

Hunters Anxiously Await 'Opening Day' Saturday

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

"Pheasant phobia" returns to the Magic Triangle area of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties at sunrise tomorrow, as the 1979 pheasant season gets underway amid excellent hunting prospects.

Motel rooms in the area have been booked up for weeks in advance of opening day, and the massive influx of hunters into the area which normally accompanies the pageantry of the sporting event will spell important extra income for local businesses and landowners.

According to The Brand's fourth annual "Magic Triangle Pheasant Forecast," which was published in mid November, pheasant numbers have remained stable over the area, despite some adverse weather conditions during spring nesting, and hunters can expect a season as good as they saw in 1977.

Chuck Cosper, Hereford-based game warden with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. reports that first day checks of hunters last year showed an average bag of 1.5 pheasants per hunter, and results this year should be equally good.

Cosper pointed out that expanding populations of the colorful gamebird in surrounding areas may help to take some of the extremely heavy hunting pressure off the population in the immediate Hereford area this year.

"The hunters are scattering out a bit more over the Panhandle now, following the expansion of the pheasant population. The Plainview-Kress and Stratford-Dumas areas are also prime pheasant hunting locations now," said Cosper.

Hunters taking the field will be allowed a two cockbird limit, with four in possession.

The head and feet of each bird must remain attached to the carcass until it is delivered to its final destination.

Hens are not fair game within the state, and hen shooting became a particularly acute problem in the region last year, despite fines which can range from $25-$200 per offense.

Additional game wardens will be on duty in the Magic Triangle area this weekend, and sportsmen are reminded to comply with all licensing requirements, as license checks in the field are commonplace.

Pheasant may be hunted from vehicles on private property, although Cosper reminds sportsmen that it is illegal to shoot from any public roadway.

Shotguns need not be plugged for pheasant hunting, although plugs are required if migratory waterfowl are to be hunted as well.

"With all the cattle we have on wheat and stalk pasture over the area this year, sportsmen should be particularly careful to close gates, and to avoid driving over electric fences or damaging them in any way that would allow cattle to get out," Cosper pointed out.

Obtaining permission from landowners prior to hunting should be another priority, as numerous complaints concerning hunters who enter posted land or private property to hunt without permission are received by wardens.

This weekend's hunting should be good in sorghum and corn stalk fields. With the season running through Dec. 24, hunting pressure will taper off toward the latter part of the season, and dedicated sportsmen should continue to enjoy success by working the heavy cover of playalake bottoms, overgrown fencerows and tailwater recovery systems.

With wet field conditions hampering field work over the past few weeks, ample cover is available to the pheasant population at this time, and hunters should have little difficulty finding suitable fields to hunt.

Warming Trend Should Follow Extremely Cold Night

Slippery Slide

Things which look inviting during the summer are not usually that way after a snowfall. Hereford, by this morning, had recorded about two inches of snow, making sidewalks and streets slick. The sun broke through by mid-morning, but forecasters predicted that temperatures would not warm much until Saturday.

A travelers' advisory for Hereford remained in effect today as snow continued to fall and bone-chilling temperatures kept the slick stuff on city streets.

There were 19 traffic accidents reported within the city limits of Hereford Thursday, prompting local police to issue the following warning: don't drive unless you must.

"The streets are slick. What else can I say?" said the officer who issued the above statement.

City bulldozers were clearing off Hereford's busiest streets and intersections this morning.

Today's low in the city was 5 degrees, recorded first at 7:15 a.m. and again at 9 o'clock.

And forecasters offered little hope of immediate improvement as forecasts called for continued snow throughout the day and into the evening. A slight warming trend was expected Saturday.

A traveler's advisory was in effect this morning throughout the Panhandle-South Plains due to snow on the ground and additional accumulations expected up to one inch. Hereford had more than two inches of snow on the ground this morning.

Today's high will be around 15, according to the National Weather Service in Amarillo. Temperatures were expected to dip below zero degrees late tonight or early Saturday morning.

The high Saturday could be in the low 30s, forecasters say.

Snow fell in the mountains of Southwest Texas, the Panhandle and portions of the South Plains. Amarillo had a fresh two-inch snow blanket by dawn.

Freezing drizzle put a thin coat of ice on roads, highways, bridges and overpasses over a wide area of the northern half of the state, prompting the National Weather Service to warn of hazardous driving conditions.

Ice-coated highways produced many accidents in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. A motorist said stalled and wrecked automobiles littered portions of Central Expressway in Dallas during the pre-dawn hours. Some sections of the expressway had only one lane open.

Fog reduced visibility to less than a mile in East Texas and over most of South Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from a three-degree reading at Dalhart in the Panhandle to a balmy 60 in Beaumont on the coast in Southeast Texas.

Early morning temperatures included seven at Amarillo, 19 at Wichita Falls, 39 at Texarkana, 27 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 30 at Austin, 35 at Lufkin, 37 at Houston, 41 at Corpus Christi, 50 at Brownsville, 36 at Del Rio, 25 at San Angelo, 30 at El Paso and 16 at Lubbock.

Snow was reported at Amarillo, Dalhart and Lubbock. Fog was reported at Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Beaumont, Brownsville, College Station, Cotulla, Longview, Lufkin, Palacios, Victoria, Tyler and Waco.

Unemployment Rate Stays Same

WASHINGTON (AP) - The unemployment rate remained unchanged at 5.8 percent in November as adult men gained most of the 540,000 new jobs that were created, the Labor Department said today.

