, Lyon said. The group's recommendations seek stiffer penalties and the removal of loopholes in existing law.

A person charged with driving while intoxicated should be allowed probation only on the first offense and only then after completing an alcohol education program, the legislators suggested.

In addition to the mandatory jail time and suspension of driver's licenses on subsequent DWI convictions, the reform package also seeks to do away with the practice of wiping a DWI conviction off people's records once they have successfully served out a probated sentence.

Gunmen release hostages, escape

KOBLENZ, West Germany AP — Two gunmen who seized nine bank employees in a botched robbery and fled with a $400,000 ransom freed their remaining captives today and escaped after a wild car-chase and shootout, police said.

One hostage was shot in the leg and two squad cars were peppered with gunfire during the 19-hour ordeal which began Tuesday, police spokesman Karl-Heinz Klein told The Associated Press. Earlier, police said none of the captives had been hurt.

Klein said police were still pursuing the gunmen near Euskirchen, 10 miles west of Bonn, after a 30-mile car-chase on a road that winds along the Rhine River. The gunmen abandoned the car they had been driving just south of Bonn and stole another car, the spokesman said, but had freed all the hostages by 7 a.m. 2 a.m. EDT.

"There is a big search with additional officers and helicopters, but at the moment, we don't know exactly where the fugitives are," Klein said.

He also disclaimed an earlier police report that the gunmen drove one squad car off the road with gunfire and briefly held the driver as a hostage.

The men had seized nine bank employees and threatened to massacre them at the Koblenz Savings Bank on Tuesday afternoon if they did not get 1 million marks — about $400,000 — a getaway car and safe passage from the bank.

Earlier today, the gunmen and two or three captives left the bank after authorities paid the ransom and provided them with a BMW getaway car. Police erroneously reported earlier that the vehicle was a Mercedes Benz.

Picture Perfection

Hereford High alumnus Tony Priest, right, returned to his alma mater Tuesday to take yearbook photos. Priest and another alumnus, Jim Banner, are traveling together with Blunck Studios under a work-scholarship plan. The two shoot school portraits in Texas, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma during the fall and attend school in Clinton, Okla., in the spring and summer. Priest said he took over 2,000 photos in schools last week. Retakes for Hereford High will be made, however, a date has not been set. (Brand Photo)

update wednesday

Swedes drop depth charges in sub hunt

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish navy, trying to capture a mysterious submarine that may be from the Soviet bloc, dropped depth charges today on the vessel near Sweden's main naval base, officials said.

A navy spokesman confirmed that "at least one" depth charge was dropped today on the unidentified vessel, trapped in Hors Bay, Stockholm's inner archipelago and subjected to a depth charge barrage since Monday.

Although officials have refused to speculate on the nationality of the submarine, Swedish newspapers have reported that the vessel was believed to belong to a Warsaw Pact nation, perhaps from the Soviet Union or Poland.

Adm. Christer Kierkegaard, who directed the hunt, said that "this time we are determined to outlast it and force it up, not just send it off with a slap in the bottom."

More than a dozen depth charges were dropped since Monday to force the submarine to surface, and officials speculated today that the vessel withstanding the beating may be a new, small spy sub, possibly a remote controlled crewless one.

Denton to pay farmer $400,000

DENTON, Texas (AP) — An elderly farmer has agreed to drop his claim to a sewage treatment plant site and give up 75 acres of farmland in exchange for $400,000 from city officials.

Felix Callahan, 74, and his family won title to the 18-acre plant site last May when a state district judge ruled the city violated a 22-year-old contract with them.

The Denton City Council voted Tuesday night to pay the Callahans to buy the 75 acres, which border the $9 million plant, and to re-obtain title to the land on which the plant is located.

Callahan sued the city a year ago, citing a 1960 agreement made when the family sold the city the land on which the plant was built.

The deed gave the family exclusive right to divert and use any waste water from the plant and said the land would revert to the Callahans if the agreement were broken.

The city later began diverting some of the waste water to cool its electric generating plant, and Callahan said the action made it impossible for him to irrigate his fields.

Indian president to undergo operation

HOUSTON (AP) — Zail Singh, president of India, will have surgery today to correct a heart ailment, a hospital spokeswoman says.

Tests performed on the 66-year-old president showed hardening of the arteries and several accompanying blockages, said spokeswoman Hazel Haby.

Noted surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley will perform the operation, which is expected to last between two and three hours, Ms. Haby said.

Singh was admitted to the Texas Heart Institute last week for tests to evaluate the condition of his coronary arteries. He was in "good condition" and "resting comfortably," said a hospital statement released Tuesday.

Surya Bagla, an Indian minister of economics at the embassy in Washington, said Singh has undergone angiogram and other tests.

Singh was elected and installed as president last July after serving as minister of home affairs in Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's cabinet.

He was hospitalized in India earlier this year with a heart ailment.

Commodity exports hurting more

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of U.S. agricultural commodities, the centerpiece of the Reagan administration's farm policy, are suffering even worse than experts had been saying a couple of months ago.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that farm exports in August were valued at $2.5 billion, virtually unchanged from their depressed level in July.

As a result, the value of farm exports in the 1981-82 fiscal year which ended on Sept. 30 may fall below the $40.5 billion level projected less than two months ago, officials said. Even at that level, exports would have shown their first annual decline since the late 1960s.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service said that August shipments, valued at $2.5 billion, were down 15 percent from the year-earlier level. The actual volume of shipments also dropped 11 percent.

Coed never liked science

Space experiment nets better grade

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The pathway into space for a student experiment was also 18-year-old Michelle Issel's route to a better grade in science.

Miss Issel designed one of three student experiments that will fly on the space shuttle's fifth mission, set to lift off Nov. 11.

At a news conference at the Johnson Space Center Tuesday, she said she organized the experiment while a high school junior in Wallington, Conn., because she didn't like science.

"Before I entered the contest, I didn't like science and didn't do well in sciences courses at all," said Miss Issel, who now is a freshman at American University.

She proposed an experiment to study the effects of weightlessness on crystal formation, hoping it would help her science grade. It worked. "It got me interested, and I improved my grade from a C to almost an A," she said.

Two other students whose ideas are going into space as part of the Columbia's next five-day mission are Aaron Gillette, 18, of Winter Haven, Fla., and D. Scott Thomas, 18, of Johnstown, Pa.

