"My Git Up and Git has Got Up and Went," 91-year-old W. C. Clements of Cisco told the Rising Star Lions Club two weeks ago. Some 20 members of the club and their guests thought differently. The sentiment was the title of one of the humorous and serious poems with which the Cisco nongenarian entertained the club for about 20 minutes, and his performance was unexpected, to say it mildly, and certainly enjoyed.

The most remarkable fact was his ability to memorize stanza after stanza of his recitations. Some of them were several minutes in length. One of his pieces was "The Bridge Builder," as I recall the title, familiar to many of us from school days, and another humorous narrative "But I Ain't Dead Yet."

Mr. Clements, who has "never been sick a day in my life" and who works regularly in his blacksmith shop on S. D Avenue, Cisco, began his entertaining hobby about nine years ago. He has appeared before service clubs and other organizations at Cisco, Fort Worth and other places, and always get a big hand. He makes no charge for his services.

But he wasn't satisfied with his performance before the Rising Star Club the other night. It didn't have enough zong to it.

"I just got a new pair of false teeth," he explained, "and I haven't got used to them."

"A germ, is a germ, is a germ," to paraphrase Gertrude Stein who seemed unable to decide whether a rose was anything more than just a rose.

It made little difference to me, last week, whether a germ was fish, flesh or fowl, animal or vegetable. My sole interest, such as I had left, was in getting rid of a colony of the critters which occupied a reservation of my posterior annointments and raised havoc. It was quite a job.

My preoccupation with this invasion and its consequences have reduced my energy considerable. For that reason this week's issue of the Record comes to you smaller in size than usual. We'll endeavor to make up for the lost volume next week.

Next week is Star Friday week. It coincides with the opening of school emphasis and you'll be looking for some unusual bargains which the merchants of Rising Star will be offering in the pages of the Record.

The event, incidentally, will be the final one of a series which began last spring as a cooperative advertising effort to call attention to the fact that Rising Star merchants can sell as good merchandise at as low prices as merchants somewhere else.

Patronize your home town business man. He helps you in more ways than by simply furnishing merchandise at lowest prices. He is the key to the stability of your community and the value of your property.

