He has pastored churches in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas and Washington.

The parade will be led by a color guard from Dyess Air Force Base, followed by a Humvee, which was used in Desert Storm. Results of the coloring contest, sponsored by the Saturday Club, will be displayed on the windows of the Higginbotham building downtown.

Ah, the park! Admire the pavilion that will give a great shade and allow breezes to blow through and the new restroom facilities a short distance away. Colquitt E. Williams Memorial Park, often called City Park because that's so much shorter, is in the process of being upgraded considerably through a state grant, the City of Rising Star, volunteers and donors. Many trees, including a tree to be decorated at Christmas have been added and there is a designated walkway. Thanks, again, folks!

A girls softball tournament, including Rising Star's own state-bound A's, will be played Saturday at the ball park. Musicians provide great entertainment with Country and Western music, beginning right after the parade. The park is on W. College Street, or State Highway 36; you'll spot it easily.

A barbeque brisket lunch, catered by Cook's Fish Barn, is $5.95 per plate.

Ice cream and food booths will be available.

James and Jean Alexander's children, Jim, Maria, Jackson, Jim, Will and Ashley, got to shake hands with President George Bush in Dallas the past week when he was there campaigning. The family were walking away from the speech area and the President's entourage was driving in the same direction on the street on which they were walking. When the Honorable Mr. Bush saw the family, especially little Ashley, whom her father had just lifted up in his arms, he stopped his limousine, got out and shook hands with each one and, of course, greeted Ashley warmly!

Jean Fore's visitors this week were Paul and Juanita Harlow of Lovington, NM. Vi Harlow, also of Lovington, had been with her since Tuesday. Ryan Harlow, of Clovis NM, came Tuesday and Janet Harlow and friend, Julie of Lovington, came and spent Friday night.

Frankie and Oliver Smith went to Ranger Saturday and saw her daddy. He was doing pretty good. They went to the Vinson reunion in Ranger, but had to leave early for home, regardless of the good music and good bunch of folks. Oliver played in the Lakewood tournament that day, a four-man scramble and his team was in first place in the first flight. Frankie was a teacher who enjoyed her work in the Vacation Bible School which ended Friday night.

Jewel Foster felt good when I called her Monday. She had been to her Sunday School class Sunday and everyone was glad to see her since she had been gone for awhile.

Novilia Barton attended the Barton reunion in May on Sunday and it was very nice. Her grandson, Ryan Barton of Conroe, visited with her.

When it's time to light the grill, add a new spark! Barbecue flavorful and nutritious fresh fruits and vegetables. They're great as quick and easy side dish, main course or elegant dessert. Here are a few ideas that may kindle your interest: FRUITS Firm, ripe fruits work best for barbecues. Place large pieces on the grill or smaller pieces on skewers. To prevent sticking to the grill, baste fruits very lightly with melted butter, margarine or a non-stick vegetable oil spray. Sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon or ginger if you wish. Grill until hot and slightly goldenbrown, between four and choices include apples, apricots, figs, firm melons (such as cantaloupe or persian), nectarines, papayas, peaches, or pears. Try bananas, oranges, tangerines and pineapple grilled in their skins.

VEGETABLES

Select firm, ripe vegetables. Use them whole, cut in large pieces, or place smaller pieces on skewers. Baste them very lightly with melted butter, margarine or a non-stick vegetable oil spray to prevent sticking. Season and baste with herbs and flavorings, such as soy sauce, white wine, flavored vinegars, dill, thyme, rosemary, oregano or tarragon. Basting sauces and marinades originally intended for meat, fish or poultry also work well. Grill until hot, tender and slightly golden-brown. Try bell peppers or fresh chiles, cabbage or radicchio, corn in or out of the husk, eggplant, fennel, leeks, mushrooms, onions, summer squash (crookneck, pattypan or zucchini) or tomatoes If grilling denser items like artichokes, carrots, potatoes and sweet potatoes, pre-cook

> A NOTE ABOUT GRILLING AND CANCER RISK

Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs) occur when fat drips from foodonto hot coals and the smoke rises back up to the surface of the grilling ten minutes. Great food. PAHs have been linked to an increased risk lations that eat grilled foods on a regular basis. In the United States, though, our relatively low frequency of barbecuing makes PAHs an insignificant factor in the country's cancer rate. And since fruits and vegetables are naturally low in fat, there is much less risk of PAH formation. You can reduce PAHs in all grilled foods

* wrapping foods in foil * using a drip pan, making sure it does not rest on the coals * partially pre-cooking foods that may require longer cooking times

* using lowfat or nonfat marinades or basting

* damping the coals if smoke become too heavy

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We were very well pleased with the success of our first annual Eastland County Antique Car Club Swap Meet. Our goal for the first year was to fill one hundred spaces. Needless to say, we were extremely pleased when we filled one hundred fifty.

