New Ruling on Dipping.

The following ruling from Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, will be of interest to the cattlemen of this section:

Dr. S. E. Bennett, inspector in charge for the bureau of animal industry, has received from Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the bureau, a ruling in regard to the handling of stockers and feeders from the scabies-infected districts, and today notified the traders at the yards that he has changed his regulations in accordance with the new ruling. Dr. Salmon's ruling allows commission firms to sell "clean" cattle from the infected districts—cattle that have been inspected and found free from disease—to speculators, and allows the latter to sell them to country buyers, who take them to feed lots or inclosed pastures. They are not allowed to sell them to go again upon the open range.

This latest ruling by Dr. Salmon the stockmen of the infected districts have been contending for. The contention of the stockmen was that cattle that are inspected by agents of the bureau of animal industry and have been given a clean bill of health and have not been exposed to disease should be allowed to be moved without restriction. Dr. Salmon recently ruled that such cattle, after coming to the public markets, might be sold to go to the country and to be put on pasture in inclosed tracts. But it was held by Dr. Bennett that when the cattle were to be sold to speculators, mixed with other cattle and their identity lost, they must first be dipped. As most of the stockers and feeders pass through the hands of speculators, this worked a hardship not only on the owners of the cattle, but upon the speculators. As the situation now stands cattle from the infected districts having a clean bill of health may be sold to speculators who may sell them to go to the country, without being dipped. The only restriction is that they shall not go back again upon the range. When commission firms sell cattle from the infected district to speculators, they are required to notify Dr. Bennett. This is the only restriction now placed upon the trade in these cattle. It removes a heavy burden from the cattlemen of Western Kansas, Eastern Colorado and other sections which have been denominated "infected" because of the prevalence of the scabies.

The Result of Sin.

Paper read by Miss Carrie Myers at the B. Y. P. U. meeting October 9th.

For nearly six thousand years, sin has been a factor in the lives of men which brought results contrary to the grand and noble purpose for which man was made, and though it may have controlling influence of evil for thousands of years yet, God's purposes will not be defeated. Satan may exult in his apparent overthrow of God's designs, but his triumph will be short. "The wages of sin is death." "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." By one man, sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned.

First, we should be very cautious in the selection of our books and newspapers. The question is often asked, "Is it right to read novels?" There are christian novels, novels that make the heart purer and the life better, but how many lives have been ruined from the reading of some worthless novel? Many a soul now stands behind the bars of a prison cell as a result of the reading of bad books or newspapers. They are not only enlisted in the services of crime, but they also aid in the progress of infidelity. Much the same may be said of pictures. When satan fails to get a man to read a bad book he sometimes captures him by getting him to look at a bad picture. A young man may purchase, perhaps, one copy, and purchase with it his eternal ruin. The one may be influential in the ruin of many others, and they influence many times their number. In this way the increase will continue until it takes the measuring line of eternity to tell the height, depth, and ghastliness of the great undoing. One column of good reading may save a soul, while one of bad may destroy.

What has done more for the filling of coffins, prisons and insane asylums than strong drink? Thousands of homes have been wrecked, and the souls doomed for eternity. The Savior says that as the end approaches "iniquity shall abound." Paul says, "but evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse."

It requires only a glance at passing events to convince one that these scriptures are literally fulfilling all around us. The increase of drunkenness, poverty and crime is startling. The influence of these debasing habits on the young is truly awful, and what may we expect from the rising generations, brought up under such conditions? There is scarcely a community to be found, where the blighting influences of intemperance are not to be seen; families distressed and ruined, property squandered, character destroyed, and lives lost. Thus we see the result of sin.

"Opposition to God and all of his principles." Christain friends, let each of us make greater efforts to help the lost, who are fast sinking under temptations.

The College Entertainment.

The entertainment at the College last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Christain church, was a success in every particular.

The program was begun with prayer, by Rev. Jesse B. Haston, which was followed by elegant music, recitations, etc. The proceeds of the evening were between $25 and $30.