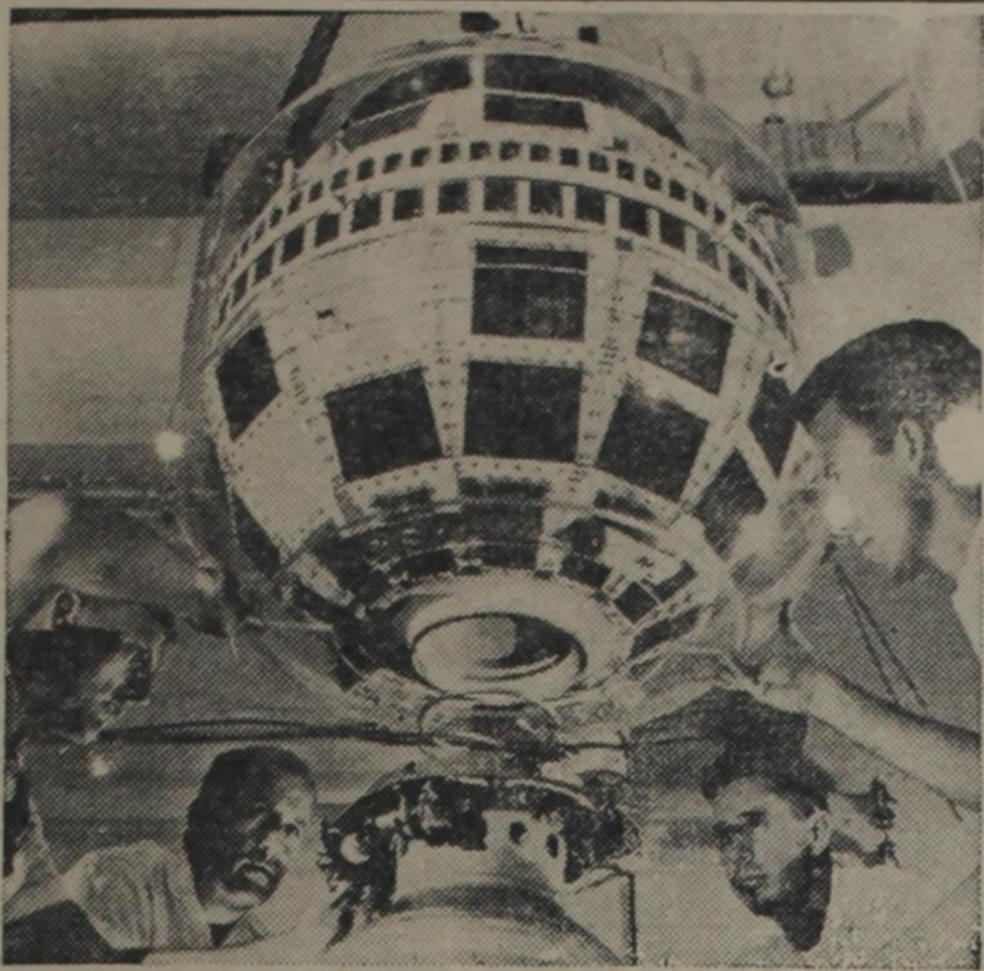

There seems to be a reluctance on the part of our political leaders to challenge the people with facts. They are too sensitive to the vote.

But I believe the American people are not so naive and shortsightedly selfish that they can't face the truth with appreciation of its seriousness and respect for the courage of a leadership that is willing to hold it up.

If we really want a tax reduction that will spur the economy, there is a way to get it with double benefit. A pared down federal budget that will cut out all non-essentials and bring income in line with outgo will do two things — it will slow down, if not reduce, inflation and make possible savings in the cost of living, and it will reward us with sound tax cutting opportunities that will not create a further deficit.

By halting inflation it will take the pressures off state and (Continued on Page Two)

Telstar Model To Be At 1962 State Fair

A full size model of the Telstar satellite which was launched into orbit early in July will be a feature of the new Telephone Exhibit at the 1962 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-21, in Dallas. The Telstar, shown here undergoing tests, is 34 inches in diameter and has 72 flat faces or facets. The Telephone Exhibit, to be completely redesigned for the 1962 Fair, will occupy a prime exhibit area in the World Exhibits Building.

1962 School Enrollment Near Last Year's Seen

Enrollment in the 1962-63 term of Rising Star public schools is expected to be about the same as last year when the term opens on Tuesday, September 4, Supt. Sam Jones said.

Actually the term begins on Monday, September 3, but traditionally the schools observe Labor Day and the first day of school will, oddly enough, be a holiday.

Sally Metcalf Buried Monday In May Cemetery

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Monday, August 20, at May Methodist Church for Sally Clark Metcalf, 84, who died at her home in May at 6:30 a. m. Sunday, August 19. She had been ill for two years.

The Rev. Ross Grace, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Leroy Brown of Brownwood, officiated, and Higginbotham Funeral Home here was in charge of burial at the May cemetery.

Mrs. Metcalf, who has lived in Brown county for 83 of her 84 years, was a native of Hill County on April 13, 1878.

She is survived by her husband, D. M. (Doc) Metcalf, who she married at May on February 4, 1901; by four sons, J. D. Metcalf of Austin; John Ramey Metcalf of Dickenson, Texas; Bob Metcalf and Gilbert Metcalf of Brownwood; six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. None of her eight brothers and sisters are living.

Her father, the Rev. E. P. Anderson, who came to Texas from Tennessee, was an old-time Methodist circuit rider.

Pallbearers for the services were Ira Nelson, Ben Cook, Jim Gray, Ernest McBride, Raymond Driskell and Doc McBride.

First year students in the Elementary school will register at that school at 9:30 a. m. Friday. Principal Edward Watkins admonished parents and, under State law, all beginning students must present certified copies of their birth certificates.

One more addition to the faculty was announced by Supt. Sam Jones, thus completing the list of teachers. The new teacher is Calvin Freeman, who returns from Army duty to his former job as cooperative teacher, dividing time between Rising Star and Scranton. He will teach elementary science in the Elementary school during his time here.

A full schedule of classes, bus runs and lunchroom service will start with the first day of school.

Last year's enrollment in the local schools was about 325 students.

