

Thanksgiving Is For giving Thanks

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Who cares if the First State Bank of Plymouth Rock, Mass., didn't close its doors on Thursday, Nov. 23, 1978?

And who cares if the pilgrims' original Thanksgiving wasn't even in November?

The point of Thanksgiving is giving thanks, pardon the play on the word, and Hereford--at least the biggest part of it--will do just that Thursday by closing up shop.

Banks, savings and loan companies, the credit union, Hereford Brand; post office, county courthouse, city hall and Hereford schools--to mention just a few--will be closed Thursday.

Schools actually will close at 2:30 p.m. today and won't reopen until Monday morning.

City employees, with the exception of policemen, also will have Friday off. It isn't in the pilgrims' spirit of up-at-dawn, labor-until-dark, but, again, who cares? City hall was open the day before Veteran's Day, while others closed, to allow employees a longer Thanksgiving.

The giving thanks begins tonight in Hereford, with a special community church service scheduled at 7:30 in First Christian Church.

The service, to which the public is invited, will be sponsored by the Hereford Ministerial Alliance and will feature the combined youth choirs of churches throughout the city. The Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor of the Nazarene Church will speak, and various ministers will read Scriptures.

Many folks will be giving thanks out of town--with relatives or distant friends--and the expected increase in highway activity will prompt a watchful eye from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Thanksgiving isn't considered a holiday weekend, but we'll still be watching the road," DSP Sergeant Bill Wells said.

Wells added that the department's annual Operation Holiday will begin Friday and continue through the New Year's Day week.

"During that period, our people will have a few more hours on the road," Wells said.

The Texas division of the American Automobile Association has bad news for Thanksgiving weekend motorists. A survey of 239 Texas gas stations showed that although there will be no gasoline supply problems due to station closings, prices will be well above Labor Day levels.

The survey indicated full service averages of 63.6 cents a gallon for regular grade, 66.8 cents for unleaded and 68.8 cents for premium. Self service averages were 57.7 cents for regular, 62.2 cents for unleaded and 64.2 cents for premium.

THANKSGIVING...a time to count our blessings and be grateful for the good things in life. That's the meaning of the annual observance, but how many of us really do it?

Hustlin' Hereford is a great community because there are a majority of positive thinkers. Too many times, folks take the negative point of view about their own situations and also about everyone else. We all know folks who never have anything good to say about anybody, and that's kind of sad because they are basically nice people. They just need gratitude.

Just remember when you're tired of doing whatever it is you're doing, and everything seems to be going wrong, there are plenty of folks around who would gladly trade places with you.

So, all you turkeys wipe that scowl off your faces and be thankful. Even if you were a real turkey, you could be thankful that Thanksgiving is observed only once a year.

AND, SPEAKING OF turkeys, don't blame the farmer who raises them if the price is too high. In an article in the recent issue of "The Texas Observer," it was pointed out that 60 cents of the total food dollar in the U.S. goes to the (See BULL, Page 2)

House Fire

Hereford volunteer firemen were called to 720 Ave. K where a fire started in a lower-story room Tuesday afternoon. Firemen had the blaze under control within 30 minutes, but the house, owned by Frank Wester, suffered extensive smoke damage. The room, which was being used as an office, was destroyed in the fire. No one was at home when the fire started.

Clements Suggests Further Cuts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -- Gov.-elect Bill Clements discussed state revenue estimates and school property tax reform Tuesday during meetings with high-ranking state officials.

The Republican suggested applying one cent of the four-cent state sales tax toward school property tax reduction in meetings with Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

"We discussed the desire the people for further tax reduction and we addressed means of addressing the problem," Clements said after seeing Clayton.

Comptroller Bob Bullock termed his 30-minute meeting with Clements "mainly a social visit" and a courtesy call.

"The only business we discussed, and I'm the one that brought it up, was revenue estimates and how it works," Bullock said. "If a recession is going to come it would affect our revenue estimates."

Owen Named President Of 1979 YMCA Board

Roger Owen was named president of the Hereford YMCA for 1979 during a regular monthly board of directors meeting Tuesday at the Hereford Country Club.

Owen, a current vice president, will succeed Tom Burdett when new officers are installed at the December board meeting. Owen, associated with Plains insurance, was also chairman of the "Y"

Partner of Youth campaign this year. Other officers elected Tuesday included Bud Eades and Paul Mason, vice presidents; Ed Coplen, secretary, and Dan Warrick, treasurer.

New directors for three-year terms are Danny Boyer, Bud Snyder, R.C. Hoelscher, Cal Jones, Susie McGee and James Witherspoon. Re-elected to the board were Marie Griffin, Tom Burdett, Dan Warrick, and Lois Kershner.

Wynelle Robinson was elected to fill a one-year unexpired term on the board, and Pauline Howard was named to fill a two-year unexpired term.

Committee reports and a review of the financial status were conducted during the board meeting. The nominating committee report was given by Mary Parker, while executive director Rick Wood reported on the program activities.

Wood also outlined goals which were discussed as a "Y" retreat held in September. He announced that directors were invited to attend a West Texas Cluster Meeting in Roswell on Dec. 1-2.

The board approved a holiday schedule, with the YMCA office being closed Nov. 23, Dec. 25-26, and Jan. 1-2.

Herring Assumes Duties Of Brand Sports Editor

"We are pleased to announce the addition of Herring to our staff," said

Nieman. "We believe his training and his knowledge of Hereford will make him a valuable asset, not only to this publication but to the community as well."

United Way Nets $121,000

Deaf Smith County United Way volunteers have collected $121,137.54, about 61 percent of their goal, and plan to finish this year's fund drive in early December, UW officials said at Tuesday's report meeting.

The final report meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday, Dec. 1, at the Community Center. A short wrap-up campaign will follow that meeting.

Volunteers and agencies are hoping to raise $199,815 by the drive's end. The figure is more than twice last year's goal because UW officials and participating agencies have agreed to eliminate outside fund-raising projects, prompting 100 percent funding through United Way for most of the 13 agencies.

Last year, $68,000 was raised during the United Way campaign. Volunteers have raised $53,000 more than last year's total for a 78 percent increase.

United Way secretary Gayle Cotten said Tuesday that approximately 375 businesses either have not been contacted on their cards are still unaccounted for.

This year's civic club total is the highest ever, with the Lions Club contributing $10,000, Rotary Club $3,800, Noon Kiwanians $1,000 and Kiwanis Breakfast Club $500 for $15,300.

In the women's club category, El-Liano Study Club donated $50.

All of employees, those at Armour Foods have led the way with $11,320.

Cultist Survivors Sought

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) -- American military forces were preparing the decaying bodies of the 405 Jonestown suicides today for transfer to the United States. The U.S. Air Force said the first plane loads should arrive in Delaware on Thanksgiving Day.

The search continued for hundreds of Americans believed to have fled from the mass suicide-by-poison which the Rev. Jim Jones of the Peoples Temple led Saturday at Jonestown, his cult's jungle settlement in northwest Guyana.

About 40 survivors were reported to have turned up. Because of uncertainty about the number in the settlement at the time, estimates of the missing ranged from 200 to 700.

Meanwhile, the FBI announced in Washington Tuesday night that it had opened an investigation of the slaying of Calif. Rep. Leo Ryan by the Peoples Temple cult at a Jonestown airstrip. The agency said it was doing so under the (See SUICIDES, Page 2)

Railroad Blasts Draw Local Units

Thirty-seven railroad cars, including four which contained liquefied petroleum, derailed on the west edge of Canyon today, forcing the evacuation of residents living within a 10-block radius.

According to reports from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, which was called to the scene to provide assistance, four explosions had occurred between 7 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. At least two of the petroleum cars caught fire after the derailment.

No reports of injuries had been received by presstime.

Junior high school students were forced to evacuate the area. The derailment occurred within the west city limits of Canyon.

Two units from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department were dispatched to Canyon with seven firemen. One of the units was on standby at the Canyon Fire Department in case of a fire not related to the derailment occurred in the city.

Thanksgiving Issue Delivered Today

Today's Hereford Brand is a combined Wednesday-Thursday edition in order that newspaper employees may enjoy Thanksgiving with their families. Advertising deadline for both display and classified ads in Friday's Brand is 4 p.m. today.

Tax Rebate Totals $20,000

Hereford has received a check in the amount of $20,726 as its November share of the local-option one percent sales tax. Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced.

Bullock said that Texas' cities have received $19.8 million as their share of the sales tax. Money that cities received this month totaled slightly less than last month's rebate, but the yearly total is about $42 million ahead of payments made over the same period last year.

The November checks raise the cities' total to $349.8 million.

The tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state tax and rebated monthly to cities in which it is collected.

Hereford received $20,164 in November last year. The city to date has received $323,698, as compared to $317,734 in 1977.

Other area cities' rebates include Amarillo $313,011, Borger $24,795, Canyon $8,536, Dimmitt $6,812, Dumas $16,217, Friona $4,362, Lubbock $386,751, Pampa $37,613 and Plainview $31,888.

Castro Pushes U.S. To Accept Exiles

HAYANA (AP) - Cuban President Fidel Castro, offering to release more than 3,000 political prisoners, said today the United States "cannot deny its obligation" to accept those who want to immigrate.

Castro, in announcing the planned releases, said he was also relaxing travel restrictions for Cubans wishing to go to the United States and for exiles around the world seeking to visit their homeland.

He said the travel restrictions would be eased on "a humanitarian basis" to reunite families, and that the visits could begin in January.

Castro said the 3,000 inmates constituted 80 percent of the political prisoners in Cuba, and would include the about 50 women held as political prisoners. The inmates who will not be freed committed serious crimes, generally of terrorist nature, he said.

Speaking at a press conference early today after two days of sessions with a delegation of 75 Cuban exiles from several nations, Castro criticized the United States.

The Carter administration "has to assume its obligation" to the prisoners, he said, because many were jailed for crimes related to what he said were CIA attempts to overthrow his government.

congressional assassinations law, which makes it a federal crime to kill a congressman, and said the investigation was being conducted in the United States and in Guyana. The Peoples Temple has its headquarters in San Francisco.

Defectors from the death-marred Peoples Temple claimed that hit squads are scattered around the United States hoping to murder those who broke away from the cult.

"I know there are 200 people that Jones set up to stay alive and to assassinate us," Wanda Johnson, a former believer in the Jones movement, said in Berkeley, Calif.

In addition to the hit squads, Mrs. Johnson said, Jones "set aside money, that if the assassination squads did not accomplish their mission, the Mafia was to be contacted and contracts were to be taken on our lives."

"I've got 20 babies due this month," said Rains, who could have received up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for the attempted murder of Bertha Brown, 77.

Instead, he was sentenced Tuesday to two years of probation, the minimum sentence under law. "I appreciate their leniency, but I disagree on their findings the conviction," Rains said.

Prosecutors said he tried to suffocate the woman July 29 by taping her mouth shut and blocking her nose with tissue. Nurses in the Johnson County Memorial Hospital entered the room and removed the "mask." The woman died of stomach cancer Oct. 23.

The "mercy killing" aspect was not brought up by either side during the trial. Rains insisted he was not trying to kill his mother but was using a glycerin-soaked tissue to ease her parched lips and used the tape to hold it in place.

Darvon Study Planned By Fed Government

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government promises a prompt and careful study of a petition to ban Darvon and other varieties of the widely used painkiller propoxyphene, which a Ralph Nader group calls "the deadliest prescription drug in the United States."

Darvon is Eli Lilly and Co.'s brand name for propoxyphene. An analyst for the National Institute on Drug Abuse said the drug may be implicated in more deaths than heroin.

On Tuesday, Dr. Sidney M. Wolfe, the outspoken director of Nader's Health Research Group, asked Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. to ban the drug's sale immediately as "an imminent hazard to the public health."

Califano has used that power only once, in banning phenformin, used by an estimated 250,000 diabetics, in July 1977. Ten weeks earlier, Wolfe had petitioned for the ban, saying it kills more people than it saves.

Wolfe called the sale of propoxyphene, the nation's most widely prescribed prescription painkiller, "tantamount to legalized dope."

McCroery Testimony Lauded by Prosecution

HOUSTON (AP) - Prosecutors say attorneys defending Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis on murder-for-hire charges failed miserably in their attempts to damage the testimony of key state witness David McCroery.

But defense lawyers, ending a fiery four-day cross-examination Tuesday night, said anyone would have to be crazy to believe McCroery, who previously testified that Davis paid him $25,000 to have a judge killed.

