

AROUND A Town

Sights and Faces Seen

Those stories of crowding, rush and confusion in Washington, are actually an understatement, according to Bob Thompson, who was in the capital last week and came back convinced that a quiet country town has all the advantages. In just one week, according to Bob, it's impossible to learn to shove hard enough to make your way around in Washington streets and office buildings.

Granddaughters can be a problem. Take it from W. H. Alexander, who was unpleasantly surprised Sunday when his little granddaughter, whom he thought was sneaking up behind him to give him an affectionate pat, proceeded to pour a large handful of dirt on his head. At about that time Grandpa is reported to have used force.

Our own idea on the most successful way to handle the next big bond campaign. Just hint that bonds are going to be rationed and every patriotic citizen will be out to get his before the "hoarders" get on the job.

They're feeding a patriotic laying mash out at the Troy Newman place, but one of the hens must have gotten an overdose. She laid an egg that weighed six ounces and measured 7 1/4 inches around—nine inches the long way—then cackled and died. No doubt because she heard something about exceeding an OPA ceiling on egg production.

Frank Bezner would like to trade his luck to Hitler or somebody equally objectionable. Frank had a hired man who went to visit his mother—and then decided to stay in California, which made the labor situation bad. But to make it a little worse, Frank broke his arm, which makes him now three hands short, to be strictly (Continued on Page 12)

Other Counties Make Requests For Use of Prison Laborers

Tire Records Enclosed With New "A" Gas Book

Clerks at the gasoline rationing office this week started mailing out the new "A" gas ration books which will be used after July 22, and the office force reports that the work is going satisfactorily.

Enclosed in the envelope with the new ration books are the new tire inspection record papers, which car owners must keep for use when the next tire inspection comes due.

The new tire records are slightly different in form from the originals, and car owners are warned not to make a mistake and destroy these records slips, which must be presented to the tire inspector when the next inspection is made.

Persons who have not yet made application for the new A books are urged to do so at once as the present ration books expire on July 22.

Rain and Hail Hit Northwest Part of County on Monday

A heavy rain reaching almost water-spout proportions fell Monday afternoon in the Bippus community in the northwest section of the county, leaving about a ten-mile strip in the area still under water Tuesday morning and further delaying farming operations.

Hail, which accompanied the rain, did severe damage to wheat and other crops and left gardens almost a total loss. Harvest had started on many farms in the area and some wheat was saved.

No rain fell in Hereford on Monday, and the only parts of the county visited by the freak storm were at Bippus and in parts of Ford and Haysman communities.

Representatives from seven counties have visited Hereford recently in an effort to get prison camps located in their areas. County Agent A. R. Bateman reported this week, stating that farmers from Lubbock, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Swisher, Hale and Terry counties desire prison labor to help with cotton chopping and picking, vegetable cultivation, and the digging of potatoes.

According to government regulations, the county judge and commissioners court in each county must sign an agreement with the camp commander promising to furnish a camp site, buildings, sanitation, lights and equipment for the camp and must agree to take at least 250 prisoners. Guards will be sent from the camp which will also provide food and medical care for the men.

Farmers who use the prison labor will be required to furnish transportation to and from the camp site and prisoners will not be permitted to go farther than 30 miles from the camp. The laborer cannot be away from the camp more than ten hours per day and the ten hour period will include the time spent going to and from work.

Wages will be at least 50 per cent of the prevailing rate for (Continued on Page 12)

Five Star Service Flag For Mrs. J. W. Beene

Mrs. J. W. Beene of Hereford now has five grandsons in the American armed services. And in her case, it is really a matter of "sons in the service," because the five boys made their home with her after the death of their parents.

Bruce Beene, who left July 1 for Missouri for training in the Navy's V-12 program had lived with his grandmother since the death of his mother in 1926 when he was only three months old.

Other grandsons in the service are Weldon, who is in the Navy and has been on active duty in the Aleutian area; O. J., also of the Navy, who is now stationed at Seattle, waiting for further duty in the Northwest Pacific; Douglas, who is in the Army, stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., and Billie, in the Army at Camp Bowie.

