Personally Speaking

By E. M.

For short, shorter and shortest verse, the following bit (yes, it's clipped) is nominated for the palm leaf fan:

Mosquito

"It
Lit
Bit
Flit."

Notice the brevity of the selection—not a superfluous word in the entire four lines. It even beats silent Cal of the "I do not choose to run" fame. Also observe the action and the force it contains—especially the third line down. I'll wager that could arouse emotion in even the most emotionless individual. Ain't poetry wonderful?

The fight is on—vacation is over for 111 Darrouzett school children for school days are here again.

That many pairs of feet—bare-footed, stub-toed, sport shoeed, high-heeled and otherwise—were turned toward the school house bright and early Monday morning. The excitement of seeing, "who's my teacher and how we'll like her," outlasted the morning opening exercises and the tiring monotony of issuing books, checking grade book and book cards and other essential evils.

If the famous scientist, Robert A. Millikan, is right in his belief that could power contained in the atoms in three teaspoons of salt water be unlocked, the energy released would suffice to—what is it anyhow, sink a battleship—don't say I didn't warn you if a sudden explosion takes place on the north end of main street. For I ask you, ladies and gentlemen, or solitary reader if there be but one, what are the molecules in three teaspoons of salt water as compared with the wim, wigor and witality contained in 111 Darrouzett school kids?

It's queer what a low-down feeling it can give a would-be rider to swing one foot into the stirrup, grab for the saddle horn and then, by some miracle or other, land in a horizontal position on the elbow instead of in the saddle.

It's strange too how forced landings like that can loosen up and exercise one's vocabulary.

It's also odd how such experiences make one wonder on the strange and indefinite psychology of horses in general and a certain mount in particular. For one thing, it's funny how homesick horses do get. A horse may crawl along like a snail going to a funeral—but just let his nose get pointed toward the home stables and the feed bag and watch the dust fly (if you have time or inclination to do anything but pull leather!)

Somehow I've never been able to dope out the workings of the equine mind. One sad time, gentle reader, when I was intending to turn an ordinary corner, my horse made a U-turn (leading home) and we nearly went opposite directions. Some minutes later, when my heart had ceased turning flip-flops, we managed to get together on the situation.

Then there was the time my horse ran away with me. Never before in my life had the ground seemed so far below. And never before had I ever been quite so glad to get my boots on terra firma. Verily, I agree with the old farmer after his first airplane ride—the more firma, the less terra.

Besides adding to my vocabulary, riding has helped me to get better understanding of history. I never could understand just why so many frontiersmen used to die with their boots on until I began riding. But now I know that I know what I know. They passed out trying to get 'em off. If you don't believe it, just try getting my boots off without the aid of half the family and a boot jack! (That, incidentally, also increases the vocabulary as it removes hide from the instep.)

In spite of those varied experiences with riding, I'm not 'agin it' as was the man when asked about the law of gravity. Even considering all the ups and downs, mostly downs, I'm for it—99 44-100 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennigh and Lowell, Marguerite, and Jeanne, and Miss Coeta Terrel returned from Malgora, New Mexico, Saturday evening. Mr. Hennigh's brother, L. E. Hennigh, Mrs. Hennigh and children of Malgora returned with them. They will visit relatives here and at Follett.

Tech Ex-Students Honor President

Banquet Is Held At Perryton On Friday

Honoring Dr. P. W. Horn of the Texas Technological College at Lubbock, the Tech Ex-Student Alumnae Association gave a banquet at the Perryton Hotel on Friday evening.

Other guests of honor were J. E. Speer, local superintendent of schools, and W. B. Irvin, Perryton superintendent.

Over fifty former students of the college attended the gathering. W. B. LaMaster of Perryton served as toastmaster. A welcome was extended the group by D. D. Shanks, Perryton mayor. Talks were made by Mr. Speer, President Horn, Mr. Irvin and Jay Timmons, president of the organization and one of its founders.

Horn Is Speaker

"The father of the democratic spirit existing at Tech," was the tribute paid President Horn by Mr. Timmons.

In his talk, President Horn told of the new improvements being made at the college. He mentioned the recent paving of College Avenue, the new heating plant, the new military unit, the 292 graduates for the past year, and the recent coaching school held at Tech which with an enrollment of 300 holds the record as the largest held in the United States.

