Govt. Trims Many Non-War Expenditures

Year's Outlay For Conflict Will Reach 74 Billions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. President Roosevelt told congress today that federal cash expenditures for war in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943, now were estimated at $74,000,000,000 and non-war outlays at $4,194,000,000.

Non-war expenditures of the government, Mr. Roosevelt reported, have been cut more than a third from their 1939 peak. The chief executive submitted a 96-page analysis of trends of non-war governmental spending which showed that from a peak of $8,516,000,000 in 1939 they had dropped 35.5 per cent.

Covering Mr. Roosevelt's entire tenure in the White House, the report showed war expenditures had jumped upward from a low of $678,000,000 in 1934, passing the billion dollar mark for the first time in 1938.

Tax Roll For School Dist. Is Approved

Tax statements for the Big Spring Independent school district went into the mails today, enabling property owners to take advantage of a 3 per cent discount for payment during this month.

Work was completed with approval by the board of trustees Thursday night, of the 1942 tax roll, which showed a $180,010 increase in valuation to a total of $9,722,665.

The board accepted the resignation of Seth Parsons as instructor of diversified occupations, and elected Pat Murphy as his successor.

Rodent Extermination Drive Set For Oct. 30

Big Spring school children and their parents will be mobilized for a city-wide campaign of rat extermination the week of October 28, with the work to climax on October 30 when poison baits will be placed in as many possible homes as can be brought into the program.

Survived Sinking—Lt. Comm. Harry Baker Heneberger, 39 (right), of Winchester, Mass., gunnery officer aboard the U.S. Cruiser Quincy when it and two other American cruisers were sunk by the Japs in the Solomons, vividly described the night battle to Admiral Chester Nimitz, (left), commander of the Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor, who recently returned from a tour of the Solomons.

Japs' Kiska Camp Is Set Afire By U. S. Bombers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—An air attack on the Japanese camp at Kiska in the Aleutian islands started many large fires and destroyed three enemy seaplanes on the water, the navy reported today.

The raid was carried out Wednesday by army Liberator bombers, accompanied by twin engine Lightning fighters, a communique said. While the bombers rained incendiary bombs on the enemy camp, the fighters strafed and destroyed the Japanese seaplanes.

The Alaska defense command disclosed earlier today that American troops had taken over another island in the Andreanoff group of the Aleutians, in a "routine operation."

On October 11, the navy communique said, army long-range bombers dropped six tons of demolition bombs on the Kiska camp, but results were not observed.

On October 14th, army "Liberator" bombers accompanied by "Lightning" fighters, dropped incendiary bombs on the camp area at Kiska starting many large fires. No enemy aircraft opposition was encountered.

Three beached and two sunken ships, the result of previous bombings, were observed in the vicinity of the harbor at Kiska.

The navy has reported that reconnaissance has failed to show any sign of enemy occupancy of Attu and Agattu islands in the western Aleutians for several weeks, indicating possible withdrawal from those far western islands.

Negro Convicted In Midland Shootings

MIDLAND, Oct. 16 (AP)—Convicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of two policemen, I. W. Watson, negro hotel operator, was held under $4,000 bond today.

Watson was sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary. His attorneys gave notice of appeal. Officers Joe Pierce and Glenn Hudson were wounded when they answered a call to the negro section of Midland last May 17.

Victory Tax Gets Approval Of Committee

Compromise Of $350 Reached On Credit For Dependents

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—A joint senate-house conference committee agreed today to retain in the new revenue bill the 5 per cent Victory tax on all income of individuals over $624 yearly.

Making only minor changes in the form of the levy as it was adopted by the senate, the committee acted to cut out of the bill a comparable 5 per cent withholding tax on net income previously voted by the house for the advance collection of income taxes.

Acting swiftly on controversial sections of the bill, the conferees agreed to fix the credit for dependents under the regular income tax at $350 instead of the $400 level voted by the house and senate figure of $300.

In approving the victory tax, which would be collected at the source from most wage and salary earners beginning next January 1, the conferees agreed to exclude from the withholding provisions fees paid to such public officials as sheriffs and others.

It also instructed experts to draft language to regulate the collections on persons whose earnings largely are from commissions and moved toward clarification of provisions requiring employers to furnish employees with receipts for the amounts withheld from the latter's pay checks.

Proposes Plan On Labor Migration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—A shift of workers to areas of labor surplus and establishment of a national migration policy were proposed today by Senator Pepper, (D-Fla.), chairman of a senate subcommittee investigating manpower problems.

"We cannot afford to shift millions of people to concentrated centers of war work if such work can be brought to people where they already are," Pepper declared.

Pepper's committee scheduled another hearing this afternoon on a resolution proposing a special investigation of the whole manpower question.

He said that while it would appear the great demands for labor could be satisfied in part by adoption of a "subsidies" and guide the movement of people from surplus to shortage areas, "some of our manpower shortages are caused by improper location of contracts."

"Clearly, the distribution of contracts must be reviewed in order to bring work to our people where they already live," the Florida senator continued.

Cotton Storage Is Topic Before AAA Conference

Farm storage cotton discussions, conducted by Jack Hall, College Station, district field officer, closed the two-day meeting Friday morning of the District Six, North, AAA meeting at the Settles hotel.

Approximately 100 persons were on hand for the two-day session. Speakers during the meetings included H. H. Marshall, College Station, state agricultural statistician, spoke on the 1942 cotton allotments and 1943 yields.

I. H. Lloyd of College Station Station talked Thursday on the government regulations covering purchase and transfer of farm implements.

Much of the two-day parley covered increase of crop production for the coming year and the effects of war-caused shortage of farm machinery.

Lower Draft Age Approved By Senate Military Group

Bombardier School Open To The Public From 1 To 5 On Sunday

Big Spring people will have the opportunity Sunday of having a close-up look at the Army Air Forces Bombardier School. Col. Sam L. Ellis, commanding officer, has announced that the school will be open to the public from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday and that all facilities—with a few restricted areas as exceptions—will be available for inspection.

Those visiting during that time will be admitted at the gate without the formality of a written pass; and they will have opportunity to view most of the buildings and operational facilities at the field.

This marks the first formal opening of the field to the public, although construction work is about complete, and training is in progress.

Stalingrad's Defenses Are Pushed Back. MOSCOW, Oct. 16. (AP)—The defenders of Stalingrad retreated to new positions under cover of early morning darkness today and with their backs to the broad Volga were reported making a new and stubborn stand for victory.

The attackers already had penetrated dangerously into the Russian defenses on a one-mile-wide sector of the northern suburbs in this renewal of the offensive after days of stalemate and the army newspaper, Red Star, said that "the vile enemy aims to capture the city at any cost."

The battle of Stalingrad, like the long struggle for Sevastopol in the Crimea, had already disrupted the Germans' offensive schedule. Possession of a factory settlement was the immediate issue. Dispatches said the main struggle raged "several kilometers deep" within the settlement, with garrison forces pitted against the onslaughts of two infantry divisions and 100 tanks.

Regulations Fixed For Coast Dim-Out

HOUSTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—All lights which the army considers unnecessary to business or public safety must be extinguished and others must be arranged so they can be put out within five minutes after an air raid signal, army officials have decided.

The regulations, which affect Houston and other cities and towns along the Gulf coast, was announced yesterday after a conference attended by Col. Ike Ashburn, city-county civilian defense director; Mayor Neal Pickett, law enforcement agents of the city and county; the coast guard, the state highway patrol, representatives of business, the oil industry, utilities and hospitals.

Eugene Penn One Of Graduates At Midland School

Eugene D. Penn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Penn, was among the bombardier graduates at the Midland bombardier school in special exercises Thursday.

Awarded wings and a second lieutenant's commission, Penn was ordered to report for further training in South Carolina. A graduate of Bonham high school, Penn studied engineering at the University of Texas and at the time of his enlistment was employed in the geological department of the Shell Oil company at Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Penn were in Midland yesterday to witness their son's graduation.

