Slows Beet Harvest

Rains Boost Wheat Crop

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Winter wheat grazing prospects, already bright in the Hereford area, were looking even better today in the wake of heavy weekend thundershowers that dumped upwards of two inches of moisture on widespread areas of Deaf Smith County.

Favorable rains at planting time earlier this fall got both the area's irrigated and dryland wheat drops off to a strong start, and the weekend rains couldn't have come at a better time for the wheat crop.

Both irrigated and dryland wheat were beginning to show a need for moisture, and some irrigation of wheat was underway.

Grazing prospects have been outstanding over the local wheat raising region this fall, thanks to good initial growth by the wheat crop.

Huge numbers of stocker cattle have been moved into the area to take advantage of the available forage, and a record number of cattle may well go on winter pasture here, thanks to the favorable rainfall.

The weekend's rains brought the rapidly accelerating sugar beet harvest in the area to a halt, but Calvin Jones, agricultural manager for the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant, reported that the stop in harvesting shouldn't cause serious problems in completing the harvest on schedule.

"We should be operating at full speed by the first part of next week. It's just a matter of the fields getting dry enough to resume harvesting. The harvest is already 47 percent complete, and another week or ten days of favorable harvesting conditions will put us in good shape," said Jones.

He added that sugar content of this year's crop is still climbing, and is now averaging 14.27 percent. The rainfall may cause sugar content to drop slightly, until drying conditions set in, but Jones stated that the sugar content should then rise once more.

The rain also halted the harvesting of the local carrot crop, and delayed once more the conclusion of the grain sorghum harvest here.

The final surge of the sorghum harvest is still hinging on a hard frost to get the crop ready, as is the cotton harvest.

In a favorable weather pattern, the heaviest showers in the weekend drizzle fell on the sprawling dryland wheat farms to the west of Hereford, where the moisture was most needed.

Perhaps the heaviest accumulations fell in the vicinity of the Jim Perrin farm, 42 miles northwest of Hereford, where

Cullen Davis Trial Starts With Bang

HOUSTON (AP) - The murder-for-hire trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis got off to a bang.

After one day of testimony, there were these developments, in and out of courts in Houston and at Austin:

-An FBI agent confirmed an extortion attempt was made on Davis.

-A defense attorney contended the defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, tried to hire someone to kill Davis.

-A prosecutor imposed a gag rule on the prosecution.

-Both sides raised conspiracy arguments.

-The presiding judge recessed court until 1 p.m. today, permitting jurors to vote and a defense lawyer to argue in Austin for Davis' release on bond.

The million-dollar defense team suggested Monday that Davis himself was a target not only of an extortion attempt but also a potential contract killing.

'Strictly Bull' Rehearsals

Rehearsals for the "Strictly Bull" follies are continuing each night, with the C of C sponsored musical variety show to be staged Nov. 13-14-15 at the high school auditorium. Patsy Patrick, left, has fun with a "Charleston" number, and the action is even more strenuous in a jitterbug routine being rehearsed in the scene at right. Tickets for the show are on sale by members of the cast and the Hustler organization. General admission is $3, while reserved seats sell for $4 and $5. The cast is all local amateur talent, and the show and costuming are under the direction of Garry Bruch of the Jerome Cargill Producing Organization of New York.

Defense Ends Testimony; Jury To Deliberate Murder Case Soon

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Defendant Richard Williams testified Monday in 222nd District Court that he did not provoke the fight which allegedly led to the death of Larry Glover.

The defense rested before noon Monday in the murder trial, and attorneys, along with District Judge Wes Gulley, spend the remainder of the day preparing the written charge to be read this morning to the jury. Attorneys for both the prosecution and defense also were scheduled to present closing arguments to the jury today.

Williams, testifying before approximately 100 spectators including members of a high school government class, stated that he was riding with four other persons in a small car when it was run off the road by a red pickup on the night of Oct. 11, 1977.

The defendant said passengers in the car, driven by Irajane Brinkman, decided to follow the pickup "because we didn't know who he was. We didn't have any idea why someone would run us off the road."

Williams testified the car followed the pickup north on U.S. Highway 385 until the red vehicle pulled in behind the patrol car of a deputy sheriff and another pickup. He stated that Ms. Brinkman's car pulled up to the other three vehicles on the right shoulder of the highway then got back onto the road and proceeded north.

"We just wanted to talk to the man. We didn't want to get him in trouble," Williams said in response to a question from defense attorney Travis Seltzer concerning the reason why the car's passengers did not tell the deputy about the incident.

"The first dirt road we found, we pulled off and waited," Williams said.

He testified that the deputy then pulled up to the car and asked what it was doing there. Williams said he told the deputy he wanted to talk to the man in the red pickup and asked his name.

Williams stated that while the persons in the car were talking with the officer, the pickup drove past, going north on 385.

The defendant testified the car pulled back onto the main road and followed the pickup, which went east on a road at Milo Center and pulled into a driveway at a residence.

"When I saw Mr. Glover pull into his residence, I remembered I didn't have any shoes, so I asked Robert (Baum) if I could borrow his boots," Williams stated.

Williams said that after he put on the boots, he got out of the car, approached Glover and asked him "if he remembered running a little green car off the road."

Glover "paused for a moment and in a sarcastic voice said that somebody shot him (an obscene gesture)," Williams testified.

He added that Glover seemed angry and defensive and that no one in the car had made an obscene gesture.

"He took a step backwards and said, 'If you don't like it, come on.' He started raising his hands up," Williams said, indicating what he meant by raising his clenched fists.

"How did you interpret that move?"

State Shows Big Surplus, But Spending Will Absorb

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Comptroller Bob Bullock says Texas state government had a $2.7 billion ending cash balance at the close of fiscal 1978.

But spending requirements for the present fiscal year, which began Sept. 1, will absorb most of the balance.

Bullock called the balance a "surplus" in a news release, but the word surplus means little until the end of the biennium for which the Legislature appropriated funds.

The comptroller last estimated the surplus for the biennium ending Aug. 31, 1979, in July, before the Legislature's 30-day "tax relief" session. The July estimate was $876.1 million, but lawmakers spent or committed most of that to various tax relief proposals.

"The economic environment of Texas government should be the envy of budget makers in the other 49 states and is closely linked to the state's prospering economy," Bullock said.

His report showed state government spent $8.4 billion while its revenues and beginning cash balance for the year totaled $11.1 billion.

By The Associated Press
Texas voters bombarded by sophisticated media campaigns and cleverly assembled data aimed at influencing choices today watched something all the computers in the state can't control - the weather.

The all-important turnout is often decided by how much discomfort voters must put up with in making their way to the booths.

Tradition holds that Democrats profit from a big turnout, and the Democrats were hoping that a predicted clear and cool day materialized.

Presumably, Republicans prayed for rain.

Voters had a lot of choices to make today, but a pair of statewide races stuck out from the rest.

Democrat John Hill, who has said there is no way he can lose, faces Republican Bill Clements in a battle to see whose millions were better spent. They're running for the governor's office.

And, once again, Republican Sen. John Tower is trying to fend off another challenge to add to his 17 years in the Upper Chamber. This year's Democrat is Rep. Bob Krueger, who says he's ahead in all the polls.

In the House, Texans will try to fill an enormous power vacuum left by retirements and other reasons.

The 2 Texas congressional seats also are at stake, and only two incumbents are unopposed.

There are good races for attorney general, where former Secretary of State Mark White has a strong Republican challenger, Jim Baker, and for railroad commissioner, where Democrat John Poerner is opposed by Republican James W. Lacy.

Lieutenant Gov. Bill Hobby faces less formidable Republican opposition in Gaylor Marshall.

La Raza Unida Party has nominees for governor and U.S. senator - Mario Compean and Luis A. Diaz DeLeon, respectively.

Running unopposed this year are Democrats Bob Bullock, comptroller; Warren G. Harding, state treasurer; Bob Armstrong, land commissioner; Reagan Brown, agriculture commissioner; and Mack Wallace, railroad commissioner.

Eight judges are running statewide but are unopposed. They are Joe R. Greenhill, chief justice, Supreme Court; Franklin Ypears, Sam Johnson, Charles Barrow and Robert Campbell, associate justices to the Supreme Court; and Wendell Odom, Sam Houston Clinton and W.C. "Bill" Davis, judges on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Eight newcomers will be among the 24 representatives elected to the U.S. House as Texas loses a lot of seniority because of retirement.

Reps. Olin Teague, 68, of College Station; George Mahon, 77, of Lubbock; Bob Poage, 78, of Anson; and Barbara Jordan of Houston, called it quits this year.

Freshmen congressmen also will be chosen to replace Krueger, leaving after four years to seek the Senate, and Dale Milford of Arlington and John Young of Corpus Christi, both defeated in the Democratic primary.

Reps. Jim Collins, a Republican from Dallas, and Henry B. Gonzalez, a Democrat from San Antonio, are the only candidates unopposed.

Texasans also will vote on nine proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. The most publicized is one providing for tax relief for residential homeowners, elderly persons, disabled persons and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizens involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration.

Cattle Create Controversy For Cowman, Commission

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford city commissioners Monday night told a man that if he wanted to keep cattle within 5,000 feet of the city limits, he must not let his 12 cows escape from their pen and roam on neighbors' property.

The unusual warning came after the man, Jim Scott, asked commissioners for permission to keep the cows. He cited an ordinance which stated that livestock may be kept within 5,000 feet of the city limits provided they are not kept in a feed yard.

"The problem here is the city has been too lenient," City Manager Dudley Bayne said. "Six times a year, your cows have gotten out. You should have been filed on each time. People around those cows are unhappy. The cows get in their yards and eat their gardens."

Scott said his cows were just west of the city, near Bradley Street.

"I moved them out in the country because the city inspector and city manager told me I had to move them," Scott said.

"Someone, kids, keep getting out. I got a letter from the city inspector to move the cows away from the city limits. I requested to put up some barbed wire, but the city manager and inspector refused to grant me that privilege.

"I felt like it was unfair and discrimination. There are some horses near my place," said Scott, who is black.

He said he wanted to put up "three or four strands" of barbed wire.

Bullard Lauds Hospital Facilities

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Jim Bullard wants sick folks to use Deaf Smith General Hospital because, first of all, he's the new administrator at the facility. Secondly, Bullard believes in his hospital.

"I really do. The facilities here are excellent," said Bullard, hospital head since August, moving to Hereford from Kingsville to assume the reins.

"As far as the equipment available and two primary service areas--the surgical suites and the OB delivery and labor areas--we are really fortunate in Hereford. They're excellent facilities and from what you might see elsewhere around the country, they're large, modern and very, very well equipped."

Bullard called the Hereford medical staff "very, very good--I think the service area we serve, primarily Hereford and Deaf Smith County, is fortunate to have the medical staff we have."

An alarming trend last summer when many sick Hereford residents went to Amarillo instead of using local facilities may be reversing itself, Bullard said.

"Things are looking a whole lot better. We've seen our patient load increasing, and it's going to continue to increase. I think. And we think that as the hospital continues to let people know exactly what kind of facility we have, the more patients we'll see.

"We're not advocating that people get sick so they'll come to our hospital. We just want people to know about the hospital. Anyone is invited to come out and see what the facility is like. If they haven't seen it before, I'll be more than happy to show them what we have."

One reason it's important for the hospital patient load to stay up, Bullard

Flynt Executive Shot in Ambush

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A vice president of a company connected with the publishing empire of Larry Flynt was shot from ambush Monday night, deputies said, eight months to the day that Flynt was shot from ambush and left paralyzed in Georgia.

