Mrs. Vada Arnold Presents

U.M.W. Program

The United Methodist Women met on Monday morning, June 24, in Fellowship Hall with nine members and two visitors, Mrs. Vada Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Robertson.

Mrs. Hubert Taylor was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. H.B. Sone presided at the meeting which opened with the song "The Churches One Foundation". Mrs. John Stock gave the invocation.

Mrs. Vada Arnold presented an interesting history of the Methodist Church from its origin to the present time; this, of course, included the life of John Wesley and interesting facts about the early church in England and America.

Mrs. Cecil Joyce told of her visit to a church in Midway, Arkansas, where her grandparents attended services years ago.

Mrs. Sone gave the closing prayer.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

The mail order business is booming. In 1973, consumers brought $50 billion in goods or services by mail in response to several billions' worth of direct mail advertising.

Proponents of direct mail advertising say it offers "arm-chair shopping" and bring the special items to the attention of persons who otherwise might never be aware of them. They say it is convenient, allows consumers to consider purchases in the privacy of their own home, and that it is a boon to elderly or handicapped persons who find it difficult to get out of the house to shop.

Opponents call it "junk mail" and point out to the growing problem of mail order fraud experienced in the U. S. as mail orders increase. They complain that their names are purchased by directmail advertisers in group mailing lists without their permission and that, as a result, they receive much unwanted mail.

The truth falls somewhere in between. It is correct to say that the incidents of mail order fraud has risen. U. S. Postal Service inspectors of report that more than $160 million was lost last year by consumers in deceptive mail order schemes.

But it is also true that some legitimate mail order business are trying to see that consumers get what they pay for. Many of them belong to an organization known as the Direct Mail Marketing Association, which is working with the White House of Consumer Affairs Office to devise standards for direct mail marketing.

Direct mail advertisers can also obtain from the U. S. Census Bureau tracts showing the average value of houses in a certain area, match Postal Service zip codes to areas with more expensive houses, and check with the Internal Revenue Service for the average income of certain zip code for a period of five years earlier.

Once they acquire such information, direct mail marketers can target their sales pitches to persons of a general income bracket who can more likely afford their products.

According to the DMAA, the best prospects for direct mail marketers are persons with higher than average incomes who are advertisement in the past.

DMAA officials say they believe most people don't mind being on direct mail advertising lists, but that they are happy to oblige those who want to get off them.

They have a mail preference service to remove names of persons from all of their members' mailing lists. Consumers who fill out the necessary form and return it should notice a decrease in direct mail advertising in their mailbox within two months, according to DMAA since it claims to represent between two thirds and three fourths of all direct mail advertisers in their country.

The DMAA also has a mail order action line to help consumers who have problems with mail orders. Our Consumer Protection attorneys suggest that you first complain directly to the firm yourself. Often difficulties can be resolved in this manner.

Our attorneys say that many so consumers who lose money in direct mail purchases sometimes do so because they are too willing to believe glowing promises or exorbitant claims. The urge that you use common sense and caution in evaluating claims. FOR MAIL ORDER PRODUCTS OR SERVICES and that you do not repeat on pictures that may accompany the sale pitch.

No gadget or "special plan" can turn an obese figure into a svelte one overnight. And no "investment secrets" can make you a financial genius if you have trouble adding two and two.

Our attorneys, as well as reputable direct mail marketers, also suggest that you follow these tips when shopping by mail: never send cash with your order, make sure a guaranteed delivery date is mentioned in promotional material, indicate if you are willing to accept any substitutes, and keep a record of your order.

If you have a consumer problem call our consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local BetterBusiness Bureau.

Farmers Get Ready For Census

Farmers and ranchers, get ready for the 1974 Census of Agriculture! Keep good records of your farming operations this year. This is the request of the Bureau of the Census, the Federal agency that will conduct the 20th nationwide Census of Agriculture during the first part of 1975. The Bureau is part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

Farmers will receive their report forms by mail early in January. They should fill them out and mail them back promptly. Having accurate and detailed records will make it easy for farmers to do this. Questions will be much like those in the last previous agriculture census which covered farming and ranching during 1969.

Questions will ask for acreage of cropland harvested; quantity and market value of major crops produced; acres irrigated and means of irrigation; acreage treated with pesticides, lime and other chemicals; acreage fertilized by kind of fertilizer (dry, liquid, gas).

