Texans Elect Republicans Clements, Tower

BILL CLEMENTS

DALLAS (AP) - Republican victors in Texas elections Wednesday hailed the results as the beginning of a two-party system in the state dominated by Democrats since Reconstruction, Bill Clements was elected the first Republican governor in 105 years, defeating Attorney General John Hill, and Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, overcame a strong challenge from Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Texas, giving the state's two top races to the GOP.

Both races were so close they were not decided until about 17 hours after the polls closed. Unofficial totals with all but 10 of the state's 5,784 precincts counted gave Clements 1,181,562 votes and Hill 1,165,863; Tower defeated Krueger with 1,148,269 to Krueger's 1,134,560.

"This is the harbinger of a two-party system in Texas," Tower told supporters in his hometown of Wichita Falls after the votes were counted. "I'm delighted to have elected a Republican governor. Bill Clements will do a splendid job."

Republicans also increased their strength in Congress, adding two more seats to the two they already had in the Texas delegation to the U.S. House.

But Democrats, including six newcomers, controlled the 20 other U.S. House seats, and easily dominated the rest of the statewide jobs - Mark White was elected attorney general, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was re-elected, and Warren G. Harding was elected treasurer.

Democratic incumbents John Poerner and Mack Wallace were elected to the Texas Railroad Commission.

Voters gave overwhelming approval to the "Tax Relief Amendment" which was among nine poposed changes to the Texas Constitution. Six other amendments were approved, and two failed.

The rejected amendments would have given cities authority to issue bonds to build facilities to attract industry and to redevelop blighted areas.

Clements, 61-year-old head of the giant SEDCO Inc. in Dallas, spent more than $6 million in his election bid as he rose from near anonymity earlier in the year. A former deputy defense secretary in the Nixon and Ford administrations, Clements easily brushed aside former state GOP chairman Ray Hutchison, then took on Hill, who had beaten incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe, who was stung by his loss to Hill in a bitter Democratic Party primary battle last spring, withheld his full backing of Hill, and members of Briscoe's family worked for Clements' election.

"The results of this election....should be a signal to the Democrats of Texas that we need to begin now to rebuild the Democratic party of Texas and to infuse a new spirit of vitality into our party," Briscoe said.

He congratulated Clements and pledged to help in a smooth and orderly

Briscoe said Clements' election should be a mandate to the next Legislature "to continue the policy of fiscal responsibility that has caused Texas to prosper during the past years." During the campaign, Clements promised he would cut taxes, saying Hill had promise only to freeze Hill conceded in an early afternoon news conference in Austin.

"I want to congratulate him. He's got a big job ahead of him," said Hill, who announced plans to practice law in

"I think we realized that at some point in time this would happen," he said of the GOP gubernatorial win. "We'll measure them (Republicans) four years from now. In the meantime, I'm going to continue to lead this Democratic party. There's a lot of fight still left in me.'

Krueger, his eyes red-rimmed, did not concede the race, but said:

Clements Promises 'Campaign Not Over'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Bill Clements walked under the vast rotunda of Texas' pink granite Capitol and it hit him for the first time that he would be the state's first Republican governor in 105 years.

"It brought home for the very first time that it really happened," the 61-year-old multi-millionnaire who was once an oil field roughneck, told a Capitol news conference Wednesday.

Clements, who had never made a political race before, was declared surprise winner over Democrat John Hill, attorney general and former secretary of state, by 16,000 votes.

The latest vote totals from all 254 counties, 245 complete, showed Clements with 1,181,562 and Hill 1,165,863.

"I will be governor for all Texans, including those who voted for Mr. Hill," ld the news conference. "The future of Texas needs all of us working together....My campaign isn't over. It's just beginning because now I have the duty to put into practice my ideas and your ideas for making our state even greater."

Clements repeated that "I am a Texan down to the toenails, and I suspect that is why I was elected."

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, whose third-term plans were thwarted by Hill in the May primary, congratulated Clements and promised to work for "a smooth and orderly transition."

Clements visited Briscoe at the Governor's Mansion late Wednesday, posing for pictures at the back door.

Briscoe said the results of the election should be a signal to Texas Democrats that "we need to begin now to rebuild the Democratic Party of Texas and to infuse a new spirit of vitality in our party." He said he would dedicate himself to "return the Democratic Party of Texas to dominance in this state.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who won easy re-election, said he did not see party differences as a "big deal" in the 1979 Legislature where Clements will face 25 Republicans and 126 Democratic Hill told a news conference "there's nothing to cry about. We've run a real strong race...It was just the other side got more votes, they got the people out and they won the election."

Hill did say that he did not get the vote expected in Bexar, San Antonio and Tarran Fort Worth counties. "In Midland-Odessa we didn't run very Hill said he would step out of public life and become an Austin lawyer. Before being appointed secretary of state by Gov. John Connally, Hill was a successful plaintiff's attorney in Houston. Earlier. Clements said he sees no problems in working with a predominantly Democratic state legislature.

"The legislature has essentially the same outlook I do, and they are essentially conservative," Clements said shortly after being declared the winner.

Clements said much of the credit for his win went to the 25,000 volunteer workers who worked long hours in his headquarters. He called his goodlooking brunette wife, Rita, his "secret weapon," because she campaigned constantly, either with him or in separate tours. Clements said he was "most happy with the results and deeply honored," but he was taking every effort to insure the returns reported unofficially will be preserved for Monday's official canvass in the 254 counties. He said he had no specific example of vote handling irregularities, "but this is just a precaution."

Texas' last Republican governor was Edmund Jackson Davis, who held office from mid-December 1869 until Mid-January of 1974 when he was removed both by defeat in an election and by an order of President U.S. Grant. He was elected by a margin of only 908 votes in an election held under military rule of Reconstruction days. A Union general supervised the election and there were no (See CLEMENTS, Page 2)

Hereford Police Detective Roger Scott Wednesday arrested a 17-year-old man on burglary charges in connection with break-ins at Thriftway, C.R. Anthony's downtown store and Hobo's Restaurant. In all, police recovered around $4,500 in both cash and merchandise, which included clothes, sacks of groceries and numerous small items. See police report, page 2.

Energy Bill Signed by Carter, But Doesn't Resemble His Program

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is signing a diluted energy bill that is a far cry from the original plan he submitted to Congress 18 months ago as the "moral equivalent of war."

After signing the measure into law at a White House ceremony today, Carter planned to fly to Kansas City, Mo., to address a Future Farmers convention and hold a news conference.

The 95th Congress completed work on the energy package just before adjourning Oct. 15.

Although it was a big domestic victory for the president, the compromise legislation omitted many of the tough proposals in his original package. Among items scuttled along the way were stiff new taxes on gasoline, crude oil and industrial fuels.

While the bill provides tax credits to consumers for various energy conservation steps, it also is expected to increase costs for natural gas users.

Individuals who use gas for heating and cooking will be affected directly, and everyone is likely to feel indirect effects from higher costs passed on by industrial users, who will bear the brunt of the price increases.

Natural gas prices will be allowed to rise by about 10 percent annually until 1985 when price lids will be removed from most natural gas. In the meantime, price controls will be extended for the first time to intrastate gas - that used in the state where it is produced.

There has been no clear resolution of what the new pricing plan will cost consumers. Various opponents of deregulation have claimed it will transfer $200 billion from consumers to producers over the next seven years. That could mean increases averaging $100 to $200 a year for typical families who heat with Deregulation supporters concede gas prices will go up, but say the additional cost attributable to deregulation will be closer to $20 a year for the average family. And they say it will mean more gas in the long run.

Williams Guilty Of Murder

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

A seven-man, five-woman jury found Richard Williams guilty of the murder of Larry Glover shortly before noon today after deliberating for five hours.

The jury reconvened after lunch for the punishment phase of the trial, which began Nov. 1.

Judge Wesley Gulley dismissed the jury Tuesday evening after it deliberated for approximately two hours and ordered jurors to stay overnight in a motel.