Thomas now attends Utah State, while Gillette is enrolled at Western Carolina University.

The trio was picked from 1,500 entries in the Shuttle Student Involvement Project, a nationwide competition among high school students sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Teachers Association.

Miss Issel's experiment consists of a solution of triglycine sulfate in small flask, which will be heated in orbit and solidify into a crystal.

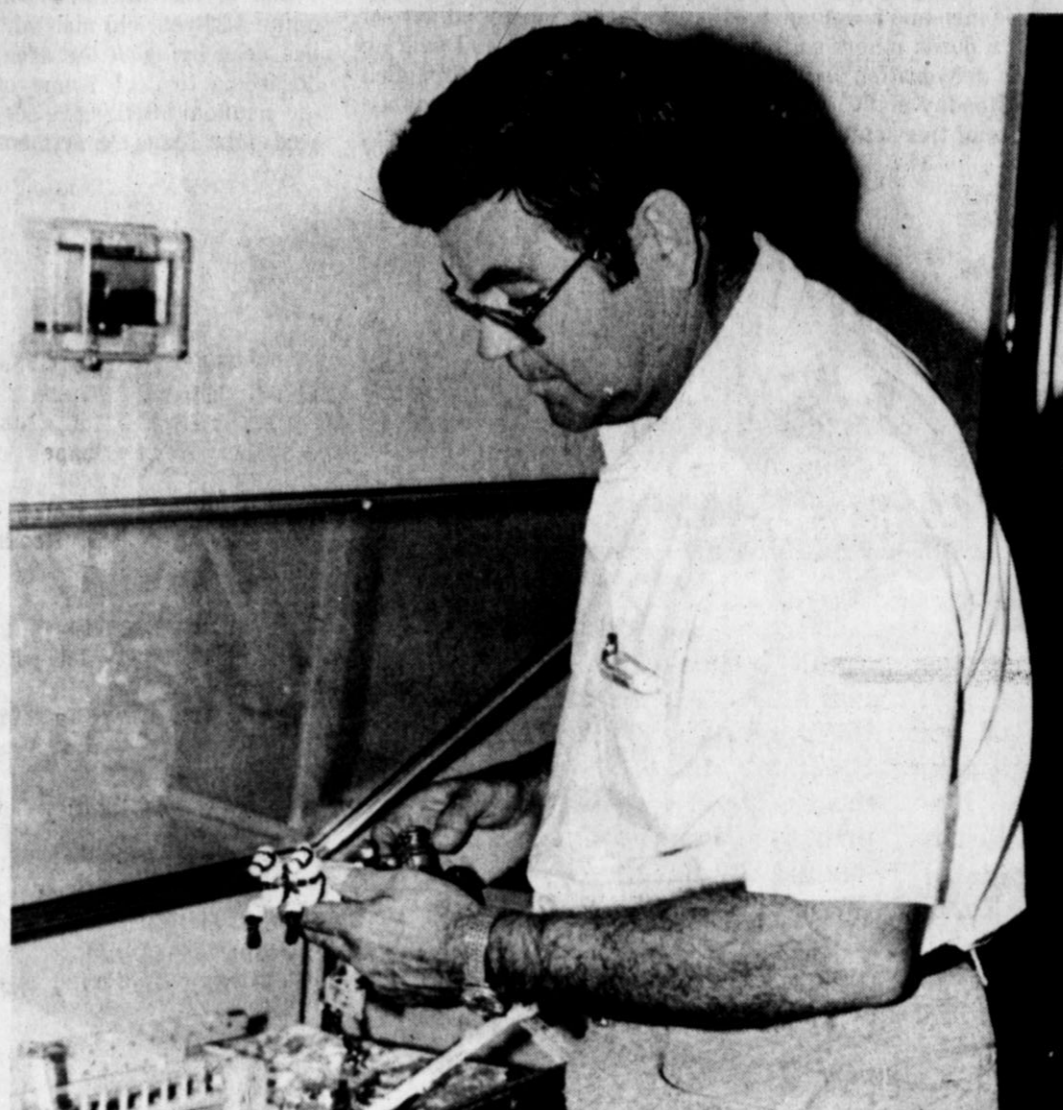

The device, housed in a suitcase-sized package, is powered by 30 ordinary flashlight batteries.

Miss Issel said crystal growth on Earth is inhibited by the effects of gravity, causing the lattice structure of the crystal to be distorted. She hopes to prove perfect crystals can be grown in space, where Earth's gravity has little effect.

Perfect crystals, she said, would increase the capacity of electronic devices and enable them to last longer.

Thomas' experiment is a study about the effects of weightlessness on convection currents.

Gillette's experiment is a study of the effects of weightlessness on the ability of individual sponge cells to mass and form a new sponge.

Displayer of the Month

Jay Spain has his collection of miniature wood and metal fire engines and trucks on display this month at Deaf Smith County Library. He brought in his exhibit this week to remind the public of Fire Prevention Week which will end Saturday. Spain, who began his unique hobby approximately 12 years ago, is shown with an 80 year-old fire engine which came from the attic of an old house in Corpus Christ.

Coast Guard accepting applications

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1987. Applications are being accepted from both men and women.

Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1982.

Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Dec. 11, 1982 administration for the ACT and the Dec. 4, 1982 administration for the SAT. The competition for appointment as Cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and part time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1983. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1983. Applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical requirements.

Coast Guard Cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill their ordinary living expenses. The constantly updated Academy curriculum leads to a Bachelor of Science degree with a strong academic emphasis on engineering and science.

The selected major studies, when combined with varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the Academy are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools.

The young Academy graduate can look forward to a varied, exciting, and demanding career as a regular Coast Guard officer. The Coast Guard performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of merchant marine safety.

highway saw people crawling out of the truck and called police to report a major accident. The truck was discovered on U.S. 281, just 15 miles north of the Mexican border.

Hildago County Peace Justice Romero Jasso said the four victims died of asphyxiation.

"They suffocated in the van (truck), no doubt about it," Jasso said. "It was a combination of dehydration and suffocation."

The 12 survivors, some unconscious, were taken to Edinburg General Hospital. Four were treated and released and two later were taken to McAllen Methodist Hospital.

