

What happened to those little tips they used to put on the end of light bulbs?

This has been worrying me for a long time, but no one seems to have the answer. The tips disappeared suddenly, without fanfare. No reason or excuse. I guess we are supposed to chalk them up as another victim of progress. I have also been watching "Dragnet" ever since I get, in hopes that they will arrest a ventriloquist - and Sgt. Friday will confess to one of those crimes during a grilling session. It might happen any time now, since they have done just about everything else.

H. L. Hershey says he remembers a contest this column ran on "Keeping Up With the Joneses" - and he wishes we would run another one about "Apple Polisher". This sounds like a good idea, except it is getting to the point where no one seems to pay attention to a mere apple anymore. Kids used to take them to the teacher, but the teachers are getting so sharp these days that they see right through the ruse. The $64-question finally worked its way up to $64,000 - and people still would rather tune in those "adult Westerns".

This giving stuff away is really rough, anymore. When you are selling, you want to keep the price low but, when you give something, it had better be up in the chips. Even vicuna coats don't have the allure they once possessed.

I was talking to a policeman sometime ago, who had been a former department store clerk. He said he really liked police work. The salary wasn't so good, he admitted, and the hours were long, but as he phrased it: "This is the only job I ever found, where the customer is always wrong!"

Lama Beavers has done it again. He slipped off to one of his old haunts in Colorado and came back with some of the finest trout seen in many a moon 16 and 17 inches. The way I get it, Lama first fished on the Conejos, then packed up and moved to the Creede country, which everybody else is passing by. One thing for sure, when Lama says it is good fishing, it really is good.

The Jim Witherspoons left Friday on a trip to New York. A lot of people go to New York, but very few drive. The idea mainly is to drop Irene off for school, along with a vacation. The Cleo Mcbargs also drove up this summer, but Cleo says they parked their car once in the city - and did not touch it until time to come back home. Next time, says Cleo, he thinks he will park it a village or two before he gets there, and travel in by train. Anyway, it sounds like a nice trip, especially this time of the year.

Bill Thompson, Guy Lawrence and Sam Bell headed out this week for Regina, Canada. Object of the trip is to influence Canadian officials to designate Highway 385 with the same number in Canada as it has in the United States. Delegations from each state along the route are making the trip with this in mind.

These new taxes sure bode out a rash of pipe smokers. It probably won't last long, but they are at least registering some protest. Lyle Blanton an Bill Patton were around smoking pipes Thursday, so I looked up my old pipe and did fairly well while I was humming from them. However, when I went over to buy a can of tobacco, guess what? Even that has a 5-cent tax. It looks as if you quit smoking completely, or pay some tax.

Mrs. Arlie Dean was in the other day with a suggestion that a monument be erected to the first irrigation well. I thought it was on the location where Alkman school now stands, but she says it is out near the 4-Mile house - and still pumping strong. D. L. McDonald drilled the first irrigation well on the Plains, right here in the Hereford area, and I guess Dave can locate it for sure. Her idea sounded like a good one to me. No other single thing has effected this area so much as irrigation. A marker would certainly be in order. What does someone else think about this?

Someone said they read about a man with a lot of dogs freezing to death in Amarillo last winter - and they figure this was our former "Nature Boy". Could be, but I doubt it. Has anyone heard of him for sure?

Sometimes, it is hard to change the subject when folks start talking about football. However, I am getting to be an expert and it seems that this year will be no exception. Either our team is a bit weak, or Canyon's 2A squad should win the state championship in a walk. I cannot figure the deal, either. Our boys seemed to be larger, just as fast and just as competitive. I did notice that they gave out pretty fast and got hurt a lot, which indicates they might not be in the best of physical shape. Maybe things will pick up during the next game or two. We meet Dimmitt next Friday at Dimmitt in hopes of avenging last year's 6-0 defeat at the hands of the Bobcats.

Back before the white man took over and brought civilization to this country, the Indians had plenty of food, no taxes, and the women did all the work.

The nominating committee of John Douglas Pitman, Charlie Eds and Joe Reinauer was named to nominate 20 members for the board. By mail ballot, members will select 15 for the first board, with the person receiving the highest number of votes to be chairman of the board. The nominating group also will name a special committee of five women.

It was approved that the board, after election, would take immediate steps to incorporate and start the construction. The 100 memberships not purchased will be open until the club becomes incorporated, after which it will accept members only upon application, screening and approval by the board.

Organizers emphasized that the original plans for club facilities would not be changed because of fewer members.

As originally planned, the club will be located on the south side of John Pitman Municipal golf course. The concrete and stone club house would include 5,631 square feet. One of the unusual features of the club would be the extensive public facilities available for non-members.

The country club organizers have agreed to provide large locker rooms and golf shop in the building to replace the small stone building which now serves as headquarters for the municipal golf course.

The east wing of the building would have a golf shop and club storage room, a men's locker room with 146 lockers and a women's locker room with 67 lockers. All of these facilities will be available for public use and maintained by the club.

Other clubhouse facilities would include a large room to be used for banquets, games and dining. Part of this room could be screened off for a smaller dining room. There would be a men's card room, a lounge, a combination room for ladies' meetings and for another dining area, a large kitchen, with concession stand and storage facilities.

