Finance Committee Endorses Tax Package

THIS MORNING'S Chamber Fun Breakfast drew a good crowd and proved to be a good "eye-opening" event for some folks--especially the ones who walked away with cash prizes.

Bill Albright, former C of C executive manager, attended the breakfast and brought a couple of Big Spring members with him. The chamber at Big Spring will start the breakfast events next week, and the emcee came to see how it was done in hustlin' Hereford. It was good to see Bill and Inez Jackson. Incidentally, Doug Manning noted their presence and gave Bill some manure to take home with him, "so he wouldn't be homesick."

DUE TO A COUPLE of conflicts, the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet has been re-scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 11. It was announced last week that Jerry Clower, popular country-western comedian had been signed for the event on Jan. 18. Mark your calendar now, the date of Jan. 11 has been confirmed.

ACCORDING TO ONE survey among merchants across the nation, sales are running higher than last year. While a portion of the increase is due to inflation, the number of units sold is also up. Back-to-school business was very good this year, as well as new fall clothing for the kids. Higher fashion clothes for men and women was said to be strong, and appliances are going well. A terrific Christmas season is anticipated, too.

United Way, Agencies Meet Tonight

United Way officials, hoping to raise $199,815, and representatives of agencies, which are hoping to be funded entirely through the UW campaign, will discuss plans for the upcoming drive at 7 p.m. today in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service.

It will be the second time this year that agency representatives and UW officials have met to plan the campaign.

The United Way Wednesday announced the largest goal in its local history in an effort to fund agencies entirely through the campaign. Agencies and their respective allocations, which represent monies needed to pay all operating expenses, are as follows:

Hereford & Vicinity YMCA, $47,000; Camp Fire Girls, $37,500; Kid's Inc., $28,110; Boy Scouts, $24,000; Big Brothers-Big Sisters, $22,580; Red Cross, $10,500; Salvation Army, $5,000; Hereford Senior Citizens, $4,625; Family Services Center, $2,800; High Plains Epilepsy Association, $2,700; Council on Alcoholism, $2,000; Children's Rehabilitation Center, $1,000; and USO, $250.

Of the goal, $250 was allocated to Texas United Way for statewide expenses and $11,500 to local expenses.

The public is invited to tonight's meeting, UW president Paul Sims said.

The United Way drive officially will kick off Oct. 11.

The Great Chicken Race

A chicken-grabbing contest [notice Lynton Allred in the back holding a naked bird] was one of the highlights of this morning's Fun Breakfast in the Community Center banquet room. Around 250 persons attended the breakfast, which included games, drawings and announcements. The next Fun Breakfast is scheduled for Nov. 30.

Tucker Receives Coveted 'Chip' During Chamber Fun Breakfast

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

National Cowgirl Hall of Fame Rodeo chairman Jim Tucker received the coveted Bull Chip Award, a painted piece of manure mounted on a plaque, at today's bi-monthly Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast.

Co-master of ceremonies Doug Manning, in presenting the Bull Chip Award, said that Tucker was responsible for the rodeo making money for the first time in several years.

"Just when we thought we were through with it, Tucker makes it a success," Manning joked to the crowd of about 250 persons in the banquet room of the Hereford Community Center.

Tucker, salesman for KPAN radio station, is an auctioneer and rodeo announcer.

Attendance in the Hereford Riders Club Rodeo Arena was at an all-time high during the cowgirl rodeo in August.

Coincidentally this morning, Tucker's wife, Jeannie, won a drawing for $75. Linda Gilbert won $25. In a third drawing, Dale Wofford's name was selected, but he was not in attendance and lost out on $100.

Since Wofford did not win the money, the ante will be increased to $150. A chamber member's name will be drawn at the Nov. 30 Fun Breakfast.

Announcements made during this morning's breakfast, which was sponsored by Dairy Queen concerned:

--United Way, which begins its quest for $199,815 on Oct. 11. President Paul Sims asked persons at the breakfast to support this year's campaign by working in it and financially.

--Investments seminar. Chamber business committee chairman Mike Carr announced that the third and final part of the seminar on intelligent investing would be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Community Center.

--adult sitter clinic. County extension agent Joyce Shipp announced that her office will conduct a clinic to train adults for non-professional nursing to aid

Texas Rail Strike Declared 'On Again'

By The Associated Press

Railroad pickets have gone up, then down, then up again in Texas this week, prompting a Missouri Pacific yard official to comment that "rumors are a nickel a pound as to what will happen" in an on-again, off-again strike in sympathy for striking railroad clerks.

The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks resumed picketing at three Dallas-Fort Worth area railroads Wednesday, only hours after the union called off a strike that has crippled the carrier's freight service.

Some union sources speculated the picketing in support of striking Norfolk and Western Railway workers might spread to the Missouri Pacific and Frisco lines, which also serve the Dallas area. Frisco workers struck at 5 a.m. Tuesday, but returned to their jobs within half an hour.

The union, involved in a drawn-out strike Against Norfolk and Western in Virginia, asked for help and got it from across the nation as other unions on 43 railroads honored the union's picket lines.

The railroads immediately sought assistance from the courts and were granted an injunction to stop the strike Wednesday.

The strike had crippled most freight

Cocanougher Services Set

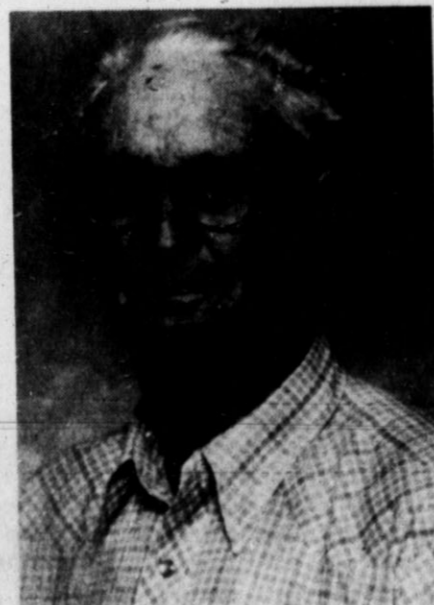

J.B. "Cricket" Cocanougher, a lifetime resident of Deaf Smith County and one of seven brothers who built a cattle dynasty, died Wednesday morning in his home here at the age of 71.

Services will be read at 10 a.m. Friday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. J.L. Bozeman, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery.

Mr. Cocanougher was born Feb. 19 1907 in the same year that his father, W.M. Cocanougher, came to Deaf Smith County from Collin County to live in the Four-Mile house north of Hereford. Although his father was a farmer, J.B. and his brothers became cattlemen and established the Cocanougher registered Herefords which have been known in the cattle world for several decades. For a number of years, J.B. worked with his brother, Lee on his cattle ranch.

He is survived by two sons, Virgil of Sweeny, and Don of Hereford; five brothers, Lee, Bill, H.R. "Cap," R.D.

"Pete," and Andrew of Littlefield; one sister, Maggie of Hereford; and nine grandchildren.

70 Pints Donated To Blood Mobile

A healthy turnout was noted by Joan Bookout, chairman of the local blood drive, yesterday afternoon when 70 pints of blood were given to Coffee Memorial Blood Center.

Mrs. Bookout expressed appreciation to local donors and emphasized that giving blood to the Hereford pool does not qualify an individual for blood insurance, unless it is so designated.

Donors specified that their blood be credited to the following accounts: Mollie Davis, 2 pints; Jessie Wagoner, 5 pints; Nick Milburn, 12 pints; Ray Huera (deceased) 1 pint; Opal Norton, 7 pints; The Hereford pool, 16 pints; Knights of Columbus, 1 pint; blood insurance, 19 pints; Patricia Stephens, 3 pints; Karen Abney, 8 pints; Glenn Bilibrey, 1 pint; Larry Bain, 1 pint; Thelma Daniels, 1 pint; Jay Jones, 1 pint; the Kent account, 1 pint.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Wednesday broke the 17-month logjam on President Carter's energy program, approving and sending to the House a crucial natural-gas deregulation compromise.

The bill, the product of nearly a year of difficult negotiations between Congress and Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger, would lift federal price controls from most natural gas by 1985.

Schlesinger watched from the gallery as the Senate, presided over by Vice President Walter F. Mondale, handed Carter his biggest energy victory since August 1977 when the House approved most of his original plan intact.

Just before the vote, Senate Energy Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told the Senate the compromise should end nearly 30 years of congressional haggling over gas price controls.

And, Jackson said, "it will provide the incentives for increased production," thus enabling the nation to ease its heavy reliance on imported oil.

But Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, one of the leading opponents, called the bill as "a prescription for economic disaster" which he said would disadvantage both consumers and gas

Texans Said To Hold Key For Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texans hold the key for House passage of the natural gas compromise Bill, says Lufkin Democrat Charles Wilson, who suggests that a little political arm twisting may be in order.

House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. and House majority leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth should "be calling in all the people that should vote for the bill...and make it clear that folks who voted for the bill would be treated a little differently than folks who didn't."

"The speaker's prestige is totally on the line. The president's is totally on the line. And the majority leader is going to be awfully embarrassed if he doesn't get any Texas votes," added Wilson.

The Carter administration-backed compromise, which calls for deregulation of most natural gas by 1985 and gradual price increases in the interim, passed the Senate on Wednesday - as expected - by a 57-42 vote.

"Right now it does not look by any means that it will pass the House," warned Wilson late Wednesday afternoon. "The Republicans are maintaining a pretty solid front...the Northeast liberals are holding pretty firm and we're not getting any significant breakthrough with producing-state Democrats."

An unusual coalition of liberals, who feel the compromise is too much a price for consumers to pay, and conservatives, who feel it doesn't deregulate prices quick enough, hope to defeat the measure when the House votes in mid October.

Wilson, a member of the House-Senate conference committee that hammered out the compromise, was named earlier this week to a 37-member task force by O'Neill and instructed to drum up

Near Collisions

Numerous over City

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Federal Aviation Administration authorities here have logged 30 reports of "near midair collisions" between aircraft in the crowded skies over San Antonio, according to an agency official.

William Czervinske, chief of the air traffic control facilities at San Antonio International Airport, made the statement Tuesday, only a day after a Pacific Southwest Airlines jetliner collided with a small plane over San Diego, Calif., killing at least 150 persons.

The reports here were filed by pilots and air traffic controllers following "near misses," said Czervinske.

The FAA defines a near-collision as a pass of two aircraft within 500 vertical feet of within one-half mile horizontally.

"A collision or crash was avoided in all these cases because of adequate warning or pilot alertness. But there have been some close ones," said Czervinske.

Such a collision here, however, is possible, but still highly unlikely, he added.

"The possibility exists anywhere there's a large concentration of aircraft. And we sure have that concentration here," Czervinske said.

The FAA official noted the unusually high concentration of aircraft over San Antonio because of nearby Kelly and Randolph Air Force Bases, as well as the busy general and commercial traffic at International Airport.

Israelis Negotiate

Peace with Egypt

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Israeli government began preparations today for peace negotiations with Egypt, its largest Arab foe, after the Israeli Parliament voted by an overwhelming margin to ratify the Camp David accords and withdraw all Jewish settlers from the Sinai peninsula of Egypt makes peace.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin said negotiations could start as early as next week on the peace treaty which he and President Anwar Sadat pledged at Camp David to complete within three months.

Egypt's acting foreign minister, Butros B. Ghali, said in Cairo that Israeli and Egyptian delegations would meet either in Ismailia, on the Suez Canal, or in El Arish, the Sinai capital.

An advance Israeli party was going to Cairo today to re-establish the direct links Egyptian President Anwar Sadat severed in July.

The 120 members of the Knesset, Israel's one-hour parliament, put peace with Egypt in exchange for the Sinai settlements to vote early today following more than 17 hours of emotional debate. The vote of 84-19 with 17 abstentions showed wide acceptance for the two frameworks for peace drafted at Camp David and the painful settlement resolution demanded as a condition for further negotiations by Sadat.

Winding up the debate, Begin said a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt would be "the great turning point in the history of the Middle East."

Powell Found Guilty Of Killing Policeman

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - David Lee Powell, portrayed by his lawyers and psychiatrist as a "model boy" with a genius IQ who degenerated into a "speed" pusher, has been convicted of the AK-47 slaying of Patrolman Ralph Ablanado.

