

Carter Demands End to Railroad Strike

By The Associated Press
Two more railroads have set up picket lines in Texas since President Carter ordered a halt to nation-wide rail clerk's strike Thursday.

Pickets remained up at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Katy, Cotton Belt, Santa Fe and Burlington Northern Thursday after Carter ordered the strikers back to work and called for a 60-day cooling-off period.

About three hours later, pickets also went up at the Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

The union has not struck the Rock Island and Frisco railroads but officials reported having trouble maintaining regular schedules because of difficulties interchanging cars with strike-bound railroads.

The Fort Worth & Denver Railroad also was not struck but the railroad shut down Wednesday and sent employees home due to drastically reduced traffic from other railroads.

A Mo-Pac freight yard supervisor said trains were running Thursday night, but it was too early to tell what effect the picket lines would have on Friday's operations.

Southern Pacific set up picket lines at 4 p.m., according to a yard worker at the railroad's Houston yard.

Several heavy users of rail service, including the General Motors assembly plant in Arlington and General Portland Cement plants in Dallas and Fort Worth, said they would face severe problems if the strike continued into next week.

The significance of the Missouri Pacific strike, said one rail yard supervisor, is that the railroad controls the switching tower through which all other railroads are routed in Fort Worth. With supervisory personnel running the tower, traffic was certain to become bottlenecked, he said.

The three-day strike began Tuesday in Virginia, spawned by a dispute between the Brotherhood of Railroad and Airline Clerks and the Norfolk and Western Railway.

Union strikers called for support from throughout the nation and got it as 43 railroads honored their picket lines in sympathy with the strike.

Wednesday, the railroads sought and obtained court orders to force employees back to work, but in many places the orders were ignored.

Carter announced Thursday afternoon that he was ordering the clerks back to work for the 60-day cooling-off period, and administration officials promised swift enforcement if the walkout continued.

But in Texas, the pickets stayed up. "We watched the press conference and we didn't hear him invoke the Taft-Hartley Act," said a striking clerk who asked not to be identified. "He said he put up a special panel and that was it. That doesn't force anything."

The clerk said pickets would not go down until union officials ordered them down.

A non-striking railroad employee said

Vacant Train Depot

Although there reportedly were no pickets up today in Hereford, the Santa Fe Freight Depot at 148 E. 1st remained closed as workers were on strike. A spokesman for Santa Fe Railway in Amarillo said that area workers would remain on strike until they receive instructions from their union headquarters in Chicago.

CAN YOU IMAGINE what prices will be in the year 2001, if the price trend for the last five years continues? A consultant firm in Chicago took a list of items and projected the increases for 10 years, then to the turn of the century.

The biggie was a home—$34,500 in 1973, $54,000 in 1977, $191,160 in 1987, and $1,340,000 in 2001. How about a bar of soap: 35 cents in 1977 up to $61.12 in 2001. Or, one pound of coffee—from $3.25 to $39,642 at the turn of the century?

The low priced car would jump from $5,000 in 1977 to $105,000 in the year 2001, and the high priced car would go from $12,000 to $471,240! Private college tuition is projected from $3,840 to $17,510. A small jar of jelly is listed at 59 cents, going to $113.98. A large Sunday newspaper at 60 cents this year, would be $70.92 in 2001.

It appears the best bargain would be rump roast—a pound at $1.49 in 1977 compared to $1.98 at the turn of the century. Ground beef projects at a higher rate—from $1.19 to $7.54.

THEORIES ARE great, but sometimes we need to look at both sides of the matter. According to an Associated Press article, the Postal Service has come up with another money-saving measure—changing the zip code to a nine-digit number. Seems they need the nine numbers to find what block a letter goes

Tax-Incentive Package Discussion To Resume

WASHINGTON (AP) - There's renewed talk in Congress about higher taxes on large luxury cars and lower taxes for people who upgrade the insulation in their homes.

Those and some other tax portions of President Carter's energy program, once given up for dead, may be resurrected in the wake of several important legislative energy victories for the White House.

House-Senate negotiators were to meet today to see what parts of the energy tax-and-incentive package they can salvage.

Carter's unpopular proposal to raise U.S. oil prices to world-market levels through a crude oil tax was not expected to be among them.

But two other taxes - on fuel-inefficient autos and on industrial use of oil and natural gas - are given a good chance of being revived, as are the proposed energy-conservation tax credits.

