Exemptions Will Be Determined by Voters in Confusins Elections

The new County Education District and the Constitutional Amendment election Aug. 10 bring more surprises all the time. The situation is so confusing that all voters need to be informed and very careful - or they will vote for something completely opposite from what they wish.

There will actually be two elections on Aug. 10.

Is It a Liver Spot or Skin Cancer?

ess can disguise the symptoms of skin cancer in the elderly. A dermatologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston says what appears as a liver spot may actually be the start of skin cancer.

"As people age, they are increasingly at risk for skin cancer," said Dr. Leonard H. Goldberg, an associate professor of dermatology at Baylor. "Some people ignore a mole or a sore that has grown in size over months and even years and assume it is not serious and of Coleman visited John will go away on its own."

> Skin cancer first appears as a small reddish or brown ulcer, pimple or mole commonly found on the face, neck, hands or soles. In advanced stages, the cancer can spread through the bloodstream to the kidney, liver, bones and lymph glands, causing severe illness and even death.

Of the three forms of skin cancer, basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and malignant melanoma, the latter ranks as the most lifethreatening. All three are associated with long-term sun exposure. Malignant melanoma ously or form in existing moles containing melanocytes, pigment-producing cells that give color to the skin. An estimated 25,000 cases of malignant melanoma are diagnosed each year resulting in 8,000 deaths.

Elderly people with pale skin, freckles and blonde or red hair who have been exposed to intense sunlight for many years are particularly vulnerable to skin cancer. "People with a history of outdoor recreational activity run the greatest risk of developing skin cancer," Goldberg said. "While participating in water sports like fishing or boating, they have exposed their skin to the sun's harsh rays. Adding

THANKS to ones who were a part of the citywide garage sales. This part of the Freedom Festival's success.

The natural aging proc- the reflection from the water results in a double dose of sunlight."

> Nearly all skin cancers diagnosed early can be successfully treated, Goldberg said. The fiveyear melanoma, survival rate is 100 percent, which is attributed to early detection. For advanced melanoma, the rate falls to 50 percent. Changes or new growths should be examined by a physician who may surgically remove the cancer and perform a biopsy.

Goldberg says the elderly can do their part in decreasing their risk of developing skin cancer.

"Wear long-sleeved shirts, hats and sunscreen lotion while outdoors," he said. "Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. when the sun's rays are most damaging." He recommends undressing in front of a mirror monthly and looking for a change in the size, shape or color of moles, blemishes or birthmarks, or a waxy-looking lump or a sore that has not healed or crusts or bleeds.

In some cases, the elderly are unable to look at their entire body because of impaired vision. Goldberg suggests that a family member perform a careful examination.

He advises the elderly to use common sense when exposing the skin the sunlight. "Even though older people do not feel the need to get out in the sun as much as young people, there are many senior adults who still enjoy the great outdoors," Goldberg said. "Take the necessary precautions and see a physician if you are suspicious about a new or preexisting mole or sore."

For more information on how to detect skin cancer, call the Cancer Information Service toll free at 1-800-4- CANCER.

RC&D Committee Discusses Needs Of Community And Organization

Eastland County Committee members of the Leon-Bosque Resource Conservation and Development Area met in Eastland July 11 to discuss various topics.

The meeting was held in the Conference Room of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. A call to order was given by G. A. White, Chairman of the Eastland County RC&D Committee.

Ron Bailey of the Eastland Soil Conservation Service made introductions. Among the officials attending were Ernest Moravec, RC&D Coordinator from Dublin, Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey, and County Comm., of Pct. 1 Richard Robinson.

Ron Bailey asked for suggestions on the best person to fill the position left vacant by the death of Don Shepard of Cisco. Regret was expressed at the loss of Shepard, who had devoted a lot of time to Resource and Development work

The names of several individuals were submitted. A selection will be made from this group, and the name presented to the next Executive Council meeting.

It's rodeo time in Comanche! The Comanche Roping Club's 50th Annual Open Rodeo will be July 18, 19, and 20. Kicking off this Golden Celebration will be a big street parade at 6 p.m., Thursday, July 18. The parade is co-sponsored by the Comanche Chamber of Commerce and the Comanche Roping Club.

Everyone is invited to attend the parade either as a participant or a spectator. The parade will form on West Grand and come around the courthouse to North Austin and back up College Street.

Nightly performances of the rodeo will begin at 8:30 at the arena just west of Comanche on Highway 67/377. Events include bareback riding, calf roping, barrel racing, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team roping, caft scramble, bull riding and the Roping Club's Special Events. Larry Morgan, local professionsl bull fighter, will entertain and protect at this year's per-

Music for the nightly dance on the rodeo grounds will be provided by Kelly Spinks and Miles of Texas Band.