Technology stressed by the school was defined by the educator as the "application of the arts and sciences to industry." President Horn believes that by pinning faith in industry and instructing students in science, aid may be had to drive away the economic depression.

Students Welcome

The college head extended a welcome to all students who might come to the college.

Mr. Timmons urged out-of-town former Tech students to form clubs to lend their influence to the up-building of the college.

Mr. Speer touched on the traditions of the college and the help they might receive from the former student associations. He urged co-operation in the building of school traditions.

Those who attended the banquet from this county were Mr. and Mrs. Speer, Miss Ruth Friend, Fred Mullings, and Ben Lawrence.

Miss Ruby Messner Becomes League Head

Miss Ruby Messner was elected president of the Methodist Epworth League on Sunday night. She will succeed Lee Carter who has served as the first presiding officer of the local league.

Other officers elected were: Miss Laura B. Allen, first vice president (program chairman); Miss Doris Montgomery, second vice president, who will have charge of mission study; Miss Florella Woods, third vice president, in charge of devotions; and Glenn Hennigh, fourth vice president, recreational leader.

Miss Coeta Terrel was re-elected secretary-treasurer. She will also again serve as pianist. Song leaders will be Misses Laura B. Allen and Ruby Meessner.

Story of 'Little Black Sambo' Thrills Primary Youngsters

"And the big yellow tiger wearing little black Sambo's red coat marched proudly away saying to himself, 'Now I am the grandest tiger in the jungle.'"

Twenty-one little tots in the primary room taught by Mrs. J. E. Speer leaned forward in their seats, eagerly waiting to hear more about little Black Sambo and his adventures in the wild jungles. Every now and then they would burst into ecstatic giggles and titters of laughter in their excitement at brightly colored pictures illustrating the story they were being told.

However more advanced pupils may claim to consider school days youngsters in the primary classes are finding school a glorious adventure. And a visit to that department makes even a grown up wish to start all over.

A doll house made and furnished by last year's classes is enough to thrill the soul of any normal little girl. It is complete with beds, dressers, and even tiny rugs hand-braided and sewed together by the pupils. Mrs. Speer's plans for the pupils this year include the making of a log cabin and other miniature houses.

A race between the red and blue horses representing the first and second grades, respectively, stimulates interest in good conduct. Even the "wiggliest" little rascal sobers down when his classmates wilt him with a look for getting their side a demerit. No wonder, for the winners at the end of the first six weeks are to be given a picnic or party.

Nature study is to be conducted by field trips. Leaves collected outdoors will be drawn, colored and used in designs and in their natural state to decorate the room. With pictures in colored chalk of brightly colored balloons and a little boy fishing drawn on the back-board, bird designs in the window, and houseplants on the table, the room is already attractive place to work.

A sand-table is another place where the youngsters never tire of moulding damp sand into castles, animals, and whatever form happens to suit their fancy.

An A, B, C, book to be made by the second grade will include, no doubt, pictures of Angels and Apples, of Bears and Books, Cats and Cookies and so on down to Zbras.

Is it any marvel that a visit to the primary room makes one wonder why he had to grow up? If you disagree, try it sometime and see for yourself.

Five New Members Join Local P.-T.-A.

Five new members joined the local Parent-Teachers' Association at the first meeting of the group held on Wednesday afternoon at the school building, according to Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president.

They are: Mrs. Frank Balch, Mrs. Ruth Wright, Mrs. Ray T. Hennigh, Miss Elsie Montgomery and Fred Mullings.

In the welcoming address given by Mrs. Montgomery, the seven objectives of the association which were formulated by the National Educational Association were outlined as a permanent program. These include: health, worthy home membership, command of fundamental processes, choice of vocations, citizenship, worthy use of leisure time, and ethical character.

Problems of the Parent-Teachers' Association were discussed by J. E. Speer, superintendent of schools. Suggestions as to how the organization could directly aid the school were made.

A motion was made and passed that the association buy certain grade school materials necessary to the proper carrying on of school work for grade school children whose parents were financially unable to buy them.

The group also decided to pay the subscriptions of two magazines, The Texas Parent-Teacher and the Child Welfare Magazine, for officers in the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Woods spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Daily.