Like Action Is Expected In The House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—The senate military committee recommended the drafting of 18 and 19-year olds today shortly after the house arranged for final action tomorrow on similar legislation.

Rumbling arose on the house side of the capitol of displeasure over a school deferment amendment in the bill before it and the lack of assurance of a full 18 months' training for the youthfulness selected.

The objections were aired at a rules committee hearing on house procedure on the bill, which administration leaders said they expected would be passed swiftly, as one answer of a democracy to totalitarian threats.

The bill approved unanimously by the senate committee was sponsored by Senator Gurney (R-S.D.) who announced that the measure would go to the senate floor Monday. A $6,000,000 naval appropriation bill has the right of way, however, and Gurney said that a vote on the draft bill was unlikely before Tuesday.

New Jap Forces On Guadalcanal Isle Attacking Yanks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—The Japanese have landed large reinforcements with equipment, including artillery, on Guadalcanal island and are now shelling American positions on the island, the navy reported today.

A large concentration of enemy ships also has been discovered near Shortland island about 25 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, a navy communique said, in addition to the enemy naval units in the southeastern Solomon islands.

Presence of American motor torpedo boats in the Solomons area was disclosed in a report that enemy warships shelling American positions on Guadalcanal the night of October 14-15 were attacked by these torpedo boats, which reported a probable torpedo hit on a Japanese cruiser.

During the morning of October 14, the navy said, searching planes sent out to scout the enemy strated and damaged nine enemy planes on the beach at Rekata Bay on Santa Isabel island, about 115 miles north of Guadalcanal.

The same afternoon, navy and marine corps dive bombers escorted by fighters, left Guadalcanal to attack enemy transports approaching the island.

In two attacks on the Jap ships they scored "minor damage," but lost one fighter.

The communique did not say whether the enemy concentration in the Buna-Falala area near Shortland island were transports or warships, but the implication appeared to be that it was composed of both, and that the enemy was preparing to reinforce still further the heavy detachments it has succeeded in placing ashore on Guadalcanal.

Stepped-up aerial and naval action throughout the whole battle-inflamed area bolstered likelihood that a showdown was near at hand for possession of the pivotal Guadalcanal island and its prized airbase captured more than two months ago by United States marines.

Within the last 24 hours, the navy reported last night, Japanese bombers have blasted at the flying field, following up an earlier bombardment from the sea by an enemy armada that included battleships, cruisers and destroyers.

New Disorders Over Europe

By The Associated Press. Europe's conquered nations seethed with mounting bitterness against the Nazi yoke today and dispatches told of a wave of violent disorders sweeping unoccupied France, German firing-squads dealing out ruthless reprisal for outcroppings of revolt in Yugoslavia, and continuing unrest in Norway.

A Moscow broadcast reported that a big fire—presumably set by Norwegian patriots—had put the Nazi submarine-building yards at Trondheim, on Norway's Atlantic coast, out of operation for a long time.

The broadcast said that Nazi commissioner Josef Terboven had flown to the scene of the trouble and then on to Berlin, and a higher member of Himmler's Gestapo had arrived in Oslo in connection with pressing orders of revolt.

At the same time, Norwegian quarters in London said the hated Quisling regime in Norway had confined more than 1,100 clergymen of the Norwegian church to their homes, because the priests refused to recognize the Quisling regime.

Quisling was reported ordaining hundreds of unqualified laymen to fill the pulpits of 700 churches.

The student deferment provision, written into the bill at the suggestion of Representative Killday (D-Tex.), grants a delay only to students requesting it. Killday conceded it would result in the wholesale deferment of every 18 or 19-year-old student until next July 1.

Of the estimated 2,500,000 additional men the legislation would make liable to the draft, the committee was told that some 1,000,000 would be cancelled out because of enlistments or rejections.

The great majority of the estimated 450,000 men to be inducted in December of this year, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey had explained, would come from the teen-age group if the law were passed. The rest, he said, probably would be called up by April, at which time it would be necessary to call married men without children and single men with dependents.

How the scholastic amendment would affect his plans could not be determined, but committee members pointed out he had submitted his estimates amid indications that the amendment would be approved.

WTCC Work Program Voted By Local Group

All points in an 11-plank platform for the West Texas chamber of commerce for 1942-43 were approved at a meeting Thursday night of members of the local C-O directorate and the local public relations committee which correlates local activities with those of the WTCC.

The vote, by mail, on the WTCC platform, replaces the regional organization's annual convention, called off because of the war. Big Spring's ballot on the work program goes into WTCC headquarters along with those of all other member towns, for final counting next month.

The local group, headed by B. Reagan, stressed as a major WTCC activity the campaign for fiscal control legislation, with a budget system in the state government; together with a campaign for state redistricting. Other WTCC planks approved:

DEGREE WORK

The enter apprentice degree will be given at the Masonic Hall by the Blue Lodge at 8 p. m. today. Members and visitors were invited to attend.

WTCC Work Program Voted By Local Group

Seeking a minimum of 15 per cent greater cotton allotment; seeking an amendment of cotton allotment formula to give West Texas a fairer share; championing of grain sorghums as a raw material source for alcohol for rubber and campaigning for alcohol plants in West Texas; seeking legislative appropriation to continue the freight rate equalization program; continuing the war activities contest and reporting to the president full war activities carried on throughout the region; seeking rationing formulas giving West Texas parity treatment; organizing post-war economy committees and subscribing to the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

The committee voted for the selection of Reagan as district director, and approved Reagan and B. C. Dunham as Big Spring's directors on the WTCC board.

Steers To Lamesa Tonight In Quest Of District Win

Cagle At End Only Change In Lineup

Hungry for victory after two successive defeats, the Big Spring Steers go in quest of it at the tough hunting grounds at Lamesa this evening.

The opposition, always tough for Big Spring, is the Lamesa Golden Tornado. The stake is either one rung up or down the district 3-A ladder.

Coach John Dibrill left shortly after 1 p. m. today with his charges in order to give them plenty of time to look over the Lamesa playing field and to rest before game time.

He indicated that there would be little change in his usual starting lineup, except that Glen Cagle, who has been blossoming out as an end prospect, may start in the place of Big John Urey. Pappy Blount will be at the other terminal, Glen Brown and Bob Boykin at tackles and Bud Coffee and Darrell Webb at guards.

Starting center will be Billy Bob McDonald and the regular backfield—Dewey Stevenson at quarter, Ernest Bostick and Billy Mims at halves, and Doyle Stewart at fullback—will start in the line Leo Ruak, promising guard, is a cinch to get to play much and both Noel Hull and I. B. Bryan, understudy tackles, probably will see considerable service during the evening.

Thursday evening the Steers loosened up, practiced a defense against a spread formation Lamesa sprung on Abilene last week, polished off a change in type of passing and checked timing on some pep plays until they looked the best they have all season.

The Steer pass defense looked better than it has, and at the same time Ernest Bostick was staying better within his zone of protection on his passing—and hitting his receivers well. Big Spring is due to hold its own in the air with Lamesa and win—if it does on the ground.

Starters for Jimmy Cloyd's Lamesa team likely will be Roberts and Bratcher, ends; Dreesman and Gunn, tackles; Aslin and Russell, guards; Beck, center; Kessler (triple-threat), Owen Taylor (heavy back), Eudy, and Gaultner, backs.

One Lamesa Player Out With Injuries
LAMESA, Oct. 16 — In good shape physically and mentally for the game with the Big Spring Steers Friday night on Lamesa's McCollum field, the Lamesa High Golden Tornadoes are prepared to put up a good fight against the Steers, Coach J. K. Cloyd said Thursday. Only one man, Charles Bussell, end, will be out with injuries. He sustained a severely bruised knee this week, and probably will not be in the game.