Edinburg Patrolman Henry Trevino said he is haunted, recalling trying to talk to one woman who was lying on top of a dead woman inside the truck.

"She just kind of looked up at me in a glaze and seemed to be in shock," he said.

One of the three dead men was lying on a wooden pallet outside the truck, with about four aliens nearby, Trevino said. The other dead and the survivors were inside the jumbled trailer. It was strewn with wooden pallets and the aliens' luggage and clothing.

"What makes these people do these things?" Trevino said. "Things must be pretty bad over there to make these people go to these lengths to try to go to America."

Ballot from page one

PROP. No. 4 House Joint Resolution 77 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Legislature to set a four year maximum term of office for board members of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide terms not to exceed four years for members of governing boards of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts."

PROP. NO. 5

House Joint Resolution 119 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize Tarrant and Bee counties to hold county-wide elections to abolish the county treasurer's office by majority vote.

Should the county treasurer's office be abolished, the duties, powers, and functions of that office would be transferred to the county auditor or the successor to the auditor's functions.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to abolish the office of county treasurer in Tarrant and Bee counties."

PROP. NO. 6

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would raise the constitutional interest rate limit on state general obligation bonds from 6 percent to 12 percent. The new 12 percent ceiling does not, however, apply to bonds issued by the veterans' Land Board.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment increasing the maximum interest rate allowed on state general obligation bonds to a weighted average annual interest rate of 12 percent."

the authorities.

Agents said the average fee is $1,000, though Richardson said some aliens have paid up to $2,000 to enter the United States. Some smugglers even guarantee delivery, promising to smuggle the aliens in again without charge if they are caught, he said.

Richardson estimated that an average 60 percent of the aliens entering his area are caught and Eliason said his agents apprehend "at least half" the illegal entrants.

"You could probably put a man every 10 feet and they would still find a way to get through," said Oscar H. Garza Jr., chief Border Patrol agent at Laredo, Texas.

A recent dramatic jump in the arrests of smuggled aliens reflects a renewed influx of people fleeing economic problems at home, the agents say.

The number of alien apprehensions along the southern U.S. border jumped 16.6 percent in August and 17.7 percent in September over the same months of 1981, INS spokeswoman Janet Graham in Washington said Tuesday.

From October 1981 through August, 68,442 smuggled aliens were apprehended nationwide — along with 11,501 smugglers, she said.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I was extremely surprised to read in Charles Cranford's recent letter to this newspaper that he took my letter of last week so personal. I did not, at any time in my letter, mention the arcade owned by his children or it's customers. Nor, was I referring in any way to the behavior of his customers who come to the arcade to play games.

As a matter of fact, my own children have been customers of the arcade in daylight hours and have reported to me that there are strict rules enforced concerning their behavior. I have no quarrel with Mr. Cranford, his children, or his arcade business and was rather puzzled in regard to the content of my letter, that he seemed to think that this was the case. He seems to have missed the point of my letter, entirely.

As a citizen of Hereford, I am proud of our young people and also think that they are "tops". I believe I stated as much in the closing paragraph of my last letter. We have a community that produces top athletes, Red Cross volunteers, Eagle Scouts, honor students, and just all-around fine people. As a mother of three children and being a fallible human being myself, I am very aware that "perfection cannot be found in any one person," as Mr. Cranford states, but I think our community on the whole comes as close as does any town.

Not being a permanent resident of Hereford, I'm sure Mr. Cranford was unaware that the problem I am most concerned with is not as new as one month, or been one year. There have been locations in town in the past that have fought the same type problems I spoke of with the same type of small but corruptive group of people.

I was distressed by these problems (as are literally thousands of other Hereford residents) in the past, but was not moved to write a letter until I actually witnessed all the acts I mentioned in my previous letter. Mr. Cranford's statement: "Just suppose that in the event she did see the acts as she stated..." comes close to insinuating that I did not see the things I wrote about.

I assure you that I very carefully reviewed my letter before submitting it to make sure that every word written therein was the absolute truth. I have seen teenagers, and what appear to be pre-teens on these parking lots with pants unzipped, blouses half removed and their bodies sometimes exposed in very intimate places. I personally consider nudity and fondling of genitals in public to be about as close to public sex as I want to get...

If Mr. Cranford or anyone else wishes to know the exact nature of anything I have seen, I will be willing to discuss it with them... As to Mr. Cranford's comments concerning the reporting of these things to the police, I state again that the police have been called repeatedly. I have discussed these matters with them.

I was not more explicit in my description of the incidents I had witnessed when I wrote before because I did not wish to offend anyone by my frankness. In closing, I wish to stress once more that my previous letter made no reference, either directly or indirectly, to the business owned by Mr. Cranford's children and am not doing so now.

I have referred to behaviour witnessed on the parking lots of several businesses facing Park Avenue after closing time. To infer that these businessmen should be held responsible for such behavior would not only be ludicrous but unfair, as well.

It seems to me, however, that those of us who have been concerned about ruthless disregard for civil and moral laws are in the majority and perhaps now is the time to seek appropriate action to alleviate some of that which offends us.

Thank you,
Pam Fogo

CBS wins in Nielsens, NBC still at third

LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS won the coveted top spot in the weekly A.C. Nielsen television ratings during the important fall premiere week while NBC, counting on its new comedies and dramas to lift it out of the ratings cellar, was back in familiar territory: third place.

The highest-rated show for the premiere week was the return of the ABC comedy "Three's Company" for its sixth year.

CBS, first in the ratings for the past two years, started the fall season with a rating of 17.9 while ABC was close behind with 17.3. NBC was in third place with 14.4. The networks say that CBS' rating means that in an average prime-time minute, 17.9 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to the network.

ABC had six shows in the Top 10 and CBS had four.

Ten of the 15 lowest-rated shows for the week ended Oct. 3 were NBC offerings, including some programs making their debut.

Some foods may lessen odds of cancer

Although we have heard plenty about foods that appear to increase the chances of getting cancer, a recent study also cites foods that seem to reduce the odds, says the Texas Medical Association.

A scientific committee of the National Academy of Sciences says in a report that diets rich in fruits, vegetables and whole-grain cereals seem to reduce the chances of getting certain kinds of cancer.