The conference committee, which hasn't held a negotiating session since last December, was reconvened by leaders after other parts of Carter's long-stalled energy program were put back on the legislative track this week.

On Wednesday, the Senate passed the crucial natural-gas deregulation bill. Then late Thursday, House-Senate conferees resolved their last remaining dispute over non-tax aspects of the

Loader Falls, Kills Worker At Feed Yard

Ricardo Mendez, a 57-year-old employee of Southwest Feed Yards east of Hereford, died shortly after noon Thursday when the front-end loader he was driving fell off an incline and on top of his body.

Mendez was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson, who ruled that death occurred by suffocation. It appeared that Mendez's face had been pushed into the rain-soaked ground about eight feet below the road on which he had been driving the loader.

An employee of the stock yard discovered Mendez shortly after noon. A wrecker was called to pull the five-ton loader off the body.

Mendez lived a mile north of 15th Street on Progressive Road.

Funeral services are pending for Mr. Mendez at Ceballos-Diaz Funeral Home in Edenburg. Local arrangements are under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Mendez was born November 1, 1920 in San Juan. He moved to Hereford from Edenburg in 1968, where he married Maria Guadalupe Mata. Mr. Mendez was a Catholic.

Survivors include two daughters, six sons, and 10 grandchildren.

'Humble' Pope John Paul Dies after 34-Day Reign

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope John Paul I, the humble "little man" elected pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church just 34 days ago, died of a heart attack during the night, the Vatican announced today.

The 65-year-old pope's reign was one of the briefest in history but his obvious humanity had nonetheless endeared him to millions.

An official Vatican announcement said John Paul, who had a history of health problems, died at about 11 p.m. Thursday (5 p.m. EDT) while reading the 15th-century book of meditations "The Imitation of Christ."

In death he still had his usual smile, said a senior cardinal.

The body was discovered this morning at about 5:30 by his private secretary, the Rev. John Magee. "Since he had failed to see him in the chapel as usual, he looked for him in the room and he found him dead in the bed with the light on," the announcement said.

A doctor was immediately summoned, and he attributed death to "acute myocardial infarction." Monsignor Canisio Van Lierde, the pope's vicar for Vatican City, blessed the body.

"Providence took him away from us so suddenly," said Carlo Confalonieri, the 85-year-old dean of the College of Cardinals. "We are all with our eyes turned upward wondering about the inscrutable designs of God."

Crowds of faithful mourning a dead pope for the second time in less than two months soon were gathering in St. Peter's Square. The great bronze door of St. Peter's Basilica was half closed in a sign of mourning. Bells tolled in churches throughout Italy. Messages of condolence began flowing in almost immediately from around the world.

In the north Italian mountain village of Canale d'Agordo where the pope was born, the 30 villagers attending morning Mass burst into tears when the parish priest interrupted the service to announce the news.

"He lay in his bed, with the face slightly reclined on the right, with his usual smile," Confalonieri said in an interview. "I prayed, kissed his hand, then went to the papal chapel to say Mass."

The body of the church's 263rd pontiff was to lay in state beginning later today in a hall of the Apostolic Palace.

As it did after the death of 80-year-old Pope Paul VI on Aug. 6, also of a heart attack, the church machinery of papal succession immediately went into motion. The Vatican's secretary of state, French Cardinal Jean Villot, who takes over Vatican leadership during the interregnum, went to the papal apartments to organize the funeral rites and ordered that the 112 cardinal-electors around the world travel back to Rome to prepare for the selection of the 264th pope.

Under church law, the conclave of cardinals must meet between the 15th and the 20th day after the pope's death.

Though he reigned barely a month, John Paul, the former Cardinal Albino

Luciani of Venice, had made a worldwide impression with his warmth and kindness.

Only two days ago, he appeared in good spirits during his customary Wednesday general audience when he referred to his own health.

Addressing the sick in the audience, the pontiff said:

"Know that the pope understands and loves you; the pope has been in the hospital eight times and has had four operations."

A relative said recently he had undergone surgery for his tonsils, to set a broken nose after a fall and twice for gallstones.

Even at birth, his health seemed frail.

PUC Grants SPS $15.9 Million Increase

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Texas Public Utilities Commission Thursday awarded Southwestern Public Service, which provides electrical power to Panhandle residents, a $15.9 million rate increase.