Williams was charged with the fatal beating of Glover, who died Oct. 12, 1977, after being transferred from Deaf Smith General Hospital to Amarillo.

Prosecuting attorney Roland Saul, in presenting his closing arguments to the jury Wednesday, stated that Williams knowingly and intentionally caused Glover's death and said that the defense had not proven its self-defense case. "I submit to you that Richard Williams was going to be judge, jury and assess the punishment," Saul said concerning the fight at Glover's Milo Center residence. Defense attorney Travis Shelton of Lubbock reminded the jury that the fight occurred after Glover's pickup ran a vehicle in which Williams was a passenger off the road. "It's a thousand wonders there wasn't a wreck that night and six lives taken

Egyptian Negotiators Seek Overall Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) - Top Egyptian negotiators were meeting today with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance amid indications of a growing dispute over linking a peace treaty with Israel to future talks involving the Palestinian issue.

Acting Foreign Minister Boutrous Ghali and his deputy, Osama Al-Baz, were understood to be carrying instructions from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that the treaty nearing completion must state clearly that the immediate, next goal is an overall Mideast settlement.

Israel is committed to dealing with the Palesinian issue in the next round of negotiations. But Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, newly returned from Jerusalem, and Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan informed Vance on Wednesday that hardliners in their government want to delete a treaty provision linking the

Artist Rockwell

Dies At Age 84

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Artist Norman Rockwell died at his home just before midnight Wednesday, said his wife, Molly.

"He didn't die of anything except being 84 years old," Mrs. Rockwell said in a telephone interview. "He had been ill a long time. He died at home."

Rockwell, who said his infine illustrations to the Saturday Evening Post at age 22, subsequently painted some 360 covers for the magazine.

He did illustrations for many other magazines during his long career, including a Post cover celebrating the transatiantic flight of Charles Lindbergh in 1927 and a Look magazine picture depicting the imprint of Neil Armstrong's left foot on the dusty surface of the Moon after the first moonlanding in 1969.

But most of his illustrations were folksy, warm scenes of small-town

In 1960, he said of his work: "Maybe as I grew up and found the world wasn't the perfectly pleasant place I had thought it to be, I unconsciously decided that if it wasn't an ideal world, it should be, and so painted only the ideal aspects of it pictures in which there were no slatterns or self-centered mothers, in which on the contrary, there were only Foxy Grandpas who played baseball with the kids and boys fished from logs and got up circuses in the backyard."

Rockell worked in his studio in Stockbridge, a small town in western Massachusetts. There he found the models for many of his pictures.

Precident Carter can celebrate the prospect of two more years of large Democratic majorities in Congress, but results of the 1978 mid-term elections also could indicate proable ahead for the White House.

Voters turned out five Democratic backers of the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty that Carter hopes to send the Senate for approval next year.

And the House of Representatives will have 75 new faces, continuing the youth movement that made the 95th Congress often unpredictable.

The election results also fed presidential ambitions of several ential Carter rivals in 1980.

With all but a handful of votes counted. the results showed the Republicans picked up three Senate seats and nine House seats and added six governors to their nationwide total.

But those GOP gains weren't nearly enough to reverse Democratic majorities on Capinol Hill and in statehouses around

The new Senate lineup apparently will be 58 Democrats, 41 Republicans and one independent. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. However, Democrat Andrew Miller has not conceded to Republican John Warner who led by a tiny margin in unofficial returns in their Virginia race.

Divers Search Wreckage For Missing Crewmen

MANILA. Philippines (AP) - Frogmen searched the sunken wreckage of an oil tanker in Manila Bay today looking for at least 30 crewmen missing after a deafening explosion ripped the ship

The underwater rescuers had penetrated the sunken stern of the 20,824-ton ship and were probing the engine room and cabins where most of the missing crewmen were believed to be.

The Philippine coast guard said five other crewmen and a security guard were known dead and another 21 crewmen were hospitalized, some with serious burns. Newspaper reports said the crewmembers were mostly indonesian and Hong Kong Chinese. The ship, the Feoso Sun, was based in Hong Kong and registered in Panama to Feoso Sun

The ship had already offloaded its cargo of Chinese crude oil when the explosion erupted Wednesday.

"It was empty, and there were fumes, and there probably were sparks from some source that set it off," Coast Guard Cmrd. Simeon Balitas said.

Balitas said the ship had returned to its anchorage and was being surveyed for damage when the blast took place. The tanker was damaged earlier when it rammed the pier while docking.

U.S. Aids Iranians

In Riot Situation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi had the man who was his prime minister for 13 years arrested in another move to defuse anti-government violence, and the United States offered its support by agreeing to supply tear gas, police clubs and other riot-control equipment to Iran, a major oil supplier to the West.

State Department officials in Washington also said the homes of three Americans in Tehran had been firebomed and that the U.S. Embassy had requested police protection for some areas of Tehran where Americans live. But it said none of the estimated 40,000 to 50,000 Americans in Iran had been injured.

Amir Abass Hoveyda, who headed the Cabinet from 1964 to 1977 and was one of the shah's closest advisers, was arrested Wednesday in a bid to puncture opposition claims that the shah sided with corruption or abuse of authority. Dozens of other ex-officials, including the former head of SAVAK, the secret police, were arrested earlier.

More than 1,000 persons have died in anti-government rioting in Iran since the beginning of the year. The opposition is led by orthodox Moslems who claim the shah's Westernizing reforms contradict the Koran - the Moslem holy book - and political activists, striking oil refinery workers and others who demand an end to martial law and other concessions.

Cranberra Shows Planning

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) - The ill-starred American architect who designed Australia's capital city and was vilified in Parliament as a "Yankee bounder" died 41 years ago without seeing his visionary plan turned into one of the largest and most modern planned cities in the world. Walter Burley Griffin wasn't even invited to the official opening of Canberra in 1927, and he remained almost forgotten. But in the past decade he has become a kind of folk hero commemorated in a lake, a stamp, a motel, a travel agency and several restaurants.

TOUGHNESS BUT NO Change Yet" predicted the headline of a Cape Town newspaper of the regime of South Africa's new prime minister, Pieter Willem Botha. As his nation's defense minister, Botha gained a reputation as a hardliner; his political foes have dubbed him

MONOLINGUAL DOG CARMARTHEN, Wales (AP) - A Welsh farmer took his problem to the trade descriptions department when he found his new sheepdog wouldn't obey orders. The problem? The dog had been trained in English.

Two other American architects - Robert T. Crane III and H. Mather Lippincott Jr. of Philadelphia - have won a competition for a Griffin memorial on Mount Ainsley, where his design can be viewed from the highest point in Can-

When 35-year-old Griffin won an international competition in 1913 to plan the new Australian capital, Canberra was sheep grazing country which boasted a family church, a few pioneers and no trees.

Today, more than 200,000

Griffin technically was in charge of the project but the government officials he had to deal with were the same people who had tried to sabotage his plan. Contour maps were supplied at the wrong scale, Plans were conveniently lost in the mail and Griffin was denounced in Parliament by Home Affairs Minister William Archibald as "A Yankee bounder" who wasted his time on "grand theorizing, moonshine and dream-

A royal commission vindimoney was available for his work so he concentrated on building roads, which he figured would be the best way to ensure that the basic principles of his design would be carried Griffin's contract ended in 1920 and wasn't renewed. He and his wife, Marion Mahoney, also an architect and Wright protege, moved to Sydney, where he went into private practice designing homes, theaters, colleges, a complete sub-urb and even incinerators.

When Canberra was officially opened in 1927 by the Duke and Duchess of York, later King George and Queen Elizabeth, the government gave Griffin what one historian described as "the ultimate insult." It refused to invite him to the cere-

In 1936, Grffin left Australia to design buildings for Lucknow University in India. He died there in 1937 after a fall from the scaffolding of a new library

In Australia, work on Canberra had come to a virtual halt after World War II. The city seemed doomed. In 1955, however, a senate select com-mittee decided to go ahead with Canberra's construction largely along Griffin's design and in 1963 the Molonglo River was dammed to create the lake the government had opposed for so many years.

residents drive around concentric circles and radiating roads reminiscent of Washington, past spacious landscaped parks and across man-made Lake Burley Griffin, which the architect had designed as the centerpiece of the city but which wasn't built until 25 years after his death.