Main entrance would be on the south, with the building facing north, with a terrace on the north side. Adjoining the clubhouse would be a kidney-shaped swimming pool, a children's pool, two tennis courts and a large parking area.

Club boosters emphasized that they are not taking over the city golf facilities and would not place restrictions upon the present golf course operation.

Vows Exchanged In Home Rites

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Linda Joan Brown and Johnny Marcus Latham in a double-ring ceremony Thursday afternoon in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fluitt, 141 N. 25 Mile Ave.

The nuptial rites were read by the Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, 233 Ave. B. She is a graduate of Hereford High School, where she was elected Personality Queen her senior year, served as president of Tri-Hi-Y and worthy advisor of Rainbow Girls before attending West Texas State College for one year. There, she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus R. Latham, 232 Star St. He also graduated from Hereford High School, served in the Marine Corps and attended Texas Tech.

The couple and their attendants stood before an improvised altar arranged with an arch of greenery interspersed with large bronze chrysanthemums, flanked by staircase candelabrum holding avocado green candles tied with clusters of bronze chrysanthemums at the south end of the living room. Bronze chrysanthemums also decorated the mantel. A kneeling bench covered with white satin completed the setting.

Miss Tommie Kay Robinson, pianist, played a prelude of nuptial selections as guests were arriving and accompanied Gwyn Morris, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". "Ave Maria" was played softly as vows were exchanged. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. Bill Gore of Albuquerque, N. M., was her sister's matron of honor and Mrs. John Beasley was bridesmaid. They wore similar dresses of bronze sheer wool made with fitted bodices and semi-full skirts, and carried hand bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Melissa Henry was flower girl and Lyle Brown carried the rings. Candles were lighted by Mike Robinson and Dennis Latham.

Jim McLaughlin of Lubbock acted as best man and Bobby Burrue ushered.

Mr. Brown gave his daughter in marriage. She wore the gown worn by her sister in her wedding, fashioned of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The molded bodice featured a Sabrina neckline, long tapering sleeves touched with dainty iridescent sequins, and came to a deep point in the center front. A wide panel of lace extended the length of the very full skirt in front with wide ruffles of tulle and lace forming the back terminating in a fan shaped train.