FBI agents say they broke up the plot before the alleged target, Joe Eidson, the judge in Davis' divorce case, was hurt.

Prosecutors said today's first witness would be Joe Gray of Dallas, the FBI agent who helped rig a van agents used to film and tape-record a meeting between McCroery and Davis last August. Gray testified previously, but the jury was absent.

The trial remained in session two hours later than the regular 5 p.m. quitting time Tuesday to allow the defense to wrap up its questioning of McCroery, 40, Davis' former employee and confidant.

"There ain't a sane person alive who would still believe David McCroery," defense attorney Phil Burleson said outside the courtroom.

In a Sunday report of a meeting of Hereford Elkettes, it was incorrectly stated that the mother of Dora Lee Howell was in improved condition following illness. Mrs. Howell's mother, Mrs. Jessie Francis Hood, died Nov. 11 in Westgate Nursing Home. The Brand regrets this mistake.

It was also incorrectly reported that the Elkettes will have a salad supper Monday. The dinner is in fact to be held Saturday.

Briscoe Might Delay Appointments

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Gov.-elect Bill Clements said Tuesday Gov. Dolph Briscoe might hold off on some state governmental appointments so Clements can make them.

Clements, the first Republican elected as governor of Texas in over 100 years, met for two hours with Briscoe on Monday and opened a fast-paced series of meetings Tuesday by talking with Speaker Bill Clayton.

He also scheduled sessions with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Comptroller Bob Bullock, Treasurer Warren Harding and Mark White, elected as attorney general in November.

All are Democrats.

His visit with Briscoe, Clements told reporters, "could not have been better."

Asked if Briscoe might permit Clements to make some appointments, rather than Briscoe making them before he leaves office in January, Clements replied, "He might." Clements said he had not chosen any key staff personnel but considered the appointment of a secretary of state and a budget director as most important.

Asked if he had considered

Jim Baker, defeated GOP attorney general candidate for secretary of state, Clements said Baker is a "good man" who "would be an asset to any administration." He said, however, there are others who are qualified.

Allergy Bugs Woman, Could Mean Death

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) - Sandy Duvall and husband Frank don't just hop into bed each night. They perform a little ritual first: shake out the bedclothes, keep the sheets and blankets off the floor, push the bed away from the wall.

It's a bothersome routine, but if neglected one night, it's possible Mrs. Duvall, 35, might never see the morning. As if in some recurring nightmare, Mrs. Duvall lives in terror in her own house.

Her enemy is a tiny insect with the harmless-sounding nickname, "kissing bug." She is so allergic to the bug's bite, which is harmless to most people, that a bite could prove fatal.

She fears her "days are numbered" because the major supplier of the antigen that combats the bug's poisons may soon quit manufacturing the substance.

Mrs. Duvall's life-and-death flight from the small, black blood-sucking "kissing bug," which has the scientific name Triatoma Protracta, began in 1971.

"I was in bed reading the Sunday paper when I felt something bite me on the thumb," she recalls. "By the time Frank had returned from the bathroom with the spray, I was itching all over - my ears, my mouth, even my insides."

"My face was splothing, my throat was swelling and I could hardly breathe. I was burning up. But I didn't associate any of this with the bite. I thought it was because of something I had eaten."

Duvall rushed his wife to a hospital, where a doctor, thinking Mrs. Duvall had been bitten by a spider, gave her an injection. The symptoms eased.

When the Duvalls returned home, they found the bug in the sheets and took it to an insect expert, who identified it as a kissing bug.

Since then, Mrs. Duvall has protected herself with monthly injections of an antigen made from the bugs themselves and supplied to her by Dr. Raymond Ryckmann of the microbiology department of Loma Linda University. The antigen builds up a resistance to the bites.

However, research money that enabled Ryckmann to collect the bugs, freeze them alive and produce the life-saving antigen, has run out.

"My supply will last only until next October," says Mrs. Duvall. "My doctor says often that, a sting could be fatal."

Their physician, Dr. Alan Greenfield, says the bug "is kind of endemic to the Antelope Valley and San Joaquin Valley (of California). It isn't generally found east of the Rockies."

Mrs. Duvall lives the life of a woman on the run. They can't move from California because Duvall is allergic to weather extremes.

Jake Diel

Jake Diel Dirt & Paving Inc. of Hereford is the low bidder for improvements on the Canyon Expressway between Western Street in Amarillo and the Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium underpass north of Canyon, it has been announced by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Diel's $1,120,255 figure was the lowest of three bids received by the highway department. Work is expected to begin in about two weeks and take eight months to complete.

The project calls for resurfacing the northbound lanes between the stadium and Bell Street in Amarillo, ramp modification and safety treatment of the expressway.

is that the United Way is attempting to do away with additional funding drives-to get them all in the one-gift United Way basket. There are probably enough prospect cards still floating around for us to reach the goal...if most of the community will participate!

A LOT OF FOLKS are looking for some benefits as the result of the election of a Republican governor. Since he was vaulted into office by combination of Republicans, Democrats and Independents, they're looking for Bill Clements to seek the quality of appointees rather than the party label when filling some important slots in state government.

Republicans over the state are also happy about some side benefits. For example, a Republican in the governor's chair means that in the next general election, the Republican lineup of candidates will be listed in the first column on the ballot. And, one of the fruits of victory at the local level is that election judges must be Republicans next time.

Another thought on the political scene: Texas lost 196 years of seniority and a lot of political punch in the House of Representatives in Washington as a result of the Nov. 7 balloting.

The Texas delegation had averaged 56.8 years of age with almost 16 years of experience until this election. But when the 96th Congress convenes in January, the average Texas-congressman will be 47 years old and have an average of eight years of experience. One of the big swings in age and seniority came from our 19th district when George Mahon retired and the 35-year-old Kent Hance won the seat.

that members of the Peoples Temple in California planned to kidnap or assassinate high-ranking U.S. officials and others to avenge Jones.

In New York a spokesman for Bantam Books Inc. said it would issue its 64th "instant" book the week of Dec. 3 entitled, "The Suicide Cult: The Untold Story of the Peoples Temple Sect and The Massacre in Guyana."

Police Commissioner Lloyd A. Barker said the teams searching for the fleeing cultists had gone to friendly Indian villages in the area, but there was no report from them yet. The Guyana government also asked the United States for helicopters with loudspeakers to fly over the jungle and broadcast that it was safe to come out.

Barker said about 40 surviving members of the colony had been found in the area, but the U.S. Embassy said it had been informed of only 14. Stephen Jones, the 19-year-old son of the leader of the cult, reported he and 44 others were in Georgetown and escaped the suicide.

Jones, a former San Francisco city official who led members of his cult to Guyana four years ago, ordered the mass suicide after a group of his followers killed Ryan and three U.S. newsmen with him on an investigation of charges that Jonestown settlers were abused and kept against their will. A woman attempting to flee the colony also was killed in the attack.

Guyana officials said they had arrested three prime suspects in the killing of Ryan and his companions. They were identified as Michael Prokes, 31, a former Stockton, Calif., television reporter; Tim Carter, 30, a former U.S. Marine from Garden City, Idaho, and Larry Layton, 32, whose hometown was not known.

Forty U.S. specialists were flown Tuesday to Jonestown to begin sealing the rotting remains of the suicides in bags for the trip back to the United Figures do lie. Statistics do not always mean what they say.

This is significant to you and me because much government policy is predicated on "the numbers."

For example, $17 billion in federal government money was allocated to communities last year based on their unemployment statistics.

For many communities, unemployment pay is a big income source; it would be understandable if some might try to keep the numbers high, to exaggerate the number of idle workers.

So the one unemployment statistic does not tell the whole truth and yet it is the only number our lawmakers have for determining taxation and spending policies.

I guess you heard a few weeks ago that a town in Indiana was advertising for workers. The mayor of Warsaw, Ind., population 10,000-said his town has more jobs than people to fill them.

The several solid, small industries in Warsaw need more workers than they can find in Warsaw so they are advertising elsewhere for help. But according to the Department of Labor's official statistics, there is 1.5 percent unemployment in Warsaw. That number is getting down, however, to what are generally construed to be "unemployable."

professional marijuana pusher may also be collecting unemployment pay while he is not in the least interested in accepting any kind of legitimate job.

Also, the government counts as unemployed those workers who by choice are working only part time.

Also, there is still so much "Horatio Algerism" alive in our nation that there are more Americans moonlighting holding down two jobs-than there are Americans with no job at all. One in 20 employed workers is also holding down a second job.

Yet these admittedly "unemployable" are also included in the master monthly unemployment statistic. And more significant than the unemployment as an indicator of our economic health is the number of Americans employed. That number, 95.2 million, is near the all-time record high.

The preoccupation of our federal and local politicians with unemployment has motivated them to hand out more money, contributing to worsening inflation, though it would appear that they have been lied to by the numbers.

Herd Stalled by Sandies, 45-33

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

The situation was ideal and the circumstances were as usual when the Whitefaces and Sandies met on the basketball court last night in Hereford's first home game. The situation was ideal because the Soph and JV teams had already won that evening and the crowd was ready for another.

The usual circumstances were that the players for the 'Faces were shorter by far than the Sandies, but as this is now a common experience the Herd was not daunted. Going into the game without starter Brent Allen the local team proved that you do not have to all be tall to play the tall man's game.

Using what height the team had in Darrell Polk at 6'3" the 'Faces got the tipoff and with a few passes Polk stated that he was a junior that was to be reckoned with, by hitting a shot underneath the basket and being fouled to complete the 'three point play. From this time on though the Sandies showed they were not going to roll over and play dead by coming right back with two quick buckets to pull ahead 4-3. The Herd took the lead for the last time when Jackie Mercer put one in at the five minute mark and after that the Sandies went ahead, and it was catchup ball the rest of the game for Coach Decker's roundballers.

Throughout the second quarter the Herd fell farther behind and at the point of being behind 21-11, the 'Faces started working with precision their fast break and pressure defense to pull within four by the end of the half at 23-19. With this being the tempo at half the fans took heart that the press and the fast break would once again be the Whitefaces' salvation, but the Amarillo team had other ideas. The third quarter was played even until the last minute and the Sandies put in one more bucket to end the quarter's scoring at 29-35.

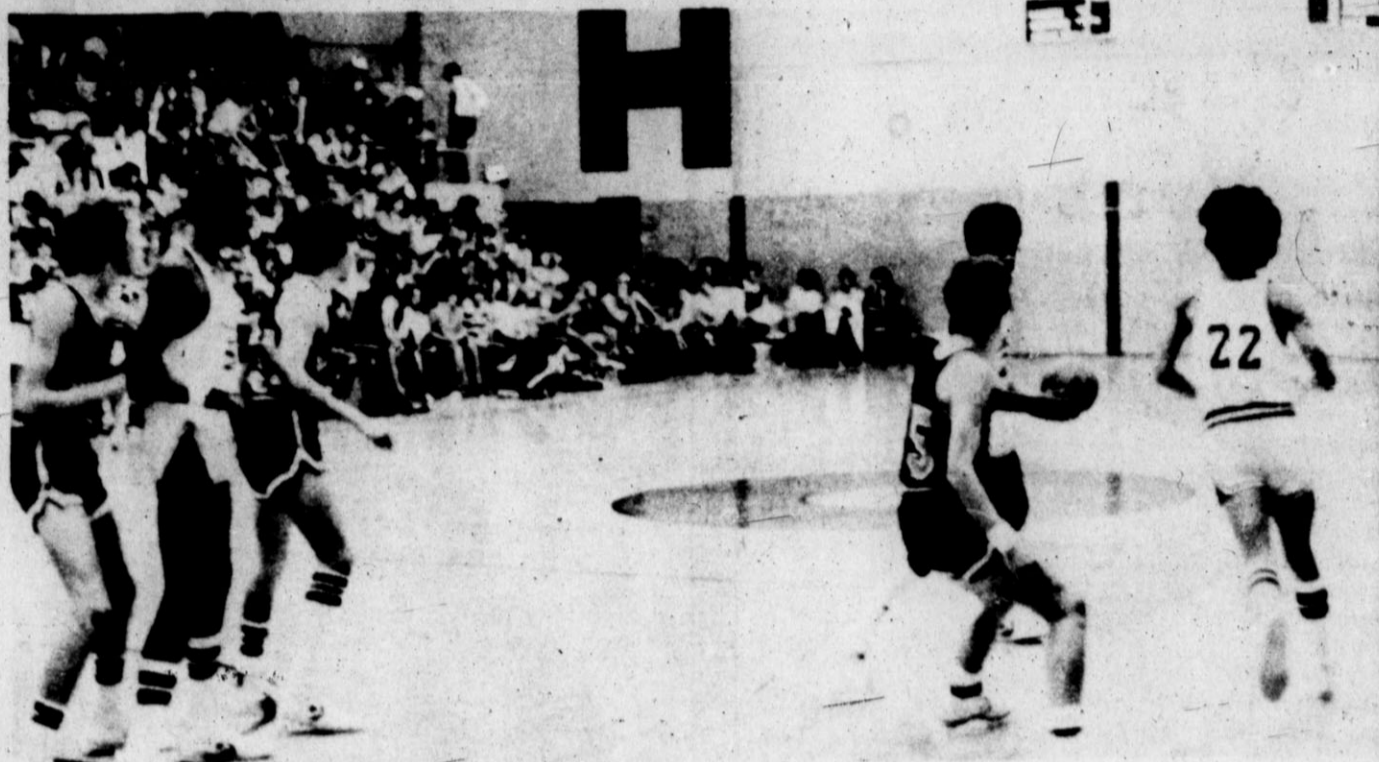

The final stanza was the time that the 'Faces were going to have to make their move and it appeared to be going just this way until the Sandies went into their 'four' offense, the stall. From this point on the Hereford team was unable to get the ball into their end of the court and the Sandies continued to run out the clock satisfied with their lead. Trying to break the stall the locals had to resort to fouling to get a chance at the ball and when they did, they failed to capitalize on the missed Sandies free-throws. Final score 45-33, with the Herd once again on the short end to make their record stand at 0-2.