Women and teen-agers had made most of the employment gains during the summer, but the new report showed employment among men rising from 51.4 million to 51.9 million last month.

Waste Veto Crucial, Says Assistant AG

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - An assistant Texas attorney general says the federal government is looking for states "where they won't face strong resistance" to locate nuclear waste disposal sites.

Studies are underway in Texas for possible disposal sites in the Panhandle and East Texas, said Rick Lowerre. There is a pilot disposal project at Carlsbad, N.M., 25 miles from the Texas border.

Lowerre told environmentalists Thursday 11 states have banned nuclear waste disposal sites, and a number of others have prohibited the transportation of such wastes within their boundaries.

He said federal Energy Secretary James Schlesinger has assured Texas Attorney General John Hill that Texas has the authority to veto any disposal site the federal government might pick in the state.

However, said Lowerre, the president or Congress "could tell DOE (Department of Energy) to withdraw that

Lopez Reported As Still Serious

Raphael Lopez, who was injured in an accident at the Holly Sugar plant Wednesday, was listed in serious condition today at an Amarillo hospital.

A fellow employee reported that Lopez had a badly damaged leg. His left leg was pinned between a steel auger and a hard-rubber roller inside the upper portion of a beet piler.

Another employee, Manuel G. Flores, was credited with playing an important role in the rescue of Lopez. Flores manned the cutting torch when rescuers freed the injured man from the rollers. Several other Holly employees aided in the rescue, along with members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

The proportion of the entire adult and child population holding jobs rose to a record 59.1 percent last month, the department said.

The improved unemployment picture this year has been a bright spot in an economy that has otherwise been torn by surging prices and a ballooning foreign trade deficit.

But many private economists are predicting higher unemployment next year as the Carter administration tries to drive down the inflation rate.

The jobless rate has plummeted from 9.1 percent of the labor force in May 1975 to around 6 percent most of this year, as the growing economy has created millions of new jobs. The unemployment rate also stood at 5.8 percent in October.

Unemployment had been 6 percent in September before declining to 5.8 percent in both October and November.

Although more men gained jobs in November, their unemployment rate remained at 4 percent because more of their last month had also begun looking for jobs than previously.

Following is the unemployment rate for other categories:

-Adult women 5.8 percent, up from 5.6 percent in October.

-Teen-agers 16.2 percent, down from 16.3 percent.

-White population 5 percent, down from 5.1 percent.

-Black and other minorities 11.8 percent, up from 11.4 percent.

-Full-time workers 5.2 percent, down from 5.3 percent.

-Black teen-agers, 36.2 percent, up from 34.3 percent.

The report also showed the duration of individual unemployment has declined sharply in the past year. The average unemployed person spent 7 weeks without a job in November 1977, but 6.1 weeks in October and 5.5 weeks last month.

In the past year, total employment has risen by 3.3 million to 95.7 million jobs, with adult women accounting for more than half the increase, the department said.

Last month the average work week for production workers rose 0.1 hours to 35.9 hours. Their average hourly earnings increased 0.7 percent in November and 8.7 percent for the year.

The average production worker earned $5.87 per hour in November, or $210.15 per week. All the figures are adjusted to

Informant Testifies Cullen Was Target

HOUSTON (AP) - A one-time informant with a reputation as a "hit man" says he left a meeting with Priscilla Davis last winter convinced she wanted her millionaire husband murdered.

It's part of the strategy by defense attorneys to characterize their client, Fort Worth industrialist Cullen Davis, as the target of a conspiracy instead of the man who plotted a murder, as the state contends.

Burly, balding David Binion, 34, testified Thursday he met the shapely blonde at the Davis mansion and that she was "extremely upset" and appeared "messed up on drugs."

"Did you leave the meeting with the opinion that she called you there to do harm to Cullen Davis," defense attorney Richard Racehorse" Haynes asked.

"Yes," Binion replied. On cross-examination, prosecutor Tolly Wilson posed this question:

"While you were there did she ever ask you to kill or have her husband Thomas Cullen Davis killed?"

"No," he responded.

Mrs. Davis says she never met Binion, a Houston car salesman who lived in Fort Worth at the time of the alleged meeting.

That was the highlight of testimony Thursday in and out of the presence of the jury in the murder conspiracy trial of Davis, 45.

The state contends the stoic oil heir plotted to kill his divorcee last August and that he paid FBI informant David McCrory $25,000 when he thought his orders had been obeyed.

Instead, McCrory, 40, the state's key witness, took his story to the FBI and cooperated in a tape-recorded scheme that led to Davis' arrest Aug. 20.

Within hours, the defense team that successfully defended Davis on a murder charge last year insisted that he had been framed.

And now they are trying to show that Davis was the target in a triangular conspiracy conceived by Mrs. Davis and perpetuated by McCrory and Fort Worth karate instructor Pat Burleson.

All three have denied that such a conspiracy existed.

Binion, the third defense witness, said he was a paid informant for three law enforcement agencies when he was contacted in July 1977 by a woman identifying herself as Priscilla Davis.

He said, however, he did not respond to the telephone calls until early this year, more than a month after Davis was acquitted of murdering Priscilla's 12-year-old daughter Andrea by a previous marriage.

