Rising Star has had its share of tragedy and near disaster during the past few weeks. The death of J. B. Caudle, a fine neighbor, farmer and citizen, whose body was found by his burning tractor in a field near his home last week, was the latest and the most tragic of a series of local accidents which have been costly in personal suffering, in time lost and property destroyed.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Caudle and her children. The Amity community lost a valuable citizen, and the Methodist Church of Rising Star a faithful and good member. He was always in his place, always to be counted upon, going about his duties quietly, making his contribution, in whatever way he could of time and money and talent, without any demonstration. He will be missed. He was a good, sound farmer, a man who managed his farm and his affairs in such a way that he was able to endure the long drought and to face the prospect of a good crop this year in a position to realize the most from it.

This country could ill afford his loss. We need more farmers like him, farmers who know how to produce their living at home, are willing to do their part in all community endeavors of a progressive kind, who support the schools and the churches and the other institutions which develop and stabilize community social and economic values, willingly and well, who feel a responsibility toward the society in which they live and from which they gain the support and security of themselves and their families. Mr. Caudle was always busy about something, diversifying, making his farm pay, demonstrating that good management and hard work are the answer to the farm problem in most cases.

The gas explosion at the First State Bank some weeks ago fortunately did not result as tragically, but it took Bill Tyler away from the president's desk for several months, which is certainly a loss to the bank as well as to Bill. Happily, Bill is getting along well in Rising Star Hospital and may be able within a short while, to be rid of the cast in which he was placed.

And at Brownwood two Rising Star women, Mrs. Mollie Landreth and Miss Mina Robinson, are confined in a hospital for a long time as a result of a collision between their car and a truck in that city some weeks ago. There have been other accidents, all of which serve as a warning that we are never so safe as we think we are and that eternal vigilance is as much the cost of safety as of liberty.

Excerpted from "Caps and Lower Case", a trade publication:

"Pugh Wood was a hard running halfback for the Clary Training School in Fordyce, Arkansas, back in 1911. Football was just starting in high schools in the state and Pugh's father was out to see his first game.

"At one stage young Pugh broke away for a sixty-yard run and, as was customary in those days, placed the ball down behind the goal line and walked back to his mates.

"That night his father, Ben Wood, told him, 'Now, Pugh, I don't mind you playing football but let me tell you one thing. When you get that ball don't you run from them. You stay in there and fight.'"

Communities Get Awards In Contests

Both the Nimrod and the Amity communities received awards this week for their achievements in two rural community improvement contests which have done much to bring about a new awareness of rural community values and the possibility of improving these values through cooperative action.

At Nimrod Tuesday noon, W. I. Glass, director of the Extension Service of Texas A&M College presented the Nimrod Neighbors Progressive Club a check for $100 and a certificate of achievement for winning first place in the Pasture Improvement Contest sponsored jointly by Texas A&M College and the Texas Plant Food Educational Society.

On the same program, held at a dinner in the new clubhouse of the community club, Texas Editor Sam Whitlow of the Farmer-Stockman Magazine presented the club a certificate and a check for $50 for winning third place in the District Improvement Contest sponsored by that magazine and Texas A&M.

It was the second time that the Nimrod Club, organized only two years ago, had won an award in the pasture improvement contest.

Monday evening at Newberg, the Amity Community Club received three certificates and a check for $50 for a fifth place win in the Pasture Improvement Contest and for honorable mention in the Rural Community Improvement Contest. Mr. Glass presented a certificate of appreciation and the check from Texas A&M College and the Texas Plant Food Educational Society, and Mr. Whitlow presented the certificate of recognition in the Rural Community Improvement Contest. Mr. Whitlow also presented Amity a certificate recognizing the achievements of the club in five consecutive years of contest participation.

A large delegation went from Amity to the Newberg community 13 miles southeast of Comanche to receive the awards. Each community presented a part of the program, the Amity group presenting Miss Martha Haynes and Kent Brown in two song numbers, "Buttons and Bows" and "Don't Fence Me In."

Funeral Service For Thomas Reed Are Held Sunday

Thomas Allen Reed, 68, who died in a Wichita Falls hospital Saturday, was buried in Rising Star cemetery Sunday afternoon after services at 2:30 p.m. at Higginbotham Funeral Home.

