Play-Off Win
Goes To Dumas
Demons, 59-50

Hereford High's Whiz Kids just didn't have it Friday night as the Dumas Demons took the play-off game and the right to enter state-wide basketball competition.

Although the final score was 59-50, Dumas actually outplayed the Herd more than that, leading from the opening basket before a wildly cheering crowd of about 2,000 in the West Texas State College fieldhouse in Canyon.

John Mooneyham hit 19, Richard Lundy 14 and Quinton Eppinette 11 as Dumas started and finished strong. Thomas Coffman and Fred Mulkey netted 12 each for the Whitefaces. Hereford had a miserable night as everything went wrong until it was too late. Dumas got a field goal to open the contest, (Continued on page 2) the "trio of one acts" will be presented by student members of Hereford Thesplan Society, under coordination of drama teacher Burney McClurkin. Curtain time is 8 p. m. each performance.

St. Anthony's Women Operate Welfare Center
A welfare center to clothe the needy of Hereford "without regard to race, color or creed" has been opened by the women of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

St. Anthony's Women Operate Welfare Center
The center is being operated each Monday and Friday afternoon, between 2-4 p. m. in the old St. Anthony's school building, located in the 400 block of Schley.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson Friday set the support price for feed grain crops at the same level as last year. The national average for grain sorghum will be $1.52 per hundredweight, 77 cents a bushel for barley, 50 cents a bushel for oats and 90 cents a bushel for rye.

Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office manager said grain sorghum farmers in 1959 received a county support rate of $1.48 per hundredweight. Not having received an official report, Collier said there will probably be no change in rail differentials. Therefore, it is assumed the county rate will not be changed.

Secretary Benson dropped the support for this year's corn crop to a national average of not less than $1.06 a bushel, which is six cents below last year's average.

ASC Lists Rates For Erosion Work
In combatting a wind erosion problem caused by snow and ice storms this winter, Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office Friday announced rates paid for chiseling or listing on dryland farms.

The county ASC Committee has announced that applications are now available to farmers planning to participate in the wind erosion control program. Rate for chiseling, at least five inches deep, is 50 cents per acre, and listing, at least four inches deep, also is 50 cents per acre.

ASC office manager Faust Collier pointed out that chisel furrows must be spaced not less than 18 inches nor more than 36 inches apart. Lister furrows must be spaced not more than 42 inches apart.

"Cross-slope chiseling or listing or chiseling not on the contour will be approved only on those areas where it is impracticable to list or chisel the land on the contour," Collier said.

Contour listing or chiseling must follow the level guide lines at not to exceed twice the terrace interval or must follow terraces. Cross-slope chiseling (Continued on Page 5)

Guilty Plea On Assault Charge
Martin N. Garcia, 32, of Hereford was sentenced to 60 days in Deaf Smith County Jail and assessed court costs after pleading guilty to charge of aggravated assault in County Court Saturday morning.

Garcia was arrested Friday night in Hereford by County Deputy Sheriff Bill McCarver. County Judge Homer Henalee presided in the court session, which was held at 11:30 a. m. Saturday.

One feature of the center is that small charges are made for most items, which enables indigent people to keep their self-respect. Representative prices include 50 cents for a coat and 10 to 25 cents for children's clothing.

This method, Mrs. Hund pointed out, accomplishes two purposes: First, the families feel they are accepting charity; second, the funds enable the center to be self-supported, as it makes such necessary purchases as thread, buttons, shoe laces, and shoe polish.

Free help is given to those unable to pay anything. Since it opened, more than 25 families have been assisted, including one colored family of nine and several large Latin American families.

Friday, with warnings of an expected large snowfall, one family came to the center with all the children barefoot. Many of the requests at the center are for children's shoes and socks.

Assisting Mrs. Hund with the operation of the center are Mrs. P. H. Korrtjens, Mrs. C. E. Carney and Mrs. Edward Paetzold.

Persons wishing to donate clothing, particularly children's shoes and clothing, may call Mrs. Hund, EM4-1901, or Mrs. Ed Dault Sr., EM4-1354, and the items will be picked up.

then zoomed to a 9-1 lead. Down 10 points at one time, 5-15, Hereford managed to stagger back as Dumas led 18-11 at the end of the first quarter. The second period proved to be Hereford's undoing, as the young Whitefaces hit just six points while Coach Rex Row's Demons were whipping in 11, gaining a 29-17 advantage at halftime.

Hereford was unable to take advantage of a Dumas slow-down in the third quarter, hitting just nine points while the Demons were scoring only six. The nine-point margin was to hold up despite a frantic fourth quarter.

Hereford staged a strong rally, realizing they were on the brink of defeat. Collectively they netted 24 points. But Dumas was not to be denied its first cage title since 1953, also scoring 24 points.

Thomas Coffman, Charlie Thomas and Dennis Hodges led the Herd offense in the last period. With Dumas leading 53-39 with 1:38 remaining, Ronnie Caster hit three free throws, Carl Miller one and Coffman two to cut the margin to 53-45.

Dumas got a pair of free throws with 42 seconds remaining. Caster hit a field goal. Mack Cansler got a free throw and Coffman tipped in a rebound, as Hereford got to 55-50. But big John Mooneyham got two consecutive tips in field goals, with

The public is invited to attend the dedication and to visit all of the new school facilities, Hair said. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the dedication. Guides will be on hand at all buildings to point out facilities and features.

Services Set For Mrs. N. G. Elliston

Funeral services for Mrs. Nollie G. Elliston, 61, of Hereford, will be conducted Monday at 10 a. m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Father Aloysius Craven, pastor, will officiate. Mrs. Elliston died Friday in the Deaf Smith County Hospital at 2:35 p. m. after an illness of one week.

She was born Oct. 29, 1898, at Payola, Kans., and was married to Nollie Elliston in May of 1926 in Clovis, N. M. Mrs. Elliston came to Clovis and Hereford in 1926 from Kansas City, Mo. She was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband of the home; three sons, Robert Owen Elliston of San Diego, Calif., Nollie Gregory Elliston of Tucson, Ariz., and Pat Elliston of Hereford; a brother, Gregory E. Hodges of Kansas City, Mo., and one granddaughter.

Burial will be in Rest Lawn Cemetery in Hereford under direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

chapter president. The chapter also will distribute pamphlets explaining FFA functions at civic and service club meetings.

Chapter advisors Jess L. Robinson and Wade Thompson pointed out the vocational agriculture and FFA constitute the most effective program yet developed for training boys to be good farmers and helping them to become established in the farming occupations of their choice.

"In view of the nation's need for new farmers," Robinson said, "it is fitting that recognition be given these young men who are preparing for careers in farming."

Thompson said National FFA week comes every year during the week of the anniversary of the birthday of George Washington, as Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon.

The Hereford FFA Chapter was organized and chartered on Nov. 28, 1934, and was classified in Area I.

The membership for the scholastic year 1959-60 totals 92. Officers include Waiser, president; Billy Lytal, vice-president; Harvey Garrison, secretary; Jimmy Conkright, treasurer; James Jones, reporter; and Herman Jesko, sentinel.

