Clements Rips LBB Budget

By O.G. (Speedy) Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says a tax accountant is a person who solves a problem you didn't know you had in a way you don't understand.

A golfer has one advantage over a fisherman: He doesn't have to show anything to prove it.

WE COULDN'T HELP but grin when we read the story in another publisher's column about the day it came time to tell his son about the birds and the bees. He'd heard others talking about the way to handle it, so he prepared himself.

He was going to tell him the stork left him on the doorstep or any other fairy tale. He read books, studied biological charts and got all the current scientific knowledge. And, here's the rest of the story:

"The day came quicker than he had anticipated. His son came to him and asked, 'Daddy, where do I come from?'"

"But the father was ready. He immediately sat down with his son, hauled out all the charts and books and for almost two hours explained the facts of life.

"He said his son sat there mesmerized for the entire presentation. He said that his fatherly pride swelled within him as his son nodded understandingly at what he had to say.

"Finally following the presentation, he asked his son, 'You understand what I'm telling you?'"

"Sure, Dad, you've made it as plain as day," the son replied.

"Well, then, 'the father said in a professorial manner, 'You have any questions you need to ask Ole Dad?'"

"Yep, just one," the son replied. "Butch says he comes from New York. Where do I come from?"

A RIPOFF OF our senior citizens was brought to light in recent Congressional hearings. They revealed that unscrupulous insurance salesmen have been preying on elderly Americans, bilking them of an estimated $1 billion a year for health insurance policies they do not need.

Stories of ruthless salesmen using "hearts and flowers" routines, frightening elderly widows and widowers with talk of dreaded illnesses and urging them to not become a "burden" on loved ones are too numerous.

Found in the fine print of man such policies is the fact that payment will not be made on more than one policy. Yet, an Illinois woman paid $15,000 a year in premiums for 60 different life and hospitalization policies. An elderly Pennsylvania woman was forced to get a $3,000 bank loan to keep up her premium payments.

Reputable insurance agents and firms repudiate such selling practices, of course. The Health Insurance Association of America has a task force studying the problem. Some states have made serious attempts to attack the abuses.

We urge our senior citizen readers to be alert to such schemes. Don't hesitate a AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday he will not accept a 1980-81 state budget that is 22 percent over current spending, as proposed by the Legislative Budget Board.

The LBB budget version is backed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

"In about two weeks I will submit my budget and I will show the differences in the two," Clements told a news conference. "The LBB budget is 22 percent over two years ago and I am not going to approve that, that's excessive."

"My budget will show an increase but not 22 percent...a 22 percent increase is not acceptable."

Clements refused to reveal details of his budget but he said the difference with the LBB would "fall somewhere in that area of $1 billion, I have been telling you about."

He was asked again about opposition that might come from Hobby and other legislative leaders. "When it gets down to push and shove, I think there will be some flexibility," he said.

Clements said he was glad to hear recent news stories that Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton want a presidential primary.

"Having said all that, I'm going to let these various people who have these ideas - early primary, late primary, restrictive primary, purified primary - get their knives out and carve each other up and have a real donnybrook. I'm going to sit by the side and listen and learn," he said.

But Clements said he would veto any bill that cleared the dates for regular Democrat and Republican primaries, in May and June. "If the dates were good enough for LBJ it's good enough for me," he said, referring to the setting of the May and June dates when Lyndon B. Johnson was a vice presidential candidate in 1960.

Clayton and Hobby are supporting a bill that would call for a presidential primary in March, followed by the regular primaries in July and August.

On other matters, Clements said: "He has not made up his mind whether criminal appeals should be handled by the 14 courts of civil appeals, as proposed by Texas Supreme Court Justice Joe Greenhill at a joint session Wednesday. Clements said he would be influenced by Greenhill and expected to discuss the matter with him later.

"That any wiretap bill should include safeguards such as advance approval by a local district judge, who also would be responsible for auditing and monitoring. "If a bill were submitted to me that did not have proper restrictions, I would veto it," he said.

He was unaware of proposals to set up a special fund for construction for 17 state colleges, if the state ad valorem tax is abolished. He said the tax should be abolished and the colleges "should go through the normal budget process for their construction."

He favors a deepwater port off Texas, but is not necessarily supporting any special bill. "I think it is appropriate for the state to supply seed money but I do not favor the state itself building the project," he said.

He has not decided on a "successor" to Ned Price, member of the State Insurance Board, whose term ended Tuesday. "When I make the appointment, the person I name will be made the chairman," he said, indicating Lyndon Olson would be replaced as chairman. Olson's term on the board, however, has two years to run.

He planned to meet with the governors of California, Arizona and New Mexico about border problems at the national Governors' Conference in Washington the latter part of the month. A preliminary meeting will be held by staff members in El Paso next week.

He has appointed Dallas businessman Joe W. Kirven, 46, as an administrative aide for his equal opportunities program and recruiting, and Hilary Doran, 42, Del Rio businessman and former state representative, as legislative liaison.

Ex-Trustee Refutes Allegations Of Legal Services Attorney

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

A Hereford police lieutenant who was appointed last year to the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees, was elected a month later and had to resign to comply with a state statute is angry over statements made by a legal services attorney referring to him as a "token" representative.

The statements, which concerned former school board member Paul Ramirez, were contained in a letter written to the U.S. Department of Justice by David Hashmall of Texas Rural Legal Aid in Hereford. Portions of the letter were ready by school district attorney Earnest Langley to trustees Wednesday.

The letter, which urged the Voting Rights section of the Justice Department to object to HISD's request to continue with its place system of voting, minus the majority runoff requirement, said that Ramirez was appointed "to provide token representation."

Ramirez, when contacted by The Brand Thursday, said he ran last year for the school board after his appointment to fill an unexpired term "because I thought I could be a service to the community—I felt in my position I could help the Mexican-American community, the Anglo community and the black community. And I think I did help."

Ramirez resigned from the board after learning of a Texas nepotism statute which prevents an individual from serving on the school board when his spouse has worked in the school system for less than two years. Ramirez's wife had worked in the school system as a librarian's aide for 1½ years when he resigned.

Hashmall charged to the Justice Department that Ramirez "apparently outlived his usefulness for litigation purposes" and was "forced to resign from the board in order that his wife could keep her job in the school system."

The letter stated: "While this conceivably may be a correct application of the statute, it is felt by many that the board was aware of this problem at the time Mr. Ramirez was initially appointed and that the issue was allowed to lie dormant until Mr. Ramirez had served his purpose as a token representative."

Of Hashmall, Ramirez said, "I have never met the man. I don't know where he got his information, but his facts are not right. I did not run for the school board as Paul Ramirez the token. I ran as Paul Ramirez the taxpayer, Paul Ramirez

Unemployment Rate Drops In January

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate declined slightly to 5.8 percent in January, showing the slowdown in the economy that the Carter administration is planning had not yet begun to occur, a government report showed today.

The jobless rate in December was 5.9 percent, and the Labor Department noted in its report that unemployment has hovered at just below 6 percent for the past six months. It has been at the 5.8 percent level twice previously in recent months.

However, the administration predicts that unemployment will rise to 6.2

Monday Assault Planned

Farmers Prepare To Blitz D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas farmers were camped around the nation's capital this morning, preparing for a diesel-powered assault on Congress and the Carter Administration.

With more than 500 monstrous tractors spread over three Virginia campsites, the American Agriculture movement members said they will wait until Monday morning before wrecking havoc with the commuter-congested Washington thoroughfares.

"Unless somebody gets itchy feet and decides he wants to be the first one in, we'll all go on Monday," said Gerald McCathern, a Hereford farmer and the AAM's national tractorcade wagonmaster.

Today, McCathern and other AAM leaders will be visiting congressmen on Capitol Hill trying to raise support for full implementation of the current farm bill. Such a move would raise government-set price and loan levels for practically every crop.

"It's been kinda like a Boy Scout camping trip," said E.G. Reed, a Quitaque ootton-peanut farmer upon completing the 1,900-mile trek from West Texas to a Virginia state park about 20 miles south of Washington. "We didn't have any trouble at all...oh, I got my AAM flag stolen off my tractor and that made me mad as hell but generally the closer we got to Washington, the nicer the people treated us."

Late-Night Repairs

A water line burst late Thursday night at Ave. D and Union, causing city employees to get in some overtime while repairing the damage. Water spewed high into the air for several minutes before workers could shut off the main valve. A trickle of water was noticeable [lower photo] as the workers cracked open the street trying to get to the line. Work was completed around 1:30 a.m. today. The street was being repaired today. Snow or Shine...It's Up To Punxsutawney Phil

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) - Like the ox and the goose, Punxsutawney Phil, the legendary groundhog, ventures forth today to forecast the end of winter.

With several inches of snow on the ground and temperatures in the teens, six more weeks of winter seemed a safe bet. But only Phil can make it official in some eyes.

According to German legend in these parts, Punxsutawney Phil emerges from hibernation each year on Groundhog Day, Feb. 2, and points his nose to the winter breeze.

If he sees his shadow, the squat, furry beast scampers back into his hole, and the nation is in for six more weeks of snow and ice. If he doesn't, spring is just around the corner.

Elsewhere, sayings from around the world link Candlemas Day - Feb. 2 - animals, and weather predictions.

Charles Hosler, a meteorologist at Pennsylvania State University, offered these examples from England: "If it snows on 2nd February, only so much as may be seen on a black ox, then summer will soon come."

"If on 2nd February the goose finds it wet, then the sheep will have grass on 25th March."

But here, it's the groundhog that counts. Local tradition insists Phil is the same critter that began the annual happening 92 years ago, although most groundhogs live seven or eight years. The event has put Punxsutawney on the map, and a grateful citizenry has embroidered Phil's appearance with a heavy schedule of festivities.