Walter William Abrams, 33, of Mount Sterling was shot once in the chest with a high-powered weapon, said Franklin County sheriff's deputies. He was listed in guarded condition in University Hospital here early today.

The shooting occurred as Abrams and Flynt's brother, Jimmy, left the headquarters of their firm, Leisure Time Products, and walked to their cars.

Jimmy Flynt is president of the company, which deals in sex paraphernalia. Deputies discounted a suggestion that the shots which struck Abrams may have been meant for Flynt.

Deputies said Jimmy Flynt heard a shot as Abrams opened his car door. Flynt saw Abrams fall into his car then jump up after a few seconds. He ran to Flynt's car and Flynt drove to the hospital, deputies said.

Deputies said the shot appeared to have been fired from about 100 feet away in the direction of a neighboring building. The bullet passed through Abrams' chest then shattered against the building housing Leisure Time products, about 15 yards away, deputies said.

Iowa Beef Okays Sale of All Stock

DAKOTA CITY, Neb. (AP) — The board of directors of Iowa Beef Processors has unanimously approved a proposal whereby Pacific Holding Co. would buy the remaining 82 percent of its stock.

The action was taken at a special meeting Monday in Dakota City, where Iowa Beef Processors has its headquarters. Among the Iowa Beef plants included in the sale is one near Amarillo, Texas.

Pacific Holding is solely owned by David Murdock of Los Angeles. The transaction is valued at approximately $304 million based on the offering price of $60 per share.

In composite trading on Friday, the cost of Iowa Beef Processors stock was valued at $38 and five-eighths per share.

Pacific Holding presently owns over 810,000 shares or about 18 percent of the total shares. Under the terms of the proposed transaction, all management would remain the same. The sale would include all plants owned by Iowa Beef Processors, including the Dakota City headquarters; beef plants at Luverne, Minn.; Dennison, Iowa; Fort Dodge, Iowa; West Point, Neb.; Emporia, Kansas; Amarillo; Boise, Idaho; and Pasco, Washington; and a pork plant at Madison, Neb.

TPUC Examiner Won't Investigate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Texas Public Utility Commission hearing examiner has refused to pull Texas Utilities Co. into an investigation of the conglomerate's subsidiaries.

Examiner Philip Ricketts turned down requests Monday from consumer groups to include the company in a probe of Texas Electric Service Co., Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power & Light.

Lane Danton, representing a group of TP&L customers in Waco, said case intervenors will appeal Ricketts' ruling to the three-member commission. An appeal could delay a scheduled Dec. 18 start of investigation hearings.

Attorneys for the three subsidiary companies balked during a pre-hearing conference at talk of retroactive customer refunds being ordered.

"We do not think that that is a proper remedy," Earl Nye of Dallas Power & Light Co. said at a pre-hearing conference.

The commission ordered a probe of transactions between the sister companies after questions arose during a TESCO rate case.

"If anything is found to be wrong, and if refunds are to be made," said John Bell, commission general counsel, "they should be made retroactive."

Bell said during a lunch break that if refunds are ordered, they should date to the time of alleged improper transactions, December 1977.

Iran Troubles May Affect US Gas Prices

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The installation of Iran's first military government in 25 years triggered more rioting, and there were fears that strikes and other political turmoil in this oil-rich nation may soon be felt at the gasoline pumps in America and other big consuming nations.

One person died and two were wounded Monday night when troops dispersed rioters protesting the 37-year rule of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi and the appointment of his chief of staff, Gen. Gholam Reza Azhari, to head Iran's new regime.

Mobs burned and looted bank branches and liquor stores near Tehran University and in a town near the railroad station just outside the capital. Demonstrations also were staged in Abadan, in the heart of the oil-producing region in southern Iran.

Exiled Shiite Moslem leader Ayatollah Khomeini said in a CBS TV interview in Paris that while he hopes the shah can be overthrown by strikes and demonstrations he does not rule out armed violence.

The religious leader also said the Islamic government he envisions for Iran would try the shah and sentence him to "a minimum of life imprisonment" on grounds of ordering people killed.

The State Department, long a supporter of the shah, expressed support for the change to military rule on grounds the restoration of law and order is essential if the shah is to carry out his plan to hold elections for a civilian government.

"In the hospital, like any other business, there are a certain amount of fixed costs. The more services you give, the more people you serve, the more that costs is spread out. When people have to go into a hospital, the more they'll use our facility, the more it will help our cost control."

Bullard was assistant administrator at Kingsville's Kleburg County Hospital, which had 136 beds compared to 77 at Deaf Smith General. Prior to a two-year stint in Kingsville, he was administrative assistant at Metropolitan General Hospital in San Antonio, personnel director at Park's Regional Medical Center in Ft. Smith, Ark., and Comanche County Hospital in Lawton, Okla., and a cost analyst for General Dynamics in Ft. Worth.

Bullard, after studying for two years at Kilgore Junior College in East Texas, received his bachelor of business administration degree from North Texas State in 1967.

He was raised in Freeport in South Texas.

"We came to Hereford primarily because we saw this as a tremendous opportunity," Bullard said. "It is a tremendous opportunity both professionally and as a chance to live around some of the nicest people we've met in a long time."

Bullard and his wife, Judy, have a son—Jason, age 8—and daughter—Jennifer, age 4.

Shelton asked.

Williams replied: "I didn't know if he was gonna hit me when he raised his hands up. I hit him...I hit him with my fist in the face."

Williams stated that Glover fell back against the pickup and landed on the ground.

"I started walking over to him. When I walked over to him, he kicked at my shins. He kicked me in the lower shin...After he kicked me, I kicked him back automatically...I kicked him somewhere in the midsection—from his knees to his stomach."

"After that, I started walking backwards and he started up at me in a low-croched position. When he started coming toward me again, I hit him again."

Williams said that the second blow "stunned him pretty good."

He stated: "I knelt down beside him and I told him my name was Richard Williams and I didn't want any more trouble."

Williams said that he had no intention of seriously injuring Glover. "I just wanted to talk to him."

"Did you want to kill the man?" Shelton asked.

"No sir, I didn't," Williams replied.

Williams, who was cross-examined by district attorney Roland Saul, stated that he learned hand-to-hand combat in U.S. Army basic training.

Rain

2.65 inches of rainfall was recorded, and at Bootleg Corner, where the Bill Page farm reported 2.60 inches of moisture.

To the south of Hereford, Easter Grain recorded two inches of precipitation in that community.

In the Hereford area proper, the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant recorded 1.73 inches of rainfall.

To the east of the city, Dawn Co-Op recorded 1.25 inches of rain in that community, and to the north of Hereford, Pioneer Fertilizer received 1.50 inches and the Farmers Corner area received 1.65 inches of rainfall.

Northwest Grain near the Simms community recorded 1.50 inches of moisture.

that the city could not order Scott to move his cattle to the country.

"We don't have any right to tell Jim he can't keep a minimum number of livestock near the city," Langley said. "But what we're saying to you, Jim, is the city has reached its limit of leniency."

Mayor Bartley Dowell said, "What you want to be sure of is when you build that fence, don't let them get out."

Scott said the reason the cows would continue to escape from a hot-wire fence is "a smart cow knows she can push that wire with her horns."

Bayne said, "As far as I'm concerned, they can file on you the next time they get out."

In other business, commissioners:

—heard a report from Bayne that two wells would be drilled in northwest Hereford at a cost of $50,000 each, and line connecting the wells would cost $53,000.

Davis

Agent Ron Jannings said, "Did you know Priscilla Lee Davis tried to hire David Binyon to kill Cullen Davis?"

Prosecutor Tolly Wilson objected to the question and Judge Wallace Moore sustained it.

But outside the courtroom, defense lawyer Phil Burleson said: "We contend that David Binyon is the person Priscilla Davis attempted to hire to kill Cullen."

Burleson identified Binyon only as a Houston man involved with a car dealership. When Agent Jannings was asked in court if Binyon was a confidential informant, he replied: "I respectfully decline to answer."

Almost as puzzling was the disclosure by Jannings that the FBI had been involved late last year and in early 1978 in the investigation of an extortion attempt directed at Davis.

Sumner said Davis was more than a little distressed at the unsuccessful effort by federal agents to identify and apprehend the extortionist.

19 Die In Two Separate Fires

By the Associated Press

Firemen in Des Moines, Iowa, found 10 charred bodies in a burning department store after they were told everyone was out of the building. In Honesdale, Pa., a coroner said arson caused the blaze which killed at least nine residents of a 120-year-old landmark hotel.

Both Sunday morning fires destroyed their structures and left crews searching for more victims today. The Iowa fire in the Youngers department store may have claimed an 11th victim, official say. Nine store employees are listed as missing and only eight bodies remain unidentified.

Six persons are missing in the hotel fire in the rural northeastern Pennsylvania town said Wayne County coroner Robert Jennings, who added, "There is no doubt that it was a suspicious fire and I believe it was arson."

Des Moines Fire Chief Lee Williams said he had "no idea" what caused the department store fire but that it obviously spread "with an explosion-like force."

The fire started about 9:15 a.m., less than three hours before the store — part of a 115,000 shopping mall — was to open to the public. Workers said they heard a rushing sound, possibly gas. They said they did not hear an actual explosion.

District Fire Chief Tony DeFino said the 19-year-old, two-story store did not have an automatic sprinkler system, but added that was not illegal because the Iowa Fire Code was established after the store was built and was not retroactive.

Firefighters found the bodies hours after Youngers security director Michael Wilson had said he thought everyone was out of the building.

But Wilson noted that a log book kept at the store entrance was destroyed in the blaze, leaving no accurate record of who was inside.

It took eight hours to bring the blaze under control.

The 10 bodies were found on the second floor. Two have been identified. Nine Youngers employees are listed as missing, leaving one person still to be found, officials said.

The damage estimate was "obviously in the millions" of dollars, said District Fire Chief Wayne Stewards. The store, stocked with holiday wares, was a total loss.

Coroner Jennings said the fire that destroyed the Allen Motor Inn — which dates back to 1858 — may have started "under a stairwell." He noted that an Oct. 5 fire, one of two previous minor fires at the hotel, had also started under a stairwell.

Sadat Provides Summit 'Cement'

BAGDAD, Iraq (AP) — Summit conferences often produce impressions of togetherness, but the Baghdad conference witnessed once-bitter enemies acting like long lost friends. They have Anwar Sadat to thank.

The Egyptian president provided the cement for the new togetherness by frustrating and angering his one-time agreeing to make peace with Israel, the enemy of the Arabs for 30 years. And he hardened it by refusing to engage under stiff Arab League pressure.

Yasser Arafat, whose Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas traded bullets all over Europe with Iraqi agents just two months ago, says a new era of friendship has begun.

Jordan's King Hussein, whose Bedouin army killed 20,000 guerrillas in a bloody civil war seven years ago, held reconciliation talks with the PLO during his summit, concluded Sunday.

Presidents Ahmed Hassan el Bakr of Iraq and Hafez Assad of Syria, whose governments blamed each other for a two-year spate of sabotage and assassinations, have signed a cooperation treaty.

The new camaraderie produced some interesting scenes. The cemetery of the Iraqi royal family, assassinated in a 1958 revolution, was cleaned up and strewn with flowers before the summit. The slain Iraqi king was Hussein's cousin.