The address of Judge L. Gough, was a masterpiece in thought, arrangement, clearness and power. It was clear cut, comprehensive, and withal an inspiration to educational thought and life. The lecture will grow under his hand and will become even more an impressive force upon the audiences wherever it shall be delivered. Judge Gough has the rare faculty of using terse, epigrammatic sentences. He begins when he begins and stops when he is through, leaving a keen taste in the mouths of his hearers for more. His personal appearance has much to do in his favor.

We are confident that his appearance before his assembled fellow-citizens of Texas will result in great enthusiasm for, and support of the cause of education in general and the Panhandle Christian College in particular.

New Companies Chartered.

The Northern Texas Townsite Company of Amarillo with a capital of $250,000 was incorporated this week for the purpose of doing a general building and loan business. Also the North Texas Construction Company of Amarillo with a capital of $20,000 for the purpose of building railroads. The incorporators in both instances, C. L. Tallmadge, E. C. Gordon, E. R. Tallmadge, D. C. Bentin, J. E. Caldwell, E. B. Stahlman and L. Gough.

A First Class Pounding.

The home of Rev. Jesse B. Haston was invaded by friends last Tuesday evening, and things piled upon the tables and so on until there was hardly room left for the large company that assembled later. Devout thanks are returned for the kindness and appreciation shown. Phil. 1:3-6.

DURUM WHEAT

Best Suited to Localities Subject to Drouth Periods.

The following, issued by the department of agriculture and taken from the Ft. Worth Record, will be of interest to those interested in wheat culture:

The department of agriculture has just issued a very interesting bulletin on durum wheat, the new hard variety to which considerable attention has already been paid in Texas, and which, on account of its peculiar adaptability to the manufacture of macaroni, has heretofore been called macaroni wheat. The word "durum" means "hard," and the authors of the department's bulletin, M. A. Carlton and Joseph S. Chamberlain of the bureau of plant industry, recommend that this name be brought into as general use as possible. Macaroni wheat is misleading, they point out, since it seems to indicate that the cereal is fit only for the manufacture of macaroni, whereas it has been demonstrated to be especially valuable in bread making.

The cultivation of durum wheat has passed its third season in this country and the fourth crop will soon be ready for delivery. Previous to 1901 the cereal was used only as stock feed. Since its commercial value has been demonstrated the production has increased from about 100,000 bushels in 1901, to at least 6,000,000 bushels in 1903. The price ranges uniformly high. March 18 of the present year $1.03 per bushel was offered at Buffalo, N. Y., although there was practically none to be obtained, and since then $1 per bushel has been offered for the No. 2 variety, to be delivered during the period of navigability of the lakes. The durum, according to the authors of the bulletin, "should properly be considered as a wheat of the highest class, ranking with hard spring and hard winter, but should be graded on its merits and kept absolutely free from either of these."

The special qualities of the cereal which are of commercial value are thus told of:

"So long as durum wheat is grown where it is well adapted, it will always possess certain special qualities of commercial value not existing to so great a degree in other wheat: 1. In the strictly semi-arid regions it usually ripens earlier than other spring wheat. This allows the wheat a greater chance to escape insect and fungous pests and thus insures plumper, finer kernel. 2. Freedom from rust and smut is still further insured by the natural resistance of this wheat to such fungi. The importance of smut resistance is manifest to those who are aware of the great damage to wheat from this cause. 3. Hard spring and winter wheats are known to produce a harder, better grain in the drier districts and in the dry seasons. Durum wheat, being particularly adapted to such conditions, always furnishes an excellent hard grain without a corresponding decrease in yield. 4. Accompanying this drouth resistance and hardness of grain, is a corresponding increase in the quality and quantity of the gluten. 5. The sugar content of durum wheat is considerably greater than that of other wheats. Even a small percentage of difference in this respect is of great importance to the baker during a year's operations. 6. The extreme dryness of the durum wheat in a good season gives the flour a great power of absorption, which, other conditions being equal, allows the baker to obtain more loaves from the same weight of flour and in some cases would thus give this wheat a great advantage over wheat flours of less absorption."

From this it would appear that the durum wheat is well adapted to the soil in various parts of Texas and that, moreover, its production would be profitable in the extreme.