The Rev. Ed Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was the officiating minister, and burial arrangements were in charge of Higginbotham Funeral Home. Mr. Reed, a retired farmer and oil field worker, died at 3:30 a. m. Saturday after a long illness. He was a native of Hallettsville, Texas, where he was born March 9, 1889, moving with his parents to Falls County while a young man. There he was married to Miss Nettie Mae Lindsey in August 1907. He worked in oil fields and farmed at various places in Texas until 1928 when he went to Baytown as an employe of the Humble Oil and Refining Company. He remained with this company until his health failed. In 1946 he and his wife moved to Rising Star.

He is survived by his wife of Rising Star; two sons, W. G. of Rising Star and Earl T. of Shreveport, La.; two daughters, Mrs. C. T. Barton of Rising Star and Mrs. R. M. Woods of Baytown, and one sister, Mrs. R. S. Kirby of Olney, Texas.

He was a member of the Baptist Church.

The holes are drilled for explosive charges which, with the aid of sensitive instruments, give geophysicists valuable information about the position of formations deep in the earth.

Funeral Friday For J. B. Caudle, Victim of Fire

John Bunyan Caudle, 57-year-old Rising Star farmer, whose body was found shortly after noon Wednesday, June 19, in front of his flaming tractor in a field near his home, was buried in Rising Star cemetery Friday, June 21, after services at the First Methodist Church here, of which he was a member. The Rev. R. A. Brooks, Jr., pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Tickner of Valera, a former pastor of the Caudle family, officiated. Higginbotham Funeral Home directed.

A crowd of mourners too great to be accommodated in the church, gathered from Rising Star, the Amity Community in which the family now live, from the Flatwood community south of Eastland where they formerly lived, and from many other places to pay tribute to a good neighbor and a good man whose tragic death while at work in his fields shocked the community.

Members of the school board of the Carbon public schools who served with Mr. Caudle during the years of his tenure on that board, were pall-bearers for the services. Special places in the church were reserved for neighbors of the Caudle family at Amity and for the Sunday School Class of which Mrs. Caudle is a member.

Survivors. Mr. Caudle is survived by his wife, the former Miss Carrie Mae Cartwright, whom he married at Granbury in 1922; six sons, Cecil of Temple, Wilburn and Dale of Morenci, Ariz., Clay of Jacksboro, Burly of Ifereford, and Delwin of Rising Star; one daughter, Mrs. Myrna Faye Olsen of Arlington; four brothers, Elmer of Harrison, Ark., R. L. of Grubary, Arno of Dublin, and Temple of Gorman; and six sisters, Mrs. Jack Kinnison of Abilene, Mrs. Mattie Moore of Smithfield, Mrs. Iva Neisler of Fort Worth, Mrs. Vera Rutledge of Smithfield, Mrs. Vada Leake of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Bernice Thompson of Granbury.

Mr. Caudle was born March 17, 1900, in Coke County, Texas, near Robert Lee and north of San Angelo. His family lived there until he was 17 years of age when they moved to Eastland and the father purchased a farm north of Eastland. In 1920 the family went to Granbury in Hood county. Mr. Caudle lived and farmed in the Granbury community for four years after his marriage and then moved to the Flatwood community south of Eastland where he and Mrs. Caudle raised their family and lived until 1951 when they sold their farm and purchased the land four miles east of Rising Star in the Amity community on which the family

Calf Ropers Take $60 Winnings at Rodeo Here Friday

Three calf ropers in the professional calf roping contest at the Rising Star rodeo Friday night of last week took home $60 in winnings and left some fast time on the record.

Connie Gibbs of Abilene took the event when he roped and tied his critter in 13.5 seconds. Mike Sims, also of Abilene, was less than a second behind with a time of 14.3 for second money and Le Roy Hodges of Coleman was almost as fast with 14.4 seconds for third money.

Hodges took first in the goat roping event with a time of 13 seconds. Bill Guest of Coleman was second with 15.4 seconds.

A 17-year-old Abilene youth, Darrell Rhodes, was the stand-out of the bareback bronc and bull riding events, winning second in both and incurring the wrath of his grandmother for entering unbeknownst to her.

She indicated she might be a regular attendant at the rodeo henceforth.

Cecil Richardson of Abilene took first in the bronc go and Johnny Rabon of Abilene, first in the bull riding.

Brenda Whitaker of Abilene—it was an Abilene night—won the girl's barrel racing with a time of 20.8 seconds, followed by Sandra Bradley of Rising Star with 22.4 seconds.