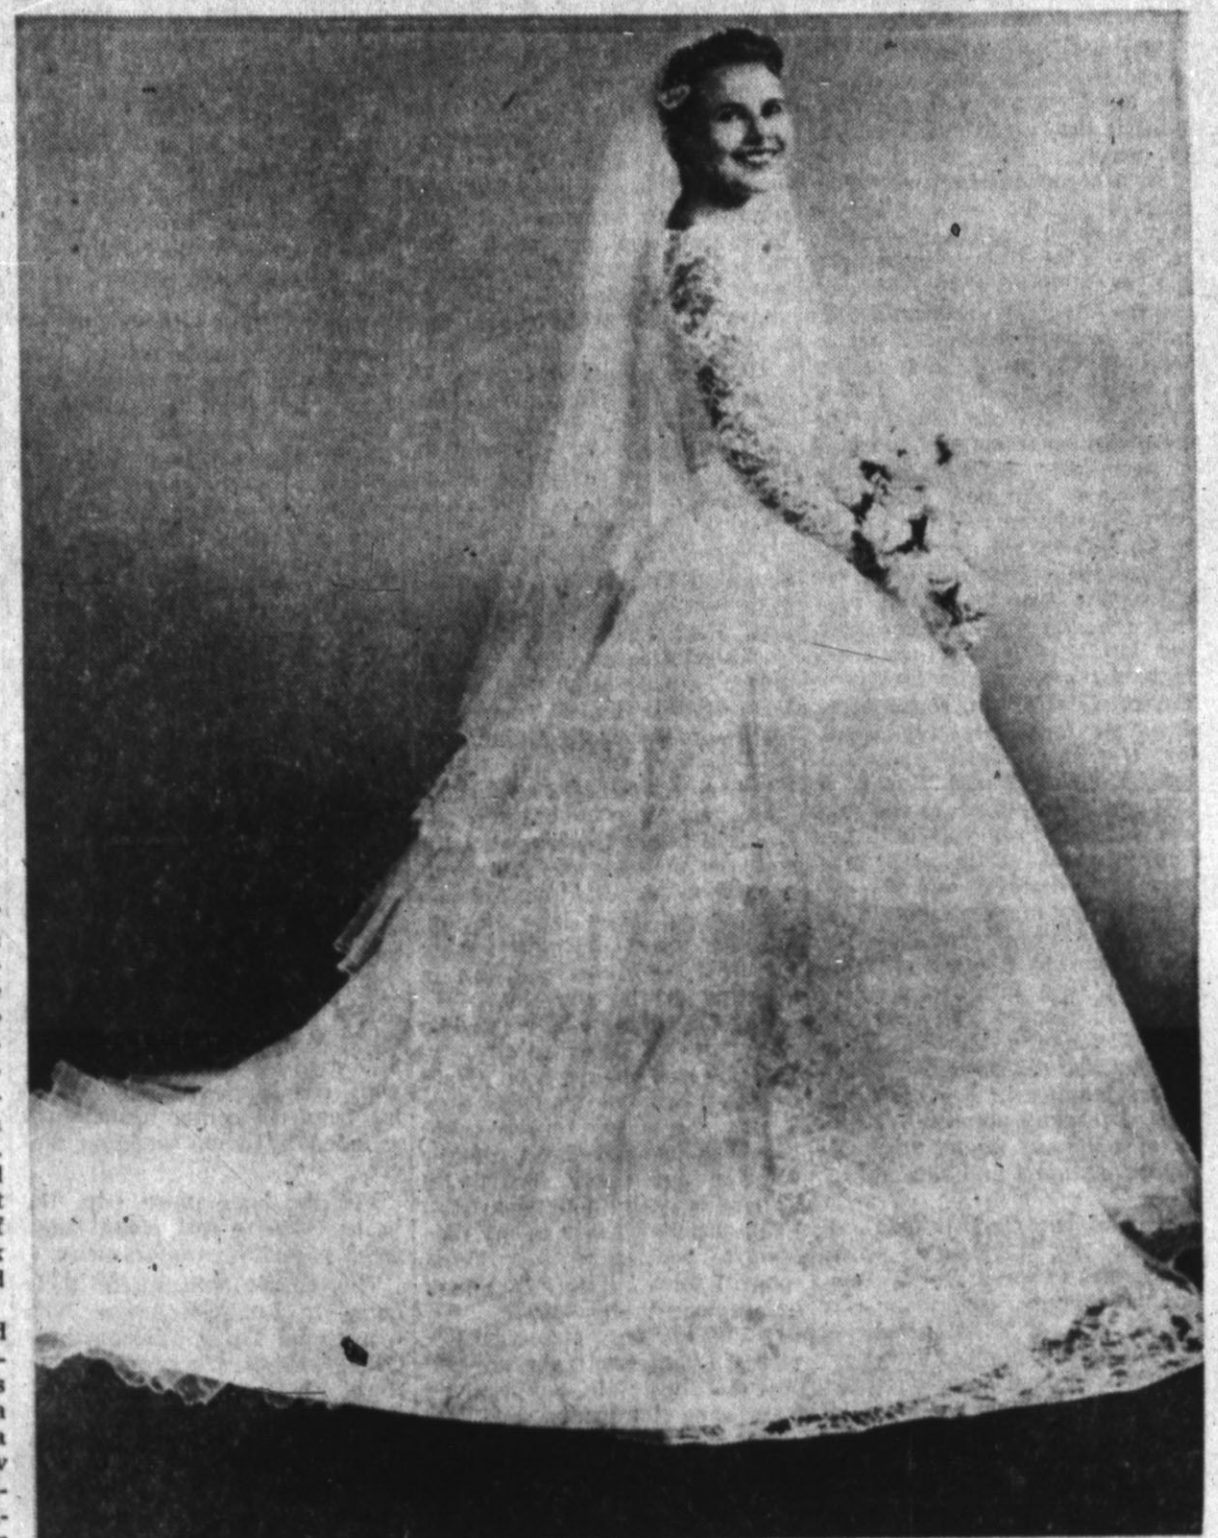

Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was attached to a circlet of white iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded by tea roses resting on her Rainbow Bible, and for sentimental reasons she wore an opal ring given to her by her grandmother Fluitt.

Mrs. Brown wore a pink lace dress with rose satin trim and a rose stole for her daughter's wedding and the bridegroom's mother chose a hyacinth blue dress of cotton chiffon. Their flowers were white tea roses.

For the reception held in the Fluitt home, the white imported tablecloth was centered with a silver candelabra holding Talisman roses and white tapers. The three tiered divided wedding cake, done in white, was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Following the reception, the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Colorado. The bride traveled in a green and beige dress with bronze accessories and a small feather hat. The orchid from the wedding bouquet was worn as a corsage. They will reside at 2216 B 35th St., Lubbock, where both will attend Texas Tech.

Miss Williams Is Feted At Shower

Miss Ella Marie Williams, who became the bride of Robert W. Veigel yesterday in a service held in the First Methodist Church, was honored at a shower courtesy given in the home of Mrs. Cawthon Bryant recently.

The chosen colors of the bride-elect were carried out in pink and white flowers and table appointments.

The table was laid with a white appliqued organdy cloth over white satin, and the floral arrangement at the center back of the table was of large pink and white chrysanthemums and smaller pink and white Spider Mums in a large container upheld by a cupid pedestal. Bedrooms carried out the pink and white theme, with arrangements of rosebuds and in the living room. Gold daisies and bronze chrysanthemums were used to carry out the color tones of the room.

Williams-Veigel Wedding Held In Methodist Church Saturday

The First Methodist Church sanctuary was the setting for the 6:30 p.m. wedding Saturday uniting Miss Ella Marie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve S. Williams 139 Ave. B, and Robert W. Veigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Veigel, 511 Roosevelt St.

The Rev. Gilbert Davis, pastor of the First Christian Church read the double-ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. H. L. Thurston.

