· If you are isolated in a level, open field and you begin to feel your hair stand on end, indicating that lightning may be about to strike, drop to your knees and bend forward putting your hands on your lalees. Tornado Safety Rules

TORNADO WATCH means that tornado development is possible. Keep a watchful eye on the sky for threatening weather, and stay tuned to radio, television, or NOAA Weather Radio for the latest weather information.

A TORNADO WARN-ING means a tornado has been sighted or indicated by weather radar. Persons in the path of the storm should seek shelter immediately, preferably on the lowest floor of a substantial building.

IN HOMES: A basement offers the greatest safety. In homes without a basement, take cover in the center part of the house, on the lowest floor, and in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. Stay away from windows. Do not attempt to open

IN SCHOOLS, HOSPI-TALS, AND SHOPPING CENTERS: Move to predesignated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floor are best. If the building is not of rein-

· Do not try to drive forced construction, go to a nearby one that is. Stay · Abandon your vehicle out of auditoriums, gyms, and other structures with long, wide free-span roofs.

IN YOUR CAR: Do not try to outrun a tornado. If available, leave your car and get into the nearest ditch or depression until the tornado passes. Cover your head with your INMOBILE HOMES: Mobile homes and trailers are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds or tornadoes are possible. Mobile home communities and trailer parks should have a community storm shelter. If there is no shelter nearby, leave the trailer and take cover in a ditch or depression.

> Thunderstorm Downbursts

Downburst. You may have heard this fairly new term tossed around lately. What exactly is a thunderstorm downburst? Simply put, a downburst is the outrush of wind from a mature thunderstorm. So if you have ever felt a wind gust from a thunderstorm, you have experienced a type of downburst. But usually, downburst is applied to a sudden and violent outrush of wind from a thun-

A mature thunderstorm has two main areas. One is the updraft where large amounts of warm, moist air are drawn into the storm. The other area is the downdraft. This is an area of rain and downward moving cool air. The rain cools the air around it making it heavier. This rain cooled air accelerates downward producing a potentially damaging outrush of wind.

Typically, a downdraft from a thunderstorm will reach a speed of 30 to 40 miles an hour, but they have been clocked around 100 miles an hour. Strong downbursts are often mistaken for tornadoes. They can produce extensive damage and are often accompanied by a roaring sound similar to a tornado. Downbursts can easily overturn mobile homes, tear roofs off houses, and topple trees.

Downbursts are usually subdivided into macrobursts or microbursts

SMALL BUSINESS Q & A

Recession Brings New Opportunities

It's frustrating. Business has been so slow lately, I don't know what to do. sell office supplies to small and midsize businesses. But most of these businesses are struggling so much, they have seriously curtailed their purchases.

I tried lowering prices and conducting special sales, hoping to boost volume. But these actions have only cut into my already meager profits. Help!

During recessionary times, don't A forget ... the very situations that create hardship also create opportunities. It all boils down to whether you look at the glass as being half-full or half-empty.

To uncover these opportunities, stop worrying so much about your own financial difficulties. Instead, start worrying about the financial difficulties of your customers. Go on an all-out campaign to help your customers rid themselves of their difficulties.

Why? Your customers are clearly desperate to improve their efficiency, productivity, cash-flow, bottom-line. Help them achieve these goals fast, and you'll capture more business fast.

· Go beyond the obvious. Lowering your prices alone won't do the trick, as you've seen. If customers have learned to live without certain supplies, it doesn't matter how much you lower your prices.

· Go back to basics. Gain an in-depth understanding of how your customer's company operates. Then, use this knowledge to help them streamline their processes and reduce their costs ... using supplies and equipment you offer.

For example, Paychex, a payroll services company in Rochester, New York, helped customers streamline the process of paying payroll taxes on time. Nearly one out of five existing customers signed up for this productivity-boosting service. Thus, Paychex is enjoying record sales, even though total customer volume

■ Be flexible. Re-think every product or service you offer so it caters to your customers' current financial perspective.

For example, Tuttle Law Print, a printing company in Rutland, Vermont, acknowledged the new economic reality by emphasizing bankruptcy forms and software in their advertising. Needless to say, business is booming. . Revamp your advertising techniques. Rather than merely touting low prices in your advertisements, give your customers a helping hand.

Tuttle's ads guide customers through the maze of regulations with simple descriptions of the various "chapters" of bankruptcy and the corresponding forms.

Learn from this example. So, if you sell time and money customers can save when they fax rather than mail their letters. Help them get the most for their money by pinpointing the "best buys" for their individual applications. Become the company they automatically turn to whenever they need help in coping with these tough times.

