Soviet Recognition Seen As International Aid Cotton Growers Start Filing Bollworm Claims Monday

Board Ready To Prepare For Hearings

Chamber Of Commerce To Handle Registration For Howard County

All cotton growers who have claims against the state for expenditures in the fumigation of cotton seed on account of any requirements complying with pink bollworm quarantine regulations during the years 1929 to 1932, inclusive, will begin registering their names and addresses at the office of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Monday morning.

The Pink Bollworm Compensation Claims Board has asked that all names and addresses of claimants be filed with it as quickly as possible.

A letter to The Herald from Fred W. Davis, chairman of the board, points out that after a complete file of names and addresses of all claimants has been compiled blanks will be furnished to all bona fide claimants of record.

The employment of attorneys or other agents to present claims will be wholly unnecessary, said Davis.

The law provides that the Pink Bollworm Claims Board shall hold public hearings in the various counties affected and such hearings will be held just as soon as sufficient data has been received from claimants," Mr. Davis wrote.

The law requires official notice by advertisement in each county ten days before public hearings, giving in the advertisement the date and place for hearing. Notices of the hearings also will be mailed all claimants.

Cuba—

The State Department isn't sure which way it's headed these days in the Cuban situation. Among other things the Department isn't so sure of its information. The "lowdown" on what's really happening in Havana flows in fast and furious but it happens to be a trifle mixed.

Our white-spatters take some consolation from the thought the Cubans probably don't know where they're going either.

Every day Assistant Secretary of State Caffey in charge of Latin American affairs and other departmental exports hold a whole series of conferences with exiled Cubans who represent factions that were in the saddle in the Island only weeks or months ago.

The boys swap information received via the grapevine and otherwise. Then at the end of the day everybody sits back and tries to sift out the nub of it all.

Of course Ambassador Sumner Welles is reporting voluminously all the time. But he's very much in du'ch with the administration of President Grau San Martin, Senator King of Utah expects to tell the world why.

As long as Grau is in the Palace Welles will have his troubles in picking up real inside information.

The other day the New York half of this column called your attention to a man who might emerge as the big shot of Cuba. He is Mario Garcia Kohly, a gentleman who has served his native land in many important positions in the past. Word filtering into Washington would indicate Garcia has no del-

Jean Calloway And Her Band To Appear Here November 22

Jean Calloway, sister of the famous Cab and one of the musical Calloways from the heart of Harlem, will bring her recording orchestra of twelve men to the Settles hotel for one dance November 22. The orchestra, a radio sensation in 1932, is coming direct from the Plantation club in Harlem. On a recent tour over the Paramount-Public chain, the dance band and Jean Calloway proved very popular.

Railroad Brotherhood Officials To Count Votes For S-P Strike After Arbitration Efforts Fail

HOUSTON, (AP)—Railroad Brotherhood officials said Saturday they would convene next Wednesday to count votes cast by 3,000 employees of the Southern Pacific Railway lines in Texas and Louisiana, as to whether they should strike. They were polled on whether to call a general strike because of failure to settle by arbitration 108 points involved in a dispute officials and the railroad company.

No Charges To Be Preferred In Vote Quiz

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Senator M. M. Logan, member of the senate investigation committee probing election of Senator John H. Overton, said Saturday there will be no formal charges in the senate against Overton, unless charges are filed by the people of Louisiana. He said testimony taken in New Orleans in February and at this hearing, may be thrown out.

METEORITE BARELY MISSES AIRPLANE

DALLAS (UP)—Crash of a meteorite and an airplane seemed very possible Friday for Pilot Merrill Brock, who flies the weather ship at Love field here. A meteorite, believed one of the Leonids, on their belated visit to the earth, whirled past the weather ship before dawn, Pilot Brock said, and its whirring noise could be heard above the roar of the motor. The falling body was traveling from north to south at a 45 degree angle, the pilot observed. Brock was flying at 7,000 feet when he observed the meteorite. Pilot Lee Wallace, flying the American Airways regular ship from El Paso to Dallas said he saw between 30 and 40 of the meteorites. Five or six of them were exceptionally bright. One was so bright that it was visible after dawn, he said. The Leonids were due Wednesday morning. However, their periodical 33-year visits were becoming irregular and astronomers were not surprised when the Leonids failed to keep their appointment. It was believed the meteorites were gradually slowing down and their fewer number made their course more erratic.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Renewal of diplomatic relations between Russia and the United States announced Friday by President Roosevelt brought from diplomats, assembled to save the disarmament conference from oblivion, and from London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Tokyo came official and semi-official comments that the American government's action should result in international benefit. The United States named William C. Bullitt ambassador. The Soviet appointee was not immediately named. Meanwhile, new discussions seeking settlements of debts and claims is Maxim Litvinoff's immediate job. He looks for considerable progress before leaving for Moscow. He expects to conclude both problems without aid of a mixed commission, considering normal diplomatic channels adequate. Moscow approved the appointment of Bullitt.

Jury Finds Radio Operator Guilty Act Violations

ABILENE—After 50 minutes of deliberation a federal court jury returned a verdict of guilty late Friday in the re-trial of Curry Jackson for violation of the radio act of 1927. Judge William H. Atwell sentenced him to ten days in jail here. In rendering the sentence the court said, "We don't want to hurt you for we are interested in you, but the law must be obeyed." The evidence was virtually the same as that in the first case, tried earlier this week. He was taken to jail immediately after receiving his sentence since he will not appeal the case. Won't Appeal Jackson was apparently at ease. He chatted quietly and joked that the trial was so strenuous that the sentence would serve as a "rest cure." "I would like to appeal the case," Jackson said at the county jail last night. "But I don't have the money." Jackson told a newspaper man that he was going to file an immediate application to the government for a permit to experiment with a new theory and practice in radio—"wired wireless." It is a system that uses power lines for the transmission of signals rather than other waves. Ten Other Cases Ben S. Fisher, assistant general counsel for the federal radio commission, said that the government would continue to fight violators of the radio act. There are ten cases of this type pending in Texas now. Re-trial of the Sam Morris case for the same violation had not been set late Friday.