Canberra is one of Australia's top tourist attractions and there are many jokes about the visitor who got lost on one of Griffin's circular drives and still hasn't found his way out of town. As poet Les A. Murray wrote, the circles are there to test "whether he shall go home, or settle."

Griffin was born in Maywood, Ill. In 1876, he graduated from the University of Illinois, and he joined the Chicago office of architectural pioneer Frank Lloyd Wright at the turn of the century. He worked there as an unpaid employee until 1905, when he left to set up his own office.

Practicing in Chicago, Griffin built a reputation for designing beautiful houses with modern innovations in the Frank Lloyd Wright manner. In 1912, he entered an international competition to design the Australian capital and the following year his plan was chosen over 136 others to win the $3,500 first

There was widespread opposition to Griffin's innovative design, which he once described as "a work of art" unlike any other city in the world. One group of politicians tried to scrap it and substitute a strictly utilitarian and unimaginative plan of their own.

After much squabbling, Griffin was invited to come to Australia for consultations about the proposed capital and accepted an offer to become director of Federal Capital Design and Construction, with authority to build Canberra according to his own plan.

What are some of the ways I may save fuel with my driving habits?

The first is of course don't speed. One of the things though that uses more fuel than any driving method is the strong acceleration from stops - that is you should leave a standing stop with only 15 percent acceleration. Another habit drivers form which causes the use of more fuel is riding the brakes in traffic or running upon traffic and applying brakes then re-accelerating. One of the things we sometimes do which we should watch very close is taking the shortest route and avoiding as many traffic lights as possible when traveling in town. One other fuel saving habit is when you plan to be stopped more than one minute kill the engine and of course above all don't put off small engine and maintenance repairs.

Herd Tackles Mustangs At Lubbock

By SPEEDY NIEMAN Publisher

The pride of winning and the prospect of keeping Monterey in the District 4-4A cellar will provide the main impetus when the Hereford Whitefaces travel to Lubbock tonight to battle the Coronado Mustangs.

It will be the last road game for the Herd before ending the season here Nov. 17 against Monterey. Hereford goes into tonight's game with a 2-5-1 season record and a 0-1-1 district mark.

Coronado and Hereford have a number of similarities, but the Mustangs still have an vear and 1-1-0 in the 4-4A chase. The Faces and Mustangs rank 2-3 in the league in total offense, but Hereford is last on defense and Coronado is first.

Hereford is coming off a disappointing scoreless tie with Lubbock High, completely dominating the game statisticalbut failing to dent the goal line. Coronado ran into an arpused Monterey team last week and took a 42-8 licking.

The Herd's Paul Bell. labeled as one of the top running backs in the district, again leads the offensive hopes of the Whitefaces. Quarterback Jackie Mercer has been the other big gun for the Herd, and he ranks behind Coronado's Richard Davis. Mercer is also among the top 10 in rushing.

Bell has amassed 674 rushing yards, averaging 5.3 yards per The Mustangs are 4-4 for the carry and has scored six touchdowns. He trails Plainview's two big rushers--Royce Coleman and Ervin Davis. Coleman has 1.028 yards and Cox is sixth in the league with 468 vards, and Mercer is eighth with 379. Bell and Mercer are third and fourth in total offense.

Mercer has passed for 445 yards, hitting 42 percent of his tosses. Paul Bell has been on the receiving end of eight passes for 107 yards, while. Keith Adams is the team's leading receiver with 13 catches for 164 yards.

Mercer is also the league's top punter, booting 38 times for a fine 40-yard average. The the top tacklers in the district. The defense turned in a great effort against Lubbock High last week, and it will probably require another such performance if the Herd hopes to Davis has 680. Coronado's Steve down the Mustangs. The Herd offense rolled up the yardage last week, but they failed to come up with the scoring punch.

Coronado leads the loop in defensive statistics, yielding an average of just 196 yards a game. Hereford is last in that department, allowing an average of 294 yards a game.

Obtained as a free agent in June, 1976 after 10 years with the Boston Bruins, Orr played in just 20 games for Chicago in 1976-77 and sat out the entire 1977-78 season. He signed a five-year, $3 million contract with the Hawks, but never cashed a check.

Orr said the contract was for him to play hockey and he hasn't done that. The defensemen explained he is negotiating a new contract with the Hawks that will pay him less than his current pact.

After his sixth and last operation. Orr stayed off skates. but worked to strengthen his knee while helping out in the front office.

He hoped for a comeback. But on Oct. 28, the night he scored for the last time, he was on the ice for four Detroit Red Wings goals. This was an unusual occurrence for the once-speedy. agile Orr. "I played terrible," F he said afterward.

He played his last game Nov. . Orr said a hockey player must practice to play well and the knee condition wouldn't allow him to practice enough to get in shape.

"It's a very sad occasion." said club president Bill Wirtz. Every club in the NHL called to say how much Bobby meant to them.'

"Orr's ability is legendary." said Pulford. "It is a loss to hockey. He was a great hockey player. He made a valiant effortto come back."

Scribe Picks Nebraska, Texas In Big Grid Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

It's a proud number to wear -No. 1 - but it's as deadly as a black cat tripping under a ladder and smashing a mirror into 13 pieces. It's like making the cover of a slick magazine. If you're No. 1, you worry about keeping it. If you're not, you play your innards out to get it.

Such are emotional factors Saturday in the game between No. 1 Oklahoma 9-0 and No. 4 Nebraska 9-1, hungering for revenge. Even if the Sooners have the muscle, the Cornhuskers should have an edge in desire. We'll see.

Last week's score: 45-12. .780. Season: 309-109, .739.

Osborne Needs Win

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - They ascended five years ago at Norman, Okla., and at Lincoln, both inheriting successful football programs, the offensive and defensive alignment their teams still use and fans with a voracious appetite for victory.

Both won much more often than they lost.

But there is a critical difference in the records of Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer and Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne, whose squads battle Saturday on national television for a share of the Big Eight Conference title and almost certainly an Orange Bowl bid.

Switzer, the winningest active coach in bigtime collegiate football among those with at least five years experience, has not lost to an Osborne-coached team since each became head

Switzer, whose Sonners are undefeated and ranked No. 1 nationally, has a lifetime record of 60 wins, five losses and two

He pondered his record against the Cornhuskers and Osborne this week and said, "If those games had been reversed, he (Osborne) would have been the winningest coach in major college football."

It's true. Osborne has a lifetime record of 54-14-2. If Nebraska had won all five games instead of losing them, the quiet Nebraska coach would be 59-9-2 and Switzer would be 55-10-2. Penn State's Joe Paterno would be somewhere between at 121-24-1.

"He's got the wins. I don't," said Osborne, reacting to the statistical twist.

Switzer reviewed those five years of head-to-head competition and the year before, 1972, when both were assistants at their schools and when Oklahoma started the streak. "It's simple. Of the six times I've beaten him, four of the times we were just better teams than they were, and two times, 1972 and 1976, we just lucked out in the fourth quarter."

A successful coach can be sent to the doghouse by fans because of problems with a particular team, and Osborne reflected on possible pressure, "Sure. Some. There is not much you can do about that. It doesn't bother me any."

Osborne's predecessor, the Nebraska athletic director and legend Bob Devaney, said, "He wants to win, but I don't think it is a burden he can't bear."

Said Osborne, "We are 0-5 against Oklahoma but so are a lot of other good teams. There are not very many teams that have beaten them.

Nebraska is 8-1 with a No. 4 national ranking and will be playing at home before a traditional Big Red capacity crowd. Neither coach would pinpoint a coaching key.