A special chapter in the bulletin is devoted to the manufacture of macaroni, it being stated that no wheat, save perhaps the Polish, will make so good macaroni. The durum wheat far exceeds everything also in that respect. A large number of attractive recipes for the preparation of macaroni dishes are given, as is a list of the macaroni factories in the United States. Nine such factories are credited to Texas, two of them being in Houston, four in San Antonio, two in Dallas and one in Galveston.

A considerable amount of space is also given over to a discussion of the use of durum wheat in bread baking and it is shown that the new cereal ranks particularly high in that respect. Texas farmers who are interested in the matter may secure all the information they want by addressing the department of agriculture. In the entire history of the country no crop has made so remarkable a record. The commercial standing of the new cereal may now be considered as established, and a valuable industry is thus added to the resources of the country.

Mr. Herron Withdraws.

To the Voters of Deaf Smith County: Owing to my inability to make a canvass of the county and the near approach of the election, and being comparatively a stranger to a large number of the voters living in the county, and in truth, not really wanting the office, I have decided to withdraw from the race for the office of Treasurer of this county, and in doing so I wish to sincerely thank those that have promised to support me. In withdrawing from the race, I do so unincumbered with any promises. I will patiently await the coming of election day and do as every free American citizen should do, vote for the man best qualified to fill the office for which he aspires. Again thanking those who promised to support me, I remain Respectfully,

F. HERRON.

Immigration Company.

Jery Simpson returned last evening from his trip to Illinois. He was accompanied by W. E. Thompson of the firm of Thompson & Cook of Lakewood. Mr. Simpson has formed a partnership with this firm and they will work the immigration business independent of any one in the valley. They will run special trains like the C. L. Tallmadge Southwestern Land Company and the first train will come in next Thursday from Galesburg, Illinois. During their absence they established offices at Kirkwood, Manmouth and Galesburg, Illinois. Mr. Simpson made several speeches in Illinois and made quite a hit.—Roswell Record.

Jail Contract Let.

On last Monday the Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith county met at the court house and opened the bids for the construction of the proposed jail.

The specifications call for a two-story, brick and steel, fire proof building 36x40 feet, to be completed by February 1st, 1905 and located in the northeast corner of the court yard. The contract was awarded to Snyder & Lacey who put in the lowest bid at $6,200.

This will be an elegant structure when completed—one that will be ample for a home for Deaf Smith's prisoners for many years to come.

ON TREE PLANTING.

The Fall Season the Most Suitable Time in a Semi-Arid Climate.

The following article, prepared for the Farm & Ranch by H. B. Geer of Nashville, Tenn., contains valuable information about planting trees:

Our fruit trees, our vines and our flowers are the surest tokens of our civilization. "And he planted him a vineyard"—this was said of Noah, our progenitor, under Adam; and all along down through the ages unto this day, has the man of thought, the man of hope and of home love, planted vines and trees for his pleasures and his comfort, and for the joy of those who may live after him. The thought and the desire to propagate and expand comes naturally with the first warm breath of spring time, and it is then that the majority of those so inspired do their planting. And yet, there is another season—this season—the now, when one may well plant to advantage.

The writer has had experience in planting, pruning and cultivating young orchards; and we have found that at either end of the cold season—about the time the snow or the frost first comes in the fall, or the first little crusting of ice of a morning, when the leaves are well off, and the sap retreated to the roots, the time is then favorable for planting trees; and in the spring time, when the last hard freezing is beginning to thaw, we have again a favorable planting time. This, in the latitude of Missouri, Illinois, and Tennessee, for, mark you, it gets much colder in the "Volunteer State," than many persons have knowledge of.

To our thinking, however, there is a double advantage in fall planting; for, in the first place in sections where the amount of rainfall is limited, and the possibilities of a dry spring and a summer drought—both or either—the spring planted tree or vine can only be saved by heavy mulching or artificial irrigation. With the fall planting it is different, for if planted at the time above suggested, the roots will have expanded to some extent, the little sub-feeders will have come into life and be reaching out for the sources of strength and vitality. The tree, or vine will have become settled and the earth about it be in a natural condition again, and it will be thoroughly entrenched in its new location before the dry period which may possibly come later. But, even if the spring and summer season should prove to be a favorable one, the fruits planted in the fall will make a better and more rapid growth than if the planting should have been postponed until the spring time.