Meetings are held on the first Monday night of each month. The meeting is conducted by the officers and members of the chapter, and on the first Wednesday of every month a meeting is held during activity period. In this meeting, various committee activities and other business are conducted.

In the fall, the chapter participates in leadership contests, including Senior Chapter Conducting, Greenhand Chapter Conducting, Senior Farm Skills, FFA Quiz and Farm Radio.

In the spring, the chapter enters teams in the Texas Tech FFA contest in Lubbock. This contest covers a wide variety of events, including livestock judging, dairy cattle judging, meat judging, dairy products judging, crop judging, poultry judging, grass judging and land judging.

Last fall, the chapter placed first in Amarillo District's Junior Chapter Conducting and third in Crops Judging. It took each night of the plays. Students' exhibits have been chosen from the art classes, and the exhibition will represent the work done by the students this year.

Cast of "I'm A Fool" includes Bobby King, Troy Don Moore, Jimmy Brown, Sheryl Patterson, Judy McGee, John Buck, Dorcy Mutter and Cherry Holt. Director is Beth Lemons, and Arne Wingert is set designer and technical director.

Dean Hudson, Judy Bradley and Jim Reinauer round out the cast of "Heat Lightning". Kay Sims is director, and Robert Bell is set designer.

"Mr. F" will feature characterizations by Judy Coffin, Dave Dault, Bobby Remro and Joe Sherman. Lee Blocker will direct and Gary Wertenberger is set designer.

Adapted from a story by Sherwood Anderson, Sergei's "I'm A Fool" is a tragically comic situation of George, who puts on airs for the benefit of a young girl he meets. He also tells of an imaginary estate, and the girl is truly impressed.

They fall in love, but she tells him that she must leave and promises to write. But George has already made a big mistake by giving the address of "his estate" — and as George puts it, "There ain't no such guy. Gosh almighty, I hope I get cancer and die."

In "Heat Lightning", a girl rushes blindly into a bus station and bolts the door behind her. While walking in an early morning storm, she has just witnessed a man dumping the body of a young woman from his car, and the man knows she saw him in the act.

He chases her through the darkness toward the bus station, and upon the scene come two men. One is a murderer — but which one?

In "Mr. F", adversity has come to Victor, a pianist who was in the limelight a few years back. Desperately, he appeals to the bust of Beethoven for aid with the "Fate Knocks" plea, the first eight notes of the Fifth Symphony.

As he begins to play, a man in opera dress appears from nowhere and announces that he is "Fate" — or in short, "Mr. F." It is difficult to believe in miracles, much less in the personification of the elusive Fate, but the happenings which follow give cause for wonder.

Dostoyevsky, noted Russian novelist, also was a Siberian exile.

Despite Friday's loss to Dumas, we think Coach Cuby-Kitchens and his youngsters did a tremendous job in winning co-championship of the district in basketball. We have no apologies to make to anyone for their fireball stretch drive after seemingly being destined for the cellar in conference play. Even among the tears and sinking disappointment after Friday's play-off game, you could hear many of the Hereford fans muttering, "Wait until next year". With a solid squad of returning lettermen, the 1960-61 team could be a fine one... but everyone is going to be pointing for them. We'll bet that color photograph of UT's Gregory gym stays on the coach's door until next year.

We suspect the remarks made at Saturday afternoon's meeting on the sugar beet situation will be hashed over pretty thoroughly during the next week or so. By then, there should be some more action.

Coneway Reports To The Governor On Scout Work

Clint Coneway, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Coneway of Hereford, was one of 36 Explorer Scouts in Texas making reports on Scout activity to Gov. Price Daniel in Austin last week end.
 Coneway, 15, is a member of Explorer Post 52, Methodist Church. He was representative for Tierra Blanca District, a part of Llano Estacado Council, Boy Scouts of America.
 Before making his report in the Governor's office Saturday, Coneway was a guest of the State Senate. Later in the day, he was a guest of Austin Air Force Base, where the scouts attended a barbecue and dance.

Tom McFarland, manager of High Plains Water District and former Hereford C - C Secretary, says housing is not the only shortage to be found in Hereford. He was telling me Friday that he is having a rough time locating office space at a figure within the district budget, and still provide sufficient room. "I had no idea offices were so scarce in Hereford," declared McFarland. "We seldom have trouble locating offices in most of the towns, including Lubbock."

Another place which seems crowded to capacity is West Texas State College at Canyon. I was on the campus the other morning, and you never saw so many cars in your life. Parking space is always at a premium - even in the red marker zones. Either the enrollment is tremendously high, or each of the students must have at least two cars.

Many farmers are chomping at the bit as they wait for things to dry out so they can get back into the fields. This is what they say, at least. Luther Lesly was telling he left a tractor in his field on Dec. 14, and Thursday, Feb. 18, was the first time the fields had dried out enough to get the tractor back to the barn. The last time it got too wet to work was during the World Series, and I thought Wilburn Axe and some of the boys were spreading a bit of propaganda, but I guess not.

John Paetzold is planning to thin out a full mile of Elm trees; he will cut one tree, leave one, right down the line. This means that he will probably wind up with more firewood than anyone in the country. I almost had a good deal worked out until John said that I would have to trim the tree, saw it into lengths, then haul the wood myself. Right away, I began thinking of all the things I had to do during the next couple of weeks - and you'd be surprised at how busy I am going to be. Besides, the gas company gives better service.

Oliver Streu is just back from New Orleans, where he wound up a tour with Naval Reserve. Oliver says he has been in the city twice, the other time back in the '40s; and it snowed both times. He figures these are probably the only snow the city has seen in many a decade. He further states that the people of New Orleans have a lot to learn about the art of driving on snow and icy roads.

Jim Roberts is hunting for a couple who want to get married on Feb. 29. He has a Leap Year deal cooked up, which he says is a dilly.

Hap Cavness, Trow Mims and Lyle Blanton went pig hunting recently in Arizona and came back with two wild boar. I have been unsuccessfully trying to find out who killed them, and you never saw such evasion of direct questions in your life. According to their most plausible account, four people shot into the herd of swine, but only two pigs fell. Since each of the hunters fired several shots, the only logical conclusion I can reach is that their host, Dr. Bill Lawrence, must have killed both of the pigs. All of them say, however, that the meat is truly delicious - which came as somewhat of a surprise to me.

Jim Clark says he will have to change his habits. Each morning he usually leans on a front counter at the City Drug Store and reads the paper, but, lately, Ansel McDowell who operates a drug store across the street spots Jim, calls on the phone and asks:

"Are you very busy this morning? What's in the headlines?" Jim always makes a headlong dive for the telephone in the rear of the store. All in all, it's a lot of trouble, says Jim.

Another Hereford landmark bit the dust this week when Charlie Seeds purchased the Kemp Lumber location on Miles and Highway 60. All of which sounds like a modern automobile retail plant and used car lot. The site has unlimited possibilities with a full block of highway frontage. Kemp, I understand is closing out and moving the Hereford inventory to other yards in the chain. Charlie says any planning he has should be classified as "long range."

Grant Fuller, Hereford Clinic

business manager, spent many a day in the location during the years he managed the Hereford yard, which was considered a "loafing place" by old timers - especially prior to and including the big "Depression."

