Camp Sweeney For Diabetic Children

The 38th year of Camp Sweeney for Diabetic Children opened Sunday, June 7, with a blast --of hot air! A huge hot air balloon greeted the campers as they arrived for the first three-week session, and the campers, ages six through 18, were given a ride in the tethered balloon.

Transported from Dallas for the opening session, the balloon was an exciting beginning to an activity-packed three weeks, said Camp Director James V. Campbell, who has headed the camp every summer since its beginning in 1950.

During the camper's stay, they will be treated to exhibitions by skydivers, an airplane dropping packs of sugarless gum over the camp, a carnival, swimming, fishing, crafts, archery, riflery, horseback riding, and numerous other activities. In between the fun, the campers learn how to take care of their diabetes, becoming self-sufficient and more self-assured. A camp doctor and his assistants conduct regular classes, emphasizing the importance of balancing the diabetic's diet, insulin, and exercise.

The hot air balloon also will greet campers at the beginning of the remaining two sessions, which are scheduled for June 28 and July 15.

If a diabetic child's family is unable to pay the full tuition costs for the three weeks, financial help is available by writing the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, TX 76240 for details.

No child is ever turned away because of financial reasons. The only requirement is that he or she has diabetes. Registration is now underway for either of the next two sessions.

Trip to Germany Is Impressive for 'Texas Farm Girl'

The German people really take pride in their beautiful country. Every available space is planted with flowers and everything is so clean and neat. Nowhere did we see any trash on the streets or roadside.

A high, mountainous country, Germany was still very cold when we arrived in Frankfurt May 5. I wore a heavy coat the whole week we spent in Germany, yet many flowers and fruit trees were in full bloom. I can't overstate how beautiful the scenery was.

My favorite places were Bad Kissingen and Bad Brukenau, in the Black Forest. The trees there are so tall they only have leaves in the very top. The two towns are resort areas and I would love to go back to this part of Germany. Donald was stationed in Bad Kissingen when he was in the service and he enjoyed showing me this area.

We stayed in Frankfurt for four days and I really enjoyed seeing it, but Frankfurt was so "touristy." Called the "finance capital of Europe," Frankfurt has some very ornate old buildings, interspersed with very modern skyscrapers.

Traveling by train was one of the modes of travel we often used in Germany. One day when we were at the train station we enjoyed watching a movie film company at work. In period costume, one actress looked very much the proper English nanny pushing a pram. I looked into it, but the pram was empty! There were a lot more security police on hand that day and they were even using German shepherd dogs.

Our tour of the Rhine River took in wine country. I grew up on a farm on the South Plains of Texas and it amazed me to see that farming continued right to the top of some of the mountains. Farms are small and the growing season is short so every foot of farmland was used for cultivation. The farmers in the part of Germany we toured live in small villages which dot the countryside, usually just a few miles apart.

From the Rhine River we saw some of the many castles for which Germany is known. We spotted quite a few castles and each was built on the side of a mountain. During the tour we met an English-speaking couple from Israel and some people from New Jersey. We really enjoyed talking with the Israeli couple and I took a lot of kidding about my Texas accent. Apparently my accent is much stronger than Donald's.

For a small town Texan who had never traveled much, this honeymoon trip to Germany went beyond any of my expectations. I enjoyed the trip immensely. I still marvel at the cleanliness of German cities and villages. The new experience of air travel (it's a ten-hour flight nonstop), so many new sights, the sound of languages foreign to my ears and the great beauty of the countryside are things I will remember the rest of my life.

After eight days of sightseeing Donald traveled on to Yemen where he has been working for some time and I returned to Rising Star to work as a beautician, with the beauty of Germany still lingering in my mind.

Gerrie Cooper Cornett

New skyscrapers nestled among old building with ornate carvings and architecture are a common scene in Frankfurt, Germany.

Parks beside streams add to the beauty of German cities and towns. Donald Cornett takes a break from sightseeing on park bench in Bad Kissingen.

The cleanliness of the streets in every German city and village she visited was a constant marvel to Gerrie Cornett. This scene was at the train station in Frankfurt. The spot on the photo to the right of Gerrie was made in a not so clean darkroom in Texas.

Gordon Spot

By DeMarquis Gordon, County Agent—

JUNE 4 - All the rain during the last three to four weeks has caused the coastal bermuda grass to grow very rapidly. It is going to be hard to cut and bale the hay at the best time because of wet fields. By delaying the cutting considerable feed value could be lost.

Research has shown that delaying harvest results in both protein and digestibility losses in the hay.