There were some bright points through such as the play of Darrell Polk who had three blocked shots and 15 points and also the Hereford bench who filled admirably all night long when the starters were not in the game.

Indiana State Star Named for Honor
TULSA, Okla. (AP) - A year ago Don Jackson was selected for all-conference honors in the Missouri Valley Conference, but this year he has failed to live up to that potential. Until last Saturday, that is.
When Indiana State crushed Wichita State 42-18 last weekend, the junior from Chicago intercepted two passes, recovered one fumble and was in on 11 fackles, eight of which were unassisted.
For his effort, he was named Valley defensive player of the week Tuesday.
"Last Saturday our offense finally was able to complement the defense, and it gave the entire team a big boost," said Coach Dick Jamieson.
"That win, and our performance, was extremely important from several standpoints but most importantly it gives us a big boost heading into next season.
Indiana State finished the season with a 2-3 conference record and 3-8 overall.

Jazz Ends Skid

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
The book on Truck Robinson is that he's a great inside player, virtually unstoppable around the basket. Give the rugged New Orleans forward the outside shot, the book says, but don't let him work inside.

Well, it may be time to rewrite the book.
Robinson, shooting mostly from 15-18 feet, hit on 20 of 26 shots from the field - including 12 in a row starting in the second period, many of them bank shots - en route to a career-high 51 points as the New Orleans Jazz ended a five-game losing streak by beating the New Jersey Nets 140-118 Tuesday night.
Robinson's 51 points were the most by an NBA player this season, surpassing the 46 posted by San Antonio's George Gervin and New York's Spencer Haxwood earlier.
Elsewhere, the Golden State Warriors beat the Philadelphia 76ers 115-105, the New York Knicks defeated the Detroit Pistons 96-79, and Phoenix Suns edged the Cleveland Cavaliers 110-108, the Milwaukee Bucks blasted the Portland Trail Blazers 123-92, the Indiana Pacers trimmed the San Antonio Spurs 108-103 and the Atlanta Hawks beat the San Diego Clippers 113-107.

Jack Conrad Victor Cantu
Why does the water pump on some cars go almost the life of the car when others wear out quickly?
This is a question asked many mechanics every day. The seals in your water pump that protect the bearings are water proof but are not sludge-proof nor rust proof. If rust gets on these and the car sets awhile they will dry letting the seal be loosened and eaten up with rust and corrosion. This will get water to the bearings and in a very few miles the pump is shot. Keep the water in the radiator rust free and with coolant that is anti-corrosive. Change the antifreeze at least once each year, and it is a good idea now and then to add a little lubricant (many on the market) which is made to lubricate the pump seals.

Cowboy's Close Lockerroom

DALLAS (AP) - The defending World Champion Dallas Cowboys are closing their home dressing room to all reporters because of increasing demands that women reporters be given equal access. It's a permanent step that sets a precedent in the National Football League.

Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry, saying it had to be done, called it "an unfortunate situation."

Interviews with the Cowboy players will now be held in a room across from the Dallas dressing room - if the players want to show up.

When Dallas is on the road, the dressing rooms will be open because the Cowboys have no control over the situation. Visiting dressing rooms in Texas Stadium, home of the Cowboys, also will be open.

Some NFL teams have limited access to the press, but not on an organized basis like the Cowboys, who will institute the new policy at their showdown National Conference Eastern Division game with the Washington Redskins on Thanksgiving Day.

"I don't like it but something had to be done in my opinion," said Landry, who added: "This has nothing to do with women's rights. There are certain rights nobody has - I don't want to go into a women's locker room."

Two women sports writers cover the Cowboys - one from Corpus Christi and the other from San Antonio.

"We are not trying to limit access to the players," said Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys. "It wasn't brought about by any decision on our part. This was not done to inhibit the press.

"We have one of the most open teams to the media in the NFL and we will continue to cooperate."

Schramm said he could not personally "guarantee" that every player requested for an interview would show up.

Dry Gets Pact

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Coach F.A. Dry of Texas Christian has a new six-year contract for making "excellent progress" with TCU's staggering football program.

The Horned Frogs had a 2-9 record under Dry last year and have only won two games this season.

Rumors had flown in recent weeks that Dry might either become the offensive coordinator for the Houston Oilers in the National Football League or head coach at his alma mater, Oklahoma State.

But Athletic Director Frank Windeger said Tuesday, "F.A. stabilized the football program. We felt excellent progress has been made in our football program in 1977 and 1978. This progress is attributed to F.A.'s leadership and his ability to make the years ahead prosperous for TCU football."

Dry said "I'm pleased with the confidence the University has shown in me and my staff. We intend to repay that confidence in the near future with not only improvement of the football team but the improvement in the ability to win."

Dry recently gave the TCU Board of Governors a report on what was wrong with the TCU football program after Jim Shofner had resigned under fire.

Dry said the biggest weakness was that the school had recruited almost no football talent.

TCU has defeated Tulane and Oregon this year with a game remaining against the Texas Aggies.

Quick vs. Size: Vega vs. New Deal

The class A playoffs begin this week and Vega, the perennial representative of District 3A will be taking on the powerhouse New Deal Lions.

Saturday at Lowery Field in Lubbock. With a talented offense led by quarterback Randall Galbraith, the Longhorns will be looking for their ninth win of the season and a trip to the regional playoffs.

In the offensive picture for the Longhorns are the Rodriguez twins with Joe filling the fullback spot (830 yds. rushing) and Jesse standing in at the wide receiver spot with 15 receptions and 390 yards. Along with the twins will be junior Rob Groves at a halfback slot as well as Ricky Jones, a definite contender for Sophomore of the year honors with 600 yards rushing. The other wide receiver is Senior Les Newbill, who has 9 receptions for 320 yards. Although the "Horns front line is not the biggest, they are very quick and when you have the talent and quickness the importance of size diminishes rapidly.

The defensive side of the ball has Ronny Williams and Gary Cannon at the defensive end positions and Kyle Montgomery holding down one of the tackle spots. These, along with the rest of the line will have the responsibility of stopping the bruising attack of the New Deal rushing game, which uses the services of five backs to carry the ball.

Backing up the defensive line will be the secondary consisting of the Joe and Jesse Rodriguez.

Rob Groves and Les Newbill. Although the Lions do not throw much the secondary is going to have to be aware of the pass because it is a distinct possibility.

So, once again the Vega Longhorns are in the playoffs and to continue they will have to prove the question that quickness and talent can overcome the big and powerful New Deal Lions.

All of the Whiteface basketball teams were in action last night with the Amarillo Sandies playing host to the JV and Varsity girls' teams and the Soph girls were entertaining the Canyon girls.

Against the Sandies, the JV girls fell behind at halftime 10-8 and at the end it was Amarillo 28- Hereford 19. The high point scorer was Kerry Hacker for Hereford with 6 followed by Teresa Harkins with 4. This brings their record to 1-1 as they had defeated Tascosa last Saturday 39-38, with Harkins leading the way with 13 points.

Times Has Fem Scribe

NEW YORK (AP) - The new sports editor of the New York Times will be ready if the newspaper ever adopts foreign language editions. That's because Le Anne Schreiber is fluent in French, Italian and Latin, remnants of her doctoral studies at Harvard University.

That's right. Her. This sports editor is a woman and she's amazed at the attention her appointment last week has received.

"I was really surprised at all the excitement it created," she said. "When I got the job and told my friends, they greeted the news, well, not quite matter-of-factly, but certainly not as if it had historical significance. Then when the media blitz hit, they began calling to apologize for their reaction."

There are other women sports editors, of course, but not among the major metropolitan dailies. The evolution she talks about began in Chicago where Schreiber grew up, very much the tomboy.

The Varsity girls also lost to the Sandies, but not without a tremendous battle in the second half. The first half the Herd was behind 32-14, and at the end of the game the score was Amarillo 46- Hereford 31 with Marie Schilling leading the way with 11 points.

The Soph girls played host to the Canyon girls and played the rude host by defeating them 47-41, behind the scoring of Keile Robinson.

In the boy's side of the ledger the Sophs trounced the Canyon boy's by a score of 42-33 with Felix Soliz contributing 9 points and Eddie Chavarria offering 8 points. This makes the Soph team have a 1-0 ledger behind the coaching of Rodney Murphy.

The Junior Varsity also won last night in a matchup with Amarillo High and the game was tight all the way until towards the end the Herd cagers pulled away to win 54-45. At half the 'Faces were down 33-27 and with a strong surge in the second half they pulled out their first win. The team was led in scoring by Ernie Suarez with 18 and Mike Frazier adding 8.

'Pokes to Play' 'Skins'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Washington Redskins travel to Dallas on Thanksgiving Day with more at stake than an almost-clinch for a National Football League playoff berth.

Bobby Beathard, Redskins general manager, will be taking a close look at his team's performance against the Cowboys, who now share first place in the NFC East. Both teams have records of 8-4.

"There are too many guys on this team who don't give a damn, and those are the worst kind you can have," said Beathard, who is responsible for the hiring and firing of players.

"There is no question we are losing to teams that we should beat," he said. "If this is a true indication of the type of some of the players we have that they don't care about winning, then we have to get players in the future who want to win, that it means something to."

Beathard declined to point out individual players or name

"We've won this year and we've beaten some pretty good teams," he continued. "And that's proof that we can play well against anybody in the league. It's up to the guys to get back together and put the team as their top priority."

"Each person has to do everything possible to help the Redskins win. The players who don't want to do that may be better off in some other business. Too many don't give a damn whether we win or lose.

"We want 45 players who want to play football. At the end of the year, in analyzing the team, if we find out there aren't 45 players who want to play football, we'll go out and find players who want to play," said Beathard.

The Redskins won their first six games of the season, including a 9-5 victory over the Cowboys, but have dropped four of their last six. At one time, they held a two-game lead in the NFC East.

"We've had lots of help from all over to win our division this year, and we haven't taken advantage of it," said Beathard.

"Now our players have a chance to redeem themselves Thursday and to forge all the little differences among each other, or whatever the problems are, and play as a team for a change."

"Jack (Coach Jack Pardee) and the staff have been very patient. The coaches aren't going to eliminate the players. The players are going to eliminate themselves, unless they get off their tails and play football."

Beathard said he did not know of any internal problems.

"I can't think of any more reason to be motivated than we have," he said. "I personally feel they can come back and beat Dallas, but what this team has to do right now is think of Dallas and nothing else, and not sit around thinking of what our problems are. It's too late to think of what the ball problems we've got."

Olympic Gifts

As late as 1912, at Stockholm, Sweden, victors of the modern Olympic Games were crowned with wreaths fashioned from leaves in addition to receiving trophies and medallions. Olympic champions in Berlin, Germany in 1936 were awarded oak-tree saplings, suitably potted for replanting in the victor's homelands.

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kan. (AP) - The coaches of the major college football teams are overwhelmingly in favor of the new rule going into effect for the 1978 season which decrees that missed field goals are returned to the line of scrimmage.