The government is no nearer to balancing the budget, but I notice where they have extended the life of the average dollar bill from 12 months to 15 months, thanks to a special resin treatment. The real trouble was too few of us could hold onto one even 12 months - and that same situation still exists.

Hereford seems to have an unusually large number of starts for this time of year most of them are being held up. Growth in 1960 could easily outstrip any recent year, although no schools or big projects appear on the calendar. Mainly, current interest seems to center around new housing and remodel jobs.

The kids dug up my old high school picture and seem to enjoy showing it to all comers. They can't believe that I once had a bushy head of hair and weighed only 110 pounds. I wanted to know how they figured I talked a smart woman like their mother into marrying me, which was the wrong thing, because they both answered at the same time:

"We've been wondering about that!"

Queens Crowned At Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Event

Two chapter sweethearts of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were crowned Queen at the sorority's annual Valentine Dance Friday night, Feb. 12, at the Jim Hill Hotel. Each chapter sweetheart to receive the title was chosen previously by secret ballot, but names were not revealed until the ceremonies took place at the dance.

The affair was sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi City Council, comprising both Kappa Iota, the jewel chapter, and XI Epsilon Alpha, Exemplar Chapter.

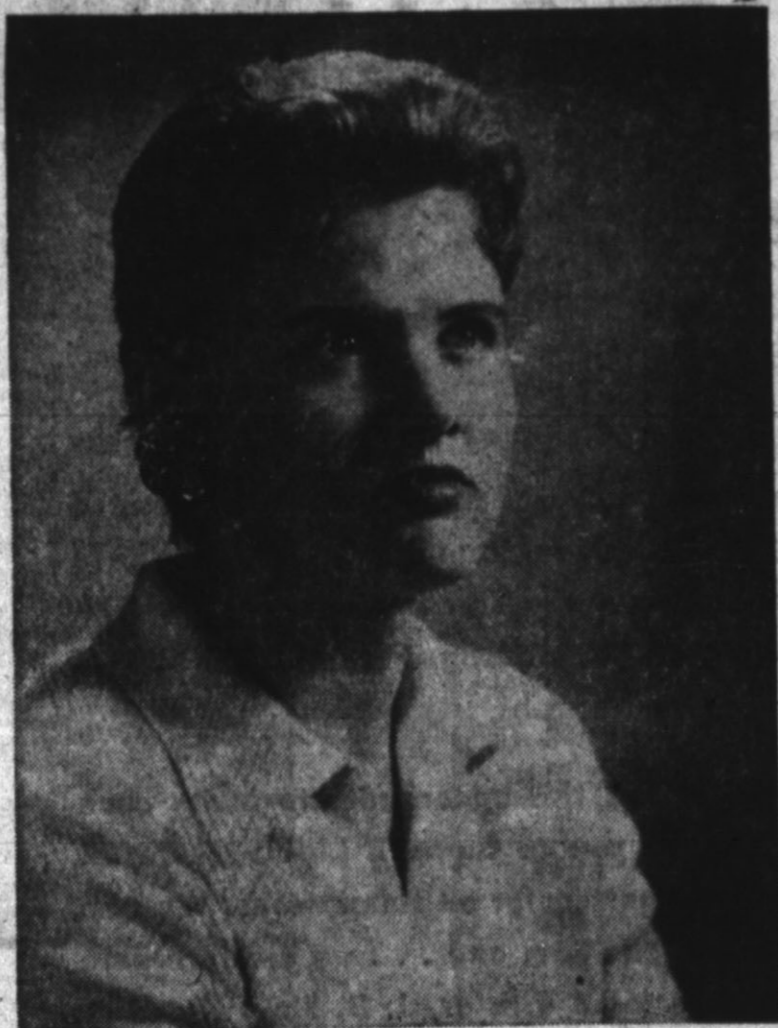

A Valentine motif was carried out in table decorations and presentation ceremonies. At 10 o'clock the orchestra sounded a fanfare of music to open the program. Mrs. Charles Laing gave the welcome to members and guests and summarized briefly the purpose and goals of achievement of Beta Sigma Phi and paid a tribute to Walter W. Ross, founder of the sorority. In conclusion, she said, "Our foundations are laid upon the solid rocks of friendship and endeavor, and our future is as happy and secure as friendship and endeavor can make it".

Mrs. Bess Moore, sponsor, conducted the presentation ceremonies and announced the sweetheart of the ritual chapter, Mrs. Charles Bell. Mrs. Bill Kendall placed the lovely crown on her head and Mrs. D. R. Johnson presented her with the traditional one dozen red roses. Mrs. Ronald Babione presented Mrs. Frank Barrett, the Queen's princess, with a bouquet of flowers.

Mrs. Aubyn Hodges was named sweetheart of the Exemplar Chapter, with Mrs. Norman Moore placing the Queen's crown. Mrs. Harold Beauchamp presented her with the traditional bouquet of roses. Mrs. Charles Laing presented her princess, Mrs. Ernest Wade, with her bouquet.

The impressive ceremonies were carried out before a huge red satin heart frilled around the edges with ruffles of white net caught here and there with red rosebuds. Red and white twisted ribbon formed a St. Valentine's Day background for the presentation.

Ralph Williams' Orchestra provided music for the dance. Approximately 150 members and guests attended the annual event.

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Frances Brewton and Steve Thompson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Brewton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thompson of Englewood, N. J.

The couple has planned an early spring wedding.

Blue candles burned at either end of the table. Miss Ruby Brewton, sister of the future bride, presided at the guest book. Twenty intimate friends attended.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Fate Of Old Custom Set For Committees

By VERN SANFORD
 AUSTIN — Democratic County Executive Committees will decide on March 14 whether to change the old custom of holding rural area precinct conventions in the daytime.
 New election law passed last year has already doomed a number of Texas political traditions — like announcing when the dogwood comes out and serving watermelon at election rallies.

 Primaries are now held the first weeks of May and June, instead of the last weeks of July and August, as before.
 Another change is that a person who wishes to participate in a Democratic precinct convention must already have voted in the Democratic primary held the same day in order to have a poll tax stamped "Democratic."

 City precincts won't be affected. There, customarily, the precinct conventions have been held after the polls close at 7 p. m.
 In rural areas conventions usually have been held in the afternoon. This enabled people to come in, attend the convention, vote, buy their groceries, all in one trip, and get home in time for the milking.

Now there is the necessity of giving everyone time to vote before the convention can be held.

State Democratic Chairman J. E. Connally has suggested county committees give thought to holding rural precinct conventions later — possibly not until after the polls close at 7 p. m.

With 120 of the 150 House members making a bid for reelection, each of the two leading candidates for Speaker claims that half or more of these probable returnees is pledged to him.

Most active in the speaker's race are Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen and James Turman of Gober. Some are predicting the race may be as long and hard as the last one between Waggoner Carr and Joe Burkett.

Thirty House members are either retiring from public life (including Burkett) or seeking another office (including Carr). Of the 120 who are running again for the House, 82 have opponents. This means there'll definitely be no decision on the speaker's race until after the primaries.

