The depression has its bright spots says a United Press report which quotes recent check-ups on big business corporations as proof.

"That's all wet," says, in effect, a Boise City farmer who accuses Old man Depression with exerting an undue influence upon the cows and household pets on his farm.

During the past week a calf and four kittens were born on the farm, a press report states. The calf had only one front leg while one of the kittens lacks one of having two rear legs. Both are living and appear to be normal otherwise.

Having laid the blame on the depression for the scarcity of legs, the farmer expressed himself as being apprehensive over future barnyard births until better times return.

"In a notice appearing last week, J. P. Beam, county health officer, warned persons found guilty of overturning outbuildings during Halloween would be prosecuted."—Northwest Oklahoman, Oct. 29.

Half a score of health officers would not have been too many in Darrouzett last Saturday night after Halloween pranksters had finished.

Girls at Barnard College, New York are doing their bit to relieve unemployment. A tax of a cent a meal for each girl was voted at the college this week.

The fund should contain close to $1,000 at the end of this month if 1,000 girls eat three meals a day for 30 days, stated the chairman. There were to be no technicalities under which the tax may be evaded. Meals to be taxed were both intra- and extra-mural with teas, sodas, and other extras to count as meals.

Blair Grubb, Mr. and Mrs. William Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henning, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. A. New Offering Envelopes Are Used By Local M. E. Church

New duplex offering envelopes are being used by the local Methodist Episcopal Church for the first time, according to Rev. A. Blair Grubb, pastor.

A compartment for salary and current expenses of the local church, and one for benevolent purposes in other than the local field are separated by perforations.

Boxes of envelopes for use by the church members each Sunday during the year were recently distributed at church services. In order to simplify the checking up on individual offerings and pledges made by church members, numbers on the envelopes correspond with names on the church roll, according to Reverend Grubb.

An unusual feature of the new system is the spiritual message or miniature sermon on the back of each envelope, Rev. Grubb said. A different message is given each week.

The envelope boxes are also very convenient in that a perforation in the flap enables the box to be hung on a nail in a convenient place as a reminder to its owner each Sunday.

Offerings in the compartments for local church maintenance will be in charge of A. H. Montgomery, church treasurer, and Mrs. George Russell, secretary. Offerings labeled "For Others" will be checked by Mrs. Henning, connectional steward.

Satisfaction over the response that church members have shown toward the new offering program was expressed by Reverend Grubb.

Wheat Prices Take Sudden Jump Recently

A decided jump in wheat prices has occurred during the past few days, according to local grain dealers on Wednesday.

Wheat sold for forty-six cents a bushel on Wednesday, an amount nearly double the lowest rate this summer. The forty-six cent rate was a two-cent gain over Saturday when the grain brought forty-four cents a bushel.

The sudden rise in price has resulted in a great deal of discussion as to the cause for the gain and the probable result.

County Teachers Attend Meeting

Teachers from the Booker, Higgins Lipscomb and Darrouzett schools are planning 100 per cent attendance at the meeting of the Texas State Teacher's Association at Amarillo during Thanksgiving, according to a check made at the meeting of the Lipscomb county superintendents of schools at Booker on Friday night.

No report was made from the Follett school since J. L. Hill, superintendent, was not present at the meeting. A motion was passed requesting each superintendent to write an article for his home town newspaper on the importance of the coming teachers' meeting.

Meeting Date Set

The group voted to make formal recommendations to the teachers, district and county trustees that teachers in the county be urged to attend the Amarillo meeting.

Girls from the Booker High School home economics classes served at the dinner which preceded the business meeting. L. H. Bond, Booker superintendent, was host.

The next meeting of the group will be held at Follett on Friday evening, December 4, with J. L. Hill, host.

Speaker Is Spoken

"New Standards for Teacher Training" was the topic of an address made at the meeting by Mr. Speer. The discussion was based on an article by Prof. E. S. Evenden of the Teachers' College at Columbia University, which appeared in a recent issue of the Journal of the National Educational Association.

Mr. Speer sketched briefly the important changes in standards for teachers during the past twenty years.

"During the past six years, teachers have received more pay than ever before," he stated. "A significant result of this condition is that the teacher shortage of the post-war period and of war days, has been turned into a surplus causing keen competition between the professionally prepared and unprepared."

Armistice Day School Program Features Junior Presentation

"Among The Crosses," a play to be presented by members of the Junior class of the local high school, will be the feature in the special Armistice Day program which will be given at 9:30 Tuesday morning, November 10, at the school auditorium, according to Miss Ruth Friend, Junior Sponsor, who will direct the program.