"We must play a complete game against Oklahoma. You can't just do one or two things well. You have to do it all well. Both will send in a 5-2 defense. Nebraska's defensive ends will have to live up to their reputation of mobility against Switzer's Wishbone offense. er 16 games Wednesday Osborne will stick to the night, while Adamek, 21, I-formation, built around a hard winner of two pro titles in 1978. blocking fullback and slippery jumped from sixth to second place with a 1,655 series

Spurs Set New Scoring Mark

By The Associated Press The San Antonio Spurs took

no prisoners Wednesday night. "They just beat us in every phase of the game," said San Diego Coach Gene Shue after dropping an embarrassing 163-125 National Basketball Association decision to the Spurs. "They run and shoot better than anyone. They are also one of the best passing teams I've seen." The total was the highest in the NBA this season and set a new franchise record for the Spurs. The old mark was 160 when the team was known as the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Associa-

It was the Spurs' rebounding that set up a brilliant fastbreak. Often whipped on the boards last season and so far this season, San Antonio overwhelmed the opposition on the boards, 61-43.

In other NBA action, the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Boston Celtics 112-109; the Los Angeles Lakers turned back the Indiana Pacers 113-110; the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the New Jersey Nets 137-133 in double overtime; the Detroit Pistons crushed the Milwaukee Bucks 117-106; the New York Knicks beat the Seattle SuperSonics 104-100; the Kansas City Kings downed the Golden State Warriors 105-97 and the Phoenix Suns whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-96.

George Gervin scored 38 points in only 26 minutes of action for the Spurs, who also got 28 points off the bench from Paultz. Gervin, the NBA's leading scorer, sat out the fourth quarter after hitting 17 of 20 field goal attempts in the first three periods. He got 19 of his points in the third quarter.

Trail Blazers 112, Celtics 109 Lionel Hollins hit two free throws with 25 seconds left to enable Portland to foil a second-half comeback by Boston. Portland opened up a 10-point halftime lead, 60-50, sparked by the inside shooting of center Tom Owens.

Boston, trailing 76-61 midway through the third period, caught the Trail Blazers and moved into a four-point lead, 98-94, with 6:25 remaining in the game. But key baskets by guard Dave Twardzik and forward Maurice

Moores, whom the Guinness Book of Records calls the richest man in Britain, doesn't carry money and says he sometimes goes for weeks without buying anything. The 82-year-old multimillionaire, who founded Britain's biggest football pools company, which runs postal betting on the results of soccer games, disclosed in a rare interview that he had never felt uncomfortable over being so wealthy.

"I don't suppose people realize it, but a rich man doesn't know how much he's worth. He doesn't sit on bags of gold," said the usually reticent Moores, who is not even listed in "Who's Who."

Moores recently talked about himself on the British Broadcasting Corporation's "Tonight" program, which re-vealed more about him than any previous report.

He said he is overdrawn at the bank "most times," because he "can make much more than the 8 or 9 percent (interest) the bank pays," if he has his money invested elsewhere. According to the Guinness Book of Records, Moores had an estimated fortune in 1973 of about 400 million pounds, then worth about $960 million and today worth about $800 million. Moores, the son of a builder and born in a pub called the Church Inn at Eccles in Lancashire, left school at 14 and started work as a telegrapher for a cable company.

In 1923 he founded Littlewoods Pools, a gambling sys-tem based on the Saturday soccer games results. He expanded into mail order and chain stores and is still active running his empire, despite passing on the chairmanship to his son last year.

The white-haired Moores lives in a modest house with a large garden near Formby, a town of 10,000 on the Lancashire coast, 215 miles northwest of London.

Moores' wife died 13 years ago and he is looked after by a housekeeper. His only luxury appears to be his Rolls-Royce, with its JM1 license plate.

"I don't like waste," Moores said. "If I enjoy a thing it is worth buying. I don't like to see more taken on to a plate than can be eaten, or a man who buys clothes he never wears or spends more than he needs to

Asked if he believes in equality, Moores replied: "No. There is no equality. There never was and never will be."

ity of opportunity, but there never will be equality."

Moores said he didn't smoke and drank little. An accountant makes up his books once a year "and tells me what I'm worth."

In World War II, Moores turned to the war effort and his products included 3 million survival packs for the Pacific Theater. He said he was very impressed with the American system of punching time cards "from the top down," and he introduced it in his company,

NEW YORK (AP) - More banks join in a prime rate rise to 10% percent. General Motors cuts its year-end dividend to $2,50 a share from $3.25. The founder of a medium-size Midwest business decides to retrench.

All moves were revealed on the same day. Tuesday, and all are links in the same chain of thought: They foretell a possible business downturn. Recession? Nobody likes to say, but they're thinking.

As always, General Motors had been rather bullish about prospects for the next year and, as expected for an industry leader whose forecasters can be self-fulfilling, it broadcasts its confidence widely and loudly.

But numbers sometimes declare themselves more forcefully than rhetoric. The reduction leaves GM's sharethem, with about $210 million less than they had expected.

Why did GM do it, especially after those bullish forecasts? Because, it said, "pressing demands of the business and uncertainties which require that the corporation maintain its strong capital position."

In other words, money is getting too costly to borrow. No amount of confidence or hopes can change that fact. To survive, a person or company adjusts. A little pain now saves more later.

The Midwest businessman, who hasn't yet told his employees and so asks for anonymity, had been quite bullish, as you would expect from a man who personally built a successful company from nothing in 15 years.

"Nothing the president can do is going to salvage the holders, about 1.25 million of situation," he said. In his opinion, he continued, "we're going to have a recession that is deeper, more widespread and more prolonged than believed."

And so, after an almost steady expansion that included the acquisition of his chief local competitor just a few years ago. he said he would soon consolidate two factories into one, with resulting layoffs.

The company that is overextended, particularly in the amount of money it owes, can be mortally wounded in the coming recession, he said. "I might lose a few pails of milk," he said, 'but I'll save the cow."

And then? After a year or two the economy will be moving ahead again. "I'm positioning myself for that right now," he

While his retrenching might or might not be good business. depending upon the course of the economy, he contradicts himself in maintaining the president can do nothing to alter the course of events.

He, himself, is evidence of that: because of Washington's efforts to restrain inflation, if perhaps belatedly, he is cutting back when otherwise he might be planning further expansion.

If he and his counterparts continue to do so, then inflation might be reduced to what is now considered an acceptable 6 percent annual rate. The question then becomes: Can it be accomplished without reces-

Tax Jurisdiction Cut

When the Cases filed suit, he contended it would interfere with his 1972 judgment.

The supreme court said continuing jurisdiction was improper because judgment in the 1972 case became final 30 days after Walker entered it.

"We hold that a district court, on the basis of an agreed and final judgment that settled a controversy between one county taxpayer and county tax officials, cannot exercise continuing jurisdiction over all matters' relating to reappraisal and revaluation of taxable property in a county," the supreme court said.

It said this would make Walker's order blocking the Case suit void even if Walker had not rescinded it.

"To conclude otherwise would, in effect, permit a district judge to resolve a controversy between one taxpayer and the county tax officials and simultaneously retain unlimited jurisdiction over all county taxpayers. despite the failure to notify them and afford them an opportunity to be heard in a lawsuit that affects their rights as ad valorem taxpayers," the court said.

The decision also voided Walker's order last month approving certification of the Grayson County tax rolls.

Shetland Islands Feeling Impact of Newfound Oil Boom

LERWICK, Shetland Islands, Scotland (AP) - The hardy ladies of these remote islands north of Scotland are on the warpath against plans to fly in strippers to keep lonely oil workers happy.

Before the boom, the 20,000 islanders eked out a perilous living knitting sweaters, fishing a cruel sea and scraping a bare living from the peat-covered

Although the oil boom has meant new schools, houses, social facilities and more money, it has inflated prices and caused major social upheavals among the islanders, many of them descendants of Viking raiders who settled here in the eighth century.

construction camps far from industries have run down be-More Israelis Acquiring Cards To Obtain Credit

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel is taking a step towards cashless living as more Israelis have credit cards to pay restaurant bills, charge supermarket pur-chases, and put off the reckoning of expensive trips abroad.