Facts About Your Chamber Of Commerce

THE MEANS AT OUR DISPOSAL. There is scarcely any man or woman of affairs in Big Spring who does not have in mind something he would like to see done to better conditions in our own civic and commercial life. Not that conditions are essentially bad, but because they know and feel that there is always room for improvement if we are not to stand still. If these people were to get together and formulate a program of commercial betterment they might be surprised to find how closely it would approximate the program of our chamber of commerce. This being the case it seems logical for each of us, before attempting to arrange a program of our own with no means of making it effective to align our energies behind the chamber of commerce program and help accomplish the things it is trying to do for our city. The trouble with most of us is that we are more interested in our own ideas of what should be done, and how, than we are with the means at our disposal for carrying out these very ideas. The means is the Chamber of Commerce, and the more intelligently we cooperate with it the more we can accomplish for the good of Big Spring. BIG SPRING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. R & R SCREEN ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK

Jean Harlow And Lee Tracy Appear Together For First Time In Play 'Bombshell' Opening At The Ritz

Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy, together for the first time as co-stars, are said to have provided the biggest truckload of laughs to roll out of Hollywood in the hilarious picture, "Bombshell," which heads the program starting today at the Ritz theatre.

The production is described as a pictorial record of Hollywood laughing at itself, a story around the myths and rumors that have flown out of the "film capital" and presented in a composite of humor and laugh-provoking situations for the amusement of the movie-going public. It is based on a play by Caroline Francke and Mack Crane, adapted to the screen by Jules Furthman and John Lee Mahin.

Miss Harlow, in what she admits to be the most unusual role of her career, is seen as a glamorous screen star whose life is made miserable by the antics of her press agent, Lee Tracy; her liquor-loving father, Frank Morgan; her false lover, Francis Tone; her director, Pat O'Brien; her secretary, Una Merkel; her brother, Ted Healy; and a score or more of other well-known personalities who constitute what is practically an all-star cast.

Directed by Victor Fleming, "Bombshell" tells the story of the rise to fame of Lola Burns, characterized by Miss Harlow, her numerous love affairs, her family woes, her troubles with her producers, her attempts to adopt a baby, her eventual flight from the glare of publicity and finally—her conquest of true love.

Together with the featured players already mentioned, the cast of "Bombshell" includes Ivan Lebedeff, Isobell Jewell, Louise Beavers, Leonard Carey, Mary Forbes, C. Aubrey Smith and June Brewster.

Prettiest Of Co-Eds Plays In Grid Film

'Saturday's Millions' Opening Friday At R And R Ritz Theater

The most beautiful and talented co-ed in America has been discovered by the movies.

She is Lucille Lund, a member of this year's graduating class at Northwestern University, winner of a contest which took her to the fabled city of Hollywood and gave her her start in motion pictures. She is making her debut at the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday in "Saturday's Millions," the football romance.

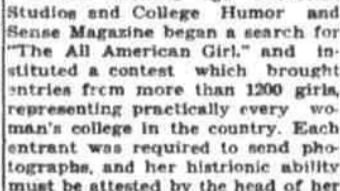

Several months ago Universal Studios and College Humor and Sense Magazine began a search for "The All American Girl," and instituted a contest which brought entries from more than 1200 girls, representing practically every woman's college in the country. Each entrant was required to send photographs, and her histrionic ability must be attested by the head of her school's dramatic department.

Judges of the contest included Russell Patterson and Jefferson Machamer, national famous artists; Stanley V. Gibson, publisher of College Humor and Sense Magazine; Carl Laemmle Jr., general manager of Universal pictures; and Larry Reid, editor of Motion Picture Magazine and "Movie Critic."

After prolonged consideration these men finally selected Lucille Lund as the winner, and a week later the lucky girl arrived at Universal City for her first view of a motion picture studio.

Miss Lund was born in Buckley, Washington, on June 3, 1913, later attending the public schools of her native town and finally completing her education at Northwestern University. She played leading roles in many school and college plays, and for a few weeks was a member of the Henry Duffy Stock Company in Seattle.

As provided by the terms of the contest, Miss Lund was assigned to an important role in "Saturday's Millions," the stirring football drama which also features Robert Young, Leila Hyams, Johnny Mack Brown, Andy Devine and other popular players. In its final scenes this picture is said to present the most thrilling football game ever shown on the screen. Edward Sedgwick directed.

'Pilgrimage' Feature For R-R Queen

Romantic Drama Deals With Intense Emotions of Mother

The widely-heralded "Pilgrimage," new romantic drama from Fox Film, has its premiere at the Queen Theatre Wednesday, and is scheduled for a run of two days. It is an adaptation of the popular story of the same name by Ida A. R. Wylie.

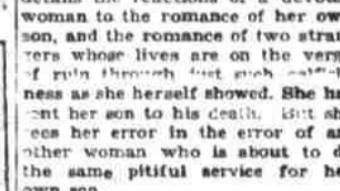

Dealing with the innermost emotions of a mother who cannot see her son taken from her by the woman he loves, the play has been reported as one of the most powerful of recent screen dramas. It details the reactions of a devoted woman to the romance of her own son, and the romance of two strangers whose lives are on the verge of parting through that romance.

She has not her son to his death, but she sees her error in the error of another woman who is about to do the same pitiful service for her own son.

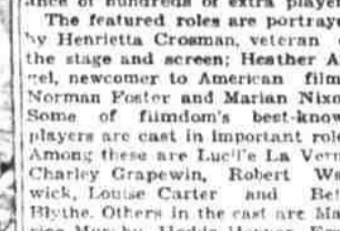

The locale of the film goes from the backwoods community in Arkansas to the cosmopolitan atmosphere of New York and Paris. The picture reveals some of the most elaborate settings ever achieved for a motion picture. The cast is a large one, involving the appearance of hundreds of extra players.

The featured roles are portrayed by Henrietta Crosman, veteran of the stage and screen; Heather Angel, newcomer to American film; Norman Foster and Marian Nixon. Some of film's best-known players are cast in important roles. Among these are Lucille La Verne, Charley Grapewin, Robert Warwick, Louise Carter and Betty Blythe. Others in the cast are Maurice Murphy, Hedda Hopper, Frances Ford, Jay Ward and Frances Rich.

The direction of the Wylie story is by John Ford. It was adapted for the screen by Philip Klein and the late Larry Connors. Dudley Nichols provided the dialogue, and William Collier Sr. directed it.

Claudette Colbert And Dick Arlen Star In Musical Comedy Which Kept Blase New York Laughing For Weeks

"Three-Cornered Moon," the sensational comedy hit of the New York stage which kept blase New Yorkers laughing for weeks, has been made into a Paramount picture with Claudette Colbert, Richard Arlen and Mary Boland in the starring roles. It is to be the feature attraction starting Tuesday at the Ritz theatre.