Phil spends most of the year in a warm enclosure at the Punxsutawney Library and Museum.

Thursday night, he was taken into the cold and lodged in a heated burrow on Gobbler's Knob, south of town, in preparation for his early-morning appearance.

Teng Visits Houston on 2nd Stop of Tour

HOUSTON (AP) - Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping will arrive in Texas' largest city Friday with an honor guard, a band, the mayor, the governor, and demonstrators all on hand.

But there will be no keys to the city, and no motorcades with the top executives of the state and city where capitalism is a banner of honor and oil and banking are the economic arteries.

Teng will stay in Houston, known as a conservative political stronghold, for 29 hours. He will dine on the barbecued beef of the beef-growing state, watch a rodeo, inspect the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center, tour an oil drilling tool manufacturing plant; and meet with news media executives and leading businessmen.

Gov. Bill Clements, the first Republican chief executive of Texas in 100 years, will welcome the vice premier to Texas, at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston. Then the governor will leave.

Houston Mayor Jim McConn will be at the airport some 20 miles south of Houston and then, he, too, will leave. A spokesman for the mayor said McConn "has to get back to City Hall and go to work."

McConn said earlier he was "personally concerned" about Houston being designated as one of two Chinese consulate offices allotted for the United States.

The mayor said, "We have been the sister city of Taipei (capital of Taiwan) and we have a Chinese community of some numbers here, most of whom are related to Taiwan."

Houston Taiwanese said they would stage a peaceful demonstration in downtown Houston between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. The Taiwanese will march from a convention center to a hotel where Teng will stay during his visit.

Members of the Revolutionary Communist Party also have promised a demonstration to insure "that Teng will be met in a fitting manner when he sticks his snout into...Houston." The group supports the philosophy of the late Chinese ruler Mao Tse-tung.

Police Chief Harry Caldwell said security will be heavy during the Teng visit.

He said there would be full mobilization of the police department, at a cost estimated as high as $25,000. The chief asked federal officials to help pay for the extra security costs. He has received no reply.

As a matter of policy, Caldwell does not release the exact number of officers scheduled to work overtime, but one policeman told The Associated Press: "We have been ordered to be on duty all day Friday and most of Saturday and if we want to eat, then bring along a sandwich."

Neither of the state's U.S. senators - Republican John Tower nor Democrat Lloyd Bentsen - will be in Texas to greet the foreign visitor. Both cited previous engagements as reasons for declining a White House request to accompany Teng to Houston.

Teng leaves Houston Saturday afternoon for Seattle with no official farewells planned.

'Death to Carter' Rings in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Shouts of "Death to Carter!" rang out today as tens of thousands of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's followers surrounded the headquarters of the leader of Iran's revolution while he prayed and mapped political strategy.

The mob also chanted "Death to Huyser!" U.S. Gen. Robert Huyser, deputy commander of American forces in Europe, has been in Tehran for several weeks. U.S. sources say he is President Carter's liaison officer with the Iranian army.

Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar, meanwhile, told state radio he wants to meet with Khomeini for an "exchange of views" that could lead to a political solution of the Iranian crisis.

He proposed the meeting in an interview with state radio and did not elaborate. There was no immediate comment from the Khomeini camp.

Bakhtiar wanted to fly to France last week to meet with the Moslem religious leader, but Khomeini refused, saying Bakhtiar first must resign as prime minister of the "illegal" government appointed by Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Several blocks away, 100 soldiers in battle dress with water cannons guarded the home of the Majlis, Iran's Parliament, but no hostile demonstrators approached the building.

Newspaper Editor

Killed in Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) - A gunman pumped five bullets into a liberal newspaper editor as he stepped his car at a traffic light on a crowded street here Thursday night, killing him instantly.

Police said two of the bullets pierced the heart of Abdi Ipekci, 50, chief editor of the influential daily Milliyet.

Premier Bulent Ecevit ordered an all-out search for the killer by Istanbul's martial law authorities.

Ecevit called the newspaper and expressed his "most profound sorrows" at the chief editor's death.

Officials said the assailant appeared in front of the victim's car when he was stopped at the light and then fled in a waiting car parked a few yards away.

Ipekci, a former vice president of the International Press Institute, in the last decade built Milliyet into a major newspaper with a circulation of 400,000.

He wrote political commentary in a front-page daily column titled "The Situation" and has been accused in the right-wing press of actively supporting the policies of the left-leaning government.

Clayton Favors

Primary Law

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - House Speaker Bill Clayton said Thursday he favors a presidential primary law that would "let Texas be a trend state instead of New Hampshire."

He cautiously endorsed Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's proposal to hold presidential primaries in March rather than in conjunction with the regular party primary elections in May.

Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard immediately objected.

The presidential primary question dominated Capitol discussions Thursday.

House members quit for the weekend after adopting resolutions challenging Oklahoma legislators to a basketball game.

Senators had a 90-minute floor session in which they passed and sent to the House bills that would:

- Ban toys that could electrocute, burn or injure a child in the course of normal use or as a result of reasonably foreseeable damage or abuse.

- Enable the State Health Department to require special packaging of household products if necessary to protect children from poisoning. Exceptions could be made for products used by elderly and handicapped persons, who would have trouble opening child-proof containers.
- Permit prosecutors to try marijuana cases in any county within a judicial district, as long as it is adjacent to the county where the offense occurred.

Florida Farmers

Fight To Save Fruit

MIAMI (AP) - The few Florida citrus growers who owned grove heaters and wind machines warmed them up today to fight frost while farmers who lacked such equipment nervously watched the mercury.

The National Weather Service said temperatures were expected to fall below the citrus-harming 28-degree mark for six hours or more in central and northern Florida.

Growers sent crews into the groves after forecasters predicted low temperatures, but an unexpected breeze from the north-northwest late Thursday gave growers hope.

"They're at the mercy of the elements," Florida Citrus Mutual's Earl Wells said of growers without frost-fighting equipment. Fewer than 10 percent have heaters, Wells said.

Many who lack heaters, like Fritz Rutzke of Homestead, south of Miami, flood irrigation ditches and turn on sprinklers to protect their plants.

Rutzke, who grows tomatoes and avocados, spent Thursday watching the thermometer and soaking the fields, said his wife, Suzanne.

"Without the water, there would be tremendous damage," Mrs. Rutzke said. "With the water, the plants will be covered with ice, but it coats and protects the plant so the damage usually is minimal."

There was a political rationale for President Carter's invitation to Nixon to attend the state dinner honoring China's Teng Hsiao-ping.

Democrat Carter now has completed the process Republican Nixon began. Carter now faces congressional criticism because the agreement that extended diplomatic recognition to China offers no guarantee of the future safety of Taiwan.

Under the circumstances, Nixon served as a handy reminder to angry conservatives that it wasn't all Carter's idea.

Police said entry was gained through an unlocked window.

An AP News Analysis

Nixon Return a Diversion

By WALTER E. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — So Richard M. Nixon has come and gone again. Big deal.

It's hard to see what all the fuss was about.

A dinner at the White House does not rehabilitate a disgraced politician. In Peking, perhaps, the reappearance of a purged leader at an affair of state can signal a return to power.

But Washington is not Peking. Nixon purged himself rather than face impeachment over Watergate, and his return to the White House was no more than a diversion.

There was a political rationale for President Carter's invitation to Nixon to attend the state dinner honoring China's Teng Hsiao-ping.

Democrat Carter now has completed the process Republican Nixon began. Carter now faces congressional criticism because the agreement that extended diplomatic recognition to China offers no guarantee of the future safety of Taiwan.

Under the circumstances, Nixon served as a handy reminder to angry conservatives that it wasn't all Carter's idea.

"One of the major achievements of President Nixon was to open up an avenue of communications and consultation and negotiation with the Chinese which resulted ultimately in normal relationships," Carter said in defending the invitation to Nixon.

He said the invitation was purely social. It was more than that, but still hardly worthy all the words of protest that have been spilled over it.

Besides, the Chinese had said Teng would like to see Nixon. Teng has twice fallen from power, so he wasn't around for either of Nixon's visits to China, the breakthrough mission in 1972, or the return in 1976, after he had resigned the White House.

So they met Wednesday for nearly an hour. It was all very low key, and there was no word on the topic of their discussion.

Had the Chinese done it the other way and gone to see Nixon in San Clemente, the meeting would have concentrated a lot more attention on the resigned president than he got as a bit player in Teng's round of Washington conference and social affairs.

Furthermore, the change Nixon wrought in U.S. policy toward China stands as a foreign policy landmark despite his role in Watergate and the attempted cover-up. Without Nixon, Teng probably wouldn't have been here, at least not yet.

The misconception that forced Nixon from office does not erase that achievement. Nixon's 2 1/2 hours at the White House Monday night recognize his role in initiating the new era of U.S.-Chinese relations, but the visit certainly doesn't diminish the stain that led him to quit.

None of it really changed a thing. Ironically, it probably won't do much to change conservative attitudes about the new China policy, either. The complaints about the lack of guarantees for Taiwan are not going to diminish because Nixon came to dinner.

ABC Maintains Lead

NEW YORK (AP) - ABC tightened its grip on first place in the networks' prime-time ratings competition, claiming 13 of the week's 20 most-watched programs in the process.

ABC's "Laverne and Shirley" was No. 1 among programs for the second week in a row, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show, followed by two more of the network's hit comedies, "Mork and Mindy" and "Happy Days."

CBS' best was "60 Minutes," in fourth place, and you had to drop all the way to No. 18 to find NBC's top show, "Little House on the Prairie."

ABC's rating for the week ending Jan. 28 was 22.5, a full point lower than the previous week's 23.5. CBS was second at 19.2 and NBC last - for the 14th consecutive week - at 16.7.

The networks say ABC's rating means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 22.5 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to the leader.