As a service to readers of this newspaper, Cynergetics' recent report, "5 fatal mistakes that small business advertisers make ... and how you can avoid them," regularly $8, is being made available FREE.

Sadowski Says Stenholm Is "Out Of Touch" With People

Jeannie Sadowski Republican nominee for the 17th Congressional district, says Congressman Charles Stenholm's role in the check-bouncing scandal is another sign he is out of touch with the people back home.

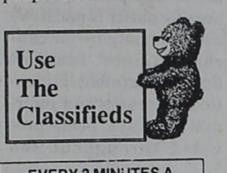

"This episode is another example of members of Congress living by different rules than the rest of us," Mrs. Sadowski said. "When you and I bounce a check or have an overdraft, we're charged for it. If we bounced as many as Congress did, we might go to jail."

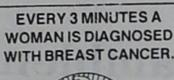

Last year, when news about the scandal first became public, Stenholm issued a statement saying he did not bounce any checks at the special House of Representatives bank in Washington. Then, a week later, he admitted he did bounce checks, she said.

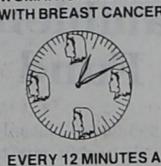

Last week, Stenholm said he bounced 50-100 checks but did not release the exact amount of checks or the total dollar amount, she said.

"Will this be an issue in the campaign? You bet it will." Mrs. Sadowski said. "The check-bouncing, along with Stenholm's vote for gun control, and his vote against the flag amendment, are signs he is out of touch with the people back home."

Big Trade Show Kicks Off Annual San Antonio Cattlemen's Convention

One-stop shopping for busy ranchers, farmers, cowboys and their families is the name of the game at the annual trade show of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in San Antonio March 23-24, says TSCRA President James B. "Jimmy" Owen of Tyler.

This year's trade show, boasting more than 260 exhibits, will be held in the San Antonio Convention Center in conjunction with the 115th annual TSCRA convention, which is expected to draw approximately 3,000 workwith a few fish coming in the mid lake area from shallow water. Home fish up to 5 pounds were taken but they were far & few between. Catfish fair upriver, crappie slow.

TSCRA is one of the oldest and largest cattle trade associations in the United States. Its trade show is one of the more diverse agribusiness displays in the Southwest.

"If you ranch or farm in the Southwest, you will have a hard time finding a bigger, better or more interesting trade show than ours," Owen says.

The trade show will be open 1-7 p.m. Sunday, March 22, and 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, March 23-24. A welcome cocktail party for all convention registrants will be held in the trade show Sunday evening with similar functions each afternoon of the

Tidemarks Released by Texas Research League

Rising Star and May ISD Figures

AUSTIN—In 1990-91 school trustees budgeted 30 percent more for operating high schools than for elementary sites. Statewide an average of $3,280 per student was budgeted for high schools, $2,645 for the 1, 073 middle schools and $2,543 per child for the 3,594 elementary schools in Texas. In addition, $1,014 per student was budgeted for the central office.

For the Rising Star ISD the figures were $3,901.54 for high schools, $0 for middle schools and $3,357.86 for the elementary campuses while $883.08 per student was budgeted for the central office.

For the May ISD the figures were $4,253.90 for high schools, $0 for middle schools and $2,279.72 for the elementary campuses while $1,765.47 per student was budgeted for the central office.

The figures come from a new report, "Tidemarks

1990-91 School Campus Budgets in Texas," a publication of the Texas Research League, an Austinbased, educational corporation engaged in governmental research. The report also lists the amounts for direct classroom instruction. The statewide averages were $2,366 per student for high schools, $1,965 for middle schools and $2,030 for elementary campuses.

For the Rising Star ISD the comparable figures were $2,794.08 for high schools, $0 for middle schools and $2,476.38 for elementary grades.

For the May ISD the comparable figures were $3,414.97 for high schools, $0 for middle schools and $2,012.53 for elementary grades. The report is designed to provide reference points for site-based committees and the taxpaying public to evaluate future school budgets by types of campuses and for individual high school sites.

Excluding small singlecampus schools, there are 1,059 high schools in Texas ranging in size from 83 schools with less than 100 students to seven campuses with more than 3,000 students. For these high schools, $2,328 was budgeted per student for classroom instruction, or 72.3 percent of the $3,221 per student for total operating expenses.

Locally, Rising Star High School had $2,794.08 for classroom instruction and $3,901.54 for total operating expenses (71.6 percent).

May High School had $3,414.97 for classroom instruction and $4,253.90 for total operating expenses (80.3 percent).