The boy's father, Otho J. Beene, died in 1933 and they made their home with their grandmother while attending school in Hereford.

Wheat Loan Price Raised To $1.21 on No. 1 Grade

The loan price on No. 1 grade wheat has been raised to $1.21, one cent higher than the rate originally set for this county and three cents higher than the loan price of 1942.

The announcement of the increase was received at the AAA office yesterday; and the original loan requirements, as announced several weeks ago, are still in force.

Chas. Sowell Buy Hereford News Stand

Chas. Sowell this week took over active management of the Hereford News Stand, which he purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Will Adkisson, owners of the business for the past several months.

The Adkissons, who have considerably increased the stock of the news stand, sold the business because of poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Sowell will continue to feature much the same lines of merchandise. They will handle all of the larger daily papers of the territory and will feature a complete line of magazines, sandwiches and cold drinks will be sold at the soda fountain and the new owners hope to increase the line of novelties.

"We are going to do our best to operate an up-to-date news stand, and we will be ready to handle the demands of our customers in this line," Mr. and Mrs. Sowell state, inviting regular news stand customers and new customers to come in and give them a try.

Dehydration Plant Gets Washington OK

Permission to build a dehydration plant has been granted to the Hereford Potato Growers Association by the Federal Government and with the permission went a AA-2X priority for building materials, which means that the plant should be completed within from 60 to 90 days.

Members of the association and other interested citizens are invited to a meeting at the courthouse at 9 o'clock Monday night where final plans will be made.

Robert L. Thompson, who was in Washington last week in the interest of the local dehydration project, states that government approval definitely means that a plant will be constructed here, either by the potato growers cooperative or by some other agency, and that it will be ready in time to handle much of the Hereford potato crop.

Congressman Gene Worley, who helped Mr. Thompson on his mission to Washington, gave much valuable assistance in making contracts and securing the information necessary for the speedy approval of the project. (Continued on Page 12)

Price and Inspection Rules To Be Explained To Potato Producers

All potato farmers in the county have received an invitation to attend a meeting at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, July 13, at the courthouse when government officials will attempt to clarify OPA and inspection regulations which will govern the marketing of the 1943 crop.

An OPA representative from Dallas, M. S. Frazee, chairman of marketing of the State Department of Agriculture, and Hart T. Longino of Harlingen, superintendent of potato inspection for the Food Distribution Administration, are expected to attend the meeting.

Potato farmers, and the public generally, have been left with only a hazy idea of the way in which price ceilings, grading, etc. are going to work out this year; but great difficulty in marketing and consequent loss of part of a valuable potato crop has already resulted in South Texas, where producers and the OPA came into conflict.

Khiva Temple Gives Aid Toward Co. Bond Quota

Deaf Smith County has been given credit in its war bond quota for a $100 purchase by Khiva Temple of the Mystic Shrine.

John H. Patton of Hereford, Potentate's Aide in this county, explained that Khiva Temple is pledged to buy a war bond for each novice who crossed the hot sands at the Victory Ceremonial in Amarillo on May 31st, and to credit the purchase to the county in which the novice resides.

These purchases, totaling more than $17,000.00 have been made by C. Willard Smith, the Temple's treasurer, in the various counties from which the novices came.

Among the novices from Deaf Smith County was W. M. Stewart of Hereford.

County Has 2 Pressure Cookers for Rental

Two good pressure canners are being made available for rental to housewives of Deaf Smith County, it was announced this week by county officials who state that a rental charge of 50c a day will be made for use of the cooker.

Arrangements for rental can be made through the County Welfare Office.

Though the two cookers will not be able to meet the food conservation needs of the many housewives who do not own cookers and who need them to save surplus produce, some of the demand can be met in this way.

Beginning October 1, all cattle brands in Texas must be re-registered, according to information sent County Clerk Robert L. Thompson, who states that the new brand registration law will probably clear the record books of thousands of unused brands.

Brands have been registered in Deaf Smith County since Dec. 22, 1890, when G. R. Jowell, one of the first settlers of the county, registered his "JOEL and stripe" brand. In all probably more than 2,700 brands are registered at the clerk's office and not half of these are in use today.