The rating for "Laverne and Shirley" was 32.3.

President Carter's State of the Union address Tuesday, broadcast by all three commercial networks, was not rated, but analyses that followed it were. ABC's special report was ranked 44th of 63 programs checked, and CBS's was 61st. NBC resumed its movie, "Midway," that was interrupted for the address, and it finished No. 25 for the week.

CBS had three of the five least-watched shows, a list which began with NBC's "Sweepstakes" in 59th and included, in order, "Flying High" and the speech analysis on CBS, "Legends of the Super-heroes" on NBC and

"CBS Reports: Showdown in Iran."

The week showing for "Sweepstakes" had to be a disappointment for NBC. The show was one of the network's midseason replacements.

The top-rated of the networks' mid-season offerings was "The Dukes of Hazzard" on CBS, ranked No. 29. Best of the "Animal House" movie spinoffs was "Delta House" on ABC, ranked 37th, followed by NBC's "Brothers and Sisters" in 51st place.

Here are the week's Top 10 shows:

- 1. "Laverne and Shirley," all ABC; "60 Minutes," all ABC; "Charlie's Angels," all ABC; "What's Happening," all ABC; and "Eight is Enough," all ABC.

Arson Called Insurance Problem

HOUSTON (AP) - Arson is one of the worst - if not the worst - problems facing the insurance industry at present, said the president of the Independent Insurance Agents of America.

"The fastest way to start a fire is the friction between an empty pocketbook and an insurance policy," said Lee R. Meyer this week in an interview.

"In most states, you've practically got to see someone set a fire to get a conviction," he added. "Once in a while they get somebody, but it's very seldom."

The Meridian, Miss., insurance man, who was in Houston for a meeting of his organization's executive committee, said the upsurge in arson is causing insurance companies to refuse to write policies in poorer areas, where there are run down buildings.

"Call it redlining if you like, but it's just good business sense," Meyer said. "Companies would rather stay out of an area altogether rather than handle applications on an individual basis.

"We urge companies to look at houses and businesses individually, and if they qualify, then give the people what they need," he continued. "If the company refuses to even take a look, I think the public has a legitimate gripe."

Meyer said another problem is the possibility that the federal government might take over regulation of the insurance business.

"We think the government gets into things that they can't handle as efficiently and inexpensively as private enterprise," he said.

"There's a strong movement afoot by several federal regulatory agencies and a few congressmen to regulate the insurance industry nationwide," he continues. "We are strongly against this."

Meyer said several insurance companies would like the federal government to take over, preferring to deal with a central agency instead of 51 separate sets of regulations.

"There are certainly some faults with state regulation, but the state government is closer to the people, and its easier to fix any mistakes made there," he said. "Once something is done in Washington, it's almost impossible to change."

Meyer said the insurance business had a great year in 1978 - the best ever, in fact. But he predicted insurance companies will break even in 1979 and lose money in 1980.

"Insurance is a cyclical business that used to run from top to bottom every 10-12 years, but didn't get too low or too high," he said. "Now the cycles are closer together and run lower and higher."

"Insurance had its worse years ever from 1973 to 1975, and companies are tightening their belts again, taking fewer risks and writing fewer policies," he continued.

"And if inflation gets out of hand, the insurance business is really in trouble," Meyer said. "We're at a disadvantage because we use statistics from past years to try and predict what's going to happen in the future and set rates accordingly."

Ramirez

the parent and Paul Ramirez the citizen. "The main concern I had was for the kids in the school system."

Hasmall stated in his letter that Mexican-American candidates sought election to the school board in 1972, 1974, 1977 and 1978 and were defeated each occasion.

"This office believes that those elections in which Mexican-American candidates have participated have been marked by a higher level of Anglo voter participation. We interpret this increased level of voter participation to be an effort to insure the defeat of these candidates."

He added that the school district has continually failed to meet the needs of the Mexican-American community.

"I'm not naive enough to believe that discrimination doesn't exist in this community," Ramirez said. "And, at one time or another, it has probably existed in the school system. But I know for a fact that the members of the school board are fair to all the students. I have seen the board go out of its way to try to help a Mexican-American student who was a discipline problem."

Ramirez again is seeking election to the school board.

Jobs

percent during this year and remain at that level in 1980 as a result of government efforts to retard growth of the economy to help control inflation.

Both the percentage of the population who had jobs, 59.3 percent, and the share of the population in the labor force, 63.7 percent, were at all-time highs.

The Labor Department said total employment increased during the month by 450,000, with gains occurring in most major industries. Total employment was put at 96.3 million, while the number of Americans seeking jobs was 5.9 million.

Adult men accounted for most of the job gains in January, although unemployment declined among all population groups.

All figures in the report were adjusted for seasonal variations.

Employment in the last two years increased at a 4.1 percent annual rate, which the administration said was virtually unprecedented in peacetime.

The proportion of the working-age population employed in 1978 rose to 59 percent. Total employment grew by 3.3 million, outstripping an increase in the labor force of 2.75 million.

The percentage of women in the labor force - those either working or seeking employment - rose 1.5 percent last year to 50.1 percent, passing the 50 percent mark for the first time.

But President Carter and his advisers say the substantial gains in employment in the last two years came at a cost of worsening inflation, because the speed of the increase helped push wages up faster than justified by worker productivity.

For this reason, they say slower economic growth is necessary to help restrain the creation of new jobs and to help reduce the upward pressure on wages and prices.

Any further significant decrease in the unemployment rate would worsen inflation, in the administration's view.

The administration is projecting a slowing of economic growth to 2.2 percent this year, down from about 4 percent in 1978. That would not be enough to keep pace with new additions to the labor force, meaning that unemployment would be bound to increase.

However, the economy finished 1978 with a growth rate for the final three months of 6.1 percent, much higher than expected and more than enough to further reduce the jobless rate. So administration officials were uncertain when an actual rise in joblessness might begin.

Once inflation is controlled, the administration says it will again be possible to try to return the economy to full employment, officials said to occur when joblessness falls to 4 percent.

IRS Launches Investigation Of Sherman Pentecostal Church

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has launched an investigation of the First United Pentecostal Church and its pastor, the Rev. Charles F. Glass, sources told newspaper reporters.

Glass, pastor here since 1958, is already under investigation by United Pentecostal Church district officials after several persons quit, alleging fanaticism and emotional terrorism. Glass has declined to comment on the allegations.

Police say they have not received any complaints from members or ex-members of the church, but officers had to beef up security in the area Wednesday after an anonymous threat was phoned in.

"Someone called the police department and said the church would be burned and for us to keep kids out," said Assistant Chief J.D. Pickens. "We stepped up patrols a little bit and that's all there was to it."

The Sherman Democrat and the Dallas Times Herald quoted former members of his church who said they have been interviewed within the last month by IRS investigators seeking financial information on the pastor and the church. IRS officials in Dallas refused to confirm or deny the report.

Joe Joiner, Glass' lawyer, also declined to comment on any specific allegations.

"If this is a church matter, it's up to the directors to make a determination whether Glass violated church rules and regulations," Joiner said. "If he has, they have a method for handling this."

The Abundant Life

GETTING AHEAD

BY BOB WEAR

MOST OF US WANT TO GET AHEAD, but we must make sure that this desire is not associated with attitudes and views which are unwholesome. If we move from the standpoint of faulty and artificial standards, we will make poor judgments and reach unsound conclusions. It is possible for us to think we are "getting ahead," when we are not. This happens to us, if we measure our actions and accomplishments by poorly chosen criteria.

WE MAY THINK WE ARE "GETTING AHEAD"; when we outdo others; but this is not necessarily so. In many areas of life, outdoing others is a meaningless and empty accomplishment. There is another undesirable element in the desire to outdo others. Our happiness and peace of mind can be turned to sadness and mental distress. What appears to be success may be failure.

We need a better motivation than the wish to surpass others; and we need a better standard than the accomplishments of other people by which to measure our attainments.

"GETTING AHEAD" PROBABLY MEANS different things to different people. In some instances, it means undesirable and unrealistic competition. For some folk, it has no meaning except in out-doing others. Of course, there are times and places for the right kind of competition; but "getting ahead" of others must not be our main interest in life.

Pope Returns After Journey

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II returned to Rome Thursday after a week-long tour of Latin America in which he appealed for greater social justice but told the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church to stay out of politics.

The pope landed three hours behind schedule at Leonardo da Vinci Airport aboard a Mexican jetliner. He had made a stop en route in Nassau, Bahamas.

The 58-year-old pontiff, clad in long white overcoat and white skull cap and slightly tanned from the Mexican sun, walked down the ramp smiling.

He was greeted by Premier Giulio Andreotti and Rome's Communist mayor, Giulio Carlo Argan.

Their presence symbolized the volatile new political situation to which the pope was returning in Italy.

Andreotti, of the church-backed Christian Democrat Party, resigned as head of government Wednesday because the Communists withdrew their support of his minority Cabinet. He is staying on in a caretaker role. New elections or a drawn-out political crisis are in prospect, and Italians will watch to see whether the Polish-born pontiff will try to influence the outcome, as some of his Italian predecessors have.

During his trip, the pontiff spent one day in the Dominican Republic and five days in Mexico.

Area DE Contest Beginning Today

Ten Hereford High School Students are in Amarillo today and tomorrow participating in the Area VI Distributive Education (DE) leadership contest, it has been announced by DE advisor G.C. Graves.

The ten students and their field of competition are Terry Melugin in advertising service; Mary Lou Simons, apparel and accessories; Tony Melugin, food marketing; Secora Valdez, food service; Kenny Shore, general merchandising; Adam Quintana, petroleum; Jackie Manning, financing credit; Stephanie Paetzold, free enterprise; and Debra Rogers and Rusty Rowe, alternates.