Neither Turman nor Spilman has an opponent for his House seat.

Of the 16 senators up for reelection, all are running again and ten have opponents.

Unless there should be an unusual number of "upsets," legislative turnover should be about the same or less than usual. "Normal" replacement is about one-third of the House (or 50 members) and a very small number of senators, usually not more than two or three.

Consideration of a federal aid to education bill in Washington has Texans reacting with mixed emotions.

It also adds new urgency to the efforts of those who want to see Texans shoulder school improvement responsibility through passage of the Hale-Aikin program.

Gov. Price Daniel said Texans should accept U. S. Senate passage of the federal aid bill as "fair warning" that Congress will step in if states don't take the necessary action.

If the states let in federal money, they will let in federal control of schools, the governor declared. He called "impossible" the idea of "federal money without strings attached."

Under the aid bill pending in Congress, Texas would receive $62,000,000, largest share of any state, from a $1,833,000,000 appropriation. Thus far, very few Texas school districts have refused to take the federal aid now available — for science teaching equipment, school lunches, etc.

State Board of Insurance has announced five minor changes in the safe driving insurance plan, but in broad effort, the plan remains the same. Board stuck to its guns despite a barrage of criticism.

Main change is that an insurance company cannot deny liability on a policy if false or inaccurate information is given by the policy holder. For instance, a person taking out a policy might, intentionally or unintentionally, fail to tell the insurance company how many accidents or traffic violations were on his driving record.

However, the company would be entitled to collect the higher premiums or damages from fraud if the policy holder had not admitted to his true driving record.

Premiums go up in proportion to the number of accidents and violations on a driver's record.

Albert B. Fay, Houston oil man, shipbuilder and rancher, succeeds Jack Porter of Houston as Texas Republican national committeeman.

Porter came to power in the party in 1952 as an Eisenhower supporter when the "Old Guard" supporters of the late Sen. Robert Taft were swept aside. Porter stepped down this year because of his health.

Besides electing Fay, the GOP State Committee promised to field a challenger to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in the general election next fall. Johnson has no Democratic opponent for his senate post.

Republicans will nominate their candidates at the state convention May 30.

Not the least of the worries in schools hard hit by influenza was that the district would lose a hunk of state aid money which is based on average daily attendance.

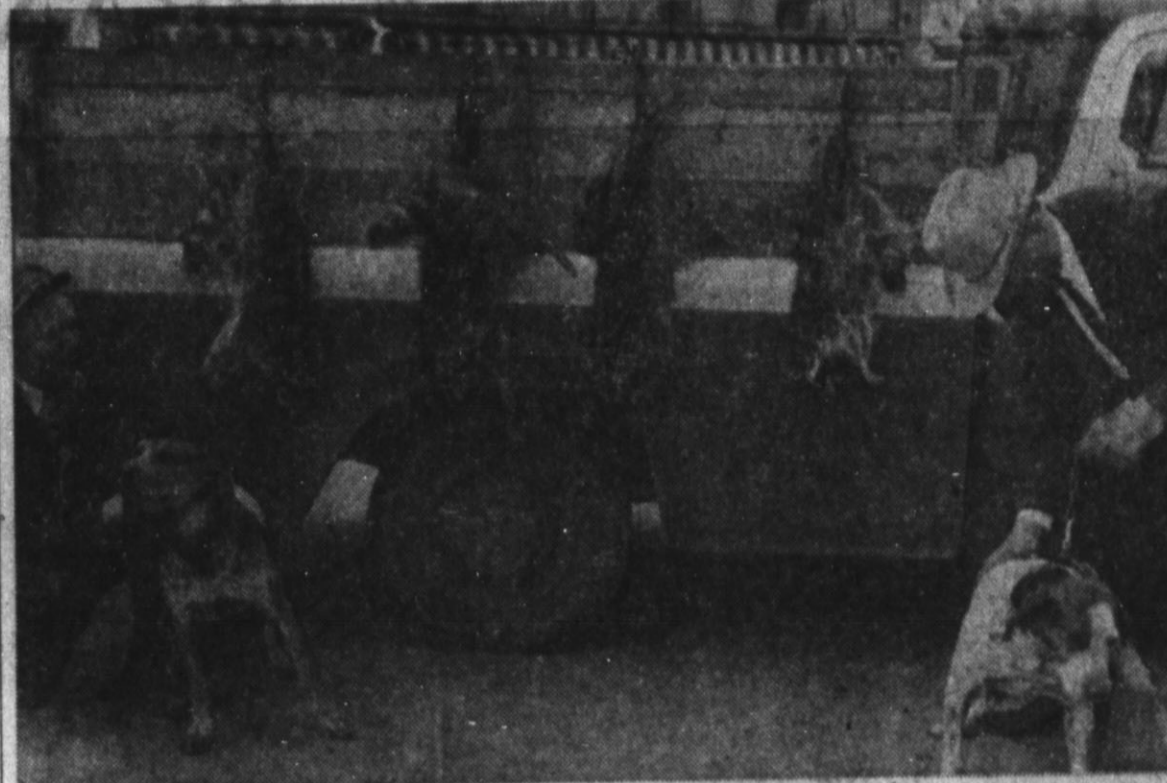

State Board of Education, however, has worked out an emergency "epidemic formula" to help ease the problem.

In flu-stricken schools, the average attendance for the epidemic period will be adjusted to reflect the percentage difference between actual attendance and attendance which would have been expected had there been no epidemic.

VISITING MOTHER

Mrs. J. E. Ferguson of Watauga, Wash. arrived Wednesday to be with her mother, Mrs. J. P. Slaton, who was injured recently in a fall on the ice.

The U. S. Battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor on Feb. 15, 1898, with a loss of 260 lives.

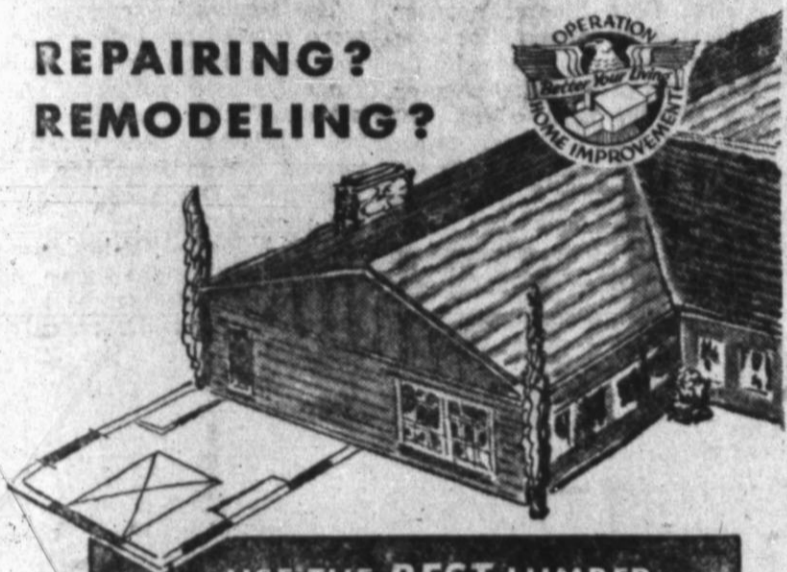

COON HUNTERS Tom Draper of Hereford, left, and Goose Ramey of Dimmitt came back from an expedition to Mojares Lake in the northwest corner of Deaf Smith County Tuesday with four coons. They used three dogs while getting the four trophies. They said they lost another coon and a bobcat from an expedition to Mojares Lake in the canyon wilderness. Note the third dog peeking over the sideboards in an effort to get in the picture. (Staff Photo)

Garden Club Week Observance Is Set

Texas Garden Club Week will be observed March 7 to 13 and members of the Hereford Garden Club were reminded to plant a new shrub or flower during that week at a recent meeting of the club held in the home of Mrs. Jeff Roberson. Mrs. Emmett Hale was assistant hostess.