Under the new set up, brands must be re-registered beginning October 1, and if a brand is not claimed within two years it will become the property of the person who puts it on record. Under the old law, no duplication of brands was permitted and the result is that many brands are on record which have not been used for many years but which are not available to cattlemen doing business in the county today.

Old records in the clerk's office could well provide a history of the cattle business in this area—and an old timer, looking over the brands recorded back in (Continued on Page 12)

Ceiling Price of $2.70 per Hundred on Harvested Potatoes

LUBBOCK—A contract for sale of unharvested potatoes must provide that the producer will pay to the buyer the difference if his crop, when harvested and weighed, brings him more than the ceiling price, Howard Gholson, district director of OPA, said today. He said that the maximum ceiling price regulation on potatoes states that not more than $2.70 per 100 pounds can be paid for the harvested crop anywhere in the state of Texas.

The producer must guarantee his unharvested crop at a certain sum and if he underestimates what his crop will bring, then it is up to the producer to pay the difference, Gholson pointed out. There is no provision in the regulation which guarantees the farmer a maximum ceiling price on his unharvested crop since the expected yield would be based on an estimate, he explained.

A large potato crop is being produced on South plains and it is expected that it will be ready from harvest within the next few days.

The Hereford USO, started last Thursday has registered more than 150 soldiers in its first week of operation and sponsors believe that as a regular routine develops, the club will become a real recreation center for servicemen.

The work of signing up recruits is continuing and it is the request of the recruiting committee that persons asked to serve as hosts and hostesses make every effort to accept the appointment for the night on which they are asked to serve. Make "Want List"

Mrs. John H. Olson, hostess-secretary, has made the following list of items which are needed at the USO, and persons who can supply any of these items are asked to notify Mrs. Olson.

Things needed include subscriptions for daily papers, magazines, newspapers, smoking stands and ash trays, radio table, coffee table, another divan or davenport, more tables or desks for letter-writing, a desk for the hostess-secretary, popular and classical music for the (Continued on Page 12)

Spud Prospects Point to Record In Production

Potato harvest is expected to start in the county around July 15, and producers are anticipating the largest crop ever dug in this area, with more than 3,000 acres planted and yields of more than 100 sacks to the acre promised by most fields.

Irrigation practices have been unusually successful this year and insect damage to the crop has been slight. Where any insect damage was reported, farmers have successfully combated the trouble with spraying.

At present, the biggest problems faced by farmers are the labor problem (expected to be at least partially solved by the use of prison labor) and the confusion which has resulted from OPA regulations on the sale of the crop. The OPA rulings are expected to be clarified somewhat when producers meet with government representatives to hear an explanation of ceiling price laws.

Producers in the county this year include the following farmers: H. H. Boardman, J. G. Evans, H. L. Hershley, I. J. Lovling, C. A. Wimperley, J. E. Andrews, Fred J. Axe, S. J. Axe, Joe Ballinger, Fred S. Barrett, H. F. Benson, L. P. Blackburn, Glenn Boardman, M. D. Buttrill, D. R. Carmichael, D. W. Finlan, John Gallagher, B. J. Hall, V. C. Hodges, W. N. Hodges, Oscar Hunt, W. C. Lowry, J. C. Warrick, Herman Neff, Otto Olson, John J. Paetzold, C. D. Potter, George Robertson, F. J. Knabe, C. W. Calson, W. H. Rhodes, F. H. Dyer, F. E. May, W. H. The USO entertainment committee has been making plans—but to get any definite entertainment organized, they must know just how many girls they can get to help with their work and what girls will be available for what specific types of entertainment. Therefore, they are asking the young ladies of Hereford to sign the blank printed here and mail or turn it in to Mrs. John H. Olson, hostess-secretary. The response on the request for girls to help with evening entertainment has been good, but the USO needs this additional information to plan their future program. More application blanks will be available at the USO tomorrow.

