Rural Patrons Asked To Improve Boxes

This is rural mailbox improvement week, Mrs. Cliffogene Witt, postmaster, has announced. The week has been designated by the Post Office Department as one phase of efforts to improve the mail service.

It will call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles designed to protect the mail from the weather, which are neat in appearance, conveniently located and safe to use, she said.

Said Mrs. Witt: "Mailboxes that meet the above four important requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation, and the result is an improved service to the entire route. The name of the owner, and the number where box numbers are assigned, must be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door where boxes are grouped. Boxes should be grouped wherever practicable, especially at or near crossroads, or at other places where a considerable number of boxes are located."

It Has Been

By VADA ARNOLD

Rising Star's first high school boy's basketball team was fielded the season of 1913-14 with Clyde D. Woods as head coach. Venus Earp, John Nunnally, Cecil Shults, Wyatt Jacobs, George Anderson, F. R. Anderson, and Bob Smith made up the team.

There was no organized district at the time and no regular schedule. The team played anywhere they could get a game.

May had a "red hot" team at the time and the two teams met in many hectic battles.

Rising Star also played De Leon, Hamilton Hico and several other teams farther from

Notes

There were no gyms in those days and all games were played on open court, even in the coldest weather.

"The team did not lose a single game. However, some were very close and hard fought" said Coach Woods. He went on to say "The same team playing today would make it interesting for any high school team and would likely be able to beat some of the college teams."

Teamwork was the motto of the team of 1913-14 and that is what carried them through undefeated. "Every man could score many points in a game and were masters at handling the ball"

Just at the turn of the century, football in Rising Star high school had its beginning.

The field was a far cry from today's modern grass topped, level space with cement stands all around it.

Games were many times played in areas well dotted with stumps and surrounded by juniper brush and mesquite trees.

The team was made up of the following young men, Clarence Earp, Jim White, Ross Barnes, John Irby Onus White, Fred Anderson, J. R. Bucy, Raymond Gray, Claud Smith, Tom Montgomery, Jim Irby, Sid Smith, Neely McCollum, Paris Smith, Dick Gray and A. W. Armstrong.

Several of the boys lived in the country. A. W. Armstrong lived at Blake and came in to school and played football. Jim White one of the halfbacks rode from Blake to Rising Star on horseback, wearing his uniform and boots with large spurs attached. Onus White was fullback. His father was a blacksmith here and lived in town. Other members of the backfield were J. R. Bucy, halfback, and Paris Smith quarterback.

The story is told of a game played between Daniel Baker College of Brownwood and Rising Star. The Brownwood team came to Rising Star in a survey and a covered wagon, arriving on the morning of the game. When the boys walked down in the town, Halfback Jim White came sauntering down the sidewalk in his uniform, cowboy boots and big spurs.

The Brownwood boys took quick notice of the "Boots and Spurs" and shook in their boots. They could just see Jim hurtling toward them with one of

As we continue to honor our country's senior citizens during National Senior Citizens Month, let's look at a couple more ideas for making use of our state's most valuable resource, our senior citizen.

Curbstone Conference: Combine business with pleasure with an informal meeting at the civic center, high school gymnasium, or other large meeting place. Enlist local resource people from social security, welfare, health department, medical society, etc. to answer questions of concern to elderly citizens. Locate resource people at tables in one area of the room, maintaining an informal setting. In another area of the meeting room provide table games and/or other entertainment. Serve light refreshments.

Recognition of outstanding senior citizens: This might be done in each town. The selection can be made either by a committee or by a popular vote. If popular vote is used, set up a simple criteria for the selection age limit, number of years in city, contributions to city's growth and development, etc.).

Care For Skin

KEEP SMOOTH—With newest fashions highlighting skin, it is more important than ever to be smooth from fingers to toes. For women who want soft, youthful skin, Pacquin specialists recommend new skin-care habits. Try these: Use a hand and body lotion nightly. Keep bottles of lotion handy in kitchen as well as bath. Whenever you wash hands, dry them thoroughly. Apply a non-sticky lotion like the new Silk'n Satin in the mornings and before bedtime, as faithfully as brushing teeth.

HIGGINBOTHAM'S

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th Texas Dist.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — THIS WEEKLY column is resumed after having been suspended since April 14. It is now being resumed with hopes that readers may find it of interest and, occasionally, informative. It may be a good time to say, again, that it is nowise meant to be a professional effort, but rather, another means of communication between constituents and their Congressman. Comments received in the past are greatly appreciated and welcome for the future. When thought is provoked on subjects discussed, it is felt that a good purpose is accomplished.