Members were also urged to observe the week by wearing flowers whenever possible.

Mrs. A. O. Thompson opened the meeting by leading the group in repeating "The Gardener's Prayer."

Mrs. A. L. Manjeot presented the meeting by leading the and Suitable Backgrounds". She made three arrangements for illustration. The first, "Autumn Daze", was made of dried materials in autumn tones of brown. The second, "Spring Song", was made of green foliage with a tiny white swan as an accessory against a brown background. The third arrangement, called "Happiness", depicted a Chinese scene with colorful birds, Chinese accessories and green foliage.

Mrs. Manjeot advised the study of placement and background in creating an effective arrangement and said, "Arrangements always show off better if given the proper back-box guessing contest, and Mrs. Charlie Burk won the floating prize.

Mrs. Charlie Burk presented the program on plants and their care and the care of cut flowers. She also told how to make arrangements for various occasions.

Members present were Mesdames Phillip Miller, John Hill, Charlie Burk, Hershel Burrus, Glenn Burrus, P. B. Sowell and the hostess.

Beat Generation Subject Of Talk

Mrs. Ronald Babione presented the program on "The Beat Generation" at the L'Allegre Study Club session held Thursday afternoon in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

Mrs. Joe Lyons presided over the business session, when plans were discussed for the Guest Night Style Show, which will be held at the Popular Store on March 17.

Mrs. Babione reminded her listeners that there has always been an element of population of this type which we now call "Beat", and she dwelt at length upon the affect of the Beatnik in America today, particularly in American Literature. She read excerpts from the best "Beat" poetry and told of the works of Allen Ginsberg, poet, novelist Lawrence Lipton and Gregory Corso.

She said, "The main contribution of the Beatnik to the 20th Century literature is the revival of oral reading, and that many of their works have been recorded."

Members present were Mesdames Walter London Jr., Joe Lyons, Stanley Slagle, J. W. Robinson, Oliver Streu, Sam West, Ronald Babione, Tommy Carnahan, Bill Dameron, Jimmie Easley and Hilton Higgins. Mrs. Sam West served as hostess.

Health Is Priceless. Yet Costs Less Than Ever

OFF THE Shelf

By H. A. TUCK

Like most Texans, I cut my teeth on state history books but was almost grown before I found out not all the heroes from the Alamo and San Jacinto were knights in shining buckskin.

Frank X. Tolbert's newest book, The Day of San Jacinto, is a masterpiece of research and revelation about Texas history. Of local interest in the book are the many references to Erastus "Deaf" Smith, that redoubtable scout for whom this county is named.

In many respects, Tolbert's book is similar to Lon Tinkle's 13 Days to Glory, which described the final moments of the Alamo and its defenders.

Tolbert chronicles the moves of the little Texas army, which included a motley array of characters and a few United States Army soldiers, who had conveniently been allowed to go AWOL to get in some active fighting.

At the head of this rag-tag is "The Big Drunk" as the Indians had nicknamed Sam Houston. Behind Houston were assorted dissenters who felt that Houston was a coward for giving ground before the 3,000 or so seasoned fighters led by Santa Anna.

But Sam picked a piece of ground that suited him in the marshes of Peggy McCormick's ranch and waited.

Santa Anna, who exhibited both incredible courage and abject cowardice, moved his army onto the high ground and prepared to fight. But Santa Anna allowed his defenses to become slack as he ate opium and dallied with assorted girlfriends.

With the famed "twin sisters" of artillery and a tiny troop of flanking cavalry, Houston ignored the vote of his war council and moved to attack the Mexican dictator's army. The Texans, called "Soldados God Damned" by the Mexicans who were awed by their prolific profanity, moved across an open meadow in the middle of the day . . . and the Mexican army failed to see them. At 200 yards the shouts rang out, "Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad!!"

It was a slaughter. Disorganized and leaderless, the surprised Mexicans fled through the marsh grass and dived into the bayous trying to get away. Some 700 - 800 Texans turned the battle into a rout and shooting gallery. They killed more than 400 and took a huge group of prisoners.

Wily Santa Anna, with his usual luck managed to escape. But Texas scouts found him cowering in the tall grass the following day and brought him into camp, not recognizing the infamous dictator until the shouts of prisoners greeted their leader.

The wrangling that preceded the battle didn't end with the victory. Houston's subordinates snarled over the spoils, the leadership and the consequences as Houston lay feverish from a ball in his ankle. Political opponents sought to discredit him . . . and almost succeeded.

The patriots who lived through the battle of San Jacinto on April 21, 1836, as well as some who died, have been immortalized by the names of towns, cities, counties, schools, libraries, museums and monuments.

In life, many were scoundrels who had come to Texas one step ahead of the pursuing law; others were simply individualists who hated organized society and sought expression in the vast reaches of Texas. In death, and in battle, they became patriots who were just ornery enough to stand up against overwhelming odds in a fight against oppression.

Summary: The Day of San Jacinto by Frank X. Tolbert is Texas history as it was never written in textbooks. It has the flavor and urgency of a current newspaper story. It should become another classic in Texas literature.

The Smarter We Get, The Less We Seem To Know About 'How To Live'

Thanks to new inventions, organizational achievement, and improved methods of communication, youngsters of 1960 are matured to a much greater extent than were their parents and grandparents at the same age. This no one will deny, but we doubt if there has ever been a more confused, less confident generation than ones we are turning out today.

The average college graduate may be a whiz at chemistry or physics, but he usually takes a real drubbing when he trades for an automobile. Knowing where, when and how to buy a home is another achievement in which most of our young people find themselves lacking. The same is true concerning insurance or stocks, and very few youngsters know how to approach the agency most adaptable to their needs when they wish to borrow money. Still others obligate themselves for $300 a month payments against a $275-per-month income.

The situation is emphasized all the more because our youngsters have become less efficient in the matter of "How to live and enjoy life," while modern day methods of living have become increasingly complicated.

As a result the psychiatric couch is now an important phase in the lives of thousands of Americans whose parents and grandparents enjoyed normal routine existence. Our mental hospitals, both state and private, are overflowing in all directions. Instead of decrease in this deluge informed observers predict that the percentage of mentally ill will increase manifold within the next few years.