There is also the advantage of time and opportunity on the part of the planter in the fall, as against the spring time when there are so many other things pressing for attention and work on the farm. One can much better afford to plant in November than in February or March, because on every farm there is more leisure time in the fall than in the spring time.

And then again, the question of planting at all. Let us urge that it be done, and done this fall. Every tree and every vine on a farm, or even in a village lot is a valuable asset that increases in value as the seasons pass by. And then, the beauty, the pleasure and the healthfulness of home grown fruits. The thought of it is pleasant, and the sight of it is beautiful. Then, too, it is often profitable; but laying aside the commercial aspect of the question, we should plant for our own use, and for the beautifying and the embellishing of our homes, while at the same time we increase their market value with each planting.

We know of a man who had a small farm, and he spent several hundred dollars in improving the buildings on it; and after awhile, owing to circumstances over which he had no control, he had to sell his little farm and there was no one approached him to buy it, excepting those who wanted it as a grain farm, and they were not disposed to consider the value of the improvements in buildings, nor did they seem to care much for the fruit trees and grape vines which he had been planting along each fall and spring for several years. But, one day a thrifty German came along and inspected the place. He examined the fruit trees and vines carefully, and made notes on their respective ages, variety, etc., and when he had satisfied himself on those points, he made an offer for the place, which offer on account of due consideration of the fruit trees and vines, more than offset their planting and cultivation, and the cost of the improvements in the buildings. And, so, the original owner, when he planted those trees and vines, was banking dollars and cents which later came back to him in profit more than three fold.

But, aside from these thoughts which are mercenary to some extent, we should plant trees and vines for the beauty, the comfort and the joy of their growth about our homes. Yes, plant them even if we do not expect to gather fruit from them ourselves. It is a duty we owe to our state, our country, and the generations to come after us. It is said that one time a young fellow saw an aged and bent man planting fruit trees, and the younger shouted to the elder man: "Hello, old man, what are you planting apple trees for? Do you expect to gather the fruit?" The old man straightened himself up with dignity, as he replied: "Young man, somebody planted fruit trees before I came."

The Thing To Do.

W. D. Wagner brought in from his farm one day this week ninety turnips weighing ninety pounds. His farming experiments have been so encouraging this year that he will increase his acreage in all crops next year. Among other things he will plant twelve acres to onions, five acres to Irish potatoes, from ten to twenty to cantaloupes, etc., and if his farming operations prove as satisfactory next year as they have the past four years he will make a hat full of money.—Dalhart News.

From the above it will be seen that the Deaf Smith and Castro county farmers are not alone in devoting attention to truck farming in the Panhandle. The contagion has been taken up by all the wide-awake citizens throughout the plains country and some wonderful developments may be expected within the next few years. Verily, we believe the Panhandle is destined to become the leading truck growing section of the entire United States.

Fire Averted.

What promised to be an ugly blaze was averted on last Sunday about noon, in Geo. W. Dale's barber shop. The heater in the bath room became so hot that it set fire to the floor and when it was discovered the angry flames had already started on their destructive mission. Considerable excitement was occasioned at the churches by the announcement of fire and soon many were on the scene, ready to lend their assistance, when it was learned the fire had been extinguished with but little damage.

THE writer made a trip last week and this to North Texas and on returning home could not help but draw a contrast between that country and this. There, moisture is almost an unknown quantity and the prairies were brown and sere, while here the abundant rains which have fallen give to vegetation a growth and appearance, the luxuriance of which could not be surpassed; there, they were shipping all their vegetables from foreign points, while here we not only have what we can consume,
but plenty to spare; there the citizens were writhing in the dust and heat, while here they enjoyed the refreshing and invigorating breezes, the temperature of which seems to be fashioned after man's own liking. Truly it is a great privilege to live in the Panhandle, which can be best realized by spending a few days down in the low altitudes,
where one seldom has the opportunity of breathing in an absolutely pure atmosphere.

THE Houston strike which has been giving the people of that city
so much inconvenience for the past six months, has at last been settled in favor of the street car company.
This is one of the many instances in which labor has been compelled to surrender to the dictates of capital
—a condition which should not exist and would not exist if those representing labor would stand together in one united body and be judicious in their demands.