Mack Harris and Jeff Harlow won the boys barrel race.

Results of the preceding week were:

In the barrel races, mixed boys and girls, Billy McLaughlin took first in 21 seconds and Linda Edgar of Blanket, second with 23.5 seconds.

Byrl Hittson of Breckenridge took first money in the professional calf roping events with a time of 13.2, Bill Guest of Abilene was second with 15 seconds and Billy Mitchell, also of Abilene, third with 16 seconds. Jay Stoker of Breckenridge, Billy Bacon of Cisco and Johnny Rabon of Abilene, top notch performers, all missed their calves.

Hobb Boyd of Abilene and A. C. Falk of Abilene took first and second respectively in bareback bronc riding.

In the professional goat roping events 8 of 11 entrants missed their animals. Wayne Williams, Tuscola, was first with 15.6 seconds and Lewis Allen, Coleman, second with 16.2 seconds.

Johnny Rabon and Bill Epley of May split money in the bull riding contest.

In the jackpot roping following the regular events, Tommy Bacon of Cisco took first with a time of 13.5 seconds; Jay Stoker second with 14.1 seconds and Wayne Williams third with 14.4 seconds.

Faculty Of Schools Is Completed

The faculty of the Rising Star Public Schools was completed this week and plans were already being made looking toward the opening of a new term on Monday, September 2. Declining attendance, due to the influence of the drought, cost the school another teacher, but there were indications that enrollment and average daily attendance would increase next year as good rains and the prospect of a good crop encouraged families who had moved away in search of employment, to return, and stimulated trade in farm lands.

J. M. Crump, who was with the Brady schools last year, will be the new principal of the Ward School. Mr. Crump, who came highly recommended to the board, will also assist in High School coaching and will coach the ward school athletic teams. He and Mrs. Crump have a son in the fourth grade.

The complete faculty list as it now stands is as follows:

High School—Principal, Ray Nunnally; H. L. Geyer, Mary Claborn, Dorothy Shook, Martha Jay Childress, Billie Nowlin, Marvin Chambers and Peggy Tate, who will be band director and teach ward school music. Jack White will be a part time teacher on a part-time basis.

Ward School—J. M. Crump, principal; Madolyn Sone, first grade; Etta Mae Tyler, second grade; Lois Ferrell, third grade; Margaret Sherrill, fourth grade; Betty Jo Fisher, fifth grade, and Edward Watkins and Alice Wheeler, teachers of sixth, seventh and eighth grades which will be departmentalized. Sam Jones is superintendent.

Stocker Demand Again Broad; Prices Strong

By Ted Gouddy

FORT WORTH.—Demand for replacement cattle and calves was again a dominant factor in the opening trade at Fort Worth Monday. The present scale of cattle prices which reflects replacement stock selling at higher prices than finished cattle in many cases, leaves room for little doubt as to the optimism of feeders concerning the long-term prospects.

Efforts of the slaughter interests to weaken grass cattle and calf prices were largely unavailing, since the stocker buyers again took most of the two-way or borderline cattle at prices superior to packer values.

Fed cattle moved readily, with good and choice steers and yearlings at $20 to $24, and plain and medium butcher sorts from $13 to $19. Fat cows drew $13 to $15.50, and canners and cutters cashed at $8.50 to $13. Bulls scored $11 to $16.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold mostly from $19 to $22, a few fancy calves to $22.50. Common and medium butcher sorts drew $14 to $18, and culls sorted at $10 to $13.

Stockers and feeders continued to move at the best levels since November, 1952. Choice stocker steer calves sold at $24.50 and heifer calves at $21.50 down. Late last week a new high for the year was reached at steer calves scored $25.50 and their heifer mates sold for $22. Stocker yearlings sold from $22 down, and feeder heifers sold from $20 down.

HOGS REGAIN LAST WEEK'S DECLINES

The decline in hog prices last week, due to the heat wave in the northeastern states, was partially recovered at Fort Worth Monday. Choice butcher hogs topped at $20.50, and advance of 50 to 75 cents over last week's low close. Sows at $17.50 down, were 50 cent higher.

Big, Varied and Flexible

Can the small business succeed and prosper in an economy in which there are also very large businesses?