The setting for the play represents Flanders Field after the war. The story is woven about the appearance of the figure of Christ on the battle field as he comforts the people mourning at the graves just as he comforted the soldiers during the war.

The play which will be directed by Miss Friend is adapted from "One Minute Prayers," a collection by representative clergymen. Miss Friend has rewritten it for use by the local group.

Characters in the play are Woodrow Wilson, played by Lewis Woods; Mother, portrayed by Laura B. Allen; Sweathheart, Florella Woods; Comrade, Orval Chappell; Soldiers, Marion Carter and Harry Bellah; and a statue representing the Spirit of Christ, Fynell Walton.

Throughout the play Mary Helfenbein will play soft music on the violin. Programs will be given out by Ruth Fausset dressed as a Red Cross nurse, and Carl Hanschu, representing a soldier.

Other numbers on the program will be a piano solo by Mrs. A. Blair Grubb, "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by the audience, a prayer given by Reverend Grubb, a brief discussion of the World War by Leo Meier, and "In Flanders' Field," read by Eva Greenfield.

Everyone in the community is cordially invited to attend the services. Members of the Parent-Teacher's Association will be special guests since the meeting of that group usually held on Wednesday afternoon will be observed by attendance at the program.

Dudley Jett Funeral Is Held At Follett

Funeral services for Dudley Jett, 47, who committed suicide early Friday morning, were held from the Follett Methodist Episcopal Church at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

The body was discovered hanging in the barn on his property in the south part of Follett about six o'clock Friday morning by his brother-in-law, Clint Morris. It is thought that financial worries had caused him to be temporarily deranged. He had been known to be under a heavy mental strain caused by financial troubles for some time.

Officiating ministers were Rev. O. P. Blackwell of Laverne, Okla., Rev. R. H. Campbell of Selman, Okla., Rev. J. O. Himes, pastor of the Follett church and the Rev. Morris, Episcopalian rector from Woodward, Okla. Pallbearers were C. H. V. Earl, Cookman, C. A. Sperry, Cecil Black, Charles Larkey, and Mr. Booth. Interment was made in the Fairmont Cemetery near Follett.

Surviving relatives are his wife, and two sons, Wenton Wayne, age nine years, and a smaller boy, three years old; his mother, Mrs. Jett of Follett; three sisters, Mrs. M. M. Smith of Monte Vista, Colo., Mrs. Harry Davidson and Miss Katherine Jett, both of Springfield, Colo.; and three brothers Ben Jett of Laverne, Omla, James Jett, of Springfield, Colo., and his twin brother, Henderson Jett, of Follett.

Spearman Lynx Defeat Follett Panthers Friday

Spearman Lynx won the district football championship Friday afternoon when they defeated the Follett Panthers 7 to 6 on the Follett gridiron.

The game was reported an exciting one, especially during the last half when Follett missed several chances to score.

Since both Follett and Spearman had defeated Perryton 6 to 0 and neither team had been defeated before the game, the combat Friday was watched with interest by a number of spectators.

Revival Services Here To Continue

Revival services which opened at the Methodist Episcopal church on October 25 will continue during the coming week, according to an announcement made by Rev. A. Blair Grubb, pastor.

Various age groups which were started last week will be continued, Reverend Grubb said. A general prayer service for adults will be held at the parsonage at 10:30 each morning. Junior Leaguers will hold a prayer service at 4 o'clock each meeting at the parsonage, while the Epworth League has its meeting at seven each evening at the schoolhouse.

Men's Services Continue

Brief services for men will be held at 4 o'clock each afternoon at the Recreational Clubroom. The doors of the hall will continue to be unlocked shortly before the time set for the meeting and during the 15 or 20 minutes service.

Evening service will be held at 7:30 at the schoolhouse thruout the week.

Baker To Be Here

Dr. J. W. Baker, superintendent of Alva district, will attend the services on Monday night, November 9, to conduct the first quarterly conference in this conference year, Reverend Grubb announced. Rev. J. O. Himes, pastor of the Follett Methodist church, will deliver the message on that evening.

An illustrated message on the "Straight and Broad Ways" was given by Reverend Grubb for the special benefit of children at the service held Saturday evening. Representations of the two ways of travel thru life were shown in pastels.