The seven-woman, five-man jury who convicted Powell of capital murder Wednesday returns today to hear evidence on whether his punishment should be life imprisonment or death.

If jurors find the slaying was unprovoked and deliberate and that Powell would present a continuing danger to society, the death penalty would be automatic.

Powell, 27, took the guilty verdict with no sign of emotion, but his mother sobbed loudly after State District Judge Tom Blackwell read it and while his clerk polled the jury.

Jurors rejected psychiatric testimony that Powell was a paranoid schizophrenic, beset by delusions, who imagined himself in a "Vietnam-style fire fight" when he shot Ablanado.

"The battle is not over...If I have to sell my house and everything I own, we are going to defend David down every possible avenue," said Powell's aunt, Frida Milone of Dallas.

Ablanado, 26, stopped Powell's car about 12:40 a.m. on May 18 for a routine traffic violation. He received word on his radio that Powell might be wanted for petty theft. He apparently was about to arrest Powell when a burst of automatic rifle fire shattered the rear window of Powell's red Mustang and tore through Ablanado's "bullet-proof" vest.

Syndicate Boss

Told To Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Assassinations Committee has prepared a bit of pressure in case crime-syndicate boss Santos Trafficante balks at questions about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Trafficante was to testify today, but committee members thought he might claim protection of the Fifth Amendment, keeping silent on grounds that his testimony might incriminate him.

The committee prepared to meet such a move with a grant of immunity from prosecution, which makes a witness liable to a charge of contempt of Congress if he still refuses to testify.

Passage followed an intensive lobbying campaign by the White House. Administration officials depicted the measure as the most important surviving

Price Urges Involvement

State Sen. Bob Price, emphasizing the need for more citizen involvement in government, was guest speaker for the regular weekly Hereford Lions Club luncheon here Wednesday in the Community Center.

In another highlight of the meeting, the Lions sang "Happy Birthday" to Lem Carlie, a charter member of the club, who was 87 years old Wednesday.

Price, elected in a special election last year to fill the term of Max Sherman, told the audience that government waste and spending will not stop "until people get aroused in the decision making process."

Strike

operations in Texas and shut down two Amtrak passenger trains.

Late Wednesday, some pickets were still reported in Houston as some were being resumed in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolx. Railroad spokesmen said the continued and resumed picketing was likely caused by the logistical problems of serving the court order to union leaders.

Some Amtrak passenger rail service through Dallas, Houston and Laredo remained at a standstill, though service was running between New Orleans and Los Angeles via Houston.

Picket lines were called off at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Santa Fe and Cotton Belt railroads about 10 a.m. Wednesday, but resumed about 2 p.m. on orders from the regional union division.

The railroads have received temporary restraining orders from U.S. district courts, but union officials claimed those injunctions are contrary to a decision by Supreme Court Justice Warren Burger.

Some train crews reported to work while pickets were down Wednesday worked 12-hour shifts as allowed by union contract. But as clerks resumed picketing, supervisory personnel resumed operating freight trains.

Loren Simmons, a spokesman for Santa Fe in Dallas, said the railroad had used supervisory personnel to make up about 80 crews Wednesday while pickets were up. He said those crews operated about one-third as many trains as usual.

The Dallas-based Missouri-Kansas-Texas Katy, the Cotton belt and the Burlington Northern were affected in Texas. The Fort Worth & Denver, Southern Pacific and Missouri Pacific were unaffected.

The Katy obtained a federal court injunction in Kansas City Tuesday but spokesman Jerry Sheridan said it was Wednesday before it was obeyed. The railroad ran at about 30 percent capacity with supervisory personnel, he said.

Frisco line workers were on the job Tuesday but put up pickets Wednesday at Fort Worth, Sherman and Irving. They came down quickly when railroad officials produced a court order.

Tuesday's Amtrak train to Chicago was shut down because it is served by Santa Fe, but the New Orleans-Los Angeles route, served by Southern Pacific, continued operations.

Amtrak spokesmen said about 15 passengers on the canceled Chicago run were placed on buses.

Industry sources in Houston reported minimal effects from the rail strike, but officials at export grain elevators said a strike of several days' duration could significantly affect operations.

W.W. Martin, traffic manager for General Portland Cement, said cement was shipped by the Missouri Pacific Wednesday from the Dallas plant, but about 30 percent of production was bottled up in Fort Worth, served by the Santa Fe.

Spokesman for two large grocery wholesalers said they do not foresee major problems in using truck transportation if the strike continues.

Taxes

cuts in the committee bill would benefit 68 million couples or individuals while raising taxes for about 1.2 million, most of them single persons or couples with no children.

The bill would cut individual taxes mainly by widening the tax brackets, thus allowing more income to be taxed at lower rates. It also would replace the current $35-per-person credit and the $750-per-person exemption with a $1,000 exemption per person.

The bracket-widening process would increase the current standard deduction from $2,200 to $2,300 for single persons and from $3,200 to 13,400 for couples. Unmarried heads of household, who generally are widows or divorced women with children, would get a $3,000 standard deduction.

Working families with incomes under $11,000 would qualify for the expanded earned-income credit in the bill. The maximum tax credit for qualifying families, some of which could receive money at tax time rather than having to pay, would be increased from the current $400 to $600.

The committee bill would allow different treatment of capital gains realized from the sale of a person's principal home. But this provision would not be as generous to most as the $100,000 once-a-lifetime exclusion voted by the House.

Under the Finance Committee plan, the profit from the first $50,000 of sales price would be tax-free. When the selling price is above $50,000, the tax-free portion would be determined by dividing $50,000 by the sales price and multiplying by the profit.

Capital gains, the profits from sales of assets owned for a year or longer, include stocks and real estate.

support for the compromise.

"My job on the task force is to work with the producing-state Democrats," said Wilson. "That includes Colorado and Utah where I'm having some luck. Where I'm having no luck at all is Oklahoma and Louisiana."

And Texas. Wilson admitted that right now only "six or seven" Texans will line up with the president and the House leadership.

"In the last analysis, when the speaker, majority leader and the president put the full-court press on them, I think we'll get half of the Texas Democrats... maybe more," continued Wilson. "I'll be very disappointed if we don't get 11 or 12."

"But if we don't have more than six or seven, which is what we've got now, then the bill will not pass."

Opponents to the bill can oppose the bill on "ideological grounds, saying it's hot deregulation and on practical, political grounds, which is really where the opposition comes from, because they don't want Carter to get the credit for resolving the issue," added Wilson.

The House leadership plans to lump the natural gas pricing compromise with three less controversial energy measures and stage one vote on the entire package.

"A lot of congressmen don't want to go before the voters in November without having passed an energy bill," said Wilson who noted that the "ones we're having the problems with are the real ideologues and that argument doesn't carry a lot of weight with them sometimes."

Wilson said he hoped that five "leaning" Texans - whom he refused to name - would be invited to meet with the secretary of the Treasury and the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board to "talk about the international implications of the bill."

Wilson said he has "arguments on behalf of a comprehensive energy bill. Passage of such a measure would improve the dollar abroad and disprove

"the general perception in Western Europe and Japan that the U.S. does not have the capacity to come to terms with a divisive regional issue," he said.

Should the measure pass, Texas consumers are "going to have an emotional reward because for the first time in ten years, they're going to be paying the same as everybody else...they'll know the yankees are paying the same that they do which has been a bone of contention for some time."

The intrastate gas market in Texas has supported higher prices, thus producers balked at selling to interstate customers. The compromise would extend federal regulation to the intrastate markets, which will increase prices in most states.

The main Texas opposition to the bill arises from "the emotional opposition to any intrusion in the intrastate market by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission," said Wilson.

He accused the administration of riding roughshod over the major consumer, farm and labor groups opposing the bill just to get a long-denied congressional energy victory.

"Some victory," Metzbaum said. Passage followed an intensive lobbying campaign by the White House.

Administration officials depicted the measure as the most important surviving part of the energy program Carter submitted to Congress in April 1977 as the "normal equivalent of war."

In winning Senate approval for the compromise, administration forces overcame efforts of an unusual coalition formed to fight the bill.

It consisted of liberals who called the compromise too costly for consumers and conservatives who complained that it didn't deregulate gas prices quickly enough.

And the vote came on the anniversary of the first all-night Senate session in more than a decade - during a filibuster on an earlier version of the same piece of legislation that passed today.

Foes of the measure conceded in advance of Wednesday's vote that they would lose. They blamed it on the administration's all-out lobbying efforts.

Sen. Price reviewed the actions of the special session of the Texas Legislature in proposing "tax relief amendments" for vote in November. If passed, the amendments will reduce a lot of money on statewide spending, but it won't make much difference to individual taxpayers, he added.

However, the amendments "will be beneficial to the people of the state," believes Price.

These tax reductions will affect other things, such as education, pointed out the senator, and the solution was for the state to allocate $450 million to education from surplus funds. This is where Price disagrees with the action. "I feel this is the wrong approach. If we allocate $450 million this year, what's it going to be two years from now... maybe $800 million?" He believes a one-cent sales tax would be a much better way to approach the tax-base reduction sustained by education.

"Next thing you know, the city and county governments will want allocations from the state to make up for the decreased tax base, then we're going into revenue sharing. And, if it works like Washington, you'll lose 60 percent of the money to administration by sending it to Austin and then getting it back."

Price said he believes in "keeping local control as much as possible." He added that this "is a great country and we have fine communities, but we're in trouble because people are not taking time to participate in local government, their churches and their schools."

The senator said he believed the next session would see a bill introduced to allow "initiative and referendum" in Texas. This is the process used in California for the highly-publicized Proposition 13 movement. Price was introduced by Harrell Holder, program chairman for the Lions Club this month.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: On August 25th of 1978 Mr. Jose Vasquez was fired by the board from his job as an assistant of juvenile probation officer - after he refused to resign.

Coincidentally this took place after Mr. Vasquez made a public statement concerning his application of juvenile probation officer.

Attached to this, is a copy of that statement, in which Mr. Vasquez was asked by a board member: "Do you think Anglos are going to respect you?" We the people say: "Of course! Anglos are not disrespectful, and many form our best society." This dismissal shows Mr.

Vasquez was denied his freedom of mind and speech, and juvenities of his excellent work!

We the people struggle in life to send our children to college to obtain the education and training we lack. And when they are ready to enter the door of profession, we want them to have an equal opportunity as Anglos, Negroes and others do.

If Mr. Vasquez is the example of what our children are to expect of society, the Nation is presented with a problem which should not be ignored.

We are not alone! --- We have faith in America and our government - because we love our country just as much, for we have no other. We deserve justice! Sincerely

Author Says Proposition Fails

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Proposition 13, meant to curb state spending, hasn't worked, says co-author Paul Gann, so he is sponsoring a new proposal which would tie spending hikes to increases in population and inflation.

"We believed if we were fortunate enough to get Proposition 13 on the ballot and to persuade people to vote for it, we'd have won and could all take a long vacation." Gann, a 65-year-old suburban Sacramento businessman, said. "But it hasn't worked."

Gann said his new ballot measure would have the effect, with some exceptions, of not only cutting taxes, but also freezing government spending in terms of real per capita growth. The measure is similar to a bill killed earlier this year in the California Assembly.

'Binge' Concerns Swiss

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) - Christmas is still three months away but many Swiss are on a shopping binge that is worrying businessmen in this city, reputedly the wealthiest in the Western world.

Retailers are concerned because bargain-hunters from Basel and a growing number of other Swiss realize spectacular savings are in store if they spend their francs across the border, in neighboring West Germany or in France.

Switzerland is a small country geographically, and it would be as if most U.S. shoppers realized they were only miles from tremendous savings in some neighboring country.

As both the German mark and the French franc - along with the dollar and all other currencies - are plunging almost daily to ever new lows against Swiss money, the buys were never better for the Swiss, statistically proven to be the thriftiest people on earth.

"I would be crazy if I would not come here," said a middle-aged Swiss housewife as she fed a parkometer in Loerrach, a West German border town of 35,000 about a 10-minute ride from here.

