As if 1964 did not have troubles enough with the drought, declining cattle herds and prices and grasshoppers, we've got bagworms.

In all the calendar of misfortune this critter is about the sneakiest, most unradicable pest that I have ever encountered. We've already lost one fine arbor vita and a nice, big prostrate juniper is growing brown and ugly. I noticed that some of the worms are leaving the dying cedars and crawling toward others. If they once get established in these undamaged shrubs it's my experience that all science can't get rid of them.

Poison sprays wash off them like water from a duck. They even seem to thrive on malathion and other insecticides. Picking them off and burning them, as laborious and time-wasting process as it is, appears the most effective way to deal with them. But you'd better burn them, and quick. My mother-in-law once spent a morning harvesting a bucketful of the pests. She set the bucket in back and when she went to burn the worms later, they had all crawled away. Presumably they had returned to the cedars where she got them because there didn't seem to be any less of them on the shrubbery.

The only favorable way that can be said for the worm is that it doesn't seem to care for any plant but the cedar variety. But that's enough in this country.

102 Degrees Is Hottest Recorded Here

Temperatures in Rising Star hit 102 degrees Saturday, July 25, according to readings of the City thermometer to make it one of the hottest days of the summer. The same reading was recorded for July 12.

Sunday afternoon's reading was 100 degrees even.

For the most of last week the readings stood just under 100 degrees. Friday the highest was 99 degrees and Thursday it was 98.

The last rain of any consequence was recorded on June 6, when .8 of an inch fell. On June 17, 18 and 25, traces of moisture were registered, making a total of .95 of an inch for the month of June.

April was a fairly wet month, when 3.8 inches were recorded, and for the year the total stood at 11.18, most of it in the winter months when there were prospects of a good season.

In May only .48 of an inch was registered in the city gauge.

There has been no rain of any appreciable amount during the normal planting season and as a consequence not much crop planting has been done.

HISTORY IN THE AIR

Commercial air service across the Atlantic, inaugurated by Pan American Airways 25 years ago, observed its silver anniversary on June 28. The first paying passengers to fly the Atlantic took off from Manhasset Bay, N.Y., on Pan American Airways Dixie Clipper (top) a Boeing flying boat, on June 28, 1939. It took 42 hours and 10 minutes for that pioneering flight to reach Marcellie, France. It stopped at the Azores and Lisbon on the way. For the Pan Am Jet Clippers of today, the Atlantic is only six hours wide, and Pan Am flies it 222 times every week as part of its service to 114 cities in 86 lands around the world.

Drought Appeals To Johnson, Connally

EASTLAND — Impetus was added to Eastland County's application for emergency feed relief due to extreme drought conditions Friday when County Judge Scott Bitley urged President Johnson and Governor Connally to support the matter in letters to the two government leaders.

Judge Bailey said that any Federal funds spent in relief of the agricultural economy would greatly benefit the general economy.

In his letter to President Johnson, Judge Bailey said:

"Due to extreme drought conditions prevailing in West Central Texas, the farm and ranch people of Eastland County are in immediate distress. Their hardship circumstances have had a devastating impact on the complete economy of the county."

"It is respectfully urged that Eastland County be declared a disaster area, that emergency feed for livestock be made available, that financial credit be extended and that some type of employment be considered for displaced persons who normally would be working on farms and ranches."

In his letter to Governor Connally, Judge Bailey noted that the county would lose its valuable peanut crop this year and stressed the seriousness of the situation generally.

"I recalled that when you toured Eastland County in May of 1962 you promised that Eastland county would be a pilot site for an urban industrialization project...that you would personally go to bat for Eastland county in securing industry."

"It is my feeling that we need an industry that will provide jobs very badly. We are willing and anxious to work with you and your staff to help these study groups in any way..."

Twelve women from Eastland County attended the 4-County Home Demonstration Camp in Goldthwaite at the First Methodist Church July 23, 1964. Approximately 80 Home Demonstration Club members attended from Brown, Comanche, Eastland and Mills Counties. Each county prepared and presented a craft, a skit and recreation during the day. During the business meeting, Eastland County extended the invitation for the camp for 1965. Officers were elected for 1965 as follows:

President, Mrs. W. V. Fenter, Rising Star, North Star Club; Vice-President, Mrs. Arlin Bint, Cisco, Lake Cisco Club; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. M. McCain, Flatwood, Flatwood Club.

