PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By E. M.

Commenting on "The Pathfinder's" report of a New York daily tabloid for children, the magazine, "Life," resourcefully suggests such appropriate headlines as:

JACK BUMPS OFF GIANT MOTHER OF 30 FOUND IN SHOE COW MAKES MOON HOP WOLF FIEND SLAYS TOT; GIRL IN RED RIDING HABIT GRAFT IN CUPBOARD CASE; BARE SAYS MA HUBBARD GEORGIE PORGIE IN LOVE RAID; KISSED GIRLS SAYS CHARGE

Speaking of headlines, one wishes, after a steady diet of various metropolitan dailies, that the words: "thug, gangster, lone bandit, probe, bogus, safe-cracking, stage, hold-up," could all be rubbed out permanently.

Something else that the press—chiefly country weeklies—could do without nicely is the menu-like list of refreshments that sometimes accompanies accounts of social gatherings. As a horrible example, "Delicious refreshments were served consisting of jellied gooseberry whip, limberger cheese souffle, frozen bean soup, candied chop suey, potato chips a la mode, et cetera, et cetera."

I maintain that menus should be reserved for the household column—especially since the mixing of refreshment courses with society news has been known to cause cut-throat competition between rival social clubs for the longest, fanciest, and most indigestible list.

And another thing, it makes the editor copy reader, linotype operator, yea and the proof reader, all so hungry they are forced to quit work and tear out for the nearest soda fountain or hamburger stand.

Now the Tactless Texan in the Amarillo Daily News comes across with the popular definition of the new Hoover overalls: "The overalls," sez he, "Have no pockets, the legs are so long that no socks are needed. They have a big belt of 16 notches that may be tightened up to relieve hunger, and there is a patch sewed on each knee so that the owner can pray for a job." "With each pair," Tack continues, "comes Mr. Hoover's guarantee made 6 months ago that prosperity would be here within 30 days."

Mrs. Conn Phillips and daughter, Donna Jean, Mrs. Henry Frass, Jr., and children planned to leave Thursday for Canyon. Mrs. Frass also was to visit at Plainview and Hale Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Messner and daughter, Phyllis Lucille, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lawson of Sophia.

Mrs. Lena Cope and daughters, Misses Thelma and June Cope, of Follett, visited Mrs. W. R. Hill on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George McVicker and daughter, Lavaughn, and Mr. and Mrs. Charley McVicker went to Beaver on Sunday.

Christian Flag Made By Erma Hennigh Chosen Best

A Christian flag made by Erma Hennigh was selected as the best from those made by the girls in the junior division of the Daily Vacation Bible School, according to Mrs. A. Blair Grubb, teacher.

The girls themselves made the selection. For her careful handwork, Erma was assigned to make a larger flag to be used with the American flag in the giving of the pledge of allegiance at the morning assemblies. The Christian flag is made up of a red cross on a blue field upon a white background.

351 Leghorn Hens Clear Profit For Floyd Farmer During June

In spite of the low price of eggs, 351 white Leghorn hens made a profit of $30.80 above feeding cost for Floyd Farmer in the month of June, according to W. K. Cottingham, Lipscomb county agricultural agent.

Farmer, who is the son of B. F. Farmer of Darrouzett, lives in the New Hope community.

The average egg production for the month was 10 1/4 eggs per hen. Nine dollars and ninety cents from the sale of 25 culls cancelled the feed bill of $9.90 for the month, leaving the $30.80 from the marketing of eggs, clear profit.

Although it looked like a losing proposition at first, Farmer continued feeding his hens. He feels repaid for the faith he placed in his flock. He plans to do more and heavier culling in September.

Bonds For Highway Authorized Monday

The issuing of bonds to the value of $100,000 was formally authorized at the regular monthly county commissioners' court held at Lipscomb, according to Judge C. A. Dickson, chairman of the court.

Bonds will be used for the new highway to be constructed in road precinct No. 1 which runs through Darrouzett, Judge Dickson said.

Road Commissioners are now directing the improvement of the detour on highway 33 from Glazier thru Lipscomb to Higgins.

The highway itself leading from Canadian to Higgins is being put into condition for paving.

Conversion Is Emphasized In Talk By Baker

SPEECH IS SUNDAY

District Official Is In Charge of Services Here Sunday

"Individual and Social Regeneration" was the topic on which Dr. James W. Baker, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, addressed the local congregation at the Sunday evening services.

