Today, Thursday, July 31, is the last day upon which you can mail a first class letter for three cents. Tomorrow, August 1, Uncle Sam will begin collecting four cents an ounce on first class letter mail, three cents on postal cards and higher rates on many other classes of mail. It's all on account of increasing costs of labor and supplies which afflict our Uncle the same as us.

Meanwhile, advertising rates in the Record remain as they were 20 years ago, although the cost of paper has tripled, that of labor more than doubled and other costs have risen in proportion.

In the window of the Rising Star Record this week there is an attractive display prepared and installed by the Soil Conservation Service showing benefits of proper soil and water conservation practices. The display was set up by John Lee, chief supervisor of the Rising Star SCS office, and Aubrey Goss, staff conservationist. It is lighted for night viewing and will remain in place in the window for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberds and daughter, Pauline, are off on a vacation trip to Arkansas, and other places they may take a notion to visit during their ten-day trip. They are not going to see relatives or friends, but will do a leisurely jaunt through the country in what, to my way of thinking, is about the best kind of a vacation a person can take.

A delegation of Cisco Lions, 10 to 12 strong, headed by President L. M. Cawley, took charge of the Rising Star Lions Club program at the Elementary School cafeteria Monday night with enough enthusiasm and vigor to really infect a small turnout of local Lions with a new interest in Lionism. The Cisco invasion gave a needed lift to a faltering Rising Star club. It was the first time that a characteristic Lions club luncheon program has been carried out from invocation to the Lions Roar.

There was a good deal of horse play and some bold daylight robbery committed with the aid of an electric "snickersnee" such as is used to prod cattle and electrocute dogs, but there was also a deep current of seriousness and some beautiful singing by Mrs. Ross Griffith, a blind lady, of Cisco who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Mary Wayne Huston, daughter of one of the Lions — N. C. Huston. The program was arranged by Roger Parker, Cisco banker. It included talks by Charles Sandler, Cisco business man, on the Lions' crippled children projects, and by H. R. (Pop) Garrett, past district governor. Another ex-governor, O. L. Stamey, a Sipe Springs product, was also in the group. Mr. Cawley, the president, is himself a native of this area, born and raised a few miles northwest of Rising Star. He is the Lone Star Gas Company's Pueblo plant manager.

The snickersnee" was wielded by Dizzy Dean, well known in Rising Star, who was followed by a Cisco policeman to collect and hold the "fines" which ended up in custody of Lane Wells, the Rising Star treasurer, eventually — and fortunately for the Rising Star club.

We appreciate the visit of the Cisco boys and hope we can return it. Rising Star has some talent of its own which can present a very entertaining program.

Mrs. Ethel Barnes returned last week-end from Fort Worth and Dallas where she visited her children the past week. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mary Nell, who returned to Dallas Sunday.

Mrs. Beryl attended the school homecomings at Salt Tank, and the Amity-Macedonia homecoming.

Final Rodeo of Summer Held Friday Night

This week's performance of the Rising Star rodeo will be the last of what has been a very successful season, the Rising Star Roping Club, sponsors, announced. After the performance at the arena on Highway 36 east of town, the calves and goats used in the roping events, will be auctioned off, Jack Jackson, president, said.

The horses will be held over to next year while the bucking bulls will be sold on the livestock market. The club has six bucking horses.

The rodeo Friday night will be the eleventh of the season. All of them have drawn big crowds, and top flight rodeo talent. The club has sponsored these summer rodeos for five consecutive years and the shows have been growing in popularity every year.

"We appreciate the support that the people of Rising Star and vicinity have given the club and its efforts to produce a good rodeo," said Mr. Jackson. "We are grateful, also, to the performers whose loyalty has made possible the kind of competition that draws people from all over this section who enjoy such shows. It takes a lot of work to put on these performances, but when they are the success that the Rising Star rodeos have been we feel that the effort is well spent.

In the rodeo results last Friday night only one rider managed to stay aboard in the bronc riding. He was Jerry Harris of Coleman, who took both first and second money.

Other winners in the show were:

Girls' barrel race — Sandra Smallwood, Cisco, first with 21.6 seconds; Linda Koonce, Rising Star, second with 22.7.

Calf roping — Pete Baker, Clyde, 14.9; Charles McIlwain, Abilene, 18 flat.

Goat roping — Wayne Williams, Abilene, 15 flat; Jay Stoker, Breckenridge, 17.7.