Written by Gertrude Tophony who early this year was a stenographer without any writing experience whatever, the plot of "Three-Cornered Moon" tells all about a typical American family, life and wealthy, which is suddenly impoverished by the depression. The coveting of this madcap family keeps the story on a high plane of rollicking comedy.

From the flighty, widowed mother who invested the family fortune in a nice "metal" mine because a pleasant gentleman was very enthusiastic about it, down to her youngest son, the Rimpigars of Brooklyn are the oddest assortment ever gathered under one roof. They might be your next door neighbors, but if they are you have grounds for breaking your lease.

In addition to the three stars listed above, this picture, produced by H. P. Schulberg, boasts a supporting cast including Wallace Ford, Lydia Robert, Joan Marsh, Tom Brown, William Bakewell and Hardie Albright. It was directed by Elliott Nugent.

Rex Bell Has Lead In Late Western Play

'Rainbow Ranch' Plays Friday And Saturday At Queen

Scoring one of his greatest successes as a Monogram western star, Rex Bell will ride across the screen of the Queen Theatre Friday and Saturday in "Rainbow Ranch," latest of his unusual series of eight western pictures.

Bell's latest contribution to screen entertainment of the exciting variety opens with thrilling scenes of the Pacific battle fleet in action and moves swiftly through a fist fight, a fist battle in a saloon's dance hall, and winds up on the western plains where Bell disarms his naval attire to appear more in his conventional western garb as a two-fisted cow-hand, battling to preserve the water rights on the cattle range.

In his role of a sailor-cowpuncher Bell demonstrates that he is one of the most versatile of western stars, appearing equally at home in a dress suit and a silk hat, or chaps and a sombrero. Naturally, he really comes into his own in the action and excitement of the ranch sequences in which he uses guns, eyes and horse flesh in his effort to dynamite the well and save the cattle.

He has an excellent supporting cast. Cecilia Parker is charming as Molly Burke. Incidentally, this lovely young actress has played "suds" in nearly a dozen western pictures during the past year. Others who will be remembered as Bill Hart's chief bad man for his many western pictures, and Henry Hall, George Nash, Gordon DeMaine, Phil Junham, Jockey Haeffly, Jerry Storm and Tiny Stanford.

Railroad Commissioners Are Cited For Contempt

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Judge W. McCroy of the Ninety-fourth district court ordered members of the Texas railroad commission and others to appear November 28 to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of a recent injunction.

The order grew out of an injunction granted several weeks ago to Joe Burkett Jr., restraining members of the commission and others from interfering with Burkett's taking of 25 barrels of oil daily from the Cooper well, No. 1 in Rusk county.

The show cause order cites Lou A. Smith, Ernest O. Thompson and C. V. Terrell of the commission and R. F. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor and Assistant Attorney General Maurice Cheek to appear. Others named in the order are Travis Goley and E. N. Stanley, employees of the commission.

Mrs. W. Grant Bowler, Jr., has as a guest her sister, Miss Dora Dean Owens of Abilene who will be here until after the holidays.

Kidnap Racket Is Exposed In Ritz Picture

'Made Game' Showing Thursday Stars Spencer Tracy

"The Mad Game," the new Fox Film production with Spencer Tracy in the stellar role, comes to the Ritz theatre on Thursday to remain for an engagement of one day. It is a story dealing with America's most menacing crime—the kidnap racket. The story concerns itself with an ex-gangster and former beer baron who is doubled-crossed by his associates and railroaded to prison for a five-year term. While in prison his former aide in the beer racket turns to kidnaping as a means of livelihood. The ruthless daring of this new leader terrorizes the country and the government declares war on all kidnapers. Because of his knowledge of the underworld, the warden releases the ex-gangster to help the government wipe out this new menace.

With an impenetrable disguise and an inside track on how modern racketeers operate, he gains entrance into his former aide's gang. He learns the hiding place where the two latest victims are being held captive and loses his life in a successful attempt to rescue them. Because of his efforts, the police are successful in their crusade against the kidnaping racket.

Spencer Tracy, in the leading role as the ex-gangster, has a role that is said to be as important as the one he portrayed as Killer Meigs in "The Last Mile." Claire Trevor has the leading role opposite him, and the supporting cast includes Ralph Morgan, John Miljan, Matt McHugh, Kathleen Burke, Mary Mason, Howard Lally, Willard Robertson, John Davidson, Paul Fix and Jerry Devine.

The direction is by Irving Cummings.

Famous Cooking Expert To Instruct Local Women

Herald Free Electric Cooking School To Commence Tuesday

Three-Days Of Demonstration And Lectures On Most Advance Culinary Methods To Be Held In Settles Hotel Ballroom

This town has always been noted for its good cooks, cooks who could prepare everyday meals as well as delicious and novel dishes; this explains why Cooking Schools conducted by the Herald have always been popular with women with a background of culinary appreciation.

The free electric cooking school to be conducted this week by the Herald is an innovation in cooking schools, and promises to be unusually popular.

As the women who attended A Century of Progress in Chicago learned, new electrical devices for the kitchen are making kitchens more attractive every year. Some of the household exhibits of outstanding interest to women in Chicago were the kitchens. Kitchens showed more improvement than any other rooms, both in arrangement and general attractiveness and in comfort for the worker.

Many of these new devices will be exhibited in the Herald's Electric Cooking School that commences Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and runs through Thursday.

Mrs. Ethel J. Warren, one of the country's best known cooking instructors, will be in charge of the sessions. She will lecture and cook at the same time, and the menus will be as up to the minute as her electric range and other electric kitchen accessories.

Mrs. Warren will use exclusively in her demonstrations the following nationally known products: K. C. Baking Powder, Pillsbury's Best flour, Wesson Oil and Snow-drift.

Many local firms will cooperate with the school in various ways. Among them will be: J. C. Penney Co., starched white kitchen aprons; Piggy-Wiggly which will furnish meat with a special meat demonstration on Thursday; Dairy-land, pasteurized milk and butter; Texas Electric Service Company, electric range and refrigerator; Rix Furniture Company, kitchen cabinet, Gold Seal Congoleum rug, and porcelain top table; Diltz Bakery Co., starchy white kitchen aprons and kitchen linens; Douglas Beauty Shop, personal beauty work for Mrs. Warren; Montgomery Ward & Co., electric radio, electric washing machine, electric sweeper; Ribble, the Florist, floral decoration; Big Spring Motor Co., new V-8 de luxe sedan.

The Herald will give away an attendance prize to 100 to any women's organizations, P. T. A., Sunday School class or fraternal organizations, that register the largest attendance for the three days of the school.