"A Spiritual crisis is necessary to every man or woman who would live life to its fullest," Doctor Baker said. "This crisis or new birth known as conversion is a spiritual change in life directed by a divine power. All races of people have something similar to what we call conversion," he continued.

John Wesley and Saint Paul were pointed out as classic illustrations of individual regeneration.

"Is it possible for God through Christ to regenerate society and government?" Doctor Baker answers this question by stating that conversion is an individual matter and that people cannot be saved en masse. "However," he added, "the world as a whole is greatly influenced by individuals."

"A country will never have a good government under any form of government unless it has good wholesome men in office," he asserted. "Righteous principles are necessary in office-holders."

"Christ is the only force that can and will kill war," Doctor Baker declared. "We can never kill war with war. Malice only breeds hate. Suspicious nations can never help each other. Brotherly love is needed among nations as well as individuals."

"The moral principles and ideals trampled down during the World War cannot be recovered in a day," Doctor Baker continued. "We will never have an economic revival until there is a revival of the spiritual. The world needs conversion—a change from the material to the spiritual," he concluded.

Dope Fiends
And Clever Tricks

"A pretty clever trick," is the way a physician in a neighboring town characterized the scheme employed by a woman morphine fiend who hitch-hiked thru, Darrouzett recently.

The woman, pretending to be a nurse caring for a sick sister, called the physician with a story of an automobile accident and succeeded in getting him to come to the relief of the "sister" as an excuse to obtain morphine.

The next morning the woman called another doctor, telling him the same story. This time, the ruse failed as the physician had already heard the facts in the case, and the dope fiend hitch-hiked on.

"However," said the first physician, "that woman will probably be able to get morphine that way the rest of her life."

But what a life!

History Comes Fast;
What Next?

The world has probably never seen more chaotic and jumbled conditions than those existing at the present time. Confusion reigns while history is being made at a breathless pace.

Wheat prices and oil rates have struck bottom. Jobless men have already started food riots. Appeals for food and clothing are recorded in newspapers.

Henry Ford has shut down his Detroit automobile factories almost completely. The Rockefeller Colorado Fuel and Iron company has cut wages 20 per cent. In New York, gangsters with machine guns mow down children at play while the real victims escape.

Coal strikes have been taking place in Pittsburg. President Hoover is being urged to call a session of Congress immediately to deal with unemployment relief. Conditions in the United States are further complicated by the oncoming presidential election.

With Germany facing financial collapse, international bankruptcy is in sight, say those acquainted with European conditions. France is opposed to disarmament. Russia is discussing the next five-year plan.

Truly the world is making history at a breathless pace. And though life is hard, it is interesting to keep on living just to see what will happen next?

Lesson for August 16

SOWING AND REAPING (Temperance Lesson.)

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).

In chapters three and four Paul presented in a masterful way the heart of Christianity; namely, that justification is by faith in the atoning work of Christ rather than by the works of the law. In chapters five and six he made practical application of the doctrine to the affairs of life. Gracious justification by faith is the dynamic for right living. Those who are freely justified in Christ will manifest the fact by the following conduct:

I. Restore the Sinning Brother (v. 1).

1. Who he is. "The one overtaken in a fault." The idea expressed by the word "fault" is not to minimize the sin, but to show the suddenness of the temptation. One's spirituality is shown by his willingness to help in such a case.

2. What is to be done. He is to be "restored." Restore is a surgical term which means the placing back of a dislocated member to its normal place. Christians are members of the body of Christ. Therefore, the sinning of a brother should as really give us pain as the dislocation of a member of our body.

3. How it is to be done. "In a spirit of meekness." Harshness has no place in the life of a Christian. The fruit of the Spirit is love, meekness, etc. The believer must show his right to claim the life in the heavens by stooping down to help the brother crippled and besmeared in the dirt of earth.

4. The incentive. "Lest thou also be tempted." No one is immune from temptation. The surest way to be fortified against temptation is to go sympathetically to the rescue of the fallen.

II. Bear One Another's Burdens (v. 2).

Many are the burdens of life: burdens of weakness, temptations of a fallen nature, sorrow, suffering, and sin. Some have more temptations than others. Since believers are inseparably bound together, the strong should bear the infirmities of the weak. Christ is the supreme burden bearer. When we bear one another's burdens, we fulfill the law of Christ. Many have inherited the appetite for intoxicating liquors, and the spirit of burden bearing will move us to make our utmost endeavor to remove far away the temptation to strong drink.