Questions on livestock and poultry will cover the number of each kind on the farm as well as the number sold and the sales value. Quantities and sales value of their products will be sought.

Details will be requested about farm products produced or marketed under contract. A few questions will be included about hired and contract labor, the number of workers and cash wages paid; also about any injuries to workers.

Further expenditure questions will cover amounts spent for feed, fertilizer, pesticides, lime, gasoline and other farm fuels, machine hire, and livestock and poultry purchases.

There will be questions about the various types and uses of land, such as cropland not harvested, other pasture and

Two types of report forms are being prepared: one for farms with sales of $2500 or more, and another less detailed form for places with sales of less than $2500. No matter which form a farmer receives, he need answer only those questions that apply to his operation. He should skip questions that apply only to other types of agricultural operations.

By Federal law, every report is confidential. It may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. The mail method reinforces confidentiality. It also allows the farmer to complete the report at his convenience with accurate information from his records.

woodland, and about the value of land and buildings on the farm.

Operators will be asked about farm related income such as recreational services, custom-work provided other farmers, or payments for participation in Government farm programs.

tentative spending ceiling by May 15 before taking up individual appropriation bills. In September of each year, after all money bills have been passed, Congress would then review its budgetary situation, make adjustments reflecting economic changes since the spring and relate spending and revenues before the start of the new fiscal year which is moved from July 1 to October 1.

AS THE SITUATION NOW EXISTS, THE FOURTEEN MAJOR APPROPRIATION BILLS, each carrying its own price, are not related to one another nor to the total of all of them. Neither is this situation authorized spending related to income from taxes. It is only related as submitted by the President in his budget. THE MEASURE PASSED LAST WEEK ALSO ATTEMPTS TO CUT PUT "BACK DOOR" spending which means authorizing expenditures for programs over a several year period, providing whatever money it takes to run them but without knowing the final cost. At the present time, more than 70 per cent of all Federal spending is in this category. In other words, the Congress has control over less than 30 per cent of Federal money obligated. This legislation will not be any panacea or a cure-all for excessive spending and avoiding budget deficits. Everyone recognizes that the system calls for Congressional self-discipline to really make the new system work. In the debate, it was charges by some that ways would be found to get around the idea of limiting spending and balancing the Federal Budget.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Constitutional Convention delegates are entering the make-or-break last laps of their work.

Delegates last week completed first-draft approval of the proposed new state charter after final agreement on the delayed judicial article.

President Price Daniel Jr. said he hopes all articles will be pushed through the third-reading stage by the end of June.

After that, the document will go to the convention's "Submission and Transition Committee," which will wrap up all proposals in package form and return them to delegates.

At this stage, the document and related separate-submission items (like right-to-work) must be approved by a two-thirds majority (121 votes) to be submitted to voters.

The Submission and Transition Committee will serve as a kind of conference committee, seeking compromises which can rally approval of the necessary majority of delegates.

After months of stormy debate and close votes, the convention began to receive praise from many quarters for its efforts to improve the 1876 constitution.

Kind words were still being withheld by the governor, however. Aides to Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he would "find it very difficult"

Safeguard peanuts and profits from seedling disease, rot and Southern Blight

Terraclor® Soil Fungicide

Terraclor gives your peanuts a fighting chance to produce their full yield potential... protected from seed rot, seedling diseases and Southern Blight or stem rot.

A full season application program is recommended. Apply Terraclor when you plant for protection from early fungi-caused diseases. Then apply again at pegging time for effective control of Southern Blight.

When the disease is visible—it's too late. Start your Terraclor protection program early. Protected peanuts can stay in the ground longer to develop heavier yields with sound, mature kernels. Year-after-year experience proves that all season control of fungi with Terraclor is a sound investment. See your chemical supplier or write for more information.

Sixty Attend Hudson Reunion

June Gray and two daughters, Lynne and Amy, arrived from Fort Worth to join her parents and sister, Arthur and Jo Ella Berris and Debbie Watson, all of Austin and to return home with them for a week's visit before leaving for a year's stay in Europe.

Joe Faye Alford, San Antonio, and twin sister Johnnie and husband Edward Laffman, from Henderson, North Carolina, met cousins they didn't know they had until a few years ago. They thought they had four "living" relatives when Weldon Hudson contacted them while working on the genealogy of the Hudson family.