The question is often debated—and at times the debates create more heat than light. A calm and sensible answer was recently provided by the president of a great oil company. He said it has been learned that no commercial organization, and especially one of great size, "can exist without creating certain social influences and, thereby, acquiring responsibilities beyond those of a purely business nature." Then he added: "Among these responsibilities, I believe, is trying to help maintain an economy in which small and medium size business organizations can play their important roles. Large businesses ..... are sometimes thought to favor practices which are unfair to small business. Nothing could be farther from the truth. We are as anxious to see efficient small business firms succeed as are any of the so-called champions of small business—and we believe we are somewhat more practical in our approach at times."

There are areas of work—and extremely important areas—where the small business can do the job best, just as there are other areas where the large business, with vast human and financial resources, is needed. An often overlooked fact is that the big business is frequently a major customer of the small business, through sub-contracts and in other ways. Great numbers of small businesses could not exist if it were not for the large businesses. For instance, that segment of the oil industry with which most people have their personal contact is the service station. And the majority of service stations are independent small business operations.

The American economy is big enough, varied enough and flexible enough to require the services of efficient businesses of every size and kind.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

THE JUDGE AT WORK

The judge has many duties in a trial.

He sees that it goes in an orderly way and according to the rules—in selecting the jury, presenting evidence, hearing the lawyers' arguments, instructing the jury, and bringing in the verdict.

Before the trial starts, the judge sees that the questions put to prospective jurors are proper. He excuses jurors. He must see to the proper conduct of the litigants, lawyers, and witnesses. He must put down public disturbances.

The judge must see that the lawyers keep within due limits in questioning witnesses, in arguing to the jury, and in their attitudes toward each other and the judge.

The judge tells the jurors their duties and what questions of fact to decide. He instructs them on what law controls the rights of the parties. He sees that the verdict is due in form. He must decide any requests for rulings by lawyers.

For example, after the plaintiff's lawyer has made his opening statement or presented his evidence, the defendant's lawyer may move for a judgment of "nonsuit."

This motion grants the plaintiff's facts but denies their cogency as a matter of law. If granted, the motion will not allow the plaintiff to recover judgment.

A directed verdict also ends the case before the jury can decide it. It is a judgment by the court on a question of law. Either plaintiff or defendant may concede the facts but deny, as a matter of law, their power to sustain the other party's case.

A judge may render a "judgment notwithstanding the verdict" after the jury has brought in its verdict, when he should have granted, but mistakenly denied, a directed verdict.

The judge now and then may rule on the law and thereby take the suit out of the jury's hands. His ruling in no way reflects on the jury, but works to keep down needless litigation. When he does this he usually expresses the sincere thanks of the court for the time of the jury in standing ready to do its work.

The first took place in 1776 when 56 men defied the power of Europe's proudest king to inscribe their names on the Declaration of Independence and give America a creed.

It was only the beginning. Americans have written their faith in their country on every page of history, are writing it still!

One of the good things to know about our country is that eight million working Americans have signed their own personal declarations of independence by inscribing their names on the Payroll Savings application forms where they work.

Mrs. Houser Wins Kelly Idea Award
 Mrs. Lois Houser, daughter of Mrs. Clemmy House of this city and an employe of Kelly Field, San Antonio, for almost 15 years, was co-winner of an idea award of $100 at the field recently. Mrs. Houser, who is the only woman warehouse supervisor at the field, and a man employe of the base devised a method of simplifying conversion of items from Air Force to federal stock numbers which it was estimated would save the government $2,869.04 annually.
 The new system involves substituting labelling with tags for counting the items, cutting down on several accounting procedures and special inventories.

 Mrs. Houser went to Kelly Field when World War II made manpower scarce for base warehousing jobs and has been in the warehouse department there ever since. At one time she had 27 women working under her direction, and did an excellent job, her division chief said.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BREATHING STOPS

These five figures illustrate, from top to bottom, the steps in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation now being taught in Red Cross First Aid courses.
 (1) Mother, using middle finger of one hand, clears child's mouth of any foreign matter. With same finger, she holds the tongue forward.
 (2) Mother places child in a face-down, head-down, position, and pats him firmly on the back with the free hand, to help dislodge any foreign object in the air passage.
 (3) The child is placed on his back, and the mother, using middle fingers of both hands, lifts the lower jaw from beneath and behind so that it "juts out."
 (4) With one hand only, the jaw is held in this jutting-out position.
 (5) The mother, covering the child's mouth and nose with her mouth, breathes into the child with a smooth, steady action. The free hand applies continuous moderate pressure to the child's abdomen, between navel and ribs, to prevent the stomach from being filled with air.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

AUSTIN. — Although summer has hardly started in Texas, school days are practically around the corner and it is time that mothers should start thinking about getting the young ones ready for school again.
 Special consideration should be given to the thousands of Texas youngsters who will be starting school for the first time.
 Most school districts have certain requirements which must be met before a child may be entered in school. Foremost in nearly every school is proof of birth.