Lions Governor To Visit Local Club On Monday

Pete Shotwell, Abilene, Lions district governor, will pay his official visit to the Rising Star Lions Club Monday evening, Aug. 27, which will be the regular club dinner.

Mr. Shotwell, a veteran Texas high school and college football coach with state championship teams to his credit at Abilene, Breckenridge and Longview, is now athletic director at McMurry College, Abilene.

As a Lion he has been one of the most active in crippled childrens work, with a great deal of his time being devoted to the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp at Kerrville.

Members of the club were urged to help secure a full attendance of the club for the meeting.

McDonald, Lee Win Lion's "42" Tourney

H. McDonald and John Lee were the winners of the championship round of the highly successful initial forty-two tournament sponsored by the Rising Star Lions Club two weeks ago.

McDonald and Lee defeated Harry Sone and Bulis McCollum in the final round, surviving a field of 14 teams which began play after the regular Lions program.

Arrangements for the tournament — for which plans to repeat later in the year, are being considered — were made by a committee consisting of Sam Jones, George Steel and Lee Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowers, accompanied by Mrs. Bess Smith, all of Abilene, visited relatives here Sunday.

27 Wildcat Prospects Given Gear

Wildcat grid practice got under way at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon at Wildcat stadium with 24 boys out of a squad of 29 or 30 reporting for the initial practice. Several of the squad are holding down jobs and will not be available for the practice field until school starts.

Equipment was issued to 27 boys Monday morning, and the initial workouts were devoted to drills, skull work and signal practice with practically no contact work. The coaches will send their charges into the more rugged phases of their workouts late in the week as the time draws near for the opening game with the Melvin Tigers, at Melvin September 7. It will be a non-conference game.

Scrimmages with Wylie here on August 27 and Clyde at Clyde on August 30, will give the formative Wildcat eleven a semblance of actual combat before the Melvin game.

Coaches Welton Hill, Frank Gray and Joe Eddie Henry found their boys in very good physical condition for the start of the season, and they were especially well pleased with the attitude of the team. There seemed a definite will to play, Coach Hill reported.

Practise sessions will be held once daily, beginning at 5 o'clock each afternoon during the week.

Response to Polio Vaccine Shows Need for Program

There has been a big response to the Chamber of Commerce request for names of those who would take the Sabin Oral Polio