III. Bear Our Own Burdens (vv. 3-5).

There are some burdens which can be borne alone by the individual. Personal responsibility cannot be escaped. In a most real sense every man lives his life alone. Helpful as is sympathy, human and divine, greatly as we need the helping hand of our brother, the individual must live his own life. The law of God which is in harmony with the law which controls the individual declares, "The soul that sinneth it shall die."

IV. Support Teachers of God's Word (vv. 6-8).

It is incumbent upon those who are taught in God's Word to give of their means for the support of the teacher. To repudiate this obligation is to mock God (v. 7), for God has ordained that they who preach the gospel shall live of the gospel (1 Cor. 9:14). The declaration, "Whoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," sets forth a law which operates in all spheres of life.

V. Be Earnest in Well Doing (v. 9).

The harvest is sure. Sow good seed and patiently wait for the reward. The same unfailing law which eventuates in a harvest of corruption to those who sow to the flesh will bring life everlasting to those who sow to the Spirit.

VI. Work for the Good of All Men (v. 10).

The believer in Christ who realizes his freedom will have sympathies and interests as wide as the race. While especially endeavoring to help those in Christ, he will be reaching out to all men. He will be seeking to win them to Christ. This obligation to work for the good of all men applies in such matters as the abolition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Righteous

The righteous are as trees of life; the fruits of their piety and charity, their instructions, reproofs, examples and prayers, their interest in heaven and their influence on earth are like the fruits of that tree, precious and useful, contributing to the support and nourishment of the spiritual life in many.—Matthew Henry.

Oh, if you would have a mighty work of God in your own soul, ask God to search your heart, and if God shows you some sin, give it up. No matter if it is like tearing out your heart strings, out with it! It hinders a mighty work of God in your soul.

Jones Files Protest On Rail Rates

PROTEST IS FILED WITH INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION ON FREIGHT RAISE

The following protest was filed by Marvin Jones with the Interstate Commerce Commission urging that the application of the railways for a general increase of freight rates be denied:

Amarillo, Texas, July 23, 1931
"Interstate Commerce Commission,
Washington, D. C.
Gentlemen:

I desire to file a protest against the general 15 per cent increase in freight rates as applied for by the railway companies of America.

This protest is not filed in any spirit of hostility to the railroads. Naturally, we would like to see them prosper. Transportation is essential. However, a period of depression, such as that through which we have been passing, when practically all businesses are taking a loss, is not, in my judgement, the time to ask for an increase in railway rates. The times are abnormal.

The prices of practically all commodities have been materially reduced during the last two years. Agriculture is prostrate. The major products of the farm are selling far below the cost of production. Present freight rates are in many instances already prohibitive. To use present conditions as a basis for an application for an additional load on these already overloaded commodities is, in my judgement, out of the question.

Besides, I doubt very seriously whether an increase in rates would increase revenue. It might do so temporarily, but it would not increase them in the long run. I believe, therefore, it is a short-sighted policy even from the view point of the roads themselves to ask for an increase in freight rates at this time.

An illustration: the freight rates on wheat from the Panhandle of Texas to the Gulf ports are at present an average of more than 33 cents per hundred or 20 cents per bushel. Wheat is selling today at the elevator in Amarillo and other Panhandle points at 25 cents per bushel. The cost of transportation of this commodity is already so large a percentage of the total value that not more than half of the commodity is moving, and a large percentage of that which has been moving has been distress wheat that must be sold.

I realize the sharp and in some instances unfair competition to which the roads are subjected. Undoubtedly these inequalities should be corrected and competition placed on an even basis. But this will not be corrected, on the other hand it will be aggravated by an increase in freight rates which are already too high. The trucking, the feeding, the use of water ways and even the use of the commodity for fuel would be increased by such a policy.

If the freight rates on wheat as given in the illustration, which now range from 30 to 37 cents per hundred from Panhandle points to Gulf ports, and which under the new rates to be made effective August 1st will range from 29½ to 34 cents per hundred, had been reduced to range from 20 to 25 cents per hundred, I believe the increase in tonnage would have made up the difference and would not only have created a better feeling, but would have left conditions in far better shape for future operations.