PROHIBITION AND POLITICS.

The address of Hon. J. H. Davis at the court house Wednesday afternoon was well prepared and interested all who had the privilege of hearing him; but we doubt if he,
with all his eloquence, succeeded in convincing anyone that it is his duty to vote for the Prohibition Party as a political party. Mr. Davis is in a good work and we do not in any wise wish to criticize his course, for we believe as strongly as he does that the saloon is the greatest evil extant in the land today; but we do differ materially with him as to the proper method of eliminating the evil. The following are chief among the many objections to bringing the cause of prohibition into politics: First, Since women are the strongest champions which prohibition has and are the bitterest enemies of the open saloon, they would necessarily be drawn into politics, a condition which would not be at all conducive to the best interests of our society, for it takes the woman to care for and keep sacred the home, and the affairs of state and nation necessarily belong to the man. Secondly—We believe that ample provision was made for regulating prohibition when the power was given each precinct, county or state to decide by popular vote whether the saloon should or should not exist. The natural way to perform any work is to first do that which lies nearest you in succession. So it is with the saloon.
First vote it out of the county, then the state and there will be no occasion for national legislation on the question. The mistake which the Prohibition Party as a political party is making is in trying to do too much at one stroke. 'T would be better and safer to cut off the Snake's tail and then unjoint him one joint at a time than to strike at his head and let him escape. The third reason why prohibition should not be mixed with politics is that so long as they remain inseparable, there is no possibility of prohibition's ever triumphing; for so long as time lasts money, in a measure, will control politics and a question as sacred and important as prohibition should never be measured by the low standard of gold or silver. If the saloon is ever to be completely eliminated from our society, we believe it must of necessity be a separate and distinct issue in which no undue influence will be brought to sway
the minds of the voters.

TO THOSE who have lost sight of the proposed gin, we will say that the move is by no means dead, neither is it resting. The money is being collected as rapidly as possible and the committee is waiting till everything is in readiness when the gin will be forth coming. There have been some irregularities in the plans for letting the contract but these have been adjusted and the gin will be built as soon as labor and money can do the work. Our people are all now united on the enterprise and soon Hereford will be entertained by the humming of the gin.

Special Notice.

There will be a reunion of the day, October 16. All members are tory of the church. A hearty invitation to all. "Come thou and go

Wants to Come Here.

We were informed the first of the week that E. Renfro, who lives in Castro county near Arney had already gathered about 1100 pounds of cotton on his first bale and that he wished to hold it and have it ginned
at Hereford, provided our people intend building a gin; but that if some kind of a ginning outfit did not begin to loom up pretty soon, he would take his cotton to Tulia. We hope to be able to gin every lock of Mr. Renfro's cotton and thus save him the trouble of hauling to Tulia
and then back to the railroad.

A Laird has been in the community the past few days receiving the yearling steers which he bought some time ago.—Messenger.

The rains of last week were general all over the Panhandle and will do an immense amount of good toward maturing the late feed crop.

The first bale of cotton ginned by steam on the Plains was that at Lockney on last Tuesday. The bale brought $76.35, besides the seed.

J. J. Holt of Amarillo has installed a rock sawing machine for the purpose of dressing the building stone found in different parts of Potter county.

The Denver Road, on last Tuesday, brought a special car of about sixty cotton pickers from Ft. Worth to Vernon to aid in gathering the cotton around the latter place.

With three soaking rains this week the ground is in splendid shape for plowing and planting. Another big rain fell last night and this morning.—Dallam County News.

Panhandle papers express the belief that cotton has come to stay in that region as a profitable crop. This belief has had to fight its way into being, against all sorts of prejudices.—Henrietta Independent.

The First National Bank of Lubbock was sold last week to L. T. Lester of Canyon City, J. B. Posey of Floydada and W. S. Posey of Lockney. Mr. Lester was made president and W. S. Posey cashier.

Panhandle papers are full of big crops of everything good for man and beast, but you will have to drop over in "Lockney Country" to see growing 300 bolls on one stalk of cotton, cabbage heads 21 pounds each and onions from the seed one pound.—Lockney Beacon.