Andrea was killed in a bloody 1976 rampage at the $6 million Davis mansion when a "man in black" gunned down

Violinist Named All-Stater

Hereford High School senior Rebecca Rudd has been named to the prestigious all-state orchestra by a panel of judges in Dallas, it was announced this week by HHS orchestra director Bill Huff.

Her placement on the statewide orchestra qualifies Miss Rudd to perform in the Texas Music Educators Association's annual meeting Feb. 8-10 in Fort Worth. The all-state orchestra will be directed by Dr. George Trautwein, conductor of the Tucson Symphony Orchestra and a student of Cleveland Orchestra conductor George Szell.

Music to be played by the honor group will include Beethoven's "Symphony Nov. 5," Grieg's "Symphonic Dances" and Prokofiev's "Lt. Kije Suite."

Miss Rudd, Hereford's first violinist ever to be named to the all-state orchestra, qualified by playing before a panel of area orchestra directors on Nov. 8.

The directors classified Miss Rudd as an all-state candidate and sent a tape recording of the violinist to a panel of violin virtuosos, who judged her performance last week in Dallas.

Miss Rudd is "concert mistress" of the HHS orchestra and is a student of Dr. Virginia Kellogg, professor of violin at Texas Tech.

States Urge Rollback Of 1st-Class Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) - Money paid in first-class mail rates goes to subsidize the handling of other types of mail, a representative of eight states said Thursday in urging a court-ordered rollback.

"We contend that first-class mail-users pay rates five and sometimes 10 times as high as some other types of mail that - at least some of the time - receives identical treatment," Michael B. Meyer, lawyer for the states, told a three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

"We request that the first-class rate increase be suspended," Meyer said, referring to last May's hike from 13 cents to 15 cents for first-class letters.

The class was brought by the attorneys general of Maine, Rhode Island, Florida, Washington, Indiana, Arkansas, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

There have been many allegations that the Postal Service charges an elevated rate for first-class mail because it has a legal monopoly on that type of mail. Meanwhile, the Postal Service holds down prices for types of mail for which it has competition, according to these allegations.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger and other postal officials have repeatedly denied such charges, noting the major role that a separate agency, the Postal Rate Commission, has in setting rates. The commission, after extensive hearings, has endorsed the rate structure that is in effect.

Plea Bargaining Sought for Parr

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - Attorneys for both sides considered a plea bargain today that could avoid a trial and keep former Duval County Judge Archer Parr out of state prison.

While awaiting the results of the plea negotiations, Parr was enjoying his first full day as a free man in about 40 months after his release from federal prison two days ago.

If the plea-bargaining fails, the former Duval County official will go to trial Monday on state charges of using county equipment and employees on his private ranch. He was released from federal prison Wednesday after serving three years and four months of a 10-year term for lying to a grand jury.

Parr, 53, was taken into custody by state officials as he walked out of the federal prison in Texarkana, Texas, but then won his freedom by posting a $45,000 bond on the state charges Thursday.

Attorneys for both sides huddled with District Judge Darrell Hester for about 45 minutes after Thursday's pre-trial hearing. A courthouse source later told The Associated Press that a plea bargain being negotiated could lead to a guilty plea from Parr in exchange for a 10-year probation sentence.

Demonstrations Banned By Iranian Official

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Tehran's martial law administrator banned demonstrations Sunday by religious and political foes of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi as more foreigners and well-to-do Iranians fled the country.

Gen. Gholamali Oveisi said a mass meeting called by the religious leader Ayatullah Teleghani outside his Tehran home Sunday and religious processions Sunday and Monday that are the high point of the Shiite Moslem holy month of Moharram would violate martial law. He said the army would do everything necessary to break them up.

Informed sources said the army was expecting demonstrations in at least 10 cities, including the holy cities of Mashhad and Qum.

Religious leaders demanding the shah's abdication had promised a "bloodbath in the streets" if the government interfered with the marches Sunday and Monday. The processions are a traditional expression of mourning for Imam Hossein, the grandson of the prophet Mohammed and the founder of the Shiite sect, but it was apparent that the leader of the anti-shah movement, exiled Ayatullah Khomeini, was planning for them to be turned into a demonstration of opposition to the ruler.

Carter Calls Summit Over Arms Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter said Thursday he will brief leaders of France, Britain and West Germany on details of a nearly complete strategic arms agreement at a midwinter summit in the Caribbean.

He said the United States and Russia are separated in the SALT talks by only minor differences, which he can see a way to resolve provided the Soviets are willing to continue what he called "steady progress" in the talks.

It was announced Thursday that Carter and the three European leaders will meet Jan. 5-6 in extraordinary privacy on Guadeloupe, which is French territory.

Discussions are to range over a wide variety of subjects, including SALT talks, but no public announcements or daily news briefings are planned.

Carter told reporters at a breakfast meeting at the White House that he plans to discuss U.S. SALT proposals "in final form" as well as the remaining points of dispute, "if any."

"I doubt if we will have a final agreement to go over with the other European leaders in Guadeloupe, but we will have the SALT proposals that we have in almost final - our proposals, probably, in final form, when we get to Guadeloupe, and an accurate description to the other leaders of the remaining differences, if any, at that time," Carter said.

Police Report

Police arrested two Hereford men on burglary charges involving last Friday's theft of $2,500 worth of clothes from a Park Ave. Cleaners van.

The van was parked at Sugarland Mall when the theft occurred.

Arrested were Abel Garza Jr., of 300 W. 6th, and Mario Vargas, of Apt. No. 114 at Bluewater Gardens Apartments.