"We've been stressing our weak points in hard practice sessions this week," Coach Cloyd said, "and we have been stressing offensive plays. I believe we have made considerable improvement over our game of last week."

The Steers and Tornadoes are said to be about evenly matched both in strength and in ability, although the Steers outweigh the Tornadoes. In spite of the fact that the Tornadoes have lost two conference games, their spirits are undaunted, and they are eager for the combat Friday night.

Your Guess On The Games May Be As Good As Barker's

By HERB BARKER
NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Taking the weekly buggy ride along the football guessing trail:

Iowa Naval-Notre Dame: May be there's some place along their tough schedule that Bernie Bierman's Pre-Fighters are going to tumble. This corner declines to even try to figure out when that's going to be. These naval outfits, with their wealth of manpower, apparently are not so susceptible to slumps as are ordinary college teams. Iowa Naval.

Tulane-Georgia: Sinkwich and Trippe give Georgia a terrific scoring punch, enough, it seems here, to give the Bulldogs what edge there may be in this game. Georgia.

Princeton-Penn: The Tigers furnished a big surprise last week in the upset of Navy. It would be a much bigger one if they win this one. Penn.

Army-Columbia: With due respect for the passing prowess of Columbia's Paul Governall, this vote goes to Army.

Tennessee-Alabama: As usual this is a crucial Southeastern conference clash. Two bitter rivals, each with plenty of football talent. After due consideration and with not a little trepidation, Alabama.

Texas Christian-Texas A. & M.: The Cadets seem to have fallen up on evil football days. T.C.U.

Washington State-Southern California: State has won three in a row; the Trojans haven't beaten anybody. Which makes it hard to justify this hunch that Southern California is due to start moving. U.C.L.A.

U.C.L.A.-California: This corner herewith gets off the tottering California bandwagon, probably at precisely the wrong moment. U.C.L.A.

Duquesne-North Carolina: Close enough. Duquesne may be the state's best team and gets this shaky ballot.

North Carolina Naval-Boston College: This guesser has found nothing but trouble in any prediction that one of the pre-flight outfits will lose. Nevertheless, just to be stubborn, Boston College.

Dartmouth-Harvard: The Crimson has yet to show any scoring punch of which Dartmouth has plenty. Therefore, Dartmouth.

Yale-Navy: Might develop into one of the day's most interesting duels. Out of the hat, Navy.

Lafayette-Brown: Looks safe (or does it) for Brown.

Penn State-Cornell: No upset either way. On the toss of the coin, Penn State.

Duke-Colgate: Stringing along with Colgate in what may be an exceptionally close match.

West Virginia-Fordham: You pays your money and takes your choice, Fordham.

Auburn-Georgetown: Consistency is a jewel about which, it seems, Auburn knows nothing. For no other reason, Georgetown.

Two Titular Scraps In Conference

By HAROLD V. BAYLEY
Associated Press Sports Editor
Southern Methodist, still trying to get back on the main line after being rudely sidetracked twice, meets Temple at Dallas tonight to start the week's play in the Southwest conference.

It's the lone inter-sectional game of an abbreviated schedule that has Texas clashing with Arkansas and Texas A. and M. tackling Texas Christian in championship battles and Baylor playing Texas Tech of the Border conference.

Passes should fly at the Cotton Bowl when Temple plays S. M. U. Ray Morrison, headman of the Owls, started all this ball-throwing business when he was coach at S. M. U. He's still at it. The Mustangs haven't been able to do much gaining except in the air this season.

Top battle of the week is the Aggie-T. C. U. joust at College Station. It sends the conference's only undefeated team against a twice-beaten Aggie outfit that must now give up or give up.

The Frogs, for the first time in years, will be favored to beat the Aggies. T. C. U. might not be able to stand such prosperity but this corner thinks the Frogs will be able to bear the load.

Texas lost to Northwestern and didn't look very good against Oklahoma but the Longhorns haven't yet yielded a touchdown. Erratic Arkansas doesn't look good enough to ruin that record.

Baylor also has a new experience as the Bears find themselves actually favored to win one. There is no reason to look at this game otherwise. Baylor beat Oklahoma A. and M. which defeated Texas Tech.

Asst. Coach Tommy Beene Goes To Navy

Tommy Beene, assistant football coach, was navy bound today. He wound up his school teaching duties here Friday and was to stop over at Roby for a brief visit with his parents while enroute to Dallas, where he is to enter the service Sunday as a chief specialist with rating in physical education.

Mrs. Beene, a teacher in the schools here, will continue on in Big Spring. A former star at McMurry where he was a brilliant runner and kicker from the tailback position, Beene was starting his fourth year as a coach. He worked the first year at Aspermont and then moved to Colorado City where he was assistant to John Dibrill, now head coach here, for two seasons.

Went Derwood Marcum and Alvin Stuckton, star assistants, went into service. Dibrill quickly induced Beene to come over. During his time here this autumn, he has been working with the backfield.

Central-West Warders Play Scoreless Tie

Central ward and West ward bucked and heaved against each other to no avail in the opening game of the elementary school grid schedule at Steer Stadium Thursday and backed off with a scoreless tie.

The game, exceptionally well played for a bunch of youngsters, and particularly for a bunch just starting in, sawed back and forth on the regulation field with neither side getting inside the other's 15 yard stripe. Matlock stood out for West ward and Lee sparked for Central. Tackling was good, running and passing fair and kicking exceptional for ward school boys.

Around 200 spectators turned out for the tilt, and both schools had pep squads on hand to cheer their favorites. Bobby Wright, West ward coach, had his charges running from a short punt, while Dick Robnett, Central ward mentor, had his charges working a shift.

Today at 4:30 p. m. East ward was to be pitted against College Heights and Saturday at 11 a. m. the South and North ward teams were to tangle to complete the first round of five-weeks play.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—One reason why Ohio State is rated the No. 1 football team so far is that Paul Brown tells his boys to take a chance with running the ball instead of kicking when they have a foot or two to go on fourth down. . . . And so far they've been getting away with it. . . .

And Bernie Bierman, whose Minnesota teams seldom passed, has become air-minded since he shifted to the Navy's Iowa Pre-Flight School. . . . The Seahawks have thrown 60 passes and completed 28 in four games. . . . Edward Charles, the Cincinnati high school kid who is rated one of the best middleweight fighters in the business, will take on Heavyweight Joey Maxim at Pittsburgh Oct. 27. . . .

When little Pisan Lloyd Wamer got back to Oklahoma, his father took him out golfing, and Pop was so happy over a 108 score that he made Lloyd play an extra nine holes.

Today's Gneat Star
Ed Ray, Tampa (Fla.) Times: "The war has done one good thing for sports—eliminated the 'let's fire the coach' clubs throughout the nation. . . . Monday conversation among the quarterbacks sounds about like this: 'Gee, I hope we didn't lose our coach before the end of the season. I don't know where we'd get another.'"

One-Minute Sports Page
Princeton's 150-pound football squad had a turnout of 481 players this fall so they were split into eleven teams for intra-mural competition. The Tiger lightweights have had four undefeated seasons in five years. . . . Golfer Ben Hogan hasn't joined the army yet, but he'd like to get into either the army or navy aviation branch. He has had some flying experience. . . .

The Norfolk Shamrocks and Richmond Rockets, Virginia's only major pro football teams, will play their second game for the state title Sunday at Greensboro, North Carolina. . . . It didn't help Leahy's health much when he tried to listen to the Notre Dame-Stamford broadcast last Saturday. Another station kept breaking in with Minnesota-Illinois just when the Irish got into scoring position, and Frank was almost a wreck before he learned the result.

Far-A-Graph
Ken Alyta of the Waterbury (Conn.) Republican tells one about a golfer who sliced his tee shot into nearby woods. He played a provisional ball and decided to go on with it when he found it nicely set up on the cut grass while the first ball couldn't be located. . . . When he swung, two balls popped out of the grass. . . . His second shot had landed exactly on top of the first. . . . We don't doubt Ken's word, but it seems that those slices could be used for sandwich filling.