School Heads Meet At Amarillo Monday

A meeting of the Panhandle Superintendents' Organization held at Amarillo at the Amarillo Hotel on Monday was attended by J. E. Speer, local superintendent, J. O. Baker of Higgins, and L. H. Bond of Booker.

Approximately fifty superintendents from various points in the Panhandle attended the meeting, according to Mr. Speer.

A dinner held at the Amarillo Hotel preceded the business meeting.

Manuscript By Confederate Prisoner Owned By Mrs. Rhoads

While flags are flying on Armistice Day and crowds are celebrating the anniversary of the cessation of fighting in the World War, memories of other wars still linger in the minds of some people.

Mrs. J. H. Rhoads, whose three brothers were Confederate soldiers in the Civil War, has in her possession a yellow, tattered and water-stained manuscript on which is pencilled verses written by her oldest brother, R. J. Martin, while he was confined at Alton Prison in Illinois as a prisoner of war.

The manuscript is especially prized since the brother who wrote it was never seen by his family after the war. After peace had been declared, the three brothers were in Louisiana preparing to go home. Although they were in different regiments, the brothers saw one another the night before the companies were to disband and the soldiers were to leave for home. The two younger brothers arrived home shortly afterwards, but the oldest brother was never heard of again.

The verses written by R. J. Martin in the Union Prison are given below:

The Escaped Prisoner
Come brethren and listen; a story I'll relate
What we have suffered for the cause of our noble state.
We have been driven from our homes,
For what you understand,

Winter Is Coming

Winter time is nearing. A great bit of difficulty has been experienced in the past winters in this community by the farmers leaving the water in the radiators of their tractors and in the radiators of the motors of their combines to freeze with the first cold snap. When you put your tractors and combines away for this winter, it would be well to drain the radiator of the machines and avoid a neat repair bill by so doing. Remember, winter is almost here; therefore, be sure to do this and avoid an unnecessary expense.

Clubs Help Agriculture

Probably the 4-H clubs will help agriculture more than any federal legislation will. These young folks from the farms are progressive and alert, and their interest and training will make for better citizenship as well as better agriculture, as they work on for the state's future development.

Health Clinics Planned

There will be five health clinics held in various points in the county, November 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21, for the purpose of a physical examination for children from birth to seven years, or any child that especially needs examination.

If you have a child that you wish examined, notify the Home Demonstration Agent Margie Cline to get an appointment.

Highway Fund Given

Apportionment of $123,565 from the quarter mill state tax levy for highway purposes in July, August and September to the 77 counties of the state was announced Tuesday by Ed McDonald, secretary of the highway commission.

Beaver county's share was $741.41.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Speer, and Miss Lula Winfough went to Boise City, Okla., and Mores, Texas, on Sunday. At Morse they visited J. B. Speer and Roy Beck.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charley McVicker and Miss Lillian Perkins were in Darrouzett on Monday.

Business Skies Are Brighter

A drive to secure bedding, clothing and other supplies for poor people thruout the winter is being made by the Community Chest sponsored by the Methodist Ladies' Aid Society.

Undoubtedly many people in the community have hanging in clothes closets or stored in boxes, many garments and other articles that they are not using and are not likely to use at all. If every family in town would take an inventory and give all unneeded garments and bedding to the Community Chest, a great deal would be accomplished toward making the less fortunate comfortable in the coming cold months.

Let us not be negligent about doing all the little things in our power to help those about us who might be in actual suffering if the community does not help them out this winter.

Community Chest To Aid Needy

"Business skies are brightening," says a report sent out by the Associated Press this week after a check upon conditions in all sections in the United States.

Improvement in the industrial and banking situation was revealed in every important area. Special encouragement for those living in agricultural sections was found in the sudden rise in wheat prices and the opinion expressed by Chicago experts that dollar wheat or better is yet in sight.

Better times were forecast by the National City Bank of New York on the basis of the return of public confidence in banking power and credit. The bank also stated that the liquidity of the country's larger banks, which possess about forty per cent of the nation's total banking resources, is such that they are enabled to extend valuable assistance to many smaller institutions.

THE COSTS

By Mildred J. Speer

BLOOD! BLOOD! BLOOD!
Oh, barrels of blood
That soaked into the soil:
Fresh, vigorous, young blood;
Fine, warm, generous blood
That soaked into the soil.

Bodies! Bodies! Bodies!
Millions of bodies;
Bodies that must face the world:
Bodies that are armless;
Bodies without any legs;
Bodies that must face the world.