The camp closed with the drawing for the door prizes. Awards were presented to Mrs. Arlin Bint and Mrs. C. H. Stephens, both of Cisco, for having traveled the longest distance to the camp, and to Mrs. Lee Burkhead of Rising Star, as one of the longest memberships in a home demonstration club.

president of the county growers. The local growers and Ben Freeman of Ranger, association secretary and Ben McKinnis of Gorman, board member, were guests of the CofC at the luncheon.

Mr. Smith presented Mr. Schaefer who discussed the history of the county show, the organization and purposes of the county association and told the group that a great deal of very favorable advertising for the Eastland County pecan industry had resulted from the activities of the association and the show. He also detailed the obligations a community assumes in hosting the show.

He explained that the county show, which originated in Cisco about 15 years ago, is located by a vote of the members of the county association, and urged that if Rising Star conducts the December event it want a drive for local members.

Rising Star, he reminded, furnished the first county pecan queen — the former Anna Little, who also became the first state pecan queen.

This county grows as fine pecans as are produced anywhere in the world, he said, and the potential pecan market has only been touched.

Another guest at the meeting was Dizzy Dean of Cisco, general agent for the Sunset Motor Lines, who told of efforts of his company to give Rising Star a good freight service on a five-day-a-week schedule.

James Rutherford announced that plans for opening the Rising Star Youth Center next Monday have been made.

Another Family Fight?

If the Washington "insiders" are correct, the Republican family rucus in San Francisco recently is going to fade into a distant second place to a really big Democratic Party fight in Atlantic City shortly.

The columnists and big-city correspondents in Washington are nervous about reporting the story, but they're all talking behind their hand about the prospects for a first-class squabble over the ticket to oppose Goldwater and Miller in November.

What they're talking about is a prospective bid by Attorney General Robert Kennedy to replace Lyndon Johnson at the head of the Democratic Party ticket. If that possibility strikes you as impossible, reflect before you wager. It was Robert Kennedy who personally corralled the delegates for his brother's successful campaign in 1960. As manager of that campaign he developed the political contacts and organized friendly state and local delegations.

He has, say the insiders, carefully maintained those contacts, and the estimate is that Robert Kennedy can recruit perhaps as much as 40 per cent of the delegates to the Atlantic City Convention to support his nomination. Clearly 40 per cent would not be enough, but who may show up in New Jersey then there's Governor Wallace with 15 or 20 per cent of the total delegates in his briefcase. The whispering may be premature, but the mathematics are right for a fight.

If Mao and Krushchev can have a family fight, and Goldwater and Scranton can have a family fight, why not Bobby and Lyndon?

Now there would be a real rumpus.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Summertime activities often result in injuries to the mouth and teeth, according to the American Dental Association. However, a tooth which has been knocked out can be reinserted and can grow back into place provided no time is wasted in obtaining dental treatment.

The tooth should be wrapped in a clean wet towel — or placed in a glass of water. It should NOT be cleaned or you may remove vital tissue.

The dentist usually will remove the nerve, fill the root canal, reinsert the tooth and anchor it with wires. Within two or three weeks, the healing process will have secured the tooth and it should have a normal life span.

Remember... prevention is the best medicine. But if an accident occurs, seek professional treatment immediately.

It's the Law in Texas

ON THE WITNESS STAND

By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say.

Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his clients story. Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court.

On some rare occasions you could be called to testify about something affecting your own standing in the community.

As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

If you are ever in such a bind consult a lawyer of your own choice on what to do. The lawyer who called you to testify has a sworn duty to protect his client, not you. But your lawyer is sworn to keep what you tell him secret and to advise you in your own interests within the law.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.
2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.
3. Wear clean, conservative clothes.
4. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.
5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.
6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.
7. If you err — and people often do — correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail say so. Don't bluff.
8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.
9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he can stop you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial".
10. Keep cool and don't sass back.
11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people—the lawyer, for example; and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.
12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fall to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

Camping Out? Watch For Health Hazards

AUSTIN — If you and your family are going camping, along with thousands of others, before the summer is over, remember this: A camp can be a health resort if you keep rules of good health and sanitation foremost in your mind.