Ribble's are offering a special prize to the oldest mother attending the first day of The Daily Herald's Electrical Cooking School. All older women are asked to give their age on the registration card for the first day of the school.

The prize will be a Grandmother's Colonial Bouquet. It is very unusual in design and Mr. Ribble stated that insofar as he could learn one has never been made in Big Spring.

Ribble's will also offer unique bouquets as various prizes each day during the school.

The Albert M. Fishers Entertain Night Club
Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Fisher entertained the members of the Thursday Night club with a very delightful party this week.

Harless, Lee Named To Get Fuel Revenue

Pair To Combat Tax Evasion By Oil Bootleggers This Area

Word has been received here of the appointment of D. H. Lee, Charles L. Harless by George H. Sheppard, comptroller of public accounts to the State Motor Fuel Division with headquarters in San Angelo.

Mrs. Lee spent a few days here last week in the interest of his job and reported between fifty and sixty men were in the East Texas oil fields receiving training in this line.

The men are stationed in the fields solely to collect revenue, and their work the first thirty days showed enough increase to practically take care of that department for a while year.

A law was passed in 1932 and reported for 1932 was estimated at between four and five million dollars which the major portion of this money goes to the schools and the roads, the evasion the past year on gasoline alone amounted to more than the revenue that comes from Texas' two greatest resources, crude oil and sulphur.

A law was passed March 24, 1932, allowing two-thirds of one per cent of the collection of revenue from gasoline and motor fuel for its enforcement.

The state has been divided into districts with men stationed according to revenues in their districts. Mr. Sheppard has been very active in this work and knows how to handle it quite well.

Big Spring Drubs McCamey By 32 - 14 Count

Steers Click To Take Game From Badgers

McCamey Fights To Overcome Early Lead With Seventy Yard Drive

Obie Bristow's black and gold gridiron found little trouble in walloping Coach Leonard "Slime" Hill's McCamey Badgers 32 to 14 on Steer gridiron Saturday afternoon.

The local team was never pushed into serious danger during the whole game and didn't dish out anything extra. The first counter for the local team came early in the first period and from that time on substitutes played the greater part of the game.

The team clicked fairly well against the Upton countians, and on only two or three occasions did the diminutive Captain Bud Reed slip through the locals. Nine of the Badgers playing against the Bovines were in their first year at the game. Red is playing his final year of high school football while the Badgers candidate for all-district guard, Byrd, will return for another year.

Ohie Cordill played a large part of the game but found the ball hard to handle after being out so long and with his ankle in such a condition that he couldn't put full pressure on it. George Neel toted the ball for the first time since the opening of the season for many long gains and counted for most of the Steers scores.

Big Spring had hung up ten first downs at the half to the Badgers none, but the opening of the third period saw the visitors ruing their initial marker and the fourth stanza saw them culminate a seventy yard drive for the final down for all they were worth.

Modern sophisticates probably would consider these musical efforts something to laugh at. But they contributed to the enjoyment of life in a long-gone day, and made a great many otherwise dull hours pass pleasantly if not profitably. City they cannot be revived.

THE CUBAN OUTLOOK.

Cuban rebels made a dire threat to sack American property in the island, to compel intervention from the United States.

Granting that intervention followed such sabotage, it is not at all apparent how the rebels could hope to profit thereby.

This country is pledged to see that the Cuban people have a stable and responsible government. By no stretch of the imagination could the rebellious groups be considered in the light of a stable government, de facto or otherwise. Intervention, if it comes, will have the effect of upholding President Grau San Martin—and that won't be at all helpful to the rebels.

It is to be hoped the Cuban government is strong enough to put down the latest outbreak and at the same time provide adequate protection for American lives and property. Nobody wants intervention, least of all the people of this country; but intervention may be forced upon us if the existing government of Cuba fails or refuses to give American lives and investments the protection we have a right to expect.

So far, Grau San Martin has managed to hold on to his precarious seat with courage and success. Perhaps he is, after all, the answer to Cuba's demand for a wise and just ruler.

Mustangs Thump Over Colorado Wolves To Retain District Lead

SWEETWATER—There was not much to excite a small turnout here Friday as the Sweetwater Mustangs thumped Colorado 30 to 0, to keep the lead in district 3.

The Ponies have one more game in the championship campaign, with San Angelo, and Sweetwater needs only a tie there to finish in front.

Sweetwater is unscathed on in district play this season, and has permitted only one touchdown by the opposition in the last three seasons. Colorado made that last year.

By the end of first half Friday the score had mounted to 24-0.

There was very little passing, and practically all gains came through the line. Virgil Jones ran 54 yards to score in the second quarter, on the feature play of the afternoon. Whitten also got off some good runs.

For Colorado, Stagner, offensive half and defensive end, and Church, a tackle, were the brightest stars. N. B. Hall, guard, who was operated on for appendicitis early in October, returned to the Sweetwater lineup and played good ball. Armstrong at tackle was another home team star, and made one touchdown. Sweetwater blocked a kick near the Colorado goal, but then lost the ball a down or two later on a fumble. Colorado, however, had to kick again, and it was again blocked, the ball bouncing into the hands of Armstrong, who ran ten or fifteen yards to score.

First downs were Sweetwater 22, Colorado 5.

Drive Snags

The second period opened with Cordill making four yards through left tackle. He promptly pushed through for four more and a first down. Neel was tossed for a loss and Satterwhite cut through left tackle for three yards. Cordill fumbled and it was covered by the Badgers on their nine yard line.

Reed punted to the fifty yard line where it was again taken. Cordill Badger nine yard line. Cordill was dumped for a yard loss and Neel picked three yards on an end run to make the seven yard stripe. Cordill plunged to the one yard line but was smeared for no gain on the next play and the ball went over. Red kicked out to his thirty yard line and the ball was returned to the Badger 4 by pass from Neel to Bob Flowers. Neel went through for one yard followed by Cordill who picked up one-half yard. Neel then went over for a touchdown and an attempted pass to Cordill for the point bounced off his fingers.

Kick Blocked

Just before the half Jones delayed on a punt and it was blocked out of bounds. The Badgers then tried two incomplete passes and the third was intercepted by Cordill who raced from the Steer twenty yard line to the Badgers twenty. The half ended with Big Spring leading 19 to 0.

The third stanza saw the Badgers take a new hold and Reed need down the field to snag Trodgen's twenty-two yard pass and score. G. Green converted.