Of the 139 Division I-A schools, 97 voted in favor of the changed rule. There were 31 opposed and 11 either were undecided or did not answer a questionnaire on the subject.

Duke Enters Season as No. 1 Team

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's time for Bill Foster to get serious.

Last year, his lightly-regarded Duke basketball team laughed all the way to the NCAA finals before suffering a sobering knockout punch by the Kentucky Wildcats.

The Blue Devils might not take things so lightly this season, now that they're starting out with the No. 1 ranking in the country.

Like Kentucky before them, the Blue Devils must live up to their top billing from the start. And like Kentucky, they may have the talent to do it.

The players who won applause for their blazing style and admiration for their light-hearted approach are all back - including the ubiquitous Gene Banks, who prophetically stated after last year's finals: "Well, at least we'll be No. 1 next year."

That, of course, will eventually depend on how Banks, Mike Gminski and Jim Spanarkel and Co. can handle the pressure in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference.

There, the Blue Devils must face competition in a league recognized as one of the toughest in the country. Virtually everyone in the ACC is stronger this year, with the possible exception of North Carolina, which lost the redoubtable Phil Ford.

Banks at forward and Gminski at center are two of the very best at their positions in what most certainly looks like the Year of the Sophomore in college basketball.

Another good one is Earvin "Magic" Johnson, the passing wizard who led Michigan State to the Big Ten championship last season. Johnson alone makes the Spartans a palpable threat on the national scene and the foremost team in a league that many consider as strong as any in the country this season.

There would seem to be almost as many contenders in the Big Ten as there are members. Along with Michigan State and its magical guard, the competitive teams there include arch-rival Michigan, Indiana, Ohio State and Illinois. Minnesota, with one of the best recruiting crops in the country, and Purdue - coached by incoming Lee Rose - also are worth watching.

Notre Dame features another of the nation's most celebrated sophomores - forward Kelly Tripucka. As a freshman, Tripucka was instrumental in leading the Irish into the Final Four last season. And Digger Phelps' team could be there again this year, with an outstanding collection of front-court players and plenty of depth.

In Darnell Valentine, the Kansas Jayhawks have another highly-prized sophomore, making Ted Owens' team the Big One in the Big Eight. The Jayhawks reportedly had the best recruiting year in the conference this season.

Meanwhile, Kentucky's fall from national power is inevitable with the loss of four of its top six players. Yet the Wildcats might have enough to hold their own in the weakened Southeastern Conference.

The SEC will be as balanced as it ever has been, with Mississippi State and big man Ricky Brown rated a good chance to supplant Kentucky as league champion. New coaches around this year in the SEC, with Mississippi State, Georgia, Tennessee and Auburn all presenting new faces.

The other members of last year's Final Four, Arkansas, is in a position similar to Kentucky's - suffering irreplaceable losses in Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph. The Razorbacks might have to take a back seat to Texas, the class of the Southwest Conference. Witty Abe Lemons' sharpshooters, led by Jim Krivacs, won the National Invitation Tournament last year.

In the Pacific-10 Conference, UCLA once again rates as the favorite - and not only because of its lustrous history. In David Greenwood, the Bruins have one of America's top forwards. The defending league champions will probably be pressed by cross-town rival Southern Cal, Washington State, Oregon State and newcomer Arizona.

Fullerton State, the Cinderella team in last year's NCAA playoffs, has four regulars back for the Pacific Coast Athletic Association race. Long Beach State and Fresno State are also among the powers of the league.

Ford Buys Astros

HOUSTON (AP) - A two-year partnership has ended, leaving Ford Motor Credit Corp. with full ownership of the National League Houston Astros baseball team.

Tuesday, ending a two-year partnership with General Electric Credit Corp.

The ownership had been shared with General Electric Credit Corp. since September 1976 after an agreement for the two corporations to purchase stock of Astrodome Corp. from the family of Roy Hofheinz. Astrodome Corp. operates the Astros baseball team.

Astrodome has sold the Astroworld amusement park to its present operator, Six Flags, Inc., according to an announcement made Tuesday by Warren A. Genec, Astrodome vice president for finance.

"The objective of our joint management during the past two years has been to make operations self-supporting," Genec said. "The steps that have been taken during the past two years have been sufficiently successful that we feel that one company will be able to complete the tasks yet to be accomplished."

Genec said that although the eventual plan is to sell the Astros to a single owner, there are no current prospects of a single owner.

"It is not the normal business of either company to operate a baseball team," Genec said. "But we do not feel pressure to go out and do something we don't think is in the best interests of the team."

Russians Top Hogs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Sergei Iovaisa scored on a layin with 48 seconds remaining in the second overtime Tuesday night to give the touring Russian Nationals a pulsating 81-79 exhibition game victory over Arkansas.

The Razorbacks had taken a 79-77 lead on Alan Zahn's 25-foot jumper with 2:14 remaining, but didn't score again.

Genec said that although the eventual plan is to sell the Astros to a single owner, there are no current prospects of a single owner.

Mishkin led all scorers with 26 points and also had 10 assists. He was 12 of 17 from the field to key a Russian attack that produced 53 percent field goal accuracy.

Magazine Says Economy Not All Dismal

NEW YORK (AP) - It isn't all bad. Blended faintly through the new consensus recipe, which calls for a weakening economy through the next few months, are a few sweeteners to keep the taste buds alive.

Whether they are simply the pleasant aftertaste of four years of economic expansion or, instead, ingredients that could indeed sweeten the economic pie, is debatable. But they cannot be ignored.

One survey of purchasing managers, the people who buy the commodities that are processed into products of greater value, leads to the conclusion the "economy looks like it's been pumping iron."

That is the opinion of Purchasing Magazine, reached after interviewing buyers. "It (the economy) is putting on more muscle without serious supply disruptions," it starts in the current issue.

Like so many surveys, however, this one was completed just prior to the combined anti-inflation, save-the-dollar program announced simultaneously by the White House and the Federal Reserve Board.

The program's effect, in the form of a new business psychology and higher interest rates, will not be determined for weeks. Even so, it is not likely to totally demolish the purchasing agents' confidence.

The magazine study is buttressed by one released Nov. 6 by the National Association of Purchasing Management. It found 43 percent of respondents expect fourth-quarter business to improve over the third.

The study does include evidence of a slowing of economic activity. Inventories are being tightened, for example. But the overall verdict of a strong economy was termed "unexpectedly good."

While declaring that business confidence has declined, Faculty Associates, a surveyor of small business, notes that 47 percent of respondents still expect sales increases in the fourth quarter.

Based on random sampling of the 500,000 members firms of the National Federation of Independent Business, based in San Mateo, Calif., Faculty Associates said only 24 percent expected sales declines.

What the studies indicate is that despite fears, business has been able to retain a degree of faith, and in some instances very strong faith, despite rising personal debt, interest rates and prices.

Nobody can say at this point whether the administration's commitment to fighting inflation, and the Fed's determination to risk recession in order to slow economic activity, has pleased that faith.

It seems to have done that to economists, who generally are raising the odds on a recession, although as usual they are hedging bets.

But business people are different. For one thing, they cannot so easily hedge, because they often deal in liquid goods and cash rather than opinions. Besides, by their nature they are risk-takers.

It is, in fact, this very tendency that might account for the persistence of the current expansion, now well into its fourth year.

Dumps Called Hazardous

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency on Tuesday identified 638 waste dumps across the nation that it said could pose potential human health threats because they contain significant amounts of hazardous, toxic or cancer-causing chemicals.

In addition, the agency said, its survey lists 103 other sites where sufficient information exists to document the potential danger.

"These are the ones on which we have the most information," said EPA Administrator Douglas Costle. "They are not necessarily the most dangerous sites."

And, he said, another 32,254 dump sites may contain hazardous wastes, but the degree of potential hazard cannot be determined because no information exists on the type or quantity of hazardous refuse the sites may contain.

Costle said in a statement that the dump sites pose "an extremely serious environmental problem."

Equipment Demonstrated

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson demonstrates some of the latest crime-fighting equipment to Hereford Rotarians during their noon meeting Tuesday at K-Bob's Steakhouse. McPherson talked about the utilization of hypnosis, handwriting analysis and polygraph in his department.

Ex-FBI Agent Says King Death Investigated Intensively

WASHINGTON (AP) - Denying the FBI botched the investigation of Martin Luther King's assassination, a former FBI agent in Memphis, Tenn., testified Tuesday he thought it was "one of the seven or eight most intensive investigations ever conducted" by the agency.

The witness, William Lawrence, acknowledged he was not in a position to judge the overall adequacy of the FBI's investigation, but said it was intensive and that he personally tracked down conspiracy leads that yielded nothing.

Another former agent, Arthur Murtaugh, testified last week the FBI botched the investigation of conspiracy as soon as James Earl Ray was identified as the prime suspect.

A former high-ranking FBI official, Charles D. Brennan, told the House assassinations committee that once Ray was identified, Brennan did not recall anyone in the top echelon of the agency suggesting the FBI also should investigate the possibility of conspirators.

But Lawrence testified Tuesday that he and two other agents in Memphis shortly after King was assassinated there April 4, 1968, developed the theory he had been killed by a foreign agent, possibly from a communist country, in a conspiracy.

"Of course, when Ray was identified as the assassin, that shot that down," Lawrence testified.

He said he investigated two or three leads regarding Ray's claim that he was innocent but was duped into what he regarded as a gun-running conspiracy conducted by a man he knew only as Raoul.

Lighter Side

Baubles, Bangles and Buffaloes PRATT, Kan. (AP) - Just in time for Christmas, the Kansas Fish and Game Commission is having a buffalo sale.

About 70 of the animals will be auctioned off Dec. 13 at the Maxwell Wildlife Refuge, north of Canton in McPherson County.

A commission spokesman said the animals are from exhibition herds at Maxwell and Garden City. Those more than 1 year old will be brucellosis-tested and their health certified prior to sale, the spokesman said.

Buffalo buyers will have to have cash or notarized authorization letters from their banks to accompany personal checks, and will have to take their buffaloes home with them unless they've made other arrangements with the refuge manager, the commission said.

An avocado will ripen faster if you wrap it in newspaper for a few days.

Good News for Hypertensive Folks

DALLAS (AP) - A powerful key for unlocking the mystery of high blood pressure and improving treatment for millions of Americans became available last week of the announcement of a significant achievement in medical research.

Two laboratories, working independently, said they have climaxed a decade of international effort by finally extracting from the human kidney a chemical that plays a key role in many cases of high blood pressure, also known as hypertension.

Described by the American Heart Association as "a leading cause of disease and death in this country," high blood pressure affects some 34 million Americans. It can result in stroke, heart failure, kidney failure and other major problems, yet its cause remains a mystery in 90 percent of the cases.

Now that the pure chemical - an enzyme called renin - can be studied directly, "we should be able to get a better handle on why some people become hypertensive and others don't" and how the condition begins and progresses, said Dr. Eve Elizabeth Slater of Massachusetts General Hospital.

"You've got to have the enzyme in order to understand it. If we can understand what the enzyme looks like and how it behaves, this hopefully will provide a prototype for a whole new classification of safer and more effective drugs" to combat hypertension.

She told reporters the chemical may ultimately lead to simple tests that identify potential victims in childhood so the disease can be prevented before it begins.

Ms. Slater and co-workers at the Boston hospital, along with a separate group led by Hideyoshi Yokosawa at Vanderbilt University, succeeded in purifying human renin by similar complex processes.

Both groups described their work at the heart association's annual scientific session here.

Renin is produced in minute quantities and is quickly converted through a series of biochemical steps in the blood into a new substance that constricts blood vessels and raises blood pressure.

The scarcity of the enzyme and its rapid change into other chemicals complicated efforts at laboratories around the world to purify renin out of the kidney's chemical mix.

"For years we would reach partial purification only to find that the enzyme would deteriorate right before our eyes," she said. "It was incredibly frustrating."

She said overproduction of renin is a proven cause of nearly 10 percent of hypertension cause and the question of how many others are renin-dependent is "fraught with controversy. No concrete correlation has ever been made" and estimates range from 15 to 70 percent.

Research with renin, especially when injected into laboratory animals, should resolve such questions and help explain how and why high blood pressure develops.

"I'm sure that hypertension will turn out to be a whole spectrum of diseases with a host of causes," Ms. Slater said.

She said the first practical benefit should appear within two years as a simple blood test capable of "a direct, inexpensive and much more accurate measurement" of human renin content than any now available.

Current tests measure renin indirectly by grading its effects.