Coastal bermuda grass has been shown to lose 25% of its crude protein by delaying cutting from the fourth week to the sixth week of growth. A further delay to the eighth week reduces crude protein an additional 8%.

While producers can increase their total volume or number of bales of hay by delaying harvest until the sixth week of growth, hay quality will suffer.

With bermuda grasses, there is little value in delaying harvest past six weeks of growth because dry matter yields do not increase after six weeks. Considering the loss of protein and digestibility, a maximum amount of quality hay can be produced by harvesting every four to five weeks.

While many factors affect maximum yield of digestible nutrients per acre, the most important factor is the stage of plant maturity at harvest. All forage plants, grasses and legumes, become lower in protein, digestibility and acceptability to livestock as they progress from the vegetative state to the reproductive state of growth.

Cutting and baling hay while grass is in the vegetative stage preserves the hay's feed value while harvest delays result in feed value losses.

ABILENE - On Wednesday, June 24, at 7:00 p.m., KTAB presents 'Critical Minutes', a one-hour program about the treatment of trauma victims. The special focuses on the highly trained medical teams who fight to save lives of injury victims. Yet, each year, thousands die needlessly because this country does not have an adequate trauma care system.

Hosted by Merlin Olsen, 'Critical Minutes' is part of 'Lifequest,' a series of documentaries about today's compelling health issues, issues that affect millions of Americans each year.

To assure immediate and specialized treatment of injury victims, each state needs a complete trauma system capable of delivering the most advanced care. Yet, only 10% of America's communities have such a system. In 'Critical Minutes,' medical authorities are interviewed about this serious gap in America's health care system, a system that operates in the most technologically advanced nation in the world. Donald Trunkey, M.D., Medical Advisor to 'Critical Minutes' and Chairman, Department of Surgery, Oregon Health Sciences University, Portland, states, 'We have to have a system of care modelled after the firehouse. We pay firemen to stay in a firehouse 24 hours a day to save our property. Shouldn't we have the same system to take care of people?'

Comanche County Pow Wow

Comanche's 6th Annual Pow-Wow is scheduled for Saturday, June 13, from 9:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the beautiful city park, located on the city's west edge, just south of Hwy. 377.

Mary Joe Pierce and her band 'Special Delivery' will be the featured entertainment Saturday at the Pow-Wow. Performances are scheduled for 11:00 a.m.,

1:00, 3:00, and 5:00 p.m. at the pavilion in the park. Mary Jo is the 1987 Female Vocalist winner of TV's Star Search. She is a 14-year-old performer from Copperas Cove and has developed quite a reputation for pleasing audiences of all ages.

Entries for the Art and Photography Contest are due Thursday, June 11, at the Castaba Lumber building near entrance to the City Park. Judging will be done on Friday with the exhibit open to the public on Saturday until 4 p.m.

Children will enjoy the puppets, magic, clown, face painting, balloons and other fun things at the Pee-Wee Pow-Wow going on in the Kiddie Park all day Saturday.

'News From Home', a U.S.O. group from Dallas, will perform Saturday at 4:15 and at 6:00 p.m. Lots more entertainment, contests, and fun are being planned.

The Arts and Crafts Fair, Silent Auction, food booths and lots of family activities should round out a fun day in Comanche for everyone. Come see us!

CISCO
Dale Stewart, Cisco sculptor, presented his bronze bust of Willie Nelson to the famous singer last Sunday, June 7. The presentation was made just before Nelson's performance at a benefit concert on a ranch west of San Angelo. Stewart worked on the bronze for about a year before its completion in March, 1987. The likeness of Nelson will be one of four busts cast from the same model, with one due to be raffled for the benefit of a Farm Aid Concert in Nebraska next September.

There will be an Autograph Party for Mary Ann Ziehr on Tuesday, June 16, 7 p.m. at the Community Room at First National Bank, Cisco. Mrs. Ziehr's new book "Up The German Road", will be presented. This is a historical account of the early German and Wendish settlement south of Cisco, and the first Lutheran churches there. The public is invited to come and meet Mrs. Ziehr and see her attractive book.

The Rev. Ken Diehm of the First United Methodist Church was ordained at the annual Conference of Central Texas Methodist Churches in Waco recently. Those from Cisco who attended were Dickie Seider, Lillian Bradshaw, Polly Wright, Sutton and Mary Croft, Pat Isabell, Trixie Whitley, Bernice Gorr and Sherry Wright.