The panel specifically urged daily consumption of produce high in vitamin C and carotene, which the body changes to vitamin A.

The committee noted that vitamin C in foods can inhibit the formation of cancer-causing substances. It said foods rich in vitamin C, such as citrus fruits, tomatoes and peppers, appear to lower the risk of stomach and esophagus cancer.

Foods high in carotene are associated with a reduced risk of many cancers, including lung, breast, bladder and skin. These foods include dark-green leafy vegetables and deep-yellow fruits and vegetables, such as carrots, spinach and broccoli.

The study also cited vegetables in the cabbage family—cauliflower, kale and brussels sprouts—for their natural cancer-inhibiting substances.

But the committee advised against taking large doses of vitamin and nutrient supplements. It cited a lack of proof that this is healthful and noted possible toxic hazards.

The study also urged people to cut back on foods that may increase the risk of getting cancer. They include:

- Salt-cured and smoked foods such as bacon, bologna, smoked fish and ham, sausage and hot dogs.
- Foods high in fat such as fatty cuts of meat, cooking oils and whole-milk dairy products.

Finally, the report urged moderation in drinking alcoholic beverages. It noted that heavy drinking has been associated with an increased risk of cancer of the upper gastrointestinal and respiratory tracts, particularly when combined with smoking.

If you take everything into consideration you'll never be able to have leftovers for the next day?

Major League baseball sets attendance mark

By LES GILES
Sports Editor

If you think the fans will get back at pro football, when the strike is over, by staying away from the games, forget such notions.

Do you think the baseball strike last summer hurt attendance this year?

Not on your life. In fact, the final unofficial major league attendance figure was placed at 44,584,943—bettering the old mark (set previously in 1979) by nearly a million.

If anything, it seemed as though last summer's strike just seemed to enhance the fan appeal—at least in the major league cities, and that's where it counts the most—at the turnstile.

While the strike didn't seem to have that much adverse effect on this year's attendance, it certainly didn't hurt to have four great divisional pennant races.

Of the four divisions, three were decided in either the next-to-last, or last game of the regular season.

It would be hard to imagine the pennant races being much closer.

It seems kinda funny without the Dodgers or the Yankees in the playoffs. Almost like Dallas not being in the NFL playoffs. It doesn't happen that often.

None of the four teams involved have been in the World Series since divisional play began in 1969.

And, only Atlanta (in 1969) and California (1979) have actually been in a championship playoff, although Milwaukee did lose to the Yankees last year in the Eastern Division playoff, created by the split season.

I've been wrong all season...I never thought the Braves would make it this far, and I didn't think the Angels would beat out Kansas City...so I'll take Atlanta and California to reach the World Series, with the Angels winning in six games.

THE HEREFORD BRAND SPORTS

Page 4—The Hereford Brand—Wednesday, Oct. 6, 1982

Best bets for MVP honors seem to be Milwaukee's Robin Yount and Atlanta's Dale Murphy. I, wouldn't be surprised if Montreal's Al Oliver won the National League MVP award.

Philadelphia's Steve Carlton seems to be a great bet to win the National League Cy Young Award, while in the American League it's anyone's guess.

Take your pick between Pete Vukovich or Rollie Fingers of Milwaukee, or Jim Palmer of Baltimore.

Rookie of the Year awards really appear wide open, and there were a rash of good rookie players this year, too.

Best bet in the American League is Baltimore's Cal Ripken, Jr., but don't count out Kent Hrbek of the Twins.

In the National League, the choice appears much greater. The best candidates seem to be Willie McGee of St. Louis, Johnny Ray of the Pirates, Ryne Sandberg of the Cubs, Chili Davis of San Francisco and Steve Sax of the Dodgers.

Something's gotta give this Saturday when TCU hosts

Rice in a Southwest Conference football game at Fort Worth.

The Frogs are 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the SWC (having lost their last three starts), while the Owls are 0-4 overall and 0-1 in the conference.

How about this for trivia?

The last time TCU defeated Rice, in Fort Worth, was 1971-11 years ago.

F.A. Dry, who could be on the way out at TCU, if things don't pick up, had this to say about last week's 35-0 loss to Arkansas.

"We (TCU's offense) were intimidated from the start. The (TCU) defense made the big plays. They (TCU's defense) played well enough to win, but we couldn't shock our offense back into the ballgame. Panic started to set in for us, offensively, as we started reverting back to old habits."

About possible changes, Dry said: "First, we need to answer one of two questions. Is it our personnel we need to change? Or, is it our offensive system we need to diagnose? We have to get our offense straightened out. Right now, it's ridiculous...embarrassing."

Speaking of embarrassment...how about Texas A&M? Who'd ever have thought Texas Tech would rise up and smite Jackie Sherrill's Aggies, and to top everything, at home?

Well, folks, after four weeks into the 1982 season, the Red Raiders (whom many were listed among the deceased a few weeks ago after losing to New Mexico) are alive and well, boasting a 2-2 record.

What, you say, is so great about being 2-2?

Well, when you've just gone through a 1-9-1 season and prospects don't appear that much brighter this time around, 2-2 is mighty good.

This week, though, the Raiders must travel to Fayetteville to take on Arkansas. Prospects for a win there appear slim, but that's what folks were saying at this time last week.

After that, it's on to Houston to face Rice, then on to Seattle to meet the nation's top-ranked (at the present time) club, Washington.

Next home game for Tech will be Oct. 30 against the University of Texas.

And, speaking of Tech, Hereford's Aubrey Richburg is among the 28 players Jerry Moore has listed as redshirts for this season.

Simply put, that means Aubrey will have four years of eligibility remaining.

Haas after 3rd straight win

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Jay Haas has the hottest hand on the Professional Golfers Association tour and some new-found confidence as he shoots for his third consecutive victory against an exceptionally strong field in the $350,000 LaJet Classic.

The 156-man lineup that will test the 7,077-yard, par-72 Fairway Oaks Golf and Racquet Club course includes the top six money-winners of the year — Masters champion Craig Stadler, PGA titleholder Ray Floyd, Tom Kite, U.S. and British Open king Tom Watson, Lanny Wadkins and Bob Gilder — and 16 of the year's top 20 money-winners.

Despite the strength of the field, Haas may be the man to watch in the 72-hole chase that begins Thursday.