Police also are investigating the attempted burglary of Mr. Burger West, on W. Park Ave. A lock was pried from the back door, but police said nothing was taken.

The Abundant Life

BY BOB WEAR

Nihilistic Night Nihilism is a curse which people bring upon themselves. It is old, old, old; but there is an upsurge of it, in varying degrees, in our time. It is so widespread that its evil effects touch all of us, in one or more ways. Many persons have gone far into the "nihilistic night" of despair.

Nihilism is the view that traditional values and beliefs are unfounded and that existence is senseless and useless. It is also the concept which denies any objective ground of truth, and, in particular, moral truth.

The most dangerous threat to the most people is in the view that conditions in the social organization (establishment) are so bad that destruction is desirable for its own sake; independent of any constructive program or possibility.

Terrorism is often the insane companion of nihilistic attitudes. The strife, turmoil, disorder, bombings, widespread and senseless destruction are the symptoms of the growth and evil influence of this spirit of "nothingness."

Self-abandonment and personal despair are part of this old curse. Many people, who could bring their own lives into a state of good order and meaningfulness, let the challenges and difficulties of life push them into the mire and darkness of "nihilism."

The excuses these people use for their retreat into "nothingness" make them appear to be cowards and simpletons. The apologists for "nihilistic night" say that it represents the rebellion which is a "protest" in the name of moral perfection against a hypocritical society. Yes, there is some hypocrisy and many imperfections; but these protestors gain nothing by going from "bad" to "worse."

People under this curse, oftentimes self-imposed, are the most immoral segment of humankind. This is true now and has been true in each generation of recorded history. They use the flaws they see as excuses to make themselves worse, and they do nothing constructive.

It is unjustified to expect perfection in individuals, or in a social order. It is even more foolish to sink off into the night of "nothingness", and refuse to accept the obligation and opportunity to be useful and helpful.

Defenders of the growing "nihilism" say that "The excess of Christian morality has turned to fierce immorality." It may be that misconceptions and perversions of Christian morality have contributed to the sad departures from human decency and objective truth; but no one can prove that the "true view" of Christian morals is at fault.

Our passion for "Nihilistic" self-doubt may come to an end only when it has finally destroyed our civilization. -- Dr. Michael Polanyi. This need not happen.

There is objective truth; verified, certified and time-tested. Life fashioned by this dependable truth has meaning and purpose, and makes good sense.

We can have "something" or "nothing". We make the choice.

Newton Resigns Over 'Conflict'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Texas Railroad Commissioner Jon Newton - who says he spent "close to $70,000" two years ago to get elected - announced Thursday he is resigning to avoid a possible conflict of interest.

Newton, 37, said he is submitting his resignation to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, effective Jan. 1, and he hopes Briscoe will ask his advice on appointing a successor.

Newton told a Capitol news conference in recent weeks a number of natural gas wells have been completed, or will soon be completed, on land in Goliad County that has been in his wife's family for seven generations.

Portions of the land were recently deeded to his wife, Judy, he said.

The royalty income "might be insignificant to some" but should exceed his commissioner's salary of $45,200 a year.

"In my opinion," he said, not even setting up a blind trust to handle the income "can resolve the dilemma."

"I can excuse myself from any decisions affecting this ranch or the county in which it is located," he said. "I can absent myself from rule-making or regulatory actions in this regard. In other words, I can avoid to the best of my ability any semblance of a conflict. But I am not satisfied that this is enough. No matter how diligently I restrict myself on these questions, I cannot remove the appearances of a conflict of interest."

"I do not want any shadow of doubt cast over the work of the railroad commission," he said. He added that he had talked to Briscoe about the possible conflict and, "After weighing the alternatives, I have found that none are acceptable. ... I have decided that resignation is the only course my conscience will allow me to take."

The three-member commission regulates Texas' oil and gas industry.

Newton was elected to a six-year term in 1976, replacing former Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, who decided not to seek re-election.

Newton beat former commissioner Jerry Sadler in a Democratic runoff election, after trailing Sadler in the first primary, which included eight candidates. Newton then dethroned Republican Walter Wendlandt in the general election, receiving more than 2.25 million votes - the most ever by a candidate for the commission.

He had been in the Texas House in 1970-76, where he had served as chairman of the House Energy Crisis Committee, vice chairman of the Energy Resources Committee and vice chairman of the House Oil and Gas Subcommittee.

White To Pursue Medicaid Fraud

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Attorney General-elect Mark White wants to move Medicaid fraud investigation into his office from the Department of Human Resources, an assistant attorney general said Thursday.

"Mark White has indicated a strong interest in pursuing Medicaid fraud in the attorney general's office," said David Bragg, chief of the attorney general's consumer protection division.

Bragg told the State Board of Human Resources that Gov. Dolph Briscoe is considering designating the attorney general's office as the official state agency to track down misuse of Medicaid funds.

Under federal regulations, governors may assign the responsibility to a specific agency which would be aided by federal funds. Briscoe has not done so, and the human resources department assumed the duties in 1978.

Federal rules require that the agency designated to investigate fraud be separate from the office administering the Medicaid program. The human resources department now handles both.

Ed Richards, chief of the current fraud investigation unit, agreed with Bragg that a new agency likely will be selected soon to take over his duties.