If you're in the market for some building materials, you'll be interested in knowing that the old intermediate building in the new elementary school area is being torn down. School officials expect to have everything they want out of the building by now. You can sign a form that says you won't sue the schools if you fall or step on a nail or something, and go after anything you want. All they want, Supt. Ray Saunders, says, is for you to "leave it neat".

The Museum at the Hilton Community Center will soon receive an interesting book. It's the bound files of copies of the Cisco High School newspaper, "The Gusher," published by students for the school year 1927-28. The bound file belongs to Dr. Chief Brown, who will place it in the museum. The lead story on the front page has this headline: "Lobos Defeat El Paso Tigers". The local team won a 13 to 6 victory at El Paso on Oct. 1, 1927.

RANGER
Hale Dunson, master printer, is back on the job at The Ranger Times. He was out for several months due to illness, but is now able to turn out his quality printing jobs again. Old-fashioned craftsmanship are the watchords when Hale runs his presses.

The Ranger City Commissioners have named Charles R. Edwards as the new Chief of Police for the City. Chief Edwards is a native of Reagan County, but came to this area recently. Mayor David Rogers said that he felt the Council made an excellent choice in the appointment of Edwards. The Mayor swore the Chief into office, with the appointment taking place immediately.

The Gholson Beauty Shop has opened in the Gholson residential hotel, with Chris Gosnell and Mary Clark as owners and operators. They invite everyone to come by and get in on some of their "opening" specials. Walk-ins are welcome, and the operators also specialize in men's hair styling. This will be a particularly convenient place for those residing in the hotel and the area.

The Ranger Boys and Girls Club opened for the summer on Monday, with registration continuing through Friday, June 12. The annual registration fee will be $2. This will include use of all the club facilities and one day per week of free swimming. The hours will be Monday through Friday from 1-5 p.m. The club will be open to all boys and girls age 6-18.

The 9th annual Little League Old Timers Softball Tournament will be held Saturday, June 13, at 6 p.m. Once again old ball players from the past will be at the old park for soft-ball games and to reunite with old friends. Everyone 25 and older who played in Ranger Little League is eligible to play. Others may come and watch and enjoy it.

EASTLAND
Bryan Neaves, formerly of Brownwood, has been named as Resident Manager at the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation following the retirement of R.P. (Buddy) Haun in late May. Neaves, 25, has been working under the direction of Haun for the past six months, and will remain in the Eastland office. This office is responsible for the preparation of all plans and paper work along with construction decisions and inspection required by the Highway Department for Eastland, Stephens and Comanche counties. Neaves stated that his office will be involved in the rehabilitation of the I-20 ramps from the Callahan County line to Eastland.

Tuesday morning was Send-Off Day for 14 Eastland County 4-H State Contestants. These accomplished young people and their sponsors met at the County Extension Service office at 8 a.m., and then went to the Chamber of Commerce office for a reception. Best wishes go with these fine contestants, and we will hear a lot more from them.

The Thursday Afternoon Club will hold a thrift and bake sale on Thursday and Friday, June 11 and 12, at 1006 West Main. The hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. A large assortment of clothing, misc. articles and home baked goods will be on hand. All funds raised will benefit worthy projects of the club. These projects include Eastland Memorial Library.

TAIRELL AND JOE CROCKETT Walking Across America For Jobs Across America

Politicians give speeches and unions stage demonstrations to publicize the need for more jobs in America. But Joe Adams Crockett walks. He has spent the past year walking from coast to coast to raise money for an academy to help teens get jobs and job training in Flint, Michigan, his home town.

"I say if you can walk, carry a flag, and speak to people on the road, you're doing a beneficial thing," he said.

He left Washington, D.C., April 14, 1986, to start his campaign. At every town he sought donations from businesspeople, churches and politicians for a national youth academy for jobs and careers.

"Our young people have nothing to do, no guidance, no role models, so they turn to drugs," Crockett said. "Somebody has to motivate people to create jobs for our young people."

Joe began working with young people in Flint by founding a neighborhood Girls and Boys Club to give young people something to do. He said that he gets a lot of frustration and little support from adults on his walk.

Crockett, 45, arrived in Cisco last Thursday and spent the night at the Cisco Steak House and Inn. Owners Kenneth and Delores Way put him and his son up for the night. He left early Friday morning to start his long and lonely journey back to the nation's capital. His son Tairell joined him in Abilene on the 27th of May and will walk with him for a while.

Crockett, a carpenter from Flint has collected only enough money to barely pay his expenses. He has a goal of $100,000.