Minds! Minds! Minds!
Legions of minds;
Minds that are ill unto death:
Minds that can't remember;
Minds that cannot forget;
Minds that are ill unto death.

Hearts! Hearts! Hearts!
Tired, broken hearts,
And all remembering hearts:
Rearts that time cannot heal;
Hearts without companionship;
And all remembering hearts.

War! War! War!
War that saps nations;
Oh, and every war;
War that makes life bitter;
Makes orphans and widows;
Oh, any and every war.

WAR

By Mildred J. Speer

ONCE THEY TOLD ME in a fairy tale
Of a cruel monster with seven heads;
With breath from seven mouths that scorched
People who heedlessly came in reach;
With glaring evil eyes that never slept,
But watched always for any slight chance
To destroy one who passed nearby.
Then they told me of a brave hero,
Dressed in shining armor, with sword
Of gleaming gold, that rode a fiery
Steed; a hero who came and bravely
Dealt death to this hideous monster.

But I found this fairy tale too true:
I saw the demon's heads and knew them
To be hate, lust, blood, fear, death, hunger
And disease; its foul breath burned and
Blinded helpless suffering people;
Its eyes fell first on the mature the Backbone of progressing nations, and
Then on that nation's youth, its future.
I even saw Love, the hero, who Stood able to slay this devil, but Humanity chained Love within their Hearts; sadly he waits, and War lives on.

The typewriting class finds it a hard matter to quit the old "Hunt, peek, and cuss system" and adopt the method taught.

A D. H. S. Transfer Co., Inc., consisting of six high school boys and a truck, was organized on Monday morning for the purpose of clearing off the school yard which the Halod eeners had decorated with articles too numerous to mention.

Our opening day prices were "a coke a customer," but thereafter the rates will not be so reasonable.

To avoid working with cold wrenches later on, the science class has been overhauling some of the stray cats in town now. One evening when returning home from school, a member of the class saw a big yellow tom cat, with a front axle bent, asleep by the side of the road. As this student dashed at the cat, the animal made a quick attempt to take off. While shifting from low to second, he stripped the gears. The science class has about decided it will be necessary to order repairs from Sears, Roebuck and Co.

The Darrouzett Longhorn girls are playing a tournament between the first and second teams.

The forwards are shooting twenty-five free goals per day. Graph records are kept of the ones made.

All the girls are taking exercises to develop certain weak parts of their bodies and to harden us to the rough treatment we expect to receive. Records are kept of the loss and gain of our weight. We expect to be a very good team with lots of practice and hard work.

It is not certain that we will play a matched game Friday, November 6. The announcement will be made later. —E.G.

In General Science, Tuesday, Nov. 3, the Freshman made the experiment on bouyancy. They proved that compressed air and water will not mix. They placed a celluloid doll in a jar of water with a rubber cover over the top. When a pressure was applied to the rubber cover the doll went to the bottom of the jar. When the pressure was removed the doll rose to the top of the jar. This phenomenon was due to the compression of the air within the jar. O.M.C.

The school will observe Armistice Day, Nov. 11, as a holiday, according to J. E. Speer, superintendent.

Mr. Speer wishes to extend an invitation to all patrons and people of the community to attend the school assembly which is held every Thursday morning at 9:30.

Sunday morning everyone in Darrouzett awoke to find that the usual Halloween boys had tried themselves the night before. People's property had been moved into Main street or across town. Primary Room Notes

By MRS. J. E. SPEER

The primary room had a Halloween party on the creek back of the school house Friday afternoon. Every one from the room was present and a number of visitors came. Games were played and prizes given to the ones who excelled in the games. Apples and pop corn balls were served around a big fire. Each child was given a sucker doll, dressed as a ghost, for a favor.

The primary group is studying about Armistice day, and what it means, especially to children. An American flag has been drawn on the board, and each child is to make and color a flag during busy period.

The third and fourth grades presented the Primary room with a mounted picture of an oil field; a gusher was in the picture, and was very interesting to the group.

Mrs. Hennigh came into the Primary room on Friday and told the room about the relation of the sun, the earth, the moon, and some of the planets. She had secured examples from the science room, and used these to illustrate her talk. Some of the students are still unable to understand why we stay on the earth when it turns over.

The first and second grades made some very attractive lamp shades during busy period last week. These shades were lined with colored paper, and are very pretty used in a child's room.

The first and second grades are preparing an assembly program for Thursday morning; ten of the students in the room have never been before an audience before, but are, nevertheless, looking forward to it with pleasure.

