Plant, Gathering System, 50 Wells Are In Planning

A large scale gas producing program will be developed in this area by the Coastal States Gas Producing Co. of Corpus Christi, according to a news release in Sundays press. The story, appearing in the Abilene Reporter-News, quotes Oscar S. Wyatt, Jr., chairman of the board and president of the company, to the effect that a 20-year contract has been negotiated between the Coastal States and the Lone Star Gas Company, under the terms of which the Lone Star will buy the gas and construct a gathering system in the area.

Coastal States plans to build its own plant for the extraction of liquid hydrocarbons from the gas processed by the gathering system. Deliveries of gas to the Lone Star are expected to start in May or June of 1950, Wyatt said.

Presumably, the area to be developed embraces the territory immediately east of Rising Star where extensive exploratory drilling has been done by the Coastal States during the past year on a block of many thousand acres leased by the company. According to Wyatt, independent geological studies have shown that the company has proven acreage in Brown, Eastland, Comanche and Erath counties estimated to have reserves of more than 267 billion cubic feet of natural gas and more than 4 million barrels of condensate. Fifteen wells have been completed in two separate fields 17 miles apart.

One of these fields, it is understood, lies immediately east of Rising Star. Several wells have recently been drilled in this area.

Extensive development of the territory is planned, it was indicated. Wyatt said that the Lone Star will advance the Coastal States $15,000 per well toward the cost of 50 completed wells, including those already owned or acquired as well as those proposed to be drilled by the Coastal States. This advance will be recovered from one-fourth of the gross proceeds of the wells, Wyatt said.

According to local oil men, the Coastal States-Lone Star project represents the first organized large-scale program for the overall development of the gas potential of this area and promises a substantial contribution to local economy, a considerable amount of new employment should be created by the drilling and construction of the gathering system. It has been rumored for some time that a hydrocarbons plant would be built somewhere in this territory, possibly by Coastal States, if drilling operations under way proved up a reservoir of sufficient magnitude. Where such a plant would be built was not disclosed, and perhaps is not yet determined, but the overall program of gas encouraging announcements to development is one of the most occur here in recent years, indicating as it does, an industrial activity to balance the basic agricultural support of the area's economy.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By OMAR BURLESON
Cong. 17th Texas District

WASHINGTON — IN MAY 1958, THIS COLUMN discussed the virtual impossibility of deporting foreign hoodlums, Communists and other undesirables as long as money was provided to hire lawyers. At that time there were pending in the courts between 7,000 and 8,000 orders for deportation, but not one of them had been deported.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES has now passed a measure to prevent these long delays. The bill provides that the Appellate Federal Courts shall have exclusive review of administrative decisions in deportation cases.

THIS MEANS THAT AN ALIEN cannot continue to file frivolous and repeated petitions in crowded courts for the purpose of delaying and remaining in this country indefinitely.

IN SOME CASES, AS MANY AS 10 separate suits in 10 separate courts have been filed by one individual. Certain aliens are in the United States today, against whom proceedings for deportation were started 10 years ago. Murderers, narcotic peddlers, extortionists and those in organized crime across the country are able to secure untraced funds with which to stay in court. The legislation just passed by the House of Representatives will end this sort ofiasco.

THIS COLUMN IN 1958 described the so-called William Heikkila case which was then current in the news. A more recent one is a character by the name of Marcello, ordered deported five years, nine months and 24 days ago, but who is still in the country. He appeared before the McClellan Rackets Committee and admitted that in all the years he had been in the United States he had not been naturalized. He is involved in a whole series of crimes. He also admitted before the committee he is wanted in Italy on criminal charges. He took the Fifth Amendment before the McClellan Committee investigating racketeering.

HE AND MANY OTHERS HAVE REMAINED in the country by repeated court action. As soon as one case was decided against him, he simply moved into another court and went through the same procedure. At present, there is no limit under existing law and not even a requirement that a judge to whom an alien makes an application for relief from a deportation order, shall be informed that there was a previous determination of his case. The bill passed by the house this week will prevent this sort of action.

UNDER A SUPREME COURT RULING IN 1956, should an alien be denied entry into the United States, he could file a lawsuit, claiming the privilege. No such thing was ever heard of until the Supreme Court ruled by this bill.

A SECOND PROVISION REQUIRES an alien to start any court action within 6 months from the time it has been administratively determined that he is to be deported. Under the present system, the alien can tarry around for years while the government is trying to obtain a passport for his departure.

THIRD PROVISION IS in the Appellate Courts in the Trial Courts dockets are exceedingly full. The alien must bring the case to the court in the vicinity where he is to be deported.

"I Give You Texas"

By Boyce House

Memories of my first, and only, visit to New York City in 1958:

Broadway—the most famous street in the Western Hemisphere; (The intersection of Broadway and Forty-Second Street is called "the crossroads of the world"); theme of many songs, such as "Give My Regards to Broadway"; Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" and "Over There". Synonym of fame, success, riches—and failure, too—as the old-time melodramas phrased it, "There's a broken heart for every light on Broadway."

While "Broadway" stands for "theater", and theater means the stage and live people, not shadows, oddly enough, the theaters are not on Broadway but are on the cross streets.

Another fact which surprises a visitor is the comparative smallness of the theaters.

In the Broadhurst, where "Auntie Mame" was the attraction, the last row is "T" and, one letter-Q, to avoid confusion with O—that would mean 19 rows.

The Anta, where the play was "Say, Darling", is about the same size and so is the Morosco presenting "Time Remembered". Here, I bought the last ticket—which was at the end, next to the wall of T. For the other shows, I sat in the eighth row, center. Incidentally, persons on the front row at the Morosco could lean over and touch the stage. (I obtained my tickets at the theater box offices and not from the scalpers' of whom I had heard so much.)