But he doesn't let the financial blues wear away at his enthusiasm. He hopes a national shoe company will sponsor his walk, he said. He has worn out six pairs of shoes on his walk.

Crockett spends his resting days passing out fliers proclaiming his cause, collecting letters from officials documenting that he visited their cities and getting news interviews.

He plans on arriving in Washington D.C., on October 21 and will try to talk with the President. This will make the third time that Mr. Crockett will try to speak to the President on the necessity of a national academy.

He and his wife Ann have six children.

Donations may be made to "Jobs Across America", 3525 Mason Street, Flint, Michigan, 48505.

A girl gave her boyfriend her picture. On the back she wrote, "Dearest, I love you more every day. I always will. I know you feel the same way about me. All my love forever and ever."

But she added, "P.S. When we break up, return this picture." There's more fickleness in our lives than faithfulness, isn't there? That's especially true when it comes to religion.

But that one is faithful who puts God above gold, loyalty above license, principle above popularity, self-control above self-indulgence, the Word above the world.

Are you faithful?

"YES, THERE IS LIFE AFTER BREAST CANCER. AND THAT'S THE WHOLE POINT!"
 -Ann Jillian

 A lot of women are so afraid of breast cancer they don't want to hear about it. And that's what frightens me. Because those women won't practice breast self-examination regularly. Those women, particularly those over 35, won't ask their doctor about a mammogram. Yet that's what's required for breast cancer to be detected early. When the cure rate is 90%. And when there's a good chance it won't involve the loss of a breast. But no matter what it involves, take it from someone who's been through it all. Life is just too wonderful to give up on. And, as I found out, you don't have to give up on any of it. Not work, not play, not even romance. Oh, there is one thing, though. You do have to give up being afraid to take care of yourself.

Lights From The Christian World

By Josephine Cleveland

One summer I visited Venice, a port city in Italy. Each time I passed in the vicinity of Saint Mark's Square, I'd stop and watch the pigeons in the square. Hundreds of them collected there enjoying the peanuts, grain and bread the visitors threw out to them. These medium-sized birds with shiny-sleek feathers strutted about proudly as they picked up food. They are always hungry in spite of their large crops which stores up great amounts of food.

There are 650 species of pigeons. One of the most useful species, the homing pigeon, is famous for his ability to carry messages hundreds of miles back to his home. Messages are rolled and put into a little capsule which may be attached to the pigeons' leg or back.

When the homing pigeon is young he is given short flights. Gradually he learns where home is. No one knows how they can find their way over hundreds of miles. The only explanation that can be given is that it is a God-given instinct.

him his pigeons. One pigeon had flown 500 miles in order to return home. He had "come in clean", the man told his friend.

"What do you mean by 'come in clean'?" the friend inquired.

"She had no mud, no dirt on her. She landed with clean feet," the man replied.

The homing pigeon has one main goal when away from home—that is to make it home. Nothing deters him. He takes no side trips, no detours, no resting on the way, no letting up, no layovers.

Philippines 3:14,15 tells us, "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Let us therefore as many be perfect, be thus minded..."

Friend, a person who has singleness of heart and a controlling spiritual purpose will pay whatever is necessary to be the best he can be. "Home is often some distance out ahead and it takes perseverance, determination, single-mindedness to continually press on in spite of the earthly distractions along the way and the weariness of body and soul that is often the result of one's purpose.

Vince Lombardi, once coach of the Green Bay Packers, on an occasion said, "Man's finest hour is when he has poured out his life for a good cause and lies exhausted on the field of battle—victorious."

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry Wilson

Lynda Wende of Cisco winner of 2-person bass boat.

Sunday at 5:00 p.m. Wal Mart employee Christy Renteria drew the winning number of Lynda Wende of Cisco, Texas. Lynda was awarded a 2 man water Buster boat equipped with a 28 pound Minn Kota trolling motor and 105 amp Voyager battery.

Money raised by this event will enable the Eastland County Bass Club to expand and improve the youth's division in their 1987 tournament Sept. 13, 1987 at Lake Leon. The E.C.B.C. would like to thank everyone for their donations. And a special thanks to Outdoors Unlimited, Fullen Motor Co., and Wal-Mart for their extra efforts to help ensure education of our youth in the preservation of "The Great Outdoors."

Saturday, June 13 the E.C.B.C. will be holding its inter-club tournament at Lake Graham. Headquarters will be at the City Park. For more information contact Eddie Green 629-2184.

Congratulations to Butch Willingham who won the Lake Graham tournament. Full details were unavailable.

Don't forget the Wal-Mart fishing contest will run thru June 21st. So take that crappie, bass or catfish by and get entered.