Rev. Ed Laffman brought a wonderful Fathers' Day devotional before the group gathered around the tables loaded with so much food it was impossible to sample it all. The invocation was given by Curtis Hester. Ray and Lula Mundy of Abilene were welcome visitors Sunday afternoon.

Mo., reported the quarterly news letter is now mailed to 34 states and three foreign countries and the book "The Civil War Diary of William Spencer Hudson" has been so successful in sales they are compiling material for a second book. A display table of old letters, diaries and pictures, plus a wall chart of the family tree, proved to be a popular gathering place.

Helping the officers host the two day gathering were Rex and Pauline, Ted and Estella Hudson from Rising Star; Louise and Vada Hudson, Merkel; Lillie Hudson and Roena and N.C. Whisenant, Fort Worth; Willie Mae and F.B. Riney, Slaton; and Floyd and Becky Stamps of Florissant, Mo.

Arriving from Dallas to be with his brother was Oscar Stamps and Johnnie Rutherford, also of Dallas.

Meeting the Whisenants was their daughter Nancy Burnham, her son Michael and a family friend Sallie Christman all of San Angelo.

Maggie Hudson Fikes, Merkel, had a daughter Mrs. Gene Powell and her two children, Kem and Shirley, from Odessa. Also a daughter Lillian Miller and children Rhonda, Nelda and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Miller of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Charles Fox, Abilene, introduced the new baby, Jason to the gathering when they could get him away from Grandmother Virgie Powell or great-grandmother Estella Hudson and Maggie Fikes.

Jane Hudson, Midland, and Thelma Hudson Gressett, Westbrook, brought forth cries of joy when they arrived as did Lois Hudson, San Angelo, when she brought her daughter Judy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Moore and three children from Stow, Ohio. The Moore's baby daughter was introduced to the group as another new member of the Hudson Association.

Attending from Mississippi were Carlton and Laura Hudson, Hattiesburg; and Horace and Kay Hudson, and grandson Spencer Hudson, Waynesboro. The Horace Hudson's daughter Debby and family, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hester, Suzanne, Allison, Tony and Jennifer, Garland, made another happy family get-together and the children enjoyed the play

"Preview H-S.U." Set For Aug. 1

ABILENE: "Preview H-S.U.", a two day pre-college orientation program for new students, has been scheduled for July 24-26 at Hardin-Simmons University with a make-up session to be offered Aug. 27-29. This is the second year for H-S-U to sponsor the program, which "is an attempt to introduce the campus to people," said dean of student life, Dean Alvin Austin. Students will be given the opportunity to view the campus, inspect residence halls, counsel with the financial aid office, be introduced to student government programs, meet with academic advisors to arrange fall class schedules and meet future classmates. A role-playing game called the "August to December Run-Around Blues" is one special event planned. Students will be given certain tasks to accomplish and be forced to encounter frustrations they might experience during school. Faculty and staff will act as blocking agents. "Afterwards we'll sit down and talk about how they could have avoided the problems," said Dean Austin. a summer student talent theater is being prepared as an evening's entertainment by Max Irwin, director of Moody Center, and senior Joe Don Carter of Odessa, student chairman of the show. The university offered three orientation sessions last summer with almost 400 students attending. "In the students' evaluations they overwhelmingly approved the program and said it was very beneficial to them," Austin said. "It helps them if they're not familiar with many of the campus operations, and it helps them know themselves better through the personal development inventory and personal interpretations with a counselor." Those attending the July sessions will have their inventory results before they leave the program, while those coming in August may be required to wait several weeks after the fall semester begins. Reservation sheets must be returned to the Student Life Office at H-SU at least 10 days prior to the session the student wishes to attend. Class schedules will be worked out for July attendants, and those students will be ready to report to campus Friday, Aug. 30, for fall registration. Students will not be given registration packets unless they attend one of the sessions or receive a written excuse from the Dean. Cost for the program, which includes meals, lodging, personal development inventory, and use of games room facilities, is $11. If students do not plan to stay on campus the cost will be only $3.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible "Born again!" exclaimed Nicodemus. "What do you mean? How can an old man go back into his mother's womb and be born again?" Jesus replied, "What am I telling you so earnestly is this: Unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the Kingdom of God. Men can only reproduce human life, but the Holy Spirit gives new life from heaven; so don't be surprised at my statement that you must be born again!" John 3:4-7