Church decorations were marked at the entrance to the sanctuary by a tall fan arrangement of ash-rose gladioli closing the white carpeted center aisle reserved for the bridal party. Pews leading to the altar were marked by white satin bows and clustered with ash-rose gladioli. At each side of the immediate altar, wedding tapers burned in spiral candelabra, entwined with greenery, giving an incandescent glow to the twilight scene.

Single white tapers in groups of seven burned at either side along the chancel rail. The gold cross high in the background, was flanked by tall wedding tapers. Mrs. Bill Stanford, organist, presented traditional wedding selections and accompanied Taylor Sims, soloist, who sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Miss Clarabeth Holt was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Nancy Pace of Levelland and Jo Ann Fowlkes.

TAKES FIRST PLANE RIDE

Pioneer Resident Paints As Hobby

Mrs. W. H. Rayzor, former school teacher, housewife, mother of seven children and artist, believes in prayer.

"Whenever I have a problem I pray for guidance. It never fails me," she says, and when asked to what she attributed her longevity (she celebrated her 89th birthday while visiting her daughter in Hereford last week), she replied, "The Lord must have some use for me here or He would send for me." When I start a picture, I ask the Lord to let me finish it, and so far, I've completed every one."

Ida Jarvis was born in Mississippi and moved with her family to Texas when a small child. She grew up in Denton on the edge of the old Chisholm Trail in the Jesse James era.

When she was 17, she went to visit relatives in her native state, and there, an uncle persuaded her to do some serious study, and when she returned she enrolled in the Denton Normal School, now North Texas State College. After 2½ years, she received a teacher's certificate and began to teach.

She was married to W.H. Rayzor in 1893. He was also a teacher and for awhile they taught together in the Boliver schools. Then he was elected superintendent of schools in Canyon and they moved to the Panhandle.

They moved to Hereford in 1900, and he entered the real estate business. She gave up teaching to devote her time to being a housewife and mother.

Double-Ring Ceremony Held Sunday Morning

In an informal ceremony held in Ward Hall of the First Methodist Church Sunday morning at 9 a.m., Miss Martha Bookout and Carl W. Hall of Denton were united in a double-ring marriage service. The Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor, officiated at the rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bookout and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hartnitt of Jacksboro.

Miss Bette Jean Noland, organist, and Gwyn Morris, vocalist, presented the wedding music. Traditional marches were played and vocal offerings were "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The ceremony was performed before a chapel arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow daisies, greenery and lighted tapers in flanking seven-branched candelabra. An heirloom Bible, opened at the story of Ruth, centered the altar, before which the couple knelt for the benediction prayer. Only immediate members of the family and close friends attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Bobby Shelton, a recent bride, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a beige jersey sheath with embroidered flower motif in bronze and a small bronze feather hat. Bronze accessories picked up the tones of the bronze chrysanthemum nosegay she carried.

Ronnie Wells of Killeen was best man, and ushering were Bill Bookout of Fort Worth and Bobby Shelton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bonewhite wool jersey sheath featuring a lace bodice. Her matching hat fashioned of velvet leaves had a small brow-veil, and she carried her Rainbow Bible topped by a single white orchid. Her only jewelry was a small pearl droplet necklace.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a small reception in their home, 124 Ave. B. The bride's table was laid with an embroidered Irish linen and lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and daisies. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Bobby Shelton, Mrs. Danny Martin of Lubbock, Mrs. Howard Gault and Mrs. S. S. Williams.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hartnitt of Jacksboro, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cross of Jacksboro, Mrs. Irvin Kimmins of Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hays and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hays of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hays and Lyndal of Black, Bill Bookout of Fort Worth, Ronnie Wells of Killeen, and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Martin of Lubbock.

Mrs. Hall graduated from Hereford High School and attended NTSC in Denton. Hall graduated from NTSC in August where he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, and is now associated with the Barrow Insurance Company of Denton. They will make their home at 905 Welch St., Denton.

But in 1911, tragedy struck the family. Mr. Rayzor was killed in an accident in the sand pits east of town. They were improving the home they had bought on the corner of what is now Harrison Highway and 25 Mile Avenue.

She was left to provide for seven children, and it was during the hard years that followed that she learned the meaning of prayer.

At first she tried growing vegetables for the market in the summer and "taking in sewing" in the winter. But even with help from the children, she soon realized it was impossible to make enough money to get along. So she went back to her books and by studying almost night and day she passed the state examinations and received a permanent teachers certificate which she now holds.

In 1921 she moved the family to Canyon so she could put the children in college as they grew older. She was not always able to teach and live at home with the family, but they managed to hold together. She taught in Castro, Deaf Smith, Hutchinson, Ochiltree and Galveston counties. Her last school term was taught during World War II.

It was about 35 years ago that she suddenly realized that her family could pretty well take care of themselves and she decided to do some of the things she had always wanted to do. She began to try her skill in painting, first with water colors and then pastels, charcoal and oils. She had no formal training, but she did some work with an art teacher in Perryton and soon she began painting all types of pictures, portraits, landscapes, animals and sacred pictures.