From time to time our lake reports may seem somewhat incorrect on our local lake like, Proctor, Hubbard Creek, P.K., Brownwood etc. What happens is I am unable to gather reports sometimes on these impoundments and will use reports compiled by the Texas Parks and Wildlife. These reports are accurate, but unfortunately they normally run about one week behind. To avoid possible problems for you, I will begin dating reports I use from the Parks and Wildlife. All other reports will be as current as 1 day and not older than 3. I do apologize for any problems this may have caused.

The swift water below dams supports many large fish. However, fishermen often consider heavy current too difficult to fish, even if they realize large fish call this area home. Huge catfish thrive in this fast water...and they can be caught, according to the Mariner Outboards fishing experts.

Hydroelectric dams span many rivers, and when power is being generated, the increased flow creates even swifter conditions.

Bait fish drawn through the turbines are injured and flushed down to waiting catfish. Below most dams, rocks and boulders provide ideal resting and ambush points for catfish to attack the hapless victims that drift or swim by.

Bait fish also inhabit these areas because water temperatures remains cooler and the oxygen content is higher. This concentrates bait fish and all species of fish.

Fishing methods must be modified from other river techniques. Boat control is the most critical skill required; without it, you'll drift over the prime fish-holding spots before your bait even reaches the bottom.

To take good numbers of catfish, utilize the boat control method called "slipping." When "slipping," fishermen control their drifts by holding their boats against the current. Face the boat into the current, and keep the outboard in great, idling fast enough to maintain a slow downstream drift, so the lure and bait can be fished vertically (under the boat). A slow bait presentation allow catfish a chance to see and take your offering.

The most successful bait and tackle are also different than normal catfish gear. The rocks that harbor these fish will eat your tackle unless you perfect boat "slipping" and rig like the experts.

A single or double hook rig can be easily created using a three-way swivel and a sinker about 12 inches from the other end. To keep from re-tying after every drift, use a rubber band (3/4 by 1/16 inches) to attach your weight to the line on the rig.

The rubber band allows the weight to bump the bottom, keeping bait in the fish zone. If it doesn't become hung, pull hard on the line and then snap it back. The weight should pop out of the toughest snag. The worst case is the loss of an inexpensive weight and not the entire rig. This method saves you money, and also saves fishing time.

Bait used on these catfish rigs varies from area to area, but live minnows, shad strips, chicken and turkey livers are the favored bait. Many fishermen use scents, also.

This simple but effective method will take good numbers of catfish which live in the swift water below dams.

Terry L. Wilson

Allison - Lowrie Wed May 30

Miss Alice Ann Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Euell E. Allison of Gorman became the bride of Marvin Shane Lowrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lowrie of Ropesville, in ceremonies performed Saturday, May 30, 1987.

The First Baptist Church of Eastland was the scene of the 7:00 p.m. wedding with brother of the bride, Alvie Edwin Allison, Minister of Music of Tate Springs Baptist Church, Arlington, Texas, officiating. Decorations featured candelabra which consisted of three fifteen-candle arches and four seven-candle adjacents, accented with cascading corsages in the colors of rose and wedgewood blue.

The candles were lighted by Adrienne and Stacia Allison of Arlington, nieces of the bride. The unity candle was at the left of the altar in large brass candle holder, flanked by parents' candles in matching brass holders on each side.

Beautiful nuptial music was provided on organ by Jerry Dodge of Azle. Wedding songs included a duet, "Together," by Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Allison with organ accompaniment; another duet "To Me," by Kathy Tutt and Darrell Thrash who accompanied on his guitar; and "The Lord's Prayer," by Linda Allison with organ accompaniment.

The couple was given in marriage by their parents. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, taffeta, crystalline organza, Venice and Schiffli laces. The wedding ring collar and deep V bodice was of silk floss Venice lace appliques over an illusion yoke. Appliques on the bodice and front skirt panel were edged with bugle beads, seed pearls, and iridescents. The soft basque waistline held a full gathered A line skirt of organza over taffeta which was edged with Schiffli lace and organza ruffles. The applique and jewel laden illusion back was closed with tiny satin covered bridal buttons beginning at the neck and trailing to below the waist. A burst of organza ruffles formed a cathedral train. Her hat of seed pearls and re-embroidered alencon lace held a beekeeper's blusher, pearl studded pouf, and a split fingertip veil of illusion. Her cascade of silk Magnolia, rose and white butterfly orchids, Stephanotis, Lilly of the Valley, Baby's Breath entwined with English Ivy and ivory and rose streamers was atop a white Bible carried by her cousin in her wedding. The bride wore a lavalier belonging to her grandmother Lovell.