Since Richards' unit was formed, it has investigated 460 cases and found 118 instances of fraud involving $500,000 in the outright misuse of funds and $250,000 in audit exceptions. The unit has 23 investigators and a $500,000 budget.

"Of those cases investigated, we found a 20 percent instance of fraud, which is well above the national average of 6 to 7 percent of cases investigated," Richards said.

"Texas has the distinction of being one of the most active states in the nation in terms of Medicaid fraud investigation," said Bragg. He said he was appearing on behalf of both Attorney General John Hill and White.

The board authorized Commissioner Jerome Chapman to make necessary arrangements with any agency designated to handle fraud probes if Briscoe or Gov.-elect Bill Clements assigns the task.

In other action, the board threw the issue of rural health clinics to the 1979 Legislature.

Chapman said a federal law calls for clinics in rural areas, but they could cost $20 million per biennium in state funds.

The board probably "should not do anything until the Legislature has a chance to tell us what to do about it," Chapman said. And the board agreed with him, taking no action on the matter.

authority and they (DOE) would have to go along with it."

"I'm not saying we should reject the sites," said Lowrre. "I am saying the veto authority is important...we need that leverage."

Linn Draper, former director of the Nuclear Reactor Laboratory at the University of Texas, said Texas officials should insist on a thorough federal study before they permit nuclear wastes to be transported across the state.

Draper said he thought DOE would comply with such demands "if properly pressed. So far, I haven't seen that pressure."

Draper, Lowrre and others addressed a conference on environmental legislation. The two-day conference is sponsored by For the People, Inc., and the Texas Environmental Council, which includes the Sierra Club, League of Women Voters, Texas Medical Association, Houston Citizens' Council and Texas Electrical Co-ops.

The conference was funded, however, by the national Endowment for the Humanities; Texas Committee for the Humanities; Mitchell Energy and Development Corp.; Monsanto Co.; Sun Production Co.; and El Paso Natural Gas Co.

Draper said the military has accumulated 80 million gallons of high-level radioactive wastes during the past 30 years and commercial radioactive wastes should equal that amount by the year 2000.

Additionally, 60,000 cubic meters of low-level radioactive wastes have been stored at 20 federal sites throughout the nation, some in "sliphod fashion."

The location of the Carlsbad disposal site could mean the transportation of low-level nuclear wastes from South Carolina, for example, across Texas to Carlsbad.

"I don't think we should be too worried about normal transportation accidents," said Draper. He said the containers are safe and any such waste should be "fairly easy to clean up."

Although there could be a lot of shipments with "some risks," Draper said, he added that the large-scale disposal of nuclear wastes "will not be a reality until many years from now."

the stand and says something else."

Although called by the defense, Binion obviously was reluctant to repeat what he earlier told Haynes and his investigative colleague Steve Sumner.

Haynes implied, and Binion denied, that his partisanship swung to the prosecution when a "hot check" charge against the witness was "resolved" in Fort Worth.

The crafty Houston attorney also brought out that FBI agent Ron Jennings of Fort Worth, a state witness here, provided bail for Binion to get him out of jail on the check charge.

Haynes also sought to show that the FBI and other law enforcement agencies displayed little interest and took no action when Binion reported his suspicions about Mrs. Davis' motive for contacting him.

The defense is expected to argue that such disinterest led Davis to mistrust authorities and contributed to his frame of mind during the conversations in which he made the incriminating, tape-recorded remarks to McCrory.

unemployment figures.

If a recession is coming, it has not shown itself in economic indicators so far. Industrial production, employment personal income, retail sales, housing and factory orders all were strong in October.

However, the government tightened credit Nov. 1 in a dramatic move to bolster the reeling dollar on foreign exchanges, and these economists say the subsequent scarcity of money will bring on a recession.

The inflation picture showed no improvement Tuesday as the government reported wholesale prices rose 0.9 percent in November.

Although the spiral in food prices eased, costs for fuel and other products rose rapidly.

Mrs. Davis, her lover Stan Farr, and a chance visitor.

Mrs. Davis, 37, and Gus Gavrel, now 23 and crippled in the midnight attack, survived.

Binion testified that in his undercover role as an informant he worked as a debt collector for North Texas gamblers and that he purposely nourished his reputation as a "hit-man and a muscle-man."

Without explaining why he waited six months to respond, Binion said he went to the mansion on a snowy winter day and talked with Mrs. Davis alone in her bedroom.

Hot Breakfast

For Hunters

With snow and icy winds promising bone-chilling hunting conditions for those die-hards who still plan to pursue pheasants on opening morning tomorrow, a hot breakfast will be almost an essential start.

Hereford's Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary will be supplying just that at the organization's annual pheasant hunter's breakfast, scheduled to get underway at 5:30 a.m. at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

Auxiliary members will be dishing up scrambled eggs, ham, biscuits and gravy, and will keep the hot coffee and milk coming for a fee of $2.50.

And with steaming coffee promising to be an important mainstay to get hunters through the frigid morning, the auxiliary will be filling thermos bottles at a fee of $1 each.

Licenses will also be available at the breakfast.

Proceeds from the auxiliary project will be used to purchase new equipment for the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

Since the start of his term, President Carter has been trying to create jobs by keeping the economy growing steadily. But Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, says unemployment prospects probably will worsen in coming months.

"We are going to have to have a pause in our economic expansion" to fight inflation, he said.

Bosworth and other government officials say that does not mean a recession is inevitable, but they see little chance that unemployment can be brought down still more.