Most of her work is original, but she has also made some fine copies of great works. During the last two years she has placed several sacred pictures in churches. A copy of The Last Supper was sent to the Baptist Church in Bolivar in memory of her father and mother who helped organize the church and of which she was a charter member. A copy of the same picture was sent to the First Baptist Church of Perryton in memory of her brother, Dr. E.R. Jarvis, who was a pioneer dentist there. One of the sacred pictures went to the educational building in the Baptist Church of Spearman and the Baptist Church in Texas City where she has her membership houses several of her paintings.

Many of her works have won blue ribbons in area and state fairs, but she has no interest in selling them. One of her greatest joys is being able to share her art with friends and family.

Her seven children include E. Dith, who is teaching art in Junior High School in Texas City, Herbert who lives in Hawaii, is retired and raises game chickens and pit bulldogs, Jarvis who lives in Galveston and is first vice-president of the Kelso Construction Co., Delma who died in a boating accident 11 years ago, Kenneth who is with the Lockheed Aircraft Co. in Los Angeles, Louise Sutton with whom Mrs. Rayzor makes her home in Texas City at 312 Eighth Ave. N. and Marguerite who is Mrs. Charles Newell of Hereford.

She has 15 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren. Even the smallest of the great-grandchildren show signs of marked artistic ability. They draw, design, write, do wood carving and seem to derive as much pleasure in creating art as she has.

Her first plane ride was when she came to Hereford in August. She had always been afraid to travel by plane, but this time it was the only way she could come so she mustered all her courage and made the trip "There is really nothing to it—I felt just like I was in my own favorite rocker in my living room. I think I'll be flying back before long", she said.

"Keeping busy" has been her way of living. She keeps abreast of the times with her beloved books and the radio, and her warm faith and belief in God find expression in her handiwork and in the inspiration she gives to others and in her constant efforts to improve and help those around her.

served as flower girls. They wore dresses of ash-rose organza fashioned similar to those worn by the other attendants.

Don Veigel, assisted his brother as best man, Lynn Boomer, John David Bryant, Ron Zimmerman and Danny Elliott of Lubbock were groomsmen and ushers.

As the bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Paul Williams of Toccoa, Ga., who was substituting for her father, convalescing from injuries, she wore a taffeta and lace gown of traditional design. The portrait neckline of the alencon lace bodice was outlined in scallops re-embroidered in seed pearls, with matching embroidery touching the long pointed sleeves.

The bouffant taffeta skirt, accented with appliques of lace, terminated into a chapel train which fell from the fullness at the waist. Her veil of French illusion was caught to a Queen's crown of lace encrusted with pearls and sequins and she carried a bride's arrangement of long-stemmed, untied Sterling Silver rosebuds.

Mrs. Williams chose a blue lace dress for her daughter's wedding, using navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige and brown brocaded satin with brown accessories. Each wore a corsage of Garnet rosebuds.

A reception in Ward Hall of the church followed the ceremony. Members of the houseparty were Mesdames Earl Holt, J. W. Terry, C. O. Phillips, Clara Shore, Bert Boomer and Lavonne Johnson of Lockney.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and held a five-branched candelabra with red Happiness Roses rising from the center branch surrounded by white wedding tapers.

For the honeymoon trip, the bride chose a two-piece beige frock with brown accessories.

The couple will make their home in Lubbock where both will attend Texas Technological College. Both are graduates of Hereford High School. She attended Texas Tech last year and he has attended the Lubbock school for two years. The bride was a twirler during her four years in high school and also served as a twirler with the Texas Tech Band.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By Charlie Seeds

In a dramatic meeting at sea, the heads of government of the free world's most powerful nations met. The drama of that meeting in the North Atlantic was underscored by the fact that hordes of German submarines were at that very moment prowling the seas, hunting for victims.