Loerrach, where the flow of Swiss-licensed cars is causing traffic jams almost every weekend, has become a favorite shopping place for Basel citizens. The French town of St. Louis is equally close but the buying there is chiefly for food and wine.

With the average monthly salary of a sales clerk now at 3,753 francs - $2,470 - the Swiss have impressive purchasing power in the two neighboring countries where salaries and prices are now roughly about 30 percent lower.

Often, the bargains are much better than even the average price gap. Three bottles of Scotch cost a Swiss buyer in Germany as much as a single bottle of the same make costs in Switzerland.

Two pounds of steak bought in France - the maximum allowed per border crossing - cost a Swiss about $10.45 across the border and $20.90 at a local butcher.

A German-made hi-fi in Loerrach costs $846, compared with $1,257 for exactly the same model when bought in a Swiss store.

For a German-made washing machine, the difference is even more staggering: $445 in Germany, $913 in Switzerland.

Cheating customs would be silly because even with taxation, the savings are still substantial.

The most tempting bargains are cars. Switzerland, where there is one car for every three inhabitants, has no auto production of its own. Dealers are reluctant to pass up huge profits, thus the potential economy for a "private import" is impressive.

A BMW 528 that carries a $18,500 tag in Switzerland costs $2,950 less than the buyer imports the car directly from Germany.

The savings are comparable on new cars brought privately from Italy or France where some German cars are even cheaper than in their homeland because of taxes.

Producer companies have instructed French and German dealers not to publicize the advantages of "direct importing" - the bringing in of the car by the individual buyer - in order not to hurt their Swiss dealers. But word of the windfall opportunities has been spreading, and recently Swiss newspapers have started publishing lists comparing the prices.

Price cuts of up to 8 percent during the past few weeks in Switzerland have not stopped the trend, although direct imports still make up only a fraction of total Swiss car sales.

For Swiss general retailers, especially those in border regions, the impact has been harder. According to some estimates, sales at Basel stores are running at up to one-third below last year's. One big department store in Loerrach says about one-third of its clients are Swiss.

Cancer Institute To Test Laetrile on Advanced Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Cancer Institute announced Wednesday it will seek to test Laetrile on patients with advanced cancers.

Dr. Arthur C. Upton, the institute's director, said he decided to follow the recommendation of a divided NCI panel of doctors and scientists who recommended testing the controversial substance on humans.

The NCI still must obtain approval from the Food and Drug Administration to use Laetrile, purported to be a cancer-curing agent, on an experimental basis.

The decision comes 15 years after the institute was first asked to conduct clinical tests on Laetrile.

Because animal tests have never shown any evidence that Laetrile could combat cancer, the institute said, it had decided previously "the evidence was not sufficient to warrant proceeding to testing in humans."

Upton's decision comes three weeks after the institute released the results of a study of medical records of several dozen cancer patients who used Laetrile. Ninety-three patients submitted records, but only 22 had all the necessary data or had used only Laetrile.

In those 22 cases, the institute said, six patients improved, nine stayed the same and seven got worse.

"The results of the retrospective analysis would normally not be sufficient to suggest that the drug be tested in the clinic over other candidate drugs that are available," it said. "However, because of widespread public use and interest in Laetrile, the NCI will proceed with plans to evaluate the drug."

Despite an FDA ban on interstate shipments of Laetrile, 17 states have legalized its use in recent years, and a federal appeals court in Denver ruled in July that dying cancer patients were legally entitled to get Laetrile injections.

Laetrile's promoters claim that up to 70,000 Americans have used the substance, which is made from the pits of apricots and other fruits.

If the FDA approves the experimental study, it will take approximately six months and will involve groups of 15 to 30 patients each with several types of cancer, the institute said.

"Only patients in whom all known therapies have been attempted will be asked to participate," the institute said. "The NCI has not yet selected the institutions that will conduct the study."

An institute official said Monday that up to 230 patients might be tested. The NCI's Decision Network Committee voted 14 to 11 on Monday to recommend human testing.

Nebraska's Blue Cows Catch Attention of Those Passing By

NELIGH, Neb. (AP) - If you never saw a purple cow, you can at least see a blue one. Two, in fact. Two blue cows as extravagant as a Nebraska sunburst.

The cows are part of a huge mural which decorates two sides of an old brick building and is to put it mildly, hardly the sight you expect to see driving through this remote village of 1,800 out in the middle of the Great Plains.

Suddenly, there they are: two mammoth cows, and on the other wall a huge red plow, a scene of Bunyanesque brilliance.

"The mural stops traffic, all right," Lynn Morrison said. "But to us, by now, it is as though it has always been there." Actually, the mural is just over a year old.

Lynn Morrison, who is president of the Neligh Arts Council, said the painting became a community project.

"I don't think there was a man, woman or child in town who didn't have paint in his hair."

The mural is the product of Sachio Yamashita, a Chicago artist who came to America from Japan a decade ago and began painting every large bare space he could find with the bold strokes and brilliant rainbow colors that are his trademark.

The Arts Council heard about Sachio and invited him to visit. The building they chose for him, "the biggest and ugliest in town," was built about the turn of the century by local craftsmen of bricks made in Neligh.

For several days, Sachio sat on a bench on the courthouse lawn across the street and stared at the old pile of bricks.

Then he went home to work on his design. While he was gone, local volunteers raised a scaffold, wire-brushed and caulked the building, primed it with two coats of white paint.

Sachio returned and chalked his design on the two walls:

On the east face of the building, the two cows, one up close, one behind. They stand beside a vertical belt of multicolored stripes, the artist's interpretation of a rainbow.

On the north face, the red plow rampant upon a tractor-green prairie beside a field of impressionistic yellow corn beneath an orange sun, slightly lopsided, in a sky of pickup-truck blue.

"It represents our heritage, which we are proud of," Mrs. Morrison said.

"The blue cows? Well, Sachio said the Angus raisers wanted him to make them black, the Hereford people wanted Herefords, and so on," Mrs. Morrison explained. "He decided to make them noncommittal blue."

Sachio painted the more difficult strokes, then the townsfolk took over. Children painted from the ground up, as high as they could reach; adults climbed the scaffold, as high as they dared.

Sachio supervised. He was the houseguest of the town. He ate here, slept there. He discussed art with the school children. He autographed T-shirts. His fee was $1,000 - nearly all else, the town donated: paint, labor, equipment. His effect as profound.

"We have the mural, of course," Mrs. Morrison said, "but guess what else? Every kitchen in town now stocks soy sauce."

Alaric and his Goths entered and sacked Rome in 410.

FACTORS THAT AFFECT FUEL ECONOMY

Improved personal driving habits are often the highest factor in achieving better gas mileage... and often the least suspected. Use your accessories judiciously. They not only add weight, but are powered by drive belts from the engine. Some option, like power steering, only reduce gas mileage by about 1-3 percent. Air conditioning however, may subtract up to 13 percent when it's turned on in hot weather.

Some electrical equipment, such as high beam headlights or electrically-heated rear window defroster, also affect fuel economy. That's because it takes more power to operate the alternator, when it's charging the battery. Accelerate smoothly and gradually. If possible drive when traffic is light. - A car traveling at 55 mph gets better gas mileage than at 70 mph, and much better mileage at 45 mph. In fact, with most cars, approximately one mile-per-gallon is lost for every 5 mph over 50 mph. On the other hand, it's interesting to note that cars generally use more fuel at speeds below 35 mph.

Have your car checked regularly... And tune engine often.

Business World Insight

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - For the liberal arts student, for the homemaker worrying about prices, and for the gloomy of heart who believe the American worker has become a goofoff, these items of interest:

FOR THE LIBERAL ARTS GRADUATE: Liberal arts students are prized by some business organizations.

True, many companies look for business or related majors, but others esteem the liberal artists for their reasoning and other abilities.

-Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis-based, privately owned, multi-billion dollar, worldwide trader of commodities, traditionally hires liberal arts graduates among its management trainees.

"We feel they have a rounded education, are generally able to express themselves, and have an open mind," said W.B. "Barney" Saunders, a group vice president who interviews potential trainees.

FOR HOMEOWNERS: The message is less refreshing.

According to Howard Hjort, Agriculture Department chief economist, "a stable farm price situation in 1979 would likely result in food price increases on the order of 4 or 5 percent." Not bad, so far.

At that point Citibank continues to darken.

economists began making their own projections. Hjort's prediction, they said, assumes an inflation rate of 6.5 percent to 7.5 percent. "We expect 8 percent or more," they said.

Based on Hjort's statement, they continued, the grocery bill of a typical four-person family next year would rise by about $3.40 a week, if farm prices remain stable.

The calculations get even more foreboding. "Smaller meat and dairy supplies," the economists maintain, "could push that bill up by $6.15 a week." And the message "These increases, if realized, would be on top of the $6.21 weekly increase already forecast for 1978 for the typical four-person family who spent $62.10 a week on groceries in 1977," the economists state.

FOR THE WORKER: And for those who think they no longer are interested in a good day's work for a good day's pay, it isn't so, says Prof. David Cherrington of Brigham Young University.

Cherrington surveyed 3,000 workers nationally and learned from them, he says, that pride in doing a job well is the highest priority of the American worker.

On a scale of one to 100, "pride in craftsmanship" placed 84, outranking "more money or larger pay increase" by two points.

Protestants Stage Own Tax Revolt

NEW YORK (AP) - Three Protestant denominations opposed to war are considering a new kind of tax resistance - refusal to pay taxes that go for arms and equipment for war.

Following a year-long series of joint regional conferences under the banner of a "New Call to Peacemaking," the three historic "peace" churches have set a national conference about it Oct. 8-9 in Greenlake, Wis.

The meeting is to consider regional proposals for some form of tax protest against spending for armaments and munitions of war.

The demonstrations, whose hallmark for centuries has been conscientious objection to participation in violence and war, are all relatively small. But they've had an influential impact on Christianity at large and on American thought.

They are the Society of Friends, involving about 100,000 Quakers; the Church of the Brethren, a Midwest-based denomination with about 180,000 members, and the Menonites, totaling about 130,000.

Although many of them have protested war in the past by refusing to accept military service, the nature of modern war has turned "from manpower to money for technology and automated weapons," the churches said.

In a joint statement, they said members of the movement now are "poised for stronger action."

"The time has come for all Christians and people of all faiths to renounce war on religious and moral grounds," the new cooperative coalition of peace churches said in its new call.

Regional meetings at 26 locations have been held in the last year about the issue, with more than 1,500 persons taking part, citing war and violence as "denials of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ."

At one of the conferences at Old Chatham, N.Y., last April it raised this question: "Are we going to pray for peace, and pay for war?" Another in Wichita, Kan., declared that 50 percent of funds collected from income taxes are used for military-related purposes and for manufacture of destructive weapons.

The meeting encouraged "individuals who feel called to resist the payment of the military portion of their federal taxes."

A meeting in North Manchester, Ind., proposed making use of the current tax revolt highlighted by California's Proposition 13 and the distress at the national debt and inflation to further the peace cause.

"The supposition that arms provide security is an illusion," say the planners of the October conference in their letter of invitation.

"We call for a world based on peaceful order rather than the 'balance of terror' fueled by nuclear arsenals and the spreading arms sales."

IN WASHINGTON Martha Angle and

Raising the wrong fuss Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The Carter administration, unwilling or unable to tackle the really significant governmental contributors to inflation, continues to zero in on side issues of symbolic importance only.

A prime example is the hand-wringing now going on among Carter's inflation fighters over a Labor Department proposal to raise white collar minimum salary standards by an image-rattling 45 to 47 percent.

Unlike the hourly minimum wage rates which Congress establishes by law, white collar minimums for administrative, executive and professional employees are set by the secretary of labor.

In practice, they are normally raised whenever the official minimum wage goes up — as it did last year and will again in January. The Labor Department tries to keep the salary minimum high enough to discourage employers from evading the overtime requirements of the minimum wage law by arbitrarily designating workers as "professionals" or "executives" exempt from coverage of the minimum wage act.

The Labor Department's wage and hours division has proposed increasing the salary minimum for executive and administrative personnel from $155 to $225 a week, and the minimum for professionals from $170 to $250 per week.