The Rising Star High School had $352.29 per student for school administration, $384.91 for cocurricular activities including extra curricular, $55.57 for guidance and counseling and $242.80 per pupil for plant maintenance.

The May High School had $618.97 per student for school administration, $49.48 for cocurricular activities including extra curricular, $4.48 for guidance and counseling and $0 per pupil for plant maintenance.

The legislature provided in HB 2885 for sitebased decisions relating to goal setting, curriculum, budgeting, staffing patterns and school organization. Proponents contend that school boards and superintendents should grant greater latitude to campus level educators in exchange for an initial promise of more productive educational services for the students.

While there is little evidence to indicate that by itself school-based management will improve student achievement, as a management tool in the right hands, the report concludes that it may be helpful.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - House Speaker Gib Lewis last week proposed massive, forced consolidation of school districts to satisfy a court order to equalize education funding.

The lame-duck speaker's proposed legislation would reduce the number of independent school districts from 1,066 to 188. The new megadistricts would use the boundary lines of the year-old county education districts.

"Consolidation is the ultimate, permanent solution to the issues of equality and school finance," Lewis said, endorsing the idea that is viewed by many as politically risky as a state income tax.

Gov. Ann Richards is expected to call a special session in mid-May to overhaul the present system of school funding which was ruled unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court.

Balance Rich and Poor

Lewis said consolidation would not require a constitutional amendment, would balance funding among rich and poor districts, and save an estimated $422 million next year by trimming bureaucrats.

Lewis said his plan would probably close some rural schools, But he said it would provide every child in Texas with equal access to education funds.

The last forced consolidation of school districts occurred in 1949, when the Gilmer-Akin education reform law eliminated 2,000 school districts, leaving

Opponents of the idea fear it will diminish local control of school districts; in metropolitan counties, it could lump 300,000 to 500,000 students into one district.

"I don't like it myself," said Lewis, "but at the same time we have to realize that we must move on. Nothing else would be as fair."

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock reserved judgement on Lewis' plan, explaining that he is working on one of his own. But Bullock said Lewis' plan is "a real solution to the school finance problem and it will solve the problem. People in Texas are in no mood for taxes. It doesn't raise taxes.

Buchanan Warned

Days after the eye of the primaries passed through Texas, both parties tried to bring the inner-healing process.

National GOP chairman Richard Bond, touring the Astrodome where Republicans will hold their national convention, warned challenger Pat Buchanan to quit bashing President Bush or risk being shunned.

"It's time for the healing to begin and the fighting to stop," Bond advised. "Turn out the lights, the party's over."

Bond also said David Duke wasn't welcome at the convention. "He's a racist and a bigot, and we don't want him.'

Buchanan wasn't warming; he told the press he would not endorse President Bush if Bond stayed as party chairman.

Clinton Likes Bentsen

Meanwhile, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said Democrat frontrunner Bill Clinton would endorse U.S. Sen Lloyd Bentsen, if Clinton's own campaign is derailed.

Mauro, who is Clinton's campaign manager in Texas, told party leaders at the Texas AFL-CIO headquarters that Clinton has twice given Bentsen that same message.

Should another scandal knock Clinton out of the race, which Mauro said was not going to happen, it is a real possibility that Clinton would ask his delegates to endorse Bentsen.

Other Highlights

■ The 3rd Court of Appeals upheld a lower court ruling that the state's sodomy law which outlaws gay and lesbian sex — is unconstitutional because it violates the Texas right to privacy. Attorney General Dan Morales said he would probably appeal the decision to the Texas Supreme Court, but Gov. Richards applauded the ruling, saying the law "hasn't any business being in the statute books."

 Texas could lose up to $105 million in federal highway funds if it doesn't remove 9,000 billboards which do not comply with the Highway Beautification Act. Owners of illegal signs are supposed to remove them by June

Fraley Given Award

Schools and now of Grenada, Miss., is a senior in the Grenada High School. Michael was chosen as president of the student council body, of 975 students, of which 225 are seniors this year.

Michael has made many outstanding achievements in the last four years in his school work in Grenada High School. He was a member of the Grenada High Marching Band during his freshman, sophomore and junior years. he played trumpet and achieved the position of "first chair' in the trumpet section. The Grenada High Marching Band of 250 members travels extensively all over the Eastern United States, winning many championship and grand champion awards and rophies. Michael enjoyed the band very much, but decided not to play in the band at the beginning of his senior year since there were too many other things he wanted to do this last year of school and wouldn't have time to travel with the band. Soon after becoming president of the student council body, he decided it would be 'great' to be able to plant trees around the high school campus. He contacted the Mississippi State Forestry Commission and found they were eager to cooperate and assist with the project. Soon, with the encouragement and help of the faculty, the project was underway. Michael found there were others who also were ready to help, including the North-

Michael was also recently awarded the Exchange Club Student of the Month Award.