He's won his last two starts, including a wire-to-wire triumph in last week's Texas Open, and has made only one bogey in his last 90 holes.

"It's phenomenal how well

I've putted in the two tournaments I've won," Haas said.

"I'm playing awfully well. But it's the putting that makes the difference.

"I don't think I missed a putt from five feet or less all of last week. You don't figure to make all of them. And with most tournaments being decided by one or two strokes, that's the difference in winning and losing," he said before a practice round.

Haas, who has won $90,000 in his last two starts to make this "my best season ever," will be chasing a $63,000 first-place check, a prize that helped lure the men gunning for golf's major seasonal honors, Player of the Year, Vardon Trophy and leading money-winner.

Stadler, with $443,820 in earnings for the year, leads No. 2 Floyd by more than $57,000 with only two other tournaments remaining on the schedule. Kite has leads Watson 70.08 to 70.34 in scoring average. And Wason leads Stadler by about 10 points in the standings that determine the Player of the Year.

In addition to the top six money-winners, other leading players include rebounding Lee Trevino, Hale Irwin, defending champion Tom Weiskopf, Johnny Miller, Ben Crenshaw, Andy Bean and host pro Charles Cody.

Rockets get Wally Walker

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets have acquired forward Wally Walker from the Seattle SuperSonics in exchange for a second-round pick in the 1984 college draft.

Walker, a six-year veteran, will be playing under a one-year contract he signed with the Sonics. Team officials said Walker will arrive here in time for workouts today.

Eastern powers ranked

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

During preseason drills, Penn State Coach Joe Paterno and several of his assistant coaches who once played for him were talking about how things have changed in college football.

"We were talking about playing consecutive games against Nebraska and Alabama and they said their toughest opponents were always teams in the East, not from outside the area," Paterno disclosed.

Since Paterno has usually been the foremost proponent of Eastern football, he was tickled to see Penn State, Pitt, West Virginia and Boston College in the Top Twenty last week. Oh, he may not have been ecstatic to see arch-rival Pitt among the elite, but he was delighted that four Eastern teams were ranked in the same poll for the first time since 1960.

"That really pleases me," he said. "That's great. I hope we can sustain it. The good Eastern teams are as good as those anywhere else. It's just too bad that the all-sports conference we all talked about along with Temple, Rutgers and Syracuse never came off. We just about had the Fiesta Bowl wrapped up for our champion. It would have given us the foundation to maintain what's going on now."

For the time being, nothing has changed with regard to the NCAA's college football package with ABC, CBS and Turner Broadcasting. The NCAA, which has a better court record than Perry Mason, obtained a stay to U.S. District Judge Juan Burciaga's ruling last month which overturned the entire four-year, $281 million TV plan, calling it a violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act by fixing prices and restricting output and adding that the NCAA was well aware of that possibility "for some time."

If the NCAA's appeal is upheld, the status will return to quo. If it is not... "A lot of speculation at this point in time would be premature, but it won't be chaos," says Chuck Neinas, executive director of the College Football Association. "Obviously, we don't know what the future holds. It would be foolhardy to predict what the Appeals Court might do."

Now, the board of directors of the CFA, which consists of all the nation's major football schools except the Big and Pacific-10 Conferences, will meet in Atlanta on Sunday to discuss whether to reactivate its TV committee "and explore what we can do within the law to develop a plan for CFA members and salability of same," Neinas says.

The CFA, you remember, signed a deal with NBC last year that would have guaranteed each of its members at least $1 million — it would have been more lucrative to CFA members than the NCAA package — only to have it fall through for lack of support after the NCAA threatened reprisals against any NCAA member — and all CFA members belong to the NCAA — which televised a football game outside the NCAA pact with ABC, CBS and TBS.

Magic formula picks Angels to defeat Braves in Series

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

People who make those World Series rings can set their dies. The inscription is simple. Angels, spelled A-N-G-E-L-S. While you're at it, you might as well hammer out a set for the losing guys from the National League, the Braves.

That's the word we get from Bill James, a tall, bearded statistical wizard from — of all places — Winchester, Kan. He's got it all down on paper just as it's going to happen, based on a magical formula derived from a study of all the World Series and playoffs since 1903, excluding the 1919 Black Sox scandal.

"The Angels will beat Brewers in the American League playoffs and the Braves shouldn't have too much trouble with the Cardinals for the National League pennant," insists James, whose system has worked in 74 per cent of the 77 World Series and 26 playoffs to which the formula has been applied — retroactively since 1974.

The 33-year-old English and economics major out of Kansas University, said he had been a baseball nut since 11 and while watching the 1974 Series began his system.

"Out of that I devised a point system — 13 significant areas of comparison — and awarded points according to what I felt most important. The system came out ahead in 53 of 77 World Series and 21 of 26 league playoffs. It hit on all four playoffs in the split season of 1981."

Under James' mathematical gymnastics, the Angels, in their series with Milwaukee, get 19 points for more shutouts (10 to 6), 15 points for earned run average (3.82 to 3.98), 14 points for hitting the fewer doubles and eight points for having the lower batting average (.273 to .279). "The latter two categories seem contradictory," the figure filbert explains. "I call them negative factors. Records show that teams that hit a lot of doubles — indicating aggressive base-running — don't win series. Look at the Ty Cobb, Jackie Robinson and White Herzog teams. Teams with low batting averages are usually power teams — a definite asset."

James, who puts out a baseball publication called "Baseball Abstract" and contributes to "Inside Sports" magazine, has some pluses for Harvey Kuenn's Brewers. He gives them points for more home runs, better won-lost record, more runs scored, more triples, more double plays and even points for walking the more men.

"History shows that teams which give walks often win," James said. "It's a caution tactic, a guard against the killing home run. But I gave the Angels more positive points, total 64 to 55."

The diamond handicapper said the National League playoff was more interesting because, whereas the AL series matches similar offensive strengths, the other league puts Atlanta's instant power against the Cardinals high average offense.

"The Cards may have to send eight men to the plate to get three runs in an inning," he said, "while Atlanta can score quickly — harder to stop."

He gives the Braves an overwhelming edge over the Cards, 85-41.

Bryan retains top billing

By The Associated Press

The Bryan Vikings have retained their top billing in Class 5A of The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll by the slightest of margins.