A Texan played the part of Auntie Mame and was superb—Mrs. Buddy Fogelson of Dallas. She is also known as Greer Garson. "Say, Darling" is a comedy, about a musical and the leading lady is Vivian Blaine, known to State Fair theatergoers. The highlight is the singing of "There's Always Something Happening on the River." The most brilliant cast of the plays I saw was that of "Time Remembered", starring Helen Hayer, Richard Burton, and Susan Strasberg.

I must confess, however, that the gayest evening at the theater was probably "Li'l Abner" which presented the well-known Dogpatch characters of the Al Capp's comic strip. The dances were lively and colorful; the comedy was highly amusing and the songs were tuneful, especially a satiric one, sung by Colonel Bullmoose, "The Government Is in the Very Best of Hands", and an absurd ditty about the twon's military hero, General Cornpone. Stubby Kaye (Marrying Sam) stopped the show several times with his singing.

For spectacle, Radio City Music Hall was "tops". It seats I don't know how many thousands — and there are three balconies — all the seats were occupied; the stage is immense; there was first an organist, then a symphony orchestra; Peg-leg Bates danced unbelievably; the Rockettes performed as smoothly as the New York Yankees; the Tuskegee Institute Choir sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" most stirringly and the finale was "Old Man River" when the stage darkened and a steam outlined in lights and its stacks belching smoke, moved toward you. To one who grew up in Memphis on the bank of the Mississippi and can remember the steamboats, it was a thrilling sight.

While shopping the meat department, look for best beef buys on pot roast, beef liver, ground beef, and round or sirloin steak. Best pork values include bacon, ham, picnics, and sausage. Fryers are still the biggest bargain in most meat departments.

Fresh fruit items are increasing as the season moves along. Peaches are small in size, but of very good quality and they are moderately priced. Bananas and pineapple are attractively priced in most stores. Fresh vegetables are good in most markets—yellow squash, cucumbers, peas, green beans, carrots and potatoes are featured during the present season.

Homemakers lose time, labor and money when canned food spoils. If quality is poor, the food may lose appeal and nutritive value. There are 3 main reasons for food spoilage: (1.) under-processing, (2.) faulty seal, and (3.) improper handling. Work for top quality in your canned products by following these suggestions:

*Use young tender products—as fresh as you can get.

*Gather and can in the cool of the morning.

*Can in small amounts.

*Clean food thoroughly, keep all utensils and containers clean.

*Use aluminum, unchipped enamel or glass for holding or pre-cooked food.

*Aim for speed in preparation—one hour from the garden to can is ideal.

*Use proper type of can or jar for food being canned.

*Have food hot when sealed unless canning vegetables by one-step cold-pack method.

*Get a good seal.

*Do not overcook or under-process.

*Cool quickly.

*Store in a dark, dry place.

*Store in a cool place—50 to 70 degrees F.

You can get latest information on canning from your county home demonstration agent's office.

Summer vegetables and fruits make delicious pickles and relishes, and with such a large variety to pick from, now is the time to stock up for future use. Everyone likes some form of pickle or relish. The color, crisp texture and tangy flavor often add sparkle and zest to a meal which might otherwise be uninteresting. They add food value to some minerals and vitamins, especially A and C.

their wayward offspring can be serious as well as amusing.

Not that they spread any specific disease — at least not in this country — but their insatiable demand for scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Nowadays, the new insecticides such as chlorodane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide if you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.

Gonzales Warm Springs Center Needs Support

GONZALES—An appeal for public support for the Texas Rehabilitation Center of Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation was issued this week shortly after the suspension of in-patient services was narrowly averted.

"We had a narrow escape," H. P. Orts, president of Texas' largest rehabilitation facility, stated, "but we are in business and, with the support of Texans interested in helping our disabled citizens in this important work, we should be in business from here on in."

Because of the Center's financial problems, board members had deemed it advisable to suspend in-patient services temporarily effective July 17. This would have meant dissolution of the team of specialists in rehabilitation for which Warm Springs is noted.

Responding to a last ditch appeal for a loan of $50,000 necessary to keep the Center operative were the Guadalupe Valley Electric Cooperative and Mrs. Jack Hutchins of El Campo. GVEC and Mrs. Hutchins have agreed to loan $40,000 and $10,000 respectively on the Foundation's pledge to pay from the eventual distribution of assets in a large trust fund in which the Foundation is a beneficiary.

"The acquisition of these funds, continued support by humanitarian-minded Texans, and a reduced budget resulting from a temporary reduction in the patient load to 50-55 patients should enable the Foundation to make the grade, Orts said.

Fewer Dairymen Produce More Milk Month of June

During the month of June, there were 507 producers on the Central West Texas market compared to 553 during June, 1958. Although there were 46 fewer producers on the market during June this year than during June 1958, producer receipts were 14,816,211 lbs. during June 1958. The average daily delivery per producer during June this year was 974 lbs. compared to 767 lbs. during June 1958.

The minimum uniform price to be paid for 4.0 percent milk received by Central West Texas handlers from producers during June will be $4.91 per hundredweight, according to an announcement by Byford W. Bain, Market Administrator. This price is subject to the following location and butterfat differentials. For milk received at Midland, the producers of such milk will receive a price 15c higher, while those delivering milk to plants located at Brownwood and Mineral Wells will receive prices 20 and 25 cents lower, respectively. For each point that the average butterfat content of producer milk deviates from 4.0 percent butterfat differential of 7 cents applies. The above price was computed from reports filed by nine regulated handlers under Order No. 82 during June 1959.

During June, Central West Texas regulated handlers disposed of 11,571,973 lbs. of class 1 milk, which was 29 percent less than daily sales during June 1958, but was 7.18 percent greater than the daily sales during June 1958.

The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.701 percent.