Blame for the situation depends entirely upon one's point of view. Educators tell us that they are doing their job, and doing it well; responsibility for the default, they feel, generally belongs to the home and the church. Our churches point with pride to expanding facilities, but say they can reach only the people who attend. Parents indicate that school regimentation eliminates their influence in every factor — until it is time to place the blame.

Meanwhile, we roll merrily along turning out experts, many of whom are headed for mental treatment, and few of whom are destined to live happy, well-rounded lives. Things will probably continue to become even more complicated, until we develop a "How to Live" expert, who will take care of those experts in other fields, telling what and how to buy, who to marry, and how many children they should have, and which job to take.

At this point, of course, we will start complaining about our lost freedoms, undergo a social revolution and, we hope, start all over again. It took us 300 years to get things as messed up as they now stand — and this is the most encouraging phase of the entire situation.

Empty Chairs In Meeting Rooms

Hereford's city fathers met this week and unanimously adopted a $455,440 budget. The total was $9,363 less than last year, despite the fact that chairs reserved for interested citizens were unoccupied throughout the session.

Seen in the face of rising cost and higher taxes in other towns and governmental subdivisions, the City Commissioners have done an excellent job in guiding the destiny of our growing city. The situation is possible in a large measure because of a program several years back in which evaluations were equalized and sharply increased in many instances.

Most important, too, is the fact that the city continues to keep pace with the community in the expansion of water, sewer and other governmental obligations. More recently, some of these expansions have been made on a cash basis, resulting in considerable savings for the tax payer. Rapid deterioration of paving appears to be the weakest link in our city government operations — and this condition exists all over the Panhandle, and probably in other areas of Texas and the Southwest.

Occasionally, discouraged by lack of public interest in the near half-million dollar annual budget, our city officials no doubt wonder about the empty chairs. Any seasoned politician, on the other hand, could tell them that public apathy has a consistent peculiarity: "When people are satisfied, they rock along and keep quiet; when they are unhappy, complaints pour in from all directions."

Footloose And Fancy Free...

Do people from this area travel more than other Americans, or has our entire nation become "footloose and fancy free?"

Regardless of the answer, it does seem that Deaf Smith County has been pretty well represented nationally and internationally in recent years, including at least one citizen who penetrated the Iron Curtain. Mexico possibly heads the area popularity list for international travel, running second only to "See America First," including Hawaii and Alaska.

Surprisingly enough, the trek to distant places is now a 12-month process, where it was once confined to vacations during summer months. Hereford people are constantly showing up in such places as the Valley, the Dakotas, Las Vegas, Nev., California, Florida and all points between here and Mexico City.

Some critics say we Texans travel extensively because there is so little to see around home; others attribute our gadding to an over-dose of prosperity. Mostly, though, it seems to be the result of restlessness, along with a sincere desire to find out first-hand how other people live. The increased speed of travel has contributed heavily to the circumstances, and we notice that foreign countries are sending more and more people out into the world.

Universal with all footloose Americans is a burning love for America when they view the Statue of Liberty following a long absence, and those gadsters from this area express a greater than ever appreciation for their own territory after comparing it with distant places. This reaction definitely establishes an enviable position for all Americans and, in no small measure provides a legitimate excuse for our travels.

By the same token, it is reason enough that citizens from Russia and numerous other nations are not encouraged toward travel and the inevitable comparison with things back home.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

"In a world crippled with doubts, fears and tyrannies, the only hope for the survival of mankind lies in the working practice of understanding, sympathy and Brotherhood," states Cornelia Otis Skinner, national chairman of Brotherhood Week, Feb. 21-28.

In 1928 a group of distinguished Americans, including Charles Evans Hughes, Newton D. Baker, Roger W. Straus, founded the National Conference of Christians and Jews, composed of Protestants, Catholics and Jews "who without compromise of conscience or of their important religious differences work together to build better relations among men of all religions, races and nationalities." Since 1934, the Conference has sponsored Brotherhood Week, dedicated to the principle of faith taught in both the Old and New Testaments, "Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself."

The Conference "seeks to strengthen the moral and social health of the community through clergy conferences." Thousands of schools and colleges use the Conference's programs, films and literature. It has worked with fraternal, veteran, labor, farm, women's and youth organizations to help make "good will a pattern of American living."

Keep Abandoned Wells With Proper Covering

(Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from the January issue of "The Cross Section," monthly publication of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1. It is reprinted as a service to Deaf Smith County farmers to warn them of dangers of an abandoned irrigation well which is not properly covered or plugged.)

By ALLAN H. WHITE
The thing that has been dreaded for so long has happened. A child has fallen into an abandoned irrigation well.

A 3-year-old boy, Randy Gene McKinley, and his family were visiting his grandfather at Christmas time on his farm near Dell City, Texas. Randy and a group of playmates were playing near an abandoned well, which was covered with a barrel. Some of the children pushed the barrel away from the hole. Randy stepped into the well and fell feet first approximately 68 feet to the water that stood in the well. The 300-foot deep well was cased with 16 inch pipe from top to bottom. Randy apparently clung to the casing to hold his head out of the water.

The other children ran to the house which was nearby, and hysterically told Randy's mother, Mrs. Floyd McKinley, and her sister, Mrs. C. L. Spradlen, of the accident. Mr. McKinley had gone to El Paso with Randy's grandfather, F. W. O'Bannon.

The women and the children ran back to the well. The mother tried to comfort Randy by telling him not to cry nor be alarmed and that she would get him out.

J. Manuel Carrol, a Mexican who works on the O'Bannon place, realizing that the boy's life would surely be lost in a very short time, suggested that he be lowered head-first into the 16-inch well.

A rope was secured to the feet of the 125-pound Carrol and he started the 68-foot head-first descent into the small dark well shaft. He became lodged many times and had to claw himself free. He became dizzy from the inverted position of his body. The foul smell of the long-used well, pain inflicted to his ankles by the rope; the thought that he might become stuck in the well undoubtedly caused Carrol to approach the point of panic many times during the long 15-minute period it required to reach the boy, but the thought of little Randy being in the water below kept him squirming and inching his way steadily closer to the end of his mission. Finally, Carrol reached the cold and crying lad after Randy had been in the well about an hour. Both were pulled back to the surface.

The greatest Christmas gift that could possibly have been presented Mr. and Mrs. McKinley was given to them the day before Christmas — their son, well and no worse for the ordeal.

Imagine, if you can, the paralyzing fear that surely gripped the very being of this small lad, and the mental and physical anguish that the young mother must assuredly have experienced.

The story has a happy ending — a frightened boy returning to the warm and protecting embrace of a mother's arms. A man's courage, expressed in utter disregard for his personal safety and well-being. Think though how tragically this story might have ended if circumstances would have been altered ever so slightly.

At the time this near tragedy was unfolding, many of you were no doubt reading the "Cross Section." You will remember the story carried that pertained to abandoned wells in our area. The story stressed the importance of closing abandoned wells properly and attempted to show the dangers in allowing open wells or improperly covered wells to remain in that state.

One of the most tragic realities of life is found in the fact that human beings do not become concerned about important matters until the proverbial horse escapes through the open gate. What will it take to stir us from our natural complacency? Must a small boy or girl be sacrificed at each open abandoned well to show us how urgently important is this matter.