S. W. Oakes of the Channing Courier met with the sad misfortune of losing his residence and all his household effects by fire while he and his wife were visiting the St. Louis Fair. No insurance, and such a loss falls heavy on the average newspaper man.—Chronicle.

Dr. Carter of Emma was shot last Monday by C. L. Lockwood at Estacada. The ball from a 44 Smith & Wesson pistol shattered his lower jaw and penetrated the neck. The wound was not fatal and Dr. Carter was taken to Chicago by Dr. Wayland of Plainview. The shooting was the result of a practical joke.—Silverton Enterprise.

Last Thursday, the 29th, just as we went to press L. D. Blackwell brought in the first bale of cotton that was ever in Silverton. It was ginned by the new gin Wednesday. The merchants, business men, candidates and citizens got up a right nice bonus of about $30 for Mr. Blackwell, so that it really pays to get out the first bale.—Silverton Enterprise.

We understand that the farmers around Dalhart are making preparations to organize a melon growers' association with the view of planting a large acreage to cantaloupes next spring. The Rocky Ford cantaloupes do as well here as anywhere in the United States, and there is no reason why our farmers should not realize thousands of dollars from them next year.—Dallam County News.

The Denver depot was the scene of another attempted holdup last Wednesday night at about 7:40. An individual, masked and armed with a sixshooter suddenly appeared before the ticket agent and suggested that he throw up his hands, emphasizing his remark with his gun. The agent couldn't see it, however, but pulled his pistol from his coat pocket and covered the robber, who, with great presence of mind, immediately fired a shot through the window above the agent's head and made what would be termed in St. Petersburg a "brilliant retreat," followed by two shots from the agent's pistol, thereby averting a tragedy.—Dallam County News.

A Question

Of vital importance to the people of the plains is to plant lots of trees, how to plant, when to plant, and what to plant. Now is the time to prepare your ground, while there is a season. November and December are the best times to plant. See me about varieties to plant. I have over 100 varieties growing here and have had fourteen years experience in Texas. Over 100,000 trees growing here.

Houses Shot Into.

Last Sunday night about 11 o'clock some miscreant shot into the residences of Mr. C. G. Landis and Mrs. Lou Walters. The parties guilty of this, perhaps, do not know that it is a penitentiary offense to shoot into a residence that is occupied. From where the shots entered the houses, it is evident that the parties did not intend to shoot the inmates, but this, while lessening the offense, still makes it a most culpable and malicious act.—Amarillo Advocate.

Home Grown Sugar Beet Seed.

A bulletin of the United States department of agriculturs says:

It is believed that the average sugar content of beets in this country can be increased 2 to 3 per cent when we shall have developed a higher strain of beets through home grown seed. On account of the higher vitality of the germ, these experiments indicate that we shall have a race of beets more vigorous from the start.

In the production of beets for a factory the vitality of the seed as shown by germination is an important factor. It is the first evidence of the probable yield of the crop that the grower looks for. Everything depends upon the stand. It is desired that a beet shall fill every place in the row provided for it. It is evident that if every third beet is missing there will be only two-thirds of a stand of plants matured at the harvest. If the rows are 18 inches apart and the beets stand 8 inches apart in the row, there will be 312 beets to the row and 138 2-3 rows to the acre. If every beet is in its place there will be 43,294 beets to the acre. If these beets average one pound, there will be 43,264 pounds to the acre, equal to 21.63 tons. If the beets average two pounds, which more nearly the usual size, we will have 43.26 tons per acre. This shows the possible tonnage per acre when all conditions are favorable and we have a perfect stand.—Vitality of seed is a strong factor in reaching this ideal.

The plants should start out strong, vigorous and healthful. They must send down their tap roots vigorously, and send out their laterals quickly; this enables them to intrench themselves early in the soil. Plants are like animals. Vigor in youth promises much for healthful maturity. Strong vitality or germinating power of the seed indicates this early vigor, which will enable the plants to withstand diseases, pests and drouth. The number of sprouting germs in a given number of beet balls and the vigor and rapidity of germination are the tests of this vitality. Home grown seed has shown a higher germinating power in a shorter time than those selected from ordinary imported seed. From these facts it would appear that we are entitled to anticipate a higher yield of beets from the use of home grown, highly developed beet seed.