Saturday's performanc will feature the awarding of a saddle donated by the Comanche Roping Club to the 1991 Rodeo Queen. Jessica Cummings, 1990 Queen, will crown the contestant selling the most advance tickets. Queen candidates are Lacey Hall, Andi Hamilton and Shyla Reed. Advance tickets are $2.50 adult and $1.50 children. Tiskets at the gate will be slightly higher.

Special 50th Anniversary highlights include Wayne Evridge of South Dakota, first Roping Club president, as Grand Marshall of the parade. Former rodeo queens, roping club officers and members will be honored Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

and a truck from the Rising Star Fire Department were enroute when notified that the fire was out.

By the time the Cisco Fire Department reached the scene the fire had apparently smothered itself out, a fire department spokesman says. All windows in the well-insulated brick home were closed, and the flames ran out of oxygen. If the fire had continued for 15 more minutes however, the structure would probably been engulfed in flames.

There was little dispersal of water, but firemen did enter the house. Some of the Schaefer family arrived about this time too. They found that the basic structure had not been damaged, but there was heavy smoke damage over the whole house.

No cause for the fire has been determined at this time.

Some of the most brilliant minds in the country assure me we will be able to eradicate fire ants, right after we teach pigs to fly and coyotes to tend sheep. There's an old saying that applies to managing fire ants, 'We're not as far along as we'd like to be, but we're a heckuva lot better offthan where we've been.'

'We're we've been' emphasized the application of some potent pesticides that initially knocked the socks off the pest. Unfortunately, the chemicals did even greater damage to other forms of wildlife, many of them actually helped speed up the spread of the fire ant. Not only that, but the pesticides continued to persist in the environment, with residues showing up in animal tissues years after the chemicals had been applied, the ensuing nightmare found us with fire ants still stinging everything in sight and the pesticides threatening whatever was left.

We've learned from those mistakes. Bait products now available for use on areas with high population densities are definitely less toxic, safer and more effective than any other control technique currently available. In areas where the growthregulator fenoxycarb can be applied, a single springtime application is usually the only treatment needed for the entire year. But the fact remains we need additional resources to come up with the only feasible long-term solution to this problem, a combination of natural, biological control agents, including bacteria, viruses, fungi and other disease pathogens, parasites and maybe even predators, that will eventually put this pest back in balance with nature.

The more we learn, the more it's clear there is no silver bullet that's going to do the job. Research currently underway on the unique system ants use to communicate with each other, accomplished through what scientists call pheromones, holds some promise. Once an area is heavily infested with fire ants, other species are usually driven out, reducing the likelihood any native, beneficial ants might pick up the baits. Nevertheless, native ants would be sure to avoid picking up anything that contained a pheromone identifying it as an imported fire ant.

Another possibility relates to the pheromone released by the queen in single-queen colonies that signals the workers to eliminate all other competing queens. If that pheromone can be isolated, and then slightly altered, it's conceivable the worker ants could be ordered to eliminate all queens, thus putting an end to the colony.

Efforts to isolate the various natural pathogens and parasites keeping the fir ants in check in South America may be a more difficult undertaking. Scientists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture have confirmed what many of us have suspected, we have a higher population density of imported fire ants in Texas than exists in the pest's native habitats in Brazil and Argentina. Initially, that was attributed to the viruses, fungi, other diseases and parasites thought to be keeping South American fire ants under control. There is now evidence that a more plausible explanation is there are many more species of native ants in South America, competing effectively with the fire ants and limiting their spread. Very few people would consider importing more ants into this country to be a viable solution to the fire ant problem. However, if each individual pathogen or parasite took out just 5 percent of the population, we may be able to stack enough of them together to make a difference.

While we continue to support research efforts. there are some ways you can keep the pest out of specifically targeted locations. If you'll drop a note to the Pest Management Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, TX 78711, we'll send you a copy of our fire ant pamplet. We're also developing a video on how to properly apply the baits and other products to achieve good results.

Fire ants may be here to stay, but the problems they cause can be managed by keeping the population densities under control.

RJC Baseball Camp Begins On July 22

Ranger Junior College Head Baseball Coach Don Flowers and his coaching staff will direct the next athletic camp scheduled for area young people on the campus this summer. Baseball camp for boys ages 8-18 will begin Monday, July 22 and run at 817-647-3234. through Friday, July 26. Camp for boys 8-12 will be from 9:00 AM to 12 noon. Camp for boys 13-18 will be from 1:00 PM to 4:00 PM.

According to Coach Flowers, the time will be devoted to basic fundamentals of baseball, including hitting, fielding, pitching, catching, and baserunning. Players will be divided according to age to receive instruction.

Coach Flowers has coached the RJC baseball team for five years. The Rangers have reached the State Junior College Tournament in two of those years, 1986 and 1991. The 1991 Rangers were Central Zone Conference wide, the Homestead exemptions on a local level will be dead too, for the Constitutional Election sets the provisions for the School Election.

Proposition 2 on the State Ballot is quite different from the first one. It deals with the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students. Most comment on this is favorable, and it stands a chance to pass.