Kicking Battle

Green kicked to Olie who stepped out on the one foot line by the flag. Neel made a short punt to his own eleven yard line and the Badgers followed up with several incomplete passes. A penalty set the Steers on their own 15-yard line and Poteet intercepted Neel's pass on the Steer 24. Bird tried left end for five yards but the play was called back and the Badgers penalized to the Steer 30. Cordill intercepted Trodgen's pass, a little later Reed's punt was partly blocked and Cordill picked up and ran to the Badger seven yard line. Jones made two yards and Cordill two. Neel went to the one foot line and Cordill plunged over. Neel passed to Mills for the point. The period ended with the ball in possession of McCamey on their own 33-yard line.

In the fourth period McCamey

Bears Downed By Matadors

Bruins Humbled 13 To 0 Before 4,500 Grid Fans Friday

LUBBOCK (AP)—Scoring with a 40-yard touchdown run in the second period and with an eleven-yard pass in the third, the Texas Tech Matadors humbled the Baylor University Bears, strong contenders for the Southwest conference title, 13 to 0, before a crowd of 4,500 grid fans here Friday afternoon.

Coach Pete Cawthon sent a highly prized ball club against the Baptist crew, and the Matadors, in the fourth renewal of gridiron rivalry with Baylor, swarmed all over the field to batter the Bears into submission. By winning, Tech evened the all-time count, Baylor having won the first two games at Waco, the Matadors turning back the Bruins 14 to 2 in 1932.

Cawthon sent in his regulars at the beginning of the second quarter and two players, Big Gwynn Dowell and Lefty Solis, followed by shattering interference and broke into the open for 24 and 40 yards respectively. Dowell making the touchdown after dodging a string of Bruin tacklers, Aubrey Butts, a Waco boy, went into kick goal but his boot was blocked by Zimmerman.

GRID GRIND—

The big battle of the year for West Texas fans will be the Sweetwater-Angelo battle on Thanksgiving. Right now the Concho team seems to have only the slightest chance of coming out on top.

Reed the Bobcat reporter's opinion: "The big game is set for Nov. 30 here. Can the Cats in that short span get ready? Most certainly, the spirit is there. The Concho youngsters will fight their hearts out. But the better conditioned team, unless Dame Fortune lucks 100 percent the other way, is going to win. Today, Sweetwater is by far the better conditioned team. There is no necessity to render qualifications for that declaration. Today the Sweetwater team is capable of beating San Angelo three to five touchdowns. We fully realize that some of our young friends on the Bobcat football team think we are mistaken, think they are better than Sweetwater. That is the occurrence of youth. But we're telling the boys they are suckers. Perhaps they don't know it, but they have been loafing all season. They think they have been in there pitching—but they HAVEN'T! We're not saying whose fault it is. If the coaches don't know it, we're not going to tell them. That's their business. After all, we're just a sports reporter. It is not our business to try to tell the coaches how to run their team. It is not our business to tell the team what we think is wrong with it. We want the boys to win. Surely, nobody wants them to win any more than we do. But if they don't win, there's little we can do about it. Fact of the matter, after all is said and done, there is nothing we SHOULD do about it. It's their business. The boys are taking the punishment. The coaches are doing the worrying. It's not our trouble!"

IF'S RIGHT—

Blondy spoke the truth when he said the Cats couldn't make the grade the way they're headed. They are just like a lot of other teams around here this year. Perhaps Taylor's boys will realize the importance of plenty of hard work and dig down a little harder. It takes lots of hard work to come out on top and few teams reach the peak without putting forth their best efforts. We hope they'll snap into line before it's too late. Henning's team wins by hard work.

Garden City Girls Take Top Heavy Win From Lomax

Lomax and Garden City boys and girls basketball teams engaged in some exciting matches at Lomax Thursday night.

Lomax boys copped their last defeat 29 to 12 with the Garden City girls taking a top heavy victory 19 to 23.

Martin, forward for the Garden City winners, stole the show and rang up a total of forty points. Chapman was high for Lomax with 13 points.

In the boys game, Burnett of Lomax was high point man with 14 points and Heast was high for the losers with 6 points. Lyons of Lomax proved to be a very shifty and effective guard, constantly recovering the ball from scrimmage or tying. The game was remarkably free from fouls.

FAMILY SINGING.

Someone was lamenting the other day the decline and virtual disappearance of those little family singing groups that used to form so happy a part of family life. This change in habit was referred to as "The Forgotten Hour." It was the hour when the entire family and such guests as were present gathered around the musical instrument in one corner of the room and lifted their voices in song.

The musical instrument, the reminiscent writer said, was a piano. Maybe it was in some homes but in the South and Southwest, in the homes of the great common people, it was an organ. You remember those organs, with their becks and their fancy scrollwork and their central mirrors, flanked by fancy little shelves used for artificial flowers in vases.

About this organ gathered the family of an evening, especially of a Sunday evening. While Sister Willie pedaled and played, and carried a mean alto to boot, other members of the group leaned forward in a tense circle to scan the notes as Uncle Bob held the smoking kerosene lamp close to the songbook. Uncle Bob was a bear at "country barytone." Maw was pretty good at soprano roles, but was apt to go primitive and break into the once fashionable tremolo. Brother Ben, whose voice was changing, was a family outcast. Other members of the circle took their assigned "parts" and bore ing-the U. S. Attorney for Southern and Eastern New York From a gathering of the clan here the other night one would judge a couple of lads with pockets full of blank indictments will get the job Farm Administrator Peek says he favors keeping the high protective tariff wall around this country He'd give agriculture the aid it needs by "punching holes through the wall" in the form of reciprocal trade agreements Peek figures 18 per cent of our production is exportable surplus.

NEW YORK By James McMullin Navigation—Inside New York expects the Washington pilot to shift his course a point or two to the right. The difference will hardly be perceptible to the naked eye but it may be enough to soothe the nerves of cautious capitalists in this vicinity Some of the local boys have been working overtime on the Treasury Department with encouraging results. Nothing induces colder chills in a Treasury Department than slumping bond prices—especially when there's financing to be done—and the New York emisarier played that card six ways from the ace Net result: gold purchases will continue but in a minor key. De facto but unpublished stabilization of dollar and pound is closer than ever. Greenback talk is officially out for the time being although it may be revived with a bang after December 15th if the Congressional situation demands it.