There has been no increase in the white collar minimums since April 1975 and department officials insist the proposed boost would have little real effect since a majority of employees in such jobs already earns more than the new minimum salary.

"The numbers involved here are very small, insignificant in terms of the work force as a whole," one Labor Department official said.

Nonetheless, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall has not yet approved the new minimums and probably won't for some time because White House inflation-watchers are worried about the psychological impact of blessing 45 to 47 percent increases for any group of workers.

"Those figures are sure as hell not within our guidelines," grumbled one White House official. "Think what George Meany will say if we allow that."

There's only one problem with such solicitude. It's misplaced.

For inflationary impact, the white collar minimums are virtually meaningless — while the increases in the hourly minimum wage voted last year by Congress and approved by the president have a far greater effect because millions more workers are involved.

Yet the administration has made no move to seek a slowdown or halt in those rates, which went from $2.35 to $2.65 an hour last year and will reach $2.90 an hour in January. Why not? Fear of the political consequences from organized labor?

"It's bad enough that we couldn't achieve some of their objectives like labor law reform," one administration source said, "without trying to undo what they've already achieved."

The other single most important inflationary act of the federal government during Carter's presidency was the increase in Social Security taxes voted by Congress last year — and that boost won't even take effect until January. Government economists fear the higher Social Security taxes, which business will undoubtedly pass through in price increases, coupled with the minimum wage boosts will add another full percentage point to inflation next year.

Carter, however, has no present plans to seek a rollback of the Social Security tax increase either — again because of the political difficulties involved. Many members of Congress who voted for the tax hikes last year have had second thoughts, recognizing the damage those increases will do to inflation rates, but not the White House.

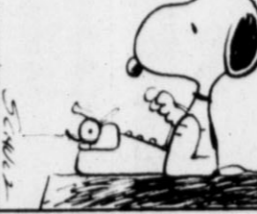

Many of the underlying causes of today's inflation are essentially beyond the reach of government action, but it's little wonder that Carter gets such poor marks for his efforts to fight the spiral when his administration swings at the little problems and ducks the big ones.

Old Testament Scholar Refutes Ark Discovery

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Accounts in the popular media lately have implied that remains of Noah's Ark have been found on Mount Ararat in Turkey. But it's not likely, says an Old Testament scholar who has surveyed the evidence.

The Rev. Dr. Lloyd R. Bailey of Duke University Divinity School concludes that the implications circulated in recent filmed and written accounts are based on hearsay evidence and invalid scientific tests.

Others, including scientists at the University of California and the University of Miami, also have challenged claims that wood from the ancient ark has been found high on the snow-capped mountain.

Bailey gives a full-scale airing to the issue in a book, "Where is Noah's Ark," being published by Abingdon Press. He particularly takes issue with an NBC-TV movie, "In Search of Noah's Ark."

"When I saw the movie, I determined it was high time someone established in the field of biblical scholarship should have his 'say' in the matter, also," he says.

"This seemed particularly appropriate in order for ministers, pastors and teachers in university religion departments to be able to evaluate for themselves the claims the movie and recent popular books have made for the ark's survival."

He says most scholars "have not wanted to dignify the claims about the discovery of the ark by disputing them," with the result that there has been no source where people could get an "informed, calm, not-controversial" assessment of the popular claims.

Noting that possible existence of the ark has been a subject of speculation for centuries, he says reports of the ark being visible high in the "mountains of Ararat" go back to the third

We Need Self Discipline

Self-government won't work without self-discipline.

Businessmen fuss and fret over the usurpation of their prerogatives by alphabetical agencies of government--yet if they don't discipline themselves, government has to move in and free enterprise becomes that much less free.

This year the government had to order Safeway stores to sell

CA Gets Energy Grant

The Texas Department of Community Affairs (TDCA) has announced that the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation agency has been awarded a $53,260 contract under the Weatherization Assistance Program for eligible persons in Deaf Smith County.

Ben F. McDonald, Jr., executive director of TDCA, said that funding for this 12-month contract which began Sept. 1, is made available through TDCA's Economic Opportunity Division by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Through this contract, homes of the elderly and handicapped low-income persons will be improved through the use of storm windows, caulking, insulation and wall repairs so that energy consumption is reduced and high energy costs to the home dweller are lessened.

Additional information on the contract may be obtained by contacting the Economic Opportunity Division of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, Box 13166, Capital Station, Austin, 78711.

Guilty Conscience

CINCINNATI (AP) - "There's a bad man out there with a conscience," said suburban Mount Healthy Police Chief George Hunt.

Hunt said last Monday there appeared to be a break-in at an office on the town's main street, but nothing was taken.

On Thursday, a letter arrived addressed to Hunt and his secretary.

"Money for damage and expense to building at Main Theater. No theft intended. Stupid vandalism on 17 September '78," the note said in part. There were five $20 bills in the envelope.

"I've been a police officer since 1961 and I've never heard of anything like this before."

the chief said. Hunt turned the money over to the building's owner to pay for repairs to a door.

"It wasn't $100 worth of damage, but who's he going to give the change to?" Hunt wondered.

Eagle Invasion Due Friday

The Hereford Whitefaces host the Canyon Eagles here tomorrow night in Whiteface Stadium.

Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

The visiting Eagles, rated 24th in the Harris AAA rating system, enter the picture after downing Amarillo Caprock 10-0 last week in Amarillo.

The Eagles reportedly have a on-again, off-again offense headed by backs Barry Watson, and Robert Johnson.

But Eagle experts say their winning ways have been paved mainly by a stout defense.

The Eagle kicking game is also considered strong with Canyon's Eddie Clement doing the honors.

Last week against Caprock, he booted a 16-yard field goal late in the third quarter to give the Eagles their first offensive spark.

Against the Longhorns, Canyon had 12 1st downs to six, 213 yards rushing against Caprock's 127 and hit on two of 10 passes for 15 yards.

Hereford enters the picture needing a victory after losing 13-0 last week to the Berger Bulldogs in Bulldog Stadium.

Hereford is rated 170th this week by the Harris Poll in 4-AAAA.

The Whitefaces found few friendly faces in Berger as they managed but 70 yards rushing, had 7 penalties for 85 yards, and lost two fumbles.

Whiteface coach Don Cumpston said here Wednesday the Herd has worked hard all week in preparation for the Eagle invasion.

A couple of Herd minor injuries happened during this week during practice, but Cumpston said they will be ready to go Friday.

"They've got a big and quick team and a solid defense," said Cumpton. They go about 60-40 as far as running-passing."

Cumpston said the Herd will be looking for a win against Canyon.

The Herd won their first outing 13-7 against Pampa, then dropped the last two 28-0 to Amarillo Palo Duro, another top-rated area team and then last week in Berger.

The Whitefaces appeared up in Wednesday's practice session.

Some offensive and defensive changes have been made in preparation of the Friday tilt and to beef up the Herd attack.

Canyon has played Tulsa and Lubbock Monterey. They battled the Monterey team to a 6-6 tie, the only points scored against them this year.

Lopez Tired After Year

CALABASAS PARK, Calif. (AP) - Nancy Lopez, who's having a not-so-blazing finish to the most successful year in women's pro golf history, admits that she's weary.

"I never used to miss four and five-footers. I'm hitting the ball well but I'm not putting...One reason that I'm not putting well is because I'm tired, worn out," she said Wednesday after the pro-amateur preliminary to the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Calabasas Park Country club.

As the winner of eight Ladies Professional Golf Association events, including the record of five consecutive tour victories in May and June, Lopez became the biggest money winner of any rookie in pro golf history, male or female.

Her last victory was Aug. 6 in the European Open. She finished eighth with Jo Ann Washam in a team event last week. But her 1978 LPGA earnings already are a record amount, $162,117, and Lopez plans to make 1979 noteworthy as well by getting married to a Pennsylvania sportscaster, Tim Melton. The wedding is set for Jan. 6, her 22nd birthday.

Astro's Ruhle Likes Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) - Houston Astros pitcher Vern Ruhle wants to thank the Atlanta Braves for his success this season.

Ruhle, who pitched seven scoreless innings in a 4-0 Astros win Wednesday night, has three victories this season - all against Atlanta.

Ruhle, whose record stands at 3-3, has pitched 25 scoreless innings against the Braves.

"I was pretty lucky," he said after Wednesday night's game. "I made some good pitches but at times I made some bad ones, too."

"I've had 11 starts and I've pitched well against other teams. But I have to thank Atlanta for the wins. I just don't get the big breaks against the other teams."

"He's pitched three great games against us," Braves Manager Bobby Cox said. "But if he's that good, he'd be better than 3-3."

Cox may have a point. Ruhle did pitch a fine game Wednesday, but Atlanta's lack of power contributed as well.

Braves pitcher Frank LaCorte absorbed the loss for Atlanta despite facing the minimum number of batters over the first 6 2-3 innings. His effort was wasted as the Braves failed to score.

Still, Cox was pleased with LaCorte's outing. The Braves hurler, who sports an 0-1 record, has a history of wildness but was in control Wednesday night.

"He used to have a great fast ball and a great curve ball," Cox said. "Now he has a good fast ball and a good curve ball, but he's getting the good control now."

Wednesday's game dropped the Braves two games deeper into the National League West cellar. The Braves and Astros were tied for fifth place Tuesday, but the Astros took command with two straight shutout victories. Four games remain for the Braves this season.

In Wednesday's game, rookie Jeff Leonard keyed a four-run eighth inning for the Astros with a three-run double.

Enos Cabell, Dave Bergman and Keith Drumright had singled, loading the bases for Houston, and Bruce Bochy's sacrifice fly scored the first run. After pinch-hitter Jim Obradovich was walked intentionally, filling the bases again, Leonard unloaded them with his drive to left.

"I hit a curve ball, but he had struck me out with a curve ball earlier," Leonard said of his big hit.

Nieman Leads Grid Guessers

Publisher Speedy Nieman still heads the Brand's Fearless Forecasters after the third weekend round of games.

Nieman's .731 per centage rates highest among the five Forecasters with Karen Marsh and Bob Nigh next with a .680 rating each.

Managing editor Paul Sims and sports editor Don Ingram round out the dynamic prognosticators with .667 and .654 respectively.

Nieman missed seven selections last week while Marsh, Nigh and Ingram missed nine games and Sims 11.

All of the Forecasters miss the Plainview-Midland game which Midland won, plus the WTSU-Illinois game and the Alabama-Southern Cal contest.

Cardinal To Replace Jay Saldi

DALLAS (AP) - Former St. Louis Cardinal all-pro Jackie Smith, 11th on the National Football League's all-time receiving list, signed with the Dallas Cowboys to replace injured tight end Jay Saldi.

Saldi suffered a broken arm against the Cardinals Sunday and will likely be lost for the entire season.

The Cowboys will not have to compensate the Cardinals for Smith, who became a free agent prior to this season after playing for St. Louis for 15 years. Terms of the contract with the Cowboys were not disclosed.

Smith is expected to report to the Cowboys immediately and is expected to be ready to play in next Monday's crucial game against the Washington Redskins.

Did You Know

... that baseball's first World Series with a million dollar gate was in 1923 when the New York Yankees battled the New York Giants? The record attendance of 301,430 marked the first series played at the huge new Yankee Stadium. Despite two home runs by the Giants' Casey Stengel, who later as manager piloted the Yankees to six World Series championships, the Yankees won the series in six games.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Golf Series Starts; Watson Seeking Goal

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson is seeking an accomplishment unique in Tour history this week in the prestigious World Series of Golf, the last major event on the year's schedule.

Watson, the heir apparent to Jack Nicklaus' longtime role as golf's leading performer, last season swept three major honors — Player of the Year, leading money-winner and the Vardon Trophy for the low-stroke average on the tour.

Coming into the event that began today on the sprawling, 7,180-yard, par-70 South Course at the Firestone Country Club, Watson again led in all three categories. Should he win them all again, he'd be the first man ever to sweep all three in consecutive seasons.

"I'm not a specific, goal-oriented person," Watson said. "But I'd like to win the Vardon Trophy. That's important. That's the standard. Basically, over the years, we've played the same courses, so the stroke average means something."

And, as to the money-winning title, Watson grinned: "You win the Vardon Trophy, baby, and you're going to win some money."