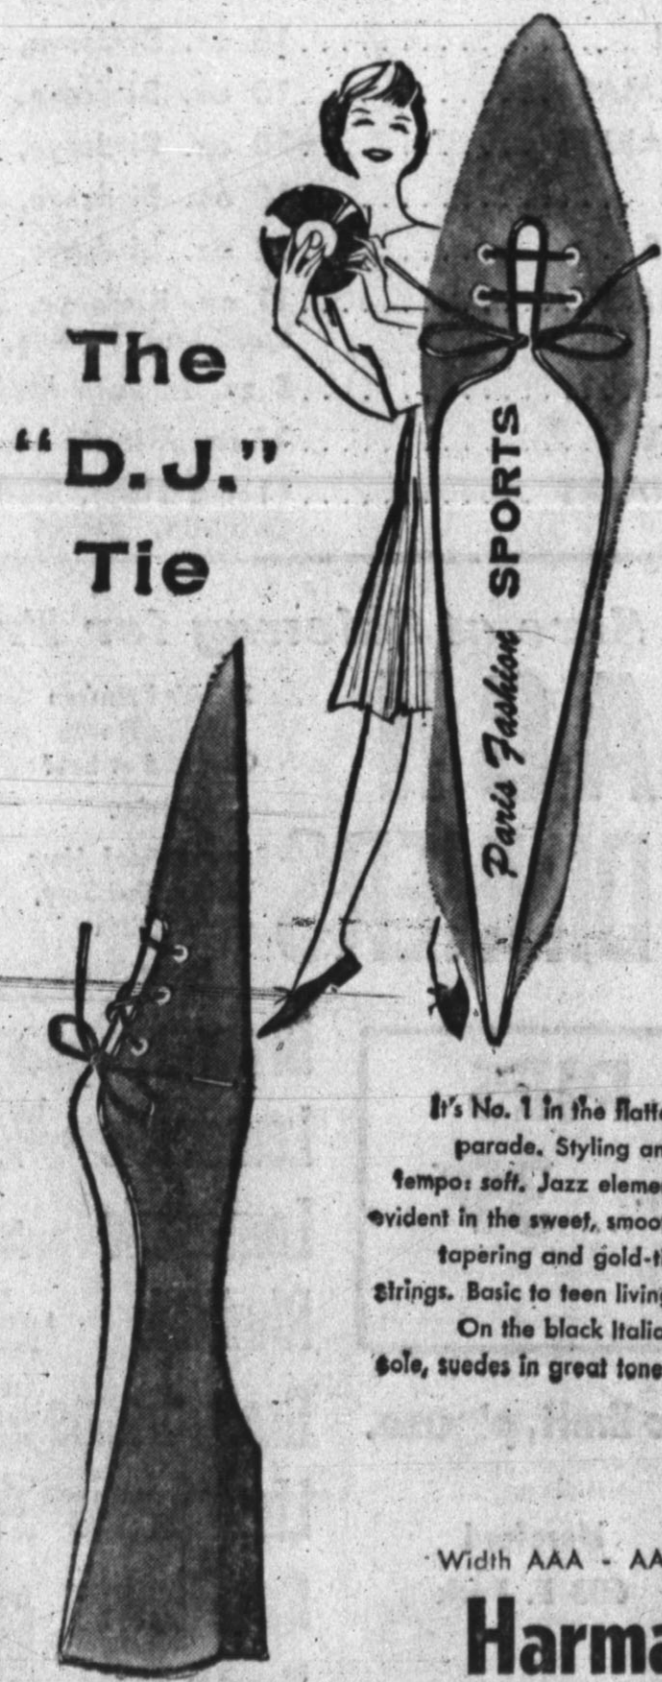

This was the historic meeting of Roosevelt and Churchill which resulted in the famous "Atlantic Charter," in which the two countries pledged themselves to work together for world peace and "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Britain was then at war with Germany, but the U. S. was not. In the eight points of the Atlantic Charter we announced to the world the principles in which we believed... and for which we were soon to fight. Remember when the startling announcement of this historic meeting was made?

Remember the year? When a man bought a new car that year, he didn't know that it was going to have to keep going for many years to come. It was a time when the lasting performance a car could give, and the service a dealer could provide, were especially important. The year was 1941.

Dependable service is just one feature of the new 1959 Ford... the car that will stay looking like new and performing like new for a long time to come! And our excellent facilities will keep your new Ford at its best. See your servicing dealer now! CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

Commodity Imports Provide One Of Nation's Industry Headaches

Commodity imports these days are providing one of our national headaches. Most of us are familiar with the influx of gadgets from Japan, tools from Germany, telephones from Switzerland and, of course, those midget automobiles.

More recently, however, the classification of men's suits is being added to the import list. After all freight, duties and similar considerations are cleared up, the Japanese suits are reportedly wholesaling $10 under those of U. S. manufacture. Rising imports threaten to capture 4 per cent of the American market.

Add to this the drop in U. S. exports to South America and Canada—in our own backyard—and you, too, will begin to worry a slight bit concerning the industrial future of the U. S. A.

Taxes and high salaries, it seems, are fast crowding the United States out of the competitive world market. High cost of salaries and materials, in turn, mean high living standards for the people of our nation. And to make matters worse, price cutting through streamlined production was the very same factor which moved American industry into its presently enviable position.

In a lot of ways, the situation reminds us of the old fable about killing the goose that laid the golden eggs. No one wishes to wipe out our high living standards, whether they be in the shops, on the farms or in our retail stores. On the other hand, as we keep pushing and striving for more and more, it is entirely possible that we may be placing ourselves in a position where the future will bring us less and less.

A situation of this type may be exactly what Khrushchev means when he says our grandchildren will live under Communism. However, we also remember when Hitler predicted that the "decaying Democracies" would crumble before his totalitarian program. Instead, faced with possible annihilation, we tightened our belts, took another look—and buckled down to show the world that Americans not only love freedom, but that we were willing to put it ahead of personal gain.

Naturally, we do not agree with Mr. Khrushchev. On the other hand, it is possible that we will face many changes during the next two decades. What they will be, we do not know. We do know the average American, however, and we have confidence that once the chips are down, he will come through with flying colors—and they won't be red.

First Aid Group Ups Your Chances

Reporting a total of 60 persons qualified and properly trained in first aid techniques in Hereford, Police Chief Henry Aycock has recently been stressing importance of first aid before local civic groups.

This figure, conservatively one out of each 150 persons, is probably high when compared with national statistics. In addition, some of our public schools are including first aid in physical education classes.

If you have one of these trained first aid persons in your family, you are fortunate. Even if you do not, the figure says that your chances of survival are greatly increased by their existence, especially in cases of automobile accidents, fire, water accidents and numerous other phases of normal everyday life.