Vendors, hobbyist, buyers and spectators came from throughout the state, as well as some from out of state.

Motels reported no vacancies, and restaurants and merchants enjoyed a busy week-end.

The success of the Swap

Meet was not made possible by any one person or organization, but by the combined effort of many dedicated citizens.

As Activity Director of the Eastland County Antique Car Club, and on their behalf, we express our sincere appreciation to you for the excellent coverage you provided for our Swap Meet and for all the other nice things you do for the community.

Sincerely,
James T. Wright,

Worker's Compensation Reform Is Working

by Bob Glasgow "I can't afford workers' compensation insurance.

"I have to either cover my employees with workers' comp or go out of business, because I can't afford the premiums."

" My workers' comp insurance premiums have gone up 150% in the last

These types of complaints from small and medium sized businesses, coupled with allegations of abuses in the Texas Workers' Compensation System, spurred the Texas Legislature, in 1988, to set up a Joint Select Committee on Workers' Compensation Insurance to gather information needed to reform the comp system. Earlier attempts at reform had failed.

The Joint Select Committee on WC Insurance, which I chaired, held public hearings across the state for 18 months. Our committee then made recommendations to the 1989 Legislature and, based on those recommendations, legislation was introduced to reform the system by:

"trial de novo" system

* increasing benefits to injured workers, and * restructuring the old assigned risk pool. It took three tough sessions of the legislature to obtain passage of Senate Bill 1, the Texas Workers' Compensation Reform Act. At that time, as a sponsor of the bill, I made remarks on the floor of the Senate that this massive reform would NOT reduce insurance premiums instantly. At best, we knew that we would not see results of the reform until at least 1992, because the major part of the bill did not go into effect until January 1,

In 1990, the State Board of Insurance set workers' comp rates based on a presumption of the effectiveness of SB 1. Since then, rates have not risen.

In early 1991, the insurance industry began threatening to quit writing workers' comp in our state. In response, the State Board of Insurance commissioner proposed that Texas set up a state insurance fund immediately. At the request of Lt.

SERVED FAMILY

with the insurance industry and the State Board of Insurance chair and commissioner, and we agreed to set up a workers' compensation insurance fund, effective January 1, 1992. We also made much needed changes in the Workers' Comp Insurance Facility (formerly the Pool). The Facility deficit hadreached $550 million, and we enacted legislation to drastically reduce the deficit and phase out the Facility by 1994. That legislation was finally passed as part of HB 62 in the summer of 1991. HB 62 set up the Workers' Comp Insurance Fund. In just six months, the Fund has become one of the top ten writers of workers 'comp insurance in Texas, with over $60 million in premiums covering almost 2,000 employers, protecting about 70,000 employees. The legislation also brought back a free enterprise rating system, allowing the insurance industry to competively file for a premium rate and use that rate, unless disapproved by the State Board of Insurance. This measure replaced the old system of state-adopted rates. We addressed the Workers' Comp Facility operations in HB 62, and adopted more stringent guidelines for their methods of operation. New management and a new Governing Board already have begun to have an effect. At the latest meeting of the Facility, it was reported that there would be almost NO FACILITY DEFICIT for 1991 -DOWN from over $550 million in 1990. Costs are indeed coming down. Statistical data,

Governor Bullock, I met developed by the Legislative Oversight Committee on Workers' Compensation, which I chair, and data from the Texas Department of Insurance, show that costs in 1991 decreased 25.7 %. Initial rate filings by most insurance companies in March, April, and May asked for a 15% increase in rates. At the request of Speaker of the House Gib Lewis, I called a meeting of the Legislative Oversight Committee on Workers' Compon June 4th. At that meeting, the industry representatives were questioned on their rate filings. In addition, the Texas Department of Insurance offered new statistics on SB 1 savings, and they indicated they will allow the insurance industry to amend their rate filings, based on this new data. As of June 24th, two companies Liberty Mutual Insurance Company and Frontier Insurance Company-have submitted amended filings, dropping rate requests substantially. I believe that most workers' comp insurance writers will soon follow

What does this mean for the employers of our state? First, it means that affordable rates for workers' comp will be available for businesses. Second, it means that there is another source for employers for coverage the Workers' Comp Insurance Fund. Last, it means that the voluntary market will become more competitive, thereby allowing businesses access to affordable premiums in a true "no-fault" system. The Legislature's intent was for this to happen. And, indeed, it is.