Michael loves going to school in Grenada High and his happy, outgoing (and sometimes mischievous) personality has won him many friends in the student body, as well as the faculty and towns-

He plans to enroll this fall in the famous "Old Miss" college in Oxford, Miss. and major in journalism.

His grandmother, Mrs. Neoma McGinn of Rising Star, is very proud of him and his many achievements. Michael has a little sister, Krystal, 11 years old and in the fifth grade, who seems to be following in his footsteps in his many achievements. Michael is the son of Verilyn and Sammie Harbin of Grenada, Miss. and Don and Kay Fraley of Rising Star. His grandparents, other than Mrs. McGinn, were the late Rev. MEMORY

Is a precious gift of a time so long ago like the passing of a shadow or the closing of a door

As I go down memory lane I see visions of the past when each day was a pleasure and now its just a task

As I gaze across the valley and see the wild flowers blooming there I smell the fragrant of their sweetness as it is brought to me in the air

And then I met my Jesus as His story to me was told He's the Master of yesterday, today, and tomorrow as each day His blessing to us unfolds.

Ranger 1 Of 47 On List For 51 Possible Sites

still in the running are Big Spring, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Mitchell County, Snyder and two in Abilene.

Sixteen communities statewide eliminated Monday.

The Texas Criminal Justice Board announced the "short list" of 47 cities representing 51 potential prison sites that are still under consideration for new prison units.

Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, and Carrizo Springs proposed two sites.

The winners will be announced April 10 at a special meeting of the board. All competing cities will conduct public hearings with prison officials prior to then.

At stake are at least 21 and possibly as many as 36 new prison units.

Josh Allen, chairman of the substance abuse subcommittee of the TDCJ board, said the total number of new units to be built is yet to be decided.

The new prisons will include three 2,250-bed maximum-security units, six 1,000-bed minimumsecurity units and an undetermined number of units to house and treat 12,000 substance abusers.

Allen said the legislation funding the new pris-

Other "short list" cities ons suggested six 1,000bed and a dozen 500-bed substance abuse units, but it also presented options of purchasing and renovating existing facilities, such as unused private prisons or state hospitals scheduled for clo-

> While strictly incarceration facilities can be placed virtually anywhere in the state, there will be several criteria involved in placing the substance abuse units, Allen said.

"They will have to be built close enough to a metropolitan area to ensure the availability of qualified personnel to staff the facilities," he said. "There are also family and after care issues to be factored in."

Prison board Chairman Selden Hale has said he was leaning toward breaking up a maximumsecurity unit into four separate smaller "pods" to be scattered around the state but would defer to the recommendation of the prison system staff.

Abilene officials submitted proposals that would provide land, utility hookups and cash and geared their proposals toward landing a substance abuse facility. The cash incentive would vary from a low of $1 million to as much as $4.25 million according to the size and type of unit, as well as which of the two sites the state chose to build on.

Ranger wasn't able to offer the most lucrative incentive package, but it proposal may have received a political boost.

When TDCJ staff arrived in Ranger to visit the proposed site, State Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, told the prison officials that if they were looking to help the most depressed areas, they couldn't find a better place than Ranger to build a prison.

Breckenridge has made the short list each of the three times it has submitted bids for new prisons.

Other communities still in the running for a prison unit are:

Agua Dulce, Anderson County, Beaumont, Borger Bowie County,

Brownfield, Bryan-College Station, Burnet, Childress, Cuero, Dalhart, Dimmit, Edinburg, El Paso, Fannin County;

Stockton, Fort Gatesville, Hereford, Hondo, Jasper, Karnes County, Liberty, Lufkin, Muleshoe, Odessa, Overton, Pampa, Plainview, Ranger, Refugio, Rusk;

San Diego, Shamrock, Starr County, Upshur County, Wichita Falls, Willacy County and Wood County.

The 15 eliminated from contention include: Stamford, Aransas, Pass. Beeville, Brooks County, Hardin County, Itasca, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Lockhart, Marlin, Pleasanton, Seymour, Trans-Pecos, Woodville and Zapata.

Social Security Travel Schedule

The Federal Budgethas affected the Social Security Administration in several ways. One of these is that we have less money to pay travel expenses. So, we have had to reduce our travel schedule. We regret the inconvenience and will resume our normal travel schedule when, and if, funds are made available.