Syrian and Iraqi security guards joked and swapped tales outside the presidential palace while summit leaders were meeting inside. Last August, at other meetings, these men occupied themselves by taking sledge hammers to each others' embassy cars in Baghdad and Damascus.

The prevailing opinion here is that if the Arabs patch up their internal feuds, they can mount a credible front against Israel even without Egypt, their major confrontation state. Attempts at unity have been tried many times before, always in times of crisis, but inevitably dissolved into new bickering.

But the optimists here believe that unity has a better chance now. "We have never been confronted with a situation like this before, where an Arab state has chosen to betray its colleagues and join forces with the enemy," said a PLO official. "Our only chance to redress this wrong is to stick together," he added.

Crime Boss Loses Court Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carmine Galante, reputed successor to Carlo Gambino as organized crime's "boss of bosses," failed Monday in an attempt to have the Supreme Court free him from prison.

The justices let stand, without comment, Galante's 1962 narcotics conspiracy conviction and 20-year sentence.

Galante, 68, served 12 years of that sentence before he was paroled in 1974. He was sent back to prison last year after being charged with violating his parole by associating with known criminals.

The Supreme Court last March refused to review the decision to have Galante remain in prison until his sentence is completed, now computed by the U.S. Parole Commission to be September 1980.

Galante lost an appeal with the commission for early release last August.

In the appeal rejected by the Supreme Court, a lawyer for Galante argued that the reputed crime chieftain was denied effective legal help during his 1962 trial.

U.S. District Judge Milton Pollack of New York City, up-held the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, ruled that Galante "attempted to manipulate his right to counsel for the purpose of obstructing the trial."

In other action Monday the high court:

—In effect ordered a new trial for James Ruppert of Hamilton, Ohio, convicted in the celebrated Easter Sunday slayings in 1975 of 11 members of his family. The justices let stand an Ohio Supreme Court decision overturning the conviction because Ruppert had been "misinformed" of the consequences of waiving his right to a jury trial.

FDA Gets Boost In Effort To Ban Use Of Saccharin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration, which has been seeking to ban saccharin, apparently has been bolstered by a National Academy of Sciences report that concludes the popular sugar substitute "must be viewed as a potential cause of cancer in humans."

Donald Kennedy, FDA commissioner, called the report release Saturday "a comprehensive, objective and thoughtful evaluation" whose main conclusion "fully reinforces that reached earlier by FDA."

In the spring of 1977, the FDA tried to ban saccharin, which is now the last artificial sweetener allowed to be sold in the United States. But Congress imposed an 18-month moratorium on any FDA action pending further study. The moratorium expires May 23, 1979.

The academy study, done at the request of Congress, said further laboratory studies to establish the carcinogenic — cancer-causing — potential of saccharin are not needed under existing law.

Studies with laboratory rats show the sweetener is a "low potential" carcinogen when compared with other known cancer-causing agents, the panel said.

But the academy added, "Although the direct carcinogenic potential of saccharin in humans may be weak, its possible action as a promoter of cancer may be important."

The Atlanta-based Calorie Control Council and its advertising agency, which represent the diet soft drink industry, deplored the report.

"It seems incredible that the conclusions would go so strongly against the extensive and growing body of scientific evidence supporting saccharin's safety," the council said in a statement. "We expect common sense and the best interest of Americans will prevail when the evidence is fully examined."

The academy said researchers have not yet learned how to accurately use animal studies to predict how dangerous specific carcinogens are to humans. It added that none of the studies of human bladder cancer victims has been good enough to detect the effect of saccharin.

However the panel said, "Although saccharin would be expected to be of low potency in humans, even low risks applied to a large number of exposed persons may lead to public health concerns."

Some recommendations regarding the future of saccharin are due to be included in a later academy report on the government's food safety policies.

—Left intact an order allowing Boston to spend tax funds to urge Massachusetts voters to approve a ballot proposal in Tuesday's election that would prevent higher residential property taxes. The spending was opposed by a taxpayer group which estimated it would cost $1.3 million.

—Let stand an order that Westinghouse Electric Corp. obtain new lawyers if it wants to pursue its antitrust lawsuit against 29 U.S. and foreign uranium producers. Four defendants said they had given confidential information about their uranium operations to the Westinghouse law firm in the belief it was representing them and the American Petroleum Institute in another matter.

Public Welcomed By Founders Assn.

Thursday evening during the annual King's Manor Founders Association Dinner, Dr. Carl Page, associate clinical professor at Texas Tech University School of Medicine, will be the keynote speaker.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend the dinner and program, which will begin at 7 p.m. in the new Community Center banquet room, 100 Ave. C. Reservations can be made by contacting Quida Coker at the King's Manor business office, 364-0661.

Dr. Page is an associate clinical professor in the Geriatric department of family practice at Tech's School of Medicine. In addition to his address, entertainment will be provided by Psycho-Ceramics from Amarillo.

The purpose of the Founders Association is to support the financial needs of King's Manor Methodist Home, which is a non-profit organization. According to Bill Walden, association president, individuals can join the Founders Association by making an annual donation of $10. A gift of more than $10 provides sustaining membership and can accumulate for life membership, which is bestowed on $1,000 donors.

A total of $3,955 had been amassed this year for King's Manor by the Founders Association.

Declaring Poppy Day

Mayor Bartley Dowell officially declared that Thursday will be Buddy Poppy Day in Hereford by signing this proclamation, which was witnessed by Marie Goheen, left, and Mrs. Jim Loving. Donations in any amount will be accepted Thursday by the local VFW Auxiliary to benefit needy veterans and the families of deceased veterans. The public is urged to buy a VFW Buddy Poppy in honor of Veterans Day, Nov. 11. (Brand photo by Denise Smith)

Help Volunteered For Card Project

Members of Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary unanimously agreed to support the Medical Dental Auxiliary this year with their annual Project Christmas Card Campaign. The decision was made Monday afternoon during the Auxiliary's monthly business meeting at K-Bob's Steak House. Olivia Denning presided.

In other matters, drawing tickets were distributed for Auxiliary members to sell as a fund-raising project benefitting the hospital's gift shop, which will tentatively be open as of Dec. 1. The owner of the winning ticket will be presented with a hand-crocheted, full-sized afghan. Auxiliary members will be selling drawing tickets Nov. 18 in Sugarland Mall.

Gwen London was appointed to be in charge of preparing holiday favors to be placed on dinner trays for patients at the local hospital. Joan Milton and Sally Parmer were welcomed as new members.

It was announced that the Auxiliary's next regular meeting will be Dec. 4 for a noon luncheon at K-Bob's. It will be during this meeting that the winner of the afghan will be determined. The winner need not be present.

Members attending yesterday's meeting were Mrs. Denning, Lupe Gerda, Ruth Conrad, Irene Reinart, Doris Huckert, Brenda Kemp, Marilyn Larson, Grace Covington, Jane White, Jenny Trevino, Mary Johnson and Lani Walterscheid.

Saturday Bake Sale To Benefit Students

This year Hereford Aggie Mothers club one-time money raising event—a bake sale, will take place Saturday at Sugarland Mall beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The Aggie Moms concentrate their efforts on this annual event as their success determines the size of the scholarship they will present next spring to an aspiring Texas A&M University student.

This year, for the first time, the Moms awarded two scholarships, one to Charles Berryman and the other to Lou Ann Kindsfather, both now freshman Aggies. Home baked breads, cakes, pies and other pastries, along with home-canned goods will be available for those who want to treat their sweet tooth while they also share in helping a local student finance his or her college education.

Early each spring, a committee from the Aggie Moms Club interviews those high school seniors who have applied to and been accepted to enter TAM for the fall semester. Each year the committee finds the final selection a difficult job as each student is deserving.

Red Cross Offering Disaster Classes

Disaster action classes are to begin here Nov. 15 and 16 in the Conference Room of the Community Action Agency office. Classes are sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

All members of the Red Cross disaster committee and other interested persons are encouraged to attend this 6-hour course, which is being offered free of charge.

Joe Racz, division representative for this area, will be teaching the course.

Persons planning to attend the disaster action classes must pre-register by calling the Red Cross Office at 364,3761.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I had a dream the other night that I can't get out of my mind. The adults of the world became the children and the children ran the world.

It was terrible, standing down there wedged among all those knees. I couldn't get a drink of water, mail a letter, or open a door. Cars were even worse. If you didn't kill yourself getting to a window you just sat there on the seat with your legs sticking straight out, staring at the back of the seat. Every once in awhile, the child driving would say, "You sit down or you're going to break your neck. You know I can't drive and yell at you at the same time." But that wasn't true.

At the supermarket, I was just standing there when without a warning, someone whipped me off the floor and forced my legs through a grocery cart seat that was so cold my teeth frosted up.

I never got introduced. Sometimes, someone would say, "Oh, is this your youngest parent...or your only girl?" Or someone would say how much you looked like someone, but for all purposes, I had no name.

I took naps when I wasn't sleepy, ate when I wasn't hungry, had sweaters put on me when I wasn't cold and got thrown into swimming pools when I didn't want to swim.

I was tossed into the air when I had an upset stomach, forced to go to the bathroom whether I had to go or not, and ordered to stop crying when I had a perfectly good reason for doing it.

There were apartments with signs on the lawn that said, "NO PETS OR ADULTS." There were movies and rides that announced, "ADULTS MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY CHILDREN TWELVE YEARS OR UNDER." Occasionally, everyone would laugh and when I asked what they were laughing about, they would say, "We'll tell you when you're younger."

I never did anything right. I played with chewing gum, wiped my hands off on my dress, leaned back on chairs, made faces in the toaster, and sniffed instead of using a handkerchief. Once when I came into the kitchen with a comb in my hand, I thought life was all over.

I crayed when I was supposed to, played with strangers when I was told to, and washed my hands 50 million times a day. I was "seen a lot and not heard," given reasons of "Because I said so, that's why" and told with regularity, "You should have gone before you left home."

But the worse part was that people kept telling me, "This is the best part of your life, so enjoy it." I thought I'd never wake up.

Country Singles Hold Election

A new slate of officers was elected recently by members of Country Singles Square Dance members of Country Singles Square Dance club during a business meeting at the Community Center.

Elected to serve were Randy Allmon, president; Scott Turner, vice president; Debbie Prather, secretary/treasurer; Janet Mann and Milton Moore, Panhandle Square Dance Association representatives.

In other business, it was announced that the club will sponsor a special square dance

Nov. 29 at the Community Center with Sammy Parlyse of Pampa calling. The dance, which will begin at 8:30 p.m., will cost $1 admission fee.

Also, square dance lessons are continuing at First Presbyterian Church each Thursday night, beginning at 8 p.m. Johnny Gillenwater is the instructor.

The Country Singles meet for a workshop at 7:30 p.m. on the second Wednesday of each month. On the fourth Wednesday, Country Singles dance at 8:30 p.m.

Poppies to Be Sold Thursday for Vets

The VFW Buddy Poppy, a symbol of the sacrifices made by the nation's war dead, will be presented by members of the VFW Auxiliary on Thursday in recognition of donations.

The Auxiliary members will be located throughout the city, selling Buddy Poppies. All proceeds will go to the relief and welfare of needy veterans, their widows and orphans.

Buddy Poppies are handmade by disabled veterans and are sold by volunteers prior to Veterans Day to remind Americans of their debt to this nation's veterans. Citizens are urged to wear their Buddy Poppies on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Chairman of this year's Buddy Poppy sale is Marie Goheen.