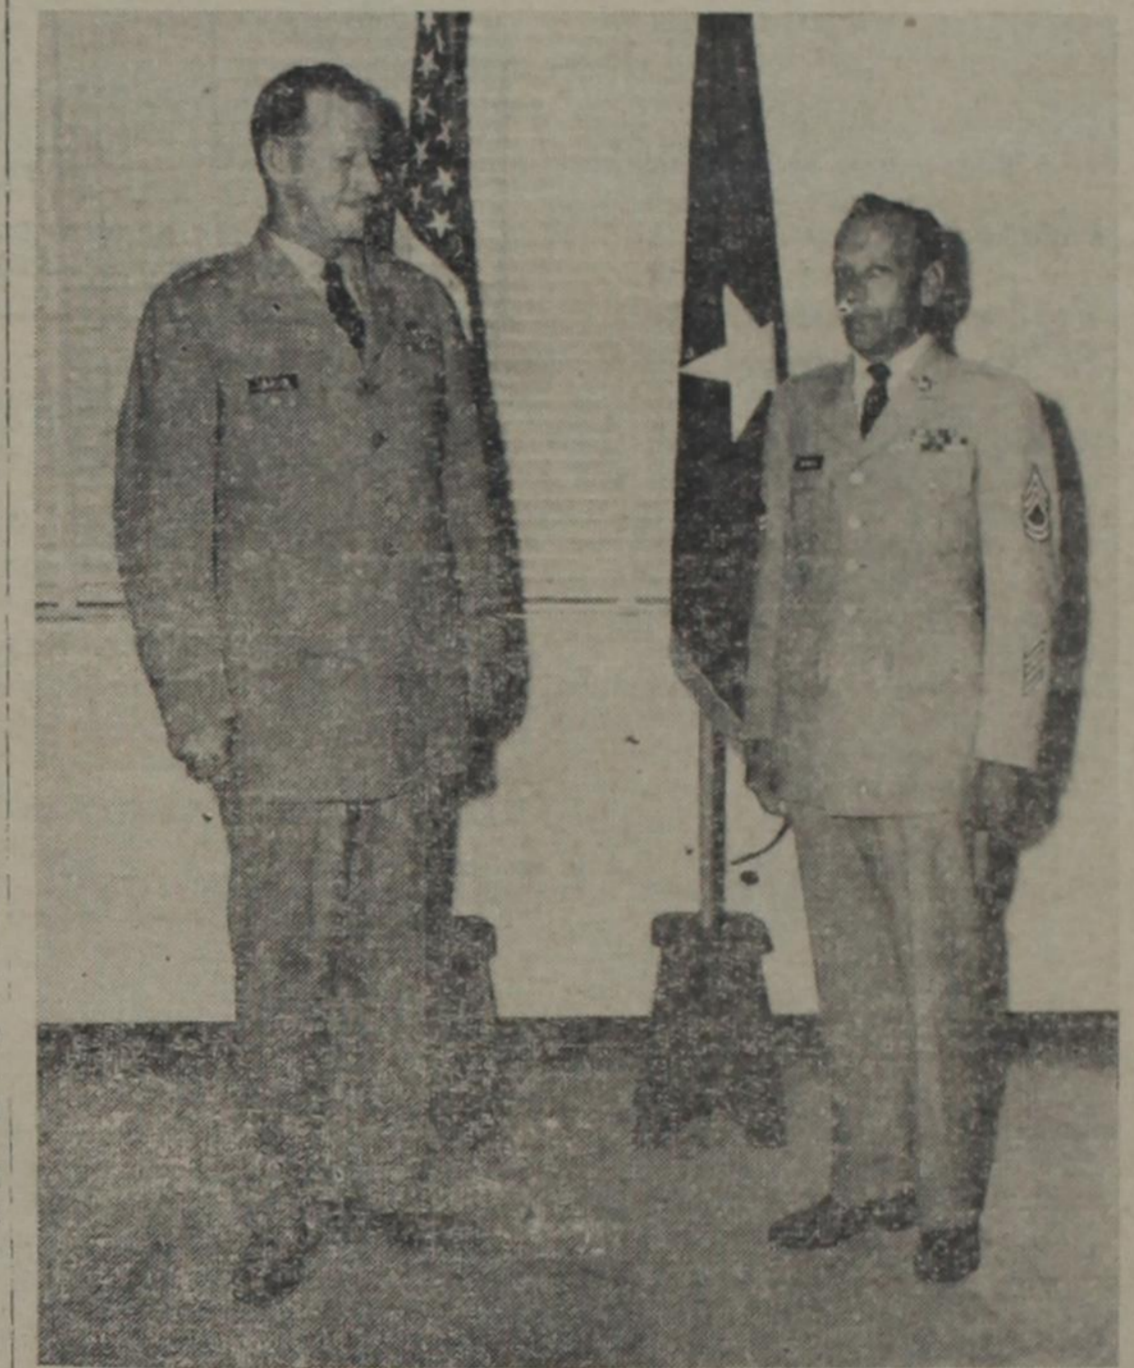

Vaccine which was published in the Record last week, A. D. Jenkins, manager, said. So great has been the response that it is assured the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor a Polio Vaccine Day in Rising Star, he said. Announcement of the arrangements will be made later.

He urged that as much publicity, word of mouth and otherwise, be given the program as possible in order that every person who would be eligible — young and old — to take the vaccine know of the plan for making the vaccine available in Rising Star.

Cost of immunization by means of the vaccine is very small and it is hoped that every person in the area will take it when available in order that polio may be effectively stamped out.

Registration of those who will take the treatment continues at the Chamber of Commerce. It is necessary to have a close estimate of the number to be treated in order to order the proper amount of vaccine he said.

PROMOTED — Sfc Jimmy D. Womack, son-in-law of Mayor and Mrs. Walter Smith of Rising Star, is shown here receiving a promotion from E-6 to E-7 at the Pentagon at Washington where he is assigned to the Defense Communications Agency as a Trip Compiler and Cardographic Draftsman. He, his wife, Barbara, and their son, Jeffrey, plan to make their home in Texas when he retires after three more years of service.