Financing—Why after December 15th? Because $27,000,000 in government certificates must be refunded on that day and the Treasury doesn't want to hock the Capitol Dome to pay interest. You will find the banks lining up as usual for their quota where they might have tried to balk if the brakes hadn't been gently applied to dollar depreciation. The trick is to do enough gold conjuring to keep the inflationists from raising a howl about the slightly altered course The Treasury still keeps its ace in the hole—direct marketing of its securities to the Federal Reserve. It won't be used except in an emergency because it doesn't look pretty. But it's worth bearing in mind when alarmists alk about the peril of cracking up government credit The government has another job up its sleeve in case the stubbornness of holders of called but unconverted Fourth Liberties becomes embarrassing That would be forced conversion and you hear plenty of talk about it in inside circles already. Holders could be offered the alternative of exchanging old bonds for new or keeping the old bonds and getting nothing for them—at least for a while. Legal? New York doubts it but doesn't think that objection would stand in the way if it comes to a pinch.

Devaluation—Big time inflationists sense the shift in Washington tactics but remain serenely confident. Their private devaluation objective has been advanced from 48 per cent to 67 per cent. They claim that a 33c dollar is now necessary to adjust the debt level and believe they have Congress sewed up to deliver when the time is ripe.

Assist—Wall Street remarks that Washington should credit American liquor buyers with an assist on dollar depreciation. Recent liquor purchases have created more demand for sterling than any gold buying the Federal Reserve has done in the London market.

Flight—Immigration inspectors stationed at the Canadian border report a noticeable and contra-seasonal increase of American visitors to Canada. In contrast to former days the tourists' first errand is not to the government liquor store—but to a bank. Flight from the dollar is the answer. Federal Reserve people and Treasury agents are urging Washington to catch on and close the loophole.

Gold—Sir George Fisher—British economist—has concluded to friends here his belief that Roosevelt's monetary policy makes it very doubtful whether any country will be able to remain on the gold standard.

Woodin—Former New York associate of Secretary Woodin say that his expressed enthusiasm for the gold purchase policy was a nice bit of diplomatic teamwork but nothing more. They say he really means that the Treasury is satisfied to play along publicly on the Warren theory in view of practical if unpublished concessions to make federal security marketing easier. There's a difference.

Sidelights—Important local conservative incornets are behind a move to have one of their number crash the White House gate and tell the President the country is tired of monetary experiments and won't please light somewhere and stick The man they want as ambassador has had friendly relations with Mr. Roosevelt in the past, but is strongly opposed to the financial features of the New Deal. So far he has declined the nomination on the ground that the President is not at all likely to take New York's say-so for what the country wants. But the Old Guard is very anxious to get a word in edgewise at Washington and may designate someone else for the job. Not only are they farther on the outside than they ever dreamed they could be but the shades are drawn so tightly they have trouble peering in

Raw Deal—Washetecher County, New York City's residential neighbor, is hot at Washington's treatment of its pet public works project Its plan for a toll express highway from the City of Connecticut to cost $12,000,000 has been ready since February. It would create 4,000 jobs for two years. Its sponsors state it is an AI public works set-up both for quick job-giving and reorganization The original application was presented to the RFC on March 8 by Al Smith and Robert Moses. RFC engineers gave the plans full approval. When PWA came along it was transferred there and passed by PWA engineers also. But here it is November and still no action How come? Because the project has been three times vetoed by the President himself—not Ikee—on the ground that it isn't self-liquidating. This explanation doesn't jibe with reports by the government's own experts. There is rough talk about political favoritism Mr. Roosevelt is said to have shown obvious distaste for Westchester while governor—perhaps because of the county's Republican background. Bills introduced from Westchester nearly always got squelched. And critics stress the speedy approval given an Oregon irrigation project applied for much later while Oregon farmers are being paid to curtail crops Westchesterites say they're getting a raw deal and are willing to tell the world

Public Works—There are other yells about public works from this sector too. The Passamaquoddy application for a federal power development in Maine (mentioned here a month ago) has been tackled for no gain. Engineer Dexter Cooper has camped in Washington to tell anyone about it who would listen but so far he hasn't been invited to explain Then there's the New York Central. It had a PWA application in for construction work but action was so slow it finally had to spend its own money A New Yorker just returned from the West says that around Cleveland they talk about public work allotments as "easy money." West of Chicago they call it "gift money" with the repayment angle laughed off in advance. Around here you hear references to the forgotten east

Cuba—Local experts say that only a left wing Machadista has any hope of unting the warring Cuban factions, assuming his connection with Machado was not too intimate. Dr. Garcia Kohly fits into this category Among other things Cuba needs a new constitution. One of Céspedes' brighter tricks was to abolish the one adopted in 1902 after deriving its authority from it. The next president can—and probably will—roll his own constitution Insiders will tell you that former President Menocal has more to do with current Cuban disturbances than appears on the surface. He has no ambition for himself but would like to see his sons get on in the world. His trouble-stirring isn't likely to get him anywhere because his following is restricted to a small group of disaffected conservatives

Panama—The next Latin-American explosion is due in Panama. President Harmodio Arias is slated to resign within the next six months. Then there will be a free-for-all among four aspirants for his job. Intervention may become a more acute problem there than in Cuba because of the Canal

Catealls—Our delegation to the Pan-American conference may step right into a diplomatic incident the minute they embark. Montevideo is full of Communists and word has leaked through that they are planning a big anti-Yankee demonstration complete with catealls

Link—Secretary Hull's remarks about a link-up between our Federal Reserve system and the Latin-American national banks bewilder local bankers. The Latin banks are not central banks in the usual sense and could do little toward promoting trade and credit relationships even if they were so disposed. New York fears that Hull will draw a worm-louge for the pains if he introduces the subject for public discussion

Flag-Bearer—Pennsylvania is waving the flag the first railroad to get a PWA loan for electrification and rehabilitation of equipment. The grapevine whispers that it was a drafted recruit—not a volunteer Fenny never got on too well with the RFC. It promptly repaid its loan when the RFC evinced unseemly curiosity about salaries and such. It is understood here that PWA agreed in advance to be less curious as a condition of the banner-bearing OFFICER SEEKS HATIVE In Strange Slaying Of Gorman Inhabitant GORMAN, (UP)—The motive of a strange shooting here which resulted in the death of Leon Robinson, 55, and wounding of a woman about 20-years his junior was sought by Justice of Peace J. C. Chapman. Chapman questioned 15 persons and instructed neighbors of Mrs. Make King, to appear at his office. Mrs. King was shot twice through the left lung and at Blackwell antitumor physicians said her death was a matter of hours. The shooting broke with such unexpectedness that the four eyewitnesses to it could relate accurate accounts of the incident. Robinson was standing alongside the automobile in which Mrs. King was seated when the shooting started. A bullet struck him in the forehead and he toppled to the pavement. His .45 calibre police revolver was still in the scabbard. Two other revolvers, one .25 calibre and the other a .38 calibre, clattered to the street. Mrs. Robinson, wounded by bullets from the larger of the revolvers, pitched headlong out of the car. Chapman questioned the four eye witnesses to the shooting, Dempsey Montgomery, Orill Browning, Boone Russell and J. C. Wells. He declined to file a formal finding pending completion of his investigation. The Justice said he learned Mrs. King, a resident of Deadendonia, Creath, Billie Evelyn Smith, Marilyn Davis, Cecil Mansfield, John Coldiron, Lillian Childers, June Cook, Bobbie Michael, Steve Baker, Doris Shettleworth, Halley Watson, Ethelyn Hooser, Heston Havens, Dee Darter, Clarence Alvis, Bill Savage, Geraldine McClendon, Harvey and Hartman Hooser.