"It's something Israelis are looking for," said Haim Bergstein, deputy managing direc-tor of Bank Hapoalim. "We can tell from the number of our applicants."

With the consumer price in-dex rising at a steady three percent a month, the shopper sees the credit card as a little hedge against inflation - buy something at today's price, pay for it next month, and if you're lucky the cost-of-living adjustment will have raised your salary by then.

Bank Hapoalim led the way by issuing the first general, nationally accepted card three years ago. Now Hapoalim's Isracard is heavily advertised as a convenient way to make purchases without cash in supermarkets, gas stations, shops and restaurants.

Hapoalim doesn't say how many card-holders it has. But two big competitors, Bank Leumi and Israel Discount Bank are also issuing credit cards, and each hopes to get 50,000 card-holders in a year or two, a good start in a population of just 3.5 million.

The cards don't come with time-payment schemes. Instead the banks take the amount due directly from the card-holder's checking account. Many Israelis have overdraft arrangements equal to a month's salary, and credit-card purchases can be covered by the over-draft just like checks, the banks say.

The interest charged on overdrafts is typically 28 percent, a hefty figure that is still attractve since the Israeli pound is being devalued at a higher rate. Inflation is expected to be 35-37 percent this year.

The big international credit cards are also descending on Israelis in a rush.

Israeli travelers can take up to $3,000 abroad, and the Finance Ministry decided there was no bar to Israelis making up to $3,000 of purchases with credit cards.

As 500,000 Israelis are expected to travel abroad this year there was clearly a big market for internationally accepted credit cards. Most advertisements for these cards stress the convenience of traveling without a great wad of cash or traveler's checks.

Deputy Finance Minister Ye- learned from the American exhezkel Floumin said there was some concern in the government that the international credit cards "may contribute a little to the spending of the Is-raeli tourist abroad and to the demand for foreign currency here for payment.

Flournin said, nonetheless, that the Finance Ministry wasn't planning to monitor either the international or domestic cards. "If there is a possible setback, it won't be large and we have to accept little problems with our liberal economic approach," he said.

The banks say they have perience with credit cards. One thing they aren't doing is mailing cards to people who haven't

An applicant must have an annual income of $4,400 to get a domestic card, a requirement only slightly above the average wage of $3,700. Since most Israeli families have two wage-earners, almost everybody would be eligible.

The banks say, however, they are more interested in an applicant's record as a bill-payer. "You don't have to be rich, just honest," said Yisahar Kaufman at Discount Bank.

Country-Style Philosopher

Puts Laughter in Learning

By BEECHER HUNTER Cleveland Daily Banner CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP)

Eddy Nicholson comes struttin' out in his Big Mac overalls and surveys the lay of the land. He's wearing a shirt that looks as if it has been made out of a flour sack.

He sits down in an old rocking chair and rolls up his britches a turn or two. Then he props his feet on the rail of a porch and says:

"These overalls remind me of the time in America when men were men, women were women and bread was biscuits." For looking and talking like that, he gets paid.

Nicholson, you see, is gaining a national reputation as the Rocking Chair Philosopher. And wherever he goes, the crowd loves it.

A recent engagement was at Carson-Newman College's Appreciation Dinner for members of the Torchbearer's Club.

The school, by the way, is Nicholson's alma mater. He graduated cum laude.

He was born in Cleveland, but his home base now is Lubbock, Tex., where he owns a number of business interests, including a publishing com-

But it's the Rocking Chair Philosopher that demands the major part of his attention nowadays.

"Country is in. Nostalgia is in. Getting back to the basics is in," Nicholson said.

"It's ridiculous how families are so busy that they don't have much time for each others." he said "That has got to er," he said. "That has got to be changed." And that has become a burning mission of Nicholson's. His spiel is funny, but underneath it is a message that is deadly serious. His audiences may leave without fully realizing what they have just heard until his philosophy has had the opportunity to sink in.

Nicholson attacks today's fast-moving society in unusual

His programs have such zany titles as "Folks Ain't A-Livin' No More," or "After Milkin' Time," or "How to Put Beans in Your Bucket."

He relates how it was on a small farm after the chores of the day. Skillfully blending mountaineer humor, country stories and gospel songs, Nich-olson pulls no punches in urg-ing families to spend more time with their young 'uns and with things that count.

The audiences may laugh, cry, sing and reminisce as Nicholson leads them in a stroll through yesteryear to a time when folks weren't so busy

"The Rocking Chair Philosopher opens doors for me. It's humor, but folks get the point," Nicholson said.

"Down deep, people want to get out of the rat race and play marbles with their boys. So I ask them, 'Why not?' "

Needlepoint

Important To Officer

SONORA, Calif. (AP) - Ned Day has something in common with Roosevelt Grier — when he picks up his needlepoint nobody laughs.

"Being the lieutenant of investigation, I don't get too much ribbing from the guys at work," says the Tuolumne County sheriff's officer. But he hasn't had any converts, either.

That doesn't bother the 37year-old Day, who is still excited about his second-place ribbon for a needlepoint entry in the Mother Lode Fair here earlier this year. His wife, Clare, talked him into entering a pillow with an outdoor scene featuring two mallard ducks taking flight from the water.

The former Los Angeles po-lice officer said he took up needlepoint shortly before moving to this Central California mountain community four years ago to take his mind off work.
"I needed something to relax and unwind with after I got home. Needlepoint fills the bill work that requires your full attention to turn in a good job,' Day says.

"I had several other hobbies at the time and most of those weren't relaxing, like archery and shooting, things I couldn't do inside the house," he says. Day says he got the idea for needlepoint from Grier, the former Los Angeles Rams defensive tackle. "I saw Rosey Grier on TV talking about needlepoint, and it looked like something I would enjoy," Day says.

So he bought supplies to make a belt for his wife and learned mostly by trial and error until he bought a book to learn different stitches. Since then he has made "just about anything that strikes my fancy," and many of his friends have received his creations as

The lieutenant wasn't the only Day who won at the fair this year. His two daughters won two ribbons and three honorable mentions with drawings and ceramics in the children's crafts division.

The prize-winning pillow was completed in 150 hours in "bits and pieces of time - in between murders, robberies and burglaries," but Day laughs when asked if his work influences his subject matter for his creations.

Although Day spends considerable time on stakeouts with his men, he says needlepointing is out of the question while working because of the intense concentration needed for both the job and the hobby

"Besides, most of our sta-keout work is at night and there just isn't enough light to needlepoint by."

Lizzie Attaway Ashlock Vibrant Woman at 98

By DENISE SMITH Brand Staff Writer

When asked what her secret formula was for living such a long and rigorous life Mrs. L.A. Ashlock replied, "Just hard work, I don't know anything else but hard work."

Born and raised in a small town near Fulton, Ky. Lizzie Attaway Ashlock was reared as a farmer. "It was a hard job. We began to work when we were small," Mrs. Ashlock stated. "We didn't have an easy way of farming. You plowed with a turning plow with one or two horses hitched on it and a man walking behind it keeping the plow in the ground."

Moving to Texas, in 1892, Mrs. Ashlock rented a small farm area from her mother's brother, where they first saw cotton. The family picked the cotton and helped bale it without the use of machinery. After being initiated to cotton farming on her uncle's land, Mrs. Ashlock and her sister

"My brothers were all too young to plow, the oldest was just nine years old. Well, they didn't know anything about plowing with a cultivator or any of the other plows that were used in Texas so we had to hire a hand to help us do the plowing.