Many economists, including George Perry and Arthur Okun of the Brookings Institution, are predicting a recession by the middle of next year, leading to higher

HHS to Present Comedy Musical

The Hereford High School drama department will be presenting the musical, "The Coolest Cat in Town," tonight and tomorrow evening in the high school auditorium. Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. both nights.

Admission will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The musical will relate the story of rock star Junior Bumpers, who contends with his parents' wish that he return to college and with the reputation of his uncle, Billy Dee Bumpers, a singing idol of the '50's who disappeared 25 years ago. The problem is complicated by the discovery of Billy Dee, who is frozen in suspended animation and can be thawed out. But, before he can be "brought back to life," the community decides to revert to the '50's so that Billy Dee will not be too shocked by the drastic changes. The resulting confusion provides the comedy for the musical program.

BB/BS

BE A FRIEND, HAVE A FRIEND

JOAN DWYER DIRECTOR

There is universal concern these days about the disintegration of the family in America. This condition receives the blame for everything from infidelity to juvenile delinquency. And rightly so!

I think we need to concentrate on a remedy.

In my opinion, family unity must begin with the "I do." Thinking in terms of "we" instead of "me" is a major adjustment in some instances.

When children are infants and even toddlers it's very easy to play with them. But as they get older, we find more difficulty in relating in a fictional world. Games are a good communication vehicle. But be careful to play them for the sake of enjoyment, rather than in a highly competitive spirit.

"Plays" are another way to have fun. Parents should also be participants in these. Try switching roles with the kids.

Beware of depending on an outside stimulus when planning your playtime. And remember, the most important thing to do is-Have Fun!

Ann Landers

Odd Couple

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am six feet tall, weigh 200 pounds and look like a football player. No one would ever suspect I am a transvestite. I don't feel I am an "oddball." I accept this facet of my personality as an outlet for my tensions. Everybody needs some outlet and cross-dressing happens to be mine.

My hang-up is limited mostly to wearing women's panties or pantyhose, which I do every day under my street clothes. If I am alone during the evening, I sometimes dress further.

I have been married for ten years and although my wife is not particularly happy about my "outlet," she tolerates it well and never says anything.

The problem is this: We have a four-year-old son and are expecting another child soon. How do we handle the situation so the children can come to accept my inclination to be "different" and not develop a neurosis or think daddy is "strange"?

Since there are many others who would ask the question if they had the courage to do so, please answer in the paper for all of us. -- Great In Number But Each Of Us Is Alone

DEAR NUMBERS: I see no reason for the children to be told. It would only confuse them. This matter is strictly personal. It involves no one but you. Keep it to yourself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My friend has a bad drinking problem, and I want to help him. Should I try to advise him or let him alone?

He also has a smoking problem and a poker problem. What can I do about these? -- Worried In Columbus

DEAR COLUMBUS: There is no way you can help a person stop drinking, smoking or gambling unless he wants to stop doing these things and comes to you for help.

If he does -- suggest Alcoholics Anonymous, Smokers Anonymous, Gamblers Anonymous.

mous. AA is in the phone book. The address of GA is P.O. Box 17173, Los Angeles, Cal. 90017, and SmokEnders is 3435 Camino Del Rio, South, Suite 216, San Diego, Cal. 92108. The poor guy has three monkeys on his back. I hope he makes it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been trying for months to track down the Shakespearean quote Vice President Mondale used, when he delivered that unforgettable eulogy at Sen. Hubert Humphrey's funeral in St. Paul.

Will you please print it in your column? I want to clip it out and keep it. And can you tell me where it came from? -- Read You In St. Cloud

DEAR ST. CLOUD: The quote was from Henry V -- Act Five, Scene Two, Line 16.

"A good leg will fall. A straight back will stoop. A black beard will turn white. A curled pate will grow bald. A fair face will wither. A full eye will wax hollow. But a good heart is the sun and the moon, for it shines bright and never changes, but keeps its course truly."

The Vice President then ended with these eloquent words: Hubert's heart kept its course truly. He taught us how to hope and love, how to win and how to lose. He taught us how to live, and finally, he taught us how to die.

Baby Shower Held Tuesday

A special guest was the baby's grandmother, Mrs. L.J. Jones.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Barnett were Pat Manchee, Karen Casey, Bobbie Nunley, Nancy Urbanczyk, Delores Jones, Debbie Wheat and Linda Vermillion.

Letters To Santa

Dear Santa,
My name is George Kearns and I am three years old. For Christmas I want a pop-up pinball, a rock and roll school bus, and Milky the marvelous milking cow. I hope you can bring me all those things.
Love,
George

4th Quarter Rally Gives Girls 49-47 Win

Hereford Fems Edge Dunbar

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor
The Hereford High girls' basketball team overcame a nine-point deficit and obvious height disadvantage to edge Lubbock Dunbar, 49-47, in the first round of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational Girls' Basketball Tournament Thursday.

In other games played at the La Plata gym, Amarillo Tascosa beat Borger 47-34, Pampa whipped Big Spring 48-29 and Amarillo Palo Duro subdued Abilene Cooper 41-32.

Dunbar, decidedly taller at most positions than the host team, led 9-7 at the end of the first period before Hereford scored eight straight points to open the second period while holding the Panthers scoreless until 4:25. By the end of the half, it was Hereford who had the advantage 23-22.