The program, it seems to us, is one well worth expanding. Facilities exist under Red Cross sponsorship in several areas at the present time. Expansion of the program depends chiefly upon recognition of its merits, and general interest on part of the average citizen.

How Many Of Us Do Our Best?

Approached with a book on "How to Farm Better," an elderly farmer shook his head, and turned the salesman down. When the salesman asked, "Don't you want to farm better?" the agrarian replied:

"Sure, but I already know how to farm a lot better than I am doing now."

His answer, it seems, will fit many of us as business men, professional men or housewives, as well as farmers. Not many of us honestly do our job, day in and day out, to the best of our ability. If we did, things in general would be far different—along with many changes in our personal fortunes and status.

Lack of consistency is possibly an even greater fault. Many of us do an excellent job at times, only to fall short when the rewards would count most. Opportunity, ever elusive, seldom knocks loud enough to awaken the fellow who falls asleep.

Keeping abreast with new developments is important. Putting into daily practice the methods we already know to the best of our ability is even more important. When you read of a successful person—school teacher, mechanic, clerk, waitress, doctor, lawyer, writer or housewife—you can bet that a little checking will disclose that he, or she, was "farming the best he knew how," and doing it every day in the week.

Talk is never cheap when you have to take some of it back.

Better stop worrying about what your son will do when he grows up—and see what he's doing now.

Sometimes one wonders if it isn't easier to count his friends than it is to count on them.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Translating the word of God into the myriad tongues of the world is the seemingly impossible job that occupies and inspires the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Trained in survival camps to build huts, handle dugout canoes and live off the land, these volunteers, both men and women, penetrate the most remote regions on earth to record unwritten languages and bring literacy, civilization and Christianity to all peoples.

Translations have been started on more than 200 languages, but their aim and hope is to bring the word of God to the 2,000 remaining Bible-less tongues.

The organization is guided by William Cameron Townsend, who was instrumental in founding it 25 years ago after recovering from tuberculosis. He had contracted the disease while living with a tribe in Guatemala and translating the New Testament in their language.

From world headquarters in Glendale, Calif., the organization today sends some 1,000 volunteer translators, teachers, nurses and pilots to Bible missions in Latin America, Alaska and New Guinea.

Typical Families Show Principles Of Freedom

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

Is Khrushchev a happy man, now that he has received one of the things he has wished for some time, an invitation to visit the United States? Do you suppose he is looking forward to a greeting something like those given our own President? It has been said that Germany greeted Ike with open arms, a military hero, a man who had beaten them but had reached a helping hand to them instead of the proverbial kick; or the pomp and elegance of Great Britain or the romance of France with its 90 motorcycle corps.

Just how will Mr. and Mrs. America greet him? He is the leader of a great expanse of land and millions of people, a people that knows little of the meaning of the word freedom, a people that live under conditions that we in America would call existing, not living, yet they have built a great military machine which most of the world fears. Will they think of him as a curiosity, something foreign but to be treated as a guest.

Let's bring it home and think about the attitude of our own little city, then; what would Khrushchev think if we took him to visit in the homes of the families who live on one of our most typical streets—Star St.

Homefolk say that there are more children per block on Star than any other street in Hereford. Our children today are the future citizens of America who will keep or lose the freedom which we have inherited.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patton of 212 Star are descendants of the pioneers and one of the first families to build and live on Star Street. They came to Hereford or the Staked Plains in the early days. Bill is an insurance man, the father of three boys, Life, 16, Richard, 14, and Kevin, 7.

Their home is a three-bedroom brick bath and a half and a garage. Bill has a hobby of boating, fishing and water skiing, and the boys share these sports with him.

Mrs. Patton is a lovely person who loves keeping the family happy, and in her spare time does a great deal of reading. She is a charter member of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club, interested in the work of her church and education of the boys.

Would Khrushchev enjoy a visit in this home, feel free to watch Mrs. Patton as she prepared the evening meal or watch as she went through a typical day's work after getting the boys off to school? He would probably be amazed at the number of clothes she put into the washer, the number of appliances she used to make her work easier and more interesting.

What would he think of her choice of radio or TV programs and the fact she has several to choose from and none of them sponsored by the government and none a harassment about duties to the United States and capitalism.

He should follow her to the supermarkets to buy the food for three growing boys. Do you suppose he would remember saying in 1958 in Smolensk that "The imperialists walk around the fence of the Socialist countries like hungry wolves around a sheep pen"? Of course he was not speaking of physical hunger, but the fact that Russia is a great and wealthy country. Surely he would be amazed at what he saw and how it was chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Truly live at 107 Star in a modernistic home. Clyde, not satisfied with one job, has three; he sells insurance, real estate and Mobile homes. His hobby is quarter-horses. At one time he owned several but sold. However, this did not end his interest in the quarterhorse in any way.

Mrs. Truly, an attractive mother and grandmother, told of the children meeting and talking with Dale Robertson, of the Jim Hardy series, shaking hands with him and getting his autograph and of meeting Audie Murphy as they, too, were interested in horses.