Service Dept.
Brig. Gen. Clare Chennault, famous leader of the Flying Tigers, sends word back from China to Montgomery, Ala., that he can't accept an invitation to the blue-grey game this year but he hopes the war will be over so he can make it in 1943. . . . When the Mather Field (Calif.) football team beat Montana U. recently, the boys felt so good about it that they immediately wired a challenge to the Chicago Bears. . . . Bruce Caldwell, the old Yale Blue who coaches the Grosse Ile (Mich.) Naval Air Base team, is hoping for good weather for the game with Wayne U. Oct. 27. . . . If that draws a good crowd, the sailors can pay off the $2,500 debt they have incurred for uniforms and other expenses. Otherwise they'll finish in the red. . . .

out for the tilt, and both schools had pep squads on hand to cheer their favorites. Bobby Wright, West ward coach, had his charges running from a short punt, while Dick Robnett, Central ward mentor, had his charges working a shift.

Today at 4:30 p. m. East ward was to be pitted against College Heights and Saturday at 11 a. m. the South and North ward teams were to tangle to complete the first round of five-weeks play.

Standouts for Coahoma probably will include Wheeler, a rangy pass matcher, and John Wolf, a six foot two inch youngster who can spear aerials above the heads of most of the opposing defenders. On the defense, King, quarterback, is apt to be a bulwark for the Bulldogs as is Buchanan, stocky lad who deals in bone-crushing tackles.

Six man football, something new to most fans, is played on a field 25x30 yards, has 15-yard distance for first downs, scores touchdowns at six points, field goals at four, one for extra points running or passing and two for extra points place or drop kicked.

Rules prescribe that one pass must be made in the backfield before the ball may be advanced running. Forward passes may be thrown as usual.

Mrs. Phillips Medalist In Woman's Tournament

Wants Boxing Titles Frozen

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—Jerry Glesler, as chairman of the California boxing commission, has established something of a reputation for espousing the cause of the underdog, but today he finds himself going to bat for the champions.

Glesler, in private life a prominent trial lawyer, sees no reason why a fighting man, when he swaps the padded mitts for a rifle and goes off to the wars, should find himself in danger of being deprived of whatever championship boxing bawbles he may have picked up along the way.

So Glesler has proposed to Abe J. Green, New Jersey, president of the National Boxing association, that the titles of any champions now in the armed services or who enter them subsequently, be "frozen" for the duration.

Glesler is fearful of promotional skulduggeries to take advantage of the boxing champs who enter the services and so are unable to defend their crowns.

She's After Third Title In A Row

Mrs. Gordon Phillips came through with an 88 for medalist honors in the qualifying rounds of the women's golf tourney Thursday afternoon at the country club.

Mrs. J. R. Farmer was second with 87, and others below 100 were Mrs. L. P. Blanton 89, Mrs. Harry Stalcup 94 and Mrs. Carl Blomaheld 95.

Only twelve players qualified in the tournament and play for Friday was matched as follows. Championship flight: Mrs. Phillips vs. Mrs. Blomaheld, Mrs. Blanton vs. Mrs. Bill McCamey (104), Mrs. Farmer vs. Mrs. Tommy Jordan (102), and Mrs. Stalcup vs. Mrs. Bill Tate (106).

First flight: Shirley June Robbins (111) vs. Mrs. Hayden Griffith (122), and Stella Flynn vs. Mrs. George Denton (126).

War stamps will be given as prizes in both flights. The tournament cup, given the winner of the championship flight, has been won the past two years by Mrs. Phillips and will become her permanent possession if she wins the trophy again this year.

The box supper held last night in connection with the tournament was well attended by the players, their husbands and a few others, including Mrs. Tom Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, Sgt. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers.

A large crowd is expected Sunday at the tea, when prizes will be awarded winners.

Forsan, Coahoma To Clash Here Tonight In Six-Man Game

The Forsan Bulldogs and the Coahoma Bulldogs, arch athletic rivals from Howard county in the Pioneer Schools athletic association, will meet in a non-conference six-man football game under the lights at Steer stadium at 8:30 p. m. today.

Forsan, by reason of a better record in district play thus far, will be classed as a slight favorite, but the game at best is due to be about a toss-up.

Ray Dunlap, quarterback for the Forsan team, is due to play little due to a leg injury that has failed to come around and Dan

Holt, fullback who also calls signals now and then, has been alling. San Anderson, understudy to Dunlap, is due to play much for Forsan. Fats Green will be the other member of the backfield. On the line Forsan will have Harley Grant at center and Darnell Pascock and Ganval Pritchard at ends.

Standouts for Coahoma probably will include Wheeler, a rangy pass matcher, and John Wolf, a six foot two inch youngster who can spear aerials above the heads of most of the opposing defenders. On the defense, King, quarterback, is apt to be a bulwark for the Bulldogs as is Buchanan, stocky lad who deals in bone-crushing tackles.

Six man football, something new to most fans, is played on a field 25x30 yards, has 15-yard distance for first downs, scores touchdowns at six points, field goals at four, one for extra points running or passing and two for extra points place or drop kicked.

Rules prescribe that one pass must be made in the backfield before the ball may be advanced running. Forward passes may be thrown as usual.

Bomber Crew Forced Down In Channel Wants Another Try

By WES GALLAGHER
 WITH THE U. S. AIR FORCE BOMBER COMMAND, Somewhere in England, Oct. 16, (AP)—The crew of a flying fortress which was killed with bullets in a desperate fight with Reichsmarshel Goering's famed yellow nose squadron during the big raid on the Lille area, a week ago, and crashed at more than 100 miles an hour in the English channel joined in this declaration today:

"All we want is another plane. . . We've got a score to settle with those guys. . . ."

The ten men had only one good thing and they spent 45 minutes in the icy waters before being rescued.

The pilot, 25-year-old former North Dakota Teachers' college football player, rescued the co-pilot who was nearly sucked under the plane, and kept afloat a gunner who couldn't swim. He is Lieutenant Donald H. Swenson of Carpio, N. D.

The other crewmen are Lieutenants Fred H. Bidelspack of 3226 Farret St., Waco, Tex., co-pilot; Morton K. Horster of Kendall, Tex., navigator; Alexander G. Cokerole of Belton, Miss., bombardier; Sgt. Joseph F. Schwaller of Jefferson City, Mo., top turret gunner; Sgt. Charles L. Irwin, Jr., of Jeannette, Pa., tail gunner; Sgt. Frank L. Leary of Belleville, Ill., radio operator-gunner; Sgt. Milton O. Brock of Columbus, Ga., ball turret gunner; Sgt. Forest W. Bertsch of Sidney, Ohio, waist gunner; and Sgt. Glen Doer of Centerville, S. D., engineer.

The plane was attacked on all sides by the yellow-nosed fighters. Two motors were shot up and a third was crippled. Losing altitude on the lone good motor and being left farther and farther behind by the rest of the American formation at each moment, the fortress battled its way out of the German fighter screen and reached the channel.

There Swenson gave orders to prepare to jump. The crew members donned parachutes, so the official report went, and stayed at their posts while the fortress O. Brock of Columbus, Ga., ball turret gunner; Sgt. Forest W. Bertsch of Sidney, Ohio, waist gunner; and Sgt. Glen Doer of Centerville, S. D., engineer.

"We knew we were going to have to land in the water," Swenson said, "so we took off our heavy flying suits."

The windshield around the cockpit kept fogging and the only way Swenson could see was to keep a small spot cleared by hand. Despite this handicap the plane alighted perfectly—tail down.

"The cockpit went under and it looked like we were completely submerged for a moment," Swenson related. "The crew was thrown around like tennis balls."