MOST OF THE BIG issues to be dealt with by the Congress during this Session still lie ahead. Committee work has been completed on many major bills and debate will be scheduled shortly.

ASIDE FROM Legislation are many other concerns such as the progress of the war in Viet Nam, a worsening of our balance of payments, continuing inflation, and a shortage of labor and materials for certain essential production.

ON THE matter of the balance of payments, after a year's improvement a reserve has set in. While the farmer and agriculture generally have been charged with high percentage of the cause of inflation, farm exports have kept the balance of payments in much better condition than they otherwise would have been. We are now receiving many more dollars from agriculture exports than paid for farm imports in a very important way. It can be considerably more if the Government will quit tampering and hindering the process. In a number of industries a real shortage of labor is showing up. Over-all unemployment figures are the lowest in 12 years. Scarce skills are even lower. At the same time legislation is now pending to Federalize the Unemployment Insurance Program to the point of giving incentive not to work.

UNDER THESE conditions there seemingly is no great effort to reduce programs which simply create jobs but add nothing to the output of useful goods and services.

A PART of this picture is the continued high Government spending which could have other effect than to contribute to the inflationary trends. This, coupled with the cost of Viet Nam operations, which actually have not hit the blood stream of our economy as yet, means that further cost rises are bound to occur. Under these conditions a tax increase may be recommended as one way to siphon off surplus money. One would think it would be considerably better to treat the disease when we clearly see it coming on than to deal with the symptoms after the patient is bedridden.

ONCE AGAIN, people 65 and over are reminded that May 31, 1966 is the closing date for enrollment in the Medicare Voluntary Insurance Plan. It will be recalled that the original deadline of last March 31 was extended for another two months. In that extension, according to the Social Security Administration, about 400,000 enrolled. The Administration further reports that 90% of our older Americans have signed up for the P.O. program, which amounts to 17.2 million people.

BEGINNING IN July those who have chosen to pay $3 a month will receive certain protection against the cost of medical care for the rest of their lives.

THERE ARE some who have not yet made their decision and who should do so right away, since, under present regulations, another opportunity will not occur for them until December, 1967.

central offices," Kizer said, "but at the present earning level of the company we cannot even place orders for this equipment." He also cited the increasing labor costs for outside plant men as one of the problems which can only be solved by "our having adequate rates."

Gene Rhodes, president of the Little League, reported that three teams of boys have been organized and that the schedule would begin next Tuesday.

The chamber voted to defray the cost of building a small picket fence to define the outfield of the league playground at the City park.

The CofC voted not to observe Monday, May 30, as a holiday, despite the fact that it is on the official list of holidays for the business community. The bank will remain open, they were told, and there is a need for services for farmers in fertilizers and tractor equipment because of the heavy planting season.

A report on the rodeo arrangements was made by A. D. Jenkins, Rising Star Roping Club president. The club sponsors the rodeo.

Specs--

ple say.

I understand that the City is preparing to make parking spaces on a part of the City's property at the rear of the City Hall.

Plans are afoot to smooth and gravel surface part of the area and designate park-spaces which will be available to business men, their employees and customers.

It would be a welcome improvement. It is no secret that parking, in parts of the business community, including the post office area, is somewhat chaotic. The proposed parking facilities would free quite a bit of space in front and at the rear of the stores for the greater convenience of customers and delivery men.

And the trees would shade the cars from the hot summer sun. That would be nice—if you allow for the birds.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Clark of Trinity; Mrs. June Harris and Miss Ginger Bishop attended commencement exercises for the Bangs High School Senior class last week. Letha Clark, daughter of Mr. Martin Clark, formerly of Rising Star was salutatorian of the class.

Depositors Urged To Claim Postal Savings

Postmaster Cliffogene Witt has urged depositors with postal saving certificates to withdraw their accounts from post offices in which they are located as soon as the anniversary dates on their certificates are reached.

The Postal Savings system was abolished on March 27, 1966. While the local office has no postal savings accounts, she said, the necessary forms for withdrawal from other offices are available here, she said.

Postmaster Witt pointed out that of April 28, 1966, no deposits can be accepted and no new accounts can be opened, and that interest will end the anniversary date of each certificate.

The Postmaster said that for convenience all certificates held by a depositor may be cashed at the time and interest will be paid for each full month that they have been outstanding beyond three months from the interest date.