Betty Mercer, HHS counselor, will be attending the leadership contest as a judge. The next step in competition will be state finals March 15-18 in Fort Worth. National contests will be held in April at Houston.

Cosmetology Group Takes Field Trip

Hereford Cosmetology VICA students traveled to Lubbock Monday for a hair trend release in preparation for the Cosmetology Skill/Speed Contest coming up March 2-3.

The students attended classes in hair coloring, permanent waving, haircutting, braiding, weaving, hairstyling and new trends in cosmetics and fashion. Presenting the trend release was Jesse Lee Sharpley and her staff.

An accomplished artist in the field of cosmetology, Mrs. Sharpley has served on the creative committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. She has taken part in helping the Lone Star Artists become the State Styles Committee to which she has served as chairman and styles director. In her capacity on the creative committee, she helped decide new trends in hair to be worn with appropriate clothing.

Arts, Crafts Show In Planning Stages

Plans for an invitational arts and crafts show, to be held March 10-11 in the Community Center, were discussed last week by members of Hereford Art Guild, who convened for a monthly business meeting.

In outlining plans for the art show, a publicity committee was formed of Eunice Petersen, Ruby Lee Hickman, Jean Reinauer, Bob Baum and Louella Cowser. Plans for the art show will be finalized at the Guild's next business session on Feb. 27. It was announced by Mrs. Petersen, Guild president. The evening's program was presented by Susan Hicks and Paula Edwards, who gave a detailed demonstration on stained glass. The pair explained that they use stained glass taken from discarded church windows and other structures. It was noted that windows from the old First Christian Church, which was torn down several years ago, are on display in the chapel of Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

After the program, refreshments were served to members and guests by Ella Higgins, Barbara Lyons and Anna Kovacs.

Best Mans Duties

DEAR ANN: I'm writing for the benefit of that nut who wanted his three-year-old son by his first marriage to be the best man at his wedding because the boy was "his closest male relative." Will you kindly tell him what the duties of the best man are and maybe that will knock some sense into his head? -- Long-Time Reader From Niagara Falls

DEAR NIAGARA: The best man is supposed to help the groom dress, hand him the bride's ring during the ceremony, offer the first toast to the bride and groom, dance with the bride after she has danced the first dance with the groom, the second dance with her father, and the third dance with her father-in-law. The best man is also supposed to make sure the groom has his honeymoon tickets and reservations if they are traveling by train or plane. He should also hand the clergyman a token of appreciation -- which means a gratuity. I doubt that a three-year-old could handle any of the above responsibilities. I hope the kook sees this letter and changes his mind.

DEAR ANN: Yesterday I received a letter from my 34-year-old son who works in the lumber camp about 60 miles north of here.

Dan's letter was four pages long -- mostly about a very fine girl he had met. Toward the end of the letter I thought I must be seeing things. He wrote, "She is pregnant and her former lover left town. I want to marry this wonderful girl and be a father to her child."

I am very upset. Do you think this girl really loves my son or is she just looking for a father for her baby? Will I be able to accept this child and love her as if she were of our own blood? Also, Ann, what do you think our friends will say? The girl is in her fourth month and if they get married right away, people can still count it out. Please help me think straight. -- Portland Mother

DEAR MOTHER: If your son marries the girl -- and he probably will -- do your level best to accept her and the baby. Can you do it? Of course -- if you have the generosity of spirit.

The opinions of your friends who "can count" should be of no importance. You owe them no explanation.

DEAR ANN: My mother hates TV, and refuses to have a set in her home. Her stubborn streak is causing us a great deal of embarrassment.

My brother and I would do anything for Mom, but she is very independent and won't let us do much. We want to buy her a new TV just for appearances' sake, even if she never turns it on -- just so the neighbors can see the antenna. We are afraid they might think she is hard up for money and her family won't loosen up and give her one.

How about you saying a word in our behalf? This may sound

Brown Seems Beyond 'Thinking' Stage

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Brown, carrying an increasingly conservative banner, no longer uses the word "remote" when talking about a run for the presidency in 1980.

Instead, the California governor says he's giving a lot of thought to challenging President Carter in the primaries but an announcement would be "premature."

Some of his actions, though, seem beyond the "thinking" stage.

Recently he won nationwide attention with his endorsement of a convention to require a balanced federal budget.

He is strongly criticizing Carter on inflation.

He has asked a national labor leader what his chances of an AFL-CIO endorsement would be.

At the same time, the 40-year-old Brown has stopped talking of an "era of limits" — his phrase for the need to save the environment and resources. And gone, too, are references to Zen and other counter-culture trappings that made the nation notice this odd Democrat.

It is time, he says, for America to get back to balanced budgets, less government, less meddling in the affairs of distant nations, and more belief in the country's fundamental soundness and future.

"America right now is not building for the future. It is stealing from it," says Brown, who defeated Carter in three 1976 primaries and challenged him in two others. "What we're seeing today is decline abroad and decadence at home."

And Brown comments: "I see a lack of faith in the future on the part of people about to retire. I see frustration at the supermarket. And obviously it's time for some kind of change."

This all has a populist ring reminiscent of the anti-government exhortations of Huey Long, George Wallace, Howard Jarvis and — on occasion — Jimmy Carter. And it is the sort of talk Brown has used since his political debut on a Los Angeles school board 10 years ago.

At a December meeting with labor leaders, which Brown says labor requested, he says he asked Al Barkan, national political director of the AFL-CIO, if organized labor would support him or Sen.

Edward Kennedy. He said he got no commitment from Barkan.

Meanwhile, he works away at the issue he believes can be used to challenge both Carter and Kennedy. That is the proposal he embraced in a January speech for a constitutional convention to draft an amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

Federal deficits, Brown says, are a root cause of inflation. Although Carter's 1980 budget proposal trims the deficit to $29 billion, Brown says it is still inflationary and unacceptable.

Brown is a late supporter of this convention, which has been endorsed by 24 states and needs 10 more states to be convened. But Brown is in the battle just as the proposal is gaining momentum.

This campaign also allows Brown to use the same tactic both he and Carter have used successfully in the past — to align himself with frustrated voters against government.

"The fiscal excess by the federal government is recognized by 75 percent of the American people ...," he says. "So the only people who can't recognize this seem to be a rather limited group of experts that dwells in Washington."

Carter called a constitutional convention on the budget proposal a "dangerous" idea that might open the door to other amendments restricting civil liberties. Brown says this is a "scare tactic."

"I had never thought that balancing the federal budget was an unusual idea, or even a radical proposal. But given the reaction in Washington, it was as though I'd proposed a different form of government. Perhaps I had," Brown says.

Reaction in California to Brown's maneuvering is mixed. Some liberal Democrats are enraged by his adoption of a cause championed mostly by conservatives and by the tight state budget he unveiled in January.

"This man thinks he can become president of the United States by having Herbert Hoover capture the Democratic Party," said David Roberti, Democrat floor leader of the state Senate.

and state Sen. Barry Keene, a Democrat allied with Brown in the past, adds that he cannot support a candidate "who rides into the White House on a constitutional crisis ... he has perpetrated."

Some newspapers also have had critical editorials. The Los Angeles Times termed Brown's call for a constitutional convention "a clumsy grab for national attention." The Washington Post said it "dispelled any lingering suspicions ... he might be fit for national leadership."

Brown, meanwhile, doesn't act as if he is bothered by the criticism. He goes along practicing his favorite approach — moving both left and right, seeking support from liberals and conservatives.

He opposed Proposition 13, a property tax cuts until its landslide adoption by voters. Then, during his successful re-election campaign for a second term, he embraced it as the will of the people and declared himself "a born-again tax-cutter."

Brown hopes to sell the balanced budget idea to liberals. If President Johnson had been forced to balance his budget, he says, Vietnam would have been avoided. And today's budget deficits finance foreign aid that props up repressive governments.

Brown used that argument at the liberal-dominated state Democratic Party convention. He was greeted with boos, but by the end of his 45-minute address, he received a standing ovation.

Names In The News

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, hospitalized for treatment of exhaustion and alcohol abuse, could be out of the hospital in less than the four or five weeks originally planned by doctors, a spokesman says.

"His attitude is excellent and he's doing just great," Lisa Gill, a Talmadge press aid, said Tuesday.

The 65-year-old Georgia Democrat entered Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland on Jan. 22 and transferred to the Long Beach Naval Regional Medical Center last Wednesday on the advice of his physician.

NEW YORK (AP) — The clouds have lifted for weatherman Bob Harris — he's been hired as a forecaster for radio station WNEW.

Harris, known locally as "Dr.

Bob," was off the air for almost two weeks because it was discovered he had lied when he said he had a doctorate in geophysics.

When he was exposed by an anonymous tipster, Harris was fired by WCBS and The New York Times.

"We think he's the best in New York regardless of whether he got a degree," WNEV vice president Mel Karmazin said. "We are hiring him for his ability, not for where he got that diploma."

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace's career as a newspaper columnist may be one of the shortest on record — one column.

Edward H. Sims, editor and publisher of Editor's Copy Syndicate of Orangeburg, S.C., said Tuesday his firm would be distributing a weekly commentary, written by Wallace, to more than 300 newspapers.

A sample column was printed this week, Sims said.

But, according to Wallace's agent, Robert Bray of Nashville, "The governor decided yesterday he didn't want to do the column right now so we're going to place it on the back burner for a while."

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Actress Linda Blair's troubles with authorities in Connecticut may be coming to an end.

A drug charge against the 19-year-old Miss Blair will be dropped if she can prove authorities in Calgary, Alberta, have dismissed a marijuana charge against her, a judge says.

Miss Blair's lawyer, Martin Garbus, told Superior Court

Judge Scott Melville on Tuesday that the Calgary City Court had dismissed the marijuana charge. Melville continued the hearing until Feb. 13 to give Garbus time to document his statement.