JULY 11, 1943

With a carefully staged and planned parade in the forenoon, followed by an eloquent address by Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell, and a patriotic pageant in the evening, Hereford celebrated America's Independence Day uniquely and in a complete fashion which, perhaps, has never been quite equalled here before.

Bolshevicked 'em—that is cordially invited them down for a nice, inoffensive Fourth of July ball game and then just literally whanged the tar out of them. Did most of it in one inning too, after tantalizing them along for five frames. Shipped up on them like a Yankee patrol in No Man's Land rushes a Hun listening post. (Introduction to the story of Hereford's defeat of Amarillo in the July 4th ball game.)

The following is a complete list of teachers for the Hereford Schools (recently elected by the local school board): L. M. Fettsch, mathematics; B. F. SYNTHETIC RUBBER NEWS

Phillips Petroleum Company

Announces the Completion and First Operation of its 90,000,000 Lb. Butadiene Manufacturing Plant

For an annual production of rubber equivalent to 11,000,000 tires

A MODERN miracle of petroleum research and chemistry has figuratively transformed a few acres in the Panhandle of Texas into one-third of a million acres of rubber plantation.

Here rubber will be drilled from the depths of the U. S. earth, instead of tapped from East Indian and Malayan trees.

From wells overlying the greatest raw gas field ever discovered, will come the natural gas to be processed into butadiene, the basic and major ingredient in synthetic rubber.

This great plant . . . designed and built by Phillips . . . based on Phillips research . . . using Phillips own patented processes . . . independent of German research . . . will make butadiene for an equivalent of 30,000,000 rubber trees.

Thus is brought nearer the no-longer distant day of U. S. self-sufficiency in rubber. Thus is Victory made more certain. And with that great day will come the full peacetime benefits of this outstanding wartime development.

FOR VICTORY... Buy U. S. War Savings Bonds and Stamps

Brief Notes about Phillips as Trail Blazer in the Synthetic Rubber Field

Tires containing rubber produced from Phillips butadiene have been on the nation's highways for more than two years.

In 1941 Phillips produced, for commercial rubber use, more than four times as much butadiene as any other oil company.

Phillips has freely supplied technical data on butadiene, styrene, and other related processes, to the petroleum and other industries participating in the Government rubber program. As a matter of company policy, Phillips advocated the production of butadiene by all dependable processes, from all possible raw materials, including products of the farm.

"My Last Appointment Was Late"

... How often have you heard a flurried operator say these words as she started on an appointment . . . ten or fifteen or twenty minutes late. Unfortunately, one late appointment usually means a whole day's appointments running behind schedule. It will mean a number of customers unavoidably late to their business or social duties; and it will mean that an operator may have to work several hours overtime.

In ordinary times, this matter of promptness is not so important; but nowadays, when we are working short-handed and every minute counts, we are asking all of our customers to:

- 1—Remember standing appointments — be sure that you have a definite understanding and your appointment is listed on the operator's book.
- 2—Be on time to appointments — it will save time for the operator and every other customer whom she serves during the day.
- 3—If you must break an appointment, notify us early. Some other customer would like to have the time you cannot use.

Majority of Texas People Now Live in Towns and Cities

Great economic and social changes are revealed in data presented by the 1943-1944 edition of the Texas Almanac, which has just been published by The Dallas Morning News. Approximately 400,000 rural Texans have shifted to urban residence and vocation since the census of 1940. For the first time in the history of the state, the majority of population is now urban, according to information in the new volume. More remarkable, relatively, has been the industrial expansion due to the founding of munitions, rubber, shipbuilding, aviation and other war industries. Texas' manufacturing output has expanded as much as during the last three years as in all preceding history. Mineral production has also been greatly stimulated. Last official figure on value of all minerals produced was $954,211,150 in 1941, placing Texas far ahead of any other state. On basis of partial reports, the Texas Almanac estimates total value of minerals produced in 1942 was more than one billion dollars. While petroleum, natural gas and natural gasoline counted for

The Texas Almanac is a biennial publication, and the new volume is for the two years, 1943 and 1944. It is bound in paper at 60c on newsstands, 75c by mail; also in cloth at $1 on newsstands and $1.15 by mail.