Westway HD Club Elects Officers

New officers of Westway Home Demonstration Club were elected Thursday morning during a regular business meeting at RFC Medallion Room.

Chosen to serve were Joan Bookout, president; Grace Covington, vice president; Dixie Williamson, secretary; Diane Perkins, treasurer; Pam Hill, reporter; and Terri Johnson, Council delegate.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged during this meeting.

County Extension Agent Joyce Shipp suggested a host of gift ideas for members to make at Christmas time.

Members in attendance were Leta Kaul, Virginia Wheeler, and Mmes. Johnson, Hill, Williamson, Bookout and Covington.

Roll call was responded to with each member describing a favorite holiday activity, members were reminded that the next meeting is slated Dec. 14 with Bobby Patzig is hostess.

4-H'ERS LEARN IMPORTANCE OF BREAKFAST

Skipping breakfast really does make a difference in how you perform at school or on the job. Studies show people who miss breakfast become more tired and less efficient later in the morning than those who don't skip the meal. Breakfast is especially important for youngsters.

In the National 4-H Foods and Nutrition program, girls and boys 9 to 19 learn-by-doing that a good breakfast can prevent physical and mental fatigue and can supply up to 1/4 of their daily nutritional needs. 4-H members say it doesn't really matter what you eat for breakfast as long as there is a balance of foods.

Try selecting something from each of the four basic groups: milk and dairy products; meat; fish and eggs; breads and cereals; and fruits and vegetables. Young people can learn all about nutrition and food preparation in 4-H projects and activities supervised by the Extension Service and supported by the General Foods Corporation.

The 4-H foods and nutrition program encourages the development of good food habits that last a lifetime. It provides opportunities for 4-H'ers to plan, purchase, prepare and serve tasty, nutritious meals and snacks. During the months of October and November, Deaf Smith County will be conducting the 4-H food and Nutrition program. The Deaf Smith County Food Show is scheduled for November 18.

To recognize 4-Hers' accomplishments in the program, General Foods donates four medals of honor in each county, one expense-paid trip per state to National 4-H Congress in Chicago each year, and six national scholarships of $1,000 each.

More information on the 4-H foods and Nutrition program is available from the county Extension office.

Teen Dance Scheduled On Friday

A teen dance will be held at the Community Center Friday from 8-12 p.m. with Lively Times Disco. The dance is sponsored by Kappa Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Kappa Iota members will chaperone for the evening. The dance is a service project of Kappa Iota, and admission proceeds will be used to benefit one of the chapter's community projects.

Alpha Iota Considers By-Laws

Alpha Iota Mu held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the First National Bank. The Executive Board convened, discussing the Beta Sigma Phi Stamp Plan, and various additions to the Chapter's by-laws.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Glenda Nigh. The program "Establishing Ourselves" was given by Kathy Dupree. A group discussion was given.

Various committee reports were given by committee chairmen, and the Christmas party was discussed. Rituals planned for Nov. 21 were mentioned, and additions to the chapter's by-laws were brought before the chapter for consideration.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess, Debbie Goree.

Members present were Brenda Thomas, Bonnie Nixon, Debbie Thompson, Roberta McNeese, Ronna Howell, Shirley Dodge, Lila Cobb, Ediana McDowell and Susan Shaw.

Family Supper Planned

Plans for a family Thanksgiving supper, scheduled Nov. 21 in the A.E. Hodges home, were made Thursday afternoon by members of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. John Reid, 136 Ranger Drive.

Miss Roberta Campbell, president, called the business meeting to order. The HD Council report was presented and it was announced that all HD members are encouraged to attend the Tasting Bee Dec. 4 at the Community Center.

The hostess announced the birth of her first grandchild, a daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams Oct. 31.

Naomi Brisendine offered a program on wise management of time, giving tips for combining one's priorities and time for the greatest effectiveness. Afterwards, she issued worksheets to help individual members to evaluate their usage of time.

Mrs. Martin Wagner was welcomed back as a returning member to the club. Others present were Mmes. Bob Campbell, J.A. Crofford, Lilah Grub, A.E. Hodges and Paul Hoff. Young Toni Campbell was a guest.

The club's next regular meeting will convene at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 16 in the home of Peg Hoff.

Garden Club Planning Bazaar Here Nov. 17

On Nov. 17 in Sugarland Mall Hereford Garden Club will be holding their annual bazaar from 9:30-7:30 p.m.

Homemade items suggested for Christmas gifts and painted china will be sold. Proceeds will go to the beautification of Hereford Garden Center, High School Rose Garden, and First Baptist Church Rose garden.

Chairman of the bazaar is Meredith Wilcox. Virginia Garner is serving as club president.

Victims' Attitude Good

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — People who survived a 30-foot wall of water that churned through a tiny Bible college a year ago today were in better mental shape than victims of similar disasters, say researchers who credit their adjustment to religious faith and money.

Toccoa Falls College was devastated and 39 persons drowned — including 20 children of married students or faculty members — when the Kelley Barnes dam collapsed at 1:30 a.m. Nov. 6, 1977. The loss in personal and school property was estimated at $1.5 million.

Dr. Ronald Nuttall, director of the Laboratory of Statistical and Policy Research at Boston College, studied the survivors of the dam failure and flood. He also studied the psychological reactions of those who experienced similar disasters in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

"On the whole, the people at Toccoa Falls came out very well," Nuttall said in an interview. "They were in better mental health than the other communities we studied, who, for the most part, were not hit as hard.

"Their very strong religious commitment gave them an understanding and an explanation for what had happened to them, which the people in the other communities did not have," he said.

"Because of Toccoa, we had to change our theory about psychological reaction to disaster to include cultural values," he added.

Nuttall, whose study was funded by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the second factor in the survivors' adjustment was money.

"Almost no one at Toccoa Falls lost his job because of the flood. There was a great outpouring of assistance and the victims were, for the most part, able to replace their possessions," he said.

"Everyone who suffered loss and is capable of rebuilding has received better than 85 percent of what they lost in cash and goods," said Jim Grant, the college's director of public affairs.

Ann Landers

Here Non-Smokers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you are one person for sure who isn't in the hip pocket of the tobacco lobby. Do you have the guts to print this?

Although we now know that cancer is not ONE disease — it is at least 100 — some important strides have been made to conquer this most feared of all killers, thanks to the drugs that have resulted from government-supported research.

An organization called GASP has launched a campaign. Will you get behind it in your column? You would be saving lives. It's called: HIRE A NON-SMOKER. And here's why it makes sense. — I Want To Live.

DEAR FRIEND: Yes, I'll get behind it. Here it is: HIRE A NON-SMOKER — BECAUSE NON-SMOKERS HAVE LESS ABSENTEEISM THAN SMOKERS. The U.S. Public Health Service Studies show that smokers are absent from work because of illness 30 percent more often than non-smokers.

NON-SMOKERS HAVE FEWER ILLNESSES. Smokers are particularly susceptible to invading viruses and bacteria. They catch the common cold one and one half more times often than non-smokers.

NON-SMOKERS HAVE FEWER CHRONIC DISEASES LEADING TO EARLY DISABILITY. Smokers' diseases such as lung cancer, emphysema and coronary heart diseases often turn workers into permanent invalids, necessitating early retirement and costly disability payments.

NON-SMOKERS HAVE

FEWER WORK ACCIDENTS. Smoking is often a distraction and can lead to accidents. (Example: Many car accidents occur because the driver was searching for, lighting or disposing of a cigarette and his attention was diverted.)

NON-SMOKERS TEND TO BE MORE PRODUCTIVE. They don't take time out for "smoking breaks," trips to the cigarette machine, nor do they fumble with matches, lighters and ashtrays.

NON-SMOKERS MAKE A BETTER IMPRESSION WITH THE GENERAL PUBLIC. Receptionists, salespeople and executives present a better image if they don't smoke. They smell better, look better and don't risk offending nonsmokers who don't like smoke.

NON-SMOKERS ARE LESS DESTRUCTIVE OF COMPANY PROPERTY. Fire damage caused by careless smokers represents huge financial losses. A conservative estimate by the National Fire Protective Association is that one-quarter of all fires resulting in property losses are caused by smoking materials. In fires where lives are lost, more than one half are smoking-related. Destruction, such as cigarette burns in rugs, on desks, trash-can fires and damaged merchandise adds up to plenty.

NON-SMOKERS DO NOT OFFEND FELLOW WORKERS. No need to elaborate on this! Any nonsmoker who has had to work with smokers will tell you what it's like.

NON-SMOKERS ARE LESS SUBJECT TO MANY OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH HAZARDS. When there already exists an industrial condition such as airborne contaminants, nonsmokers do not further endanger their health with tobacco smoke.

NON-SMOKERS CAN WORK AROUND SENSITIVE MACHINERY. Smokers may foul instruments, making them inaccurate or, at best, necessitate frequent cleaning.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who needs to know what to do. My conscience is bothering me something awful.

Last term I had this big crush on my English teacher. I used to play dumb and stay after school to ask questions I already knew the answers to. I flirted with this teacher like crazy and we became friendlier and friendlier.

One night I stayed late after school, faked a sprained ankle and asked him to drive me home. We drove around a little and then ended up parking. That was the beginning. I saw him four times after that. Finally I decided I was crazy to be doing such things with a bald-headed guy who was old enough to be my father. When I saw the pictures of his kids in his wallet, I really came to my senses.

I want to go to his wife and beg her forgiveness. Now that there is nothing going on between us I can face her. Please tell me what to say. — Ashamed in Texas.

DEAR TEXAS: If you need to say something, say it in your prayers and leave the man's wife alone. Confessing might make you feel better, but it won't do much for her and it will do absolutely nothing for the teacher except maybe get him into a whole lot of trouble.

New York Newspapers Resume Production

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News, greeting readers with the front-page headline "HELLO THERE, REMEMBER US?" and the New York Times, looking as though it had never been away, hit the streets Monday for the first time in 89 days.

Presses at the two morning dailies began to roll after the last of an array of unions approved contract agreements, and the first copies were on newsstands by 3 a.m.

The News, which puts out a relatively large edition of 176 pages, said it printed its normal press run of 2 million copies, the largest circulation in the country.

The Times, with a circulation of almost 900,000, is the third largest in the country after the News and the Los Angeles Times. Its front page looked much like any other day's, with stories on Tuesday's election, riots in Iran, border clashes between China and Vietnam — and the end of the newspaper strike, which at one time also involved the afternoon New York Post.

The Times — which boasts of covering "All the News That's Fit to Print" — published a nine-page summary of the big events it missed: the brief reign of Pope John Paul I, the election of Pope John Paul II, the Camp David accord and the Yankees' World Series baseball triumph.

The stereotypers were the first of four unions to ratify new contracts Sunday.

Pressmen, paperhandlers and machinists followed with quick approval of three-year pacts. The Newspaper Guild unit at The Times, which began a strike Saturday, followed suit early Monday.

All the new contracts call for pay increases of $68 a week over the duration of the contracts.

The strike began Aug. 9, when the publishers posted new work rules for the press rooms. The rules were designed to cut press room jobs by attribution to enable the city papers to compete with suburban dailies vying for much of the same readership and advertising revenue.

The pressmen objected to the cuts and walked out, closing down the Times, the News and the Post and idling 10,000 workers in 11 unions. The Post pulled out of joint negotiations in the eighth week of the strike, worked out "me-too" agreements with its unions and resumed publication Oct. 5.

Ten of the 11 newspaper unions had been without contracts at the three newspapers since March 30.