With the blood test, she said, doctors will be better able to "determine proper therapy and to treat their hypertensive patients more effectively."

Existing hypertension drugs, she said, control renin's effects by attacking one of the secondary chemicals into which it is converted and "then you've got to deal with a whole lot of associated side effects. The best drugs that we have right now block not only renin but other things as well and that makes them potentially more dangerous."

Drugs derived from pure renin, however, should be so specific that they would affect only renin. "We're hoping that we can derive a specific inhibitor that will attack only the biochemical reaction we want to attack and leave everything else intact."

"The isolation is clearly the first step."

Utilities Hurt By Slowed Economy

NEW YORK (AP) - Because of economic conditions, inadequate earnings and environmental obstacles, the nation's electric utilities are having an increasingly difficult time financing their operations.

While not critical as yet, analysts of the utility industry say the situation is one that feeds on itself and could eventually result in a deterioration and perhaps even a curtailment of service.

At the moment, shares of most electric utility stocks are selling below book value, and as prices fall, margin account customers have been selling shares rather than put up additional cash. Carl Seligson, managing director, Merrill Lynch White Weld Capital Markets Group, explained how interest rate competition is forcing the utilities into a bind:

If market conditions force them to sell new shares at a yield of 10 percent or more almost inevitably those shares must be priced below book value, or in the company's total assets minus debts.

The average electric utility earns 12 percent or less on book value, and since it pays out dividends 70 percent of what it earns, the net payout to shareholders is about 8.4 percent. If, for example, a company has a book value of $20 a share and earns 12 percent it has earnings of $2.40, some 70 percent, or $1.68 of which, is returned to shareholders.

To pay the 10 percent the market requires, however, the utility cannot price new shares at $20 but must offer them instead for $16.75, or about 10 times the dividend. That is 16 percent below book value.

To sell new issues of stock at below book value dilutes the value of outstanding stock and weakens earning power per share, almost making it inevitable that future offerings also will be below book value. Some companies have postponed new stock issues and others are said to be contemplating doing so, but Seligson believes they have very little flexibility in the matter, no more than three months or so.

Psychologist Suspended

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - State officials have temporarily suspended a psychologist who admitted he had sex with one of his patients, saying he thought at the time he could keep his personal interest in the woman and his professional relationship with her separate.

The weekend decision by the Texas Board of Examiners of Psychologists mean that Dr. John Abell of Austin cannot practice psychology in Texas. The board will meet again Jan. 13 to make a final determination on the suspension.

The board acted on the complaint of Polly Durham, who said Abell had sex with her Nov. 17, 1977, on the floor of his office.

Ms. Durham, who now lives in Houston, and Carolyn Craig of Austin - both in their early 20s - have filed multi-million dollar damage suits against Abell, alleging that he had sex with them while they were patients. The suits are pending in state district court here.

Abell admitted having sex with Ms. Durham in his office but said it "never was part of her therapy. I felt there was a relationship other than professional developing between us. At the time I felt it was emotionally beneficial for both of us. But it turned out not being beneficial to anyone. I am sorry it happened. I wish it would have never happened."

Ms. Durham told the board she sought Abell's professional help because of her hostility and distrust of men.

On Nov. 17 last year, Ms. Durham said, "I was very up tight when I went to see him for a session that day. He said he was going to try something new and told me to lie on the floor. He began stroking my stomach."

"Did you protest his actions at any time?" asked Abell's lawyer, Joe Milner.

"I did not know what he was doing," she replied, sobbing. "He said I should relax, and I did not become aware of what was happening until it happened. I did not fight him, but afterward I felt very defeated and very hurt. I felt like I had nothing left to fight for. I felt very angry, and he said I needed to accept the notion of love and of returning affection, and he told me to think about what had just happened."

Abell said, "I attempted to compartmentalize our relationship on a professional and on a personal level. It seemed to me at the time that I could carry on both relationships. I did not feel then that I violated any ethical standards. That was extremely poor judgment on my part."

Drugs Boom In Washington

NEW YORK (AP) - "Fashionable" drugs have become standard fare at Washington parties whose guest lists, and partakers, include politicians and diplomats, according to Washington columnist Maxine Cheshire.

"Drugs, particularly the 'fashionable ones,' have become so acceptable in Washington that even some White House guest feel free to indulge in them on the premise," Miss Cheshire writes in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal.

At a White House jazz festival this summer, she says, "a haze of marijuana smoke hung heavy under the low bending branches of a magnolia tree when President Carter darted behind the bandstand to congratulate the musicians."

A White House press officer declined to comment without seeing the article.

Miss Cheshire also revealed that the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy was a morphine addict whose habit was financed by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics for national security reasons.

Agents who worked under Harry Anslinger, commissioner of the FBN for 30 years, said McCarthy "regularly obtained his narcotics through a druggist near the White House, authorized by Anslinger to fill the prescriptions," she wrote.

Worship Service Open To Community

A non-denominational Community Thanksgiving Service will be held this evening at First Christian Church by Hereford Ministerial Alliance. The public is encouraged to observe Thanksgiving by attending tonight's service, which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A number of the city's churches and missions will be represented by the youth choir and ministers performing the special service.

Mack McCarter, president of the Ministerial Alliance and pastor of First Christian Church, extends an invitation to all interested individuals to attend the Thanksgiving worship service.

XEA Entertains Castaway Couples

Members of Xi Epsilon Alpha sorority chapter were "shipwrecked" Saturday night during a castaway party in a rural barn west of the city. Husbands of the Beta Sigma Phi women were special guests.

Huge tropical island scenes, painted on the walls, formed a backdrop for the party, which was staged by Ilajeen Brinkman and her brother Pat Brinkman. Guests helped themselves to popcorn and potato chips from large seashells while candles flickered inside fake human skulls on the serving table. In addition to members' husbands, guests attending the party include John and Earline Schneider and Mary Anna and Chuck Laing.

Other couples present were Messrs. and Mmes. Gerald Sledge, Jerry Richburg, Floyd Neill, Chick Holbert, Ken Glenn, Jim Tucker, Ken Walser, Clyde Whitaker, Joel Williamson, Kirk Owsley, Sparky Stephens, Bobby Jones, Nelson Kendall and Tom Bullard.

Preparing Format

Members of Hereford Ministerial Alliance met yesterday to outline the program for this evening's community Thanksgiving service, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in First Christian Church. Shown from left are the Rev. Scott Andrews, associate pastor at First United Methodist Church;

At this year's turkey prices, about all we can afford are last year's bones — if they're still in the freezer.

Anyone who thinks the subject of inflation is academic isn't working for teachers' wages.

A letter is coming, it's believed, if your nose itches.

the Rev. Emilio Montemayor, pastor of San Pablo United Methodist Church; the Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene; and the Rev. Ray Owens, associate pastor at First Christian Church. The public is encouraged to attend tonight's non-denominational worship service. (Brand photo by Denise Smith)

People misty-eyed over the good, old days forget what it was like to have to turn on the water heater to take a bath — and then fall downstairs to shut it off before the thing blew up.

The time to cease observing birthdays is when they become milestones rather than celebrations.

Lack is a lady, and you're the one who has to pick up her check.

La Plata Couples Meet for Dinner

La Plata Study Club members met Tuesday night in Hereford State Bank Community Room for a Thanksgiving dinner honoring their husbands.

In charge of the program were Lavon Nieman and Kay Cotten. Members participated in playing the "Mating Game."

A menu of smoked ham, yams, beets, Waldorf salad, broccoli, hot rolls and pies were served.

The tables were decorated with Thanksgiving motifs on white cloth.

La Plata Study Club will meet on Dec. 5 in the home of Mrs. Ansel McDowell. Secret pals will be revealed at that time.

Couples present were Messrs. and Mmes. W.D. Askew, Joy Boston, Jack Brown, Emil Dettman, Nicks Fariss, Roland Hairgrove, Melvin Hoover, Charles Kelley, Karl Manschreck, Lewis McCuistian, Ansel McDowell, O.G. Nieman, Frank Prowell, Ken Rogers,

A.J. Schroeter, Philip Shook, Bob Sims, Don Taylor, Harlan VanderZee, Raymond White, Louis Woodford.

Others present were Mmes. Gayle Cotten and J.D. Neill.

Thanksgiving Mass To Be Celebrated

A concelebrated Mass of Thanksgiving will be offered Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Anthony's Catholic Church by the Rev. Bernard McGorry, pastor. Assisting him will be the Rev. Michael Graham from Norman, Okla., who was an associate pastor of St. Anthony's from 1969-1971, and Deacon Kenneth Artho.

Ralph Detten will lead the congregation in singing traditional Thanksgiving hymns with Mrs. Ernest Flood Jr. directing the church choir's special music.

The Thomas Albracht family will bring gifts to the altar while other members of the parish present petitions, to which the congregation will respond.

All interested persons are welcome to attend this Thanksgiving service.

Ann Landers Where Do Duties End?

DEAR ANN: I went to work as a waitress in a small restaurant about three weeks ago. At first I really liked the job, but after ten days I was told to go outside and pick up the trash in the parking lot, get the hose and water the trees, grass and shrubs, and clean the restrooms — not just the sinks, but the toilets and floors. Of course, if customers come while we are doing these extra chores, we are expected to stop and take care of them.

The ad I answered was for a waitress. Exactly what should my duties be? Yesterday I was told to stand on a ladder and clean fixtures. They were so filthy I couldn't believe it.

I want to quit. My parents think I should keep my complaints to myself and be glad I have a job. Do all waitresses have to do these extra things? Please, educate me. I'm in New York.

DEAR NEW: The city health inspector might take a dim view of waitresses handling food when they are in the middle of cleaning the toilets. Suggest this to your employer, please. (P.S. If the restaurant is in Chicago, I'd appreciate it if you'd tip me off. I wouldn't go near the place!)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Every now and then someone complains about a recipe given to her by a friend. For some mysterious reason, she says the results were a flop. The woman invariably drops the hint that the "friend" left something out on purpose.

If a person doesn't wish to share a recipe why doesn't she come right out and say? What's the big deal? I have a few recipes I refuse to share with anyone and no one has ever gotten mad. I simply say, "Sorry, it's my speciality and I don't give it out."

Here's a poem that may explain why some recipes produce failure. I hope you'll print it because there's a lot of truth in these lines.

She didn't have potatoes
So she used a cup of rice.
She couldn't find paprika
So she used some other spice.
Tomatoes weren't in season
So she used tomato paste.
The 'WHOLE can -- not a cup.

dear --
She couldn't bear to waste.
And now she isn't speaking;
She convinced I pulled a fast one.
So don't ask me for a recipe --
That one was my last one.
--Ella From Iron Mountain, Mich.

DEAR ELLA: Thanks for sharing the poem. It's better than some recipes.

P.S.: Women who do give out recipes might be well advised to include this note: "No substitutes. It could be injurious to our friendship."

Stanton Dogie Roundup

Stanton's Freshman basketball team attended a basketball clinic at Wayland Baptist College Saturday. Lori Albracht scored the free-throw contest and had a 6 of 10 record.

The Red Cross Club sponsored a Talent Show Tuesday. There were 15 entries in the contest. Names of winners will be included in next week's column. The best song, best dance and best variety act were judged.

If any student receives 100 percent on five different reading activities during any week in Mary Jo Hamman's reading classes, the student's name appears in the "Superstar Box" and that student gets to pick a poster or other prize from "the grab box." On Nov. 15, Charlie Torres achieved this. He was the first student to receive 100 percent on his cycle work and the first to have his name in the "Superstar Box."

Yearbook sales are going well. Students who have not reserved one are taking the chance of not receiving a yearbook, as the staff hopes to have all reservations in by December 1, if not before then.

Newspaper sales have been delayed until next week. The staff plans to sell them on Tuesday, November 28. The Stanton basketball schedule will be included in the newspaper.

Brenda Duckworth has joined the Dogie Staff this trimester. Staff members for all three trimesters are helping with the yearbook and newspaper sales.

Stanton is having a contest on yearbook sales. One staffer has already sold more than 60 yearbooks.

Girls' basketball are having arm-wrestling competition. Boys' intramurals are just getting organized.

The Stanton Dogie Staffers wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving, and want to share these thoughts with you: WE GIVE THEE THANKS FOR:

T--turkeys, tigers, tears, teams, telephones;
H--happiness, ham, heaven, hope, home;

A--animals, activities, apples, autumn;

N--neighbors, nighttime, newspapers;

K--kindness, keepsakes, kisses, kangaroos, kazoo's;

S--summer, spring, snow, sun, salads;

G--God, goodness, gentleness, gems, girls, guys;

I--ice cream, independence, instruments;

V--vacation, valentines, velvet, voices, vitamins;

I--instructors, illustrations, infants, icing;

N--New Year's, nickles, noses, notes;

G--gobblers, grace, gifts, giggles, games, and geese.