Labor Day Death Toll of 30 Seen By DPS Official

AUSTIN — Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today announced the official estimate that 30 persons will be killed in some 3,000 traffic crashes during the upcoming 72-hour Labor Day weekend.

Commenting on Labor Day travel, Garrison said:

"Many Texas families will take advantage of this last long summer weekend to take trips prior to the opening of school. As a result, traffic will be heavy and the possibilities of traffic crashes will be increased.

"Because this holiday is so much a family affair, more people will be occupying cars. Thus any traffic accident might result in several casualties. This has been evidenced several times on Texas highways in recent weeks. During one seven-day period in August, three crashes claimed the lives of 20 persons."

Garrison noted that during the past eight weeks traffic deaths have increased from four per cent below to two per cent above the toll for the corresponding period of last year.

"But the most alarming thing is that the number of fatal accidents is now running four per cent above last year's figure," he said. "Experience has shown that in nearly every fatal accident a violation of traffic law has been a major causative factor."

In an effort to focus public attention on the Hazards of holiday travel and to compile additional data which will be helpful in improving the State's traffic management program, the Department of Public Safety will conduct "Operation Motorcade" from 12:01 a. m. Saturday, September 1 through 1:59 p. m. Monday, September 3.

During this period, the Department will tabulate all traffic deaths in the State and will issue daily bulletins at 10:00 a. m. 3:00 p. m., and 8:30 p. m.

In an all-out effort to insure driver compliance with traffic regulations and to hold traffic crashes to a minimum, the DPS has made plans to augment its regular Highway Patrol force with some 150 uniformed officers from its other services during this three-day period.

"But the solution to the traffic problem in Texas is in the hands that hold the steering wheels," Garrison said. "Drivers should remind themselves during the Labor Day weekend, and every time they drive, that the operation of a motor vehicle is a full-time job. At no other time are your loved ones more dependent upon you."

Public Hearing On Local School Budget

A public hearing on the budget for the Rising Star public schools for the next term will be held at the City Hall in Rising Star Monday, August 27, at 8 p. m.

Anyone who wishes to attend may do so, it was announced.

Mrs. Viola Ellis of Ft. Worth came Monday and stayed until Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. P. C. Larkin.

Rising Costs Dictate School Renditions Hike

Notices are going out this week from the office of the Rising Star Independent School District to all taxpayers of record announcing a 20 per cent increase in valuations upon which school taxes are based.

The action, in line with what is taking place among school districts all over the section, is made necessary by two conditions over which the school boards have no control:

1. The constant increase in the costs of school operation, and
2. The higher costs caused by higher and higher State educational requirements.

"It is a matter of paying the costs of our schools or eventually losing them," said a board spokesman. "There is no alternative. The schools are affected by the same rising prices that affect other institutions and businesses. We've got to meet them to stay in business. The only income we have is taxes."

Supt. Sam Jones pointed out that the Rising Star schools were

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

The colorful pirate of old captured your imagination but not that of the shipowners or the governments that lost their cargoes and treasurers.

Pirates were "enemies of mankind." Their acts became crimes against that government as well as against the "law of nations." A government would try to catch and to punish them no matter how and where the piracy took place.

From these early days, a rule of international law called "the piracy principle" came into being, as to crimes against mankind. Any nation might seize and punish such a person. He did not need to be one of its citizens. The crimes could be committed inside or outside its territory. Jurisdiction is worldwide.

Nations often punish their own people for crimes beyond its borders. Nations can punish aliens for crime within their borders. They can punish aliens for crimes committed against that country when they later come into that country. A nation can also punish an alien for piracy under international law.

What about war crimes done on orders of superiors? The World War II allies had declared that certain Nazi leaders committed punishable crimes against nations.

Now and then some nations may allow a court to try a person "in absentia." Such trials without the accused present were once popular, but little comes from such trials, and they are not as highly regarded as trials in which a person has a fair chance to defend himself.

Faster Advancement In Naval Reserve

Lt. Condr. Erle C. Mayo, commanding officer of Naval Reserve Electronics Division 8-21, Brownwood, Texas said this week new regulations enable recruits in the Naval Reserve to advance in rating and pay grade at an accelerated pace. Lt. Comdr. Mayo pointed out that recruits opportunity to commence rate training soon after enlistment. Navy men advance in pay grade as they move up in rate.