The star of "The Exorcist" was arrested in Calgary in August. At that time, she was on a program here which provided charges of possession of amphetamines would be dropped if she stayed out of trouble.

When Miss Blair was arrested in December 1977 on a Florida fugitive warrant, Connecticut police said they found amphetamines in her purse. Extradition proceedings are pending against her on Florida charges of conspiracy to buy or sell cocaine.

Clements Not Ready For Change in Court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday he is not ready to recommend that criminal cases be handled by the courts of civil appeals but he will be influenced by Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court.

Greenhill urged a joint session of the Legislature Wednesday to give voters a chance to allow the 14 courts of civil appeals to hear criminal appeals. He said the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is swamped.

"That's the first time I have heard Justice Greenhill on the subject," Clements told a news conference today. "I am not well informed on the subject at present but I would have to admit that my judgment will be influenced by Justice Greenhill. I will discuss it further with him."

Clements signed the first bill sent him by the Legislature, an emergency appropriation by Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, to provide $480,000 for three new courts of civil appeals.

Clements also announced the appointment of two new aides. Joe W. Kirven, 46, a black businessman from Dallas, will become an administrative assistant. "He will be responsible for our equal opportunities program and also with recruiting other appointees," Clements said.

Kirven, a Wiley College graduate, said he ran an unsuccessful race for the Legislature as a Republican in 1968, the same year he was chosen by the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of five outstanding young Texans.

Former State Representative Hilary Doran Jr. of Del Rio, who said he considers himself a conservative Democrat, was named an administrative assistant for legislative liaison.

Compare cereals by unit price rather than package price. Larger packages are generally a better buy than smaller ones.

It was another example of the balancing act between left and right that the bachelor governor has used throughout his political career.

Brown described it in his campaign: "People ask me, 'Are you a liberal? A conservative?' I think you can do both."

Women Could Become Rabbis

NEW YORK (AP) — Conservative Judaism, the "middle road" among three branches of the faith, has taken a major first step toward admitting women to ordination as rabbis.

The change was recommended this week by a commission of scholars, including experts in theology, law, sociology, history and biblical standards, after two years of study and hearings.

Women should be admitted to studies for ordination "on a basis equal to that maintained heretofore for males" and when qualified, "ordained as rabbis," the commission said.

Reviewing mandates of Jewish law, the halakah, the commission said there is "no direct halakhic objection" to such ordinations.

The findings were presented in Los Angeles by commission chairman Gerson D. Cohen, chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary in America, to the national organization of Conservative rabbis, the Rabbinical Assembly.

But decisive action on the matter rests, not with the rabbinical body, but with the faculty of the seminary, the Conservative movement's academic center in New York, which trains and ordains rabbis for the country's 823 Conservative congregations.

"It's autonomous in a sense, and controls academic standards, seminary degrees and ordinations," a spokesman said.

It's sometimes called the "power seat" in the making of rabbis for 1.2 million Conservative Jews. But the commission findings now become a weighty factor.

The faculty — about 50 professors with tenure on a teaching staff of 70 — is to decide on the proposed change before May 30, in time potentially for permitting women to apply for rabbinical studies starting this fall.

Of the other two branches of Judaism, the Reform wing opened its rabbinate to women in 1970, ordaining the first woman in 1972. Presently there are seven women among about 1,000 Reform rabbis, ordained by Reform institutions in Cincinnati, Los Angeles and New York.

An additional four women have been ordained rabbis by a special school the Reconstruction Rabbinical College in Philadelphia.

30,000 Unpaid Volunteers To Help Explain Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of volunteers will help retired and low-income people with their tax returns this year, while the Internal Revenue Service will give advice to millions of other taxpayers.

The IRS has trained 30,000 persons to staff booths and libraries, schools, fire stations and other public buildings to help out people with special needs.

These unpaid volunteers will also go to nursing homes, hospitals and retirement communities from January through April. They will concentrate on helping with problems that frequently arise for elderly and low-income taxpayers.

For example, many low-income persons are unaware they may be eligible for the earned income credit, a cash payment of up to $400 for poor working families. It may be available to families earning less than $8,000 a year even if they had no taxes withheld.

A special problem for the elderly is confusion over the variety of regulations concerning income from pensions, life insurance payments and other annuities. The formula for computing a retirement tax credit for some people can be difficult to comprehend.

Although the tax booklets that are sent with the tax forms include instructions on treatment of such things as pension income and the earned income credit, the IRS knows that many people want help with their computations or have questions that are not clearly answered in the written instructions.

The IRS last year answered more than 17 million phone inquiries, 38,000 letters and helped more than 6 million people who sought help in IRS offices.

Toll-free numbers for the IRS are included in the tax instructions mailed out to taxpayers. Most taxpayers should have received their tax forms in the mail by the end of the year. But tax forms and instructions are also available at most banks and post offices.

Bell Employees Pulled from Iran

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Tectron Inc. announced Thursday that Bell Helicopter International, a subsidiary, is recalling all of its nonessential employees and dependents from Iran.

In a news release from its Providence headquarters, Tectron said it was taking the action on the advice of the State Department.

Bell has about 2,500 employees in Iran working under U.S. government foreign military sales contracts — down from about 3,500 in the middle of last year.

It could not immediately be learned how many Bell employees the company intends to leave in Iran.

Bell is also discussing with federal officials the possibility of reducing the scope of work under the contracts, which deal primarily with the training of Iranian helicopter pilots and mechanics, Tectron said.

In 1978, Bell's Iranian contracts provided $234 million in revenue to Tectron. At the end of January, the contract backlog was $298 million.

Duval Usury Suit To Be Tried Again

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday agreed that Duval County's usury suit against First State Bank of San Diego must be tried again.

Without writing an opinion, the court said it found "no reversible error" in a Waco Court of Civil Appeals decision remanding the case to Duval County district court for retrial.

The trial court found that the bank had charged the county more than 14 percent a year, while state law sets for ceiling on bank interest at 10 percent.

It ordered the bank to pay the county $184,995, including $12,385 in usury penalties.

But the appeals court found the trial had relied on a deposition by bank executive B.O. Goldthorn, which was never signed or sworn to before a notary public.

Because of this, the trial court's judgment is not valid, the appeals court said.

In its appeal to the Supreme Court, the county said attorneys for the bank did not object to the introduction of Goldthorn's deposition.

Stanton Dogies Sweep Canyon Purple

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor
Using the hot hand of Wayne High, the Stanton Dogies ninth grade team whipped the Canyon Purple team Thursday night 65-52, in a game played at Stanton's gym.

In other junior high action the seventh and eighth grade at Stanton also beat the Canyon Purple teams, while across town at La Plata the Maverick seventh and ninth grade boys won, and the eighth grade boys lost. In girls action, Stanton whipped the Bovina seventh grade girls 30-19 and the eighth grade was beaten in its Bovina game, 29-19.

Against Canyon Purple the Dogie freshmen used the 26 points of High to go over the .500 percentage mark and raise its record to 9-8. In district action the Dogies have a 5-4 ledger.

Leading the Stanton seventh grade with 10 points was Eric Walterscheid as the Dogies whipped the Canyon team 30-10. Eighth grade action was also lopsided in favor of the Dogies as Charles McDowell scored 16 points and they drubbed the visitors, 60-22.

Hosting the Borger White teams, La Plata came out on top in the first and last game, with the eighth grade losing 52-41 despite the 10 points of Ricky McCracken. In the seventh grade game, Steve George led all scorers with 18 points and Robert Martinez added 10 points as the Mavs won a close 46-39 encounter.

Freshman action was also close but the double figure scoring of three Maverick players kept the game in control for the winning Mavericks. Alan Wartes tossed in 35 points and Don Delozier and Aubrey Richburg added 14 and 12 points each in the 71-66 victory.

The Stanton girls used the 10 points each of Cynthia Ray and Cathy Bartels to win 30-19 in the seventh grade contest. Eighth grade action was not as good for the Dogies as they lost to the host Bovina team 29-19. The Dogies were led by the seven points of Rosie Garza.
Makeup games will be on tap for the girls Saturday as the three Stanton teams travel to Canyon to play the Purple team and La Plata goes to Pampa to play the Harvesters.

Coach Only Casualty In Pistons' Win

By The Associated Press
Coach Dick Vitale will always remember how he celebrated the Detroit Pistons' 120-116 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers Thursday night. What he said was probably something akin to "Ouch!"
Vitale was so overjoyed by the Pistons' triumph in the wake of their dismal showing against the New York Knicks one night earlier that he jumped around and threw his arms in the air at the final buzzer...and pulled a muscle in the back of his shoulder.

In other National Basketball Association games, the Washington Bullets nipped the San Antonio Spurs 123-122 in a battle of division leaders, the Philadelphia 76ers drubbed the Chicago Bulls 128-105 and the Seattle SuperSonics downed the New Jersey Nets 107-102.
Bob Lanier and M.L. Carr poured in 29 points apiece for Detroit. The Cavaliers fell behind 113-106 with 3:38 remaining but made one last run. However, Carr hit two free throws with 59 seconds left and Lanier hit three more in the final 16 seconds to preserve Detroit's fifth victory in its last six games. Campy Russell had 29 points and Austin Carr 26 for the losers.

Bullets 123, Spurs 122
Elvin Hayes and Bobby Dandridge, Washington's All-Star forwards, combined for 66 points and Tom Henderson hit two key free throws with seven seconds remaining. Hayes, who finished with 30 points, put the Bullets ahead for the first time since early in the second quarter with a three-point play with 1:07 left.