Sgt. Schwaller, who had a black eye, put his hand to his forehead. "I thought we would never quit sinking, water came in everywhere."

Swenson resumed: "The co-pilot (Bidelspack) and I scrambled through the windshield. I got on a wing but he slipped and fell and was being dragged under the plane, but I managed to grab him and pull him up."

The rest of the crew crawled out

Safety Unit Going After New Members

Big Spring Safety Council will shoot toward a goal of 100 to 150 new members in a drive to be launched Tuesday morning, according to Horace Reagan, chairman membership committee.

The council will meet at the chamber of commerce Monday afternoon at 8:15 o'clock to make plans for the drive and to appoint committees.

Each member, however, will conduct his own private drive, Reagan said, and the town will be covered from end to end.

The $1 per year fee entitles the member to receive the services of trained men to conduct safety meetings for employees and to make inspections of property and recommendations for safe practices to be adopted, to the services of authorized Red Cross instructors for the teaching of first aid, home hygiene and nutrition, and gives him access to the latest information on the methods of safety practice in the home, on the farm, on the highway and in industrial establishments.

Delafield Speaks This Evening On 'Greatest Wonder'

"The Greatest Wonder in the World" will be topic of a free address on Bible prophecy tonight at 8 p. m. at the Voice of Prophecy auditorium, 409 E. 2nd street, one-half block east of the municipal auditorium. Screen singing begins at 7:45, and following a 10-minute question and answer period from 8:05 to 8:15, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Rumsion will sing "They Are Nailed to the Cross."

Evangelist Delafield spoke last night on the subject of the angels, stating that "they were not the spirits of the departed righteous dead because they were in existence (1) before the first man died (Gen. 3:24), (2) before the first man was ever made (Psalms 8: 6-8), before the world was even made (Job 38: 3-7; Rev. 1: 20)."

Delafield continued by saying, "The Christian has a guardian angel round about him and with him (Pa. 91: 11, 12; 34: 7; Matthew 18: 10), and the work of the millions of angels (Rev. 5: 11; Hebrews 12: 22) is to minister to those who shall be heirs of salvation (Hebrews 1: 14)."

Ship Losses Mount To 493

By The Associated Press
 Official reports yesterday of two sinkings in which 18 United Nations seamen met death elevated to 493 the Associated Press count of announced neutral and allied cargo ship losses by submarine attack in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7, 1941.

A medium-sized American merchantman was sunk in August, with one man lost. Fifty-three survivors reached an east coast port.

Sinking last Thursday of an unidentified cargo carrier off Metis Beach, Quebec, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, accounted for the loss of 12 lives, Canadian officials announced. This was the tenth announced sinking in that region—but no enemy submarines are known to have penetrated so far upstream before.

Motors For Pumps Are Delivered

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 16. (AP)—General Electric company announced today it has shipped, five weeks ahead of schedule, the first two of fifteen 1,500 horsepower motors which will help pump fuel oil through a war emergency line from Longview, Tex., to Norris City, Ill.

The motors will be used to drive pumps at booster stations along the line.

Angeloan Addresses Doctors' Meetings

Dr. Sutton of San Angelo was guest speaker at the meeting Thursday night at the Settles hotel of the Six-County Medical Society, attended by some 25 members and doctors, from both the Midland and Big Spring bombardier schools.

Surgery of the stomach was the subject of Dr. Sutton's discussion. Members attended from Howard, Ector, Midland, Martin, Glasscock and Andrews counties.

The next meeting will be in Midland on November 19.

More Flu Reported Over The State

AUSTIN, Oct. 16. (AP)—A big gain in the incidence of influenza in Texas today prompted the state department of health to warn that the approach of winter gives it and related conditions "special importance."

The department's weekly report noted an increase above the seven-year median of "practically all the reportable diseases."

The report noted 458 cases of influenza, as compared with 170 for the seven-year median.

A. & M. Prexy Stresses Need Of Free Press

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 16. (AP) "So long as we have a free press we can rebuild a new civilization on a firmer foundation than ever before. Let us always guard zealously the freedom of the press," Dr. T. O. Walton said last night before the Southwestern Journal Congress at a dinner.

He ranked educators first and journalists second in importance in the reconstruction to follow the present war. Major James E. Crown, editor of the New Orleans States, disagreed with Dr. Walton and contended that the journalists should come first.

"Give us the journalists and we will tell the people the advantages of education," Crown declared.

The New Orleans editor, in an address at the dinner, referred to the government's recently filed anti-monopoly suit against the Associated Press as a thinly-disguised part of secret plans to restrict freedom of the press.

"The government has instituted suit declaring this great news-gathering organization is a monopoly and that those who have organized it and operate it have no property rights in the news they gather. One of the claims of the suit is that the Associated Press should become a common carrier, and everyone knows what the government can do to control a common carrier.

"They are attempting to place your newspaper in the same category as railroad, telephone or telegraph company, barge or ship line.

MAKE YOUR CHOICE OF U. S. ARMY BRANCHES

- AIR FORCES—Learn to fly and fight and keep 'em flying in one of more than 26 Air Force jobs. Bombardiers, navigators, pilots, gunners, radio men are needed in the air—mechanics on the ground. Train for a career in this fighting service.
- ARMORED FORCE—Smash the enemy with a fast-moving, powerful team of tanks, combat cars, trucks, "jeeps," motorcycles. There's thrilling action for gunners, drivers, radio men and mechanics in the Army's tough armored divisions.
- CAVALRY—Whether you like to ride a good horse or handle a fast armored car, motorcycle or truck, there's a place for you in the Cavalry's mobile striking force. The rougher the going the better the Cavalry likes it.
- CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE—Here's your chance to be a combat soldier, firing chemical munitions. The 4.2-inch mortar, used for smoke screens to cover the advance of troops, will be one of your principal weapons.
- COAST ARTILLERY—Want to aim an anti-aircraft gun at a Jap or help load and fire a giant coast defense gun? Service with the Coast Artillery will give you experience in gunnery, mechanics, electrical and radio work.
- CORPS OF ENGINEERS—In the forefront of the fighting much of the time, you'll see a lot of action with the Engineers. Building bridges, roads, air-fields and tank-traps—planning camouflage—destroying enemy installations—are all in the day's work.
- CORPS OF MILITARY POLICE—Reliable, clear-thinking men who know how to shoulder responsibility, the Military Police speed troop movements at the front and behind the lines, guard prisoners, enforce order. They're trained fighting men.
- FIELD ARTILLERY—Here's the outfit that softens up the foe with a barrage of shells, smashes his supply lines, rains fire on his reserves. The guns roll fast behind speedy trucks and tractors. Plenty of action for daring drivers, gunners and mechanics.
- INFANTRY—Moving 40 miles an hour in big trucks, skiing in snowy mountains, dropping by parachute or flying into enemy territory in transport planes, today's infantry is streamlined. Eleven different weapons give deadly fire-power. Upon enlistment you may request assignment for tank destroyer training.
- MEDICAL DEPARTMENT—Wherever the fighting is toughest the Medical units are on the job, saving lives. Ambulance drivers, laboratory technicians and able young men for many other duties are needed now in this vital service.
- ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT—The supply and maintenance of all weapons are in charge of the Ordnance Department. Repairing tanks and guns under fire is a job for tough men. There's lots of room for daring drivers and good mechanics.
- QUARTERMASTER CORPS—Battle smoke and bursting shells can't stop the movement of food and supplies. Men in the front lines have to be fed. The Quartermaster Corps takes care of the troops wherever they are. The service develops resourcefulness.
- SIGNAL CORPS—In the nerve center of the Army, Signal Corps men "get the message through." Radio, telephones and other means of swift communication are their tools. They work with "electronic warfare" and other secret weapons, and get front-line action and experience.