The increase upset both SPS officials, who asked for $21.9 million, and city officials, who had stated that $4.2 million would have been a more accurate need of the electric company.

SPS directors were to meet today in Amarillo to either accept the increase or fight for the full amount requested. SPS can ask PUC for a rehearing on the request, then go to court if it fails to change the commission's mind.

City officials, too, can ask for a rehearing. After that, the next route of appeal would be the courts.

"I would certainly think we're going to appeal," Hereford City Manager Dudley Bayne said today. "We hired rate consultants, independent consultants, to come up with a fair figure."

"Our consultants said that $4,208,000 would still give Public Service Company a fair rate of return and give their common equity holders a fair return on their investment. So, I think the only thing for us to do is appeal."

Bayne said he cannot understand why SPS would question Thursday's ruling. "They ought to be having a party. They're screaming, but it's all show. We're the ones (cities) who ought to be screaming."

Officials from the 26 cities which hired the rate consultants did win one battle in the PUC hearing. The utilities commission decided that TUCO, a wholly-owned SPS subsidiary organized to purchase fuel for the parent company, should not receive a greater rate of return than the amount SPS receives.

"We've gained some by that ruling, but we're still not satisfied," Bayne said.

Dolph's Kin Like Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After Gov. Dolph Briscoe lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to John Hill, he pledged his full support for his former opponent as a loyal Democrat.

However, since that time, Briscoe appears to have given little actual support to Hill and has done nothing to stem the tide of Democrats, including his own family, who are lining up behind Republican nominee Bill Clements Jr.

Briscoe's wife Janey said she will vote the Democratic ticket out of loyalty, though she said she thinks Clements is better suited to fill the post being vacated by her husband.

"Party loyalty aside," she said this week, "I do feel he (Clements) would make a better governor than Hill."

Briscoe's son, two daughters and son-in-law, meanwhile, have joined a growing number of Briscoe associates who are aligning with Clements.

The governor has apparently done nothing to discourage the move.

"We can't support Hill," said Cele Briscoe, youngest of the governor's three children. "It's not because he beat my father but because of his beliefs and philosophies."

The Briscoe children, Cele, Janey and Chip, said they prefer Clements because he is "more conservative" than Hill.

Mrs. Briscoe said although she feels no bitterness toward "things about me and Dolph that were deliberate lies, and he knew it."

She declined to elaborate, saying she didn't want to start a feud with Hill.

Mrs. Briscoe said her family received no request from Hill for an active campaign "and don't have an obligation to work for them."

Preparations Made For District Meet

Mrs. J.J. Durham, luncheon chairman for the Oct. 14 District 10 meeting, outlined for the Aggie Moms Monday her plans for the upcoming meeting. Hoping for an attendance of 50 or more area Aggie Mothers Club members, local members volunteered their assistance to Mrs. Durham.

Mrs. C.R. Walters of Austin, state president, and Mrs. Thomas H. Pfeiffer of Lockhard, sixth vice president of the state organization, will attend the annual meet which will commence at 10 a.m. at Deaf Smith County Museum. Following coffee and time to tour the museum, Mrs. Walter Hardin, president of the Hereford Aggie Mothers Club, will call a brief business meeting. Mrs. Walters will at this time speak to the group.

Following this meeting the women will visit the E.B. Black House for a salad buffet luncheon, served under Mrs. Durham's directions. Mrs. Austin Rose Jr., member of Aggie Moms as well as secretary of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society is serving as coordinator for the event.

Other chairmen for the district meeting are: Mrs. Hollis Klett, invitations; Mrs. Beryl Fish and Mrs. Hilrey Aven, registration; Mrs. Hardin, official representative for the Hereford club; Mrs. Bud Eades, decorations; Mrs. David Beavers, awards; and Mrs. Werner Koelzer, publicity.

Mrs. Bob Hicks, treasurer, announced at Monday's meeting there are now 32 paid members, an all-time high since the club's inception with nine members in 1972.

Mrs. Hardin displayed the engraved gavel recently donated to the club by Mrs. David Beavers, currently serving as corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Richard Berryman was welcomed as a new member by the other members attending: Mesdames Frank Ford, Donald Wright of Dimmitt, Fred Alston, Alton Hollingsworth, George Olson, Don Brown of Adrian, Richard Clark, Thurman Atchley, Mel Holubek, Rose, Hicks, Fish, Aven, Hardin, Beavers, Klett, Durham, Koelzer.