Agreement Reached On All Major Points Says President

WASHINGTON—Recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States was announced by President Roosevelt sitting at his desk in his executive office shortly after 4 p. m. Mr. Roosevelt smilingly said that the sixteen-year breach between the two nations was actually ended at 1 minute before midnight Friday.

At that time he and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, came to an agreement on the points that have been in negotiation since Litvinoff arrived on November 7. The two were in the White House at the time.

William C. Bullitt, a state department expert on Russian affairs who has attended to personal conversations between the chief executive and the Russian diplomat, has been proposed by the president as the first American ambassador to the Soviet Union.

The president was asked whether recognition was actually effective until an exchange of ambassadors but Mr. Roosevelt said it was his horseback opinion that diplomatic relations were resumed the moment he and Litvinoff came to an agreement.

Who will be the Russian ambassador to this country was not immediately disclosed.

Voluminous Report
The White House made public a bulky document covering the points agreed upon. Mr. Roosevelt chuckled when he asked the reporters to read it in its entirety.

The exchange of communications between the president and the Soviet government's foremost diplomat showed that an understanding had been reached on propaganda, the right of religious freedom for American citizens in Russia; civil rights of American nations and some claims.

An agreement also was reached on the subject of the relief fund.

The officials listened to Hopkins for an hour as he read and then explained the rules under which the plan would operate. Regional representatives of the relief administration, with which the civil works division is coupled, explained in more detail the plans for various states at luncheon conferences.

Hopkins urged haste in getting the relief fund started, a maximum of day labor. Ickes called the plan one that would tide the nation over the winter until the public works program, held up by necessary technical work, could get under way.

Emphasizes Speed
Hopkins, too, stressed that politics be laid aside and speed be applied to administering relief under the civil works division was voiced before five hundred state and city officials by President Roosevelt.

Speaking to the crowd that had assembled in the White House, the chief executive said reports had come to him that politics had crept into the administration of relief.

Seek No Advantage
"I simply want to tell you that your national government is not trying to gain political advantage one way or another out of the needs of human beings for relief," he said.

"I expect the same spirit from every governor and I expect the same spirit from every mayor and from every relief administrator."

"I want it understood that no person connected with the administration of this $400,000,000 will in any instance ask whether a prison need work is a republican, a democrat, a socialist or anything else."

"Our effort is to put 4,000,000 men back to work in the winter months so that we can honestly say as a nation that this winter will not be like last winter or the winter before."

Hopkins Gives Details
The president was referring to the civil works plan that already had been outlined to the state and city officials by Harry L. Hopkins, the civil works administrator, and Secretary Ickes, public works administrator. Both Hopkins and Ickes were applauded as they told of the plan they said was designed to hold back poverty and destitution until the $3,300,000,000 public works program could get fully under way with four packages of registered mail.

The packages had just been taken from the Piedmont Limited, Southern Railway train which had arrived from Washington.

for a "consular convention" between the two countries in which the United States is to be assured that its citizens will have all the rights that are granted to the nationals of other states under existing treaties with the Soviet Union.

Members of the Soviet delegation said that accord reached before recognition set no precedents so far as Russia was concerned and that it conformed to other understandings and treaties reached by the Soviet with other states.

The involved question of claims and counter-claims between the two countries was largely left for future negotiations.

The Soviet government, however, made some concessions, among them the important one that it would waive all demands growing out of the expedition headed by General William S. Graves to Siberia in August, 1918.

But there was no waiver where the Archangel expedition of the same year was concerned. The Soviet charged that American troops in the Archangel vicinity participated in offensive operations against bolshevist troops.

Debts, Trade
There was little mention of future trade relations between the United States and Russia, although it was known that this subject was reviewed thoroughly in the man to man talks between Mr. Roosevelt and his visitor.

A joint statement issued by the two indicated that future parleys would cover both debts and trade.

In addition to the agreements which have been signed, there has taken place an exchange of views with regard to methods of settling all outstanding questions of indebtedness and claims that permits us to hope for a speedy and satisfactory solution of these questions which both our governments desire to have out of the way as soon as possible.

"Mr. Litvinoff will remain in Washington for several days for further discussions."

At these parleys with Bullitt and other experts, some officials believed the way might be cleared for a non-aggression commercial treaty.

In the propaganda agreement, the Soviet agreed to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United States, its territories and possessions.

The letter of Litvinoff to the president dated November 16 also said the Soviet government agreed to refrain, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of financial assistance from it, from interfering in any way with the country's internal affairs.

Propaganda
The Third International, a world-wide communist organization, apparently was not covered by the Litvinoff letter. Many of the communist high officials are also officials of the Third International but the Soviet state, officials said, has steadfastly insisted that it gave no financial assistance to the international and had no control over it.

Replying to the Soviet commissar's letter on propaganda, Mr. Roosevelt said the United States would observe it also.

Although officials expected little difficulty in reaching an understanding on religious liberty, the president insisted upon a clear accord on this to soothe any fears of religious groups in this country.

Letters
Mr. Roosevelt's letter over the exchange of letters in some detail. He said that he stipulated not only that American citizens in Russia have complete freedom of worship but that no citizens of this country be denied the right to enter Russia simply because they were clergymen, priests or rabbis.

Litvinoff assured the president that the Soviet laws guaranteed the right to "free exercise of liberty of conscience and religious worship" from all disability or persecution on account of their religious faith or worship.

Going further, he said free performance of religious rites for both Soviet citizens and those of other nations was guaranteed so "long as it was not accompanied by interference with the rights of citizens of the Soviet Union."