The Postal Savings System was established January 1, 1911, to get money out of hiding and to attract savings of a large number of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at post offices in their own country she said. It served as a safe depository for the people who had lost confidence in private banks. Today, however, with the growth of banking facilities paying much higher interest rates than the 2 per cent interest per annum paid on postal savings, the system has out-lived its usefulness for the American people, she said.

Cemetery Fund Needs Money, Mayor Says

Contributions to the Rising Star Cemetery Fund are needed if the Cemetery is maintained in a clean and proper condition, Mayor W. G. Reed said this week.

Care of the cemetery is maintained out of a volunteer fund made up of contributions from those with relatives and friends buried there or who have a civic of other sentimental interest in the local burial ground.

The fund is administered by the mayor and the city secretary, Mrs. Marie Hardin, and contributions should be sent to Mrs. Hardin at the city hall.

Neighbor County Ranchers Invited To Beef Field Day

Ranchers from nearby counties are also welcome to attend the Eastland County Beef Cattle field day at Ranger, May 30th, according to members of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce who, with the local county agent, J. M. Cooper, are co-sponsors of the meeting.

Besides performances testing of beef cattle and testing of bulls for fertility other items, on the all day program beginning at 10 a. m. include the future price out for beef cattle, the status of the screwworm and brucellosis programs and the creep feeding of range calves.

The field day will be held at the old Tiffen Gas Plant, 3 miles northeast of Ranger, on the Hagemann Ranch road.

W. T. Eaton, member of the planning group said that a large crowd is expected to attend.

Dr. John Foster, DVM, Ranger or Dr. J. B. Henderson, Coleman, Area Supervisor of the Texas Animal Health Commission have accepted invitations to be on the program as have A. L. Maddox, College Station and James Denton, Stephenville. The two latter men are with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service according to County Agent, J. M. Cooper.

There is no charge for attending the meeting.

A Dutch lunch will be served at noon, however; to those attending the meeting will last until mid-afternoon.

Pecan Men Told May 28 Time To Spray for Bearers

Pecan growers at their annual spring meeting held in the Brown Jug Cafe in Gorman recently heard Texas A&M horticulturists advise that with continued warm weather, May 28 or 30 would likely be the proper time to spray for the first generation of the nut case bearer.

This is several days later than normal due to the continued cool weather, except for the past few days, County Agent J. M. Cooper said. The cool, damp weather of April retarded the growth of the larvae of this most destructive of all pecan insects, he said.

The event sponsored by the county pecan growers association had three of the top horticulturists of the state on the all day program. They included Fred Brison and B. G. Hancock of Texas A&M as well as T. E. Denman of the Agriculture Extension Station at Stephenville. Included on the agenda was marketing, control of several of the insects and diseases that infest the nuts, systemic insecticides, banding and other related topics.

A. D. Ellington, Cisco, president of the organization, said that besides local orchardists there were growers in attendance from Cook, Stephens, Taylor, Erath, Callahan, Comanche, Fisher, Noland, Coleman, and Parker Counties.

Many of the larger growers use two pounds of 80 wettable Sevinpowder, two pounds of 36% zinc sulphate to each 100 gallons of water in their spray for the case bearer and the rose-tite. The latter is a nutritional disease. According to the County Agents office the Sevin powder is one of the safest of the various insecticides and has a long residual.

WTU NOTEBOOK—PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

... its benefit to you

Economic development means developing all of the basic economic resources of a community or area to their fullest potentials, creating new wealth in the area and attracting wealth from outside the area. It CAUSES a higher standard of living for all of the people, making the community a better place to live, work and play. It PROVIDES improved community facilities, increases job opportunities, especially for the young people, and attracts new people to the town.

FIVE BASIC SOURCES FOR ECONOMIC IMPROVEMENT

- INDUSTRY—creates new jobs, utilizing and increasing the labor force's value to the community plus helping to share the tax burden for improved community facilities.
- TOURISM—adds wealth to the community that was created outside of the area, and makes a favorable impression on tourists as a good place to live. Tourists' dollars circulate many times within a community.
- AGRICULTURE—improvement of product yields and quality of products produced plus further processing of the products can add greatly to the economy of an area.
- NATURAL RESOURCES—developed in an area change and increase the wealth as well as providing job opportunities. Depletion of the natural resources can cause adverse effects on the economy.
- GOVERNMENT—local, state and federal institutions and agencies keep tax money in the area and in some cases, bring in additional wealth from the outside.

An object of a sound economic development program is to balance the economy of a community or area from all five sources. ATTENTION and EFFORT should be given to the ones which present the best possible chances for economic development and improvement. Attracting new industries, or the expansion of existing industries, usually provide an excellent opportunity for economic development.