Glasgow Comments On Workers Comp

Senator Bob Glasgow (D., Stephenville) today commented on the responsiveness of two companies who write workers' compensation insurance in Texas to the request of the Legislative Oversight Committee on Workers' Compensation that the insurance industry rethink and redo their rate filings for workers' compensation insurance. Glasgow said, "I applaud the efforts of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company and Frontier Insurance Company in amending their filings downward. Certainly, with the data we have gathered and data presented to the State Board of Insurance last week by their actuary, the industry cannot ignore the decrease of 25.7% in costs for workers' compensation because of Senate Bill 1 and House Bill 62 reforms.

He continued, "With hard data reports coming in from the Texas Workers' Compensation Commission, the Texas Department of Insurance. the Texas Workers' Compensation Facility which show the reforms of SB 1 to be working, the insurance industry must give credence to these results. At our June 4th meeting, we did not find that those results were being considered by the industry as heavy indicators of things to come. "

-We asked the insurance companies to put these statistics into their rate projections, and let us know the impact. The Texas Department of Insurance, on June 19th. sent a bulletin to all insurers writing comp in Texas which allows the companies to amend their original filings, "Glasgow said.

Glasgow concluded, "I hope the entire industry responds as quickly and responsibly as Liberty Mutual and Frontier. The workers' compensation reforms passed in 1989 are beginning to show that we in the Texas Legislature did the right thing. The employers and the employees of our state are entitled to fair and equitable dealings from the insurance industry."

MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors.

The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment. Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work.

At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back paid but treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

Rising Star's Chief of Police

Lewey Wyatt

Council recently hired a Lewey Dean Wyatt, Jr. came to Rising Star May 15.

The Chief has been divorced for almost three years and two of his three children will be living with him here. Laura Daniell, 14, and Aaron Kyle, 12, will be looking forward to attending Rising Star High School and Junior High. Another daughter, Jamie Lee, 7, is still living with her mother.

Prior to coming to Rising Star Lewey worked in the oil fields of Alaska for 21 months. He also worked for Santa Fe Railroad in Brownwood as a locomotive engineer for about 15 years.

He was introduced to law enforcement at an early age and attended the West Central Texas Law Enforcement Academy. He has spent about 1200-1500 hours in active police service.

Lewey was born in Temple in 1949 and attended school in Zephyr

He also attended school in Brownwood and Early. Most of his high school was at Brownwood High School.

Wyatt served in Vietnam for 13 months and 14 days. He was with MCBA (Seabees) and detached to the 3rd Marine Division 302 (Infantry Division). He was wounded nine days after getting to Vietnam and still carries many scars from shrapnel. He and only one other man in his squadron survived. He tracked for the 82 Airborne for about six weeks. One of his MCBA leaders was Randy Agnew, son of the former vice president.

He has recently purchased a house in Rising Star and says he hopes to make this town his home and send his children to school here.

Al West Gets Medical Degree, Award

The following article by Heidi Harris Cannella and the accompanying photograph recently appeared in Center Times of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. Al grew up in the Amity community near Rising Star and is the son of Homer and Guy Nell west. He is the brother of Susan, and uncle of Lee, Chris and Angelia DeLong of Rising star. These local family members attended commencement exercises in Dallas on May 30 to witness Al's hooding, receiving the Ho Din Award and receiving his Doctor of Medicine degree.

Thomas Alonzo West-"Al" to his friends—has the look of a typical medical-school student: studious, round tortoise-shell glasses, sandy-blond hair, dressed in shorts, backpack slung over one shoulder. But West is far from typical.

As this year's winner of Southwestern Medical Foundation's Ho Din Award, he has been singled out to receive the medical school's highest honor. The award is based on the personal attributes or human qualities inherent in the makeup of all great physicians. The winner receives a symbolic key, a certificate and a stipend of $5,000, given in memory of the foundation's first president, Dr. E.H. Cary. The foundation has been giving the award since 1943.

"I was a little surprised," West said about being chosen for the award. "There are lots of people in the class just as deserving as I am."

Soft-spoken and polite, "I've always had a good rapport with everyone I've worked with. I try to have a good rapport with patients, too."

Said Dr. Charles C. Sprague, chairman of the board of the foundation: "Al West is not only an exceptional student academically, but also has the attributes of an outstanding physician."