City Tax Statements Are In The Mail

All city tax statements are in the mail, officials said Friday. This will make it possible, it was explained, for people to take advantage of the three per cent discount offered those who pay their tax bills during the month of October. The discount offered for payment of city taxes is reduced one per cent each month, beginning with October. Citizens of Big Spring are fortunate in being offered a discount for paying their taxes, McDaniel reminded, when most other states penalize for slow payment.

Cotton Income May Be Highest Since 1925

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The agriculture department said today that this year's cotton crop, if sold at September farm prices for lint and seed, would return to growers $1,530,000,000, the highest income since 1925 and 38 per cent more than the 1941 crop. On the other hand, the crop would bring $1,432,000, the department said, if sold at last season's average farm prices for lint and seed. An income of that size would be the largest since 1925. The September farm price of lint—18.59 cents a pound—was the highest for any September since 1927. The price of seed was $45.33 per ton which, except for September and October, 1941, was the highest since December, 1923. In a report analyzing future prospects, the department said domestic consumption during the current season was expected to reach a level of 11,800,000 bales compared with 11,300,000 in the season which closed July 31. It said that further increases in consumption would be quite limited because of a tight labor situation in the cotton textile industry and the near capacity operation of many mills.

- You add the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
- You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
- You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

EVERYBODY EVERY PAYDAY 10%

EVERYBODY—EVERY PAYDAY 10% IN WAR BONDS

"Listen, mister!!! I'm making pretty good wages these days, and so are about fifty million others. And we all, think pretty much the same about the way we can help America win the war.

"Save 10% in War Bonds every payday? That's no sacrifice—it's a cinch! Like putting money in the bank.

"Takes my wife, for instance. She says it's money we just wouldn't save, otherwise—dough that we just chuck away—with nothing to show for it later.

"But this is the real payoff—

"The money we save in War Bonds is going to produce the planes, the tanks, the ships and the guns to make the Japs wish they'd never even seen Pearl Harbor! It's going to produce the bombs and the bullets to make their honorable 'haraki' seem like a picnic.

"Do you think we people on the home front want to be left out? Don't you know that the workers, the stence, the farmers, dentists—every last man and woman of us wants to come through with his share?"

"So when they came around in our plant and actually offered to help us save for the War Bonds, you can bet we all said 'yes!'"

"Every week they save 10% out of our pay—a dime in every dollar—and when it adds up to $18.75, we get a War Bond—worth $25 in ten years. Yessir! A War Bond in our own name, or the Missus, or both!"

"Honest, now, do you think we're patting ourselves on the back? Do you think we're asking for praise just because we do our part to hamstringing Hirohito and Hitler—and lay away a pile of dough in the bargain?"

"How about you? Are you in on this plan? If not, better get in. Better save your 10% every payday. Better do your share to wallop the tar out of the Japs and Huns.

"Say 'ater' when they come to you... 'It's like money in the bank!'"

Downtown Stroller

We told you we'd have a story on a bride today. And so we have. The one we were talking about was JANICE CARMACK who got married last night at 9 o'clock to Tech. Sgt. ERNEST BARBER. That's a romance that began about a year ago and one that we've been keeping up with.

Somebody that we really hated to see leave town were LIEUT. and Mrs. C. L. SWAGERTY, who were transferred from here by the Big Spring Pre-Glider school. Mrs. SWAGERTY only lived here a short time but was active in church and Red Cross work and incidentally, a very swell person.

One of the busiest women in town yesterday was DOROTHY MILLER, who was helping out with the AAA meeting at the Settles hotel. Seems some vital papers didn't arrive on the train the opening morning of the convention so DOROTHY was running off stenoped copies at the 9th hour.

Stopped to chatter a moment with Mrs. JOHNNY HODGES and Mrs. DON SEALE downtown. Tried to convince them that we were working hard but the way we were lounging from spot to spot down the main drag was not convincing.

Mrs. J. R. FARMER dropped in a moment to talk about the USO center which seems to be thriving these days. However, there seems to be some changes in the offing. The LIONS CLUB AUXILIARY came through with a wonderful boost when they agreed to take over the center this Sunday and furnish coffee and cakes.

Miss Laneous Notes

There's nothing like the damp days that come along, about once a year, in this part of the country. Maybe it's because it's so dry the rest of the time that you appreciate a muggy day.

Of course, there are disadvantages to these days too. There's a romantic song about the wind and the rain in your hair, but that's just a song. By the time the wind and the rain are through with you, nobody would give you a second glance except one of amazement.

There's the disadvantage, too, of waking up, if you can, and seeing the kind of day before you. The honest inclination is to turn over in bed again and let the rest of the world manage without you. That feeling is a serious problem best combated by just keeping your eyes closed until you are halfway to the office.

Once you've got the chasis clothed and moving around there's another problem. The grey skies and waning trees are more fascinating than the usual work that piles on your desk.

Thoughts that have nothing to do with your work make you wish you were twins. That way the one hard working half could do the chores while the other one of you could go about your day dreaming uninterrupted.

Maybe it is a good thing these damp days don't come around very often. It's a strain to be a split personality and you are, even if you look the same on the surface.

One Case Where The South Took North For A Cleaning

ATLANTA, Oct. 16 (AP)—In domestic relations court it was held as the case of Jennings vs. Jennings, but the plaintiff who accused his wife of cruelty and running him into debt, contended it really was a case of the North vs. the South.

Said C. J. Jennings to Judge A. L. Ehrbridge: "I was considered a northern man and she was considered a southern woman, and next to the Union soldier who had both legs and arms shot off by Rebel soldiers, I was the best-trimmed Yankee ever married to a southern woman."

Divorce was granted.

Couple Held In Kidnaping

RED BLUFF, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)—Brown-eyed little Vivian Miller waited impatiently in Grants Pass, Ore., for her "daddy" today as police at Red Bluff, Calif., held a man and his wife who confessed they kidnaped the 4-year-old girl out of hunger for a child of their own.

Vivian was found unharmed in a Grants Pass school yesterday. Almost simultaneously—though it did not become known for some time—Mrs. and Mrs. Beaumont E. Du Bois of Portland, Ore., were arrested near here for questioning. Several hours later Du Bois, in the presence of his wife and three officials, dictated a brief statement confessing the kidnaping, said Sheriff James N. Fyrome. Both he and his wife signed it.

In San Francisco, Mrs. Louise Miller, the child's mother, cried for joy when informed that Vivian had been found. Later she talked by telephone with Vivian in Grants Pass.

San Francisco police said the Du Bois couple probably would be taken to San Francisco today and charges likely would be filed there.

There Is No Short Cut To Victory

General Douhet's theory that air raids alone can decide the issue of war has been disproved in the case of Stalingrad, according to a statement by General Zhukov, Russian air commander. He points out that Stalingrad was bombed by the equivalent of 9,000 planes—three times the number prescribed by the Italian Douhet as necessary to reduce any city—and Stalingrad failed to fold up. It still stands because enemy ground forces have been unable to break in and occupy it.

Stalingrad is not the first proof of the flaws in the Douhet theory. Madrid proved it in the warm-up war in Spain. Malin has been proving it now for three years.

None of the essential ingredients of victory has undergone radical change in light of modern weapons. Airpower represents an extension of the battering power of artillery, but warplanes can't seize and hold a fortified place. The Queen of Battle still reigns—sweaty infantrymen with packs on their backs and an infinite capacity for taking punishment still rule the roost. At Stalingrad Hitler's ground forces failed, and the City of Steel lives to mock his 9,000 warplanes.

There is still no short cut to victory. Men still have to fight and die—take ground away from the enemy, hold it, and beat down his counterattacks. The formula is essentially unchanged from 3,000 years ago.

Airpower can spell the difference between victory or defeat in specific engagements, but alone it cannot win a war.

Airpower can reduce the enemy's production and transport facilities and soften him up, but in the final showdown the foot-slogging infantry, the engineers, the S. O. S. and other old familiar arms must put in an appearance and deliver the final thrust.