Teachers To Be Honor Guests At Reception

Jenkins, president of the school board; reading by Miss Friend; male quartet by J. T. Mosley, H. D. Lash, Roy Phebus, and C. H. Powell; talk by Fred Hennigh; "Moonlight on the River Colorado," sung by Mrs. J. T. Mosley, Mrs. Roy Phebus, and Mrs. D. R. Rush; and a reading by Mrs. J. E. Speer.

County League Picks Officery From Schools

J. O. BAKER IS HEAD

Track Meet To Be Held In Spring At Follett

J. O. Baker, superintendent of the Higgins schools, was elected director-general of the Lipscomb county Inter-scholastic League Association at the meeting held at the county teacher's Institute held at Follett last Thursday and Friday.

Follett was designated as the location for the annual spring track meet.

J. L. Hill, Follett superintendent, was elected athletic director. Other officials were: Miss Lottie Hennigh, Higgins, director of debate; Mrs. W. L. Owen, Booker, declamation director; Mrs. W. H. Sewell Follett, supervisor of the extemporaneous speaking contests; Mrs. J. E. Speer, Darrouzett, spelling director; Miss Mary Wood Lipscomb, essay supervisor; and Mrs. Ray T. Hennigh, Darrouzett, director of music memory.

Officers Advised

Other officials who do not have a vote in the League but who will have important offices in the track meet work are: L. H. Bond, Booker superintendent, volley ball supervisor; O. O. Miller, Booker, director of arithmetic; J. E. Speer, Darrouzett superintendent; tennis; Ben Lawrence, Lipscomb superintendent, ground ball; Miss Twila Bartley, Follett, picture memory; and W. K. Compton, Higgins, choral work.

Officials were urged to secure copies of regulations in their division immediately in order to be able to furnish information to students and others asking for it.

Horn Is Speaker

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College at Lubbock, was the main speaker at the institute. He addressed the teachers several times on both days they met, and he spoke to the community on Thursday evening at the high school auditorium.

His wide interest in public school affairs was shown in his voluntary enrollment in the institute of the county.

In one of his talks, Doctor Horn stated that he considered the elementary school problem the most important one in education today. "The best teaching in the country is being done in the first grade, the next best in the second grade, and the poorest in our high schools and colleges," he continued.

Classes Are Ideal

"Altho he may add to his education and learn more the person who properly completes the elementary school will never find anything finer or better," Doctor Horn declared. "He has a mastery of the tool subjects necessary for life, if he gets them thoroughly and well."

The whole system of grades is a make-shift, Doctor Horn believes. "Classes in which the student is enrolled according to his advancement in that subject are much better. A student might belong in an advanced science class while he would be placed much lower in English."

60 Attend Institute

"The graded system is a device worked out to take care of the large number of boys and girls that the schools must handle in our system of mass education," the educator continued.

Sixty people were enrolled in the institute. In an unofficial vote the teachers expressed their preference to attend a two-days institute in the county rather than a meeting at Canyon.

The county institute was in charge of Judge C. A. Dickenson, county superintendent of schools. W. H. Sewell, county school trustee, served as presiding officer.

THE PRAIRIE

BY MILDRED J. SPEER

No one can wish for cities
Who has spent a summer
On the open plains:

The divine beauty of the night
Crowned with a purple star-set crown;
The wind blowing high and cool;
The peaceful silence; not a sound,
But the satisfying noises
Nature makes as she slowly expands.
Then through the travail of darkness
A new day is born gloriously—proudly:
The color, the wonder of it
Sweeps away desires that are cowardly;
The soul is born anew, and mounts
To new glory like the sun.

Twilight comes silently—softly;
Darkness caresses like a lover's arms:
Faint streaks across the sky; they seem
Pall bearers of the day's charms.
Weary body, satisfied soul, and contented mind
Rejoice in the beauty of another perfect night.

Speeding Peace Takes Death Toll

While war takes its toll of human life in thousands, speed and recklessness show an even higher total of disasters, says a recent writer on the subject of youth and the toll of the automobile.