If the 15 per cent general increase should be allowed it would not only wipe out the small reductions above referred to, but would make these rates even higher than at the present time. What is true in this section would probably be true in most sections of the country.

There come times when all business must shoulder a loss during an emergency period. For any concern, whether transportation or otherwise, during such a period to undertake to recoup such a loss by adding a heavier burden on the struggling agriculture and business interests of the country, is an improper course of procedure, and one that will complicate the difficulties and eventually work against the interests of both the roads and the public.

I earnestly urge that the application for these increases be denied.

I am furnishing copies of this letter to the presidents of the three railways which operate in this section, to-wit: The Santa Fe, the Rock Island, and the Burlington System.

Sincerely yours,
(SIGNED) Marvin Jones

A WEEKLY SERMONETTE

By ARTHUR B. RHINOW

THE RADIO

"Let's see what's on the air."

We turn the dial on the radio, listen to a bit of music here, a few sentences of lecture there, finally make our selection, and settle ourselves comfortably to enjoy the entertainment of our choice.

We choose what appeals to us, and that depends upon our mood, our disposition, and in the last analysis upon what we are. People of refinement will not choose a coarse program; coarse people "get no kick" out of refined entertainment. Both may be in the mood for diversion, but even humor may be coarse or fine. In fact, we can pretty well tell a person's character by what he laughs at.

The radio offers variety, but we only get what we tune in on.

And the heart is a radio, in possible touch with infinite variety; but we only "get" what we are attuned to. To be sure, we come in contact with much that we do not care for, but it never reaches us, it never "gets" us, unless we are attuned to it.

If you are a materialist, you will unconsciously tune in on material things, and you will become coarser every time you receive; if you are spiritual, you will become more spiritual every time you tune in. Whether the music that comes floating to you through the ether be the major music of joy or the minor music of sorrow, it will make more of a man or a beast of you, according to what you are.

Some radios have a short reach, others reach almost around the world. Some hearts are narrow and selfish, and they often hear discords; others are broad in their sympathies, and they hear beautiful music. And when we tune in on God, we hear infinite harmonies, absorbing the discords of life, and we know that all will be well.

TAKING THE GUESS OUT OF BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
 President American Bankers Association

BANKERS and business men err in not adopting more universally the tactics of the scientist. When the scientist wishes to fathom the mysteries of the universe or resolve things into their component parts he calls to his assistance the magnifying power of the microscope. There before him, like an open book, lie the secrets of nature which unaided eyes cannot observe.

The uncanny power of the microscope's all-seeing eye has revealed countless secrets for the material and intellectual progress of humanity. It has enabled us to study the processes of growing cells in plant and animal life, trace the causes of disease and successfully combat the ills of mankind; it has aided the engineer in his search for stronger and more serviceable materials, giving us taller, lighter and more sanitary structures, and better highways; it has disclosed the defects in steel rails and brought us an era of safer railway travel; it has added to the food supply of the nation; in fact, it has affected favorably nearly every activity of the human race, whether it apply to production, distribution or consumption, in time of peace or in time of war.

In the business and banking world, economic research and analysis serve as the microscope through which we are enabled to see basic factors more clearly and thus determine the causes of success and failure. Only recently have we begun to realize the full value of research and analysis and apply them in such a way as to eliminate the guesswork that was characteristic of industry a few years ago. "Eliminate the guess and reach success," might well be a motto for all of us.

Bank Bandits Active

The greatest number of bandit raids on American banking ever recorded in the figures of the protective department of the American Bankers Association were reported during the six months ending last February. Bank members of the association reported for investigation 311 forgery cases, 107 holdup robberies, 16 burglaries, 2 sneak thefts and 8 mortgage swindles while non-member banks, numbering less than half the total enrolled in the association, suffered 86 holdup robberies and 9 burglaries, non-members being burglarized or held up once for every 89 banks, as compared with once for every 164 member banks. The association detective agents caused the arrest of 143 of the 236 bank criminals apprehended during the period covered.

The association's report on these conditions urges support of the movement to provide city police departments with radio-equipped cruising automobiles which have proved particularly effective in Cleveland and Detroit in the broadcasting of alarms and the closing in on criminals immediately after or even in the midst of the perpetration of crimes. Last year the average time elapsed between the receipt of radio calls by these cars and the 125 arrests which followed was one minute and forty-two seconds, the report says.