Our hope is that everyone will take time during this Thanksgiving Season to stop and think about the many blessings for which they are thankful. Happy Holidays!

Women Killed as Result of 'Joke' Collision With Husbands

KIRBYVILLE, Texas (AP) - of this Southeast Texas town on State police say a traffic accident in which two women were killed when their car collided headon with a vehicle carrying their husbands may have been the result of a playful "joke" that backfired. The accident occurred Saturday afternoon three miles east work in a compact car being driven by Mrs. Balew. Their husbands, Michael Balew and Timothy Pearce, were coming from the opposite direction on the same road in a pickup driven by Balew. Lane said the two men had planned to meet their wives on the road and tell them they were going hunting. But when the drivers came in view of each other on the rural road, Lane said, the recognized each other and both swerved into the opposite lane apparently in a playful attempt to scare the other. Both drivers then swerved back to the appropriate side of the road, but Lane said Mrs. Balew apparently swung her car too far to the right, and in compensating for the error, lost control of the car, which lurched into the path of the pickup truck being driven by her husband. "It started out playful like a joke, but nobody laughed," Lane said.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Thanksgiving is one of the two major holidays that are too sentimental to be delegated to a Monday.

That's why we observe it the fourth Thursday of every November during a beef commercial of the Dallas-Washington football game.

Frankly, I wouldn't feel like it was Thanksgiving if I didn't set a place for Roger Staubach.

Between Thanksgiving and next Monday evening, my husband will have watched nine pro and college games which amount to 24 consecutive hours of football.

It doesn't bother me that I get up at 4 a.m. and stuff the turkey in the kitchen instead of the one sleeping next to me.

It doesn't bother me that we have a houseful of people who try to communicate with a man who has no pulse.

It doesn't bother me that he doesn't lift a finger to move a chair, put a leaf in the table, a log on the fire, or mix a drink.

What really bothers me is how I must have split-second timing in bringing the dinner to completion and getting it to the table during a commercial or a time out, or I have to bench the meal until halftime.

Last year, I initiated my Five Days of Football meals which I urge you to clip and save.

THANKSGIVING THURSDAY: "Action Turkey." The turkey is tossed directly from the oven to the table, steaming and dribbling dressing, where it is eaten in mid-air by the sports enthusiast who, between bites, mumbles something about Joe Theisman being rushed.

THANKSGIVING FRIDAY: "Instant Replay Turkey." The turkey is a repeat of Action Turkey, only this time the turkey is void of white meat and is dried out because someone poked a hole in the foil while it was refrigerated.

THANKSGIVING SATURDAY: "Slow-Motion Turkey." Due to three games back-to-back, the action from the kitchen to the sports enthusiast is slowed down considerably. This time, the turkey is chopped up and disguised with celery and mayonnaise in an effort to fake a handoff.

THANKSGIVING SUNDAY: "Stop Action Turkey." There is nothing more dramatic than a man with a fork loaded with leftover turkey, noodles, and cream of mushroom soup stopped in mid-air who is unable to complete the distance to his mouth.

THANKSGIVING MONDAY: "Turkey Roundup." Turkey soup and turkey croquettes round out the Turkey Festival, proving once again that football and history aren't the only things that can repeat themselves.

Woman Of Many Interests Has Broadening Horizons

By DENISE SMITH
Brand Staff Writer

"I've had a very glamorous career. Glamorous in that it's been so much fun and I've enjoyed every minute of it," states one of the World Who's Who Of Women, Argen Draper. Mrs. Draper has worked as a rural school teacher, Home Management Supervisor for Farmers Home Administration, and with the Texas Extension Service for 31-plus years. "But every year has been exciting and thrilling," remarked Mrs. Draper, who was Deaf Smith County Extension Agent for 28 years, retiring in 1974.

Mrs. Draper had worked in women's clubs and 4-H clubs. She has received numerous awards including Lion's Club "Citizen of the Year" in 1957, Superior Service Award with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Outstanding Citizen Award with Texas Young Homemakers, and Kiwanis Citizen of Month.

"One of the thrills of my work is that I had a 4-H club named for me, the Argen Draper 4-H Club, and I'm embarrassed about how many honors I have received. I feel like other people have done the work and I got the honors," commented the past president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Draper's incentive for community work is "her love for people of all ages." As a child she would go into town and visit the elderly and shut-ins. In her life of helping others, Mrs. Draper has been professionally affiliated with many Home Economics Associations and sororities.

In addition to her civic activities, Mrs. Draper has dabbled in writing. She has had articles printed in The Hereford Brand, Amarillo Daily News and the Extension Service Review. Among the articles she has had published are Adult Education in Family Business Practices, Determining Needs to Fit the Family Income, Securing and Using Credit for Family Living, and Money Management.

Mrs. Draper was chosen as one of the Outstanding Personalities of the South, and recognized by West Texas State University as one of the ten outstanding Women of the Panhandle in 1976.

Born in Wellington in 1914, Mrs. Draper attended and finished high school in Wellington. From there she attended Texas Tech University where she was the student assistant in the clothing department. Graduating in 1940 with her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics education, Mrs. Draper furthered her education at Texas Women's University. From there she received her Master of Science degree in home economics education in 1964.

"It was hard going to school 400 miles away from home, but the club women, the commissioners court and my husband were willing for me to do it. My husband refers to my going to Texas Women's University as when we got 'our degree.'" He was so happy when I finished that he invited a whole lot of people from Hereford, Tahoka, and even an aunt and uncle from Georgia to come to my graduation. Tom gave a big party at one of the Motel restaurants and he was certainly glad when I got home. I was too."

In 1946, Argen Hix and Tom Draper married in Wellington. "That sounds like the dark ages. That was the year after World War II, and more couples married in 1946 than in any year in the history of the United States. The boys were off winning the war and we couldn't marry till the war was won."

"At that time, people of my age didn't marry as young as they do now. Our parents raised us to the fact that we should go to college and learn to do some things. The popular thing in my age was teaching. People wanted their children to teach school or teach music," recalled the woman who has adopted the motto 'do it now.'

"Oh, we had a big wedding. I've worked in several counties, I've been a lot of miles but not in any very big area. I knew a lot of people. I came from a large family of cousins and relatives, and Tom comes from a family of nine children. I worked in Hemphill County, Collingsworth County, Lamb County, and Hoppe County, so you can see I knew a lot of people. We had to have a big church wedding to get all our friends there."

Mrs. Draper's interest in 4-H could be attributed to own lively childhood.

"The entertainment we had when I was growing up was nice. Our entertainment was family entertainment. My folks lived on a farm and we had a big barn with a loft and some of our entertainment was getting up on the sheds and giving programs. And when we had cousins come over we'd give programs all the time. We'd sing, dance, tell stories and jokes. We lived on a county road and I can still see some of the people passing by and looking out there at us giving a program. So I imagine they thought 'why those Hix kids have flipped'."

Mr. and Mrs. Draper are both retired. "We are retired and enjoying life to the fullest." Since their retirement, Mrs. Draper continues her community work. She is presently involved in Order of the Eastern Star, the American Auxiliary, and the DAR. Though her service to the community occupies most of her time, Mrs. Draper enjoys cooking and sewing. She attends Central Church of Christ.

If Mrs. Draper could live her life differently she would be even more involved in community work. Her advice to Deaf Smith women is "for them to keep learning about their community, and to become more interested not only their own small surroundings but things that influence the state and nation. To study more, read more and vote."

"I have very strong convictions about politics. I do my best to vote for the most qualified person, then I try to leave them alone. I've often said we had more politics formals when I was a child than we had food," she said.

As a thanksgiving special Mrs. Draper had shared with The Brand a special vegetable salad with poppy seed dressing, and a "quick & easy" cake.

Children Donate To Needy

Students at St. Anthony's Parochial School donated food items for several needy families in Hereford Tuesday morning during a Thanksgiving service at the church.

The Rev. Paul Haefner, associate pastor, spoke to the children about the meaning of Thanksgiving.

'Wrapped Walkways' Project is Cut Up

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Recreation Department after the wraps came off Loose Park's sidewalks. Recreation Superintendent Mary Edith Lillis thought up the idea for the help-yourself session.

One person with scissors in hand planned to use a piece of Christo's artwork as a driveway dropcloth. A Kansas City woman said she was going to use it to adorn a 40-foot mountain of dirt in her yard.

Christo's "Wrapped Walk Ways" project, which charmed some Kansas Citians and outraged others, met a fitting end over the weekend.

VIEWPOINT

"I can still afford the luxuries — it's the necessities that blew me out of the tub."

46 people!

Indulge me for just a moment. It won't take very long. Get a pencil and some paper.

Now write down the names of 46 people that you know personally, have seen on TV or had read about. They can be either sex, and they must be living. You may list relatives, acquaintances, actors, anyone; but you must have 46 names on your list.

Do this now and then return to this part of the article.

Now look over your list carefully. Study it. Give it your full consideration. That's a long list and a lot of people named. I'm sure you'll agree that putting it together took longer than you imagined.

Let's make a comparison with your list and another one. Did you know that 46 people were killed over the four - day Thanksgiving Holiday last year? That's the same number of people that you have named on your list. It's a pretty grim comparison and the list isn't fun anymore, is it?

What if the 46 people on your list were killed during this week's Thanksgiving Holiday? What effect would that have upon you and your life? How would you react to the deaths?

You would be stunned and probably would find it difficult to comprehend the shock of losing 46 friends, relatives and acquaintances in the short four - day time frame.

By now you have the point. It's the same song sung each Thanksgiving.

But consider just one thought, if nothing else. What are you going to do to help stop accidents during this Thanksgiving Holiday?

Will you attempt to influence others toward a safer holiday or will you let the list climb to 46...

Turkey Loses Glamour After Several Servings

LEFTOVER TURKEY
By the end of this holiday season one might think one could gobble after eating roast turkey, turkey sandwiches, turkey a la king, etc. Dairy Council, Inc. home economists know that turkey loses its glamour after you've had it a few times.

Here's a leftover recipe that combines it into something little more sensational and hearty. In Turkey Loaf, flavorful bouillon cubes are combined with dairy rich butter and milk and seasoned with traditional herbs and spices. Celery provides the crunch, and chopped onion is the flavor flirt. Eggs and crumbs hold it all together.

Select a vegetable and dessert to be baked in the same oven with the Turkey Loaf to save time and energy.

In keeping with the holiday mood, top the finished dish with hot, tart Cranberry Sauce. Or, heat up some of those leftover cranberries. This sauce recipe adds a festive touch to make the creation look as good as it tastes. Garnish with parsley, and serve piping hot. The family will hardly guess they're eating leftovers.

TURKEY LOAF
(6 servings)
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon cornstarch
4 chicken bouillon cubes
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
3 eggs, slightly beaten
Heat oven to 350 degrees F.
Blend cornstarch in 1/4 cup milk until smooth; set aside. Dissolve bouillon cubes in 1 1/4 cups milk over low heat. Add butter, salt, thyme and pepper; cool slightly. Meanwhile combine turkey, bread crumbs, celery, onion and parsley in a large bowl. Combine bouillon mixture, cornstarch mixture and eggs; add to turkey mixture. Mix lightly until blended.

Place mixture in 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 - inch loaf pan. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in preheated oven 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Remove from water immediately; allow to stand 10 minutes. Invert onto serving platter. Slice and serve with hot Cranberry Sauce.

CRANBERRY SAUCE
(Yield: 3 cups)
1 pound package fresh cranberries

1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
Bring cranberries, water, sugar and orange peel to a boil, stirring occasionally. Boil until all skins pop open.

...that experts say that not much more gold exists on earth, estimating the probably attainable reserve at some 41,000 metric tons (a metric ton is slightly over 2,000 pounds heavier than a regular ton)?

Food Stamp Fraud Crackdown Completed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Department of Human Resources announced Tuesday that its investigators - some working undercover - have completed a major crackdown on the buying and selling of food stamps in Central Texas.

The 16 complaints to be filed with local prosecutors, the department said, is the first move in a statewide campaign against food stamp fraud.

Of the 16 complaints, the department added, seven will be filed in Waco, five in Travis County, two in Bell County and one each in Brazos and Williamson counties.