If you are guilty of maintaining an open well on your property you may well be inviting

FIVE PAVING PROJECTS SOUGHT

Ochiltree county commissioners submitted request for farm-to-market roads in the county costing $1,205,000 last week as they met with the Texas Highway Commission. Five projects were submitted by Ochiltree county for the two-year program. The commissioners also met with district highway engineer Charles Smith of Amarillo and his staff Tuesday afternoon to determine how much right-of-way to secure and what steps to take in order to start construction of the loop road just south of Perryton which has been approved.

SEEK LOCAL OPTION

A local option election which would, if carried, permit sales of beer, wine and liquor "for off-premises consumption" in Hemphill County's Precinct 2 has been called for March 1. Hemphill County Commissioners, in session Monday, took the required action on a petition submitted two weeks ago. A former Hemphill County Commissioner from Precinct 2, Raymond Williams, presented the petition to the Commissioners Court Monday. Williams was accompanied by his son-in-law, Bill McQuiddy.

LIVESTOCK GROUP PLANS BUILDING

Members of the Randall County Livestock Association Tuesday night voted to start work on a building program and appointed a committee to represent the group on all proposed plans now underway. The members decided to withhold endorsement of any building program until the association committee approved the plans. The 40 members present at the meeting also voted to change several features of the show and sale for 1961. Next year the show will be held one week earlier and the number of lambs and pigs allowed to sell after the show will be reduced. The horse show will be continued with minor changes.

PLAN TAILORED FLAME CULTIVATOR

Development of a flame cultivator to meet the special needs of Collingsworth county cotton growers will be made here by the manufacturer of this type equipment. The announcement was made by County Agent Bob Lynch following the visit here of J. W. Gatcher of Clarksdale, Miss., who is currently working on flame equipment for the Plainview area. Arrangements were made for Gatcher to return in about two weeks, with an engineer, to develop a flame that can be attached to a go-devil and used on cotton not more than four inches high.

CIVIC CENTER GOES TO CITY

The Community Center Board Monday night voted to turn over the "direction, management and control" of the building to the City of Littlefield. Reason for the action, according to board members, was the feeling that the building has fallen into a "sad state of repairs," with no hope for improvement under present financial conditions. Board members added, however, that they wanted it understood they are not ducking out of a job. Gene Pratt, upon whose motion the board acted, said the directors would continue to serve as a citizens' board, if the city wanted it that way.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editors note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm wants us to clear up something for him this week, but we decline.

Dear editor:

There's a problem that's been worrying me all week and I'd like to have your clear is up for me.

It's about disc jockeys.

As I understand it, Congress has uncovered some odd things about the business of phonograph records, but what has been puzzling me is the fact that nobody has mentioned the oddest thing about it.

Up to now, Congress, I guess sort of resting its mind in between investigations of the missile lag, has turned up the fact that certain disc jockeys have been taking side pay from some phonograph record companies to play their records over the air. The way it works is, the record companies make a record, they send it to the disc jockeys, then send them a little cash, and the disc jockeys play these special records oftener than others thus making a hit out of them.

Congress has said this is outrageous, that it's wrong to give one record special attention over another. Also, radio stations have said it's wrong, and a lot of disc jockeys have been fired.

Well, up to this point, I guess Congress and the radio stations are right but what everybody seems to have overlooked is: what sort of colossal insult is this to the teenagers of the United States?

You mean to tell me a disc jockey can make a record popular with youngsters just by playing it over and over? You mean to say teenagers don't make up their own minds on these smash hits? You mean to tell me they didn't really and truly love "Hound Dog," they just heard it so often they thought they did? And then went out and bought it by the millions? Or at least kept every juke box in the country roaring out the thing? These are the questions I'd like for you to answer me.

Personally, I'm not taking sides in this thing, but I'll tell you, either Congress has a lot of tall explaining to do to teenagers, or teenagers have a lot of explaining to do to the rest of the country. Somebody is making these records popular, and I hope Congress gets to the bottom of it, and the quicker the better, although there may be some things that just can't be explained, like why teenagers like certain records and how two Generals of the same rank and degree of patriotism can take exactly opposite views on whether the United States' defenses are adequate.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

No Sugar Mill By Next Week

Hereford's delegation is back from Washington following initial efforts to secure increased sugar beet acreage, and made a complete report to beet growers Saturday afternoon. Needless to say, work will not start on a $12 million dollar plant this week.

Things, in our opinion, are going along about normal. Because sufficient acreage is necessary to secure a sugar mill, it is not logical to expect concrete results overnight. Involved in sugar acreage is the Department of State, along with the Department of Agriculture and thousands of problems. Add to these complications the existence of two major political parties and you have a situation which only time can untangle.

The most important need at this stage of the game is continued interest and determination. No other proposed project has ever brought such cooperation and interest as the sugar refinery. This is probably because no other single project could so nicely fit into a balanced program and general economy for the territory in which we live. From this standpoint, a sugar program is well worth working and waiting for in the community.

At present we have an interested, efficient top-notch committee. They are doing everything possible to secure acreage and a plant; in addition, they are being assisted by interested persons from other communities, including our neighbors. It may take months, even a year or two, but with perseverance, it is highly probable that the dream will be realized.

PENAL CODE
ARTICLE 172L. COVERING
Section 1. It shall be unlawful for the owner or operator

By CHARLIE SEEDS

Just about everybody in the country took sides over that famous trial, and during the long six years when the accused and convicted men fought to have the decision reversed. Plays were written based upon their fight, and there were innumerable articles and books.

Their names were Sacco and had been convicted of killing two men in a holdup... but many felt that they had been unjustly convicted for their radical political beliefs. Their trial was sharply criticized by the Wickersham Commission on law procedure.

But year after year they appealed, steadfastly maintaining their innocence. And in the end they failed. The arguments over their case were to last for many years more... but the day finally came when time ran out on them, Sacco and Vanzetti were executed.

Remember the year? Those were days when a man buying a "horseless carriage" was still a sharp horse-trader. He looked around for a fair honest deal, the best he could find... and he looked for a dealer he could trust.

The year was 1927. Choosing your dealer is important today. You want a dealer who can back up the sale with the best service facilities, and who makes a business of giving a fair deal. Put those facts together and they add up to getting a new FORD from CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC., 146 East 2nd, Phone EM 4-2727.

Section 1. a. It shall be unlawful for any person who shall drill, dig, or otherwise create, or cause to be drilled, dug or otherwise as much as ten (10) feet in depth and not less than ten (10) inches in diameter to abandon said well or hole without first completely filling said well or hole from its total depth or not less than ten (10) feet from the surface and completely filling same from said plug to the surface.

This act does not modify or repeal any existing laws.

Section 2. Any person violating the provisions of this Act shall upon conviction be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not less than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) nor more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00). Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 509, ch. 281.

'Kindergarten Child' Subject Of Meeting

"The Kindergarten Child" was the theme of the program when Lea Meres Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Delmo Williams Tuesday evening. Mrs. Eugene Noel was cohostess.