We might as well make up our minds that before we win this war our armies will have to invade the continent of Europe and there deliver the coup de grace to Hitler's legions.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Film Capital No Longer Prize Mad House; Honor Passes To Washington

(One of a series in which Robbin Coons takes a cross-country look at the U.S.)

By ROBBIN COONS

WASHINGTON—Hollywood can take a seat back to the rear. Our town no longer can sustain its glory as prize madhouse in the family of cities. This is it now—Washington in wartime.

By comparison with the rush and scramble here, Hollywood is a sane, conservative, placid little village, however given to overuse of "colossal" and "terrific," to pampering its dream girls and boys to thinking it has done something when it spends a million or so on a movie.

A million? Heh, heh! This epic production here has a budget that wears out the spider key. 0001 Louis E. Mayer who makes the headlines yearly with his tremendous movie earnings could throw it all into the basket here and pay for just a few feet of film on this supercolossal effort.

Washington, as I remembered it, was a beautiful and gracious city. I'm here again but I can't report on it. If there's still scenery, it's obscured by the mob scene in the foreground. The only landscaping I can report is the expanse of bus ceiling straight above. I've got callouses on both hands from strap-hanging. There's nothing like a Washington bus at rush-hour to make you appreciate the wide-open spaces of a hardline can. But I understand they're taking steps. So am I. Mission completed, I'm taking steps straight out of town.

The way they throw up "sets"

Man About Manhattan— Anna Neagle One Of Most Sincere Of Actresses - Turned - War - Workers

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If you should run into a trim blonde having the hint of an Irish accent and wearing the natty dark blue uniform of the civilian defense worker—alphabetically, the CDVO—there's a good chance it will be Anna Neagle, the actress.

Anna has become one of our most active and sincere women war workers. She seems to be making a career out of something started by her roles in photoplays. You can't, it seems, portray Nurses Edith Cavell, or Amy Morrison as she does in the new British-made film "Wings and the Woman," without absorbing the crusading spirit of them both.

She is the type woman who looks well in uniform but not the type who wears it for effect. She has a contagious enthusiasm for the things she is doing and a fine contempt for those women who are using the war to put themselves in the spotlight. It wasn't for publicity that Anna, after making the Mollison picture under the fire of a London blitz, went on a tiring war bond drive through Canada, or spent her brief vacation in New York making appearances in her plans.

One thing I have liked about Anna Neagle since I first met her is that she is a good listener as well as a good conversationalist. I remember a cocktail party in Barrow in which she was possibly the most inconspicuous person present. While a couple of film company objectives hustled about importantly, Anna sat quietly, but graciously, in a corner. She didn't suffer for attention, but neither did she seek it.

She's not quite five feet five, and weighs only 118 pounds, but has a fighter's chin and thinks women can do a great deal more about winning the war than they are now doing. She is thoroughly sold on women replacing men as ferry pilots, for one thing.

When I saw her the other day, wearing a uniform and what grandmother used to call "good, sensible shoes," she smiled in that easy girlish way which recalled her film successes in "Trene" and "Sunny."

"The shoes aren't very glamorous, are they?" she said. "But you can see I am a vain actress after all, for I cheated a little on the stockings. They are one-thread and not the least bit sensible."

The million-dance dance band Glenn Miller assembled and then gave up when he joined the army music, but the Modernaires, Miller's famous songsters, will continue in the Miller tradition. They were offered jobs with various name bands but decided it was Miller or nothing. Their first booking was at the Roxy theatre, which hints that they'll do all right.

A Promise for Tomorrow

By ELEANOR ATTERBURY

"But Dawn, where is the baby now?" Julie whispered and horror struck deep within her. A child in the custody of that man! Dawn's sob wracked her anew. "I don't know. I've begged, I've bribed him—Dad has paid him thousands of dollars—but he will not tell me."

"But surely you could see him, get police—"

"I don't dare. Etta is an Italian subject, you see. Arnaldo says that if I try to divorce him, he will make sure that I never see her again."

"And so he uses that baby to blackmail your father?" Julie's imagination tried to stretch around the picture of such infamy. "I still don't see why you couldn't—there must be laws that protect you."

"Oh, Julie, you don't understand. No law is strong enough to protect me from Arnaldo's fury. He has a violent temper and no—no pity. More than that he has power. I don't know how much until he followed me here from New York although Daddy had paid him well to keep away."

"Why did he come?"

"He wants me to go with him, as his wife again. He wants me to be the screen for him. I don't know what awful things he wants to do. I only know—"

Her crying became uncontrollable again and Julie finished dryly, "You only know that he can set vast forests on fire to aid his Axis masters! But Dawn—whatever made you consent to come with him? Surely you aren't un-American yourself?"

Dawn shook her head. "I'm so afraid, Julie. I didn't dare refuse any more. He threatened Pete's life once before. Remember the night Pete went to Riverport and the fire in the yards broke out?"

Julie nodded.

"That fire was intended to get Pete. Then he threatened to disgrace my father—he forced Dad to sign some papers that would look terrible in any court. It's nearly killed Daddy."

"How long has he been in the country as an agent?"

"He followed me back to New York. I didn't know then why he changed his name to Mount and took out citizenship papers. He knows the F. B. I. will overtake him sooner or later. He's just counting on doing the most damage while he can."

Stunned by this tide of information, Julie could only lie staring into the darkness, her mind awfully, her motions stampeding.

Poor, weak-willed little Dawn selling her soul, her inalienable rights to this devil. And her father bowing his head because Dawn's happiness was involved. Had they really thought "hush" money and bribes would buy off this ruthless fiend!

"You must think terribly of me now, Julie," Dawn said after a moment. "I've been a fool, I know. But I couldn't bear to have all that scandal known in Santa Felice. All my friends there—the awful disgrace of—and I thought I could work it out. I can, too." She sat up. "I'll go with him as he says so Daddy will be safe. And no one back home need know but what it was really a romantic elopement."

Julie shook her head. "Use your head, Dawn. That won't solve anything. Besides, Arnaldo is a dangerous enemy to this country. Do you want to be one, too?"

"No—oh, no, Julie. Help me, can't you? I don't know what way to turn now."

And neither did Julie. But the first obvious step was to tell Pete. Obvious, maybe, but not easy, she decided when she'd sent Dawn back to her room sworn to say nothing and wait for orders. She stood at the door a moment undecided whether to risk getting down the narrow hallway, the stairs, without Arnaldo's hearing her—or to try the porch roof.

The hall seemed safely deserted. She slipped along, trailing her fingers lightly against the wall, moving cautiously. Grouping, she found the bannister, started down the stairs. Then her heart froze. The step whined long and noisily. The sound trailed through the silent house clamorously.

Pulses racing, Julie waited, motionless. Then, just as she felt confidence return, she was sure she heard a door open. Eternities crawled along while she waited for more sound. When none came, she inched her way on down the staircase, testing each step carefully before she took it. Faint light from the pane in the door when she finally stepped out into the warm June night, she wanted to laugh or scream—she wasn't sure which.

She found Pete finally. Stumbled over him, she propped through the dark garden.

"What the—?" Pete muttered sleepily.

"Hush. Listen, Pete. We've got to get out of here—fast!"

"What's the rush?"

She repeated Dawn's story as

Pete was right, of course. The only possible way they could help Dawn now was to get back with help—quickly.

Julie went ahead to the car while Pete stuffed his coat, a bunch of dry weeds into the sleeping bag. In the dark, the bag really looked occupied. She stepped swiftly from a deep shadow under a tree to the side of the car, found the door handle, swung back the wide heavy door.

Then, even as she fumbled for the hand brake, her fingers brushed against something on the smooth leather seat, a hand closed over hers, a cool voice mocked close to her ear.

"Were you thinking of going somewhere, Dr. Hamilton?"