And he's done that. He has collected $343,429 this season and very well could break Johnny Miller's 1974 single-season record of $353,021. A finish of fifth or better here would do it. The World Series of Golf purse is $300,000 with the game's biggest prize, $100,000, going to the winner.

His only challengers for money-winning honors are Andy Bean $258,440 this year and Nicklaus, $249,772. Either would have to win and have Watson play poorly to have any chance of catching him.

And Nicklaus appears the only challenger for Player-of-the-Year honors. Watson has won five times in this country, including his last two starts. No one else has won more than three American tournaments.

Nicklaus has won three plus the British Open and would have to take this one to have a chance. That's very possible. Nicklaus has an unmatched history of success on this course. He won the first World Series played under its present, expanded format. He won four of the old, four-man World Series. He won the American Golf Classic here and the PGA national championship. In all, he's taken more than one-half million dollars in winnings from events on this course alone.

Watson's greatest threat is in the Vardon standings. He holds a 70.17 average in 89 rounds. Lee Trevino is second at 70.20 in 95 rounds.

Others in the elite, 26-man field are defending title-holder Lanny Wadkins, PGA champ John Mahaffey, Masters king Gary Player, U.S. Open winner Andy North, Miller Barber, John

Bland of South Africa, Dr. Gil Morgan, Hale Irwin, Hubert Green, Hsu Sheng-San of Taiwan, Bob Shearer of Australia, Bruce Lietzke, British Amateur champ Peter McEvoy, Lee Elder, U.S. Amateur champ John Cook, Isao Aoki of Japan, Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, Jerry Pate, Bill Kratzert, Tom Kite, Mark Hayes and Lon Hinkle.

Herd Spikers Battle Caprock

The Hereford volleyball team lost to Amarillo Caprock here Tuesday evening.

The local spikers battled Caprock in close sets of 15-12 and 15-10.

Faviana Valdez was high pointer for Hereford scoring six points. Others were Diana Valdez five and Diana Villarreal four points.

Outstanding spiker for Hereford was Teresa Lambert.

Martha Gavina was outstanding setter on the varsity squad while Susie Chavez took the honors on the JV team.

Miss Lambert was 'all around' for the varsity team while Miss Chavez took the JV honors there too.

The Hereford JV's lost 15-11 and 15-13 in more close net action.

Coach Helen Reed said both Hereford teams played well during the close games, and need only a little confidence and experience to become better ball clubs.

She invites fans and parents to attend the next volleyball game here Tuesday, Oct. 3 against Amarillo High.

The games are played at LaPlata Junior High.

Pastorini Back In Oiler Camp

HOUSTON (AP) — Dan Pastorini, the Houston Oilers' temperamental $200,000 per year quarterback, was $500 poorer today but back with the team and concentrating on Cleveland, this week's opponent, instead of criticism by Oiler offensive coordinator Ken Shipp.

Pastorini boycotted Tuesday's Oiler workout but returned Wednesday to say he had been angered that Shipp had criticized him publicly for his play selection in Sunday's 10-6 loss to Los Angeles.

The Oiler quarterback also was unhappy that Oiler Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips didn't inform him first that the Oiler coaches would start calling plays in clutch situations. Pastorini read it in the newspaper.

"I want to set the record straight," Pastorini said after returning Wednesday. "The calls I made on two third down situations against the Rams were calls I was coached by Shipp to make during the week. I've been playing football 16 years and this is the first time a coach has criticized my ball playing publicly.

"Bum will be working more with our offense and it will be much better now. I am sure everything will be all right."

Pastorini said Phillips and the team were most important to him.

"I didn't want to leave the impression I was walking out on them," he said. "I wasn't. Nobody told me the plays would be called for me at certain times during the game and I was upset about it when I read it in the paper. I wasn't fair to Bum. I didn't give him a chance to explain."

Shipp has declined to comment on the Pastorini situation or his future role in play selection but Phillips, when asked how much bigger role he would play in the Oiler offense, said "a helluva lot bigger. But that doesn't mean there is anything wrong with our offense. I'm not second guessing. I'm just trying to help."

"Ken Shipp is still our offensive coordinator and he will continue to call plays. This incident is over and forgotten. I've seen so many rumbles in football and this is only a minor one. It as so minor we thought we'd be able to straighten it out without anybody finding out about it."

Flag Teams

The Hereford Amateur Athletic Association will hold a meeting Monday to form flag football teams.

The 7 p.m. meeting will be held at the Community Center. A spokesman for the group said the organizational meeting will attempt to form enough teams to commence play by Oct. 2.

"The pros don't want to be taught," he said. "They don't care about learning new things. They just want to continue the way they are. College boys have open minds and are more coachable."

Mos Seeking Okie Upset

An AP Sports Analysis
By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The No. 1 ranking in college football is like being top gun in one of those old wild west movies. There's always some young punk around eager to bump you off.

Missouri is more than a young punk. This is the team that took on national champion Notre Dame in the opening game and won. Then it tackled top-ranked Alabama and led into the third period. Then it beat a good Mississippi team.

Now it goes gunning for No. 1 again, this time Oklahoma, drunk from heady point-a-minute wine. Third time may be charm for the Big Mos.

The Southern Cal upset of Alabama featured last week's look into the crystal ball. Season's record 77-24, .762. Missouri 33, Oklahoma 25; The Tigers are unawed by the Sooners' TD machine, which has ground out 153 points in three games.

Arkansas 30, Tulsa 7; The Razorbacks, eyeing the No. 1 spot, won't need Ismael Ordonez' talented toe to win this one. Southern California 24, Michigan State 14 Friday; Charlie White's legs should be sore but he'll still soar.

Notre Dame 28, Purdue 20; A vital game for the Fighting Irish, who will be hanging on by their fingernails to escape utter disaster. Penn State 35, Texas Christian 13; The Nittany Lions uphold the pride of the effete East.

UCLA 20, Minnesota 14; Even should the Gophers plug up Rick Bashore's passing lanes, there's always Theotis Brown.

Pittsburgh 20, North Carolina 17; Pitt's Willie Marsh has three interceptions this year. Do the Tar Heels want to try for four?

Texas 27, Texas Tech 3; How do you score if you can't see the goal line? The Longhorns lead the country in defense.

Alabama 25, Vanderbilt 7; Jeff Rutledge and his teammates emerge from the USC nightmare — the season is still young.

Ohio State 24, Baylor 7; Ron Springs may do a little more springing but QB Art Schlichter remains Woody's ace in the hole.

Michigan 35, Duke 14; If Notre Dame's agile behemoths couldn't stop Rick Leach's heroics, how can the Blue Devils do it?

Kentucky 21, Maryland 14; A sputtering start for the Wildcats after a 10-1 season, but the cylinders should start clicking.

Washington State 21, Army 7; It's a long way to come for the Cougars, who want more than a look at the Hudson.

Louisiana State 27, Rice 10; Tailback Charles Alexander puts in some goodicks in his bid for the Heisman.

Tennessee 15, Auburn 9; The Volunteers have to apply the brakes to Auburn's James Brooks, averaging six yards a zap.

Nebraska 25, Indiana 20; The Hoosiers are the year's major surprise, but Nebraska has too many horses.

She will face unseeded Zenda Liess, who upset No. 7 Virginia Ruzici of Romania 6-4, 0-6, 7-6.

In other second-round matches, No. 5 seed Betty Stove of The Netherlands defeated Australia Lesley Hunt 6-3, 1-6, 6-0; fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia beat Lea Antonopoulis 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Julie Anthony ousted Liana Kloss 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 and Carrie Meyer defeated Dana Gilbert 6-7, 6-0, 6-0.

SAN FRANCISCO — Australian Allan Stone upset Brian Gottfried and Kim Warwick surprised Arthur Ashe in the first round of the $175,000 men's open tennis tournament at the Cow Palace.

Stone won 6-4, 6-7, 6-3, then his fellow Australian followed with a 6-7, 6-4, 7-5 triumph over ninth-seeded Ashe, winner Monday of the Los Angeles open tournament.

In other top matches, top seed Bjorn Borg crushed Andy Lucchesi 6-2, 6-0 and second-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis was hard-pressed by Peter Fleming, until the final set, winning 7-6, 6-7, 6-0.

In other matches, Sandy Mayer defeated Geoff Masters of Australia 7-6, 5-7, 7-6; Hank Pfister upset 11th-seeded Tim Gullickson, 7-5, 6-4; Brian Teacher eliminated 14th-seeded GOLDEN, Colo. — Heavyweight boxer Ron Lyle appeared in District Court and was formally advised that he has been charged with second-degree assault in connection with the alleged beating of his common-law wife.

BOXING

Lyle was allowed to remain free on the $1,500 bond he posted after his arrest Monday and was warned not to go to the hospital where Pattye Jean Lyle was recovering from surgery on a ruptured spleen.

Lyle's request for a restraining order requiring the woman not to approach his home was denied.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK — U.S. District Judge Constance Baker Motley has denied the New York Yankees and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who asked that she temporarily suspend her earlier order admitting women reporters to Yankee Stadium locker rooms.

Attorney Jesse Climenko said the appeal was lodged because Kuhn regarded the admitting female reporters to locker rooms where men are undressing as "inimicable, by his standards, to the welfare of organized baseball."

He also said Yankee players viewed the decision as a violation of their privacy, though some players said after Tuesday night's game against Toronto that they did not object to the new order.

"IT'S NICE TO FEEL SO GOOD ABOUT A MEAL."

In Raider-Longhorn Game... Frosh Quarterbacks Playing Saturday

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
Freshman quarterbacks could decide Saturday night's South-west Conference football clash between the sixth-ranked Texas Longhorns and the surprising Texas Tech Red Raiders. Tech Coach Rex Dockery said Ron Reeves, who engineered the Red Raiders' 42-26 come-from-behind victory over Arizona, will start against the rugged Texas defense which has eight starters back from last year. Texas Coach Fred Akers will likely start either Randy McEachern or Mark McBath but freshman quarterback Donnie

Little will be on call. "You'll start seeing more of him," said Akers after Texas struggled to a 17-3 victory over Wyoming last week.

Odds-makers rate Texas a 14-point favorite over the Red Raiders, who scared Southern California before falling 17-9 in their opener.

Texas will be missing All-SWC defensive end Tim Campbell who is out for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee.

"Texas has a great defense," said Dockery. "It will be a big test for our offense."

A sellout crowd of 50,000 plus was expected for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

In intersectional games involving SWC teams, Texas Christian was a three-touchdown underdog to unbeaten Penn State on the road; Baylor was a 14-point underdog at Ohio State; Houston was a six-point underdog at Florida State; Arkansas was a three-touchdown pick over Tulsa; and Louisiana State was a four-touchdown nod over Rice in Houston.

The SWC is 9-7 against outside competition. The league was 14-6 after three weeks last year when it went on to lead the nation in non-conference winning percentage.

There can be no more a frustrated team than the Baylor Bears who have lost by two points to Georgia and four points to Kentucky.

"I said before the season that we could be a good or great football team," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "Right now I'd say we are a good team. The difference between good and great is being able to do what it takes to win."

Penn State had to charge from a 21-12 deficit to beat Southern Methodist last week while TCU is on the upswing with a 14-10 victory over Oregon.

Houston outgained Utah 45-28 after losing its opener to Memphis State.

Arkansas has beaten Vanderbilt and Oklahoma State but has yet to flash all its firepower in one game.

After playing Iowa State tough in a losing cause, Rice was blasted 66-7 by Oklahoma last week.

FRED'S FOUR ACES
NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — The Golf Digest Hole-In-One Clearing House reports that actor Fred MacMurray has made the fourth ace of his career.

It happened at the Bel Air Country Club in Los Angeles. The 65-year-old MacMurray aced the 145-yard, 5th hole at Bel Air with a five-iron. It was the third time in nine years that the film star had made a hole-in-one on that hole.

Alcoholic Woman To Be Film Topic

"The Secret Love of Sharon Blain" might be a romantic story of a man and a woman, but it isn't. Sharon Blain's secret love is a bottle of booze.