FARM SUPPLIES PLAN . . .

From time to time our customers have been asking about this new Farm Allotment Plan. The following excerpts are taken from a letter from one of the largest wholesale hardware firms in the United States . . .

"The great significance of this Farm Supplies Plan is the official recognition of needs of farmers, coupled with a plan intended to make the listed items available.

"It confirms our steadfast contention that food is as essential as munitions and that Food Producers should have a rationing equivalent to Munitions Manufacturers; otherwise the war effort would collapse.

"This Farm Supplies Plan is just getting started. It may be months before the goods are actually available. Contrary to popular belief, there are NOT huge government stocks from which to draw these supplies.

"Because we have no control over the availability of these goods, we truly hope that you will bear with us patiently with the full assurance that we are as eager to get and ship the goods as you are to get them. We will fairly divide what we get among our customers and ship as speedily as possible."

Therefore . . . it appears that it will be some months before we can realize the full benefits of this new Priorities Plan for farmers . . .

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION By W. W. REID

Speaking recently to a group of workers gathered at the Vatican, Pope Pius XII said: "Salvation and justice are not to be found in revolution but in an evolution through concord. Violence has ever achieved only destruction, not construction; the kindling of passions, not their pacification; the accumulation of hate and destruction, not the reconciliation of the contending parties. And it has reduced men and parties to the difficult task of building slowly after sad experience on the ruins of discord. It is only a progressive and prudent evolution, full of courage and in conformity with nature, enlightened and guided by the Christian laws of justice and equity, that can lead to the fulfillment of the honorable desires and needs of the worker."

Writing to the Rev. Richard S. Preston of All Saints Church, Worcester, Mass., a New England soldier serving in New Caledonia says: "We have seen the work of missionaries and the need for them, and believe me, they do wonderful work. Not long ago this island was just full of native tribes and so-called headhunters, very savage. French missionaries finally taught them to become Christians, and now, even though a very primitive, plain and simple folk, they have a great pride in being children of the Lord."

These summer programs for youth of ten to 25 years of age will provide instruction in religious education and religious inspiration, as well as recreational vacation activities. Special permits for the continuance of regularly scheduled church camps have been granted by governmental agencies in recognition of their importance to the morale of youth in wartime. Camps for older young people will probably be fewer this year and have a decreased attendance, because of the large number in this age group engaged in armed service or war industry.

Hereford Woman, Air Depot Foreman Describes Responsibility of Her Work

Doing her part to win the war and representative of the many American women who are holding down important jobs on the home front, Mrs. Willie G. Woody, daughter of Mrs. Oscar Vaughan of Hereford, Mrs. Woody is a propeller and governor specialist and department foreman at an Air Force depot at Chickader, La., and she wrote her mother last week describing the great sense of responsibility she feels for her work. As an example of a side of the labor picture which has had little publicity in recent weeks, her work deserves recognition.

Mrs. Woody wrote: "When I lie down at night I do my day's work all over again in my mind, just wondering if there might have been something I could have left unfinished or if I could have left a cotter pin out some where or a safety wire loose. Because this is final inspection, some mother's son has placed his life in the hands of those who prepared that ship to go. Those that face a responsibility like that can't help having sleepless nights, because when that plane is in the air hour after hour, those small defects might grow into more serious troubles and there are many thousands of men on the ground 'over there' awaiting the arrival of that pilot and his ship.

"My son is going into the forces soon. I can't go with him and help fight the battles as we have helped fight their little, childish battles and troubles—this is war; but we can supply their needs and pray that God will make them great soldiers, both physically and spiritually.

"So as I sign an 'O. K.' I breathe a prayer to God our keeper that he will escort that plane and that body and soul and land them safely at their destination.

"Many of the planes that come in have names written on them—Eileen, Charlotte, 'Carole'—maybe the name of some loved one back home whom they are depending on and some one they know won't let them down. Some of these planes have bullet holes. They have been to the battle fronts and were lucky enough to get back; some won't be that lucky, but they have our prayers, our efforts and our willingness to back them up to the end. When it is all over this will be a grand old world to live in."

is a recipe that you will enjoy, because of its happy qualities and because of the varied ways of using. It serves as a basic or parent recipe for a number of good dishes. It is for very little sugar and is of the other rationed foods.