Bryan Chenault, supervisor of investigations for the department, said the complaints involve illegal purchases by a barber, liquor store owner, college instructor and various merchants, including grocers.

It is against the law to buy or sell food stamps, Chenault noted, and 12 of the 16 complaints are felony complaints, which could result in prison sentences of up to 10 years.

Human Resources Commissioner Jerome Chapman said the crackdown is aimed at persons who buy food stamps usually for about half their value and then redeem them for full value, either at a bank for cash or at a grocery store for food.

Chenault declined to elaborate on the techniques used in the department's operation. "We don't want to risk tipping off other traffickers and spoiling future operations," he said.

Business Crawls Along

CINCINNATI (AP) - Two years after two former suburban policemen entered the worm business, one has taken to eating the profits.

But Don Redman, 44, isn't worried that Don Reifsteck, 27, will put a dent in the inventory. The Worm Warehouse Inc. in Delhi Township, the community where both quit their police jobs, has several million of the critters.

Reifsteck said he'd read about worm recipes - pizza and chili, for example - but wasn't interested in tamourating the worms at first.

"Before I ate my first worm, all I did was wash it, boil it and then I popped it. It tasted kind of crunchy. Not bad. I figured if I could eat one like that I could eat them any old way," he said. "We've got about 3 million worms. That's a lot of onion rings."

"That's a nice way to eat them," said Reifsteck. "I wash them off, parboil them, saute them in butter, then dip them in a bread crumb mixture. They curl up into a little circle like an onion ring."

Human beings are the only animals that regularly invite others to share their food.

Cult Deaths Not Surprising, Psychiatrist Claims

NEW YORK (AP) - Hundreds of members of a religious cult formed an orderly line, then took their lives with a draught of poison. Shocking, yes. And bizarre. But not, say the experts, surprising. Challenged from without, shaken by defections within, the Rev. Jim Jones's People's Temple swelled with uncertainty, then "imploded," experts believe. Nearly 400 cultists took their own lives in the isolated jungle of Guyana, a tiny South American republic.

Some reportedly were shot, but Guyanese authorities said most apparently died of poison. An estimated 700 others were believed to have fled into the jungle. The suicides - including Jones, his wife and son - died just hours after the sect ambushed and killed five Americans, including U.S. Rep. Leo Ryan of California.

Mind-boggling though the mass suicide appears, scholars on suicide and cults such as the People's Temple say they saw it coming. It was only a question, they say, of who and when.

"Nobody has believed we silly people who said it is possible to control people to this degree. But it has happened," said Boston psychiatrist John Clark, who has studied these cults for five years.

"This is not surprising," said Rabbi James Rudin, an official of the American Jewish Committee who has written extensively on cults. "It's not surprising when you consider the totalitarian atmosphere in which most cults operate."

"Our war, our side - it's a madness of many," said Dr. Edwin Shneidman of the University of California, the nation's only professor of thanatology - a discipline named for Thanatos, the Greek god of death.

These men say that strong, even totalitarian, leaders like Jones leave no room for their adherents to dissent. Often, says Clark, it is this uniformity of thought and belief that attracts followers:

"People who go into cults are in a state of mind that does not allow inside information to enter. They feel safe, cozy. They can talk their own language to each other. It's reinforced by their opposition to all outside reality - an 'us and they' mentality."

Clark believes Congressman Ryan cracked this wall of uniformity when he visited the People's Temple commune Saturday to investigate alleged abuse of sect members; several members chose to leave with him. These events, Clark says, "tore apart the cult's sense of certainty."

"I think the thing imploded," he said. "You have to understand that there is no room for ambiguity in groups like this. When ambiguity occurred, when something went wrong, they all panicked and the cult destroyed itself."

The ambush and killings followed. Within hours, according to witnesses, cult members lined up for a draught of poison reportedly brewed in a large vat.

Mark, a lawyer representing the cult, was at the camp just before the deaths. He said the members discussed suicide before he fled, fearing for his own life. He said two cult members told him: "We are all going to die now."

"They were smiling... they looked genuinely happy," Lane said.

A California psychologist, who accompanied Ryan to Guyana to try to get his daughter out of Jonestown, said members of the group rehearsed mass suicide and signed undated suicide notes before they left California for Guyana.

One can only speculate about Jones' motives. There were reports he was seriously ill. He was apparently fascinated by suicide and once led a demonstration calling for a "suicide barrier" on San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge. But a more compelling question is why his followers were willing to join him in death.

"There is something called 'altruistic suicide,'" said Shneidman, "when ties to the society are so strong that the dictates of the group govern the individual's life. It would take enormous ego strength to step out of that line in the jungle and say, 'I prefer not to.' If he does, they might shoot him."

Shneidman said he was reminded of Masada where nearly a thousand Jews under siege by the Romans during the first century A.D. committed suicide rather than be slaughtered or enslaved.

Rudin calls adherents like those who followed Jones into death "true believers."

"The true believer is a tragic phenomenon in world history. They are prone to follow authoritarian leadership. And they'll do anything to further the cause."

Shocked Steak Better

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - Sending high voltage shocks through the carcasses of freshly slaughtered cattle may not be an appetizing thought, but officials of Sam Kane Beef Processors, Inc., say it makes for much better steaks.

It is a new process developed by Texas A&M researchers, and scientists say it makes meat much more tender and reduces the cold storage time, thus saving energy.

The technique went into effect for first time this week at the Kane plant, where manager Jerry Kane says it makes beef 30 percent more tender.

Kane said the technique, which was developed by an A&M study that began two years ago, is so far used by only three other meat processors in the country.

Full scale production started last week when $30,000 worth of new equipment was installed. After the beef is slaughtered and skinned, the carcasses are moved by conveyor through an enclosed chamber where they rub against electric-charged bars.

Dr. Jeffrey W. Savell, Texas A&M meat specialist, said electrical stimulation allows enzymes already in the meat to break down muscle tissues. Those enzymes normally don't work until the meat has been in cold storage for several days, he said.

Kane and Savell said grocery shoppers shouldn't expect electro-tenderized beef to look different in meat counters.

"But when their knife cuts into that meat, immediately they're going to know," Kane said.

Bergland Defends Policy Of Feed Grain Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) - For a time, it may have seemed that Patricia Roberts Harris and Bob Bergland were out of step with the administration's farm policy aimed at reducing grain production next year.

Mrs. Harris is secretary of housing and urban development and Bergland is secretary of agriculture.

Speaking to the National Association of Realtors a week ago in Honolulu, Mrs. Harris focused on inflation and what President Carter's anti-inflation program involved.

A news release issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development quoted Mrs. Harris: "We will attack specific inflation problems with actions such as opening up more farmland for production, bringing down interest rates to keep down housing costs and renewing our effort to get a health-care cost containment bill through Congress."

Her speech was made Nov. 14, three days after the administration announced that farmers will have to cut back on their feed grain acreages again next year to qualify for federal price supports.

The program was recommended for Carter's approval some time before by Bergland as a way of curbing the excess production of feed grain, primarily corn, in 1979.

When asked Monday about the "opening up of more farmland" reference in the press release, a spokesman for Mrs. Harris, Warren Dunn, said the phrase was deleted from her actual speech in Honolulu.

Dunn told a reporter that apparently the comment on putting more land into production was included in an earlier draft and then inadvertently put into the official HUD news release.

Counting a wheat set-aside program announced earlier, the administration hopes that farmers will take around 18 million acres or so from production of crops next year to help curb the further growth of price-depressing stockpiles.

Bergland, who returned last week from a 10-day visit to China was asked at a news conference Friday about the logic of having such a set-aside program "that will inevitably result in higher prices" for consumers.

Bergland replied that the set-aside will not inevitably result in higher prices "and that we have ample-to-excessive inventories of all the basic commodities" which will act as a buffer.

When the 1979 feed grain acreage program was announced the weekend before, administration officials noted that it "is expected to result in a modest 4 to 5 percent increase in the price of feed grains" in the 1979-80 corn marketing year, which will begin next Oct. 1.

That size of a price increase for corn and the other feed grains would be "less than the overall rate of inflation."

$2,500 REWARD!

Between May 31st, and September 1st, 1978 1,728,764 lbs. of Corn and 443,444 lbs. of Milo were stolen from "The Farmers Grain Co., Elevator" at Etter, Texas. A reward of $2,500 will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible. The information can be given to "Tom Burrus, Dumas, Texas", 935-3726 or 966-5117, or relayed through the "Secret Witness Program", Channel 7, Amarillo, Texas. 373-0000. ## Natural Enemies Used in Control

Whether you're an average householder or an agricultural producer you have at least one thing in common with the other: you both spend a lot of time, energy, and money each year in efforts to control insect pests.

Chemical insecticides, at one time thought to be an invincible weapon that would enable man to eradicate any insect pest, are now seen to have limitations and to be just one of the many devices man must use to maintain control of insects.

Some chemical insecticides were found to pollute the environment. Some were found to be marvelously effective in controlling the target insect, but they also killed the natural enemies of some minor insects.

Without their enemies to keep them in check, the "minor insects" soon blossomed into major pests.

Insects in many cases have developed a resistance to insecticides so that 10 times as much insecticide as was used initially will no longer kill. This growing resistance of insects to insecticides, problems of pollution, and the rising costs of buying and applying insecticides point up the need for alternatives.

For a number of years, entomologists with The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) have been developing alternatives to total dependence on chemical controls. Ordinarily, the natural enemies of an insect species keep it in check. Scientists have sought to identify the natural enemies of various pest species and have sought ways to conserve them.

Such natural enemies include parasites, predators, and pathogens. The first, parasites, can be best described by the old saying, "Fleas have fleas."

Actually, parasites of insects come in many forms. One interesting one is a tiny wasp which parasitizes cockroach egg cases. These wasps are harmless to humans and wildlife, they attack only roaches. The adult female wasp lays her eggs in a roach egg case.

The wasp eggs hatch, and the larvae feed on and eventually destroy the roach eggs. About 70 wasps develop in and emerge from such an attacked egg case.

Research shows that the parasitization rate of the eggs varies between 25 and 75 percent.

This is not enough to eradicate roaches, else the wasp would be eliminating a needed part of its own reproductive process. But combined with other control methods, this tiny wasp is one aid in many that can help us gain and maintain control of roaches.

Other parasites of insects may feed, inside or outside, on their host rather than on the eggs.

Insect predators catch and eat other insects. TAES's scientists are identifying useful predators of harmful insects. A recent discovery of a Station entomologist is that a feared and hated pest, the red imported fire ant, is a deadly predator of bollworms and bollweevils in the cotton fields.

Pathogens (disease agents) of insects also can be an aid in control. One insect pest that scientists hope to be able to control by natural means is the white grub. White grubs destroy turf-grass by feeding on the roots.

The adult form of this insect, the May or June beetle, lives in the soil and comes out once a year to mate. After mating, females bore back into the earth and begin laying eggs, which eventually produce larvae that feed on grass roots.

At one time homeowners were able to effectively control white grub populations with insecticides, but apparently the insects in some areas have developed a resistance to chemical controls.

Scientists are now investigating the use of certain disease-producing bacteria to control grubs. This form of biological control is much more effective than chemical control since the chemicals may kill beneficial organisms such as earthworms as well, whereas the bacteria affect only the grubs.

A new way to control mosquitoes too has been discovered by Experiment Station scientists at Texas A&M University. Mosquitoes have become increasingly resistant to insecticides in recent years.

Such resistance poses a real danger to humans since encephalitis, yellow fever, elephantiasis, and malaria, feared diseases throughout the world, are all transmitted by mosquitoes.

Biological control agents are being assessed as a means of reducing mosquito populations to tolerable levels. Many predator and parasite species show promise as mosquito control agents.

Parasitic species of the nematode (round worms), fungi and protozoa (single-celled animals) groups are being studied intensively because they frequently occur in natural mosquito populations and have demonstrated their deadliness to mosquitoes, under laboratory conditions.

Station scientists found one of the protozoan species belonging to the genus Lankesteria, is lethal to certain species of mosquito. It parasitizes the immature stages of the mosquito.

Jane Seymour, King Henry VIII's third wife, died in 1537 following the birth of her son, Edward VI.

Station scientists found one of the protozoan species belonging to the genus Lankesteria, is lethal to certain species of mosquito. It parasitizes the immature stages of the mosquito.

Shortcourse on Elevator Blasts Slated for Amarillo Nov. 29-30

AMARILLO -- Ways to avoid the most serious of all types of industrial dust explosions--grain elevator fires and explosions--will be the topic of a shortcourse to be presented here Nov. 29-30.