Washington— President Was 'Saving' Byrnes For Emergency

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—About 16 months ago, President Roosevelt elevated Sen. James Francis Byrnes to the United States Supreme Court.

"Why?" asked both the off-side and on-side politicians in almost the same breath.

"Jimmy" Byrnes, then majority leader of the Senate, was the "little fox" of Administration politics. The president, they said, was pulling out his strongest congressional prop. He was, they continued, relegating his most popular legislative leader to that political graveyard—the Supreme Court.

The answer to that criticism should now be pretty clear. The president was only saving "Jimmy" Byrnes for that day when he needed him more than he ever had before. For almost a year and a half, with one crisis following another, Associate Justice James P. Byrnes has been sitting serenely on the sidelines, hiding his light under that marble basket which is the highest court in the land; and nursing, through many storms, one of the best political reputations the New Deal has turned out.

Then came the necessity for appointing a stabilization czar to administer the sweeping anti-inflation legislation.

This meant calling up a man who could stand back of frozen wages and farm price ceilings. It meant appointing an executive who could straighten out the political muddle that has caused so much criticism of the otherwise competent price administrator, Leon Henderson. It meant setting up a four-star general of cost-of-living stabilization who could demand respect from the public and reverence from the politicians.

It's a rare almost unheard-of thing for a U. S. Supreme Court justice to step down from the security of that high bench to take over a spot on the firing line, even when that spot is economic chief of staff to the president himself. Nevertheless, the move is characteristic of "Jimmy" Byrnes.

Small, wiry, sharp-featured, nervous, energetic Byrnes is not the kind to walk out; his life in the sombre robes of a supreme court justice. The story goes that he wanted that job on the court more than he wanted anything else and the president, recognizing both ability and a debt for work well done, gave it to him. Perhaps the president knew then that "Jimmy" wouldn't like it so well that he couldn't be called out to battle again when the need should come.

Pipe Headed Back To Krupp, Germany

WINFIELD, Kas.—Among the scrap collection at Winfield recently was a piece of oil field pipe manufactured by the Krupp pipe works at Essen, Germany. Ten years ago some American engineers were paid for their work in Germany with the Krupp pipe, which was shipped to the United States. Now it is headed back to Germany with the Krupp address tagged to it, its donor hopes.

Chaplin Discarding His Moustache

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Charlie Chaplin's moustache is coming off after all these years.

The comedian announced yesterday that the moustache, walking stick and funny hat that helped him attain movie greatness would be discarded in his next picture—"Lady Killer," which he will produce himself.

He's going to wear a pretty moustache of the French variety in the movie, he said.

Enrollment Of 130
Volunteer Firemen
In City Ordered

The office of civilian defense has requested the Big Spring fire department to enroll 130 volunteer firemen, city officials said Friday.

The order has just been received and a total of ten men has been enrolled so far.

Men selected for the auxiliary branch will be schooled extensively in first aid, incendiary bomb fire fighting methods, and general defense of the civilian population.

The length of the course to be given the volunteers is 27 hours at the rate of two two-hour sessions weekly.

Scrap Sale May Bring In $1,000

The city of Big Spring expects to sell the estimated 170 tons of scrap collected Monday for about $1,000, City Manager Boyd J. McDaniel said Friday.

The scrap drive exceeded all expectations of those in charge of it. School children especially did more than their bit in making the drive a success.

Proceeds from the sale will be turned over to some defense project, probably the office of civilian defense, McDaniel said.

With the almost unbelievable amount of scrap metal collected in Big Spring thus far, McDaniel said there were still huge piles on school lawns and elsewhere to be picked up and sold to junk men for the nation wide effort to supply the war industry plants with the needed metals.

Maurice B. Anderson, stationed at Williams Field, Ariz., an air corps bombardier school, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson, route 1, Knott.

Tanks Roll Off A Bridge, Six Men Are Drowned

WITH THE SECOND ARMY. Somewhere in Tennessee, Oct. 15. (AP)—Six men drowned in the Cumberland river last night when two 28-ton tanks rolled off a pontoon bridge during a blackout movement.

The accident occurred off Jones Island near Old Hickory. The column of medium tanks was crossing the river on steel tracks floated by rubber pontoons when the tracks of one of the tank rolled off the bridge trestleway.

The resulting shift of weight tipped the bridge and the tank immediately ahead of the first tank to go into the river rolled backwards into the hole left by the first tank.

Al Groehl In The Air Corps

Into the army air corps as a private goes Albert F. Groehl, well known West Texas oil operator who is yielding large business interests for an opportunity in military service.

His enlistment was announced Friday through local recruiting offices.

Resident of West Texas for 15 years, Groehl is senior executive of the Westex Oil company, which firm—with headquarters in Big Spring—has crude oil production and royalty interests over West Texas, Westex Oil also controls in West Texas and New Mexico the distribution of Shell products.

Groehl and his brother, Ted O. Groehl, also have ranching interests in central Texas, and both are well known in ranch and oil circles throughout the state.

After his enlistment, Groehl said he intended to buy additional war bonds "now that Uncle Sam has another soldier to support."

Final Rites Said For Mrs. Edwards

Services for Mrs. Lynn Edwards, attended by the family and close friends, were held at 10:15 o'clock Friday morning at the Eberley chapel after her brother, Ralph Walling, of Lompoc, Calif., had been delayed in Tucson, Ariz., and arrived Thursday afternoon just as services were closing at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien conducted the simple rites.

Funeral services were for Lee Porter, Harry Hurt, Randall Pickle, J. B. Lavell, Royce Boykin, R. A. Tate and Marvin Sewell.

Youth Back From China To Talk Here

A 19-year-old youth returned to this country after eight years in China, will speak at the Trinity Baptist church at morning and evening services Sunday.

He is Paul Dannelsen, whose father is a missionary in China. Rev. Roland C. King, Trinity Baptist pastor, is urging the public to hear young Dannelsen.

Mature for his years, Paul knows the history of China as well as many learned historians. "I think as much of the Chinese people as I do my own, and I have great faith in what they'll do to win the war and what they'll do for themselves after it is won," he says.

Paul has been back in this country more than a year, and recently has been studying in Fort Worth. He has determined to become a minister and a missionary. He has attended school in Korea and has traveled through Japan. He has vivid recollections of war experiences, and will retell these at the services Sunday. He also has moving picture film showing the work of missionaries.

Others Sign Up As Specialists In Air Corps

Two more men, acting now to avoid the possibility of being crowded out near the deadline on Oct. 21, were accepted here Thursday for enlistment as air corps specialists.

They, like others requesting it, likely will return for their on-the-job training at the Army Air Force Bombardier School in Big Spring. They were Willie Howard Tarr, Loraine, and Roy Crow, Big Spring.

Officers pointed out that it requires two and a half hours of "paper work" to process a man into the army. Thus it is plain that if too many wait until the last day or so, some may not get through before the deadline for air corps specialist enlistments catches them the last of this month.

Recruiters again reminded 18 and 19 year old men that they may name their branch of specialization as well as older men. Full information may be had at the army recruiting station in the postoffice basement or by calling Lieut. Lynch at the Bombardier school.

Grass is the best in years, and cattle will go into the winter in better shape than after last season's luxuriant covering, according to M. M. Edwards. But ranchers must have some worries, and now it's cowhands. The only solution in sight, opines Edwards, is to put in a defense industry on the range to lure hands out that way.

However, time payments aren't in order and the Mexican wound up in jail when the deputy constable hauled him back in the door—by the seat of his pants."

Gasoline And Oil Demand Off Sharply

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—Demand for gasoline and motor oil during August, as measured principally by refinery sales, dropped 21 per cent below a year before, falling to 51,600,000 barrels, the Bureau of Mines reported today.

Bureau officials explained, however, that this lowering of calls upon refiners was due not only to reduced consumption resulting from rationing in the east but also to the fact that retailers were able to draw upon excess stocks they accumulated before rationing began in July.