The Brownwood Unit has pay billets open for both officers and men, Mr. Mayo said. The young man with a military obligation would be considerably ahead by joining the Naval Reserve and attending our weekly drills while he completes his high school or college training. By the time he reaches active duty, he will be considerably ahead in experience and pay grade.

The Naval Reserve has some fine opportunities for young men — Both the New Recruit and the Military Veteran.

Any one interested in learning about the Naval Reserve is invited to visit the Naval Reserve Building any week day or Tuesday Night. The Naval Reserve has its own building on the Howard Payne College campus in Brownwood.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burselson, M. C., 17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C. —The season of allergies is approaching. Ragweed and the things which give a lot of people hay fever will soon be ripe.

There is another allergy which affects some of us all the year round, and probably Washington is the worst place for it. This is the aches of little automobiles, particularly those of foreign make, which run in and out of traffic at a speed which one would suppose comes from some sort of special dispensation or a grant of immunity. Of course, those with no muffler are the most popular kind, and all would be well if you were sitting in the grandstands at the Indianapolis Speedway. As it is, all you can do is try to hold a steady course and hold back the cold sweat. Now that the recommendation of a tax cut has been postponed until the first of 1963, here are savings which could be made by the Congress to justify a tax cut at that time.

The appropriation for foreign aid could be cut almost a billion dollars. An across the board federal pay raise, costing $1 1/4 billion. Standby public works author requested by the President and approved by the Committee, costing almost a billion dollars. Subsidies to elementary and secondary schools in excess of half a billion.

Youth conservation corps of approximately $200 million. Subsidies to Big cities' transportation systems of a billion dollars.

Housing subsidies of one sort and another, $100 million. This adds up to $5 billion.

Other cuts in various programs and the postponement of other spending of one sort and another could further reduce budget requirements to the extent of justifying tax cuts.

Economy could even be effected in our National defense, which now takes about 55 per cent of our total expenditures. Apparently real efforts are being made by Secretary of Defense McNamara to bring about economy in better management and administration.

National Defense, plus interest on the National Debt, plus veterans benefits, plus fixed expenditures under the Farm Program and other obligations which must automatically be met, leaves a comparatively small percentage of total spending on which to exercise judgment and discretion. These particular expenditures mentioned above are those on which the Congress can apply common sense economy.

Of special interest to conservationists and fishermen: The University of Georgia through research and experiments, has found that non-edible fish can be eliminated without harm to the good fish. They have found they can do this by smothering them. It is my understanding that this is not done by catching them and throwing a blanket over their heads, but rather by a process known as Rodenone-base toxicant. Just why it would effect only carp, suckers and the like, I am unable to explain, but it is interesting.

To observe some activities here in Washington often reminds one of what Will Rogers once said when asked during World War I what he would do about the submarine menace.

"Drain the Atlantic," he replied. Asked how he would go about it, he said, "Leave that to the technicians. I am only a thinker."

local taxes, too, and help effect further savings in those fields. If federal expenses are to continue to rise there is really very little prospect for any real tax reduction anywhere. We can, on the contrary, expect all taxes to continue to go up along with a rising cost of living.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Over 15 million meals will be served in 20,000 Texas eating establishments this week. If you're average you'll eat at least two of them.

You could go into the vast majority of those restaurants and cafeterias and be assured of getting a wholesome meal — totally oblivious of the fact that you're eating food cooked and served by complete strangers.

How can this be, especially since some 26 different diseases can be spread by improperly handled food? Included in the list are such scourges as trichinosis, the deadly botulism, strep infections, and salmonellosis (food poisoning).

There are many reasons of course, but among the main ones are the three-day short courses in sanitation conducted by the State Department of Health for persons engaged in food preparation and service. In the past five years, according to official records, thousands of Texans have taken instruction.

The subject matter, presented in a non-technical, easy-to-understand style with films and demonstrations, covers such essential points as basic bacteriology, insect control and personal hygiene.

One public health instructor from the Department's Division of Public Health Education, assisted by local health officials, will put on a course anywhere in the State on request. Attendance is open to anyone, but usually those who come to the two-hour daily sessions are cafe and cafeteria personnel.

Some cities encourage total participation of all foodhandlers and one city has an ordinance requiring attendance.