Full Civil Rights
He added that his government was also willing to assure that American citizens would be accorded all the rights given those of other countries at the "consular convention to be negotiated immediately."

Litvinoff said his government was willing to go as far as it had done in the case of the German treaty in assuring Americans in Russia civil rights. The Soviet commissar pointed out that the pact with Germany bound Russia to communicate with official representatives of the former government in the case of the arrest of German citizens by Soviet authorities. The maximum period for such communication is seven days and a large towns' five days.

The Russian visitor told Mr. Roosevelt that his government was prepared to include the civil rights guaranteed in the treaty to be negotiated. The protection, however, was effective immediately.

22-Hour Service Across Country Now Is Offered

Twenty-two hour air express service from New York to Los Angeles was announced by Rogers M. Combs, Jr., chairman of General Air Express and Air Express Traffic manager of American Airways.

Under the new plane schedules, effective at once, air express for Los Angeles and other southern California points will leave New York at 8:10 p. m. daily, and arrive in the west coast city at 3:14 p. m. the following day.

Such shipments will be routed from New York to Columbus, via Transcontinental and Western Air, leaving New York at 8:10 p. m. and arriving in the Ohio City at 1:33 a. m. Direct connections are made there with American Airways' fast mail and express planes which leave Columbus at 1:59 a. m. arriving in Dallas, Texas at 8:04 a. m. and in Los Angeles at 3:14 p. m. the same day.

This means, Combs pointed out, that Pacific coast buyers can purchase merchandise in New York today and have it placed on sale on Los Angeles counters before their stores close tomorrow afternoon. Comparable reductions in shipping time also are effected to all major centers of population between Cleveland, Fort Worth and Los Angeles.

New York shipments from the Pacific coast will leave Los Angeles at 9:03 p. m. daily, reaching Dallas at 8:10 a. m. Columbus at 6:09 p. m., and New York at 1:07 p. m. Combs said.

Air express shipments leaving Boston at 5:00 p. m., Philadelphia at 9:05 p. m., or Washington at 6:00 p. m., will make the same connections through to Los Angeles.

Electrical Worker Owes Life To Slip Of Ladder Which He Had Climbed

HOUSTON, (UP)—J. Ellis Greene, 35, electrical worker, was alive Wednesday because a ladder slipped at the right moment.

Greene was standing on the ladder while making repairs at a city pumping station when he came in contact with a wire carrying 2,300 volts of electricity.

The shock upset the ladder. Greene was jerked loose from the wire and fell to the ground after receiving severe burns on his hands. The current was so strong that it set fire to a number of papers in

Gus Russek Placed Under $4,000 Bond

SAN ANTONIO (UP)—State Senator Gus Russek, formerly vice president of the Schulenberg bank, was under a $4,000 bond after a plea of not guilty to charges of misapplying and converting to his own use $2,037.90 in funds of the First National bank of Schulenberg. He waived preliminary hearing.

United States Commissioner Paul Lockhart heard the plea. Russek spoke from a sick bed in a hospital here.

"Only Yesterday" Coming To R-R Ritz Saturday Night

Is a woman's love more lasting than a man's? What of the man who loves—and forgets? Should a woman keep silent when her happiness is at stake? In the modern view, need there be any stigma on the unwed mother?

These questions, and many others, are prompted by the story of "Only Yesterday," John M. Stahl's Universal drama which comes to the Ritz Theatre on Saturday night at 11:30 p. m. matinee for a preview, with Margaret Sullivan, John Boles, Billie Burke and Reginald Denry in featured roles.

This picture is described by J. Y. Robb, Ritz manager, as one of the greatest he has ever seen.

Miss Sullivan and Boles spend together one evening of delirious happiness—and his regiment is suddenly called to France. A child results from their infatuation, but when the father returns from the war he fails to recognize the girl who has borne her cross proudly, happily and with confidence of the future. Too proud to go to him with her story, she sees him married to another, and waits for the day when recognition shall come. Her life is a tragic story of sacrifice on the altar of love.

But eventually this saga of heart throbs comes to a startling conclusion, and so comes to an end the tragic story of a broken heart and an unconquerable spirit. "Only Yesterday," said to be the crowning achievement of the career of John M. Stahl, is announced as the most ambitious Universal production of the year.

Extray! Big Court House Scandal! District Clerk Is Freed Under Bond

For sometime your reporter had thought the "court house gang" a bit odd.

Now one of the "gang" labors under the same impression, or at least he thinks the bunch has gone ga-ga.

Our friend, the district clerk, who is known to many as Hugh Dubberly, makes few mistakes. We don't say marrying is a mistake, but coming back to the old stopping ground too soon after the ceremony is an error.

So while Clerk Dubberly basked in martial bliss last week-end in a hotel suite, he was pulled back to reality by an impolite rapping on the door.

Bob Wolf and Andrew Merrick, both hardened deputies, held a warrant for his arrest. The clerk's sweet, sick smile couldn't dissuade the affair and he was dragged off to jail.

A few minutes later Charlie Sullivan, the lawyer, came to the clerk's aid. Ascertaining that his client had been charged with malicious mischief, and moreover committed the offense with "malice and aforethought," Sullivan made a bond.

Most of the gang shied of it.

Politics In Relief Banned By Roosevelt

Aim Of Program To Put Men To Work, Cut Suffering This Winter

WASHINGTON (UP)—A demand that politics be laid aside and speed be applied to administering relief under the civil works division was voiced before five hundred state and city officials by President Roosevelt.

Speaking to the crowd that had assembled in the White House, the chief executive said reports had come to him that politics had crept into the administration of relief.

Seek No Advantage
"I simply want to tell you that your national government is not trying to gain political advantage one way or another out of the needs of human beings for relief," he said.

"I expect the same spirit from every governor and I expect the same spirit from every mayor and from every relief administrator."

"I want it understood that no person connected with the administration of this $400,000,000 will in any instance ask whether a prison need work is a republican, a democrat, a socialist or anything else."

"Our effort is to put 4,000,000 men back to work in the winter months so that we can honestly say as a nation that this winter will not be like last winter or the winter before."

Hopkins Gives Details
The president was referring to the civil works plan that already had been outlined to the state and city officials by Harry L. Hopkins, the civil works administrator, and Secretary Ickes, public works administrator. Both Hopkins and Ickes were applauded as they told of the plan they said was designed to hold back poverty and destitution until the $3,300,000,000 public works program could get fully under way with four packages of registered mail.

The packages had just been taken from the Piedmont Limited, Southern Railway train which had arrived from Washington.