Mrs. Forrest Klett was a guest of her daughter-in-law who announced that Mrs. Klett and several other Llano women have formed an Aggie Grandmothers Club.

Rainy Weather Moves Lapidary Club Indoors

Rainy weather forced members of Deaf Smith Lapidary Club indoors Monday night for a covered dish supper and monthly business meeting. The group, who had originally planned to have a picnic at the Sam Morgan home, found shelter in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Dale Henson, president, called the business session to order after the meal. The main order of business was the finalization of plans for a rock-hunting expedition to Tucumcari, N.M. on Oct. 7.

Members will gather in the Flame Room parking lot at 7 a.m. that day for the trip.

Jake King presented a sketch of a proposed club badge and his design was adopted as the official logo of the lapidary chapter. Also, Morgan volunteered to make contacts for possible rock-hunting trips to the Oklahoma Panhandle.

In routine business, members decided to raise the annual club dues and to change the meeting time to 7:30 p.m. for the winter months.

Westway Baptist Church

The Westway Baptist Church is located 7 1/2 miles West of Hereford on Highway 1058 [Harrison Highway]. It was organized August 22, 1930 at the Westway School House. Rev. O.E. Boyer and Rev. R.F. Allison directed the organization. There were twenty-nine charter members. Rev. O.E. Boyer was the first pastor and served until his death in 1932.

The Church conducted their first Vacation Bible School in 1938 and has had one each year since. In 1948 there were fourteen conversions during the Vacation Bible School. The church experienced one of its best years of additions added to the membership.

In 1960 the church built the present church building. Orville Atkinson, the pastor at that time was also a carpenter. He directed the construction of the building. He was a student at Wayland Baptist College. Many students from Wayland Baptist College have served as pastor since it's organization.

The parsonage was built in 1965, and the landscaping completed in 1966.

The church ministers to the entire family. Sunday School at 10:00 a.m. for every age group. Worship Services at 11:00 A.M. and 7:00 P.M., Training Union at 6:00 P.M. each Sunday. Midweek Prayer Service at 8:00 P.M. Wednesday. At the present there are seventy-nine resident members.

The church is affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, The Baptist Convention of Texas and the Amarillo Baptist Association. Freelin Eugene Suttle is the present pastor. He began his duties September 10 of this year.

Neglected Children

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this letter so other people can read it and get as burned up as I am. Maybe then somebody will do something about it.

I'm enclosing a newspaper article about a man who kept three of his children penned up in a wire chicken coop, a four-by-six-foot pen. The little ones were naked, dirty and under five years of age. The worst thing is that the court is going to make a decision as to whether or not the children should be returned to him. Isn't that incredible?

It's an open-and-shut case of child abuse and neglect and cannot be described as anything else. This man has two wives (sisters), 20 and 22 years of age. They have produced seven children ranging in age from 11 months to five years. He is a full-blooded Choctaw Indian and is permitted multiple marriages according to tribal laws.

Ann, you know the right people. Speak up against child abuse and let us know what we can do to help. There are too many children out there right now being abused and neglected. They can't help themselves. Maybe we can help them. I'll Do My Part In New Jersey

DEAR N.J.: This problem comes under the jurisdiction of the state.

Get everyone you know to contact the governor and let him know how you feel about this case.

Ignorance rather than cruelty is at the bottom of it. These people need to be educated. I read the newspaper account carefully and I'm convinced they actually don't know better.

After being taught the basics of simple hygiene, perhaps the children could be returned to their parents, but not until they have decent facilities to live in, clean clothes, and a mother and father who have been considerably enlightened.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you crowd just one more letter in for that woman who wanted to know if her husband was a brother-in-law to her sister's husband? I hope so because it sounds like the definitive answer. I ran across it in a bookstore recently and it sounds convincing. It came from a paperback of "Ripley's Believe It or Not":

"Men who marry sisters but are otherwise unrelated to one another are considered brothers-in-law in the United States (same for sisters-in-law) but nowhere else on earth."—Mrs. S.B. H-Burg, Miss.

DEAR S.B.: Only in America! Thanks for letting the world know.