"We were lucky enough to get a man that knew just how to raise cotton. And us children did the hoeing and picking of the cotton. He would make us chop every weed and every nut. We couldn't leave a string of grass, he'd make us go back and cut it

Well this man stayed with us for a year and then we had to hire another hand. This man didn't know much more about raising cotton than we did. I was 13, my oldest sister was 14, and my youngest sister was 10. Since we three girls were the oldest it fell on us to do the needing in the field. And it fell on me to be the boss. After we began the task of cotton farming quit having a hand I was old enough that I knew what to do and could tell my brothers and sisters what to do," she

> Taking on the responsibility of managing a farm, Mrs. Ashlock was depended on by every member of the family. "My mother depended on me just like if I had been a boy. I always said I was my daddy's boy," she jokingly said.

Marrying James M. Ashlock from Dallas County in 1906, Mrs. Ashlock bore 7 children. "I've always been used to a big family, coming from a family of eight," stated the animated woman. Moving from place to place during the Depression the Ashlocks settled in Hereford in "Hereford wasn't anything like it is now. It was a town of windmills, and farmers had very little cattle and livestock.' Mrs. Ashlock worked at a steam laundry during the depression. After working there for 2 years she decided that her salary receiving little attention to her request Mrs. Ashlock quit her job and opened up her own laundry house. "We had it hard yet we had a lot of fun," sighed the industrious woman.

Mrs. Ashlock is the mother of three daughters, and four sons. She presently resides in the Blue Water Garden Apartments with her oldest son. Another relative who played an integral part in the Ashlock's family for more than 40 years is her sister, Mrs. Mary Etta Cowan who recently celebrated her 100 birthday. Mrs. Cowan resides at South Hills Manor in Dimmitt.

Mrs. Ashlock enjoys oil painting. "My youngest sister came to see us and she had been painting for a long time. She told me, 'Attaway if I can paint, so can you.' Well, I didn't know anything about painting and so we went down and bought some paints and I started.

"I liked it so well that I just kept it up. I've never taken a lesson, I just loved to paint when I was little and I was always drawing something, flowers or some kind of pictures." Mrs. Ashlock started her endeavor of painting after she had reached the age of She is presently in the process of painting a picture for her youngest grandson.

Along with artwork, Mrs. Ashlock enjoys cooking simple dinners for her son. She enjoys reading and sewing, "I could sew good. I just had a treadel machine and I would sew clothes for all my children and husband," she said.

Mrs. Ashlock is a member of First Baptist Church. She will turn 99 in February. "I'm glad that I'm as healthy as I am, and living a good live. I'm lucky and I'm thankful with all my heart. I love people and I hope that people love me. I plan to live to be 100 years old and maybe even older than that. Some folks live to be 130. How they do that I don't know," stated the life-loving Lizzie Attaway AshHereford State Bank Community Room. All interested persons are welcome to attend. Tonight's meeting will offer an opportunity to learn more about the 4-H program, explaining what 4-H has to offer for youths. Interested parents are encouraged to attend. 4-H is open to all youths aged 9-19 without regard to race, color, sex or national origin.

Also of interest to 4-Hers this week is a "Backwards Party" to be held from 7-10 p.m. Friday night at the Bull Barn. Members of the 4-H Teen Leaders Association are sponsors.

A prize will be awarded to the youngster who arrives wearing the most articles of clothing backwards.

Games, skits, folk games and refreshments will be part of the evening. The party will be geared to families, with parents invited to attend. New members and their families are particularly encouraged to attend and acquaint themselves with other 4-Hers.

The question we are asking is this: If I should give birth to a baby that isn't "right," can I give it away? Are there places that will take such a child immediately after birth? Would it be cared for properly? Is such care expensive if we have to pay? You are the only one we can turn to for the answers. --Worried In The Midwest

DEAR WORRIED: I was stunned by your letter (never d one like it) - a no 23-year-old pregnant woman asking if someone will take her baby off her hands if it isn't "right."

I called Don Moss, Executive Director for the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens, for information. Mr. Moss tells me that only three percent of all babies are diagnosed as mentally retarded and the incidence is decreasing because parents are taking steps to prevent retardation by adequate pre-natal care and proper nutrition of the pregnant woman.

Only five percent of retarded babies will require round-theclock care outside of the home. The other 95 percent can lead healthy, happy lives in their own homes. Retarded children often bring to their parents and brothers and sisters an understanding and acceptance sharing of a common family problem that families without handicapped child never experience or appreciate. If parents psychologically reject a handicapped baby, it is better for the infant if he is placed with a family that can give him the love and acceptance he needs to overcome his disability. State and local agencies will work with the parents at no charge to find a home for the baby. DEAR ANN LANDERS: 1 am

When the story of the courageous women of our times is being written, the Three-Piece Polyester Slack Suit Group will deserve an entire volume.

The TPPSS (may their tribe increase) began as a small, non-violent task force of women who got sick of hemlines going up and down like a yo-yo, so they switched to slacks. When their stomachs strained at the polyester, they added an overblouse and over that a jacket. It was to become the marching uniform of the women who had had it with fashion dictators. I have not seen my mother's legs in 10 years.

When you think about it, no other group in our times has dared defy the trend-setters from Paris, London, and New York. Their tactics are some of the best in the world. They don't demonstrate, protest, lobby, burn anything, intimidate, or take their cause to the White House. They just ignore whatever fashion goes in or out.

Mother has remained firm by drip-dried through mini-skirts, maxi-coats, vests, gauze, wrap-arounds, layers, jump suits, tents, jumpers, bush jackets, Chinese quilted tops

She has weathered wedgies, berets, scarfs, pleats, padded shoulders, cowl collars, satins, denims, pajamas, and signature blouses. That takes a special kind of guts.

The other day I said to Mother, "What do you think of the new styles?"

"Tell me what they are and I'll tell you what I think of "They're bringing stockings with seams back." "It's all right if your legs haven't grown together, then they look like they're sectioning off meat at the butcher's." "Shoulder pads are going to be in and so are culottes." "That's nice," she said, "come and see what I'm making." On her sewing table was another TPPSS. "Mother, why do you limit yourself to just one style?" "I'd like to change 'em once in awhile, but if I put the zipper on the side, and tucks in the front, next year some designer would say the zipper has to be in the back and tucks are out. If I tucked the blouse in, next year designers would put it out. The jacket with the big patch pockets would be redesigned to be shorter and with puffed sleeves and the whole suit would be made out of foil or something. If I left the hem at the ankle, some smart-aleck would say it had to drag on the floor. We're hanging in there because we dress to be

(Federal agencies offer many services to individuals and groups, but sometimes it's hard to learn about those services or how to benefit from them. This weekly column provides such information.)

Uncle Sam, who got into the printing business to cut the cost of daily publication of the Congressional Record, now is one of the biggest book sellers in the country. And to make it more convenient for you to get copies of thousands of government publications, the Government Printing Office has set up 25 book stores around the country and plans more. There probably is one not too far from you. There are six

Mostly they are in federal buildings. But two recently opened in shopping centers in Birming and Houston. There's talk of opening another in down wn Washington. Each shop stocks 2,000 titles that vary depending on what the manager thinks will sell best. The CIA's geopolitical essays are big at the Pentagon, while the New York shop, near Wall Street, leans heavily toward commerce and business titles.

"I'm sure there's nothing secret in the CIA things for sale at the Pentagon," says Carlyn Crout, who speaks for Carl LaBarre, the GPO's superintendent of documents.
"We have to have approval of each agency before selling their output."

GPO began as the public print shop the day President Lincoln was inaugurated. It still retains that function, doing nearly a half-billion dollars worth of printing annually. But in the last decade it has expanded into the Last year 55.7 million copies of publications were sold to the public, bringing in $43,262,184.

GPO's all-time best-seller is "Infant Care" — 17.2 million copies. Close behind it are "Pre-Natal Care," "Your Child from 1 to 6" and "Your Child from 6 to 12," which together have sold more than 23 million copies. Wallet-sized cards on "rescue breathing" and the metric Wallet-sized cards on "rescue breathing" and the metric system have sold in the millions, often through bulk sales. Another big seller is "Your Social Security." That's followed by "Septic Tank Care."