As we get deeper and deeper in our rationed days, people are getting less critical of food. Most often, it is not a matter of what we want but what we can get. Plainier foods are finding a place at our tables these days and this recipe can be used as just a plain pudding, or you may dress it up until it meets the most fastidious desire.

Bavarian Cream
3 cups milk
1-2 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tablespoon Knox Gelatine.

Combine the milk and sugar and add the well beaten eggs. Cook in a double boiler until it thickens. Add the gelatine, which has been dissolved in 1-4 cup cold water, while custard is still hot, adding 1 teaspoon vanilla. Top with crushed nuts or a little whipped cream when ready to serve.

For varied servings try making Imperial Cream. Just add one cup cooked rice to the custard mixture while still hot, then add the dissolved gelatine. Add 1-2 cup of canned milk whipped (be sure to get the kind that will whip) after it is cold but not thoroughly congealed. Make into a mold and serve with ripe strawberries arranged around the mold.

Strawberry Bavarian Cream may be made by adding 1 cup sliced strawberries to mixture when it begins to thicken. Serve garnished with whole strawberries.

One cup pineapple may be added in the same manner, one cup of coffee may be used instead of milk or two or three squares of chocolate may be added to the custard mixture to provide delicious desserts to suit individual tastes. Bananas sliced and alternated with nuts and layers of the custard mixture make a lot of goodness all mixed up together, especially if you are able to arrange a little whipped cream for topping.

Frying Chickens Come Under Ceiling Price Regulation

Maximum price ceilings apply to the price of frying chickens, an OPA announcement stated this week. The regulation has been effective since April 22 and is national in scope. However, the maximum price ceiling will vary slightly in different localities because of the variation in freight rates.

In Deaf Smith County the consumer may not pay more than $3.547 per pound for live chickens weighing under four pounds. The retail stores, hotels, cafes, institutional users or governmental users may not pay more than $2.966 per pound for the chickens. A maximum price of $2.966 per pound has been set for wholesale and produce companies to pay the producer.

These prices for consumer, retailer and wholesaler are only maximum prices, the OPA directive pointed out. Any price under this ceiling may be charged.

SEEDS of ADVICE

The Garden Club

The use of flowers in all types of containers with arrangements expressing periods and moods. (Note—This was prepared for the Garden Club by Mrs. Jim Lipscomb.) Most people like beautifully arranged flowers but in many instances do not take the time to follow a few simple rules regarding flower arrangements. Most of us, at times, have been guilty of pulling flowers and dropping them in a vase or even taking them to sick friends without a thought of how they appear.

JANE WITHERS, RUTH DONNELLY AND WILLIAM DEMAREST in the new musical comedy, "Johnny Doughboy," which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Texas.

The first step in arranging flowers is to determine the purpose they are to serve. In other words—decide where the arrangement can be placed in order to add to the beauty of the room. For example, a dining table arrangement should be low in order not to obstruct the view; a piano or mantel arrangement may be more formal or massive; a dressing table arrangement should be small, delicate and dainty.

Another good rule to follow when purchasing containers is that unless a container is attractive without flowers, it is hard to use in a pleasing manner. Containers should be selected to harmonize in texture, color, shape and balance with the various types of flowers. The texture as applied to flowers or containers, may be fine, coarse or medium surface. A pottery jug would be termed coarse in texture and is appropriate for zinnias, sunflowers, black-eyed Susans etc. Copper and earthenware containers are classed as medium in texture and are suitable for petunias, cornflowers and China Asters. Silver, crystal, china or highly glazed earthenware containers are always pleasing with cosmos, roses, delphinium and lilies. There is a large middle class of medium texture in both flowers and vases and with a little practice it is easy to recognize the texture harmony between the flower and container.

