PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By E. M.

While campaigns against those pests, the grasshopper and fly families, are all very well—something else that needs attention badly is the wasp situation.

Wasp around the News office are becoming so bold that the editor would not be surprised to find a nest in the typewriter or the furniture daubed with mud most any morning. So far the only calamities that have occurred are the sudden and undignified desertion of the News staff to the tune of sinister buzzes from the window. Even crusading editorials have been hastily discontinued in the middle under enemy invasion. Oh, yes, and two brooms have almost been worn out from frantic bumping at the intruders. True, the regular sweeping out of the office every two weeks on Monday morning might have something to do with the broom condition.

It's a strange observation that the sight of a wasp or the sound of the accompanying buzz produces almost the same shivery sensation that the taste of lemon juice does. Physiologists of either Freudian or Watsonian variety would probably label it an abnormal "wasp-plexia." Anyway, normal or abnormal, I would just about as soon find a tiger under the bed as a wasp in the office.

The following contribution on Overproduction was handed in by Mr. J. H. Rhoads:

Too much wheat and too much corn, Too many years since I was born, Too much cotton and too much oil, Too many hours that I don't toil, Too many highways and too many cars, Too many people behind the bars, Too much poverty and too much wealth, Too many people who have poor health, Too many installments and too much booze, Too many failing to pay their dues, Too many poets and too much prose, Too many holes in my old clothes, Too many reformers and too much law, The darndest mess I ever saw."

After the youngest News reporter who is also the recipe editor, had been left to hold down the office for a whole morning, the following reminiscing thoughts were found under the typewriter. Here they are for what they're worth:

"I got the portable goin'. Yeh, I brot it down to the office today. The boss is gone to Lipscomb and the starless reporter went to Perryton—yeh, taking her daily vacation— So I'm holdin' down the office like I was really the boss. Not working any, ya know, just like the boss does. Course I got my feet elevated. Like anyone with a desk does.

"Oh, 'scuse me I gotta change that needle—

"I'm playin' 'Little White Lies, 'Propriate, ain't it? I try but there's no forgettin'—

"Boy, there's the best lookin' sport model down the street. Wonder who's?????

"I've got a good position. One stretch to the right—the sport model, a long lean to the right—main street, and the portable right under my nose.

"There's ——— with that little guy taggin' along behind still. Wonder who and why he does.

"——— A visitor just took me for the editor. Ha-ha-ha! I didn't let on but what I was either—

"The boss didn't leave me any work. Gosh, am I getting sleepy, whew!— It's 10 til three and I'm hungry for a coke—Guess I'll depart for the drug store. What, no money? What am I gonna do?"

Hard Shower Falls Wednesday While Sun Shines

Rain literally fell in sheets while the sun was shining brightly Wednesday afternoon at about six o'clock. With a rainbow in the east the down-pour continued for perhaps fifteen minutes.

Water stood on the streets for a short time since rainfall was too hard to permit it to run off.

The rain was a grateful relief after a hot, windy and dusty day.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phebus were visitors of Mr. Phebus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Phebus at Perryton on Sunday.

A net profit of $14.95 per cow above feed cost has been cleared during the past three months, by Mrs. L. M. Coles who lives south of Higgins, according to W. K. Cottingham, county agent. Mrs. Coles believes that by producing all the necessary feed on her own farm an even greater profit per cow will be shown at the end of the year.

With two crops already cut and at least one more to be harvested before the season is over, Mrs. Coles has a good supply of good quality alfalfa hay on hand for feeding purposes. She expects to seed more land to alfalfa from year to year. Mrs. Coles has been keeping a record on her cows since April 1, according to the county agent.

Beaver Herald-Democrat Begins Forty-Fifth Publication Year

Some time in July, 1887, the Herald Democrat was begun as the Territorial Advocate by two men named Estes and Eldridge. It was unique in that it was subject to the laws of no state or nation. Beaver was located in the Panhandle part of Indian Territory, which before 1890 was known as "No-Man's-Land."

In 1895, new owners of the Advocate changed the name to the Beaver Herald. Miss Maude O. Thomas purchased it in 1902 and it became a strictly Republican organ. The Beaver Democrat was established in 1906, and in 1923 the present Herald-Demo-

Capitol Hill Chickens Get Fatter; Hoppers Fewer

Chickens at Capitol Hill are co-operating with the fight against grasshoppers in this section of the country.