Johnny, listening carefully to the conversation, piped up with "mother, did you tell her of the squirrels and I met a snake? Candace was more interested in (Continued on page 3)

A wildcat test, 6 miles north and 3 west of Wellington, has brought the search for oil or gas south of Salt Fork River, and to that immediate area for the first time. ## The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm writes about Chinese farming this week. At least, we think that's what he's writing about.

Dear editor: Everybody is supposed to be polite to Mr. Khrushchev on his visit to the United States, even if he is a Russian Communist dictator, but nobody has said we had to be polite to the Chinese Communists, and I was reading an article last night that made me laugh at how dumb the Chinese Communists are.

As I understand it, a few years ago the Communist bosses over there decided they were going to show the Chinese farmers how to farm, so they reorganized the whole business. What they did was throw all the farmers in "communes," this is, herd farmers in groups of around 5,000 into one place, build barracks for them, and run farming like it was a military operation.

What the Chinese bureaucrats failed to realize is that you can't throw people together in close quarters with any success. Any big city proves that.

Also, they must have been working on the theory that a farmer lives in the country because he can't afford to live in town. They're wrong. Actually, these days, very few people can afford to live in either place, town or country, but the way I see it, you can fail to make ends meet a lot more privately in the country.

I don't know about those Chinese farmers, other than that the news has leaked out they aren't happy about being herded up in barracks and agricultural production is far short of the goals the bosses set up, but the reason I live out here on this bindweed farm instead of in a big city is not because I couldn't swing city life if I tried. It's not because there's not room enough there for me. There's not room enough for the people already there, but that has no bearing on it. Cities keep on getting bigger anyway.

The Chinese Communists have another think coming if they believe they can improve agriculture by putting farmers in towns.

I've seen lots of farmers move to town, but it didn't help their farming ability. Most of them wound up becoming barbers or bankers or grocery clerks or merchants or bookkeepers or they ran for office. Of course I know some city people own farms, but generally speaking they're not causing the agricultural surpluses.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Beauty At Home

Q. What do you have to say about a thin woman's choice in clothes?
A. Unless you are so thin that every bone shows, you have a tremendous choice. Girls who are high-fashion models are actually about 15 pounds lighter than a doctor would recommend. You are among the few women in the world who can wear knit dresses (unless you are truly emaciated) — but full clothes and stiff materials will minimize your thinness better. Full skirts of thick materials — heavy tweeds, rich satins and brocades, velvets, taffetas — are all flattering. Very full sleeves and wide belts look fine on you, as do bright, rich colors and patterns. What you should avoid is bareness that shows too many bones, and clothes that cling too much. They make you look skimpy.

Q. Why should a girl avoid having too-frequent permanents?

A. Because, if she does, she will be risking excessive dryness and brittleness in her hair, and no amount of cream or oil will help those ends! They have to be cut off! Unless they are cut off, they will break off when you brush or comb your tresses. Your hair should be allowed to grow out for at least six months in between permanents.

Q. Is it all right to wear rings and bracelets over my gloves?

A. Bracelets, worn over the gloves, are perfectly proper and look very nice, especially in the evening. But rings should NOT be worn outside the gloves. Leave them inside, where they belong.

Q. How can I exercise to help reduce overly-fleshy thighs?

A. Kneel on the floor and sit back on your heels, keeping hands on hips and shoulders in good posture. Bend backward slowly as far as you can, dropping your head downward. You will be able to bend back only a short distance at first, but this will increase as you limber up. Return to original position after each stretch and then stretch again. In time you will be able to touch, or nearly touch, the floor with your head — and the resultant pull on your thigh muscles is certain to have its beneficial effect.

COMING:
TRUCKS THAT DO THE NEXT BEST THING TO PAVING EVERY ROAD IN AMERICA!

Imagine a truck ride so smooth and cushioned that fragile loads can travel the worst "wash-board" roads with ease. Imagine a truck ride that virtually eliminates shimmy and wheel fight, cuts side sway on curves, makes steering far steadier and easier, keeps drivers far fresher. Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. / Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. These trucks are new from the ride on up—with wonderfully roomier cabs, brawnier frames, style that's fresh as sixty and more! Don't decide on any new truck till you see the newest of all.

See them soon at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's.

First Aid Program Is Given At Lions Meet

Hereford Police Chief Henry Aycock presented a program on First Aid at the Lions Club meeting Wednesday noon in the Jim Hill Hotel.

His program consisted of a demonstration on artificial respiration and he explained the principles of the program, citing actual examples of how some people owe their lives to the training that others have received in First Aid classes.

Aycock said that about 60 persons in Deaf Smith County hold Red Cross First Aid certificates, and that the local chapter has 10 instructors.

He explained that First Aid is "common-sense emergency treatment", basically. Speed, he said, is not always the most important element, but knowledge of how to treat an injured or ill person is always important.

Lions Marlin Gilliland and Wayne Lawrence gave a demonstration on artificial respiration while Aycock narrated.

Local classes on first aid will begin soon under direction of the county Red Cross chapter. He urged all members to become interested in the program this year and to try to attend the classes.

The program and speaker were introduced by Woodrow Wilson. Aycock also is a Lions Club member.