The strike caused losses of more than $100 million in advertising revenue and allowed suburban newspapers to further encroach on the market. Surveys showed that most businesses did not suffer, although it remains to be seen whether the strike will cause any lasting damage to the newspapers.

The pressmen union's new contract guarantees work for all 1,508 members until 1984, while at the same time allowing publishers to reduce manning to levels commensurate with those of pressrooms of competitors in the suburbs.

Center To Sing For Christmas

Mental Health and Mental Retardation Satellite Center will be Christmas caroling Dec. 13.

Anyone wishing to have the clients carol at their home should call the center at 364-5861.

After caroling, the students will have cookies and hot chocolate at the home of Billie Sonnenbert.

The Satellite Center now has 14 clients and 6 volunteers. Sandy Stockstill is the director.

A detergent food is one that helps remove food particles from the teeth, says Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Low carbohydrate foods such as celery, lettuce, green peppers or radishes are examples of detergent foods, the specialist explains.

Spikers Down Dumas

Hereford's volleyball girls captured victories over Dumas here last night in the La Plata Gym. with the varsity team rallying for two straight wins after losing the opening game. Dumas took a 15-11 win in the first game, but Hereford rallied for 15-1 and 15-4 triumphs. Led by spiker Teresa Lambert and setter Di Villarreal, Hereford breezed to victories in the last two games. Coach Helen Reed praised Lambert for her all-around play.

The Hereford junior varsity posted 15-11 and 15-12 wins in the preliminary competition. Spiker Farrana Valdez and setter Diana McNaney sparked the JV team. Coach Reed also praised Debbie Simons for her all-around play.

The teams travel to Lubbock Thursday.

'Y' Sign-Ups Extended

The deadline for registration in the YMCA floor hockey and bowling leagues has been extended to Saturday, Nov. 11, it was announced Monday.

Both leagues are open to boys and girls from first through six grades. For information on the leagues, go by the "Y" office at Sugarland Mall, or call 364-6990.

The height of the winning high jump in Olympic competition has increased from 5'11 1/4 in 1896 when Ellery Clark won to 7'4 1/2 in 1976 when Poland's Jack Wszola of Poland took the gold medal.

Lambert Goes For Spike

Teresa Lambert [12], Hereford's outstanding spiker, goes up for a shot in action here Monday night against the Dumas volleyball team. After losing a close first game, Hereford rallied to win two games and defeat the visitors. Di Villarreal, right foreground, was named as the game's outstanding setter by coach Helen Reed. Hereford's junior varsity team won two straight games from the visitors. The volleyball teams travel to Lubbock Thursday for their next competition.

Close Contest Marks AL MVP Selection

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
The loser in today's Baseball Writers Association of America election for the American League's Most Valuable Player had the consolation of knowing that not many second-place finishers had the kind of year he did.

And that went for both Boston's Jim Rice and New York's Ron Guidry.

Rice's credentials centered on one of the best slugging seasons in modern baseball history. The Boston homer batted .315, walloped 46 home runs, drove in 139 runs and became the first player in 40 years to accumulate more than 400 total bases.

Those certainly would seem to be MVP qualifications, and in an ordinary year, Rice would have had little problem claiming the award.

But 1978 was no ordinary year, certainly not for Guidry.

The slender New York left-hander posted a 25-3 record that included nine shutouts and a 1.74 run average last season.

Now the question is, which set of dazzling numbers is more worthy of the MVP award? One opinion is that because Guidry is a pitcher and usually performed his magic once every fifth day, his production was not quite as awesome as the day-in, day-out pounding Rice, turned out.

Guidry, who last week was the unanimous winner of the American League Cy Young Award, does not agree with that analysis.

"I did my job," he said. "That's all I know."

Rice felt he paid the price of part-time employment last year when, as a designated hitter, he batted .320 with 39 homers and 114 RBI and saw the MVP award go to Minnesota's Rod Carew.

"So I had a good year this year, got over 400 total bases, hit over 40 home runs, drove in 139 RBI, had 16 game-winning hits, and had 29 home runs that put the Red Sox ahead or tied the game. So what do they want me to do?"

There's little more he could have done, unless, he was a pitcher and had tied Babe Ruth's record for shutouts in a season by a left-hander and had posted the lowest ERA by a southpaw since Dutch Leonard's 1.01 in 1914. Those were among Guidry's 1978 accomplishments. Part of the debate involved the definition of the MVP. Logically, it would seem that the award should go to the player judged to be most valuable to his team, which could be different from the credentials required if, for example, the award was called Player of the Year. So, the question would seem to be whether Rice was more valuable to the Red Sox than Guidry was to Yankees.

There is another factor here. Some observers believe that pitchers have their Cy Young Award and thus should take a backseat when it comes to MVP voting. But the MVP vote doesn't exclude pitchers and since 1956 when the Cy Young was introduced, five hurlers have swept both awards. They were Don Newcombe in 1956, Sandy Koufax in 1963, Bob Gibson and Denny McLain in 1968 and Vida Blue in 1971.

In every case, the winners had the same spectacular statistics that Guidry brought to today's election. Rarely, though, did any of them face sluggers with the kind of numbers Rice had endorsing him.

Riled Houston Defense Praised by Phillips

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips had trouble picking out a defensive player to praise after the Oilers held Cleveland to 28 yard rushing and sacked the quarterback seven times.

"Everybody had a chance to make some big plays and everybody made them," Phillips told his weekly news conference Monday. "So it's hard to pick out any one player but if I had to, I'd say Curley Culp played his best game."

Culp applied one of the seven sacks to Browns quarterback Brian Sipe and generally ramrodded the Oilers' defensive effort.

Phillips said Houston's defensive effort was not the result of any pre-game comments made by Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano about Houston having a weak rush.

"It's kind of hard to pep up a 32-year-old fella," Phillips said.

Marsh Takes Lead On Panel

Karen Marsh, the distaff member of the panel, has captured the lead on the Fearless Forecasters' panel published each week in The Brand.

Karen missed only six games out of the 26 contest tilts last week, and moved to a one-game lead over Bob Nigh. Nigh and Speedy Nieman—legders most of the season—each missed 10 games last week. Editor Sims missed eight games and pulled into a tie with Nieman.

Don Ingram, Brand sports editor, had his best week of the season in missing seven but still remained in last place. Ingram, however, will drop from the panel as he resigned Saturday and will no longer be with the newspaper.

Nieman, Brand publisher, explained that Ingram did not resign due to his last-place standing on the panel. Ingram chose to return to Andrews, his home before coming to Hereford.

A new sports editor has been employed and will join The Brand in two weeks, Nieman added.

"I don't think anything they might have said made the defense go out and play harder."

"They were going to play hard anyway. They had been beaten the week before and they wanted to make up for that. And they did."

Oilers defensive end Elvin Bethea may have thought some about Rutigliano's comments, however.

"Not bad for a weak line," Oilers defensive end Elvin Bethea said after the game.

Linebacker Ted Washington added, "That story out of Cleveland said the Browns didn't expect much of a pass rush. Those three horses up front were mad about it."

Phillips said adjustments will be needed this week however before the Oilers play the New England Patriots and Steve Grogan, their run-happy quarterback.

"You have to attack New England from the outside and not from the inside like Cleveland," Phillips said. "Grogan will put the ball on his hip and bootleg and run with it."

The Oilers go into the game with a 6-4 record and still in strong contention for a playoff berth.

"If we win the rest of our games we'll be in it," Phillips predicted. "The way everybody is beating everybody else, I think five or six losses still would get you in." Phillips said rookie running back Earl Campbell, who had more hamstring trouble against the Browns, would be ready to play against New England.

Sooners No. 1, Penn Gaining

By The Associated Press
Their lead in the Associated Press college football poll slightly diminished, the top-ranked Oklahoma Sooners head into a weekend clash with No. 4 Nebraska that will determine the Big Eight champion and, almost certainly, who enters the bowl games as No. 1.

The 9-0 Sooners, 28-7 victors over Colorado last Saturday, received 50 first-place votes and 1,247 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters.

But No. 2 Penn State, also 9-0 and the only other unbeaten team in the country, managed previously undefeated Maryland 27-3. The Nittany Lions received the other 13 first-place votes and 1,193 points. Penn State gained six points on Oklahoma in this week's poll.

The top two teams could be headed for a national championship showdown in the Orange Bowl. First, however, Oklahoma must get by 8-1 Nebraska at Lincoln this weekend.

Alabama and Nebraska remained 3-4 after the Crimson Tide stopped Mississippi State 35-14 and the Cornhuskers belted Kansas 63-21. Alabama received 1,110 points while Nebraska totaled 1,072 points. Maryland dropped from fifth to 13th, thus clearing the way for Southern California, Texas and Michigan to move up a notch to fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively. Southern Cal received 993 points for a 13-7 decision over Stanford, idle Texas earned 889 points for a Texas earned 889 points and Michigan got 855 following a 34-0 rout of Iowa.

The rest of the Top 20 is comprised of the same teams as last week but with a different order.

victors over Texas Christian, received 840 points for eighth place. UCLA remained No. 9 with 745 points by edging Oregon 23-21 and Louisiana State jumped from 12th to 10th with 617 points following a 30-8 victory over Mississippi.

The Second Ten consists of Georgia, Purdue, Maryland, Notre Dame, Clemson, Arkansas, Michigan State, Navy, Washington and Pittsburgh. Last week it was Navy, LSU, Georgia, Purdue, Notre Dame, Clemson, Arkansas, Michigan State, Pitt and Washington.

The only other unbeaten team entering last weekend was Navy. The surprising Midshipmen lost to Notre Dame 27-7 and fell from 11th place to 18th. Maryland and Navy were the only Top Twenty teams to lose.

Texas May Start 5 Freshmen In Big Houston Showdown

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Five freshmen may start on offense for Texas when it meets Houston Saturday in a Southwest Conference football game that is expected to produce the SWC champion and Cotton Bowl representative.

Texas Coach Fred Akers

disclosed Monday that senior co-captain Jim Yarbrough had nerve damage in his neck and would miss the next two games.

Replacing Yarbrough will be freshman Mike Babb, one of Texas' highly touted first-year class.

Guard Joe Shearin and tackle

Terry Tausch also are freshmen. Also, Akers told a news conference, freshmen A.J. "Jam" Jones and Brad Beck

may start in the Texas backfield. Senior co-captain Johnny "Ham" Jones and junior Leroy King, as well as Beck, have been hurt.

A sellout crowd of 80,000 is expected for the 2 p.m. game. Houston is 5-0 in the SWC and defending champion Texas 4-0.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said Texas' home-field advantage is overrated, but Akers responded, "It is more comfortable for a team to play in its own surroundings. ... Given a choice, anytime I would rather play at home."

Houston broke Texas' 42-game home winning streak by beating Texas, 30-0, in 1976. Texas has since won 11 in a row and 53 of its last 56 games at Memorial Stadium.

Asked if there were "hard feelings" in the Houston-Texas rivalry, Akers said, "Not on my part. They are a good football team, and if I had a dislike for them, it would be because of that. I wish they were poorer."

He emphasized Texas' youth, noting that only three offensive starters in Texas' 35-21 victory over Houston last year will play Saturday — quarterback Randy McEachern, receiver Johnny "Lam" Jones and center Wes Hubert.

Akers said Jones should be an All-American. "You can't name me one I would trade him for," said Akers.