While dust is being removed from car windshields at the service station grasshoppers are removed from the radiator front by the chickens that hop upon the front bumpers whenever a car stops.

Grasshoppers in the Capitol Hill neighborhood are reported to be getting fewer and fewer while the chickens become fatter and fatter.

The chickens which belong to C. H. Baldwin are of a Cornish game variety—a breed not very common in this vicinity.

To Swat Or Not To Swat

After an investigation of disease-carrying insects, health authorities have found that the fly is the worst of all germ carriers. Screens and fly-swatters are now backed up by chemical fly sprays which cost but a few cents and which are to be had at any drug store. At this season of the year care should be taken in order to prevent flies from laying still another quantity of eggs from which flies will be hatched for months to come.
 Keeping the swatter and the spray going is the greatest protection at this time against disease.

Would Destruction Mean Prosperity?

With cotton at 7 cents a pound, the lowest price in the last 25 years, the Federal Farm Board has made a proposal to the governors of 14 cotton-producing states that they "induce immediate plowing under of every third row of cotton now growing." Over half of the governors rejected that plan instantly.
 Economists call the proposal "criminal" and declare that the way out is not to destroy the supply, but to restore demand. The present crisis is the result, not of general overproduction, but ultimately of an unbalanced production, and more immediately of a collapse in demand, a collapse in purchasing power, and a collapse in the method of distribution.

About Safeguarding Pupils' Health

With the beginning of the fall school term only 10 days off, parents will find this a good time to check up on their children's health in order to be positive that they are in a fit physical condition to carry on satisfactory school work.
 Last spring the local Parent-Teacher's Association made it possible for pre-school children and many already enrolled in school to have physical examinations. Defects that were found have been recorded by that organization for reference by parents.
 It is the wise parent that will see that his child's physical defects are corrected at once. A child who suffers from poor eyesight, bad hearing, diseased tonsils and adenoids, malnutrition, or incorrect posture is not only handicapped in school work, but he faces serious impairment of health and possibly early death if he does not receive needed attention early in life.

There is but one way to prepare for and assure yourself protection from a rainy period in your financial affairs and that is to start today saving regularly a part of your income. Let us explain our plans.

THE MISSION TO CYPRUS

GOLDEN TEXT—Acts 12:25-13:12.
LESSON TEXT—For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Starts on a Great Trip.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Begins an Adventurous Journey.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Missionary Adventures in Cyprus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity at Court.

I. Barnabas and Saul Return from Jerusalem (12:25).

The Christians at Jerusalem were in need because of a famine which had come upon the world. When news of this reached the believers at Antioch, they were moved with sympathy for them, and relief was sent at the hand of Barnabas and Saul. On their return from this ministry, they were accompanied by John Mark.

II. Gifts of the Church at Antioch (v. 1).

Young as was this new religious center, it had prophets and teachers. Such are essential to right church life. In Ephesians 4: 8-12 is enumerated the gifts which when Christ ascended on high he gave to men for the perfecting of the saints unto the work of the ministry. Gifts in the Church are not for the Church itself, but to enable it to perform service for others.

III. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2, 3).

This marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the Church.

1. The occasion (v. 2). While the five prophets and teachers were fasting and praying, the Holy Spirit commanded them to send forth Barnabas and Saul. The work of evangelizing the world was laid so heavily upon these men that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of God in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that has God's approval. The missionary enterprise is the index to the spirituality of a church. The emptiness of missionary treasuries and the falling off of missionary candidates reveal the unspirituality of the home base.

2. The divine command (v. 2). The Holy Ghost said, "Separate me Barnabas and Saul." The real call to Christian service comes from the Holy Spirit. The Spirit called, the Church responded by sending out those called by him. Spirit-filled Christians know the voice of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit called, and the best men which the Church at Antioch had were sent out.

3. The obedience (v. 3). After fasting and prayer, Barnabas and Saul were sent out. The men were ready to go.

4. Instant obedience was rendered. Those who have received the Spirit's call are not taken by surprise when they are commissioned by the Church. There should be no holding back on the part of the Church, nor of the workers when the Spirit calls. By the workers when the Spirit calls.