Bull riding — Richard Hash, Albany, first; Mickey Casey, Coleman, second.

In the jackpot roping event which followed the rodeo, Jerry Andis of Abilene took first with 12.5 seconds; and Wayne Williams was second with 15.8 seconds.

Waco Man Buys Palace Drug Store Here August 1st

Rising Star welcomed a new business man and druggist this week. He is B. H. Dennard of Waco whose purchase of the Palace Drug Store from Mrs. O. E. Wilkerson is being announced in an advertisement in this issue of the Rising Star Record.

Mr. Dennard will take over the ownership of the store on August 1, following in the footsteps of O. E. Wilkerson, popular Rising Star druggist and Palace owner for ten years who sudden death of a heart attack occurred on Saturday, June 14.

Mr. Dennard, a native of Goldthwaite, is a graduate of the University of Texas School of Pharmacy, a registered druggist since 1950, and, like Mr. Wilkerson, a veteran navy pharmacist. He served in World War II before going to the Texas University for his pharmacy training, and after receiving his degree, was called to Navy duty as a reservist and spent 16 months as a pharmacist in that service in Japan.

He is a native of Goldthwaite. He and Mrs. Dennard, who will assist in the operation of the store, have one child, a two-year-old son. They are members of the Baptist Church.

"I am certainly happy that I have been able to sell the Palace Drug Store to a pharmacist and business man of Mr. Dennard's ability and experience," said Mrs. Wilkerson. "He is certainly qualified to give Rising Star and this area the kind of service that the Palace Drug Store has had a reputation for giving, and I know he will carry on the business in accord with the traditions of the store.

"I earnestly commend Mr. Dennard and his family to the people of Rising Star and ask them for the same generous patronage and courtesies that made O. E.'s and my ownership of the Palace and our residence in Rising Star such a wonderful experience."

Mr. Dennard said that he and Mrs. Dennard are happy to become residents and business people of Rising Star and expressed their intention of becoming active participants in the affairs of the community.

"We want to be a real part of the community," he said. "We hope to meet and know all of you and we invite you to visit the Palace and get acquainted. It will be our pleasure to give you the best drug service possible."

ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH REVIVAL

A revival at the Assembly of God church in Rising Star is under way, with services each night this week at 8 o'clock. The Rev. McCowan of Abilene is preaching.

Belgian Guests Among 263 Entertained At Sabanno Valley Ass'n Barbecue

The fifth semi-annual barbecue of the Sabanno Valley Game Preserve Association, held Tuesday night, July 22, at the Center Point Community House, outdid all the four previous barbecues held there and excelled the expectations of the barbecue committee as some items on the menu ran out before the line got entirely through. However, there was enough of the barbecue meat and most of the trimmings and everyone seemed to get enough to eat. A total of 263 plates were served.

Music was furnished by Al Anderson and his band of Cisco, and political speeches were made by candidates for Eastland County offices and the office of State Representative of the Eastland, Callahan, Shackelford Counties district.

People came from all parts of Eastland County, several communities in Comanche County and several people came from Abilene, but due to a slip-up somewhere along the line of communications, it was probably known to only a few of the diners that they were rubbing elbows and eating barbecue with two people who had journeyed from the other side of the world and were enjoying barbecue for the first time in their lives.

Miss Anna Little was named Rising Star duchess at the meeting of the Rising Star Chamber of Commerce at the Elite Cafe Tuesday noon, to represent this community at the De Leon Peach and Melon Festival next week.

Miss Little is also State Pecan Queen. She will choose her own escort for the De Leon appearance.

The group discussed the report of a committee, consisting of Cecil Shults, H. L. Geye and Oscar White, which made a trip to Northwest Arkansas, to study produce growing possibilities for this area.

A meeting was held Tuesday night at the American Legion for a public discussion of the committee's report and recommendations.

ATTEND CISCO HD COURSE

Those in attendance at the Four-County HD Short Course in Cisco last week from the North Star Club were Mrs. Will Ware, Mrs. Nora Harris, Mrs. Nora Hudson, Mrs. C. B. Harris and Mrs. Beryl Heath. Sixty women from the four counties were in attendance. Several instructors directed the groups as they worked.

SPRAYBERRY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Sprayberry have had a reunion of their family at Lake Whitney. Out of town members who were here were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leonard and husband all from Arizona; Lucile and Barbara Pinkston of Corpus Christi, and local members of the family. They report a good time.