Harmony of color, or lack of it, can make or mar an otherwise beautiful arrangement. The arrangement should draw the attention rather than the container, hence it is wise to select a container which is subordinate in color to the flowers. A simple rule to follow is—pastel flowers are pleasing in pastel containers. At the same time pastel flowers may be very effective in darker containers of the right colors. Seidem do dark flowers look well in a pastel container. A pastel vase holding dark toned flowers looks top-heavy.

Another helpful rule is: select containers that are gray, gray-green and medium brown. These are nature's colors and blend in with a types of foliage. Blue delphiniums are beautiful in a darker blue bowl and if foliage suggests the reds, russets or browns, a brown or tan vase will be good.

No definite rule can be given so that there will be harmony of shape with the flowers and container. A container with lines similar to the flowers it holds establishes a sort of affinity between flowers and vase. An iris with foliage seems especially suited to a straight line vase while a practiced hand would bring a peony and a wide based bowl together.

All sorts of holders to fit into the vase or bowl are available and some even use modeling clay to hold the holders in place. If your home is furnished in early American or English Oak, you'll likely want to use containers of copper, brass, pewter, coarse baskets and pottery. If your home is furnished in the 18th Century or Traditional furniture you'll likely choose china, crystal or chromium.

Arrangements may be divided into three types: oriental, mass and modern. The oriental is the oldest type. Line is dominant with no thought given to color or mass. Cut the tallest branch two or three times the height of the vase or one and a half times the width of the bowl. Cut the second branch or flower just half the length of the first. Cut the third branch with a wide open flower just one half the length of the second branch. Hold all three firmly at the base, arranging for grace as well as beauty.

An asymmetrical arrangement is brought about with one side high and one side low. Symmetrical arrangements tend to balance all sides.

Mass arrangements are in direct contrast to the oriental. Mass all dark colors low toward the center as point of interest. Choose large and small flowers for interesting combinations.

Modern arrangements combine rules of both mass and oriental. Mass all dark colors low toward the center as point of interest. Choose large and small flowers for interesting combinations.

Modern arrangements combine rules of both mass and oriental arrangements. Each flower may contrast its neighbor in form and color, yet the whole composes into an exquisite group. Once you have become familiar with the simple fundamentals of arrangement, you can forget all rules and will be able to tell whether your arrangements are right or wrong.

"Never mind, Sergeant. You've been doing your part; lots more'n I could, but just the same my hair's gotten grayer, and now we can enjoy our peace... touring in the car!

"I knew we couldn't bank on any new models for a long while after this mess, so I played safe with our car... kept her engine OIL-PLATED like always, with Conoco Nth motor oil, especially to not let the engine get ruined by acid. Your old Mileage Merchant pal told me why there was no worse wartime danger than engine acid."

"Dad, I learned that too, in the service..."

"Quiet Sergeant, till I show off what I know. That acid comes from ordinary combustion, but when the car was run often and got plenty warm the acid petered out—not causing rank corrosion the way it does with the engine mostly resting. But knowing as I did that chromium-plating won't corrode easy, I could see it would check corrosion to give the engine's insides OIL-FLATING.

"A synthetic in Conoco Nth oil acts sort of like 'magnetism'... to keep OIL-FLATING fastened to inside engine surfaces—not all draining down to the crankcase even standing still. The car ran sweet bringing you back home, didn't it? Too bad some folks have got to wait months for new models, when they should've used Conoco Nth to OIL-PLATE and save their car. Let's go."

Electrical Storm Brings More Than Tuck of Rain Here

Rain reported at 1.23 inches in Hereford last Friday night and the downpour was general over the territory, with heavy showers, at least until Saturday in most localities.

Nearly three inches of rain fell in Hereford last week and reports from rural communities indicate that the fall was heavier south and east of town, with about five inches falling in the Wyche vicinity and two to four inches at Bethel. Travel in the Combs community was at a standstill as farmers resorted to horsepower to carry them over mud-bogged roads.

Around Town

accurate in a mathematical way.

Beauty operators say that the strain of being business under war time conditions is fast making shop owners and operators candidates for the hair dye they used to reserve for sale to customers. But Ruth Houser and Vera Faye Smith believe that the customers can help solve a lot of these problems if they really understand the situation, so they are taking a series of advertisements just to get the facts before the public and to get the public to help them meet the problems.