The rose and blue roses filled with bird seed were distributed by Adrienne and Stacia Allison. A bird bath topped by love birds also held bird seed outside the church.

For going away, the bride chose an aqua dress hat, and ivory accessories. After a wedding trip to Stephenville and Ft. Worth the couple is living in Midland.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in Carlton Hall of the church.

Thursday,

June 11, 1987

One day, when I was a boy, I did something bad. It grieved my mother, and lovingly she asked me not to do it again.

Angry, I replied, "I'll do what I like. I can do what I want to with my own life."

But I was wrong. When a person sins, he doesn't do what he likes; he does what sin likes. You can let a habit get such a grip on you that you can't break it. You can allow a pleasure to master you so completely that you can't do without it. Yes, every one who practices sin is a slave of sin.

Want freedom? Try the Lord. He breaks the power of canceled sin. He sets the prisoner free.

I've Been Wrong

by Gordon S. Clark

You sure can't rely on what people say. Like the time my wife asked me to clean the black off of an aluminum frying pan, I told her that was so tough I might not be able to get half of it off. So she said she would be satisfied if I just got half of it off.

Well, I took it out back and began scouring it with one of those little wire brushes on a hand drill. I started on one side and in a bit I was at the center line with the first half so bright you could see yourself in it. When I handed it to her that way she wasn't satisfied no how. Ain't that just like a woman? So before she let up I had to go out and shine the other half. I honestly did.

Foolishness aside, I hear that Taylor county commissioners voted a law requiring building permits to satisfy insurance companies about flood insurance. At least that is the reason they gave.

Let me explain how permits and inspections worked in San Diego, Calif. and decide whether Abilene is headed the same direction.

When Mother and Dad built their first house in San Diego, Co. the permits cost $25. Within ten years permits and inspections had gone into hundreds. Last year our niece built a new house. Now the non-material-non-labor costs were into the thousands.

Now consider what you get for all those good things the bureaucracy provides. A lot near there I was digging a hole for a pool. The dirt was wheeled to a gully where we piled up rock to hold the dirt. But, I was instructed not to build over three feet high or the wall would require a permit, inspection etc. As we worked an inspector checking on the house a neighbor was building came by uninvited to check on the wall.

The neighbor had a kitchen where the ceiling joists measure ten ft. two in. They had to be torn out and replaced by two by six. No two by four over ten ft. they said YET on a tract of houses where I was a laborer they used two by four on fourteen ft. spans. How come? I was informed that the big contractors engineer had specified that they would not sag and supposedly staked his reputation on it. Never mind if the corporation might be dissolved and their loot spent before the joists had time to sag and the sucker who owned the house would be advised to hire a lawyer he could ill afford for an exercise in futility. Certainly you could do your own plumbing and wiring if it could pass a nit-picking inspection. But if you want no hassle, then hire the right union plumber or electrician and the inspector simply looks at the name and signs it as passed. Naturally those contractors are incapable of error so why look. Yes, that "inspection" would cost you exactly the same as going over it with the fine tooth comb you or your brother's work would have received.

Ah, yes, flood insurance. As police and firemen worked with boats and ropes rescuing people from flooded homes a policeman asked, "Why the devil let contractors build houses in the canyons which are prone to flash flooding?" No mystery at all. The bureaucrats held cushy jobs protecting the public and as long as the permit and inspection money came in that seemed to be the whole point.

A word of warning however to any considering Californianizing their community. I read a book titled "YOU CAN FIGHT CITY HALL AND WIN". Therein the author, a former City Attorney for NYC, told of a dozen ways to hook a city or other governmental unit into responsibility if you suffered injury or loss and the primary individual responsible had nothing to be sued for. Inspection was one of those strongest hooks.

Let me elaborate. In Abilene a year or so ago the city fire marshal put out the order that all dry cleaners would cease to use naphtha in cleaning and use a substance he designated. Unfortunately, the equipment used with the designated fluid was different and expensive. Only one company could supply and install it. Regardless of potential for bribery in such situations the cleaners would be forced to go out of business if they couldn't afford to be "taken to the cleaners" for new equipment.