"In's" Are Favored In Primary Voting Here Saturday

Rising Star democratic voters followed the trend of most of the state in giving majorities to candidates already in office in the primary election held in two voting precincts here last Saturday.

Price Daniel took a comfortable lead over W. Lee O'Daniel, his nearest opponent, for Governor, getting 56 votes to O'Daniel's 50 in the East Rising Star box, and 94 to 72 for O'Daniel in West Rising Star.

In the senatorial race, Ralph Yarborough took substantial majorities in both boxes over Wm. A. Blakley.

Paul Brashear led both Omar Burkett and C. H. Dawson with large majorities in the legislative race, polling 118 to 58 for Burkett and 13 for Dawson in the West box, and 73 to 39 for Burkett and 6 for Dawson in the East box.

John Hart, seeking re-election for county judge, led his opponent, Clyde Garrett, by 105 to 89 in West Rising Star and 68 to 50 in the East box.

Roy Lane, district clerk, and Johnson Smith, county clerk, both former Rising Star men, led their opponents, Richard C. Cox and Arlon Smith, respectively, by heavy majorities.

In a write-in vote for justice of the peace, Bill Crawford received 18 votes to one each for George Carter, Sex Hulin and M.

Broilers Seen As Possible New Industry

Broiler raising under contract plans offered by the large feed companies which provide a guaranteed price to the growers, offers a great opportunity for increasing the agricultural income to this area, three members of a committee just returned from a visit to the northwest Arkansas country, told a group of farmers and business people at the American Legion hall Tuesday night.

The committee — Cecil Shults, H. L. Geye and Oscar White — made a week's trip to a two-county section around Fayetteville, Ark., under Chamber of Commerce auspices, to investigate vegetable and produce growing and processing as one means of increasing the prosperity of the Rising Star section and arresting the decline in farm income and population.

While, for the most part, vegetable and fruit growing and processing were not as successful or attractive financially as had been reported from the Ozark region, they found a flourishing agricultural economy built to a large degree upon broiler raising and processing.

Growing

Around 8,000,000 broilers a month are produced and processed in the Fayetteville section, they said, and the industry is increasing, with new and large processing plants under construction.

While there are many large producers of the birds — men and women who grow 40,000 and more birds at a time, the bulk of the broiler growing is done by farmers and business and professional people who grow the birds in lots of 5,000 to 10,000 as a "side-line," they said.

"Those people don't expect to get rich," the Rising Star trippers told the meeting. "They make from $200 to $300 on a flock of birds and are happy with it. They take little risk because the feed companies, who vigorously compete for the business, finance them under contract plans which either assure them of a "floor" price or a profit of two cents per pound plus one-half of any money made above cost, including that guarantee. All they have invested — the growers, that is — is their house or houses and their time.

Talked With Growers

"The country was certainly prosperous and we saw many evidences of wealth accumulated by people who have followed the business there for many years. We talked with chamber of commerce people who were very nice and frank, and then we went into the country and talked to the growers. Without exception we found them satisfied with broiler growing and its returns."

Feed men who were present said that the same contract plans used in that section are available to growers in this area. Chamber of commerce officials present said that the project would be pushed by that organization which would be glad to be of any assistance possible to persons interested in going into the business or feed companies who would promote the industry.

It was pointed out that there must be substantial production in this area and assurance of continued production before any processing plant could be obtained, but there was a good prospect for such a development if when broiler production is developed to the necessary point.

Subsequent meetings are to be called to go into the program further with interested groups, and feed company officials will be invited to explain their contract plans in detail.

School Reunion Here July 19-20 Draws Big Crowd

The 23rd annual homecoming of Brooks and Union Grove Schools was held in the American Legion hall of Rising Star on Saturday evening and all day Sunday, July 19-20.

Two competent promoters of this affair, Elzie Brezbee and Euerette Harris, worked hard and fast to have everything in order for the first arrivals at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. A cool building, cold drinks, song books, ice water and a friendly "welcome home" for everyone.

The old-time spirit of friendship and loyalty was manifested by the handshakes and smiles which never ceased from beginning to the end of the occasion.

The cooperation and encouragement of some of the city's good citizens is very much appreciated and shall never be forgotten, especially by those living afar who were so cordially greeted with smiles of welcome from "The People of My Home Town."

About 9:30 the house was called to order and a hand-shaking contest was staged with prize going to Mrs. Herbert Henry.

A variety of poems and readings were done respectively by Mesdames Grace Horton, Pruda Rhodes, Ethel Brown and Flora Boyd.