In the year 1930 there were recorded 835,250 automobile accidents in the United States, in which 32,500 men, women and children were killed and 962,325 injured. This toll of human life is approximately one-quarter of the total number of Americans killed or dying from all causes in the World War campaign for 19 months. Four times as many people were injured in automobile accidents last year as American soldiers were wounded in the World War.

The total of deaths and accidents increased last year from approximately 25,000 to 32,000, altho the total mileage run by automobiles decreased by at least fifteen billion miles, or around ten per cent. The accidents increased twelve per cent, deaths more than four per cent, and injured toll, thirteen per cent.

An analysis of accidents as made by the authorities of 40 states and the insurance experts reveal that thirty per cent of those in accidents in 1930 were caught driving where they did not have the right of way. Twenty-one per cent of the casualties were traced directly to high speeds. Recklessness comes next; failing to signal is after that.

The chief causes of accidents, then, are traced directly to selfishness, speed, and recklessness.

Something must be done about it. There are sufficient laws on the statute books. What is needed is more appreciation, sentiment and concern over the situation.

WHAT TITHING MEANS

What is really the deepest and most important meaning of tithing? In the last analysis, tithing is simply putting God, not self, first. The conscientious tither devotes, sets aside the tenth as soon as it is received. He accepts the statement in God's word that, "the tithe is the Lord's—it is holy unto the Lord," as literally true and acts accordingly. The tithe is the first fruits of his labor or gain, no matter from what source received. It is God's share, the devoted, the separated portion and has first place in all thoughts of expenditure. Tithing in other words, is literally every day common sense obedience to Christ's command, "Seek first the Kingdom of God."

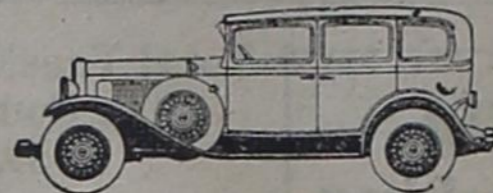

A MILD CATECISM

Are the various plans, state control, Canadian plan, and the others, anything except plans for enabling makers of liquor to sell it, and users of liquor to get it in an easy way? Can any traffic in liquor, or any free use of liquor ever be made respectable? Will someone point to any plan for restraint and regulation of the liquor traffic that has ever been approved or obeyed by the liquor traffic?

FIRST AND SECOND GRADES

All the students in the first and second grades are glad that school has started. We have twenty-three in our room; we have eleven boys and twelve girls.

Our room has been changed some since last year. We have all our seats over near the west wall where we may get plenty of light, and it leaves us a large open space on the east to play and work in.

We are bringing flowers to school to help make our room more beautiful. We do not know where we are going to put our potted plants because the place where we did keep them is filled with a deflector board. The days seem very hot to us, but we do not mind so much; we are busy studying, coloring, doing cut out work, and other things. The second grade is especially interested in making a book in which they are going to place all the letters of the alphabet with appropriate pictures above them.

School has been going on only a few days and we have had a number of visitors. Several of our mothers were present on the first day of school, Mr. Speer has visited us twice, and Miss Montgomery visited us for about fifteen minutes on Wednesday afternoon.

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADES

The third and fourth grades are glad to announce that they have an enrollment of twenty-three pupils, nine third graders and fourteen fourth graders.

We decided the first day of school to have the best all-round room in school, so for the first three days we have worked hard, cleaning up our room, decorating and studying.

We have a new standtable in our room which is the pride and joy of every student. We certainly thank the school trustees and Mr. Speer for this addition to our school room; we especially wish to thank Mr. C. H. Powell who contributed the material for the sandtable, and Mr. Henry Alt-miller who made the table.

Our health inspectors for this week are Dean Terrel for the third grade and Charley Hennigh for the fourth. Each week we shall change inspectors. We try every morning to make a home run in health by making all the bases which represent clean hands, clean teeth, and other things. So far all but two have made home runs.

FIFTH GRADE

The fifth grade is studying a new subject this year; this subject is History of Our Country. We have planned for it to be a very interesting subject. We are going to tell stories, memorize poems, and do many more helpful things.
—Teresa Frass

SIXTH GRADE

The sixth grade has been having a great time in school work. We are studying the history of Texas, and we find it very interesting. Our other studies are Geography, English, Reading, Spelling, Writing, Drawing and Citizenship.
—Wilma Lash

High school classes this year will be conducted on the six-weeks basis for the very first time, according to Mr. J. E. Speer. Previously grade cards have been issued every month.