Some thought they should hire a lawyer to plead their case, others thought they should hire a consulting engineer to testify for them. With only $2,400. in their treasury either idea was a joke. I suggested they inform the city fathers that as the designated material was a chlorinated hydrocarbon proven to be carcinogenic (cancer causing) that if an employee or client should charge that they had contracted cancer from long exposure to fumes or residues of it then the city would be targeted by any smart shyster. The tax payers would have their tax burden increased to pay off. Should a fire cause a poisonous cloud from a ruptured container to injure people in the neighborhood, as it certainly could, then the injured could look to the city, not the cleaner. For, when a government entity ORDERS anything they assume a responsibility.

On this you can bet your bottom dollar and it is that each time someone proposes another device for chipping away another bit of the peoples freedom and expects them to pay for that tyranny, it will be proposed as for some noble cause and sold as promoting the general welfare.

At the same time I believe it was Jefferson who said he had no lamp with which to guide his feet into the future but by the light of history. If I quote one wrongly there are few who know differently and few in doubt who will take time to look it up.

Did they take my advice and what did the City of Abilene decide?

Frankly, I never even checked to see. I thanked the cleaner who invited me to the meeting when I phoned him my suggestion, thanked him for the free dinner and the ride home.

Remembering that the Bible tells of Lot's wife turning to a pillar of salt, I try not to look back very often.

Local Artist - Sculptor Presents Willie Nelson With Bronze Bust

By Viola Payne

Dale Stewart of Cisco, artist and sculptor, presented Singer Willie Nelson his bronze bust on Sunday, June 7.

The presentation was made about 7 p.m., just before Nelson's outdoor Concert on the Bud Pavlichek ranch west of San Angelo.

Nelson had his first view of the sculptured portrait when Stewart carried it to the singer's private bus, which was parked near the large outdoor stage. He had previously approved a model of the bronze piece from a photo sent by Stewart.

The event Sunday was called "Thank You Willie Nelson Day," and was also a benefit Concert for a liver transplant. About 5,000 people from all around the area attended, including some from Eastland County.

Dale Stewart was among the Guests of Honor listed on the program.

Stewart first knew Willie Nelson about 25 years ago, when he sang in the San Angelo-Coleman area before he became famous.

Nelson's reaction to the bust of himself was "fantastic", Stewart says. "He really brightened up when he saw me with the bronze."

Stewart presented the piece to Willie with "love and appreciation for what you have done for the nation and Farm Aid."

He visited with Willie before the singer went on stage. After the hour-long concert, Willie called him back on the bus, and discussed old times and the bronze piece again.

Nelson approved the casting of three more of these bronze sculptures: one for his friend Jalapeno (Sam) Lewis, one to be raffled in a Farm Aid Concert in Nebraska in September, and one for Dale Stewart to keep.

Stewart began his work on the bust of Willie Nelson in Feb., 1986, and completed it in March, 1987. The bronze was cast at Hoka Hey Art Foundry, near Dublin. Stewart says he considered it a "challenge to capture Willie Nelson's personality." Those who see the striking piece know that he succeeded.

The bronze was exhibited at Eastland National Bank in early April, and at Cisco High School shortly afterward.

County Commissioners: Money Requirements Expected To Be Higher Next Year

Eastland County Commissioners held a regular meeting on Monday, June 8, with all four Commissioners present. County Judge Scott Bailey presided.

The Judge opened a pre-budget discussion, with some of the 1987-88 requests from various officials in for consideration. It appears that the new budget will be higher than that of the last fiscal year, which ran over 2.8 million.

There was a discussion of the tax valuation it would take to meet the increased demands on the county. An added value to sales taxes is also a possibility.

Emma Morris, county auditor, showed the Commissioners a bill for ambulance and other medical services for a prospective juror who became ill in the Courtroom during jury selection for the organized crime case.

It was reported that the man "said he didn't want an ambulance," but one was called anyway.

The ambulance bill for carrying him to Eastland Memorial Hospital was $159, with the hospital bill $80 and doctors services from a clinic $40.

Commissioners voted to pay to hospital and clinic bill, but to question the full price for the ambulance service - since the county is carrying two memberships in this service.

Another item under discussion was a request from Sheriff Don Underwood for funds to pay for keeping prisoners in other counties. The Sheriff was unable to be present, due to his investigation of a murder in Rising Star.

Billy Bacon, commissioner of Pct. 1, reported that there were 21 inmates presently in the County Jail, and he thought there were five still being housed in Stephens County.

Dale Hawkins of Sun Production Co. requested permission to cross County Road 497 in Pct. 2 with an oil and water pipeline. The request was granted.

This subject led to a discussion of trouble with some other companies on pipelines. L.T. Owen, commissioner of Pct. 3, said he was having trouble right now with an unauthorized line laid across a road.