Sunday a. m. with W. G. Phillips as EMCEE, the invocation was read by Ernest West. "America" and other songs were sung with Mrs. Ella Wells and Miss Mary Wilks as pianists.

Short talks by various ones were made. One, very inspirational and worthy of mention, was done by T. C. Parker, Jr., of Ballinger.

At the lunch period there was a contest between 'food' and 'talk'. Some say that 'food' won while others say 'talk' won. It shall be called a draw because from the gesture of faces, it was difficult to tell whether they were talking or chewing; but in some cases it was certain that both were being done at the same time.

After noon the usual sing-song then good-byes were made and everyone went home with a glad heart for having been with old friends once more.

The following is a partial list of names, as some failed to register.

Lafayette Parker and E. L. Amos, Abilene; C. T. Parker, Jr., and E. H. Forgy, Ballinger; Bee Walker, Big Spring; Mrs. Veda Foranke, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Prolific grass is a basic heritage in this area. A few more summer showers and the grass of this year will be by far the best in recent times. Recent grass clipping tests by local Soil Conservation Service Work unit personnel show higher yields of winter and spring grasses than have been recorded in many years. This has come about because the native pastures are at present receiving less abuse from overstocking, and we have been blessed with abundant timely rainfall.

Grass growth is much better this year than last even though we had more rain in the spring of 1957. This year we had better cover and have saved more of the rain. After the three driest years in history — 1954 through 1956 — most of our range was in poor condition with very light cover. Even with a wet year like 1957 we could retain very little moisture in the land, and it took a wet year for growing enough cover. We had to have more cover to utilize enough moisture to start recovering forage production.

In early spring this year our mixed land ranges in good condition with good cover were wet eight to nine feet deep. Before our recent showers this moisture had generally been depleted from the top three feet of soil by a vigorous growth of grass. The same range site in poor condition with a lighter cover was wet only three to four feet in early spring. Before our recent showers this moisture was about gone, and the grass either matured or showed signs of wilt. Clippings of the grass on these two conditions show five to six thousand pounds of green forage per acre where the range is in good condition, and an average of two thousand five hundred pounds per acre on the rangeland in a poor condition.

The most remarkable recovery of grass growth has been on our shaly prairie range site. This site has a very tight soil and is often locally referred to as mesquite flats. Many areas on this range site will now clip over five thousand pounds of grass per acre. In the period of 1954-1956 many completely bare areas were places would clip over a thousand pounds. In this period with such light cover moisture penetration was seldom over one foot even after flood producing rains. In this period areas with best cover would wet down around three feet after big rains.

In the winter season of 1956-57 this land grew a fair cover of winter grass. In the spring of 1957 this land wet down some deeper, and rains last fall showed much better penetration. Grass growth last winter and spring was truly remarkable and shows the high potential of production for this site. Most of this production has been Texas winter grass. Texas winter is high quality forage in winter and early spring, but the mature forage now present is of low grazing value. The better forage plants for summer grazing on this site (Buffalo, vine mesquite, Side-oats, grama, etc.) are in a vigorous stage of growth and spreading rapidly.

The present big need on most native grazing land is an improvement of forage quality, although many pastures because of overstocking still need more cover to adequately utilize our rainfall. Practically all pastures because of abuse during the drought contain a low percentage of our most desirable grasses. This improvement of composition of better quality forage producing grasses can only come about through range management which will allow these grasses to produce a fall seed crop. Some of these better quality high forage producing grasses are Side oats grama, Little bluestem, Indian grass, Buffalo grass, and Sand found on this site and very few

Union Center Club To have Dinner Aug. 12

The Union Center Hobby Club met July 22. The day was spent in quilting. Those present were: Mmes. Buttrell, Crowell, Knox, Scott, Hearren, Gage, Wright, Reed, Martin, McBeth and Carl Dunn, members, and Mrs. Pearl Criswell and Cherry Maples, visitors.

Some of the members ordered more aluminum for trays, and some purchased copper for tooling.

There will be a covered dish dinner on the next meeting date, August 12. A quilt will be quilted for Mrs. Gage.

The evening of the 22nd, the club held the monthly community party. A nice crowd attended and enjoyed the refreshments prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. Cecil Shults and Mrs. Conrad Schaefer. —Mrs. G. G. Crowell, Reporter.