For some years LaBarre's operation was bogged down handling orders and had a six-week backlog. Now the operation's been automated, with central mailing from Pueblo, Colo. Most mail orders are now filled in a few days.

The publications are cheap, compared with commercial books. Many are priced at $2 to $3. Price is set by law cost plus 50 percent — and 3,000 titles are weeded out of GPO's list yearly while another 3,000 are added. There are two ways to find out what GPO has available:

 Each month it puts out the 16-page "Selected U.S.
 Government Publications," which gives a brief summary of 150 available titles and a mail-order form. It's free, on request to Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Attention: mail list, Stop SSOM, Washington, DC, 20401.

NEW YORK (AP) - A two-party profile of the American voter reveals Republican party officials have a lot more work to do at the grass roots if the Grand Old Party is to challenge the Democrats for political supremacy.

An Associated Press - NBC News poll, conducted as voters were leaving polling places across the nation Tuesday, paints a troubling picture for Republicans. In group after group of the millions who voted this week, the GOP remains a decided minority.

From one perspective, the Republicans should be pleased by the famous "only poll that counts." that is. Tuesday's elections.

In state capitols, the number of Republican governors jumped from 12 to 18. Victors in Pennsylvania against a newsbreed Democrat was especially sweet for the GOP. Still, most of the gains came in small states.

and Democrats once considered vulnerable were reelected in California and New York.

Republicans picked up 12 seats in the House, where Democrats held a 2-1 edge. But it was an average performance at best by historical standards, since the party out of power almost always gains in off-year

In the Senate, where Democrats outnumbered Republicans 61-38 going into Tuesday's balloting, today's scorecard reads 58-41, with one independent.

But the bottom line is voters, and it is here that the Republicans look weakest.

Among all population groups. throughout the nation. Democrats are the party of choice.

No matter how you divy up the American melting pot. Democrats can claim majority support from Tuesday's congressional vote.

The AP-NBC News poll found 38 percent of the voters characterized themselves as Democrats; only 23 percent said Americans. 47 percent. And they were Republicans. Among the 32 percent who consider themselves political independents, Democratic House candidates outpolled Republicans 49 percent to 44 percent. The poll, based on interviews with nearly 35,000 voters, was the largest single-day public opinion survey ever conducted.

Among all occupation groups. from executives and professionals 51 percent to housewives and the unemployment 66 percent, Democrats polled a clear majority.

Democrats also did well among religious groups. Sixty percent of the nation's Catholic voters went Democratic in the House elections. Among Jews. it was 68 percent. Protestants split their vote, with 48 percent going to candidates of each party.

Democrats piled up 85 percent of the vote from black Americans. Among Hispanics. 78 percent. Among Oriental-among whites, 51 percent. The huge majorities rolled up among black and Hispanic voters are especially significant since both groups are growing faster than the U.S. population as a whole.

Among income groups, Republicans scored one clear victory: gaining a 54 percent to 42 percent preference among those who earn more than $35,000 a year. Unfortunately for the GOP, the group represents just 12 percent of the electorate, and Democrats swept the other income classes.

GOP candidates did claim small majorities among several ethinic groups, including the large U.S.-German population. where Republicans were preferred 51 percent to 45 percent. A majority of Americans of British and Scandinavian descent also voted Republican, but Democrats captured the greater percentage of ethnics overall. winning majorities among the Irish, Italians, Orientals, Hispanics, Blacks, Slaviks, Poles and Russians.

And, finally, all age groups and both sexes preferred Democratic candidates - by 56 percent to 39 percent among females and by 52 percent to 43 percent among males.

As with every sample survey. the results of the AP-NBC News street poll can vary from the opinions of all voters because of chance variations in the sample.

For polls with nearly 35,000 interviews, the results should vary no more than 1 percentage point either way simply because of simple error. This is to say that all we have

Spirit Of Interdependence

The Little House On The Prairie has neighbors now.

The free-wheeling days when a man dug his own well and his own sewer and could pursue his own interests pretty much independent of others--those days are no more.

Now, in a sardine society, we must develop, encourage and, if necessary, require and enforce a new "spirit of interdependence."

That some of us may prefer things the way they used to be doesn't matter. Things are not going to be the way they were-ever again.

THIS WINTER, ADD A CARRIER HEAT PUMP TO YOUR FURNACE AND SAVE HEATING DOLLARS!

Carrier's Year-round One heat pump is an efficient, economical heating and cooling system all by itself. It can replace any old, worn-out forced-air furnace.

But if your forced-air furnace (electric, gas, or oil) is in good shape, you can add a heat pump to it — and get really low heating costs! That's because your new combination furnace-heat pump system heats with either the furnace or heat pump. Depending on outside temperature, the system automatically chooses whichever heating method can save you the most money! Add a Carrier Year-round One - get lower heating bills

EPA May Curtail Use of Endrin

WASHINGTON (AP) - Use of and apple orchards, and on a potential cancer-causing pesticide, endrin, would be sharply curtailed by a new government proposal now under consideration.

But the Environmental Protection Agency said Tuesday some uses of endrin would be allowed to continue, provided additional safeguards are met in an application.

After reviewing endrin for more than two years, the EPA proposed that its use "be allowed to continue on wheat cotton in some areas" as long as safety precautions are taken.

The EPA's conclusions have been forwarded for further comment to its scientific advisory panel and to the Agriculture Department: Velsicol Chemical Corp, the only U.S. maker of endrin; environmental groups; and other interested parties, the agency said.

Comments from those will be considered before a final decision is reached on the use of endrin, the EPA said.

Douglas M. Costle, EPA administrator, said his agency has "concluded that for some uses the risks endrin outweigh most of its social and economic benefits."

"Endrin has caused birth defects in laboratory animals and may pose the same danger to humans," he said in a statement. "Endrin also is a threat to wildlife, and is acutely toxic to fish."

The EPA recommended that "all uses of endrin on cotton be stopped in those areas where likely to occur," Costle said.

The agency defined those areas to be all states east of the Mississippi River plus Louisiana, Arkansas, and parts of Texas and Oklahoma.

Endrin is used on only 1 percent of the acres planted to cotton in the United States, the EPA said. Its use has been declining in recent years because of increased pest resistance to the chemical.

About 390,000 pounds of endrin are used annually to treat contamination of water is most cotton, wheat and apple orchards, the EPA said.

> Under the proposal, endrin use could continue under restriction on wheat to control army cutworms and pale western cutworms, in apple orchards to control western meadow mice and pine mice, and for some minor uses such as on sugarcane, pine tree seeds

In commenting on Cavin's record, Ben A. Jordan, Jr., regional director, said, "Jim has made many outstanding contributions to the farmers of this region through his involvement in sales and service work in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. His experience will be a great asset in establishing an effective training program for FCIC employees."

TFB Convention Will Address Major Issues

DALLAS - Parity prices, regulatory agencies, export markets, energy problems, and taxes are among the major issues facing farmers that will be aired at the Texas Farm Bureau's 45th annual meeting here Nov. 26-29, according to Carrol Chaloupka, TFB presi-

The policy development process of the state's largest farm organization will climax with adoption of state policies for next year, Chaloupka explained. The expected 1,100 voting delegates from the 212 organized county units in Texas tions for national policies. These will be forwarded to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting in January in Miami Beach.

Theme for this year's convention, which will be held in the Dallas Hilton and Dallas Convention Center, is "Farm Bureau for Freedom and Profit.'

The state farm organization has made an intensive effort to get the thinking of its producer-members on policy positions, Chaloupka said. Some 50 multi-county meetings were held around the state in the maximum participation in the policy development process, he added.

In addition to taking care of policy matters, the voting delegates will elect directors from six of the 13 TFB districts and a president. The TFB Board of Directors will meet immediately following adjournment of the convention to elect a vice president and secretary-treasurer from among their own

The business session of the convention will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28, and continue have been disposed of. The last order of business is election of directors and the president.