The extraction of refined sugar in this country averaged 11 per cent, or 220 pounds of refined sugar to a ton of beets. The factory pays the farmer for this sugar $2.27 per hundredweight while it is still in the beet. If the factory could extract 13 per cent of sugar on account of our perfecting a strain of beets with higher sugar content and purity, through home grown seed, a ton of beets would yield forty pounds more sugar, worth at the factory $1.80. This alone would give the factory 36 per cent profit upon the investment of $5 per ton for beets. This seems quite possible. Home grown seed today offers the most encouraging prospect of insuring the future growth and prosperity of the beet sugar industry.—Ex.

Referring to the above we believe the Panhandle will, when tested, prove specially adapted to the growth of the sugar beet. Those who are most familiar with the nature of this plant claim that it would be not only a safe crop but a paying one, and we believe it would be worth the while of the Truck Growers' Association to investigate the matter with a view to including it in the list of the vegetables to be planted next year.

Our literary school, taught by Miss Edwards, is doing splendidly.

Our people of Boom have fully realized that the harvest is great and they are certainly busy saving it this week.

We are sorry to say to the many friends of Miss Brunett Witherspoon who entered Goodnight College that she is quite sick and her brother, Tom S. Witherspoon, went down to see her. Brunett is one among the unfortunate ones who has neither father nor mother to administer that loving kindness in sickness. We hope she is better now.

Sunday school was well attended and the hour was changed from 4 to 3 in the evening.

If all of the correspondents are as busy as the one from Boom, we fear that the paper will be a little short this week.

Big Shipment of Trees.

L. P. Landrum on last Friday shipped to A. F. Cleveland of the Drag Y ranch 15,000 black locust trees to be planted on that ranch. It is Mr. Cleveland's intention to put out 15,000 more of the same variety before the close of this season. This is a move in the proper direction and the same course should be pursued by all who have farms to develop and homes to beautify.

Pathetic Childhood.

Is there anything more deeply pathetic and that makes the truly sympathetic feel more touchingly sorrowful than babyhood and childhood hours being endured without the tender caresses, feeling ministrations and soft words of love?

When we think of the fatherless outcasts, the great number of homeless orphans and the many little ones having money-seeking and pleasure-loving parents, our hearts ache for the multitude of little breasts in this vast world that are constantly filled with an unsatisfied hunger for love.

Infantile and childish helplessness is itself pathetic, but more pathetic is this helplessness if not attended with the tender protection and deeply-felt love that should lie in wait for every new-born babe, and most pathetic of all is the death of such an one, which is so feelingly and delicately written of by James Montague in the following poem entitled "Little Bit of a Baby Boy":

Little bit of baby boy—
Never could have his way,
Never a gleam or a glint of joy,
Life a long rainy day.

Father always too busy to tell
The stories he loved to hear;
No one to comfort him when he fell,
No one to see the tear.

Always so healthy, his mother said—
Couldn't be sick if he tried;
Just had to see he was washed and fed,
And punish him when he cried.

Only the angels in heaven knew
The ache in that little breast—
Away up there in the sky of blue
They knew and loved him best.

And so when a cloud came sailing low,
Came out of that sky above,
The little fellow was ready to go—
For oh! how he longed for love.

Of the same sentimental and sympathetic strain, and even more touchingly tender and sweet, are the better known lines of "Little Boy Blue" by Eugene Field, and those who have lost a loved little one cannot fail to appreciate the genuine love and tender sympathy that prompted this sweet little poem:

The little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and stanch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket moulds in his hands.

Time was, when the little toy dog was new,
And the soldier was passing fair
And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue Kissed them and put them there.

"Now, don't you go till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise!"
So, toddling off to his trundle-bed,
He dreamt of his pretty toys.

And as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our Little Boy Blue—
O, the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true.

Aye, faithful to Little Boy Blue, they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face.

And they wonder, as waiting these long years through
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of Little Boy Blue
Since he kissed them and put them there.

THIS IS LOW YEAR
NATIONAL LIVESTOCK COMMISSION COMPANY

GOES ON RECORD

We believe cattle values are dragging on the bottom this season. Another year will witness a decided up-turn, lasting for many years to come. Our Texas friends must be of good cheer. Now is the time to have nerve. Cattle raising is the best business on God's green earth. Let no man become discouraged on account of low markets. The man who sticks and lasts will surely reap a rich reward as the years go by.