At the start of the second half the Whitefaces could not continue their attack due mostly to the shooting from the free throw line that was as cold as the weather outside. Due to the inability to make the charity shots the fems were behind 40-33 at the end of the third stanza.

The one bright spot in the third quarter for Hereford was the play of Penny Whiteside who made a short jump shot at the buzzer to pull the team to within seven. The fourth stanza did not start out very special, but that was due to change very quickly. Using an effective full court press the 'Faces slowly started their comeback but the Panthers were staying equal as the quarter wound down. During

Eagles Need Win Against Pokes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia Eagles, victimized by Minnesota's star quarterback Fran Tarkenton last week, will have to defend more against the run than the pass in Sunday's crucial game against the Dallas Cowboys, if they wish to stay in playoff contention.

Philadelphia lost to Dallas 14-7 in an early season encounter on Cowboy turf, but the Eagles were in the game right up to the final whistle.

"We've got to play our best football of the season," acknowledged coach Dick Vermeil, whose 8-6 club still has a shot at a wild card berth, profiting their two challengers, Washington and Atlanta, both falter in their final two games.

"Roger won't throw a lot," reported Cowboy coach Tom Landry, who might even be prepared to bench him early to prevent any more serious injury.

"I'll be much quicker to substitute," Landry said. "We have some backup people who need work but I'm not going to substitute and jeopardize our chances of winning."

Tarkenton threw 56 passes in leading the Vikings to a 28-27 victory, with the go-ahead touchdown coming in the final minutes on a goal-line pass that end Ahmad Rashad took away from cornerback Herman Edwards.

"I really didn't feel that I had to explain what happened," Edwards said a few days after the game, still upset about the defeat. "The dude just made a great catch."

"One week you're a hero," said Edwards, who made a game-saving catch against Green Bay. "The next week you're a goat. That's the way it is with cornerbacks. One week you're in the dreamhouse, and the next week you're in the outhouse."

McEnroe Leads US Davis Cup Team

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) - He is like the junior partner in appearance, in manner, in the way his teammates tease him. But John McEnroe, the 19-year-old American star, is being counted on as the leader of the United States squad that begins its quest of the Davis Cup today against Great Britain.

McEnroe, who's been playing against professionals for just 18 months and who turned pro only six months ago, may be the baby in the family but he's also the highest ranked player going into the Davis Cup championship round. He meets 24-year-old John Lloyd, one of Britain's top players, in the opening match. Ranked sixth in the world, McEnroe is agile and fast with a full stack of playing skills, a powerful volleyer, smart at the net. But as his age might explain, he is impatient, inclined toward dramatics, sulky when he fails.

His teammates are Brian Gottfried, playing singles, and the doubles duo of Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, Davis Cup old timers.

After drawing their opponents Thursday for the five matches in their three-day mission, all four took to center court for practice. They hammered away at each other, chatting all the while with easy familiarity.

In today's other match, Gottfried goes against England's Buster Mottram, whom he has beaten in their only previous match.

Smith and Lutz, who are undefeated in Davis Cup matches they've played together, meet David Lloyd and Mark Cox on Saturday. The singles pairings will be reserved for the final matches Sunday.

Today's matches will be shown on a tape-delayed basis by the Public Broadcasting Service, which will air Saturday and Sunday's matches live.

Nine Teams Vie For Playoff Spots

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
Denver and New England are in unique positions this week in the National Football League.

Both teams can clinch division titles against a couple of have-not clubs. But if they stumble, the Broncos and Patriots could be in trouble because there are a couple of haves waiting in the wings next week.

Denver can wrap up a second straight American Football Conference West crown by beating Kansas City Sunday and New England can put a lock on its first division crown in 15 years by clinching the AFC East with a victory over Buffalo.

If they don't clinch, the Broncos have Pittsburgh next week and the Patriots will face Miami. So both teams will be out to get the job done this Sunday.

Last week's 11-3 pushed the season's record to 116-78 for a .598 percentage.

The picks:
Patriots 23, Bills 10
New England can clinch that title. Watch Steve Grogan perform surgery on Buffalo's secondary.

Broncos 24, Chiefs 7
It has been a tough year for Craig Morton & Co., but the clincher should be easy.

Steelers 27, Colts 14
With the AFC Central title safely tucked away, Pittsburgh is tuning up for the playoffs.

Vikings 31, Lions 14
If Minnesota can score all those points on show, imagine how well they'll do in the

McCall Signs

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The San Diego Sockers of the North American Soccer League have fulfilled a top priority by signing Walker McCall, their leading scorer from 1978, to a three-year contract.

McCall, who was on loan to the Sockers last year, signed the contract last week in Europe, a Sockers spokesman said Thursday.

Whatever happened to the Oakland powerhouse? If the Raiders can't win at home, how will they win on the road?

Los Angeles can't lead up, even with the NFC West clinched. That history of playoff failures won't allow it.