Causes and prevention will be spotlighted in the two-day program at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West. The course is being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The shortcourse is to illustrate and describe effective methods to control explosions in grain elevators, said Dr. Gary S. Nelson, shortcourse chairman and Extension safety engineer.

"We hope to bring attention to the most recent technology available to prevent grain dust fires and explosions," he said.

The program is especially designed for persons involved with grain elevators and grain feed mills. This includes line supervisors, plant managers, plant owners, design engineers, construction contractors, safety representatives, grain inspection representatives, insurance representatives and personnel of the department of agriculture.

Dust Control Is Key to Safety

COLLEGE STATION -- Controlling dust in grain elevators is the key to preventing explosions, the chief engineer of FAR-MAR-CO, Inc. said here.

Bob Frye of Hutchinson, Kansas, speaking at a short course on the "Causes and Prevention of Grain Elevator Fires and Explosions" at Texas A&M University, pointed out that while the three ingredients for elevator fires and explosions are oxygen, an ignition source, and dust, is the only one of the three that can be dealt with effectively.

"It's not feasible to eliminate oxygen or sources of ignition," Frye contended. "Most types of ignition result from human error, and it's physically impossible to remove all ignition sources."

However, dust can be controlled more effectively, Frye asserted. He outlined three steps for more effective dust control in grain elevators: (1) Use a cyclone type dust trap along with a fabric filter so that fine dust particles are not returned to the grain stream; (2) Practice good housekeeping to keep areas clean and free of dust collections; and (3) Have a total commitment toward safe facilities.

Frye pointed out that the increased efficiency of some dust control systems today have led to conditions that are actually more conducive to explosions. "Many systems remove moisture from dust, for instance; but, the drier the dust, the more potentially explosive it is. Also, certain types of filter systems return fine dust particles to the elevator; the finer the particles, the more potentially explosive they are. Recirculation of fine dust is a big factor in the increase of grain elevator explosions, today," he emphasized.

Frye added that at the current rate of grain elevator explosions, one out of every 12 grain elevators in the country will be blown up during their 50 years of useful life.

The two-day short course is being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Grain and Feed Association. It is the first of two such short courses; the second is set for Nov. 29-30 at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Amarillo.

Transportation Fees Hike Cost of Milk

LUBBOCK -- America today is expecting fewer dairies to keep up with a per capita demand for dairy products that has remained stable for the past 20 years.

S. F. "Pamp" Howe, general manager of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) said there were seven times as many dairies in the United States 30 years ago, and the only way to make fewer meet the demand is to consolidate and increase efficiency in producing, processing and distribution.

Howe was one of eight speakers who addressed the 30th annual Dairy Short Course sponsored by the Texas Tech University Department of Food Technology.

Since 1940, he explained, the number of fluid processing plants has decreased from 8,500 to only 1,200; yet the remaining plants must keep up with the steady demand.

Chapman E. Dunham, milk market administrator for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, headquartered in Dallas, said that although New Mexico production is trending upward and Texas production is showing a slight increase, the southwestern states have a special problem with greatly increased population and decreasing supplies.

Most of Texas' milk--68 to 70 percent--is produced in the northeastern part of the state, while the heaviest consumption is in the southern portion of the state. Texas dairymen cannot meet all the demand.

The problem is severe enough, he said, that when school milk programs started this fall it was necessary to import milk from as far away as Minnesota and Wisconsin. Texans commonly use dairy products originating in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

A major factor in solving demand is in distribution, and the producers' cooperative, the AMPI, has been the answer, but both men cited transportation costs as a primary cause for increased prices.

Howe said that dairymen are continually installing new production and processing equipment to increase efficiency.

"The rate is so fast we can hardly keep up with the demand for these installations," he said. "There is a rapid change throughout the industry."

In spite of demands put upon dairymen by increased population, Howe emphasized, the price of dairy products in "real money" has decreased, with less of the wage earner's money going to supply family needs.

"Milk is cheaper than soft drinks or beer," he said.

Peach Borer Control Tips Offered

County Agent Juston McBride reminds local fruit growers that now is the optimum time for taking measures to control peach tree borers.

According to McBride, growers should use Para Dichlorobenzene crystals in their control program, applying the pesticide in a trench around the tree, about two inches from the trunk.

The chemical should be applied at the rate of 1/2 ounce for two to three year old trees, 3/4 ounce for four to five year old trees, and full ounce for mature trees.

"The chemical should be covered and the earth mounded up in a cone shape six inches above the base of the tree line. Don't let the material come in contact with the tree, and remove it in the early spring," McBride advised.

AGENTLE REMINDER OF LAST WINTER:

THIS WINTER, ADD A CARRIER HEAT PUMP TO YOUR FURNACE AND SAVE HEATING DOLLARS!

Carrier's Year-round One heat pump is an efficient, economical heating and cooling system all by itself. It can replace any old, worn-out forced-air furnace. But if your forced-air furnace (electric, gas, or oil) is in good shape, you can add a heat pump to it -- and get really low heating costs! That's because your new combination furnace-heat pump system heats with either the furnace or heat pump. Depending on outside temperature, the system automatically chooses whichever heating method can save you the most money!

Add a Carrier Year-round One -- get lower heating bills and high-efficiency air conditioning, too!

Let us tell you all about it. We'll be happy to give you an estimate and a free Heat-Saving Analysis of your home. Call us today!

She's Thanksgiving Mom At Air Base

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Dorothy Petty has been Mom each Thanksgiving - to hundreds of teen-aged Air Force basic trainees spending a disheartening first Thanksgiving away from home. Mrs. Petty, a 53-year-old widow, has cooked Thanksgiving dinner in her home each year since 1971 for more than 100 basic trainees, who are among the 80,000 per year trained here at Lackland Air Force Base.

This Thanksgiving will be no different, as Mrs. Petty has already begun preparing the 300 pounds of turkey and chicken, 50 pounds of rice, eight tubs of dressing and "I don't know how many pies, cakes and salads."

"I found that there are many of these boys and girls who are lonely, away from home for the first time," said Mrs. Petty, who has worked with military personnel for 34 years as an Assembly of God missionary. "Many of them are very lonely and homesick."

"I just can't stand the thought of them sitting in the dorms or barracks on Thanksgiving. Last year a young man told me he was in a hurry to get back to his barracks. Guess he thought they day was going to be boring," she added. "But by the time he left, he hugged me and said it was one of the happiest days of his life."

Lackland officials, perhaps remembering what it is like to be a frightened young recruit in a strange city for the holidays, are asking San Antonio families to invite 5,000 basic trainees into private homes for Thanksgiving dinner.

Last year, 2,500 trainees were invited by San Antonians to share the traditional turkey and dressing.

Mrs. Petty plans to entertain 150 on Thursday, including about 100 trainees from foreign countries. She had 135 last year and has entertained about 100 each Thanksgiving for the past seven years.

The groceries for the feast are purchased with church and individual donations. Local businesses also said Mrs. Petty, who says she already has 70 pounds of food in her freezer.

"I want to give them a home atmosphere and keep them out of a bad environment. Thanksgiving and Christmas is really when they're the loneliest," Mrs. Petty said of the trainees.

"One year, I was living in a trailer house and I had 75 in that trailer. We put chairs outside and prayed it wouldn't rain. It didn't," she said.

Mrs. Petty had a house near Lackland for several years, but is now living in a small apartment. If she doesn't acquire a house by Thanksgiving, she will use a local church for this year's dinner.

"I prefer a home. We need that homey atmosphere," she said. "Every home should have one of these young people for Thanksgiving dinner, especially people who don't have children. They just don't know the joy it brings until they've tried it."

Rulers of Russia
The first known ruler of the Russians was Rurik, of Scandinavian origin, who consolidated Slavic tribes under his leadership at Novgorod in 862. His successors moved the capital in 972 to Kiev, where they ruled as dukes. The first ruler to take the title "czar" was Ivan III of Muscovy, 1462-1505, who married the niece of the late Byzantine emperor.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - New Governor-elect Bill Clements this week began working on plans for taking over the state chief executive's office in January. Clements upset Democrat John Hill in the general election for the most monumental Republican gain of the century at the statehouse level. Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower also edged back for another term.

Tower and GOP State Chairman Ray Barnhart of Houston hailed the Clements victory as the harbinger of a two-party Texas. "It's now respectable to be a Republican in Texas," commented Barnhart. "More Republicans will be elected next year—especially at the court-house level."

But while the GOP captured one prize it hadn't been expected to get, its gains were modest in congressional places and the state legislature. And Jim Baker lost his bid for the attorney general's office.

Tom Loeffler, young Kerrville rancher-attorney, defeated Democrat Nelson Wolff of San Antonio in the 21st congressional district.

Dr. Ron Paul, who once held the 22nd district seat briefly, ousted Democratic incumbent Bob Gammage of Houston.

The GOP's legislative gain totaled only three seats. Actually there are four new faces among the Republican

Federal Paperwork
Because of government regulation, private companies have to fill out over 4,000 different forms each year, The Conference Board notes. The Federal Paperwork Commission estimates that it costs up to $32 billion a year to handle the federal paper load imposed on the private sector.

A popular belief is that if a groundhog sees his shadow on Feb. 2 (Groundhog Day), he returns to his burrow and winter continues another six months.

ANSWERS
1. True, Stephen Foster. 2. a. c. 3. b.

House delegation in Austin, but a new GOP representative, Dr. S.L. Abbott of El Paso, lost to Democrat.

Judges Named
About the time U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen recommended lifetime appointment of 10 Texans to federal courts, Gov. Dolph Briscoe named nine to Texas state appellate courts.

Briscoe appointed Henry Doyle of Houston, James Warren of Huntsville and Jim Wallace of Houston to the First Court of Civil Appeals; Spencer Carver, Charles Storey and Joe Bailey Humphreys of Dallas to the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals; and George Miller, Paul Pressler and Felix Salazar Jr. of Houston to the 14th Court of Civil Appeals.

Nominated by Bentsen for the new federal judgeships were Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, Gabrielle McDonald of Houston, Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo, James De-Anda of McAllen, George Kazen of Laredo, George Cize of Houston, Norman Black of Houston, Robert Parker of Longview, David Belew of Fort Worth and Ted Butler of San Antonio.

The nominations add up to the largest number of federal judgeships ever picked at a single time in Texas history. An omnibus court bill signed last month created 117 new federal district benches over the country.

Guards Move On
There is a 60 per cent turnover among Texas prison guards, in part because of low salaries and lack of promotion opportunities, Texas Research League said in a new study.

The League suggested better pay, improved training and a chance at supervisory jobs might curb the exodus. Texas has 11 inmates per guard in its prisons, while the national average is five-to-one. During night shifts, a single guard may be watching several hundred prisoners.

Most correctional officers in prison units are paid about $848, and have little chance of advancing to supervisory ranks.

Courts Speak
The State Supreme Court held the attorney general cannot file suit to knock out state agency decisions which they view as illegal.

The high court affirmed a state law which requires filing of paternity suits before an illegitimate child is a year old.

It found no reversible error in a lower court award of $12,000 in accidental death insurance compensation to the widow of a San Antonio man who was shot to death. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a probational revocation order of a Hurst man where the judge was a temporary official who had not taken the oath of office. The same court reversed murder convictions in Palo Pinto and Harris County cases.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals found the state not immune to prosecution in a case where a Runnels County motorist collided with a highway patrol car which pulled out to chase a speeder without turning on red lights or siren.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held policemen are not required to quote people they arrest exactly when reducing their voluntary oral confessions to writing. The decision upheld the 10-year sentence of a Jefferson County man in the death of his three-month-old son.

Car Theft Increasing
Auto theft is on the rise, and law enforcement officers this week announced a major statewide effort to combat it. The Department of Public Safety, Governor's Criminal Justice Division and Texas Crime Prevention Institute announced the effort, together with the National Automobile Theft Bureau and several insurance company representatives. They noted there is an auto theft in the state every 10 and a half minutes.

Short Snorts
A legislative study committee concluded pension funds of firemen and policemen in some of the state's major cities are in bad shape. A House sub-committee rapped the board which regulates private detectives for snooping on private citizens.

Texas Railroad Commission refused to withdraw its order to stop dumping of oil-field wastes into Whalen Lake near Andrews.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe hinted he may try for a political comeback. Speculation is rampant on who will take over leadership of the Texas Democratic party in the wake of Republican Bill Clements' victory over John Hill in the November 7 governor's race. (Recounts of ballots were still under way in many counties this week.)