When a restaurant employee completes the instruction, he is given a certificate of attendance, signed by the State Health Commissioner and attesting the fact that he has had the course. And when 80 percent of the workers in a food service establishment complete the course, the restaurant is awarded a placard suitable for framing and display so customers can see. The owner has an interest in health protection.

All of which accentuate the importance of the short courses — and of the placard awarded to cafes when they support them. The next time you eat out look for it. It is a pledge to you that the restaurant is interested in your welfare.

Mrs. Walter Chambers, a member of the music faculty of Southwestern University, Georgetown, has gone to Detroit, Mich., to a music convention.

Charter Granted To Eastland Co. Hereford Breeders

A charter was recently granted by the state of Texas certifying the incorporation of the Eastland County Hereford Breeders' Association. The association, composed of some fifteen breeders of registered Hereford cattle in Eastland county, met in Gorman August 8 to elect officers and to adopt association by-laws. Present were Ed Harrison, Ross Wilson, Robert Whitt and Deon Kirk of Gorman; T. L. Wheat, R. G. Wheat, Wince Graham, Raymond Beck, and Bill Hoffman Eastland; E. F. Penn and David Pickler, Ranger; and Hardy Tidwell, Desdemona. Also present and assisting in the meeting were J. M. agent tshddde, wmadtdioDuk Cooper, County Agricultural Agent and Roger Blackmon, Assistant Agricultural Agent.

Ross Wilson, Gorman, was elected president of the association. Ed Harrison, Gorman, was elected vice-president and Glyn G. Llam of Eastland was elected secretary-treasurer. The association was formed for the purpose of uniting the breeders of Hereford cattle to secure close cooperation between the breeders of the county in matters pertaining to promotion of the breed. It is also contemplated that this association will work closely with the American Hereford Association, Texas Hereford Association and the local FFA and 4-H groups. Membership in the association will be of three classes: active, associate and sustaining. Active membership is confined to Hereford breeders residing in the county with cattle in or out of the county, and Hereford breeders residing out of the county, but maintaining registered Hereford cattle in Eastland county.

A sale committee was appointed by the president, composed of David Pickler, Ranger; T. G. Caudle, Cisco; T. L. Wheat, Eastland, and Hardy Tidwell, Desdemona, to investigate the possibility of holding a sale of registered Hereford cattle either in December of this year or next March, depending upon the numbers of cattle available at each time. The association members also discussed the possibility of conducting a Hereford field day this fall or a tour of the various ranches some time this year.

Texas Highway Costs 40 Per Cent Below Average

AUSTIN—The cost per mile of building the Interstate Highway System in Texas is running some 40 per cent below the national average, the Texas Highway Department said today.

Figures compiled by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads show that Texas will complete its portion of the Interstate System at an estimated $610,000 per mile — as compared with the national average of approximately $1 million per mile.

(The Interstate System is a 41,000-mile nationwide network of super highways scheduled to be completed in 1972. Texas' portion of the system will total 3,027 miles.) Comparison of the Texas cost with that of some of the other large states revealed these figures: California, $1.7 million per mile; Illinois, $1.3 million per mile; New York, $1.7 million per mile; Ohio, $1.7 million per mile; and Pennsylvania, $1.5 million per mile.

Since the beginning of the Interstate Program in 1956, Texas has consistently led the nation in miles open to traffic and work in progress. The latest quarterly report of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, dated August 3, reveals that Texas maintains this lead. Texas now has 1,018.5 Interstate miles open to traffic and 1,322 miles of work in progress.

(Texas also leads all other states in highway building under the Federal-aid primary and secondary systems. Since 1956, Texas has built 11,088 miles under these programs.)

What are the reasons behind Texas' low cost-per-mile in building its Interstate routes? State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer listed the following factors:

—Advance planning by the Texas Highway Department in Anticipation of Interstate needs. Texas "stockpiled" engineering plans and thus was able to get an early start on its building program. This planning also built a team of engineers experienced in Interstate-type work, which has resulted in lower engineering costs on this program.

—A steady and planned flow of construction work each month (made possible by the advanced planning). This even flow of work has effectively stabilized the Texas road contracting industry and resulted in lower contract costs.

—Cooperation of Texas counties and cities, many of which provided much-needed right of