The individual crisis of the female alcoholic will be underscored in a 23-minute film, "The Secret Love of Sharon Blain" to be shown here during Women's Emphasis Days on Wednesday, Oct. 11. The presentation is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division under the auspices of the public affairs committee.

The public is urged to see the film when it is shown here at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11 at the Community Center. There will be no admission charge.

After viewing the film, the audience will be addressed by Claudia Stuart, service coordinator of regional alcohol and drug abuse. Ms. Stuart will present statistics to explain the problem of alcoholism and the programs that are available to help solve the problem.

Of the Panhandle's 16,000 potential alcoholics, half of that number are women. Alcoholics in this area can receive treatment from Alcoholics Anonymous, Panhandle Alcoholics Recovery Center on the Haven, which is a halfway house for women in Amarillo.

A 24-hour hotline, sponsored by Alcoholics Anonymous is available for alcoholics and their families. The number is (806) 383-0069.

Palo Duro HD Club To Assist Library

Members of Palo Duro Home Demonstration Club agreed to pool their personal supplies of trading stamps and buy a gift for the library kitchen during a business meeting Monday night in the home of Cheryl Hill.

In other business, it was agreed that club members will have a booth of craft items and baked goods at the Country Christmas Bazaar Dec. 9-10 at the Community Center. The bazaar is being staged for the second time by Westway HD Club.

Mrs. Hill presented a program on meat alternates, discussing the foods needed to supply basic nutrients in a person's diet.

The club's next meeting is scheduled Oct. 9 in the home of Mary Fisher.

Attending the recent meeting were Mrs. Fisher, Gayle Carter, Michelle Brisendine, Cindy Norvell, Janet Coleman, Betty Thomas and Ann Lueb.

MRS. NANCY KERSCH

Let's Cook Home Life Comes First In Ron Kersch Family

By DENISE SMITH
Brand Staff Writer

"We're just very, very family oriented" states a newcomer to Hereford, Mrs. Nancy Kersch, who resides at 230 Juniper Street.

Mrs. Kersch, who is 27, and her husband, Ron, who is 29, were high school sweethearts. "There's never been anybody else for us," said Mrs. Kersch while looking back on the 5 years they dated. Mrs. Kersch and her husband were married in Plainview, December 28, 1971.

They have two daughters, Jennifer, 5; and Melony, 3. Jennifer attends kindergarten at West Central.

"Our children have been our main interest. We don't believe in leaving them with the babysitter while we go out and do something. We like outdoor things. Ron and I enjoy hunting and fishing, and though the children aren't old enough to hunt, they love to fish," she said.

"The kids have always been too small for me to get really involved in the kitchen," remarked the enthusiastic mother, who delights in cooking basic meals and desserts.

Mrs. Kersch sees a bright future ahead for her children. "I want them to be happy at home, do their own thing, and just be good people."

The Kersch family moved recently to Hereford from Wichita. "We have really enjoyed Hereford. We feel like we are back around people that talk like we talk," added the young homemaker.

Kersch was born and raised in Plainview. He attended Texas Tech. While a student there, he worked at the Texas Tech meat Laboratory. He received his bachelor of science degree and went on to graduate school where he was awarded his Masters. After completing his post-graduate work Kersch and his family were transferred to Wichita and later Friona where he is presently employed at Missouri Meat Packing.

Mrs. Kersch was born in Galveston and raised in Plainview. She attended Texas Tech where she received her bachelors degree in business and secondary education. Mrs. Kersch utilized her education by teaching at a business college for 4 years and later Texas Tech for a year.

"I love to teach, teaching is my first love," stated the ambitious young woman. Mrs. Kersch feels she would enjoy teaching junior high students. "Junior high kids need somebody who is understanding and willing to work with them. I think I could do that."

Along with her family duties, Mrs. Kersch is involved in crafts. She enjoys crocheting macrame, knitting and refinishing furniture.

Below are two of Mrs. Kersch's favorite recipes which she would like to share with the public:

CHOCOLATE POUND CAKE

2 sticks oleo
1/2 c. crisco
3 c. sugar
5 eggs
1 c. milk
3 c. flour
1/2 t. baking powder
1/4 t. salt
1/4 c. cocoa
1 t. vanilla

Cream oleo and Crisco. Add sugar slowly beating well. Add eggs one at a time and beat well after each. Add milk and beat again. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cocoa together. Add small amounts and beat until creamy after each addition. Add vanilla and bake 1 1/2 hours at 325 degrees in a lightly greased and floured tube pan.

STRAWBERRY PIE

1 baked 9" pie shell
1 qt. fresh strawberries, or less
1 c. sugar
2 T. cornstarch
1 c. water
3 T. strawberry jello

Mix sugar, cornstarch, and water and cool until thick and clear. Add the dry jello and mix well. Cool. Put strawberries into baked pie shell. Pour the cooled mixture over berries. Cover with whipped cream or cool whip. Keep in refrigerator.

Military Muster

Ens. Tom Koelzer, USN, visited home briefly last weekend in conjunction with making his first cross-country flight in his primary jet training.

Koelzer flew the Navy T2 Buckeye to Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M. on Friday and was met there by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Koelzer, 424 Avenue J. He was accompanied on the flight by his instructor, Lt. Chris Byerley of Perryton.

After spending the weekend with their families, the two Navy pilots returned Sunday to their home base at Kingsville where Koelzer is this week completing his gunnery training in the T2 before going on next month to advanced training in the Navy's A4 Hawkeye. Flying at 35,000 feet at about 400 mph, the two covered the distance to their south Texas base in about 1 1/2 hours.

Last week, Koelzer made his first carrier landings aboard the USS Lexington, anchored about 80 miles off the Corpus Christi shore. He related to his family how "scary" it was when he first looked down and saw that "little boat" on a vast amount of water. After the first landing and the first catapult off the ship, Koelzer says "that's what it's all about." He declares that to be the most exciting thing he's ever done.

Ens. Koelzer anticipates receiving his Navy wings in about six months at the completion of his advanced flight training. He was commissioned into the Navy on his graduation day in May 1977 at Texas A&M University.

Texans Visit Elk Hospital

Four Elks from this area traveled to the Elks Hospital for Handicapped Children at Luling this past weekend to attend the annual business meeting and observe homecoming festivities. Representing the Panhandle Elk Lodges were Merl Bridges of Hereford, J.C. Tipton of Borger, Doyle Pollard of Lubbock and Poda Powell of Amarillo.

Elks from throughout the state assembled at the children's hospital to hear progress reports concerning the Elk-supported hospital during the past year. A highlight of the meeting was the recognition of a retiring doctor who has been working at the hospital for 26 years.

Wa Can Ke Ya met Tuesday at 704 Plains St. to discuss their picnic trip to Palo Duro Canyon Saturday.

Mrs. Howard Birdwell and Mary Jo Hamman accompanied the group on the recent outing. Hot dogs were served and the girls took a nature hike and a ride on the Sad Monkey railroad before returning home.

In other business, Patty Perez and Stacy Kirkpatrick were honored in the Friendship Circle for perfect attendance for last year.

After adjournment, members worked on crafts. Shelly Edwards served refreshments to the following members: Debbie Avent, Stacy Kirkpatrick, Patty Perez, Joy Barker and Denise McEachern.

Hot Dogs Recommended For Fast, Healthy Meal

COLLEGE STATION - Hot dog lovers can say "hot dog!" with complete enthusiasm, according to a foods and nutrition specialist.

Hot dogs, wieners or franks, are a nutritious, economical and convenient food, says Marilyn Haggard.

Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Taste and variety are other factors in the hot dog's popularity--as proven by the 14 billion hot dogs that Americans eat every year, the specialist says.

Whether the franks are beef and pork, all beef or chicken, each one provides as much protein as an egg. Calorie-wise, one frank has 150.

And even more taste is available in the newest type--coarsely ground wieners, Miss Haggard adds.

Wieners are a good buy since there is little loss during cooking, she says.

To cook wieners, cover them with boiling water and let them stand just long enough to heat them thoroughly--or eat them right from the package since they are fully cooked by the manufacturer.

Of their content, Miss Haggard says wieners are about 85 percent meat, 5-10 percent added water and about 5 percent seasonings and cure.

Prenuptial Party
 Greeting shower guests in the Frank Ford home recently were Mrs. Bob R. Clark, Miss Celia Ricketts and Mrs. Forrest Ricketts of Lubbock. Miss Ricketts and Bob Ellis Clark intend to exchange wedding vows here October 7 in the Community Church.

Bride-Elect Feted In Frank Ford Home

Miss Celia Ann Ricketts, bride-elect of Bob Ellis Clark, was the guest of honor recently during a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Frank Ford, 405 Centre St.

Miss Ricketts and Clark plan to be married Oct. 7 in Hereford Community Church.

Receiving guests with the bride-elect were her mother, Mrs. Forrest Ricketts of Lubbock, and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Bob R. Clark of Hereford. Special guests were the honoree's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Guy Lawrence, and Clark's maternal grandmother, Ethel Riley.

A floral bouquet of autumn hued daisy chrysanthemums centered the serving table. Refreshments were offered to guests by Mrs. Chris Weick, Mrs. Greg Skypala and Miss Tonya Landers. Yellow corsages were presented to members of the receiving line.

Hostesses, in addition to Mrs. Ford, were Mmes. Beryl Fish, Martin Urbanczyk, Greg Skypala, Steve Louder, Joe James, Clyde Russell, Jerry Landers, Morris Means, John Hunter, Jerry Wilburn, Dorman Duggan, Mike Brumley, Joe Wilhelm, Dwayne Frye, Bruce Coleman, Donna Walling and Betty Mercer.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN: I have a pet gripe I would like to air in your column because I'm sure a lot of people are bugged by the same thing.

I had a roommate (notice I said HAD) who was a slob. She would always say, "Don't do the dishes, it's my turn. I'll get them in a little while." Two days would pass and the stack would only get higher. I became very angry when there wasn't a clean dish left in the place and I'd end up doing them myself. (It was the same story when it came to cleaning the bedroom or bathroom.)

Another example: I was married recently. Three friends I see regularly never fail to say, "I'm going to buy you a wedding present within the next few days." It's been five months and I still haven't received a gift from any of them.

Can you tell me why people make a point of saying they are going to do something when they know darned well they will never do it?—Promises, Promises.

DEAR PROMISES: Actually, these people MEAN to do the dishes, clean the bathroom and buy that wedding present, but they are disorganized, fragmented and short on self-discipline. In other words, they just can't get their act together.

The best way to deal with the "schleppers" is to ignore their promises, do it yourself, expect nothing and keep your blood pressure down.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here's a new one for you—and just when I'll bet you thought you had heard everything.

My husband's sister Nettie is a little nuts. She has a very sweet 13-year-old who my husband and I adore. Since we have no children of our own, Betsy is almost like a daughter.

This morning we received this note in the mail—although Nettie lives less than five blocks from us:

"Dear Ella and Marty: Please do not send Betsy a birthday gift next month. She has been very sassy all week and does not deserve anything. I hope you will respect my wishes. Thank you a lot. Love, Nettie."

How should we respond?—Dumbfoundled.

DEAR D.F.'D.: By mail, of course. Here's a rough draft:

"Dear Nettie: What goes on between you and Betsy is your business. Please don't ask us to punish her for you. Love, Ella and Marty."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Apparently Bob Bergland, the Secretary of Agriculture didn't accept your invitation to respond to the farmer's wife whose husband works 12 hours a day—every day—and makes less than the minimum wage. May I fill in for the good Secretary? (He is probably too busy responding to the blasts he's been getting from farmers.)

The woman who wrote said their farm is worth $200,000. They could sell it. The interest on $200,000 at about 7 1/2 or 8 percent runs upwards of $15,000 a year, and they'd still have their capital.

A year-round, 16-hour day at $2.50 an hour means $40 a day. If that poor guy is working 365 days a year, like his wife says, it comes to 14,600. He'd be much better off clipping coupons and fishing in Florida. — A Farmer Who Went Through High School

DEAR FARMER: Your solution makes sense to me. Thanks for writing.

Cook Endorses Brownies Gets Recipe for Tea Cakes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: Now that fall is here, I am going to be asked to contribute to bake sales to raise funds for various community projects. As my contributions for several years, I have been baking your Jon Vie Brownies, and they have always been welcome. But I think it is time I offered something different. Besides, I enjoy trying new recipes. Any suggestions? — RECIPE GATHERER.