Bryan was assured of a 10-7 victory over Killeen last week only after Killeen missed a 49-yard field goal with 51 seconds left in the game.

The narrow victory was reflected in the latest AP tabulation, in which the Vikings held off No. 2 ranked Port Arthur Jefferson by a 223-222 point margin. Bryan got 13 first-place votes to eight for Jefferson.

Fort Bend Willowridge in 4A, Post in 3A, Eastland in 2A and Bremond in A also held onto their top ranks at the season's mid-point.

Midland Lee provided a shocker by beating fourth-ranked San Angelo 21-14 while Longview edged 10th-ranked Texarkana 10-7. Both losers dropped from the top 10 and were replaced by Gregory-Portland at No. 10 and Dallas South Oak Cliff at No. 9.

San Angelo Lakeview, meanwhile, carried the city's banner by moving into the No. 10 spot in Class 4A, replacing Corsicana, which lost to No. 6 Waxahachie 24-7. Sixth-ranked Cuero lost to Karnes City 16-14 and Hebronville, rated No. 9 last week, lost to Refugio, which advanced from seventh to sixth on the 3A list. Bonham and Sweeney replaced Cuero and Hebronville as the Nos. 9 and 10 ranked teams.

Tenth-ranked Anna lost to Whitewright 13-6 and dropped from the 2A list. Seagraves was the replacement at No. 10. Godley defeated No. 10-ranked Paradise in Class A and was replaced by Goldthwaite.

The Angels got the good pitching in the opener of the best-of-five series, with Tommy John, 14-12 during the regular season, going the distance. He settled down

Baylor paces Angel win, 8-3

ANAHEIM, Calif. AP — The first game of the California-Milwaukee slugfest in the American League Championship series belongs to Don Baylor and the Angels.

And Baylor, the designated hitter who drove in a playoff record-tying five runs in California's 8-3 victory Tuesday night, believes the Angels are on a roll heading into tonight's rematch at Anaheim Stadium.

"Momentum means a lot in sports," Baylor said after he provided one run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, tripled home a pair in the third, then singled home two more in the fourth as the Angels moved out to a 7-3 advantage.

"We'll go out there again and have 64,000 people in the stands, and the only thing that can stop momentum is good pitching," Baylor added.

The Angels got the good pitching in the opener of the best-of-five series, with Tommy John, 14-12 during the regular season, going the distance. He settled down after allowing a two-run homer to Gorman Thomas in the second inning and another Brewer run in the third. John allowed seven hits, and was never in serious trouble after the third.

Brewer starter Mike Caldwell, 17-13, gave up seven hits and six runs, five earned, before giving way to Jim Slaton with one on and none out in the fourth inning. Baylor, who had 93 RBI this season and a league-high 21 game-winning RBI, said he concentrates more and is a better hitter with men on base.

Fred Lynn got three hits, including a solo homer in the fifth for the Angels' final run.

Cougars charitable

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bill Yeoman says the Cougars have been too charitable in their first four games this season.

"We've got to stop making a contribution to our own demise," said Yeoman, whose Cougars are off to a disappointing 1-2-1 start. "We've been magnanimous in our first-half approach to each game. But we've done it

Houston has allowed 79 points this season and 44 have come after an interception, fumble or blocked punt.

"We've had fewer turnovers this year than in the past, but we've had more in critical areas of the field that make it harder for the defense to overcome," Yeoman said.

cond Class Scout, First Class Scout, Star Scout and Life Scout, prior to the achievement of Eagle Scout.

Ann Landers

Wants wife to be less prudish

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 69 years of age with a problem I am sure others share but don't want to talk about.

My wife is a good woman with high morals. She has tried her best to live an upright Christian life. But, due to her strict religious upbringing, our physical relationship has always been very uninteresting. This is not her fault. She simply does not understand what a man needs to become motivated sexually. As you know, visual stimulation can be a great help, especially at my age. The last time I saw her undressed was in 1969 and that was an accident. (She is 68 and has a unusually youthful figure.) When she discovered I had caught a glimpse of her, she became very upset.

The woman always undresses in the bathroom and insists that our bedroom be pitch black. She wears baggy slacks all the time with a loose overblouse. That outfit is about as exciting as looking at the local lumberyard.

Please tell me how I can get her to be less prudish. - Mr. Z. In Oregon Which Is Not Where I Live

DEAR MR. Z.: Your signature could have been "Mr. Everywhere, USA." The problem is a common one. I wish there was an easy answer, but alas, there is not.

At 69 there may not be much flexibility in this area, but do try. Discuss your feelings with her openly. Be generous with the compliments. Let her know how exciting she is and what it would mean to you if she would loosen up a little. The twilight years can be the sweetest when there is honest communication and appreciation of one another's needs.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I kept my wonderful father at home as long as I could. He is now 90 and requires constant care. My health is not good, and I did the best I could. I go to visit him in the nursing home almost every day. There are others in the family who could help me with the visiting, but they always have something else to do. I decided not to speak to them about it anymore.

My daughter was here Sunday and really laid me out for being such an indifferent grandmother. She said I am so busy with my father that I don't pay any attention to her children. She says the least I can do is take them out for a day and show them a good time. I feel very sad about this and would like your opinion. - Sorrowful In Texas

DEAR SORROWFUL: Your daughter has a point, but she should not be laying a guilt trip on you because you don't entertain her kids. Tell her you would be glad to take them for the day if she will go in your place to visit her 90-year-old grandfather. I admire you devotion to your father, dear, but you are cheating yourself by not making time for the grandchildren.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am fed up with sending expensive wedding gifts only to discover the bride and groom are getting divorced before the charge for the gift has come through.

I am fighting back by presenting one-year magazine subscriptions as wedding gifts addressed to Mr. and Mrs. with instructions to the publisher that if a change of address notice comes through within a year to cancel the subscription and refund the balance to me, the donor. I'd like your reaction - Had It With The Flakes.

DEAR HAD IT: A couple can be divorced and keep the magazines coming to the same address. Not everyone vacates the first love-nest. Sometimes the bride or groom remains. Feeling as you do, why not skip the wedding gift and send something for the first anniversary?

Second meat judging contest Sunday

LUBBOCK -- Seventeen schools and 144 students from throughout the country will participate in the second annual High Plains Intercollegiate Meat Judging Contest Sunday in Plainview.