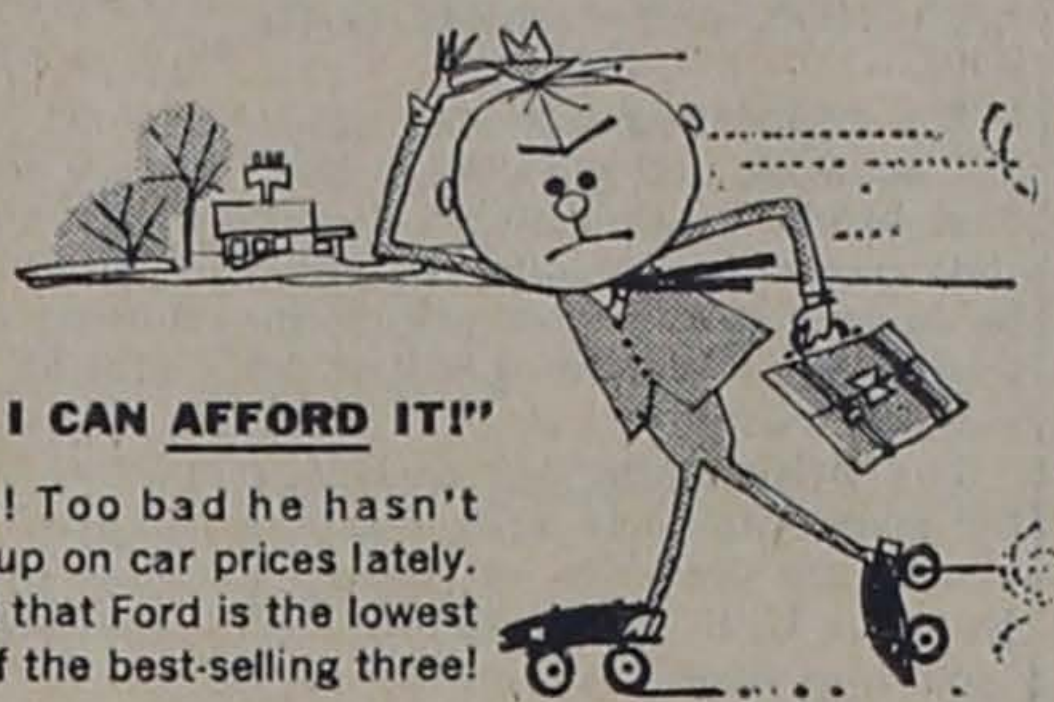

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson and daughter, Dana, were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sone.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris have returned from a week's vacation and rest. They visited her family at Mason, fished on the Llano, visited friends in Kerrville and had a good rest and a fine trip.

love grass. These grasses had not generally recovered sufficiently last fall for a heavy seed crop. This year they are in more vigorous condition, have deeper root systems, and should make a good seed crop where they are given the opportunity.

announcing new owners of
The Palace Drug Store

In keeping with my promise to the many friends and patrons of the Palace Drug Store that I would sell it only to a new owner who could carry on the business in its tradition of first class drug and pharmacy service, I am happy to announce that I have sold the store to

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Dennard

Of Waco, Texas

Mr. Dennard, a graduate of The University of Texas School of Pharmacy and a registered pharmacist since 1950, comes to Rising Star from the managership of one of the large Waco drugstores. He is a World War II Veteran, served as a pharmacist with the U. S. Navy in Japan for 16 months since being registered. He is a native of Goldthwaite.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the people of Rising Star and to all our customers and friends for the wonderful support which you gave my late husband and myself while we owned and operated the store. I appreciate it more than I have words to say.

I commend to you Mr. Dennard and his good wife, and ask that you give them the same generous support and patronage that you gave us. I know they will give Rising Star and vicinity the kind of drug and prescription service you have a right to expect.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Francis Wilkerson

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

It all started with Sir Walter Raleigh and a Y-shaped pipe.

The pipe was a gift to Raleigh from Sir Francis Drake — a souvenir from the West Indies, where natives put the pipe prongs in their nostrils and inhaled the smoke of a smouldering substance they called "tabaco."

Raleigh apparently set the style of his day, for when he took up smoking the practice soon became fashionable. All this happened nearly 400 years ago — in 1586. Since then smoking has become the most deeply ingrained habit of humanity.

Today in the United States alone, more than half the men and a fourth of the women smoke cigarettes daily, and additional millions smoke pipes and cigars. Altogether it adds up to almost 40,000,000 smokers — 26,000,000 men and 14,000,000 women — out of an adult population of approximately 50,000,000.