Banana slices keep their creamy white color longer if they are dipped in a little orange juice before they are arranged on a white cake.

Paprika, known as the cosmetic spice, adds color and subtle aroma to everyday dishes such as scrambled eggs, mashed potatoes and macaroni.

When cooling sauce thickened with eggs, cornstarch or flour, prevent a skin from forming by stirring gently and often until sauce no longer steams.

The mold that grows on bread is usually harmless, but can be prevented by storing in a cool, dry, well-ventilated bread box or drawer, says Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

While away on vacation, turn down the bell volume control on telephone so that a burglar, outside the house cannot hear the unanswered ringing, advises Glenda Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Dominic," first of new "Once Upon A Classic" series

"Dominic" will be the first in the new "Once Upon a Classic" series scheduled to start on the evening of October 7 on PBS.

"Dominic" is not based on a book. It is a series just for TV. It is an adventure about Dominic, the son of a sea captain. His father sends him to a special school to prepare him for the naval college.

The next "Once Upon A Classic" series will be "The Secret Garden," based on the famous book by Frances Hodgson Burnett. It is scheduled to start in

The hero, Dominic (played by Murray Dale), in the hands of his enemies. The story is one of kidnapping, murder, smuggling and even early rockets. It is set along the rocky coast of England.

December. It is the story of a girl who goes to live with her rich uncle when her parents die.

"John Halifax, Gentleman," will start in January. This series is about a poor orphan boy who becomes rich. It is based on a popular English novel.

"Pinocchio" will be shown in the spring. This tale of the old woodcarver, Geppetto, and his puppet, Pinocchio, is truly a classic.

Bill Bixby will return as the host on this popular children's show.

Raising Goldfish in a Space Station

by Dr. Lynn Bondurant

Near the center of a space station, things will feel weightless. Raising goldfish in this weightless place will be fun. You will not have to keep your fish in water.

On Earth when you take a fish out of water, its gills (the lungs of a fish) collapse due to gravity. Because of this, the fish cannot breathe in the air and it dies. But in the weightless world, the gills will not collapse. You can keep your fish in a tank or room that has a lot of moisture in its air.

Your goldfish will have to learn to swim in this weightless world. At first your goldfish will have to get used to weightlessness. Then it can swim like its cousins, other goldfish on Earth.

A Place in Space

The Dream of a Space Station

by Dr. Lynn Bondurant

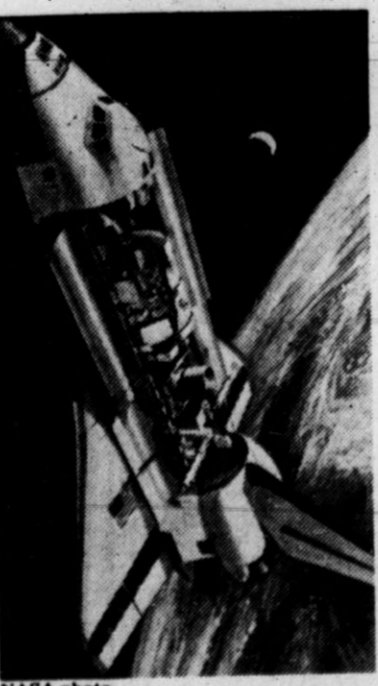

Someday millions of people might be living in space stations orbiting the earth. Before this can happen, several things must be done.

Solar satellite power station

- Power satellites will have to be built that can change sunlight into electricity. At first this energy will be used in the construction of the space station. Later, lunar bases will be powered by these satellites.