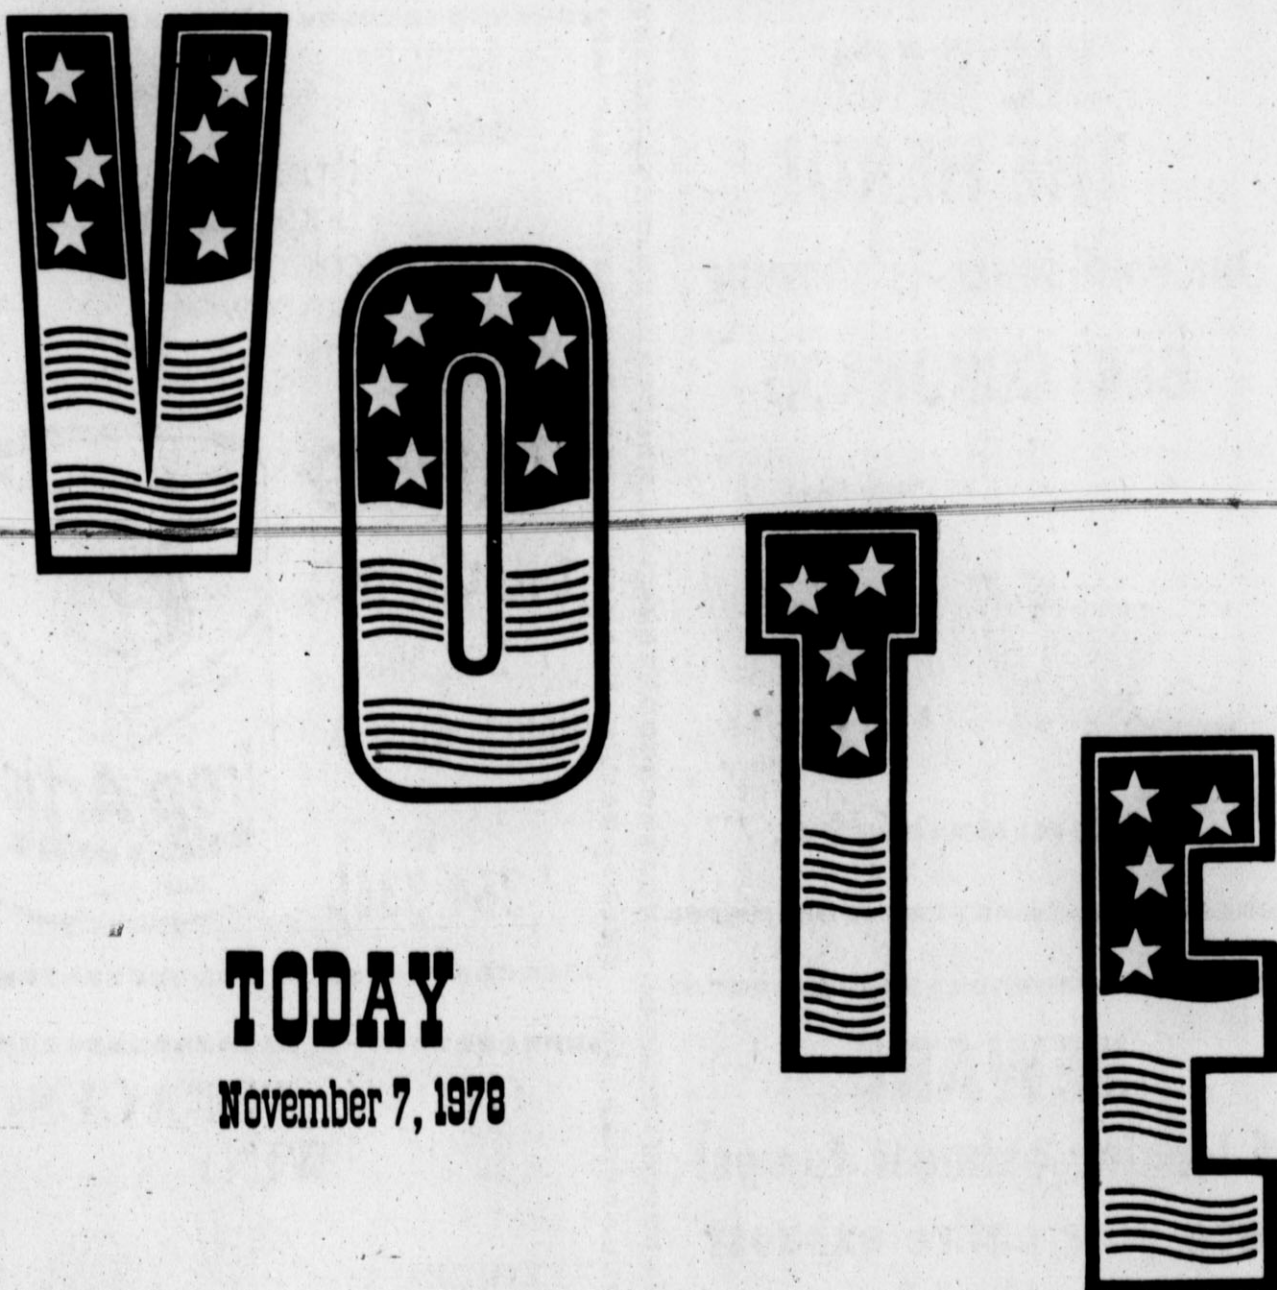

Jones leads Texas in scoring with 42 points. He has returned a kickoff 100 yards for a score, run for a touchdown on a reverse and caught five scoring passes.

Akers said Houston has an "excellent football team, with great size and mobility and experience at several key positions. ... They've always had a very good group of skill people to work with and this year is no exception."

He described Houston quarterback Danny Davis as "a fine scrambling quarterback, a quality quarterback ... and they have good receivers and strong running backs."

Texas' offense, Akers said, "hasn't been consistent this year. On the other hand, we've managed to get it done (win) one way or the other."

Ailing Jones Heads Off Redskins With The Pass

BALTIMORE (AP) - It would be easy to compare Bert Jones with a military commander who leads his forces to victory despite serious battle wounds. Just don't let the injury-plagued quarterback of the Baltimore Colts hear you making that comparison.

"I don't want to be a martyr; I want to play football and contribute to the team," said Jones after coming back from yet another shoulder injury to rally the Colts to a 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins Monday night.

Jones, who missed the first six games of the National Football League season with a shoulder separation and then played only a few minutes before being hurt again three weeks ago, was injured on the same right shoulder during a scramble in the third quarter.

Pain creased his face and he labored to throw on the sidelines. But when the Colts regained possession after a 1-yard run by John Riggins had put the Redskins ahead 17-14, Jones was back in the game.

"I asked the doctor if Bert could play, and he said yes," recalled Coach Ted Marchibroda. "I asked Bert if he could go back. He said it hurt a little bit. I told him that if it got to the point where it hurt too bad, to take himself out."

"But that's leadership. The team knows he's out there to win."

With Jones at the helm and his teammates seeming to play with renewed vigor, the Colts marched into Redskin territory three times in the final quarter. Twice, field goal attempts by Toni Linhart failed. On the third drive, Jones fired a strike to wide receiver Roger Carr for a 27-yard touchdown that gave Baltimore its fourth victory of the season in the nationally televised game.

"Bert's coming back meant a lot to the whole team," said Carr, who had teamed with Jones on a 78-yard TD pass in the second quarter. "He makes us go. It's a dreadful thing when he gets hurt. He moves this team."

Jones, who has gained the nickname of "The Franchise," said he was merely doing his job, his latest injury notwithstanding.

"We have a good football team and I think I complement the team," he said, "and as long as I can contribute, I'll play."

The shoulder still hurts, Jones said, but not enough to keep him from shaving with his right hand after the game or keep him out of the Colts' next contest, against Seattle.

"It'll be OK by March," he joked.

Besides his two bombs to Carr, Jones passed 19 yards to rookie right end Reese McCall for a touchdown in the second period.

In addition to Riggins' TD, which was set up by a pass interference call in the Baltimore end zone, Washington, now 7-3 and a game ahead of Dallas in the NFC East, scored on a 44-yard field goal by Mark Moseley and a 31-yard pass from Billy Kilmer to Ricky Thompson.

Although Kilmer started at quarterback for the second consecutive week, Washington Coach Jack Pardee went to Joe Theismann in the third period when the Colts shut down the Redskins' offense.

"We thought Joe could take advantage of some things in their defense that Billy possibly couldn't," Pardee said. "They were giving Billy a strong inside rush, and we thought Joe's mobility would be able to stop that."

Aside from his work on the Redskins' final scoring drive, Theismann, the starting quarterback through Washington's first eight games, was also ineffective. He finished with 92 yards on six completions in 12 attempts, compared with Kilmer's two completions in 11 tries for 38 yards.

"It (the quarterback situation) is a game-to-game thing," said Pardee, trying to play down a seemingly perennial problem for Washington. "We're just trying to win every game."

"We still have a one-game lead in our division, so it's not the end of the world. But we do have to do something to figure out what we're doing wrong."

Riggins, among the NFC's top rushers going into the game, had 60 yards to raise his season total to 794. Mike Thomas, back from four weeks on the bench with a broken bone in his foot, was the Redskins' leading rusher with 78 yards.

Jones, who missed his first three passes before the TD toss to McCall, finished with 10 completions in 19 attempts for 191 yards. He was sacked three times in the early going but was untouched in the final period as his blockers supplied excellent protection.

Carr gained 124 yards on four catches. Joe Washington was the Colts' top rusher with 62 yards on 17 carries.

Plotting The Plays

An anxious group of coaches and players look on in the third quarter as the Herd and Westerners battled for any kind of points. The game ended in a 0-0 tie. Hereford travels again to Lubbock next Thursday to play Coronado. (Photo by Don Ingram)

Houston at Texas: SWC Game of Year?

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

You have a short memory if you think the University of Texas has a big home field advantage in Saturday's Southwest Conference showdown with the University of Houston in Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Texas is awesome at home, but long years on the road as an independent hardened Coach Bill Yeoman's Cougars.

For example, take 1976. That's the year Houston had to travel to Austin to meet the Longhorns in their backyard. There were all sorts of dire predictions about how the Cougar team would be intimidated.

"Bewhishes don't make tackles," snorted Yeoman.

The Cougars then proceeded to put a 30-0 lump on the Longhorns, win the SWC title and flog Maryland in the Cotton Bowl.

Quarterback Danny Davis and middle linebacker David Hodge were the catalysts of that Cougar team and they will be in their positions at 2 p.m. Saturday in the SWC's Game of the Year.

The winner is almost a shoo-in to the Cotton Bowl. Houston is 5-0 and Texas is 4-0. All other SWC teams have at least two losses.

Houston set up the shutout with a 63-6 whipping of Texas Christian Saturday night while Coach Fred Akers' Longhorns were idle.

Yeoman had cautioned his team about looking too far ahead and the Cougars heeded his sage advice.

Yeoman said, "This team has been very good all season about not thinking about anything except the next play. This is no fluke to be where we are now."

"Of course, we have had luck to go with it. You have to have that. This team could be compared to the 1976 team, but only when it does what that team did — win the Southwest Conference championship and the Cotton Bowl."

Yeoman added, "Now that it is Texas week, there is no doubt what they'll (the players) will be thinking about."

Akers was discussing the Cougars a week before, saying "They have a tremendous group of athletes. From what I've been told, they are very similar to the 1976 championship team. Of course, I was in Wyoming at the time but I heard about 'em. Of course, we really needed the rest, we were so banged up. It should be one heck of a game."

