Wednesday was "Sam Jones Day" in the Rising Star public school system. It was a well-deserved tribute to the man who will retire this year after having headed the local schools for twenty years; a tribute the more impressive because it came spontaneously from the students and faculty members of the organization he served as the administrative head.

There can be no better recommendation of a man than the tenure and character of his service. In these respects Sam Jones measures up. To serve twenty years as the head of any public institution -especially one so sensitive to the public mind as a school system—is an accomplishment of no mean degree. And to be able to look back upon a career of school administration spent in only a few places, simply emphasizes the qualities which made possible Mr. Jones' long record here.

Mr. Jones' entire career has been spent within the radius of comparatively a few miles. He was born in Erath County within fifty miles of Rising Star. He has taught and administered schools in Stephens county and at Desdemona, Morton Valley and Rising Star. He has been employed and kept in employment by "home folks." In their eyes he has measured up.

Mrs. Irene Huffman of Route 1, Dublin, was in extremely critical condition in Medical Arts Hospital, Brownwood, where she was taken by Higginbotham ambulance after emergency treatment at Rising Star Hospital. There was no report on her condition Wednesday.

The other occupant of the vehicle, Horace Chisholm, of Rt. 4, Dublin, was taken to a Comanche hospital where his injuries were said Tuesday, not to be serious. That they were not more so was ascribed to the timely and expert work of a nurse from Corsicana, Tex., who with her husband was first on the scene and reported the accident. The man was bleeding profusely from a head wound, and the nurse made a compress and stanched the flow while waiting for the ambulance to return from taking the injured woman to the hos-nital here. In his proclamation, the Mayor called for a citywide effort to make the clean-up effective in removing hazards to health, fire hazards, and in improving the appearance of the community.

Business firms were joining in support of the drive through advertisements urging homeowners and owners of other property to clean-up, paint-up and fix-up.

The city will furnish trucks and crews for the removal of rubbish collected during the

No trash which can be disposed of on the property by burning, and no garbage will be removed, the mayor explained. Tree limbs, grass and shrubbery clippings should be burned on the premises, he said. Old cans, pieces of metal and junk that cannot be burned will be picked up providing it is not too heavy or cumbersome for the crews to handle.

Special emphasis was placed on removal of fire hazards. Accumulations of flammable material, such as rags, old papers, etc., and faulty wiring and other conditions offering fire danger should get careful attention, members of the Fire Department, said.

So should conditions that contribute to health hazards, it was emphasized. In particular, places where water can accumulate and invite mosquito larvae, and places in which flies can breed, should be cleaned up, it was pointed out.

Meanwhile, the City plans to clean the business streets and to repaint the parking space stripes on a greater angle to conform to the more convenient practice followed in many other cities, the mayor said.

The West Texas Utilities. Co. has been pushing its allelectric home service under the title, "Medallion Home"

This Spring it published a handsome little brochure illustrating the advantages of complete "flameless and sootless" service. One of the six examples of Medallion homes pictured in the brochure is a Rising Star home. It is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frye on South Main Street, built a short while ago and served entirely by electricity. The company maintains that a home properly built and insulated can be heated and -cooled with electricity at no greater cost than with other methods and the Frye home is pictured as an example within the smaller residence range. The brochures, which are being distributed all over the area served by the company, are obtainable at the local WTU office.

was in County jail at Eastland Wednesday afternoon charged with burglary after he had been captured in Cisco about 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. The charges were filed in J. P. court at Cisco. He has been charged in connection with an attempted burglary of the Boone grocery north of Rising Star early Wednesday. He is also wanted by Waco authorities on an auto theft charge, sheriff's clificers said.

An early morning burglary attempt at the Boone Grocery and Service Station three miles north of Rising Star early Wednesday set off a blast of gunfire that apparently wounded the wouldbe burglar, and an area-wide search for a "small, dark-complected man," centering about Forrest Boone, who operates the business in the former Criswell store quarters, told The Rising Star he was awakened in a bedroom at the rear of the store about 1:15 Wednesday morning by sounds of breaking glass. He said he seized a 12-gauge pump shotgun and went to the front where he discovered a small man of dark complexion about 23 or 24 years of age en-

By Beverly Nicholson County HD Agent Mildew thrives in hot, humid weather. High moisture causes the mold spores, which are always present in the air, to settle niture and books. The best protection against mildew is its prevention. To remove dampness, the use of air conditioners, dehumidifiers, heat and chemicals, is recommended. Air conditioners are good dehumidifiers because the cool air contains less moisture than the warm air. You can also fight off dampness by heating the house for a short time. Then open the doors and windtows to let the moist air out. An exhaust fan will help fosce it out. To dry the air in closets and other small areas, keep a small electric light burning. The heat from the lamp will be enough to prevent mildew if the space is not too large. Or you can place a small electric heater in a large closet. Use extreme care and be