San Antonio's James Silas connected on a 20-footer with 59 seconds remaining to put San Antonio ahead 120-119 but Hayes threw in a fallaway jumpshot with 25 seconds remaining to give the lead back to Washington. Henderson then hit the two free throws that iced the game.
76ers 128, Bulls 105
Darryl Dawkins scored 12 third-quarter points and Julius Erving added 15 in the final eight minutes and wound up with 32 points. The Sixers, who had dropped four of their last six games, handed the Bulls their fourth straight loss and ninth in their last 10 games.
Dawkins, who finished with 16 points, said his performance "was a long time coming, because I've really, in my opinion, let the team down in the last several weeks. I've been very inconsistent and it's been now or never for me."

ball loose from New Jersey's Eric Money and Fred Brown scored on a subsequent fast break as Seattle rallied in the final 30 seconds. Money, who scored a career-high 40 points, had pumped in three straight baskets to give the Nets a 102-99 lead with 1:04 to play. Shelton made his key steal after Seattle's Jack Sikma, who scored a career-high 30 points, sank two free throws with 50 seconds left.
Nets Coach Kevin Loughery was tagged with two technical fouls in the first half and automatically ejected for the third time this season.

Guidry Not Easy To Market

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — "One of the easiest aspects of marketing Ron Guidry is that Ron Guidry doesn't want to be marketed," says John Schneider, agent and longtime friend of the ace New York Yankee pitcher.

Guidry has turned down several lucrative offers in the last six months, the Lafayette, La., attorney says, including between $150,000 and $200,000 last month alone.

Guidry and Schneider discussed "Marketing and Legal Aspects of Professional Athletics" at Louisiana State University this week.

"Really, Ronnie is more satisfied with my performance than I don't bring back too many deals," Schneider said. "He likes his privacy. He once told me some words I'd like engraved on a plaque: 'All the money in the world isn't worth it if Bonnie (his wife) and I aren't home to spend it.'"

The 5-foot-11 left-handed Cy Young Award winner and Associated Press male athlete of the year has two simple guidelines when considering commercial ventures.

"Rule one is that he has to be a user of the product, and secondly, an exorbitant amount of money can't be made by others off of his name," Schneider said.

Carner Wins First

By KEN PETERS

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — JoAnne Carner, generally acknowledged as the Ladies Professional Golf Association's best match-play competitor, attributes her success in the head-to-head competition to "being too dumb not to know I can't win at it."
The defending champion in the $100,000 Triple Crown match play tournament, Carner opened play Thursday in the 1979 renewal of the event with a 5-and-5 victory over Debbie Massey.

eliminated from the championship bracket as Silvia Bertolaccini defeated her 1-up on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff.
Bertolaccini, in her fifth year on the LPGA circuit, sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie 4 while Lopez took a 5 on the 20th hole of their match. "I had nothing to lose," said Bertolaccini. "Playing with Nancy made me concentrate. Nancy's something special."
Lopez, winner of a record nine tournaments and nearly $190,000 on the tour in 1978, said she was happy with her play despite the loss.

Carner emerged from the first day of the four-day event as the clear-cut favorite.
Other first-round winners were Amy Alcott, with a 2-and-1 victory over Mary Dwyer; Sandra Post, a 5-and-4 victor over Kathy Postlewait; Donna Young, who downed Penny Pulz 4-and-3; Pat Bradley, who defeated Jan Stephenson 1-up; Dot Germain, who eliminated Sally Little 3-and-1, and Mary Mills, who topped Jerilyn Britz 1-up.

The tournament, sponsored by Colgate, wraps up Sunday with the two finalists competing for a $23,000 first prize.

Minnesota's Carew Trading Deadline Set For Feb 5

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, California Angels and anyone interested in obtaining Minnesota superstar Rod Carew have until Monday to complete a deal for the seven-time American League batting champion or forget about him until the next free agent draft.
Carew told The Associated Press Thursday from his home in Golden Valley, Minn., that if he isn't traded by Feb. 5 he will play out his option season with the Twins and become a free agent next fall.

Carew also said the world champion Yankees "don't need me this year" and disclosed that the Angels agreed to his contract demands in 15 minutes, reportedly $4 million for five years. However, the Angels and Twins were unable to agree on a deal when Minnesota insisted on third baseman Carney Lansford and California refused to part with him.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn then ruled that any team interested in Carew must agree on a trade with the Twins before it could attempt to satisfy Carew's contract demands.
The Yankees and Twins apparently have agreed on first baseman Chris Chambliss, second baseman Brian Doyle, outfielder Juan Beniquez and up to $400,000 in cash. However, the Yankees balked when the Twins also asked for one of two young pitchers, Dave Righetti or Paul Mirabella.

and Minnesota owner Calvin Griffith go fishing and play golf. If they think they can wait until the last minute and then tell me to start packing, they are out of their minds."
If the 33-year-old Carew plays out his option with Minnesota, he will become a free agent at the end of the 1979 season and the Twins will receive no compensation from the team that signs him. The Twins have been unable to satisfy his salary demands.
Carew, who was born in Panama but grew up in New York, reiterated that he did not particularly care to return to New York.

"They can't sell me all that New York City stuff," he said. "You know what they say - come to New York and you have all those opportunities to make money in commercial things. I don't need that. I make my living playing baseball on the field. I feel I can play anywhere. It's just that I might be more comfortable somewhere else."

The constant bargaining and bickering is getting to Carew. "It's nerve-wracking; the wait, the frustration - it's terrible," he said. Thomas To Try PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cornerback J.T. Thomas, sidelined all of last season with a blood disorder, has been given permission by the team doctor to attempt a comeback next season with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Dr. David Huber gave the okay to the five-year veteran, still undergoing treatment for a rare disease known as Boeck's Sarcoid.

Thomas had been a starter throughout his Steeler career. He's expected to report to training camp in July with the rest of the squad.
Even while taking medication, the 27-year-old Thomas jogged often during the past season and also layed racquetball to stay in shape.
He's had the blood disorder for about five years. Doctors considered suggesting a similar layoff several years ago.

Arkansas Slips By Longhorns, 68-58

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Eddie Sutton and Abe Lemons met at midcourt in a real Texas-size shootout, tempers exploding.

"You're too good to take cheap shots at," Sutton told Texas player John Moore, triggering a harsh reaction from Lemons.

Pretty soon the basketball coaches were knocking into each other in full-horrorified view of the near-16,000 fans at the Super Drum arena in Austin.

"He has no right to talk to one of my players like that," said Lemons after his 11th-ranked Texas Longhorns lost a rough 68-58 battle to Sutton's No. 19 Arkansas Razorbacks Thursday night.

What got Lemons angry in the first place was what Sutton said to Moore as the teams walked off the court at halftime. Sutton felt that the Texas players were unduly rough on his team, especially Moore.

"I probably shouldn't have said it and I apologize," a cooled-off Sutton said later.

Lemons wasn't so magnanimous, however.

"Sutton has no call to do that to one of my players," noted the Texas coach. "He called Moore a dirty player and shoved him. That's not his place. No coach has a right to do something like that."

From his side of the fence, Lemons naturally had a different view of the game. He saw Arkansas getting away with murder throughout the night.

"We can't play with people hanging all over us," Lemons said. "They play too rough for us. It really baffles me. I get out of my chair and the official tells me to shut up and sit down. Then the other guy (Sutton) is running all up and down the sideline. Maybe they think I look meaner and will go out there and choke them."

In the only other conference game Thursday, Texas Tech thrashed Rice 78-56 in Lubbock to raise its conference record to 6-4. Rice dropped to 3-7 SWC play.

The Red Raiders capitalized on a cold second half shooting performance by the Owls to take a commanding lead.

Rice coach Mike Schuler could find nothing worthy of praise in his squad's showing.

Rice had six turnovers in its first 10 possessions, and the trend continued throughout the contest.

"It was a matter of us just not getting out there and hustling," Schuler said. "I can tolerate just about anything but that."

But Tech Coach Gerald Myers said his team was getting its confidence back.

"We jumped out and won a few games early and we got an over-inflated opinion of ourselves," Myers said. "Then we went the other way and lost all our confidence. Now we're starting to get it back."

Elsewhere, Ohio State suffered its first Big Ten Conference loss this season when the seventh-ranked Buckeyes dropped an 84-79 decision at No. 15 Michigan State. Second-ranked Indiana State barely preserved its unbeaten record with a tense 91-89 overtime decision over New Mexico State with the help of a miraculous, 50-foot shot at the end of regulation.

Top-ranked Notre Dame stopped Xavier of Ohio 66-57; fifth-ranked UCLA whipped Oregon 65-58; No. 14 Illinois beat Minnesota 67-57 and No. 18 Temple crushed Hofstra 92-70 in other action.

Sidney Moncrief did most of the damage for Arkansas, scoring 23 points as the Longhorns lost their first game in 26 at the Super Drum. The loss also cost Texas sole possession of first place in the Southwest Conference, the Longhorns falling into a tie with Texas A&M.

The Longhorns made only 23 percent of their field goals in the first half and trailed 25-17 by intermission. They never got closer than six points the rest of the way.

Lemons felt that the officials were partly to blame for that, not calling enough fouls against Arkansas.

"There was one official, if they were paying $100 for every toot on his whistle, he wouldn't have enough for a sucker a lollipop," Lemons said. "I guess he had a good time, though, watching the game and looking at the crowd."

Earvin Johnson's 23 points led Michigan State's conquest of Ohio State.

"We went out to prove we were a good basketball team," said Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote, whose Spartans lost to Michigan and Northwestern last week. "We were tired of 'What's happening to the Spartans?' In beating Ohio State we beat a super club."

Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller said his team played well offensively, "but our defense was not what it should be and Michigan State took advantage of that. The determining factor was that Michigan State played better than we did. It's that simple."

Bob Heaton's desperation 50-footer at the buzzer in regulation brought Indiana State back to life and propelled the Sycamores over New Mexico State. Brad Miley's three-point play with 2:23 to go in overtime put Indiana State on top for good at 90-87 as the undefeated Sycamores won their 19th game.