West is one of only three students in his graduating class who earned straight A's in all classes. West said he may have He was elected to Alpha been selected because Omega Alpha, the medical honor society, at the end of his sophomore year.

"Al's performance in medical school has been spectacular," said Dr.

Athol Ware, associate dean of student affairs. "Al has shown exceptional ability not only in the cognitive aspects of his courses, but in the clinical realm as well. He has earned high praise from all of his mentors during the clinical rotations. His quiet but warm and interactive personality has made him widely liked and respected among his list." peers."

Heady praise for a modest, small-town Texas boy.

Born and raised in Brownwood, located "smack-dab in the middle of Texas," West said while he was growing up his father raised cattle and grew peanuts on the family farm. His mother was a teacher at the local high school, where he graduated as valedictorian and a National Merit Scholar. He didn't start thinking about attending medical school until his junior or senior year. He raised sheep and cattle to help pay for his college expenses.

He attended Southern Methodist University on a full scholarship and majored in chemistry and minored in biology with the intention of becoming a teacher, "I found I liked biology much better," he said. "I talked to doctors around the city, asking about the best medical schools. Southwestern always came up on the

After four years at Southwestern, West decided to specialize in surgery. He begins a five-year residency at Parkland Memorial Hospital in days and summers back July.

"Watching Dr. Thal, my first surgery attending, and scrubbing in with him on a couple of surgeries is what guided me into surgery," West said. Dr. Erwin Thal is a professor of surgery. "With surgery you're taking care of a lot more acute problems. It's a lot more hands-on than medicine, which is the way I grew up. I like to fix things."

After his residency,

Thursday, July 2, 1992 teaching. "I've had a lot of good role models here," he said. "All the attendings I've had have been really good. Also working as a teaching assistant in the anatomy lab reinforced the thought that I wanted to go into teaching." There is life after a day in medical school, and West said he likes spending his free time with his wife, Cynthia. They grew together Brownwood, forming a strong friendship. She went to Texas Tech University, but during holiin Brownwood, they discovered their feelings ran deeper than friendship.

They married in 1988. West also likes to play golf, although he admits he's not very good. He's active in the SMU Mustang Band Alumni Association and occasionally fills in for an absent trombonist in the current band.

Paul Bass, a trustee of Southwestern Medical Foundation, will present West with the Ho Din West thinks he will go into Award at graduation.

Letter to the Editor

Recently the Rising Star Emergency Medical Service was called to a residence in my neighborhood. I stood by helplessly and watched as they saved a young woman's life. The team worked together in a very professional manner and they were so kind and caring to the "stranger in danger."

THANK YOU

Thank you dear friends and family for the prayers, cards calls, food and visits while I was in the hospital and since I have come home. To each of you who paid on the gown at Gerrie's Beauty Salon & Lingerie Boutique, thank you. The love and concern shown me means so much.

Leo & Cole White

Words seem difficult to find to express our gratitude for the kindness and generosity shown to us during the illness and death of our husband, father, brother and grandfather. Surely there is hope for our nation with such as you who comforted us with your calls, your food, your flowers, your prayers and your presence! We indeed sorrow not as those who have no hope.

Thank you to all of you. May you be exceedingly blessed in

COW/CALF OPERATORS

As early summer rolls along, many of you may be nearing the working of your spring born calves. Let me encourage you to take advantage of the added weight gain in suckling calves by using an approved growth implant. Several implants are approved including Synovex C and Ralgro. Either product does an exceptional job in the promotion of weight gains. This dollar and a dime investment in your young calf crop should easily return $20 at weaning.

Remember, growth implants are not steroids, not muscle builders, but rather hormone stimulator which speed up the rate of growth, not alter

> COASTAL HAY PRODUCTION

Consider your situation before you add that next dose of fertilizer. How much hay did I make off my first cutting? How much hay do I need to get me through this winter?

sonably expect to sell and at what price?

These are questions you should ask and answer before you spend that next $20 per acre on hay fertility. Not to say fertilizing isn't good. You should never try to make a good hay crop on a poor fertility program. But, what is a good hay crop? Maybe you have enough hay now. Or with all the rain, your first dose of nitrogen may provide enough nutrients to carry you through a reduced, but substantial second cutting.

Fertilizing is good. That's a fact, but economics and proper management is what keeps the farm afloat, not over production of a profitless commodity.

I am presently working with producers in the county to establish more economical fertility methods. Through these result demonstrations, we hope that the profitability of coastal hay production increases. This not only will help the producer, but the fertilizer salesman How much hay can I rea- and the consumer as well.