The worst offenders, he said, were companies who sell out to others. The new owners of the oil properties sometimes don't want to be responsible for promises previously made to the county.

The Commissioners said that representatives of companies who sign contracts with the county should be held individually responsible.

Judge Bailey suggested that he try to draft all future contracts in a way so that obligations shall be assumed by all future purchasers of companies.

On a happier note, the Commissioners reported that the auction of county equipment in Cisco on May 30 was very successful. More than $24,000 was brought in from the sale of used items.

Z.H. BEEN

Mr. and Mrs. Z.H. Been's country home about 1909 showing from left to right Rufus Been, Z.H. Been, Mrs. Been, Mrs. Ownby, Mrs. Been's Mother, Raines Been's nephew, Raines Been, Elzo Been, and Virgil Been.

Zachariah Houston Been, born August 30, 1857 in Sebastian county, Arkansas and died March 12, 1941. He married January 9, 1881 to Julia Ann Ownby, born December 2, 1862 in Walker county, Georgia, and died December, 17, 1950. They are both buried in the Long Branch cemetery in Eastland, County, Texas. They had four children, Julia Etta, Elzo Francis, Jesse Virgil, and Rufus Oscar.

The family moved from Sebastian county, Arkansas in 1891 to the Simpson community, later known as Kokomo, in Eastland county. They traveled by covered wagon. They farmed in this location, raising cotton, corn and longhorn cattle. Houston sold out in 1893, and returned to Arkansas where they still owned a farm. They spend the next seven years there, during which time Julia Etta died and was buried in the Liberty cemetery at Greenwood, Arkansas.

In 1900 Houston and Julia sold their Arkansas farm and returned to Eastland county, buying 160 acres in the Long Branch community. There was a one room log cabin and small box house, using the log cabin for a kitchen, and they lived in the small house.

When the family completed a spacious farm home, the cabin and small house were incorporated in the building of a large barn. The house was ranch style and was kept painted and good condition at all times. They had a lawn and Julia had lots of flowers in the yard.

Houston bought 320 acres more land in a short time, and he raised cotton, corn, maize, and Hereford cattle. He never sold his grain or cotton seed at the end of a crop year, and sold them for seed at the beginning of the next year at a higher price.

Houston and Julia became known as Uncle Hous and Aunt Julie. Aunt Julie was a marvelous cook. As was the custom of the early days the long dining table was covered with a cloth at the end of the meal, leaving much food for the next meal. When the grandchildren visited they knew where the fried chicken, fried pies, and other goodies were located, and many times when the cloth was removed there were several empty dishes. Aunt Julie was happy to be living in Eastland county because she had two sisters living here, Mrs. Matt McAllister of the Long Branch community, and Mrs. Mary Hearn of Carbon.

Uncle Hous bought a Buick automobile about 1915. He had it delivered and took it to a small clearing in front of his house. He started the car and was driving it in circles. Aunt Julie heard him hollering "Whoa-damn-it!". He finally drove the car into a large oak tree and never tried to drive again. He always had two or three men working for him, and one of them always had to drive for him.

During the oil boom of the 20s Uncle Hous sold 40 acres across from the Long Branch church and school. There was a refinery built on this land and for a time furnished heat and light for the church and school. The Beens were active members of the church until Uncle Hous's hearing got so bad that he could not hear the preacher. They were still supportive of the church and the community in a monetary way as long as they lived.

The Beens were good citizens, and all who knew and remember them loved them.

Outstanding Local Student Attends
Science Symposium

Thirty outstanding students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 27th Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The Conference got underway Monday, June 8 and ended Thursday, June 11.

Sponsored by WTU from Rising Star were superintendent of schools, Dr. Donald E. Bryan, and outstanding science student, Jackie Harris.

The 400 selected Texas high school science students and teachers who attended the sessions were offered a rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding scientists.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the Foundation's sponsoring companies. WTU paid all expenses for the 30 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company. The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of energy. Currently, the Foundation and the University are sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power.

The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but to also assist in the advancement of the knowledge of energy science in Texas schools. Of special interest to the sponsors is bringing to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of energy presents.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas. Rising Star can be justly proud of their high school for having been chosen as one of the 150 schools in the state invited to attend the Symposium.

Jackie Harris, center, and Dr. Donald E. Bryan, far left, register for the Texas Energy Science Symposium with the assistance of Steve Thomas of West Texas Utilities Co. Jackie will be a senior at Rising Star High School next semester and Dr. Bryan is superintendent of Rising Star schools.