BANKERS SUGGEST BANKING REFORMS

Economic Policy Commission of American Bankers Association Recommends Aids to Progress in Banking Business.

FOLLOWING a nation-wide survey of banking conditions and opinion among bankers, the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following recommendations for banking betterment:

- "Under the category of improved bank management specific improvements we might summarize are:
 - "(1) Liquidation or consolidation of banks where changed local economic conditions render this desirable;
 - "(2) Wider affiliation among state banks with the Federal Reserve System;
 - "(3) Development of limited branch banking where economic conditions and legal authority make this expedient;
 - "(4) A more general practice, especially lacking among country banks, to analyze the cost of carrying accounts and other operating details and the establishment of proper service charges to make all classes of function profitable;
 - "(5) A more general application of the theory and practice of secondary reserves;
 - "(6) Avoidance by banks of undue borrowing merely to increase their own profits by re-lending at higher rates, or to over-expand credit to local business in order to increase their own business;
 - "(7) Cooperation among bankers in local communities through city, county or regional clearinghouses so as to promote mutually beneficial conditions and practices;
 - "(8) The insistence upon higher educational effort and qualifications among employees, especially those to be trusted with executive duties.

Legislative Measures Proposed

"There are some external measures, along moderate legislative and supervisory lines, that we also believe would help strengthen banking. Among these are:

- "(1) The broadening in the states of branch banking laws where conditions warrant an extension of this type of banking service to the public;
- "(2) The establishment of sound minimum capital funds under which banks will be allowed to operate, which should be materially higher than now prevails in most states; specifically, we believe that the minimum capital with which any new bank shall be chartered, whether state or national, should be at least $50,000;
- "(3) The provision of funds and regulations to keep the official staffs of all supervisory departments up to a level of ability and integrity that will universally inspire confidence among bankers whose activities they are empowered to review, and will supply real added defenses to the public interests they are appointed to protect.
- "(4) In connection with the policies of bank chartering departments, we would recommend that, even to a greater extent than is now the practice, the greatest care and moderation should be exercised in granting new charters, so as to guard against over-banking or the launching of new banks by unqualified persons, which have doubtless been serious factors in the bank failure situation in the past.
- "(5) Also, referring to Federal Reserve practice not requiring legislation, we believe that the Federal Reserve Banks should exercise more freely their rights to examine banks and use their discretionary power to refuse rediscount facilities to banks indulging in objectionable banking methods."

Banker-Farmer Plan

An editorial in Southern Cultivator says: "Favorable comment is being made upon the wisdom and promised results of the farmer-banker agricultural program in Georgia. Industrial leaders and publicists, noting that 115 of the 161 counties in the state have pledged prosecution of the 'live-at-home' farm reform, are regarding the working out of the plan this year as of more interest to American farmers than any developments of the Soviet five-year plan in Russia. Agricultural actaries are of the opinion that if Georgia farmers, backed by our cooperating bankers and supply men, demonstrate the expected economies and profits of this home-support plan, it will quickly become a contagious custom all over the agricultural areas of the nation. It will be the writing of a new 'declaration of independence' for the individualist farmers of the country, putting them upon solid terms of credit and prosperity without need of recourse to federal or state financial relief measures. The man of the soil who lives year in and year out 'on his own' will stand up in his community as an economic freeman, making his own terms with the world of finance and trade."

A meeting of farmers, bankers, and newspaper men of St. Croix County, Wisconsin, recently organized a drive to promote the growing of alfalfa in such quantity as to save the dairyman the expense of commercial feed, and insure greater dairy profits. It is planned in this campaign to have, within the next three years, at least one acre of alfalfa produced for each dairy cow in the county, or a total of about 40,000 acres.

Epitaph

It is possible to be too saving for the general good—and even for the individual good. There is an element of warning in the following brief pseudo biography from Punch: Here lives a man who saved his all For days when rain and snow should fall; He knew no pleasures, shared no game And died before the blizzard came.

No Need to Worry

Nervous Woman (in hotel)—Dear me, porter, this bedroom is a tremendous height from the street. I do hope you take precautions against fire.
 Porter—Oh, yes, mum, we take every precaution. The proprietor's got the place insured for twice what it's worth.—Tit-Bits.

Correct this sentence: "There isn't any use to pay the editor this time of the year; he doesn't expect his money until next fall."