Texas Tech University's Animal Science Department is coordinating the contest with EXCEL Corp., serving as host and primary sponsor. The contest will be held at the EXCEL Corp. Beef Coolers in Plainview.

Friday, Swisher County Feedyard in Tulia; and Saturday Carter-Kirchhoff Feedyards in Plainview.

A coaches reception will be at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Plainview Country Club.

Dr. Gordon W. Davis, Texas Tech meats team coach and animal science faculty member, said the number of schools participating in the contest has increased from 10 to 17 in one year.

This year, students from schools in Michigan, Wyoming, Oklahoma, California, Mississippi, South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Colorado and Texas are participating.

Due to the response by sponsoring companies and organizations, $100-600 travel awards will be given to each school. These awards will be based on distance schools traveled to the contest. Plaques will be awarded to top teams and individuals at the awards banquet.

Senior team competition will begin at 6:30 a.m. Sunday with the junior team contest at 8:30 a.m. There are no entry fees. A 12:45 p.m. lunch and 5 p.m. banquet that day will be free to team members and coaches.

In addition to the contest, educational tours are planned Thursday through Saturday. Those tours are: Thursday, EXCEL Corp., Slaughter and Fabrication Plant at Friona;

Holly approves budget

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.-Holly Sugar Corporation's Board of Directors has approved a capital expenditure budget of almost $6 million for the next fiscal year, which is $2,270,000 more than was budgeted for the current fiscal year.

A major portion of this $6 million capital expenditure will be for the energy saving equipment and systems and the first phase of projects to convert from gas to coal roughly two-thirds of the steam generating capacity at Holly's Sidney, Montana and Torrington, Wyoming beet sugar factories. These coal conversion projects, which should be completed in time for the 1984 fall beet sugar harvest, will ultimately cost approximately $4,800,000.

Texans warned of stock virus

COLLEGE STATION - A non-fatal virus disease affecting cattle, horses and swine has been reported in New Mexico and three other states, and Texas' livestock producers should be on the alert for possible outbreaks, according to Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The disease - Vesicular Stomatitis - has not yet been reported in Texas, but it could occur, Armstrong said. Symptoms include increased temperature and blisters in the mouth and soles of feet. Animals become dehydrated and lose weight, he said.

"Human infection can occur in areas where the disease is prevalent," Armstrong said. "A veterinarian should be contacted immediately if the disease is suspected."

A laboratory diagnosis is required to accurately identify the disease.

Vesicular Stomatitis was first reported to federal officials in June. The majority of infected animals are in Colorado, but Arizona and Utah have also reported the disease.

"Reports from New Mexico indicate thousands of horses and hundreds of cattle have been affected," Armstrong said. "Canada has requested the U.S. Department of Agriculture not to certify cattle, horses, sheep, goats or pigs from states with the reported disease."

Celebration brings guests from neighboring parishes

On Sunday the entire Franciscan order gathered throughout the world to celebrate the Eucharist in honor of the birth of their founder, St. Francis of Assisi (1181-1226).

The Franciscan Friars of the Atonement and the Sisters of the St. Francis Mission Community of St. Anthony's Parish, Hereford, celebrated this International Year at the 9 a.m. Mass.

Their guests were the Franciscan sisters from the neighboring Lubbock and Amarillo Parishes, the Rev. John McGovern, S.A. from Bovina and the parishioners of St. Anthony's.

The students of St. Anthony's School participated in the choir. On Monday they had a prayer service during which their pets were blessed.

Following the Mass, The 'Parish Family' gathered in the cafeteria for coffee and doughnuts. At 4 p.m. a "transitus" - passing of St. Francis - was held in the church to end the celebration.

St. Francis, known as the "Poor Man of Assisi", was the son of a clothes merchant of considerable wealth. Francis renounced his inheritance for a life based on the Gospel, following Jesus' words as a guide "If you would be perfect, sell what you have, give it to the poor and come follow me."

In the poverty he embraced, Francis felt that he could see more clearly the beauty of God in all creation. For him all of nature reflected God, and he could speak of the sun, moon, wind and earth, as his brothers and sisters.

He showed a special love toward the poor and the underprivileged of this world. At the beginning of his career he embraced a man with leprosy to show God's love for him. From that time on Francis as a man of peace, spent his life showing God's love to all.

Just as Francis embraced the Gospel, so too, are present day Franciscans called to do the same. As Francis embraced the leper modern day Franciscans embrace the poor and seek to bring the Good News of peace, brotherhood, and joy to all people.

Special Service

The Franciscan Friars of the Atonement and the Sisters of the St. Francis Mission Community, as well as St. Anthony's parishioners, gathered Sunday to celebrate the Eucharist in honor of their founder, St. Francis of Assisi. From left are Sister Anne Mary Kuhne, Father Boniface Riedmann, Frank Eldridge, Sister Clair Lussy of Amarillo, and Sister Deborah Mumaw.

Draft resisters get support

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — At Earlham College, a Quaker school where students can major in Peace and Global Studies, officials are coming to the aid of young men who refuse to register for the draft.

"Earlham College is a Quaker institution which has historically witnessed to the cause of peace and conciliation," school authorities said in a recent statement on draft registration.

Right now they are helping Mike Frisch, a 20-year-old economics major from East Chatham, N.Y., who decided two years ago he would not comply with the law.

The school, located on 600 acres of rolling woodland near the Indiana-Ohio border, is backing Frisch because "we want to support people who make a difficult decision after careful examination of their conscience," said Earlham President Franklin Wallin.

"We're not doing this for people who forgot to register or were too lazy to do so," he said. "This is just for people who are doing it as a matter of principle."

The school says it will make up any federal aid a student loses because of failure to register for the draft provided that the student's "actions are based on matters of deeply held belief and conscience."

Its administrative council adopted that policy last spring in response to a new federal law that will make all non-registrants for the draft ineligible for federal aid.

Frisch still hasn't registered for the draft and a federal grand jury in Indianapolis is investigating his case, although he has not been indicted.

"I couldn't ask for more from Earlham," said Frisch. "I'm not trying to be a star. I'm just one of many trying to stop rampant militarism."