In other games Saturday, Texas A&M won a second game for new Coach Tom Wilson on Tony Franklin's last minute field goal, defeating Southern Methodist, 20-17. Arkansas mauled Rice 37-7, and Texas Tech ripped Baylor 27-9 behind James Hadnot's 212 yards rushing.

While Houston and Texas tangle in what amounts to the league championship game, Arkansas is at Baylor, SMU is at Rice and Texas Tech is at TCU.

A hot race is developing for third place.

Texas A&M is 3-2 followed by Arkansas and Texas Tech at 2-2, and SMU and Baylor at 2-3.

Autopsy Set In Fatality

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) - Authorities have scheduled an autopsy in the death of a Longview High School football player who collapsed and died Monday during a kickoff drill.

School officials said 15-year-old Ricky Walker was on one of three teams set up for freshman players.

Coach Doug Cox tried to revive the boy when he collapsed after having run a half dozen of the drills, school officials said.

Superintendent Bill Ford said Walker, who was dead at arrival at a local hospital, had no health problems that anyone knew of.

"Anytime something like this happens, the type of practice being held must be reviewed," Ford said. "We hope nothing needs to be changed."

Swann Hot Item for Tech

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Texas Tech cornerback Alan Swann may be a freshman but he's simply the hottest defensive player in the country at his present pace.

He intercepted two passes and recovered a fumble Saturday as the Red Raiders whipped Baylor 27-9 to earn The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award.

The Offensive Player of the Week accolade went to Texas Tech's raging fullback, 6-foot-2, 244-pound James Hadnot, a converted tight end.

"Swann has really helped pickup our defense," said Tech Coach Rex Dockery. "He has a knack for coming up with turnovers."

At least Swann doesn't have to tackle Hadnot this fall.

Hadnot is the leading rusher in the SWC to show the wisdom of Dockery's move.

"They can quit calling him a tight end," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "He is officially a heck of a running back. He is as good as we have faced in some time. He breaks tackles, runs hard and is an Earl Campbell type."

Hadnot rolled for 212 yards on 36 carries against Baylor.

Teaff said, "The only time we stopped Hadnot was when they were offside."

In 1977, the Los Angeles Dodgers won 72 night games en route to the Western Division title and the National League pennant.

In a 1977 game, Dan Meyer of the Seattle Mariners was awarded first base twice in one game, tying a major league record.

Collier Takes Top Cash

Jerry Collier took the $25 cash prize in the weekly Brand Football Contest last week, missing just five games.

Darlene Cornelius and Martha Isaacs also missed just five of the games, but they wound up with second and third-place money as judged by tie-breaker scores.

The tie-breaker total was zero, since the Hereford-Lubbock High game ended in a scoreless tie. Collier had the low total of 20, while Cornelius had 35 and Isaacs 36.

Entrants who missed six games, just out of the running, were Ewald Berend, Roddy Berend, Lloyd Crume and Doug Balch.

The Brand Football Contest pages are included in each Tuesday's paper. Follow the easy rules and submit an entry this week—you could be a cash winner!

Simpson May Be Out for Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - O.J. Simpson, once the National Football League's premiere running back but crippled by injuries the last two seasons, may be lost to the San Francisco 49ers for the rest of the year with a separated shoulder.

The former Buffalo Bill star, who is paid nearly $50,000 for each of the 16 regular season games, suffered the injury to his right shoulder Sunday in the 49ers' 21-10 loss to the Atlanta Falcons.

Team doctor Joe Haggerty said after examining Simpson Monday that he would be out at least three weeks and perhaps the rest of the season. The 49ers, 1-9, have six games left.

Simpson declined to undergo surgery after sustaining a "third-degree acromial-clavicular separation" which included torn ligaments along with separation of the shoulder from collar bone.

The surgery, which included putting a pin in the shoulder, would have made him unable to play for at least eight weeks.

Simpson, was hurt on a 2-yard gain in the second quarter when he was hit by Jeff Yeates and Wilson Faumuina. "I heard something snap," he said later.

"My intention is never to hurt another player," Faumuina said. "I'm sorry what happened to O.J. I saw the expression on his face when he went down and I knew he was hurt."

Simpson, the NFL's second leading career rusher with 10,776 yards, had gained only 593 yards on 161 carries this year — a lackluster performance attributed at least partially to the absence of powerful blocking back Wilbur Jackson, who has missed the entire season with a knee injury.

Simpson himself suffered a knee injury and missed seven games last year at Buffalo before being traded to the 49ers.

He will be replaced in the starting lineup by Paul Hofer, who has carried just 21 times this year, including 10 after Simpson was hurt Sunday.

Sesame Award

WASHINGTON (AP) - Joan Ganz Cooney, creator of the "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" television programs, has been cited as "one of this nation's greatest teachers."

The award was made in behalf of Vice President Walter Mondale by Patricia Graham, director of the National Institute of Education, at the International Literacy Day in Washington recently.

Sesame Street begins its 10th year on public television this year.

Packers Cleared On Thomas

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - The Green Bay Packers have announced they have been cleared by the National Football League of any rules violation in their handling of a tryout for former all-pro running back Duane Thomas.

Coach Bart Starr also said Monday he would ease his restrictions on media coverage of the Packers, but remained reticent when asked what he had told the NFL concerning the Thomas affair, which sports-writers had publicized.

He said Green Bay's letter to the NFL "was accepted as a satisfactory explanation of the matter, and I have no further comment."

In New York, NFL spokesman Jim Heffernan similarly declined to detail the league's exchanges with Starr.

"This is something strictly between the commissioner and the Green Bay Packers," Heffernan said.

Having said he received an all-clear letter from Commissioner Pete Rozelle, Starr said he would relax the restrictions he had imposed last week after four sportswriters wrote that the NFL was investigating a possible violation of the NFL's "stashing rule" in the Thomas matter.

He intercepted two passes and recovered a fumble Saturday as the Red Raiders whipped Baylor 27-9 to earn The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award.

The Offensive Player of the Week accolade went to Texas Tech's raging fullback, 6-foot-2, 244-pound James Hadnot, a converted tight end.

Runners Compete In Amarillo

Hereford's Cross Country Track teams competed in the Amarillo meet Saturday with Manuel Carrasco and Velma Arroyos leading the efforts of local runners.

Hereford did not field a complete team in any of the divisions. Carrasco placed 10th in the varsity boys division, with a time of 10:49 in the cross-country run. Ms. Arroyos was fifth in the varsity girls' division with a 13:14 clocking.

Others placing in the boys' competition were Juan Flores, 20th; Eric Alexander, 60th; and Juan Fuentes, 61st.

Colleen Keating and Naomi Fuhrmann were 21st and 47th, respectively, in the varsity girls' run. In the JV girls' division, Hereford's Elaine Reinart, Brenda Strafass, Paula Alexander were 31st, 33rd and 38th.

The District 4-4A meet is scheduled at Lubbock next Saturday.

Team doctor Joe Haggerty said after examining Simpson Monday that he would be out at least three weeks and perhaps the rest of the season. The 49ers, 1-9, have six games left.

Simpson declined to undergo surgery after sustaining a "third-degree acromial-clavicular separation" which included torn ligaments along with separation of the shoulder from collar bone.

Enjoy those oranges

DEAR DR. LAMB -- My husband, 73, and I, 65, have been eating oranges or grapefruit for breakfast right along. Now I hear we should not be eating citrus fruits because we both have osteoarthritis. Is it true and are there any foods that make it worse?

We have a rowing exerciser and would like to know if it is all right to use when we have arthritis in the back, hips and knees. Could we be irritating the arthritis more? We got it in the winter when it was difficult for us to get out and walk much for exercise.
DEAR READER -- That's wild. There is nothing in citrus fruits that will in any way be detrimental to your arthritis. In fact, if anything, they might help. Go ahead and enjoy your oranges and grapefruits and ignore anyone who tells you they are harmful for your arthritis because they certainly are not.
I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-10, Osteoarthritis: Degenerative or Wear and Tear Arthritis, to give you more information on your problem.
Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue will also tell you a number of things you will need to know about exercise and arthritis.
I wouldn't like to say specifically that you can use any particular exercise machine in the presence of your arthritis, because I don't know how severe your arthritis is or what deformities it may have caused. Only your doctor, familiar with your own case, can tell you that.

There is a general misconception about exercise and arthritis. It isn't necessarily beneficial to your arthritis to do large amounts of exercise. The purpose of exercise, if you have arthritis, is to maintain the full range of mobility of all your joints and movement of your muscles.
Also, you hope to maintain a reasonable amount of your muscular strength. Otherwise, you really should rest the joints that are involved. A mild exercise routine that involves the full range of motion of all of your joints each day is useful. Excessive working of body parts may not be.
Swimming is good exercise for people with arthritis who can do it. The water helps to buoy the body and you don't have to bear the weight on the spine, hips and knees. It makes it easier for you to move your joints through a full range of motion. If you can't swim, you can do exercises in water which will also help you. Perhaps you can find a local indoor swimming pool that you can use during the winter months.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Nov. 7, the 311th day of 1978. There are 54 days left in the year. This is Election Day.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, the Bolsheviks overthrew the short-lived Kerensky regime in Russia, and Nikola Lenin became the new head of government.
On this date: In 1659, the Pyrenees were fixed as the boundary between France and Spain, ending a 24-year war.
In 1811, the Shawnee Indians were defeated in the Battle of Tippecanoe in Indiana.
In 1885, the Canadian Pacific Railroad was completed.
In 1942, the Allied invasion of North Africa began in World War II.
In 1944, President Franklin Roosevelt was elected to an unprecedented fourth term.
In 1956, the British and France proclaimed a cease-fire in the Suez War in Egypt.

Ten years ago: Anti-Soviet demonstrators in Communist Czechoslovakia burned Soviet flags on the Bolshevik anniversary.
Five years ago: The United States and Egypt announced they would resume diplomatic relations and exchange ambassadors.
One year ago: Archbishop Hilarion Capucci was in Rome after being released by Israel, which had commuted his 12-year prison sentence for smuggling arms for Palestinian guerrillas.
Today's birthdays: Evangelist Billy Graham is 60 years old. Opera soprano Joan Sutherland is 52. Singer and songwriter Joni Mitchell is 35.
Thought for today: It's greater to be great, but it's greater to be human -- Will Rogers, American humorist, 1879-1935.

OUR FASCINATING EARTH
BEWARE THE ARMY ANT

A COLONY OF SOUTH AMERICAN ARMY ANTS, ECITON, ON THE MARCH IS A FRIGHTFUL WONDER OF NATURE. LESS THAN AN INCH LONG, THEY NUMBER IN THE THOUSANDS AND QUICKLY OVERWHELM AND DEVOUR ANY SLOW MOVING ANIMAL IN THEIR PATH. MORE THAN ONCE, A HUMAN FLEEING IN TERROR FORGOT HIS TETHERED HORSE WHO WOULD SIMPLY BE EATEN ALIVE AND LEFT A SKELETON.