Arthur Thompson is a really happy man this week; for he's enjoying rest home-cooking again. Mrs. Thompson has given up her job in Amarillo and Arthur's days of "eating out" are over.

The local boys and girls in the service are really interested in the success of the USO. Cpl. D. L. (Jack) Kassahn wrote his mother, Mrs. Frank Gyles, last week, and enclosed a USO blank, all filled out with Cpl. Kassahn's "I'd like to serve, please, for a day, 24; duties, being regularly cussed out, etc." Jack ended up with a plea for "action" to help the USO—and that is.

In response to a great deal of public demand, Miss Sadie Mae Oliver, county home demonstration agent, and Mrs. O. F. Cannedy, WPA home supervisor, are planning a demonstration on dehydration of vegetables. The demonstration will be held at the courthouse, and exact date will be announced next week.

O. K. Sherman, who claims to be a changed man, writes that he hopes to be home Friday, unless he has a relapse when he sees his hospital bill. He even sent along a poem which he wrote at 2 o'clock in the morning.

piano, a croquet set, soft chairs, rockers, book shelves and book cases, magazine racks; games, waste paper basket, vases for flowers.

Serves Soldier's Wives
Another service of the USO, Mrs. Olson points out, is to serve as a center for the wives of the soldiers stationed here. Afternoons, especially, have been set aside for the servicemen's wives and they are invited to visit the USO rooms at that time.

It is hoped that groups with congenial interests will want to organize clubs—sewing clubs, bridge clubs, etc.—to carry out their special interests. In the meantime, the ladies are invited to visit the USO and just talk, rest or read.

The USO expects to provide a housing and hospitality service to help find homes for service men's wives—or to find private homes which will welcome a boy when he has a three-day or overnight pass, "which isn't much good when your home is across the continent."

This service will also include finding housing for families who come here to visit the servicemen; and persons able to help in this housing or hospitality program in any way are asked to get in touch with the USO.

The directors of the USO will meet tonight to decide on matters of policy for the club. The entertainment committee is continuing plans for projects which will be announced in the near future.

In the meantime, church and club groups, both in town and in the rural communities, have been doing their share to make service men feel welcome and at home in Hereford.

ject. Congressman Worley gave every possible assistance in "putting over" the dehydration plant, local sponsors state. Handles 6,000 lbs.

The plant will cost about $30,000 and when completed will turn out six thousand pounds of the dehydrated product a day. Running at full capacity it will handle 60 thousand pounds of raw potatoes a day.

The government will guarantee to buy the entire output of the plant. In fact, Mr. Thompson reports that the rivalry between the Army and Lend Lease over purchase of dehydrated products is high.

Chief difficulty faced by sponsors of the dehydration plant at present is the lack of storage space for potatoes. Many growers would be glad to hold their entire crop until the plant is completed, there is very little storage space available.

Church Financial Report Shows Rise in Income Of This Community

Reflecting the improved financial condition of the community, and efficient commercial management, a statistical report of the First Baptist Church this week showed church weekly income at an all-time high of $597.29 and the church indebtedness entirely wiped out, with a total of $7,128 in bonds in the church treasury.

Increase in the number of regular contributors shows the increase in income in the community generally. The statement shows 451 pledges in 1943 with total church membership reported at 1,030, according to church leaders a 63 per cent gain over the membership report of July, 1937.

Total church income for the past six years has amounted to $99,066.65 and the average yearly income has been $16,066.65.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. W. E. Barnes, Pastor
Sunday School — 9:45.
Morning Worship — 10:50.
Training Union — 7:15.
Evening Worship — 8:15.
Sunday July 4, marked the end of Brother Barnes' sixth year of service as pastor of this church.

The church in every phase of work has progressed in a great way. The entire debt on the church building has been retired, and a reserve for the future is being built up.

This has been accomplished through the gracious leadership of our pastor, and the fine response of the people. We are grateful to God for the fine work that has been done here in the past six years and trust that God will keep on leading Bro. Barnes and the members of this church.