On the School District Elections Aug. 10: No official Sample ballot is available to the newspaper at this time. But here is the order of the Propositions and the general text - without Spanish translation.

Proposition No. 1 provides for the taxation of all tangible personal property, other than manufactured homes, in Eastland County Education District that is not held or used for the production of income.

Note that this provision is similar to the one entangled in Proposition 1 of the State Sample Ballot published here. But here you have the opportunity to vote on this proposal without voting on the Homestead exemption at the same time.

Proposition No. 2, School District Election, lists the exemption of $10,000 of the market value of the resident homestead of an individual who is disabled, and of $10,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of an individual who is 65 or older from advalorem taxation in the Eastland County Education District.

Proposition 3 gives an opportunity to vote "for" or "against" an exemption of 20 percent of the market value of the residence homestead from ad valorum taxation in the one official said. Any type of personal property taxes is described as a "nightmare" to assess, render and collect. The cost of such an undertaking would be high, and it would be time consuming.

Probably some of the first items to be taxed under Personal Property taxation would be cars, boats, etc. The way the proposals read, the State would actually have the right to tax much more than that.

But consider cars - if you own two automobiles at about $10,000 each, and the tax valuation was .80 cents per $100, your extra tax bill could run around $160 annually on just these items.

The County Education District was established recently by Senate Bill 351. The propositions on the School Districts ballot come from Senate Joint Resolution No. 42.

The new District is a consolidation of local school districts within its boundaries, and is supposed to exist for the limited purpose of collecting and distribute a portion of the school taxes. Its power comes from the State, although local people have been named to serve on the Board.

A number of people have stated that they do not understand this situation or the various propositions on the State and School ballots. It is urgent that all be informed as much as possible on these very important elec-

On the proposed Constitutional Amendments (State Election) you may cast an Absentee Ballot from July 22 through August 6 in the Office of the County Clerk, First Floor of the Courthouse, Eastland.

Cases are pending in Court to throw out the whole new School Finance Plan, with which the County Education District is involved. This newspaper will keep the public informed on developments.

Gator Hunts Announced

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will conduct public hunts for alligators on five departmental areas during September. Officials said completed applications from prospective alligator hunters must be re- Matagorda County, the ceived in Austin headquarters by 5 p.m. August 6. Applicants selected by drawing will be Rim State Park in Jefferrequired to pay a $50.00 permit fee. A $35.00 alligator hunter's license or additional information (4300.00 for nonresidents) also is required for each permitted hunter. An additional $120.00 tagging fee will be assessed only for those successful hunters who choose to have their alligator tagged for commercial sale.

Last year 587 people applied for the hunts and the 235 participating hunters harvested 136 surplus alligators. This year officials expect to issue about 400 permits.

> Hunts are scheduled on the Guadalupe Delta Wildlife Management area in Calhoun County, the J. D. Murphree WMA in Jefferson County, the Mad Island WMA in Old River Unit of the Lower Neches WMA in Orange County and Sea son County.

The Texas Department ments on the state plan for the Child Care and Development Block Grant. Texas will be elisible to receive approximately $67.8 million in Child Care and Development Block Grant funds on September 7, 1991. These new federal funds are to be used to purchase child care for children of eligible low income families and for various activities that would improve the quality of child care. All interested parties statewide are encouraged to attend.

> DHS must submit the state plan for approval to the Office of Health and Human Services in Washington, D.C., by July 24, 1991. Copies of the draft state plan will be available at the hearings. DHS staff will present an overview of the draft prior to receiving comments. The public hearings are scheduled as follows:

July 16, 1991-1:30 p.m. Arlington Community Center, 2800 South Center Street, Arlington, Texas, (817) 465-6661.

July 17, 1991-1:30 p.m. DHS Regional Headquarters, 3635 Southeast Military Drive, San Antonio, Texas, (512) 337-3227.

IT'S HONEY-DEW TIME ALREADY

It's that time of the year again when pecan trees begin to rain honey-dew on everything under them. Based on the number of telephone calls some people are already covered in honey-dew.

Honey-dew is the byproduct of the yellow aphid feeding on the pecan tree leaves. Generally the yellow aphid will make it's appearance every year. When large numbers of these pest build up a large amount of honey-dew will be the result.

The yellow aphid feeds on the pecan leaf by sucking the fluid from the leaves. A heavy population can affect the pecan tree and reduce pecan yield. MAYNARD REAL ESTATE

Ageneral recommendation is to control yellow aphids when an average of 20 aphids per compound leaf is found or when excessive honey-dew is produced and aphid population persist. There are other facts that you the homeowner should consider before you apply any control measures.

When you apply any insecticide to control the yellow aphid you will also eliminate most of your beneficial insects such as the ladybird beetle and lacewing. The beneficial insects take longer to build up their population than the yellow aphid. Most often once you make an insecticide application to control the yellow aphid the population will build back up.

This means you will probably have to make repeated insecticide applications because there will not be enough beneficials to control the yellow