 If you do not have a copy of your child's birth certificate, certified copy may be obtained from the Texas State Department of Health for a one dollar fee.
 Write to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas. Be certain to include the child's name, birth date and birth place and the name of his parents. Also, enclose $1.00 cash (at your own risk) or money order. Do it now and avoid the rush.
 Every child should have a pre-school health examination. Height, weight, posture, vision and hearing should be checked. Often school beginners' problems can be traced to faulty vision and hearing.
 Have your dentist go over your child's teeth again. With the excitement and challenge of school, new physical—and emotional—demands are made on him and to get the most out of school, he needs to be physically ready for it.
 With school come more changes for exposure to communicable diseases. This isn't the school's fault—it's because your child is becoming a part of a bigger world.
 To help prevent illness, check up on immunizations, especially your school district's requirements. See that your child is still protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, smallpox, and by all means have his polio series started if you have not already done so.
 Going to school will be all new to your child. It means new children, a new place, new adults, new things to do. It's the same child, but one who is changing physically, mentally, and emotionally.
 If he is healthy and you keep him healthy, his adjustment into school life will be made much simpler, and he'll be happier.

Hazel Butler Tours Northeastern United States and Canada on Murray Cox Trip

Mrs. Hazel Butler has just returned to her home here after accompanying Murray Cox's Eighth Annual WFAA Farm Study Tour to the Northeastern United States and Canada. The trip occupied the time between June 5 and June 18, and as always carried the group through many sections and places of absorbing interest.

Mrs. Butler was accompanied to Dallas by her son, Keith. The special train left Dallas on June 5. At Nashville, Tenn., the first stop, buses transferred them to the Maxwell House for breakfast. They stopped to visit the Heritage, home of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States and hero of the Battle of New Orleans. The home is located 12 miles from Nashville. From the Heritage they went to the Langford Guernsey Farm and then went back to Nashville to view the Parthenon and see the Grand Ole Opry program.

The group swung south and east over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad route to Charlottesville, Va., and then to Washington, D. C. They arrived at Monticello, famed home of Thomas Jefferson, just outside of Charlottesville, near by the University of Virginia. The group visited the Aberdeen Angus Farm and the United Orange. Fredericksburg is one of the most historic cities in the U. S., and here they saw the monument to Stonewall Jackson.

They went on to Washington, D. C., where they boarded sight-seeing buses to Arlington National Cemetery, the White House, the Washington, Lincoln, and the Jefferson Monuments, the National Capitol, and the down town business district and where a lecture tour took in the Fifth Avenue shopping district, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Central Park, Grant's Tomb, Time Square, and other places. A Line boat numerous buildings.

Next they went to New York tour led around Manhattan Island, Statue of Liberty, United Nations Building, the Manhattan, and the Empire State Building.

The group transferred by bus to the beautiful Radio City Music Hall, then to Pennsylvania station where they took a train to Boston and the Massachusetts coast. The Boston sight-seeing trip included the Massachusetts State House, Paul Revere Home, Boston Navy Yard, a view of Boston's great new arterial highway and parkway system, and a journey along the very attractive coast.

They traveled northward to Gloucester, the greatest fishing port in the world. They visited Concord, Lake Winnepesaukee, and the White Mountains. Their route was through the most beautiful sections of New England. The White Mountains are the highest in the northeastern part of the United States.

The group arrived at Montreal, Quebec, Canada and boarded buses for MacDonald Agricultural College, some 20 miles west of Montreal, the largest city in Canada. The stores and shops of Montreal are a show-case for products of England. The group visited the quaint and historic Quebec. Next they cruised the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers. They viewed Ottawa, Canada's Capitol, and St. Lawrence Seaway Project. They then boarded buses for 65-mile tour through eastern Ontario to Cornwall. The group enjoyed a twilight ride along the northern shore of Lake Ontario, and then turned toward Canada National Station.

At Niagara Falls points of interest included Luna Island, Terrapin Point, Three Sister Islands, Table Rock, Whirlpool Rapids, American Falls, Rainbow Bridge and other famed spots. Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill., which is owned by the state, was another interesting national shrine included in the tour.