Indiana State's Larry Bird scored 37 points before fouling out and moved into 13th place on the all-time NCAA scoring list, passing former Tennessee star Ernie Grunfield.

Tracy Jackson hit four free throws in the final 24 seconds as Notre Dame held off upstart-minded Xavier.

"Xavier came ready to play," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "They played with a lot of emotion because we are the No. 1 team and that gave them a lot of incentive. I was happy, though, that we did not lose our composure."

Roy Hamilton scored 18 points, leading UCLA over Oregon in Pacific-10 action at Eugene.

"Every game we win up here is a big plus for us," said Hamilton. "We know this is a very important road trip."

Levi Cobb scored 19 points and Mark Smith added 18 to lead Illinois over Minnesota. Ricky Reed and Bruce Harrold teamed for 42 points to pace Temple over Hofstra.

In other games, Alcorn State improved its record to a glittering 20-0 with a 95-89 decision over Arkansas-Pine Bluff as James Horton scored 22 points; Pitt defeated Duquesne 89-83 behind the clutch foul shooting of Terry Knight and Wayne Williams in the last two minutes; Jeff Taylor's 18 points led Texas Tech past Rice 78-56; Sammy Drummer scored 25 as Georgia Tech beat Western Carolina 100-75; Mike Woodson's 23 points paced Indiana over Michigan 68-62; Purdue defeated Northwestern 68-58 as Joe Barry Carroll scored 30 points and Portland whipped

San Francisco 85-82 as Rick Raivio and Jose Slaughter scored 22 points apiece.

Bradshaw A Modest Superstar

NEW YORK (AP) - Found: A modest super star. Bronze him. Preserve him in oils. Store him behind an impenetrable steel wall under lock and key. He is an endangered species.

"No, I don't think I am the best quarterback in pro football," Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw insisted under intensive prodding. "I see no time in the future that I will be able to say I am the best quarterback."

The strapping field general of the Steelers was in New York

Thursday to receive a new automobile from Sport Magazine for being the Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XIII.

It was the same loose, easygoing, unpretentious Bradshaw who directed the Steelers through a 14-2 campaign, two playoff victories and a dazzling 35-31 victory over the defending champion Dallas Cowboys in Miami.

His self-effacing image is hard for newsmen to swallow. After all, they have not been indoctrinated in such flagrant modesty from heroic sports figures.

Some of them had been sitting in the big ball room in Orlando, Fla., last Dec. 5 when Pete Rose announced the signing of a $3.2 million ($800,000 a year) contract with the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I am the best player in the world," the scrappy all-star from Cincinnati said over the loud speaker. "I want to be paid like it."

"Did they really say that?" Bradshaw asked when someone cited the cases and remarked that it was unfashionable for a top athlete to be less than arrogant.

"I could never say anything like that. Even if I believed it, I wouldn't say it. It's not my personality. I am basically shy. Maybe it's a sense of insecurity. I could never be one to boast or gloat."

While Bradshaw stood on the dais, with lights and microphones all around him, his svelte blonde wife, JoJo Starburck, sat almost unnoticed in a folding chair on the edge of the stage.

A former Olympic figure skater and now a feature performer in ice shows, she seemed to relish the attention being lavished on her husband.

"I love occasions like this," she said. "I am not as good a skater as Terry is a football player. He is like an Olympic champion. He is a very down-to-earth person, sincere in what he says."

Bradshaw said he never got a chance to cultivate a fat head.

"When I was at Louisiana Tech, nobody knew I existed," he said. "I wasn't anything special and didn't have to deal with the national media. I played a game and then went fishing. That was fine. It suited my personality. Then I came up to the Steelers. It took me a long time to adjust. When I was benched in 1975, it really deflated me. I was bitter. I suffered from self-pity. Then there was that long, hard road back. I think this year I learned consistency. But the best quarterback in pro ball? No, sir, not me."

30. McLendon and Morgan were at Pebble Beach.

Spyglass Hill, the third course that is played before the final round at Pebble Beach on Sunday, as usual played the toughest. The best scores there were 70s by Lon Hinkle and Peter Jacobson.

Tom Watson, who used Crosby titles as stepping stones to Player of the Year honors the last two seasons, had an eagle 3 in his round of par 72. John Mahaffey, the PGA champion and a winner in the Bob Hope, shot 70. Ben Crenshaw, the Phoenix winner, had a 71, and Arnold Palmer a 74. All were at Cypress Point. Lee Trevino shot 75 at Pebble Beach.

Palmer's amateur partner, former President Gerald Ford, helped the team 2 shots before flying to New York to attend memorial services for former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller. He will skip Friday's play.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The New Orleans Saints have signed a new contract with defensive end Elois Grooms, one of six Saints who played out their options in 1978, team officials have announced.

Terms of Grooms' new pact with the National Football League team were not disclosed.

Grooms has played five seasons with the Saints, leading the team with seven quarterback sacks last season and had 56 tackles, 17 of them unassisted. The 6-foot-4, 250-pound graduate of Tennessee Tech started all 16 regular season games at left end.

The other Saints who played out their options are linebacker Rick Kingree, offensive tackle Robert Woods, offensive led by Fred Stuart, kicker and offensive tackle John Watson.

CINCINNATI (AP) - The University of Cincinnati Athletic Hall of Fame will induct six new members at a luncheon ceremony next Saturday.

The members include swimming star Charles Keating, tennis stars Monica Nolan and Bill Talbert, football player Brig Owens, baseball star Willie Stargell and longtime physical education instructor Helen Norman Smith.

Haas Takes Lead In Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Jay Haas slipped around Pebble Beach golf course when that famed meeting of land and sea was at its benign best.

But Haas warned those challengers in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am who have yet to play that sometimes-fierce links. "It is a sleeping giant. It can play 10 shots harder when the wind is blowing."

For the first time in three days, the wind didn't blow. The biting cold abated. The rain fell only briefly Thursday on the three courses lining the cliffs and crags of Carmel Bay. Haas coaxed a 4-under-par 68 from the subtle terrors of Pebble Beach and went to the other two Monterey Peninsula courses in a tie for the first-round lead with Mike McCullough and Graham Marsh, a limping veteran from Australia.

Marsh pulled a muscle in his right leg just before finishing at Cypress Point. McCullough, who has yet to win as a pro, scored seven birdies over the same course. He had the lead alone, but 2 shots, before 3-putting two of his last three greens.

One shot back at 69 were Dr. Gil Morgan, a non-practicing optometrist who was second on the 1978 money-winning list; Mac McLendon and Bobby Nichols, who played his last nine holes at Cypress Point in NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - Vitas Gerulaitis defeated David Schneider of South Africa 6-2, 6-1 in the Fairfield Bay Tennis Classic.

In other matches, John Sadri defeated Anand Amritraj of India 6-1, 6-2, while sixth-seeded Mike Cahill of Memphis was upset by Australian John James 6-3, 6-3.

RICHMOND, Va. - John McEnroe breezed past Dean Joubert of South Africa 6-2, 6-1 while Ilie Nastase of Romania ousted Jose Higueras of Spain 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 in the second round of the Richmond Tennis Classic.

In another match, Arthur Ashe ousted Ross Case of Australia 7-6, 6-7, 6-2.

SKIING

VILLARS, Switzerland - Peter Mueller of Switzerland scored his first World Cup victory in a downhill ski race.

Mueller was timed in 1 minute, 45.97 seconds, 22 seconds ahead of Leonard Stock of Austria.

SPITAL AM SEMMERING, Austria - Austrian Heidi Riedler won a Federation International de Ski downhill race at Kaltenbach.

Riedler covered the 2.7-kilometer course in 1 minute, 57.29 seconds. Toril Fjelstad of Norway was second with a time of 1:58.78.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Fred Hodge, of Waco, has won re-election to his second two-year term as president of the Southwest Baseball Umpires Association.

The 1,000-member organization provides baseball officials for high schools and colleges throughout Texas.

Hodge also was elected chairman board of the Southwest Officials Association, which includes officials of the baseball, football and volleyball.

NEW HAVEN (AP) - Dick Jauron, a former Yale University athlete and now a member of the Cincinnati Bengals football team, has been named assistant coach of the 1979 Yale baseball team.

Jauron was captain of the Yale baseball team in 1973, the same season he received the G.H. Walker Jr. Award as most valuable player. He was also a standout on the Yale football squad and was named the Ted Blair Award winner as the team's most valuable player in his senior year.

He signed with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League in 1973 and was traded to Cincinnati last fall.

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Soccer League has held its fourth annual draft of collegiate players, including high school performers for the first time.

Five prepsters were selected, along with 57 collegiate players.

After the draft, the defending ASL champion New York Apollo announced the signing of their top choice, Roni Schneider of Adelphi College, an international star in Israel.

The league's Board of Governors, in its midwinter meeting, also terminated the membership of the Southern Californiaazers for failure to meet the league's financial arrangements.

CINCINNATI (AP) - Defenseman Barry Melrose has signed a new one-year contract with the Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association. Terms were not disclosed.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) - Steve Cauthen said he wasn't feeling any pressure, but the 18-year-old jockey must be breathing a little easier today.

Cauthen, whose mounts earned more than $6 million in 1977, the first time that feat was ever accomplished, snapped a horrendous losing streak at Santa Anita Thursday.

Cauthen's 110-race dry spell came, to an end, oddly enough, in a substitute role as he guided Father Duffy to a narrow victory in the program's fourth race.

The victory was the first for Cauthen in exactly one month - his only other pair of wins of 1979 came on New Year's Day. He has now ridden five winners in 151 races at Santa Anita's winter meeting.

The crowd of 13,645 gave Cauthen a rousing reception after his winning race. Seemingly moved by the response, the jockey said he had not felt pressure.