DEAR RECIPE GATHERER: Some lovely Swedish Apple Tea Cakes, tried recently in my test kitchen with great success, might interest you. We baked the cakes in fluted paper cups — perfect for handling at a bake sale. Although making these takes a little doing, the method works perfectly and the cakes look so professional and taste so good, I feel pretty sure you will think they are worth the effort. — C.B.

SWEDISH APPLE TEA CAKES—Deliciously different to contribute to a bake sale or serve at home.

SWEDISH APPLE TEA CAKES
 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 1/4 teaspoon baker powder
 1-3rd cup unsalted butter
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 large egg
 1 1/2 cups applesauce (from a 20-ounce jar without sugar or preservatives)
 1-3rd cup finely cut candied ginger
 1/4 cup slivered blanched almonds

On wax paper stir together the flour and baking powder. In a medium bowl cream the butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in the egg. Add the flour mixture and stir with a fork until the dough holds together. With lightly floured hands, shape the dough into a ball in the bowl. Tightly cover the bowl with saran and refrigerate for 2 hours.

Stir together the applesauce and ginger and reserve. In a small skillet over low heat, stirring often, toast the almonds until very lightly browned and reserve.

Divide the chilled dough into 3 equal portions. Return 1 portion, covered, to the refrigerator. Divide each of the remaining portions of dough into 6 equal pieces. Put a paper baking cup into each of twelve 2 1/2-inch muffin-pan cups. Press a piece of dough into a baking cup, easing it across the bottom and up the sides with your flour-dipped thumb. (Don't worry if you disturb the flutes in the baking cups—this won't matter.) Add a heaping tablespoon of the reserved applesauce mixture to each cup.

Remove the remaining dough from the refrigerator and divide it into 12 equal pieces. Using the palms of your hands, roll each piece into a ball. Working with one ball at a time, place between 2 small squares of wax paper; flatten into a round wide enough to fit on top of the apple filling. Remove the top piece of wax paper; flip the round and the bottom paper over the apple filling; remove the paper. Sprinkle with the reserved almonds. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Remove paper cups to a wire rack to cool. Serve warm or cold the same day baked, so the bottom pastry won't get soggy.

 Makes 12.

Pests Main Plant Enemies

Controlling Pests
 The main enemies of any plants appear to be pests (especially insects) and diseases like fungi. Fortunately, most of them can be controlled.

Research workers are turning to biological methods of control, using natural parasites or predators to kill pests. For example, Japanese beetles can often be controlled with bacteria. Ladybird beetles are natural predators, sold in bulk to eat aphids and mites.

Most gardeners, however, consider the most sensible approach is to use approved chemical controls in appropriate situations.

One of the latest authorities on good gardening, the Reader's Digest Illustrated Guide to Gardening, an easy-to-read, profusely illustrated guide available at bookstores, suggests that you watch crops known to be susceptible, apply chemicals only when you actually see the pest or disease and confine treatment to the infested plant and its closest neighbors. Always be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Properly protecting your garden can help you be sure you're besting the pests.

Watching calories? Stuff a chicken, before roasting, with chopped onion, celery and green pepper plus grated carrots and a little melted butter or oil. Add salt, pepper and poultry seasoning.

If you stir milk while you are heating it, a scum won't form.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

My name is Murray Bombeck and I'm a guest columnist. I'm 3 1/4 month old Yorkshire Terrier. There are a lot of dogs who are wondering whether they want to own a person. They like people. They're fun to be around, but are they worth all the fuss and bother. I felt the same way when a few months ago I observed this couple. Their dog (another Yorkshire) had just been killed and frankly, they were a psychological mess. During the interview, they kept calling me "Harry" (the deceased dog's name) and the woman kept swooping me off the floor and crying into my fur. They would take a lot of training. First nights are generally a disaster. At 11 o'clock at night just-when things are beginning to cook, they turn off the lights and go to bed. (I had been warned by other person owners that this would happen.) I tried to keep them on their feet all night but things like this happen. Old habits are hard to break. Another thing you have to know about people is that you have to keep them busy or they drive you crazy. Every time I ate a houseplant, they were there. When I chewed on shoes, they were there. They were smothering me. Once when I went into the white living room to go to the bathroom, she came in, swooped me up, ran around hysterically finding a key to the back door, opened it up and heaved me out onto the grass. You cannot imagine what turned her on. When I "performed" she jumped up and down and clapped her hands while summoning three other people from the house to observe. I felt like a fool. The hardest part of training a person, however, is discipline. You have to be firm with people or they'll run all over you. When they want to play by grabbing your nose, at first you just walk off, but when they pursue it, you just sink your teeth into their hands. They may look shocked at first, but you'll eventually have a person you don't have to be ashamed to take places. And lastly, be careful the first time you take them out in public. They wander away from you. I don't recommend a leash, but leave them in the car a few times and they'll shape up. Everything you've heard about people is true. They're messy. They're temperamental and they're hard to train. But in the evening when you're tired and they scratch behind your ears...or when you're beat from the sun and they let you play in the garden house...or when you're sick, they put you on the sofa...they're worth it. People make great pets.

Resumes Important In Finding Jobs

COLLEGE STATION - Writing a resume can unfold hidden talents, especially for "off-to-work" mothers, says a home economist. As mothers and homemakers these women have acquired a number of valuable skills-often those that employers consider the most important, says Linda McCormack. They include responsibility, discipline, organization and planning skills and ingenuity, she adds. Mrs. McCormack is a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

TALENT OUTLINE
Before actually writing a resume, outline talents and experiences first. List special areas of expertise and special "likes."
Include such activities as money raising, extensive entertaining for husband's business interests, leadership of various groups, or organization of others.

TYPING A RESUME
Type a resume on standard 8 1/2 x 11-inch paper, usually white bondpaper-or a beige or gray with, perhaps, a slight texture if it really "adds something" and shows good taste. For most people, a resume should fit on one page.

Type name and address at the top of the page, centered, so a paper clip cannot hide it. Include age and marital status opposite the name and address.

if desired.
Next include four headings: experience, education (or education and training), interests and aptitudes, and references.

EXPERIENCE
Under this heading, describe activities that involve important skills. For example, list managing money, caring for children, decorating or fund raising. Also include previous employment. Then list special skills. For instance, include writing, photography, typing, shorthand, languages, music or graphic arts.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING
Include all formal schooling and training, degrees or certificates. List night school courses, scholastic honors, extra-curricular activities, correspondence courses and seminars attended.

INTERESTS AND APTITUDES
Describe talents and hobbies, including recreational interests, such as sports. Add a paragraph that describes the range of work that seems most suitable-and that would be most appealing.

REFERENCES
List all references, personal and professional, or note that they will be furnished on request.

KEEP RESUME UPDATED
Finally, remember to keep a resume up-to-date-including each activity that adds a new skill and increased experience-both of interest to prospective employers.

Several Items Cited As Good Buys

COLLEGE STATION - Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include fryer chickens, turkey parts, eggs, frozen orange juice, cooking greens and dry yellow onions, Gwendolynne Clyatt reports. Also, brown sugar and confectioner's sugar has sale prices-with an eye on upcoming holidays, she says. Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. This week's price-quality trends include the following:

POULTRY - Both whole fryer chickens and mixed parts are bargains, and turkey parts have low prices in some markets. Medium-size eggs usually are the best buy currently.

FRESH VEGETABLES - Dry yellow onions in heavy supply have attractive prices in many markets. Cooking greens-mustard, collards and turnips-and others from local truck farms have excellent quality at reasonable prices. Other economical items are cabbage, carrots, corn, bell peppers, squash and potatoes. Buy only small amounts of sweet potatoes, since current supplies are not cured. Late fall and winter supplies will be cured, and they will keep longer. More attractive prices appear on eggplant, broccoli and cauliflower.

FRESH FRUITS - Most economical items are bananas, plums, cantaloupe and honeydew melons. Some grape varieties have lower prices. Soft summer fruit supplies are dwindling. New-crop apples and pears have larger supplies, but prices are high.

DAIRY - Look for features on chocolate milk, sour cream, yogurt and cheeses.

BEEF - "Specials" are fewer. Most economical choices are chuck roasts and steaks, boneless roasts, round steaks, liver, ground beef-and ground beef with soy protein.

PORK - Supplies are larger, but prices remain on the high side. Check prices on Boston butt and fresh picnic roasts and quarter loin sliced.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Nonfat dry milk is unusually heavy supply.

Before storing a partly used can of paint, paint a thin line on the outside of the can at the level of the leftover paint, suggests Glenda Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Vienna Taking Streetcar Paint Orders

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — For 7,850 Schillings (about $520) you can have a Vienna streetcar painted according to your specifications.

Some 60 Vienna streetcars, or about 5 percent of the total number, have already been painted, mostly to advertise commercial products.

There is one condition, though: the city-owned Vienna Streetcar Company must first see the design, and approve it. So far, there have been no rejects. Streetcars glow with all the colors of the rainbow, and some look as if they had come out of fairy tales.

The painted vehicles reflect the city's fascination with its streetcars. Vienna is one of the few cities in the industrialized world still to rely heavily on streetcars for public transport.

The situation will not change much in the foreseeable future because only a few lines of a new subway system are in operation. Even after the lines' completion in years to come, the subway system will not be extensive enough to replace the streetcars.

Vienna mayor Leopold Gratz, an admitted streetcar fan, calls streetcars one of the means of transport friendliest to the environment. And they stop at every block, which no subway can do, he adds.

Vienna at one time after World War II used streetcars that had been discarded by New York. The streetcars were mostly used in low-income districts and newspapers friendly to the Vienna's Socialist city administration headlined: "Comfortable American streetcars for the Vienna workers."

Others said, however, that the huge New York streetcars were white elephants and their use required a lot of money to widen a number of turns built for the smaller local streetcars.

were discarded here as well, to be placed in a museum.

The Vienna streetcars have celebrated two anniversaries in a span of 10 years. In 1968, their "100th birthday" was the occasion for festivities, and on July 1, 1978, they celebrated their "75th anniversary."

Both anniversaries were declared to be correct: the first was for the establishment of the private "Vienna Tramway Society" in 1868, the second for the City of Vienna taking over operation of all streetcar companies on July 1, 1903.

OTTAWA (AP) — With the number of war veterans declining, the War Amps of Canada are finding new challenges helping children who have lost a limb, often at play. As part of the Child Amputee Program, the organization produced a film called "Play Safe," to try to steer children away from situations in which they might lose a limb.

Novelist Jogs To Get Book Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — Leonard Harris does some of his writing while running around a reservoir in New York City's Central Park.

As his legs move, his mind works, although the 48-year-old novelist admits with a grin that it usually starts out day-dreaming about such things as selling his books to the movies for a lot of money and then deciding what to spend that money on. Fantasies finished, Harris says, he moves on to more serious matters such as composing dialogue, deciding on the words needed to flesh out a character and solving problems that have arisen in plotting.

"It works," he says. It also helps to "get rid of a lot of hostility" that might have interfered with his writing when he sits down at the typewriter after a morning run to work on his third novel.

This one, the New York City writer says, is not going to be a thriller — "at least it doesn't look like it's going to be at this point" — like his first, "The Masada Plan," nor will it be like his latest, "Don't Be No Hero."

The first dealt with a surrounded and threatened Middle East nation threatening to use nuclear force to defend itself. The second concerns a man being suddenly and unexpectedly thrust into a violent situation and the way in which he reacts.

"There's a certain amount of suspense in each," Harris says, "but I, like other writers, like to think that there's a little more to my books than that. In 'The Masada Plan' my main concern was posing the ethical problem of what is a nation entitled to do to save its life or, conversely, what is a nation not entitled to do to save its life.

"In 'Don't Be No Hero,' I wanted to show a man facing his own bravery or lack of it. Most of us wonder at one time or another how we would hold up if we were suddenly thrust into a situation in which our bravery would be put to the test. It would have to be a situation of fear — it's not much of a test if there is no fear — one in which you were scared out of your mind."