The last day was spent in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. Stops for the convenience of passengers were made at Ringgold, Bowie, and Bridgeport. The group arrived at Dallas at noon June 18th, where Keith met Mrs. Butler. One hundred and 63 persons made the tour. —Mrs. Fred Roberds.

Yes, sir, Mr. President! As the Electric Servant, my average hourly residential wage has been going down steadily, right along!

Let's look at the record of my hourly wage in homes across West Texas:

In 1937 (20 years ago) it averaged . . . 4 1/10¢ an hour

In 1947 (10 years ago) it averaged . . . 4¢ an hour

In 1952 (When you became President) it averaged 3 3/4¢ an hour

In 1957 (Today) it averages ONLY . . . 3 1/4¢ an hour

Can anything else that you know of match that matchless record?

CAUDLE—

Continued from page 1. Case is now located. While at Flatwood Mr. Caudle first served on the Flatwood school board and after consolidation of common school districts, on the Carbon Independent District board for many years. He was an active and very successful farmer and busy at planting a maize crop when his death occurred. He had completed a portion of his peanut planting and this week the seed he had planted had come up to a good stand. A son, Wilburn, who is on vacation from his job with a large copper company at Morenci, Ariz., will remain here with Mrs. Caudle and with the younger son, Delwin, to complete the planting of the crop. The circumstances of Mr. Caudle's death were not clear. There were no known witnesses. First to reach the body was a neighbor, H. S. Carter, who was summoned by Mrs. Caudle after she had seen the tractor afire in the field a considerable distance from the house. The Carter home is only a few hundred yards from the Caudle residence.

The body was lying against the front wheels of the tractor, the rubber of which was afire. The top had been removed from the gas tank and the sediment bowl from the gas pump, and flames of the burning gasoline were shooting high above the tractor and beneath it.

Removed Body. Mr. Carter pulled the body from against the burning tires and extinguished the flaming clothing. A daughter of Mr. Carter, Mrs. R. W. Cagle of Big Spring, who was visiting her parents, summoned a Higginbotham ambulance which brought the body to the funeral home here.

Mrs. Caudle and Mrs. Beyrl Heath, a cousin of her husband, were in the kitchen at the Caudle home, canning at the time. Delwin Caudle, the only son living with his mother, was not at home. Mrs. Caudle said she had seen her husband off in the field plowing hardly 15 minutes before the accident was discovered.

When he didn't come in for lunch she became concerned and went into the yard again to look for him. She saw a thin streamer of fire rise above the tractor off in the field, and wondered if it might not be an optical illusion. She went into the kitchen and told Mrs. Heath not to be alarmed, but she believed the tractor was on fire. When she returned to the yard the flames were shooting high and she hurried across to the Carter house where Mr. Carter was changing planting plates on his tractor, and asked him to go with her to the field where her husband might be needing help. They drove in Mr. Carter's car as far as it was possible to go and then walked across the plowed ground to the burning tractor where they found the body.

Mr. Carter said he looked at his wrist watch when they reached the tractor. The watch showed 12:37 p.m., he said.

The tractor was not seriously damaged and this week it was being used to finish planting the crop that Mr. Caudle had begun.

Mrs. Opal Buchanan Jones, a sister of Mrs. Lila Jarrett and of Alton Buchanan and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan, was a recent visitor here.

HOW VALUABLE

...IS LOCAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO LOCAL BUSINESS PEOPLE?

Here's what the American Bankers Magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally conservative profession, has to say:

"No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town ... it's the best possible town adviser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

James Armstrong With Soil Service

James Armstrong of Rising Star has joined the Soil Conservation Service at Rising Star as assistant conservationist, it was announced by John Lee, chief conservationist. Mr. Armstrong assumed his duties two or three weeks ago.

Meanwhile Aubry Goss, assistant conservationist, is in Stephenville, where he has been taking a special training course at John Tarleton College in soil conservation work.

Mr. Lee announced that fish for stocking 17 farm ponds in this area arrived at the Soil Conservation office on North Main Street Wednesday and were picked up by the farmers who own the ponds. The fish, consisting of bass, channel cat and sunfish, or bream, were received from the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service at Burnet.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the nurses of Rising Star Hospital and all the friends who came to see me while I was there. I think Dr. Bradley and the nurses are tops. God bless them.