Think this is the wrong time of year to advertise? Sure, business is slow, but the smart advertiser makes his advertising dollar work even harder during this time of year:

1. New customers move into Hereford daily. The smart advertiser attracts this new business into his store. If the newcomer shops with you first, chances are he'll be back again and again.
2. People stop trading with your competitors for one reason or another, and the smart advertiser attracts this business with effective advertising.
3. Advertising is designed to build business and one of its strongest effects is familiarity or repetition; consistent advertising pays. The smart advertiser never lets the buying public forget he is still in business.

The smart advertiser always thinks of his advertising dollar as an investment in greater sales volume, never as an expense of doing business.

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
The County of Deaf Smith, Texas will hold a public hearing at 7:00 p.m. February 2, 1979, at the County Courthouse, Courthouse, in regard to the possible submission of an application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a Community Development Block Grant to partially finance improvements to the Community.

The purpose of this meeting is to provide citizens with adequate information concerning the amount of funds available for the proposed community development in housing activities including land acquisition, rehabilitation, public facilities, citizens centers, street and drain improvements, sewer mains, parks, playgrounds, code enforcements, clearance and demolition and other activities.

This meeting is to provide citizens an adequate opportunity to participate in the development of the application. The plan shall be discussed as it pertains to this application. The total amount of funds for a HUD single purpose block grant is $500,000.

Since these funds are on a competitive basis there will be more preapplications submitted to HUD than can be funded. Another public hearing on the same subject and for the same purpose will be held at 7:00 p.m., February 6, 1979 at the County Courthouse, Hereford, Texas.

NOTICIA: Audiencia publica

El condado de Deaf Smith, Texas patrocinara una audiencia publica el dia dos de febrero de 1979 a las 7:00 de la noche en el Juzgado del Condado, ubicado en la casa de corte, para tratar de la posibilidad de aplicar al Departamento de Vivienda y Desarrollo Urbano (HUD) para un subsidio (grant) que parcialmente financiera mejoras a las comunidades.

El proposito de esta junta es la de proveer a los ciudadanos adecuada informacion concerniente a la cantidad de fondos existentes para el desarrollo propuesto en actividades relacionadas con la vivienda, incluyendo adquisiciones terrenales, rehabilitacion, facilidades publicas, centros para la ciudadania, mejoramientos de calles y drenajes, parques, areas de juegos, cumplimiento de codigos, limpia y demolicion, y otras actividades.

Esta junta es para dar adecuada oportunidad a los ciudadanos para participar en la confeccion de esta aplicacion. El plan sera discutido como venga al caso sobre esta aplicacion. La maxima cantidad de fondos proporcionada por HUD para un subsidio (grant) de un solo proposito es de $500,000. Siendo que estos fondos son distribuidos a base competitiva, habran mas aplicaciones preliminares presentadas al HUD que las que son finalmente aceptadas.

Health Plan: Extent, Expense

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A showdown is rapidly nearing between HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. and the White House staff over the size and scope of the national health insurance plan President Carter will send to Congress this year.

Contrary to the prevailing public impression, Carter is absolutely serious about pushing some kind of national health program through the 96th Congress — if not this year, then next.

The only real dispute within the administration is how extensive — and expensive — it should be. "We're not interested in posturing; we want to send up something that can pass," one senior White House adviser said.

Califano met Jan. 18 with Carter, White House domestic policy adviser Stuart Eizenstat and other key aides to discuss the options under consideration, but no decisions were reached.

The HEW secretary has been urging the president to endorse a comprehensive national health plan that would be phased in gradually over a period of years as economic conditions permit.

But most, if not all, of Carter's top White House aides favor a more limited package emphasizing protection against catastrophic illness coupled, perhaps, with some revamping of medicare and new cost containment proposals.

Neither approach goes far enough to satisfy Sen. Edward M. Kennedy — the nation's leading advocate of full-scale, comprehensive national health insurance covering everything from preventive services to catastrophic illness.

Kennedy last year publicly split with Carter over the national health issue, and the rift remains unhealed. The senator acknowledges the need to phase in any national health insurance plan to minimize the fiscal impact of such an expensive program, but he is not willing to see implementation made conditional upon economic factors.

Furthermore, Kennedy is vehemently opposed to any move, such as that now contemplated by the White House staff, which would split catastrophic coverage off from the rest of the health package and give it priority treatment. Kennedy and his allies in organized labor, most notably the United Auto Workers, have long been convinced that enactment of a catastrophic insurance measure would largely dissipate whatever political pressure there is for a national health insurance program.

And indeed, their fears may be justified. Private insurance plans on the one hand, and medicare and medicaid on the other, already provide at least partial protection to the vast majority of Americans. The one specter which terrifies every family — and against which there is no effective shield — is a catastrophic illness or injury.

Kennedy himself, as White House aides rather gleefully point out, regularly uses horror stories about families financially destroyed by catastrophic illness to dramatize his arguments for national health insurance.

Just as Kennedy has for years been pushing for comprehensive national health insurance, Sens. Russell Long, D-La. and Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., have urged adoption of a more limited catastrophic insurance bill, which they have already introduced this year.

White House and HEW officials during the next few weeks plan to discuss their various health insurance options with "all interested parties" on Capitol Hill before Carter decides exactly what plan to back.

But in the crunch, Carter is likely to be tempted to side more with the Long-Ribicoff approach than with Kennedy — or even Califano. As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Russell Long is sure to have the final crack at any health insurance program the administration proposes, even though Kennedy will be a force to reckon with.

Carter's political advisers would love to take away Kennedy's number-one issue by steering some kind of national health program through Congress before next year's primaries. If catastrophic insurance looks like the only proposal with a realistic chance of enactment, the betting here is that Carter will opt for it instead of a more sweeping package.

Try The Best Tranquilizer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm writing to ask if you can help me. My doctor of 30 years has been giving me Valium for the past eight years. I have taken it in good faith not knowing one could become addicted to it, thinking I could stop without any adverse effects. I take 5 milligrams in the morning and at night.

Last week I decided I would stop taking this drug. But after viewing a TV program, I was very upset with all the accounts that taking this drug will cause withdrawal symptoms and that a person could have convulsions and many unpleasant things happen. This worries me.

I cut the dosage in half and am now taking one half in the morning and one half at night. But I do feel a bit shaky and nervous.

I am very disappointed in my doctor for doing this to me. Also, if this drug is so dangerous, why in the name of heaven do doctors give it to us? I am very confused about this and I certainly do not want to continue taking Valium. What should I do? Many people, I am sure, would like to have your opinion on this matter so please answer.

DEAR READER — Let me say at the outset that I am not at all fond of people taking tranquilizers of any type. Even so, there are temporary situations when the temporary use of such agents is beneficial.

I don't like to use the word "addicting" because that involves definitions. I would prefer to say that a person who takes most tranquilizers over a long period of time can develop psychological and physiological dependency on such medicines. That includes Valium.

This is not particularly new to the medical profession since the entire barbiturate group has the same effect. Anyone who has been taking barbiturates for a long period of time in a reasonably large dosage may also have withdrawal symptoms.

A few decades ago some informed individuals knew that if they took large doses of barbiturates and stopped them that they could produce convulsions. This was used by some unscrupulous individuals to simulate epileptic attacks to avoid military service.

The proper way to get off most of these medicines is gradual withdrawal, which I see is what you are doing. It's the abrupt stopping of the medicine that leads to withdrawal reactions.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Feb. 2, the 33rd day of 1979. There are 332 days left in the year. This is Ground Hog Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1848, Mexico ceded a vast area, including what is now Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, to the United States for $15 million.

On this date: In 1535, the Argentine city of Buenos Aires was founded.

In 1635, New Amsterdam — now New York City — was incorporated by the Dutch.

In 1876, eight baseball teams banded together to form the National League.

In 1960, the French National Assembly gave President Charles de Gaulle power to rule by decree for one year to deal with the nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

In 1961, a hijacked Portuguese liner, Santa Maria, put in at Recife, Brazil, and landed 600 passengers.

In 1973, Pope Paul VI nominated 30 new Roman Catholic cardinals, including three Americans.

Ten years ago: Israel warned the Baghdad government that any more executions or other actions against Jews in Iraq would bring reprisals.

Five years ago: Communists outside Phnom Penh bombarded the Cambodian capital, and officials said 17 people were killed.

One year ago: Defense Secretary Harold Brown said the U.S. defense budget would have to increase by nearly $56 billion over the next five years to keep up with Soviet military outlays.

Today's birthdays: Violinist Jascha Heifetz is 78 years old. Actress Farrah Fawcett-Majors is 32.

Monday
Paul used the word "jangling," which Chaucer used many times some 13 centuries later. It is still a good, but seldom used, word meaning "to talk idly; to prate; to babble."
"From which some having overheard, have turned aside unto vain jangling." — I Tim. 1:6

Tuesday
"The law of the Medes and Persians" referred to the laws and decrees agreed by the council of princes and the king; these could not be changed by the king. The expression still means something that is unalterable and irrevocable.

The most famous vow (a solemn promise to God or other deity) was that of Jephthah; it cost him his daughter.
"Then shall it be that whatsoever cometh forth of the doors of my house to meet me ... shall surely be the Lord's and I will offer it for a burnt offering ... and behold his daughter came out to meet him ..." — Judges 11:31-39

LIVE YOUR LIFE AS YOU WOULD IN ITS LAST HOUR

We should always endeavor to do what is right,
With the rules of good conduct forever in sight;
For we're taught that the Bible will show us the light,
From the very first moment of birth.
But although we're determined to go the right way,
In the face of temptation it's easy to stray;
So the words in this message are meant to convey
Some advice, for whatever it's worth:
If you'll go to your Church, it will help you to see
That your words and your actions in every degree
Are conducted the way you would want them to be
In your very last hour on earth!