Harris recalls undergoing a test of that sort — although on a lesser scale — when he acted in an off-Broadway show. "It was my first public performance," he recalls. "There had been no dress rehearsal, a lot of my friends were out in the audience on opening night, and I had to walk out on that stage.

"I was scared, but I did it. When I finished I said to myself, 'You may not have done well, but at least you didn't trip over the furniture.'"

Acting is one of a number of things Harris did before coming late to novel writing. He worked as a newspaper reporter and critic and then as a television and radio critic.

ACKLINGTON, England (AP) — It suddenly became clear why Keith Porritt took such interest in a scaffolding course while serving his time in prison. With the help of scaffolding poles, Porritt and a fellow prisoner escaped over a 16-foot wire fence. Freedom didn't last long. They were caught soon after breaking into two houses.

Public Calls for Federal Regulatory Reform

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- "Let's put some common sense back into the rules and regulations coming out of Washington."

This comment was typical of the sentiment voiced by thousands of individual citizens from all across the country participating in the Forum On Regulation (FOR) Telethon September 12-13-14. During the three-day session, 25 toll-free WATS lines were open to people anywhere in the continental U.S. to cite their personal experiences and ideas on the federal regulatory process.

Callers placed heavy emphasis on the issue of federal regulatory reform as a top national priority and its inflationary impact. Responding to a short questionnaire, some 89 percent of the callers rated the need for regulatory reform "important," compared to the 11 percent who said it was "unimportant" or who had no response. On another question, 79 percent of those surveyed felt the inflationary impact of federal regulation was "significant," compared to the 21 percent who said it was "insignificant" or who had no response.

The telethon is part of the comprehensive FOR program covering four phases over a two-year period—to assess and improve the federal regulatory process from the grassroots up. Developed and coordinated by the Agriculture Council of America, a private farmers communications organization based in Washington, the project is sponsored by a broad range of companies and organizations throughout the U.S. The FOR National Committee includes a bipartisan group of 157 Members of Congress.

Under the direction of a national chairman, the task force will begin work in mid-October to define a specific code of principles to improve the regulatory process.

Later phases of the FOR project will test these principles for improvement, and seek public support necessary to bring about needed changes.

Sample comments from the recent telethon included:

"While we need some regulations, many have gone too far and are too unreasonable," -- Patricia Griensaber, a secretary from herculaneum, Missouri.

"The federal government mandates things -- never stopping to consider: can we afford it?" -- David Ryan, a businessman from Columbus, Ohio.

"We need an economic impact requirement on all federal regulation," -- Gene Gochley, a power company manager from Allentown, Pennsylvania.

"People in Washington make regulations for people they know nothing about," -- Ruth Dummell, a retired person from Carlsbad, New Mexico.

"Regulations need to be simplified into layman's language so that people can understand them," -- Chris Ever, a farmer from Oakdale, Nebraska.

"Let's eliminate every regulate that can't show justification for its existence," -- E.A. Huebner, an engineer from Beaumont, Texas.

"The method of implementation is wrong--final decisions rest with too few people," --

William Jackson, a cotton broker from Augusta, Georgia.

"Agency objectives are good but often the costs of the regulations exceed their benefits," -- Dwayne O'Neill, a purchasing agent from Indianapolis, Indiana.

"We need more citizen input -- people are not aware of being regulated until it is too late," -- Mrs. Dana Warcaba, a housewife from Columbus, Ohio.

"Government should have more confidence in the people."

-- Lowell Loftis, a farmer from Tipton, California.

"Put control back into the hands of local government," -- John Martin, a utility supervisor from Fairfield, Texas.

Area Young Farmers Officers

President, Hereford. Not pictured is Speck Cox, Secretary, Abernathy. Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative was among area rural electric firms sponsoring the banquet, which was attended by approximately 300 Young Farmers and Young Homemakers.

National 4-H Week Set October 1-7

COLLEGE STATION -- Nearly 5.5 million young people across the nation--more than 100,000 of those in Texas--will observe National 4-H Week, Oct. 1-7. Activities will center on the theme, "4-H Freedom to Be."

President Jimmy Carter called the theme "most appropriate for a program which is reaching out to all young Americans--rural and urban--from every cultural, economic and social background.

"For many," he said, "4-H is opening doors to a lifetime of personal growth and fulfillment. In learning-by-doing, through educational projects and through community involvement efforts, 4-H is providing useful guidance and direction to young people and making them more responsible and sensitive adult citizens."

"National 4-H Week is set aside annually by the Cooperative Extension Service to focus attention on the values of 4-H as an informal educational program for boys and girls 9 to 19 years old," said Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The program's learning-by-doing philosophy encourages young people to acquire 'real life' skills and develop citizenship and leadership abilities," noted Pelham.

Most 4-H members are enrolled in locally organized clubs on a year-round basis. Others take part in 4-H through special interest groups, nutrition education programs, instructional television, international programs, short-term activities and camping.

Federal Officials Get Look At Pest Management

LUBBOCK — Top officials from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency took a first-hand look here recently at Texas' program of integrated pest management and the needs of farmers and ranchers to use some controversial chemicals regulated by the federal agencies. Dr. Rupert Cutler, assistant secretary of agriculture for conservation, research and education and Steven D. Jellinek, assistant administrator for toxic substances, EPA, spent two days in West Texas, talking with scientists, ranchers and farmers and touring rangeland and farms. Their visit, at the invitation of Dr. Perry L. Adkisson, vice president for agriculture and renewable resources at Texas

A&M University, focused on two chemical agents and their use in an integrated pest management program. The two agents are the herbicide 2,4,5-T, and sodium monofluoroacetate (Compound 1080) the herbicide is used as one tool in the control of mesquite and other brush in West Texas. Compound 1080 is used to curtail depredation by rodent domestic crops and rangeland forage and as a coyote predicator to curb depredations of livestock.

Pitchfork and 6666 ranches. By helicopter and land vehicle, they saw the conditions the producers face.

Summarizing the tour were Dr. O.D. Butler, associate vice president for agriculture and renewable resources, TAMU; John B. Armstrong, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Dr. Charles Scifres, professor or range science at TAMU; Dr. Pete Jacoby, rangeland brush control research project leader, TAES, Vernon; Dr. Clarke; Dr. Frank Dost and Dr. Sheldon Wagner, both Oregon State University; and Norman Rousset, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association.

In a news conference that evening in Lubbock, Cutler and Jellinek noted that their agencies' positions on the chemicals seek to both minimize the cost brush and predator control for the farmers and ranchers and also protect the health of the people.

Both said the visit was helpful. "We have to make decisions for the lives of people and the livelihood of farmers," Jellinek said. "It helps being able to see what they (farmers and ranchers) are doing and get their opinions."

He noted that the problem of

The following day the group traveled to Pecos Co. and toured the Econocot integrated pest management cotton production system.

Vegetable Association Meeting Scheduled

McALLEN — A wide range of topics important to the vegetable industry of Texas will be discussed at the upcoming Texas Vegetable Association annual meeting at the Hilton Inn here Oct. 19-20.

Theme for this year's conference will be "A Realistic Look at the Future." Registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m. the first day, points out Sam Otner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Highlighting the conference will be a presentation of an "Award of Merit" to an individual, group or company for outstanding contributions and leadership to the Texas vegetable industry.

U.S. Congressman E. "Kika" de la Garza from the Rio Grande Valley district will give the welcome for the conference.

First day topics include the labor situation, new techniques in transplanting onions, export potential for fresh Texas vegetables, vegetable operation financing, energy and its effect on vegetable production, future of agricultural chemicals, variety development, and the Texas water situation.

Featured speakers for the two-day meeting will include John Poerner, Texas Railroad commissioner; Scott Toothaker, Rio Grande Valley attorney; Dr. Dave Thompson, vice president of Ferry Morse Seed Co., California; Dr. Stan Fertig, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville, Md.; Dr. Barry Brummett, Pizza Hut Industries, Wichita, Kan.; and Larry Risse, Horticultural Research Lab, Orlando, Fla.

Vegetable producers, researchers with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service specialists will also address the meeting.

Formed two years ago, the Texas Vegetable Association is composed of growers, shippers, researchers and Extension and agribusness personnel involved with Texas vegetables. Its purpose is to develop a stronger and better informed vegetable industry, says Cotner.

Shortcourse Slated On Grain Elevator Blasts

COLLEGE STATION — The causes and prevention of grain elevator fires and explosions will be the topic of two shortcourses presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The courses are scheduled for Nov. 15-16 at the Rudder Center on the Texas A&M University campus, and Nov. 29-30 at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Amarillo.

"The purpose of this shortcourse is to illustrate and describe effective methods to control explosions in grain elevators," says Gary S. Nelson, shortcourse chairman and Extension safety engineer.

"We hope to bring attention to the most recent technology available to prevent grain dust fires and explosions," he adds.

Grain elevator fires and explosions rank first in number of occurrences, people injured and property damage in the history of industrial dust explosions in the U.S. Nelson says. There have been at least 43 grain elevator explosions in the U.S. since 1976, resulting in 85 fatalities and millions of dollars in losses.

First-day topics will focus on the primary causes of grain fires and explosions. These will include definition of basic ingredients and how each can be a factor of explosions. The second day's agenda will concentrate on prevention techniques, again focusing on the role of each of the basic ingredients of explosions—dust, air, ignition sources and a closed container. Discussions on dust control, ignition control, structural equipment designs, preventive maintenance, electronic monitoring systems, and the cost-effectiveness of prevention also will be featured.

Rumensin Approved For Range Cattle

COLLEGE STATION — Cattlemen now have available a product to help them to produce more beef per acre. Rumensin, an additive that improves feed efficiency 10 percent in feedlot cattle, has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in range cattle.

"This means that Rumensin can now be fed to stocker, feeder and slaughter cattle weighing more than 400 pounds," points out Dr. Larry L. Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

How does Rumensin work to improve weight gains in cattle? Monensin sodium, the active ingredient in Rumensin, shifts the ruminal fermentation patterns, explains Boleman. The propionic acid production is increased at the expense of acetic or butyric acid, and this alteration increases the efficiency of energy use for growth and fattening.

"Use of Rumensin could have a tremendous economic breakthrough in growing cattle on pasture, provided it can be used economically," contends Boleman. "The additive must be supplied in a low-cost carrier and must be consumed by the animal for its use to be effective and profitable." Producers should remember that although Rumensin is safe for cattle, it is quite toxic to horses, adds the specialist.

For further information or registration materials, contact Dr. Gary Nelson, 303 Agri. Engr. Bldg., Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843 (713/845-7451).

Cooperative Month Declared in Texas

AUSTIN — October is Cooperative Month in Texas and across the nation as proclaimed by most of the country's governors. Governor Dolph Briscoe, in his official proclamation, urged the people of Texas to "give special recognition to the constructive and responsible roles of agricultural cooperatives in the economic progress of our state."

"Texas has more than 400 cooperatives operating and serving over 130,000 members," according to Bruno Schroeder, Executive Vice President of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives. "These cooperatives are doing a business volume of almost 1.7 billion dollars annually," he said.

Cooperatives in Texas range from farmer-owned gins, elevators and compresses to marketing, supply and credit organizations. Health, housing, insurance, electric, telephone and other service cooperatives are becoming more and more important to all Texas citizens.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS
COUNTY OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY JUDGE COUNTY COURTHOUSE HEREFORD, TEXAS 79045 (806) 364-1451
 TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:
 On or about October 26, 1978, the above named County of Deaf Smith will request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project:
CONSTRUCTION OF A WATER SYSTEM FOR THE SAN JOSE COMMUNITY, DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS at a cost of $320,000.
 An environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named County of Deaf Smith which documents the environmental review of the project. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request.
 The County of Deaf Smith will undertake the project described above with Block Grant Funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The County of Deaf Smith is certifying to HUD that the County of Deaf Smith and Sam Morgan, in his official capacity as County Judge, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the County of Deaf Smith may use the Block Grant Funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer or other officer of the application approved by HUD; or (b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding, or step a olicable to the project in the Environmental Review Process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at 2001 Bryan Tower, Fourth Floor, Dallas, Texas 75201. Objections to release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after October 1978 will be considered by HUD.