Mrs. E. D. Hopson, guest speaker, presented the program, pointing out the thought that every child is not ready for kindergarten and that mothers should try to find out if their children will fit in with kindergarten training.

She said, in part, "Most children need help in learning to grow and he must first learn to like himself and to do things for himself. Kindergarten can be a great help in helping a child to think and act independently and to lend a helping hand to little playmates."

During the business session, Mrs. Donald Ray Waters was welcomed as a new member.

Those present were Mesdames Dbc Carter, Cliff Kerr, Dick Gholson, Arnon Lauderback, Kenneth Maxwell, Nelson Reiger, John Smith, Wade Thompson, Clarence Veazy and the hostesses.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Investigation Continued On Rigged TV, Payola

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

The Committee investigating the misuses and abuses of the air waves has been in session in recent days continuing the investigation on "Payola."

"Payola is a term which is somewhat difficult to define. It came into use as a reference to the practice of slipping money to a radio or TV announcer or star in exchange for that personality mentioning your product or name on the air in a program which was being sponsored or paid for by someone else, or to influence a person to push or give a preferential position to certain products as opposed to other like products.

For instance, one record company would pay a disc jockey side money in order to influence that disc jockey in playing records and music produced by the particular record company willing to pay these sums.

This created a situation of unfair competition, as well as being a questionable practice under the terms of the Communications Act. The Communications Act requires, in effect, that parties paying fees to radio stations for the use of the air waves be identified. Since the air waves are public property, it would be difficult to say that commercial bribery, unfair practices, misuses and abuses of the air waves would not be immoral, if not illegal. This was pointed out by President Eisenhower in his recent news conference in which he stated in effect that it definitely involved the morality of the parties involved.

Nevertheless, there is a divergence of opinion as to whether or not payola as such is a practice which should be condemned. Some say it is a general practice in all businesses and therefore should be allowed in radio and TV.

Others say it involves only a few dollars, therefore, shouldn't matter. Others claim that the monies received were consultation fees, although they are unable to explain why the consultation fees stopped when the disc jockey lost his job at the radio station.

Others claim the payments were merely friendship payments intended to influence the disc jockey but that the disc jockey was not influenced. In other words, this group is claiming the money was tainted with a questionable purpose and that they were willing to accept the tainted money, even though they did not carry out the purpose for which it was given.

However, the hollowness of these positions is reflected by the fact that in almost every case attempts were made to hide the practice. If it was not wrong, as is argued by some people, why did the participants try to hide their activities?

Turning to the TV rigged quiz show hearings, the Committee has recently submitted a report containing a number of recommendations. One of these recommendations suggests legislation to put radio and TV networks under licensing procedures of the Federal Communications Commission.

Under the circumstances, I signed the report but reserved the right to contest legislation carrying out such a recommendation. My thought on the subject is prompted by my desire to prevent further government regimentation of business as much as possible. There is no question but that the networks engaged in practices which were deceitful and fraudulent, whether the actual facts were known to the network executives or not. Action is certainly in order to prevent repetition of such practices.

However, it is my feeling that proper safeguards can be provided without subjecting another segment of American business to the whims of bureaucratic action. Once the Federal government moves out of the field of policing directly the air waves and moves into the field of regulating associated businesses, there will be no stopping point. If business generally associated with the use of the air waves engages in illegal practices, they should be punished. However, it is not my feeling that the power of extracting the death penalty should be placed in the hands of a politically appointed bureau. I shall treat this subject further when legislation is proposed.

4-H Groups In Area Having Busy Season

By ARGEN DRAPER

This week the 4-H'ers and the club women have both been busy. The policy committee from the 4-H Leaders Council has been working on standing rules for the council. The posters and record books are being judged for the awards at the Stunt Night, Feb. 22. The committee has accomplished its plans and have put the finishing touches on the program for Stunt Night.

The 4-H Stunt Night will be Feb. 22, 7:30 p. m., in the Alkman School Auditorium. The clubs will present stunts and the king and queen will be crowned. The king and queen will be chosen from judging of the record books.

The plastic flower demonstration was given on Monday and the clothing sub-committee is really working to complete plans for the wardrobe showing and for the closet tour which the club women will have on March 10.

Along with the special events, the clubs are meeting regularly with the 4-H clubs, having programs on health - polio shots and batter rolls. The club women are having programs on wheat products and landscaping.

Along with the wheat products, here is some information from the Department of Agriculture.

FREEZING BAKED GOODS
U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists say there is an advantage in freezing rolls, even for as short a period as 24 hours. This way, rolls that have been bought or baked for use next day can be kept fresher than if they are stored at room temperature.

This was shown by a recent study at the American Institute of Baking, under contract with the USDA's Agricultural Research Service. The results can be applied at home as well as in commercial use.

For the freezing experiments, cinnamon and dinner rolls were wrapped in cellophane soon after baking, to prevent moisture loss, and then frozen and stored at zero degrees F. for 24 hours. After defrosting they had lost only about half as much freshness as rolls that were stored at room temperature, taste panelists agreed. Some of the rolls were kept in frozen storage for two months without serious loss of freshness.

When defrosting, it's best to keep rolls covered to prevent them from losing too much moisture, the study showed. Defrosting the rolls, particularly cinnamon rolls, in a place that is somewhat warmer than room temperature also helps to maintain freshness. The scientists used a commercial defroster which operates at about 115 degrees F.

Here is a good cake recipe that comes from Dimmitt. It was given to me by Mrs. Maurine Henderson, who is the mother of Mrs. Alvin Smith. It is a pound cake, but is given the name Dump Cake as all the ingredients are put together in the mixing bowl.

DUMP CAKE

- 2 cups flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 sticks margarine
- 6 eggs (large)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon

For 10 minutes, mix in bowl, bake at high speed 350 degrees for one hour.

This recipe was given to us by Helen Caraway. I don't see the connection between Helen's recipe and the name of the candy, but anyway this makes delicious caramels.

Nelle's Caramels

By Helen Caraway

Place in large bakery sauce pan

- 1/2 pound margarine
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup half and half
- 1 cup white syrup
- 3/4 cup dark syrup

Bring this to a boil then add: 1 more cup of half and half. Bring to boil again and turn down to low and cook slowly until it reaches firm, soft ball stage, about one hour. Remove from heat and add 1 tablespoon vanilla and 2 cups nuts.

Four into large buttered pan, cool and eat in small pieces and waxed paper.

Store in tight container. Another good recipe from Helen Caraway:

Skillet Cookies

Place in heavy skillet:

- 2 eggs (beaten)
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 cup dates

Bring to boil and cook stirring constantly, cook for about 10 minutes.

Remove from heat and cool until you can handle it, then add:

- 1 cup pecans;
- 2 cups rice krispies,
- and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Roll into small balls and roll these in shredded coconut. Place on greased paper to dry for about one hour then store in cookie jar.

I arrived home the other evening to find two boys in the kitchen just polishing off some hot tamales. I said, "Is that what we were having for supper?" They said, "No, we just ate a dozen hot tamales to hold us over." I said, "You mean you ate a dozen hot tamales?" The reply: "A dozen apiece." Needless to say, it properly whetted their appetites for supper, which followed thirty minutes later.