New equipment received by the high school department this fall includes a physiology chart and maps for American and European history.

Typewriting and physics are being offered in the local high school for the first time. Students enrolled in the physics course taught by Mr. J. E. Speer are: Alberta Reger, Doris Montgomery, and Kenneth Jenkins, all seniors. Typewriting students are Mary Helfenbein, Doris Montgomery, Alberta Reger, Eva Greenfield, and Kenneth Jenkins.

LIPSCOMB SCHOOL NOTES

(Editor's note: The Darrouzett News has made arrangements with Mr. Ben Lawrence, Lipscomb superintendent, for the weekly publication of Lipscomb school news.)

School days for Lipscomb children of school age began in earnest on Monday morning, according to Mr. Ben Lawrence, superintendent.

Eighty-five school children were enrolled for the winter term. Of this group, 25 students are in high school and 60 in the grades.

Woman-haters would find the Sophomore and Junior classes an ideal hang-out for not a single girl is enrolled in either class.

Departmental work is being tried out in the Lipscomb school this year. Mrs. Claude Wells teaches the primary grades, and the other three faculty members teach departmental subjects from the advanced grades on thru the four years of high school. Mr. Lawrence has charge of mathematics and science; Miss Johnny Callahan teaches Spanish and history; and Miss Mary Wood is English teacher.

Thursday of this week was scheduled as clean-up day for the school. Pupils assisted by school patrons and teachers were to bring rakes, hoes, and other implements to clean weeds from the school grounds.

Athletic practice is to begin soon, says Mr. Lawrence, who in addition to being superintendent and teaching eight periods daily, is also athletic coach. "And another thing, Darrouzett teams had better watch out for we are really going to do things," he threatened. Mr. Lawrence incidentally helped coach those same Darrouzett teams last year.

Lipscomb faculty members are rejoicing in the fact that they are located so near the county court house which, housing the office of Judge C. A. Dickenson, county superintendent of schools, is the seat of county instruction, and incidentally, the storehouse for state-furnished public school texts. On Monday morning when they ran out of books, all they had to do was to go a block or two to get all the books they needed, while other less-conveniently situated school teachers had to drive from all over the county to secure their texts.

NO DUCK HUNTING NEXT FALL AS HEADS CONFER

Seriousness of the migratory waterfowl situation resulting from two years of drought conditions on the most important breeding areas is being reflected in a series of official conferences which may further greatly restrict and possibly close the coming water-fowl hunting season.

"It may be desirable to take stringent action in both Canada and the United States," Commissioner J. B. Harkin of the National Parks of Canada has informed Seth Gordon, president of the American Game Association, following a conference in his office at Ottawa with Canadian game officials and W. C. Henderson, assistant chief of the United States Biological Survey.

Returns from observers indicate conditions to be very poor for the breeding of waterfowl in southwestern Manitoba, the southern third of Saskatchewan and southern Alberta," he reported. These areas are known to be among the best and largest nesting grounds. This is the second consecutive season in which the marshes have dried up and destroyed a large percentage of the waterfowl crop.

Game officials of North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana—states containing the largest nesting areas in the United States—and of Manitoba, Canada, in conference at Bismark, N. D., on July 18, passed a resolution which has just been announced, after a similar meeting of the game heads of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Albert agreed with its recommendations. The latter meeting was held at Edmonton, Alberta.

This resolution urges that the open season for migratory waterfowl be restricted to a continuous period of 30 days; that the daily bag limit be restricted to ten birds per hunter; that the possession limit be restricted to 20 birds per hunter, and that the baiting of grounds be prohibited.

The season in this country has already been made two weeks shorter in every state by the Biological Survey, beginning next fall.

Mr. Gordon of the game association has announced the organization's intention of "standing behind any reasonable recommendations, even to closing the season entirely if that is found necessary." He said that while weather conditions are in a large measure responsible for the crisis the situation only confirms the repeated warning that "unless we step up the producing machinery and reclaim a lot of the breeding marshes destroyed by direct or adjacent drainage we are liable to be faced more and more with the same unfortunate situation."