Mr. Stranske visited the primary room on Thursday morning; a number of small children visited the room on Friday.

A border of small turkeys has been placed on the blackboard, and all students have agreed to wait until after Armistice to begin preparing for Thanksgiving.

Third, Fourth Grades Activities

Loren Fausset is health inspector for the fourth grade this week, and Claudia Hamilton is inspector for the third grade.

Tuesday evening a flag was drawn on the board with colored chalk. This flag will be used in opening exercises and especially on November 10 which will be the last day of school before Armistice day.

The third and fourth grade boys are building a bird cage for the bull bat brought to school by Dean Terrel, and for the squab brought to school by Charlie Hennigh. Some of the high school boys are assisting in this work.

Loyd Mosley is dinner pail monitor this week.

Roy Helfenbin was absent from school Tuesday on account of sickness; and Claudia Hamilton, who was thrown from a horse, was absent Monday.

Halloween decorations are being taken down from the walls, windows, and blackboards. Thanksgiving decorations and posters are being made.

Mr. E. J. Stranske was a welcomed visitor to the third and fourth grade room Thursday morning.

Jewell Fiskin, Daisy Painter, and Lowell Hennigh are making a large Thanksgiving poster. Each month a large poster will be made by a group of three students who will be entirely responsible for the success of the poster.

Fifth, Sixth Grade Notes

By MRS. RUTH WRIGHT

Mr. Stranske visited our room for a few minutes before chapel Thursday.

For opening exercises Thursday morning we went into Mrs. Hennigh's room to see their petroleum project which they had worked out on their sand table. This was very helpful to us in understanding the nature of an oil field.

Current events were given in Texas History class Monday afternoon.

The bird books which we have been making in citizenship class were completed and are now on exhibit in our room. The book of Teresa Frass was voted the best.

The fifth grade geography class made farming a bit more real by drawing a typical farm of the North Central States. The dwelling, barns, fields, orchards, silos, pig pens, wind-mills and water systems were located on the drawing.

The Reo-Royale, with Wilma Lash as captain, won the spelling race in the sixth and seventh grade. For each hundred made, the car advanced one mile and received one blue dot. The pupils are anxious to begin another race, hoping that next time the losing side may be victorious.

George Kammerer was absent from school Friday and Monday.

Teresa Frass was winner in the Fifth grade spelling race across the U. S. Marie Bellah and Teresa were running close until the last hundred miles, when Teresa forged ahead and drove into San Francisco to be declared winner.

"The Courtship of Miles Standish" is being read to the fifth grade history class. We find this very interesting and can hardly wait from one class period to another.

Posters for clean teeth were made in health class Thursday and Friday.

"Good English Club" met on Thursday afternoon with all members present. The president was in charge of the meeting. The minutes were read and approved, Roy Phillips read the list of oral English errors made during the week, and each pupil was allowed to correct his mistake. Then we all enjoyed a game called "What did you see?" This game was meant to drill on the verb "saw", but proved to be a test for the memory as well.

Naomi Rush brought a sweet potato plant to school. The plant is growing and we hope it will continue to thrive throughout the winter.

Emma Littau, a former student of this school, visited our room Monday morning.

The sixth grade pupils are very interested in learning to check their addition problems by casting out nines.

Jennie Woods and Marie Bellah washed our blackboards and dusted the erasers Monday evening after school.

Confederate Poem

To protect our lives and property from a disgraceful hand. We have stood the shower of shot and shell upon the open field, Determined to drive the invader back; ah! rather die than yield! We had as brave a colonel as ever took command; He said: 'Boys, we'll clean them this time, so each one pick his man.'

Our colonel's name was Kelley, and from St. Louis he came, He'd led us on to battle to glory and to fame, And he will lead us back again, and we'll drive them from our land. Our wives have been insulted by this abolition hand.

We started with our colonel the 15 of December, But only marched two days and by Robertson were surrendered. We all were put in prison where they took away our joys; In a place formerly used for convicts in the state of Illinois.

fit to education, Mr. Speer believes. 'First, to systematize effort on the part of the teachers to educate the public school patrons to select the best trained teachers from the available candidates; and second, to raise standards for all entering teachers and thereby make teaching less of a trade and more of a profession.' 'As teachers we cannot escape our professional obligation to our professional standards, and we should watch the new experiments in the field of education and make studies for our own benefit,' Mr. Speer concluded.