The seriousness of the smoking habit has been made clear in a recently finished study by the National Institutes of Health. Results of the study, already widely publicized, indicates a strong and undeniable relationship between cigarette smoking and increased death rates from lung cancer and heart disease.

The studies reveal a death rate among cigarette smokers 58 percent greater than the rate for non-smokers. Moreover, it shows that heavy smokers die off quicker than light smokers.

In addition to lung cancer and heart diseases, smokers run a much greater risk of dying from such diseases as bronchitis, pleurisy, ulcers, and cirrhosis of the liver.

The connection between cigarette smoking and high death rates has been so definitely proved that cigarettes would probably be banned for public sale if introduced as a new product on today's market.

The British Ministry of Health for some time has been warning about the hazards of smoking. Now the U. S. Public Health Service has begun a similar campaign.

The Texas State Department of Health will support such a drive to the fullest.

The late Dr. William Mayo used to say that cigarettes, cigars and nothing more nor less than "adult pacifiers," something for idle hands to play with. If true,

Rat Control Drive Set For August 5-8 Eastland County

August 5-8 has been designated as the dates for the first Eastland county rat control campaign in several years. The rat killing campaign will be sponsored jointly by the Eastland County Farm Bureau and the County Agricultural Agent.

"There has been a tremendous increase of rodents over the county, especially rats, and we need to eliminate them before peanut harvest," said John Love, breaking the smoking habit probably isn't as hard as it is supposed to be.

Should you, personally, make the effort? That's your decision. But while you're making it, keep in mind that the best research talent in the world is convinced that heavy smoking shortens life.

Cheaney, president of the County Farm Bureau in commenting on the campaign.

The campaign will be waged not only on rats but also on mice, rabbits and ground squirrels. To be the most effective, it is necessary that we get as many people as possible, urban as well as rural, to participate at the same time, otherwise the rats will just shift from one place to another," according to County Agent J. M. Cooper.

Rumartin, an anti-blood coagulant will be used. It is said to be similar to the first anti-coagulant used in rat control. It has no odor, smell or taste and will be mixed with ground whole corn, ground whole oats, sugar and vegetable oil. After several meals on this the rat begins either an external or internal hemorrhage.

Thousands of dollars worth of damage will be done to stored grains and hay this fall or winter unless the rats are kept under control.

the group brought back interesting reports is grape growing. Considerable income from grape for juice and table use is realized in the Arkansas area, they said, and Mr. White said that he plans to plant several acres of grapes on his place. Conrad Schaefer, another local farmer interested in grape growing possibilities here, was present and said that much information may be obtained from the Texas Experiment Station at Montague on the subject of grapes.

"This section is a much better grape and poultry growing area than the Arkansas country because of its lack of humidity," Mr. Shults pointed out. He said he would like to see some grower who already has facilities for raising broilers, undertake a program under the contract plan. "I wouldn't want anyone to put a lot of money into poultry houses until the success of the program can be shown, but I do think it is a wonderful opportunity for our section to cash in on more income. We don't want to go into it expecting to get rich. But those Arkansas people, without exception, were satisfied with the program and there must be something to it."

Mr. Geyer, who reported on the trip in detail, was likewise impressed with the opportunities. He pointed out that costs of producing chickens in this area could be less than in the Arkansas area because of the better drier climate, and that there were many other factors very favorable to successful broiler growing here. "But," he said, "it has its problems. It isn't all good. But it has opportunities, too. I'd like to see us go further into it."

Stop - Look - Listen!

Some times it pays to STOP, LOOK and LISTEN! This is especially true when selecting a bank upon which you can safely rely as a SAFE place in which to keep your hard-earned surplus money.

Recently, on the front page of the Star-Telegram, there appeared this headline:

"KANSAS BANK SHORTAGE OVER HALF OF DEPOSITS"

Then followed an account of the closing of the State Bank of Hoyt, Kansas, and the disappearance of its cashier. The bank's deposits were not insured and "MANY PERSONS LOST THEIR LIFE SAVINGS."

This will never happen to you if you are a customer and depositor of the FIRST STATE BANK of Rising Star, regardless of the amount of money you have on deposit with it. For more than fifty years we have been on the "same old corner", through a depression and several droughts. When banks were literally closing by the hundreds during the THIRTIES our doors were never closed.

We have always strived to put safety first and good banking service next. Our loyal customers are our greatest asset.