The Selective Service says 674,000 young men across the country have failed to register for the draft. So far, two people have been convicted of failing to register under the law signed by former President Carter. The latest, Benjamin Sasway, a 21-year-old political science major, was sentenced Monday in San Diego to 2½ years in a federal minimum-security facility.

Since 1847, Earlham has stood by its Quaker founders' principles, said Wallin, who is called Frank by everyone on campus, in keeping with Quaker tradition that all students and faculty stay on a first-name basis.

"It's the Quaker sense of egalitarianism," he said, adding that there are no fraternities or sororities at the school because "we don't want organizations where someone can be excluded."

"Private institutions have to celebrate their independence and one of the ways of doing it is taking stands on what you believe in," said Wallin. "You don't get to show your values unless there is a crisis. It's in the history of the institution to help people."

Across campus, Dale Noyd, a psychology professor, sat in his office and talked about what makes Earlham special.

"Dedication to teaching," he declared. "I did not want to enter the world of 'publish or perish,' which means publishing trivia. Here it is teach or perish."

A former Air Force pilot, Noyd began teaching at Earlham in 1969 when he got out of prison.

"I was a Vietnam resister," said Noyd. "I tried to resign my commission and sought conscientious objector status. I was court martialed instead. One of the reasons I'm at Earlham is because of that."

School officials don't display promotional materials for the armed services, and they don't permit military recruiters on campus.

Earlham thrives on breaking stereotypes. Wallin, a Quaker strongly supportive of Frisch's stand against registration, served as a naval officer in World War II.

The school, which has an enrollment of about 1,110, is run by the Quaker concept of consensus. No board or committee can take any action, make any recommendation or issue any ruling unless all of its members are in accord.

"Decisions are made very slowly," said Leonard W. Clark, a philosophy professor who is also the school's provost.

"You've got to get consensus for the new — or you keep the old," said Wallin. "The structure of Earlham is conservative."

"I think a lot of our students are quite shocked when they go to graduate schools where it's dog-eat-dog," said Wallin. "They aren't wise to the ways of beating the system. Sometimes graduates come back and say 'You didn't prepare me for the bad teaching at law school.' I don't worry about that. The world needs a lot more trust than mistrust."

DR. LAMB

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read a column where a reader asked about food poisoning. Can you tell me what is meant by food poisoning via potato salads and cream pies?

Also, can one avoid contamination with salmonella by taking adequate vitamin C?

DEAR READER — The food poisoning that occurs from cream pies, puddings and potato salads is caused by staphylococci bacteria. These good foods are favorites of these tiny organisms. You can add to the list ice cream, processed meats, chicken salad, ham and tongue.

The bacteria thrive on these foods in relatively warm temperatures around 86 F (30 C). They form and release a toxin. The chemical toxin is what makes you sick. You can prevent this by storing these products when fresh or just baked at temperatures below 42 F (6 C). Antibiotics won't help as it is a chemical toxin that is already in the food.

Now, salmonella food poisoning results from ingesting the rod-shaped salmonella bacteria which literally colonizes your intestinal wall. When they multiply there they release toxins that cause you to get sick.

These bacteria are common on store-bought meat of all kinds, particularly poultry and eggs. Very often the kitchen table tops are contaminated with these same bacteria. You can prevent this form of food poisoning by proper cooking and the use of a modified sterile technique in cooking and serving food. Proper storage is also important.

You can treat this form of food poisoning with antibiotics which eliminate or decrease the salmonella bacteria in the intestine. You cannot prevent this form of food poisoning by taking any vitamin, including vitamin C. After all, vitamins are natural substances and even bacteria use vitamins. If vitamins prevented bacterial growth they would also prevent normal body cell function.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What causes moles; and what can be done about them? I am fair-skinned and it seems that moles appear when I am out in the sun. I have a flat mole on my abdomen that I'd like removed but my doctor says the scar would be even more unsightly than the mole. I don't think a white mark would be nearly as ugly as a dark black spot. Do age spot removers work on moles?

DEAR READER — Those spots that come out with the sunlight may not be moles.

There are many types of moles (nevi). Most are produced by an increased formation of melanocyte cells or enlargement of them with increased pigment. Most are also harmless.

If a mole undergoes any change, in size, in color, is crusted over or painful, a person should see a doctor at once for removal. But other moles may be left alone unless they are in a spot that causes them to be irritated. Don't put anything on them and don't pull the hair out of moles. Irritating moles may induce cell changes and problems. That is why moles in locations that cause constant irritation are removed. Of course, moles can be removed surgically for cosmetic reasons.

The original meaning of the word "clue" was a ball of thread—so, we "unravel" a clue.

Drying beans for winter

DEAR POLLY — I've let some of my bush beans get away from me and didn't get all the beans picked. Now the pods have filled with large bean seeds and the plants are drying out. The pods are getting quite dry. Can I save these beans and use them like store-bought dried beans in soup and baked beans? — MRS. D.B.

DEAR MRS. D.B. — Yes, you certainly can. However, you'll want to be sure the beans are perfectly dry and insect free before storing them, or they won't last very long without spoiling. Pull up all the bean plants with the pods attached, bundle them into bunches and hang them upside down in the garage, a cool breezy porch, or other cool airy place, and let them dry thoroughly. Then shuck the beans, discarding the pods and plants. To pasteurize the beans (to destroy weevil eggs, bacteria, and other harmful organisms), spread the dried beans on large trays (non-metal is best) and put them in a 175 degree oven for 10 minutes. Remove the pasteurized beans, let them cool thoroughly, then package in air-tight, covered jars or containers. (I put mine in a glass gallon-size jug, then just pour out what I need each time.) Enjoy them throughout the winter. If at any time, the beans show any signs of mold (ANY signs — even the tiniest speck), destroy them. Some molds can be dangerous. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — After putting on your makeup, spray your face with either plain or bottled spring water in a plastic spray bottle. The moisture seems to set the makeup and gives you a young, dewy look. The extra moisture also helps keep your skin from drying out over the years.

Use frozen sliced bread to make the best sandwiches. The bread never tears when spreading, no matter how fresh it is. If you cut the finished sandwich in two, the slowly thawing bread will not squish down as you cut it. Trimming off the crusts is easier when the bread is frozen, too.

For grated orange or lemon rind, put the fruit in the freezer for a while first. It will then grate easily.