Houston, Denver Alike in Crisis

HOUSTON (AP) - A study by Houston. "The main difference between the energy industries in the two cities in Houston is a headquarters town and Denver is the location of exploration and branch offices," Reneberg said. "Denver's energy industry profile also has the added dimension of coal and uranium reserves in the Rocky Mountains."
Richard A. Reneberg, resident manager of Coldwell Banker Commercial Brokerage Co., says both cities have benefited from one positive result of the energy crisis, the rapid rate of expansion by firms involved in exploration and production and the development of alternate forms of energy.
Reneberg and Mike Gregoire of the firm's Denver office said their study illustrates the parallels in economic growth of the two cities.
Houston, with 539, was said to be leading the nation in the number of energy-related firms occupying 1,000 square feet or more of office space. Denver was in a healthy second place at 302, followed by Dallas with 171 and Los Angeles with 89.
"Of Houston's approximately 50 million square feet of office space, 40 percent is occupied by energy and energy-related businesses," Reneberg said.
The 40 percent, he said, gives Houston a legitimate claim to being "Energy City USA" when compared with 15 percent in Denver, 8 percent in Dallas, and 6 percent in Los Angeles.
Denver was said to be currently leasing office space to energy firms at about the same pace Houston was during the early 1970s. Energy firm leases there last year approximated 500,000 square feet compared with more than 1.7 million in

Skyjack Counterattack

This column coined the word "skyjack," which is now in the dictionary, when a personal friend was the first victim in June 1960.

Capt. Oscar Cleal, Pacific Airlines pilot resisted an attempt to take over his airliner and was shot through the head.

He survived but was left totally sightless. Gallantly he continues to pursue a career as an investment counselor.

It was not until 1973 that the electronic screening process was instituted for airline passenger safety. It has accomplished its purpose.

It's a shame that every airliner passenger has to be inconvenienced by electronic surveillance of his luggage and his person, yet the surveillance has intercepted 16,000 firearms and resulted in the arrests of more than 5,000 people.

Before the scanners were installed our country was averaging a skyjacking attempt every 12 days and a successful one every 20 days.

But in all the years since there has been only one successful skyjacking in the United States and that was carried out with fake weapons.

Overseas, where screening of passengers and luggage is poorly done or not at all, there continues to be a problem.

During the first half of this year there were 14 attempts at air piracy; 11 of the 14 involved foreign planes.

And in all cases where a weapon was used it was smuggled aboard in a foreign airport.

Of the three attempts in the United States, none involved the use of weapons and none was successful.

Our FAA is properly proud of its security record and is understandably resentful of the manner in which most foreign governments ignore their responsibility.

There are exceptions. Ben Gurion Airport in Tel

Aviv is heavily guarded and passengers are closely scrutinized. The same is true in Switzerland and West Germany.

In Ethiopia some planes have armed guards aboard who shoot first and ask questions afterwards.

Military dictatorships in South America refuse to bargain with skyjackers, ransoms are not paid, negotiation is likely to consist of an immediate airport shootout.

But there are many countries — and to identify them might render them more vulnerable — where there are only occasional spot checks for security purposes or none at all.

Meanwhile, in the United States, our commendable safety record stands despite an all-time record volume of air travel.

Electronic surveillance is a lot of cost and inconvenience to a lot of people — because of an irresponsible few you could probably count on your fingers.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's top economic advisors, convinced that voluntary wage and price restraints would fail, started secretly planning last week's drastic action to rescue the dollar even before the voluntary plan was announced.

Although Carter knew of the plans by three of his principal advisers, the preparation was done in such secrecy that Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal used pay telephones to call his aides.

This and other details of the development of Carter's save-the-dollar plan were made available to the Associated Press by a high administration source who asked not to be quoted by name.

The dollar rescue operation became public knowledge when Carter strode into the White House press room last Wednesday at 9 a.m. — an hour before the New York Stock Exchange opened — and stunned the financial world with his announcement of an overnight jump in interest rates and a program to buy surplus dollars on world currency markets.

But whether the plan will cure inflation or push the nation into a recession next year, halting economic growth and making jobs scarcer, is an open question.

The planning had begun in September in case Carter's anti-inflation message, delivered Oct. 24 on national television, failed to bolster confidence in the embattled U.S. currency, whose strength has been sapped by inflation and by repeated U.S. trade imbalances caused mainly by huge oil imports.

The dollar's plunge continued, the Dow Jones industrial average, during 12 hectic trading days, plummeted by 104.64 points and the paper value of shares fell by more than $100 billion.

The planners felt their work had to be guarded "from any leaks whatsoever," said the source, apparently to prevent speculation and avoid political problems. "We didn't even let the deputy secretary Robert Carswell know what was going on. It was just us, the President and the vice president."

With the dollar dropping by nearly 50 percent against the Swiss franc over 12 months, and the speed building daily, "everybody knew the foreign exchange markets had gone out of hand," the source said.

Swiss, West German and Japanese economic officials were consulted. The source said: "We all cooperated. No one interfered."

It all jelled together."

Carter's plan includes sharp increases in domestic interest rates to help control an inflationary economy, increased sales of gold, and loan agreements with Japan, West Germany and Switzerland to buy up excess dollars on the world foreign exchange markets.

The urgency of Carter's moves and the dramatically-sliding dollar made people forget the healthy elements of the nation's economy in recent years.

The economy is well into the fourth year of recovery from the 1974-75 recession with its double-digit inflation and 9.1 percent unemployment. Joblessness is down to 5.8 percent. Corporate profits are running well ahead of 1977 levels. The housing markets is booming and automakers are selling cars at a record pace. The index of leading economic indicators, the government's eye on the future, recently marked its biggest gain in six months.

So what's gone wrong? Consumer prices rose from a 4 1/2 percent annual rate in 1976 to almost 10 percent in 1978. The average cost of a new home rose from $54,300 in 1977 to $67,000. The prime lending rate — the interest rate charged the biggest and best borrowers — is at a four-year high of 10 percent and perhaps headed higher. The price of an average T-bone steak rose 39 percent from $2.32 to $3.22 over the past year.

A two-door 1975 Chevrolet Nova cost $3,218; a similar 1979 Nova was up 23 percent to $3,955. The average hourly wage jumped 22 percent from $4.81 in 1975 to $5.86 last month.

No one can pin down all the factors that have led to the current muddle. But some are constantly mentioned by economists, including: —The 1973 quadrupling of oil prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

—Inflation being fueled during the Johnson administration by huge Vietnam war spending and social programs. The spending led to today's large federal deficits, which are financed essentially by printing more money.

—The Federal Reserve allowing the nation's money supply to grow at 8 percent annually for the last two years. Some economists say this has put too much money in circulation. In other words, consumers have more money to spend on the same amount of goods.

Carter's plan is designed to reverse these trends. It includes voluntary restraints on wages and prices intended to keep inflation in the 6 to 6 1/2 percent range next year. It also includes curbs on federal spending so the government's deficit can decline from $48.76 billion in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30 to $38.9 billion in the year ahead.

The Carter plan increased the price of money. The Federal Reserve boosted its key rate on loans to commercial banks a full percentage point to an unprecedented 9 1/2 percent. Major banks reacted on Friday by raising their prime rate — the charge on loans to top-rated consumers — to a four-year high of 10 3/4 percent.

The boost in the cost of money was "A good first step of an anti-inflation program," said economist Allan H. Meltzer of Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh. "It will slow the demand for borrowing and slow the rate of monetary growth."

But how soon will price increases start to moderate, and will the slowdown turn into a major recession instead of a healthy pause?

"There are risks" of a recession in 1979, conceded Blumenthal after the dollar prop-up plan was disclosed.

Austrians Reject Plant

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Austrian voters have narrowly rejected a $650 million nuclear plant, this nation's first and dealt a stunning political defeat to Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and his Socialist Party.

At a news conference Monday, Kreisky accepted personal responsibility for the defeat but declined to say whether he would resign, as he had hinted before Sunday's nuclear-power referendum. Some political observers speculated the government chief would offer his resignation at a meeting with party leaders later today but they would overwhelmingly reject it.

"Chancellor Kreisky is much more urgently needed by the Republic of Austria than is Zwentendorf the nuclear plant," said Vienna's Mayor Leopold Gratz.

Austria's first plebiscite since World War II yielded 1,606,308 "no" votes and 1,576,839 "yes" votes, a margin of 29,469 votes. Ballots were cast by 64 percent of the nation's 5 million eligible voters.

The voters were asked whether Austria should pursue the peaceful uses of nuclear energy and begin operating its first nuclear plant, which was completed several months ago.

The narrow victory for anti-nuclear ranks came in an election preceded by the hottest political debate in many years in this country.

Bullock Rep. To Speak Here

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Amarillo Field Office to Hereford on Wednesday, Nov. 15, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said enforcement officer Silvestre Bonilla will meet with local taxpayers in the county judge's office in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

"If Deaf Smith County merchants, and Oldham County merchants, or any one else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Bonilla will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The Amarillo field office, headed by Claudia Stravato, serves the twenty-six counties of the Texas Panhandle.

merchants, or any one else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Bonilla will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

Names In The News

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin has named number 34 Kagera River, Uganda Radio has reported. Number 34 is a boy and 34 is the total number of children officially fathered by Amin.

And he was named Kagera River in honor of the current war with neighboring Tanzania, according to the broadcast monitored here Sunday.

The radio said the name was chosen because the baby was born to Amin's senior wife, Madiba, during Uganda's annexation of a strip of Tanzanian land between the Kagera River and the Ugandan border last week.

The river, according to Uganda, now forms the frontline between the two armies.

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Politicians often warn voters that if they don't go to the polls they won't change the status quo. But Muhammad Ali warned people that he'd change the shape of their face if they didn't vote.

"If you don't go to the polls, we'll bust you in the nose," Ali told crowds Sunday when he and singer-actor Kris Kristofferson barnstormed the Mississippi Delta to promote the independent candidacy of Fayette Mayor Charles Evers for the U.S. Senate.

Evers is running against Democrat Maurice Dantin and Republican Thad Cochran to succeed Sen. James O. Eastland, the retiring Democratic incumbent.

All and Kristofferson are starring in a movie being made in Natchez.

ASSISI, Italy (AP) — Pope John Paul II made a two-hour pilgrimage to the tomb of Italy's patron saint, Francis of Assisi.

The Polish cardinal who became the first non-Italian pope in 455 years was cheered by thousands of Italians as he spoke of Italy as "the land to which God called me so I could serve as the successor of St. Peter."

"Since I am not born on this ground, I feel more than ever the need for a 'spiritual birth' in it," he said. "This is why I come this Sunday as a pilgrim to Assisi, to the feet of the saintly poor Francis."

Police estimated the crowd at a half-million people, and many only caught a glimpse of the Italian air force helicopter that brought the pope to Assisi in a 50-minute ride from the Vatican.

Nuns stood on red-tiled roof-tops and brown-robed Franciscans pushed forward at the helicopter landed in front of the 13th century basilica.

After flying back to Rome from Assisi, the pope was driven to the Santa Maria Sopra Minerva church to pray at the tomb of Italy's other patron saint, Catherine of Siena.

AGENTLE REMINDER OF LAST WINTER:

THIS WINTER, ADD A CARRIER HEAT PUMP TO YOUR FURNACE AND SAVE HEATING DOLLARS!

Carrier's Year-round One heat pump is an efficient, economical heating and cooling system all by itself. It can replace any old, worn-out forced-air furnace.

But if your forced-air furnace (electric, gas, or oil) is in good shape, you can add a heat pump to it — and get really low heating costs! That's because your new combination furnace-heat pump system heats with either the furnace or heat pump. Depending on outside temperature, the system automatically chooses whichever heating method can save you the most money!

Add a Carrier Year-round One — get lower heating bills and high-efficiency air conditioning, too!

Let us tell you all about it. We'll be happy to give you an estimate and a free Heat-Saving Analysis of your home. Call us today!