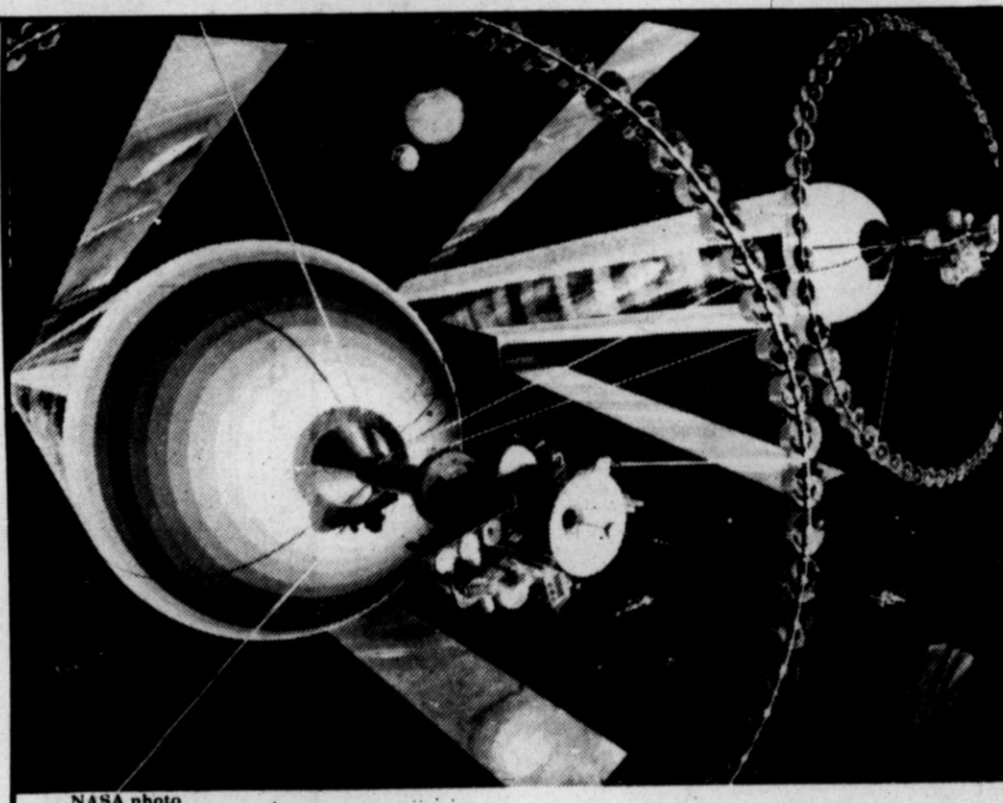

NASA photo

- Improvements in space transportation must be made. The Space Shuttle is the first step.

- Bases on the moon will have to be built. From here, lunar soil will be mined and launched into space to be taken to the space station. It is out of the lunar soil that many of the things necessary for the construction of the space station will be made.

An artist's drawing of a 21st-century space colony. The cylinders are where people will work and live. The dish-like cups in the two circles are where the food will be grown. Mirror wings will control sunlight. Power stations are at the top of each cylinder.

Below is a make-believe letter from a boy who might be living in a space station.

Space Station Neil Armstrong
July 21, 2027

Hello Friends on Earth,

I am on board the Space station "Neil Armstrong." I am living in here with my mom, dad, and sister. We had to leave Lucky, our German Shepherd, on Earth. We couldn't train him to live in space.

The space station rotates very slowly. This turning motion makes us feel like we have weight. If the space station did not rotate, we would feel weightless and we would float around in here.

All our food is grown here. The vegetables grow really well, especially the corn. We cook our food in a microwave oven.

Our apartment is very comfortable. But since it is smaller than our home on Earth, we go to the recreation center to exercise and play games. We will be coming back to Earth in six months for a short visit. The doctors will check our health. If we pass the physical, we can return to space.

Your far-out friend,
Kenny

The Shuttle... A Step to Space Stations?

The Shuttle system is made up of the Orbiter, the external tank that contains the blast-off fuel and two rocket boosters. The Orbiter and boosters can be used again. The Shuttle will blast off vertically (straight up).

The Orbiter will carry a crew of seven and the "payload" of whatever is taken into orbit. The missions can last from 7 to 30 days.

Next year, the U.S. will test the Space Shuttle.

The Shuttle will make routine space trips by 1985.

Unlike other space flights, the Shuttle can blast off, land and then be used again.

Highly trained astronauts do not have to go. After a little training, almost anyone can make the trip.

The purposes of the Space Shuttle program are:

1. To make regular flights into space.
 2. To carry spacelabs into orbit where many experiments can be carried out.
 3. To remove satellites floating in space.
 4. To launch satellites into space.
- Maybe someday shuttles will carry people to and from homes in space stations.
3. Parachutes drop them into the ocean.
 4. The Orbiter keeps flying.
 5. The external tank separates and falls into the ocean.
 6. The Orbiter carries out its mission.
 7. The Orbiter begins to land.
 8. It lands on a runway just like a plane.

How the Shuttle Works:

1. It takes off vertically.
2. The booster rockets separate.