THE FUTURE OUTLOOK ON CATTLE WAS NEVER BRIGHTER THAN TO-DAY
We call the attention of our Texas friends to the fact that our old stand-by, Geo. Long, of Canyon City, one of the best known and most popular cow men of the Panhandle, is now located in our office at Kansas City, where he will meet his friends and give his personal attention to their shipments

FLOOD AT ROSWELL.

It Does Much Damage and Severs Communication With Outside.

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 9.—Another flood struck this city yesterday at 1:50 p. m. The entire city was flooded four inches higher than the first flood, which struck the city Thursday, September 29. Eight minutes after the flood broke over the banks of the Hondo on Main street it was a raging river. Business men and merchants heeded the warning this time and sealed doors with a mixture of mud and flour and the loss this time will not be one-third what it was on September 29.

This afternoon the streets are still flooded and it is thought that the water will not run off before tomorrow afternoon. Several houses have been washed away and one residence was carried 140 feet and not damaged. Water ran through the department store of Forsyth & Co. and was two feet high in the building. The stock was damaged to the amount of $2,000. The opera house, which was damaged in the first flood, fell last night and is a wreck. The water was kept out of the Grand Central by banking adobe mud high in the rear. The adobe sleeping rooms in the rear of the hotel were wrecked. The loss is $2,000.

At a mass meeting of citizens Friday night means and ways were devised to keep the flood waters of the Hondo out of the city. Thousands of dollars will be spent in the undertaking to prevent a recurrence of the flood. Two floods coming in one week is unprecedented. The flood yesterday was the worst that ever visited the city.

The C. L. Tallmadge Southwestern Land Company has about 100 prospectors in the city and they are dissatisfied. They will be kept here till the sun shines. Roswell has been cut off from the world since September 29.

It is estimated the entire damage to the city will be more than $250,000.

Mr. Gamble Coming.

T. J. Gamble, successor to Guy Gamble in the saddle and harness business in Hereford, will remain at the old stand and in the near future will have a full line of saddles, harness—in fact everything necessary to make the stock complete. Repairs a specialty. Come to see me when I can serve you. Your business will be appreciated.

Mrs. C. L. Tallmadge Dead.

C. L. Tallmadge left the first of the week on a special train for Geneva, Neb., in response to a message announcing the sudden death of his wife.

DO YOU KNOW

A GOOD THING WHEN YOU SEE IT?

When we tell you that some of the best farmers in the country are using our Success Sulky Plows, Moline Disc Plows and Superior Drills, and have done so for nearly five years, it ought to interest you if you have never used one of them. The Success Sulky Plow has a world-wide reputation which we cannot add to and is superior to any plow on the market. The Moline Disc is superior to all in width and depth of furrow and wearing of boxings and has a four or six horse hitch with no side draft. The Superior Drill has so many good and exclusive features we can't even begin to name them. Come and see for yourself.

HEREFORD, TEXAS

"Cyclone" Davis Speaks.

A large crowd of citizens greeted Hon. J. H. Davis at the court house Wednesday afternoon of this week and listened attentively to the Texas orator for more than two hours as he spoke volumes of good logic crowned with beautiful alliterations, wit and humor. Mr. Davis' graceful and easy manner of appearing before an audience, together with a ready flow of language, never fails to attract the deepest interest and attention on the part of his hearers and the rule was not violated at Hereford Wednesday. The subject of the lecture, as was previously announced, was prohibition. Instead of dwelling along the course usually pursued of giving dry statistics and worn out facts, Mr. Davis contrasted the influences sent out by the licensed saloon and the church and appealed to the audience to let reason decide on which side they should stand.

In regard to the method which should be adopted in eliminating the saloon, he said that it should be done by direct legislation at Washington, claiming that in licensing saloons, the United States government is approving of the evil which emanates from them.

Mr. Davis presented a strong argument for prohibition and the Prohibition Party and doubtless caused many to meditate seriously as to whether or not prohibition should be drawn into National politics.