Chaloupka and a guest speaker yet to be announced will address the convention on Monday morning, Nov. 27. S.M. True Jr., Plainview, TFB secretary-treasurer, will make his report that morning.

Conferences set for 1 p.m. Monday include Animal Health, Energy, Cotton, Wheat and Feed Grains, Rice and Farm Bureau Services. Scheduled at 3:30 p.m. are conferences on Livestock, Peanuts and Oilseeds, Research and Education, Farm Labor, Water and Dairy.

A number of activities involving young people are scheduled during the convention. The Discussion Meet and Talent Find competition will be Sunday evening in the Dallas Convention Center Theater, and the Queen Contest is set for the same theater on Monday evening.

Various recognition awards will be interspersed throughout the meeting. Awards are given each year to counties with outstanding achievements in membership, public relations, safety, and services. Individual awards include the Outstanding Young Farmer and Rancher Award and the Meritorious Service to Agriculture Award.

Other individuals who will appear on the program include Warren Newberry, Waco, TFB executive director, who will make his annual administrative report at the beginning of the business session. Rev. Richard Freeman, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Waco, will be vesper speaker Sunday evening. Ms. Bobbie Wygant, KXAS Television, Fort Worth, will speak at the Ladies Luncheon on Monday.

Friona Industries Reports 'Best First Quarter Ever'

FRIONA — Friona Industries, Inc. reported net income of almost $1.2 million, or 92 cents per share, on revenues of approximately $23.6 million for its first quarter ended September 30, 1978.

This compared with net income of $333,000, or 27 cents per share, on revenues of $15 million in the first quarter of the prior fiscal year.

"Continued favorable market conditions in the cattle industry helped the company achieve its best first quarter financial results ever," Ron Davenport, president, told shareholders at their annual meeting in Friona today.

The company cattle and custom feeding segments of business produced the majority of the earnings. However, all segments, including commercial feed, animal health and grain, were substantially ahead of the first quarter of the previous fiscal year.

Gross profit of about $378,000 from commercial feed was almost three times greater than in the same period of the prior year, mainly because of the considerable improvement in feedyard occupancy in the company's operating area.

The sale of animal health supplies and other agricultural products such as insecticides increased about 43 percent when compared with the same quarter of last year, and gross profit from this segment of business exceeded $453,000, up 33 percent.

Custom feeding revenues more than doubled and gross profit of $685,000 was 95 percent higher when compared with the same quarter of fiscal 1978. This was chiefly the result of a major increase--57 percent -- in the number of cattle in the company's three feedyards.

Average occupancy for the quarter was more than 88

Gross profit generated by the sale of approximately 16,600 head of company-owned cattle was also the best for any quarter ever, and totaled more than $1.6 million, or 3 times greater than in the same period of last year when about 15,000 head were

'Because of improved cattle prices on a year-to-year comparison basis, companyowned cattle achieved a good margin of profitability. The number of cattle currently in feedyards indicates that our overall operations should continue at profitable levels. However, as is traditional in our industry, there will probably be fluctuations in the market price for fat cattle, which could from time to time decrease profit margins on the sale of company-owned catle," said Davenport.

Gross profit for grain and other operations, including grain hauling and steel fabrication, was approximately $21,000 or an increase of 47 percent.

The board of directors approved a quarterly cash dividend of 10 cent per share on the common stock. It is payable February 1, 1979, to shareholders of record as of January 18,

During the annual meeting, shareholders approved a resolution to increase the authorized number of the company's shares of common stock from 3 million to 5 million shares and to create a new class of 2 million shares of preferred stock. This was done for the purpose of providing the company with alternatives and flexibility with respect to corporate financing and future acquisitions.

You'll earn from $75 to $900 in valuable John Deere money for your early order on certain models of a disk, chisel plow, or hay equipment. You can then exchange the John Deere dollars mailed directly to you for goods or services at our store.

That's not all. By building equipment to your early order, John Deere can supply the exact model and size you need with just the options you want. We can figure your tradein at top value knowing we'll have time to recondition and resell it. And you'll gain added savings on hay equipment from the waiver of finance charge program.

There are dozens of disks, chisel plows, and hav tools in this early order program. But your preseason order must be signed before specific dates to earn the most John Deere dollars. Come in soon and ask us for our best deal on this new equipment.

Swine Market Expected To Maintain Strength

COLLEGE STATION -Market hog prices look sfavorable through the third quarter of 1979 even though production is expected to .. increase.

is Much of the expected strength is because of a continued strong demand for ered meats and expected short supplies of beef, says livestock marketing economist Dr. Ernest IE. Davis. Davis is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M

! University System. "Pork production this year ewill equal last year's 13.05 bbillion pounds," Davis says. "The current hog-corn ration of 25.4 should encourage and estimulate hog production in 91979 by 5 percent, with the increase beginning the second equarter of next year."

For the period of October through December, commercial hog slaughter should be down only 1 percent from year-ago levels. But the total frozen pork supplies are indicated to be up 123 percent in the September cold storage report, which will provide some cushion to the expected slaughter reductions, Davis points out. He projects stronger prices in January through March, averaging between $49-$52 per 1979 barrow and gilt prices should average $48-$51 per hundredweight. Of course, there is always a chance of government intervention in the form of price controls, notes the specialist. In this case, price ceilings will most likely be above break-even costs and may only be imposed on the beef sector.

Although there is a projected production increase, it may not be a gerat one.

"There is still and always will be a hog cycle responding to profits and losses," Davis says.

hundredweight. Second quarter "But the wide, wild fluctuations might be tempered by the changing structure of the hog raising industry."

Raising hogs has become a big business, resulting in larger but fewer production units, the specialist explains. Capital requirements for expansion have become enormous and restrictive, and the larger-scale operations demand top management, he notes. Many potential newcomers are lost after their first review of water and air pollution controls, in addition to many other

Today In History

TODAY IN HISTORY By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1978. There are 52 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated at the end of World War I.

On this date: In 1872, a fire broke out in Boston, and nearly 1,000 buildings were destroyed.

In 1933, President Franklin Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration to provide jobs for more than 4 million jobless men and women.

In 1938, bands of Nazis roamed the streets of Germany, burning and destroying Jewish synagogues, homes and places of business. In 1953, the U.S. Supreme, Court confirmed a 1922 ruling that major league baseball does not come under federal anti-trust laws. In 1965, the northeastern United States and part of Canada were crippled by a massive power failure. In 1970, former French President Charles de Gaulle died at the age of 79.

Ten years ago: A father and two sons from the Arab nation of Yemen were arrested in New York and charged with conspiring to assassinate President-elect Richard Nixon.

Five years ago: Former CIA agent Howard Hunt was sentenced in Washington to 21/2 years in prison for his part in the Watergate break-in, and five others got shorter terms.

One year ago: Israeli fighter-bombers attacked targets in southern Lebnon, and the Lebanese government said two villages were leveled, with at least 60 civilians killed.

Today's birthdays: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew is 60 years old. Former Ambassador Sargent Shriver is 63. Thought for today: If you don't learn to laugh at trouble, you won't have anything to laugh at when you're old - Ed Howe, American writer, 1853-1937. TEXAS CATTLE FEEDERS

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband has just been told that his cholesterol is normal but his triglycerides are high. He has been instructed to use corn oil and corn oil margarine and to stay away from animal fats. Would you send us a booklet to help olan his meals and lower his triglycerides? DEAR READER — Triglyceride means fat. Your sband's doctor thinks that he has too many fatty parti-cles in his bloodstream. The best dietary program for this problem in many instances is simple weight reduction. If there is any measurable fat underneath his skin around his waist, it means he could still lose some weight.

Triglycerides can also be lowered with exercise. An adequate amount of exercise every other day goes a long way toward lowering trigly-cerides. Unless your husband has been used to exercising, he should start gradually and sensibly.

I would recommend that he start walking every day once he's able to walk an hour without feeling tired, then he can gradually add some jogging steps to it if he wants to become a jogger. At that point, if he is able to exercise a reasonable