Learn and save lives

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read about the Heimlich method but I didn't absorb it. Now I wish I had. Yesterday at noon I was eating a hot dog on a hot dog bun when a piece of something got caught in my throat. It was like the breath had been knocked out of me. I couldn't inhale at all. I didn't make any choking or gagging noises as I couldn't make a sound. I jumped up and leaned forward and kept trying to exhale the best I could. I finally got it dislodged or I guess I wouldn't be sitting here writing to you today.
The only ones witnessing all of this were my three children, ages 11, 9 and 5. I was petrified over this incident and so were my children. Could you please send me some information on the Heimlich method? I want to learn all I can on this life-saving procedure and teach it to my children if they are old enough.
DEAR READER - I'm afraid most people don't think health information is very important until they need it. Often it is too late then as it could have been in your case. I am continually impressed that health education saves lives.
The basic principle behind the Heimlich maneuver is to consider the two lungs as large inflated air bags connected to your wind pipe at the back of your throat. If you are able to squeeze those inflated lungs in some way so that it forces air out the wind pipe, it helps to dislodge whatever is in the throat. You can consider the food that lodged in the back of the throat as a cork in a bottle. What you are trying to do is pop out the cork.
I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-4, Save A Life, Heart and Lung Arrest. It includes in it a discussion of the Heimlich procedure. A modification of it can be used in an unconscious patient who is lying flat. You could also use a modification of it on yourself. You did do the right thing by trying to exhale, forcing the air out around that food cork in the back of your throat probably helped to dislodge it.
You can learn, though, to press on your abdomen just below the breast bone vigorously and sharply at the same time you are exhaling. This pressure pushes the diaphragm up and squeezes the lungs and makes it a little easier to dislodge the food.
There is another method which has been advocated recently which simply involves getting hold of the tongue and pulling it out rather far. If you can pull the tongue out far enough, it helps to elevate the obstruction in the back of the throat and may enable you to reach back and pull out the food bolus.

The Health Letter I am sending you also provides the basic information on how to provide artificial respiration and how to provide heart compression through the chest as an emergency procedure. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
People who know how to do these things often have the opportunity to save lives. If your friends know how to do it, they may even have an opportunity to save yours. Community Red Cross and Heart Associations often give courses on these procedures for the public.

Plant Costs Soar

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Shoddy construction and recurring disputes over quality control are contributing to soaring costs increasing at the South Texas Project nuclear plant, the San Antonio News said Tuesday in a copyright story.
The increased costs are being passed on the nuclear plant partners under a cost-plus-fee contract with Brown & Root Inc., headquartered in Houston. Partners include the city of San Antonio, Houston Lighting & Power, city of Austin and Central Power & Light of Corpus Christi.

required, on-site quality control inspectors. Nor did the report mention the role that alleged slipshod construction practices is playing in cost overruns.
A Brown & Root quality control inspector told the News that specified construction projects are sometimes held up for six to eight weeks while improper work is torn down and redone.
"This results in huge cost overruns," the inspector said.
He was corroborated by San Antonio City Councilman Joe Webb who said, "I know for a fact that they (Brown & Root) have made some construction mistakes that they have had to tear out costing thousands of dollars."
He declined to elaborate.
An internal Brown & Root memo obtained by the News reveals delays have been caused by failures of construction crews and foremen to catch mistakes before the quality control personnel did.
Brown & Root, asked by the News to comment on the story, has not responded to the newspaper.
"Many times identified by the quality control inspector could just as easily be found by the craft foreman," the memo states.
Speaking of disagreements between inspectors and construction workers, the memo notes:

"...more timely action by the construction staff could possibly offset and prevent these delays."
A recent surprise federal inspection at the plant revealed other problems which may lead to further delays and additional costs, the News reported.
The inspection uncovered improper welding and a building built in the wrong place, it said.
The files of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission contain a number of investigation reports by the federal agency probing allegations made by on-site inspectors at South Texas project.
The reports show that an excess amount of friction developed between the quality inspectors and the construction crews.
The report also documents "an excessive number of items of improper construction that should have been caught by the construction staff before any quality control inspections."
W.A. Crossman, chief of the NRC project section at Arlington, declined to comment on whether such items resulted on cost overruns and delays, saying it was out of his jurisdiction.

The plant is near Bay City in Matagorda County.
Several sources within the construction project told the News that expensive and time-consuming segments of the construction too often must be halted, torn down, and done over because of faulty work.
There are no indications that the problems will result in an unsafe nuclear plant, but the additional costs caused by construction errors are not being absorbed by the construction company. Rather, they are being passed along to the project partners.
After learning of the allegations, San Antonio City Council supporters as well as critics of the controversial power plant called for an investigation.
Last month an investigative team hired by project partners reported the plant construction was running $700 million over budget, meaning that with inflation, the original 1973 cost estimate of $738 million for the plant would probably balloon to at least $2 billion.
The investigative team also reported the project probably would open 18 months behind schedule.
The first phase of the project is not expected to open until early 1982.
The project's own task force report blamed delays and higher costs on:
-additional government regulation.
-unexpected increase in quantities and prices of basic materials.
-increased labor requirements combined with inflation.
But nowhere in the report was there any mention of costly delays created by frequent friction between Brown & Root's construction division and the company's own legally

FAITH FINDS NATIONS BEST GOVERNED BY LAWS

The system of liberty and justice enjoyed by the free nations of the world today is largely the result of a lesson painstakingly learned throughout history: that mankind is best governed not by men but by a set of laws designed for his own protection from the excesses of the governing bodies elected to administer and enforce them. Moreover, the very procedure for changing or abolishing these laws is built right into the provisions. All of this is based on the principles set forth in the Bible, which is emphatic about the preservation of man's freedom. Your Church will teach you the laws of God, and thereby help you to understand and obey the laws of your land, which were enacted for the well-being of all.

It should always be remembered, that the great end of government is human well-being.
—James H. Fairchild

"So do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty."
—James 2:12