IV. Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4, 5).

We are not told as to why they first went to Cyprus, but we are left to infer that it was owing to the fact that Cyprus was the home of Barnabas. He was acquainted with the country and the people and could be thus assured of a respectable hearing among them. Besides, it was most natural that those who had heard the good news go first with it to their kindred and friends. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was denied the pleasure of following Jesus in order that he might go and tell his kindred. As they went forth they carefully carried out their commission, for they preached the Word of God. Those who are faithful to God will preach nothing but his Word. The great need today is Spirit-called and Spirit-filled men preaching God's Word.

V. Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of God's Word. Elymas maliciously sought to turn his mind from the faith. He sought to bar the gospel as it entered upon its mission of converting the heathen. Paul came to the front and denounced Elymas in the most scathing terms. He called him the child of the Devil, denouncing him as full of guile and villainy, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, and accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord. Surely a man is never more a villain than when he tries to turn a soul from God.

God Does Not Forsake Thee

Suppose that all men forsake or forget thee; God does not. His eye sees thee, his heart feels for thee, and his hand is able to deliver thee. Thou art not friendless, nor wilt thou be till the God of all consolation dies.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

The Resurrection-Life

It is the resurrection-life that is the truest as well as the highest form of life; the surest as well as the most glorious immortality; it admits of no reversal and no decay.—H. Bonar.

Did Christ abolish the Law of Tithe?

Ask yourself that question. Can you imagine Christ abolishing a fundamental law or a fundamental principle? His coming abolished a long list of sacrificial and ritual laws, all of which had their fulfillment in him, but all moral laws, as you know, are eternal.

A Mild Catechism

What classes or groups in America are interested in a bigger drink bill? Are they not those people in the brewery or whiskey business who seek gain and gain alone?

Are any big factories, or railroads or banks or mines, or stores disposed to relax their rules concerning the use of liquor by employees, either on or off duty?

Who is buying the costly bootleg liquor? Is it the men who drive cars, or the men who own them?

Do the existence of smugglers and the practice of smuggling constitute a reason for the repealing of the custom laws?

Chicago used to have one saloon for every three hundred men, women and children in its population. Has it as many bootleggers as it used to have saloons?

Has any critic of our present laws offered any new, positive, constructive plan for the regulation of the liquor business, or any plan that has succeeded anywhere?

What chance would a drunken baseball team have in the pennant race?

Mr. and Mrs. Julien Fleming and son, Bobby, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Haines on Friday. Mrs. Goldie Sumner who has been visiting at the Fleming home accompanied them to Darrouzett.

THIS PANHANDLE FARMER IS GOING TO GET WELL

The following story from a nearby exchange concerns a farmer who refuses to let the low price of farm products get him down. What he is doing other wheat growers can do.

"We hear quite a few of our friends and customers who are despondent over wheat conditions lamenting over the fact that they must have help or they cannot get through the winter without suffering. One of our good customers, and incidentally, one of the most aggressive in the country, told me quite a different tale.

"Early the other morning this man started out to see if he could trade for a calf to fatten for winter meat. He found just the animal he wanted and succeeded in trading wheat for it. On his return trip he traded wheat for barley. He could feed this barley to his cows to a better advantage than he could the wheat. In the afternoon he loaded up with wheat and went to the elevator where he offered to trade wheat for coal on a pound for pound basis. He realized thirty-three and a third cents for his wheat on this deal, whereas he would have received only twenty-one cents cash.

"This man, a born optimist and hard worker, overcame in one day what his less aggressive neighbor will not accomplish in a year of lamenting and fretting."—Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton.

Stamps Will Stick To Cellophane

Since the new cigarette tax stamp law has gone into effect there has been much controversy about what should be done to stick the stamps on the cellophane wrapped packages. The answer to the question is water glass.

Some parties have been opening the cellophane and putting the stamps on the package, but the cigarette company does not approve of this, so many have been uneasy about what to do.

A preparation which can be obtained at any drug store and called "Water Glass" will stick the stamps to the cellophane. Just take this preparation and moisten the back of the stamps or the piece on the package where you want to stick the stamps and you will find that they stick readily.—Booker News.

The Livestock Situation

Los Angeles, August 20th—In the face of world depression and reduced buying power because of unemployment in all parts of the United States, production of lambs has shown a huge increase during the past three years, the 1931 lamb crop being 8 per cent larger than in 1930, an increase of 2,300,000 head, according to a Department of Agriculture statement. As compared with 1929, the increase is approximately 5,047,000 head. The meat trade has had a tremendous task in marketing this huge crop through retail channels, even at sharp price reductions, and the producers faced with poor feed and water conditions in most of the western states, have suffered intensely from over-production and low markets.

However, lamb prices have held up better than could reasonably have been expected. Top lambs are selling at Los Angeles at $6.50 to $7.00 a cwt as compared to $8.00 and $9.00 at the close of July, a year ago. The trouble has been, on the producers side, that only a small portion of the lamb crop Ruth Owen) were visiting here the first of the week before going to their home in Spearman.

Mrs. M. E. Hill and children of Spearman were visiting at the N. H. Rogers home last week.

fattened, and therefore only a small proportion of the lamb crop realized the top prices mentioned, with the balance in thin and half-fat condition, selling at only $3.50 to $6.00 a cwt., according to quality.

Those who are financing sheepmen are suffering too. Many banks have loans upward to $6.00 a head and even higher on breeding ewes, and forced sale of these ewes would have to be made at not more than 25 per cent of the loans, and for slaughter purposes, there are comparatively few breeding ewes which would realize more than $1.00 a head on the ranch. Financial interests are faced with taking tremendous losses, or else further loaning sheep owners expense money to care for breeding and carrying another lamb crop. The latter course seems to be favored and all indications are that California, at least, as many breeding ewes will drop lambs for 1932 markets as last season.

California has lost first place in lamb production, which it held in 1929, to Montana. The latter state is estimated to have produced 2,859,000 lambs in 1931, as compared to 2,320,000 in 1929. Texas comes second with 1931 production of 2,764,000 lambs, as compared to 2,168,000 in 1929. California's 1931 production of lambs was 2,725,000 against 2,395,000 in 1929. Other leading sheep states in order are Wyoming with 2,418,000; Oregon, 1,931,000 head; Idaho, 1,503,000 head; Utah, 1,577,000; New Mexico, 1,414,000.

Pacific Coast markets have been drawing largely upon California and Oregon for lambs up until this time, but during the next 90 days most of the fat lambs will come from Utah and Idaho. Faced with a big percentage of thin lambs, many lambs must go into feed lots for sufficient finish to find their way into retail channels.

THE VERY TRAGIC ENDING OF THE MAN NAMED WHEAT

Mrs. Bread Wheat died at the family residence, known as "the pit" after a lingering illness attributed to over-exposure in Washington to a dreaded disease fatal to business, known as Hoover's farm relief.

Mr. Wheat was born in the year of Joseph. "B. C." survived the panics and depressions of all ages only to be stricken down in the year of '30'; lived an honorable upright life before God and man, serving with unflinching zeal, faith and confidence the human race more than 6,000 years, without regard to race, creed or color. A friend and faithful servant in war as in peace, the farmers' best friend, he stood for upright, honorable, sound logical and reasonable business methods. A devout believer and exponent free and unrestricted commerce between the nations and individuals, based upon intelligent thinking and honorable practices.

Mr. Wheat is survived by three grandsons, Doubt, Guess and Gamble, a legally adopted stepson, Hoover's Farm Board, who was constantly at his bedside during the last days and is now sitting up with the corpse; two daughter-in-laws survive him, who were with him constantly when he was exposed to the dreaded and fatal business disease known as Hoover's Farm Relief, also called Stabilization—Mrs. Broken Down Crops and Mrs. Peanut Politician.

The death of the honorable character is a distinct loss to the economical world, he being one of its most faithful and responsible servants.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Alexander Legge and the body will lie in state for public inspection between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. each business day until the remains can be smelted as far east as Washington.

Burial—if any—will be in the campaign of 1932, and the honorary pallbearers will be selected by the present Farm Board.

By request—no flowers—donate the proceeds to the relief of some worthy farmer, the most of whom have been relieved of everything in God's great garden except his taxes and right of free air.—From the Webster, Nebraska, Journal.