You will want to take along a standard first aid kit or at least a disinfectant, tape and gauze. Head off infection by washing and cleaning even minor scratches and cuts.

Choose a camp site near a source of water but away from marshes or likely places for insects to breed. You will need the water for washing even though you won't want to drink just any water.

If, in case of emergency, you must drink water from an unsure source, strain it through a clean cloth and boil it vigorously for at least one minute. Or you may also add 10 drops — about a teaspoon — of bleach per gallon of water. Mix the solution and wait 30 minutes before drinking.

Most campers prefer to carry a limited supply of dishes on a camping trip and wash them after each meal. Sand or mud and twigs are acceptable aids in cleaning pots and pans, although a scouring pad from home will do a quicker job. They can be dried and sterilized in the sun or over the fire. Slipshod dishwashing can produce both an upset stomach and an unhappy camper.

Fire can destroy the Bond... but not your savings

All that the owner of this charred U.S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give—serial number, and date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.

The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. In the past 20 years it has replaced over 1,300,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U.S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government can check when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.

This assurance against loss is another of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $47 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

U.S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where you bank or work.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

52 years in the making

A lot of peanuts have come off the ground since Thomas Lilliston came out with his mechanical peanut picker. In that time, as you can well imagine, millions of hours of research, design, engineering and production time have been invested in Lilliston harvesting equipment.

This is the result—the 1964 Lilliston Peanut Combine. There is no substitute for this kind of experience. From hitch to hood, the Lilliston has been developed into one of the finest pieces of precision machinery that ever harvested a crop—any crop. It will out-perform and out-last anything in its field—hour by hour, day after day, year-in and year-out. That's been proven over and over again.

If you want to harvest more peanuts, faster, and reap greater profits, invest in the Lilliston. Fifty-two years of experience will back your investment.

The Lilliston Peanut Combine famous for peanut profits—wherever in the world peanuts are grown.

- 2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Enco Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits—to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.
- 3 Octane Power! New Enco Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with New Power-formula Enco Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Survey Pictures Current Drouth As One of Worst In History of Section

Results of a survey of drouth conditions made by County Agent J. M. Cooper as published in the tidbits column of the Eastland Telegram picture 1964 as one of the most severe in the history of this section — more severe even than the interminable drouth years of the 50's. Fifty questionnaires were sent out, according to the Telegram.

Following are some of the responses:

"Most severe drouth since the early '50's," Torrton Cooper, Bullock.

"Generally speaking, we have an adequate supply of stock water. Some ranchers are beginning to run short in some pastures and will either be moving cattle or hauling water," Glyn Gilliam, Ranger.

"Driest in history, 10 per cent of peanuts planted will not come up and some are dying now. I will have to sell or start haying July. Am feeding grain and sake now," John Love, Cheaney.

"On a trip from Cisco to Rising Star in the past few days, I only saw two small fields belonging to the same person, planted with peanuts," Ralph Berry, Rt. 3, Cisco.

"My tank will be dry in one more week. Many of them are very low," Hayman Lawson, Pioneer. (The survey letter was dated July 3 and conditions haven't improved since that date.)

"Most of the cattle will be moved to the market if it doesn't rain the next 30 days," D. B. Warren, Gorman.

"What is the condition of the temporary summer pastures? Grazed to the ground and no moisture," L. A. Harbin, Flatwoods.

"Ten per cent of the peanut farmers have not planted here," J. R. Cox, Okra.

"This drouth is worse in our locality than I have seen since 1934," Cecil Shults, Rising Star.

"I think about 25 per cent of the grain, sorghum is not planted," Oral Davis, Okra.

"Native pastures burned up," W. E. Kurklin, Cisco.

"Only about half of the peanuts in my locality are planted," Glenn Justice, New Hope.

"Pastures have dried up, temporary grazing is at a standstill. Stock water in surface tanks is very low or dried up completely. The calf crop will almost surely be a light one and I am afraid it will affect next year's as every one I have talked to doesn't think their cows are breeding back as they should," James Ches-shier, Pioneer.

"Yes, (more than normal number of livestock have been marketed from your area.) If it doesn't rain I believe that there will be 30 to 40 per cent leave our community by fall. This drouth is as serious as any we have ever had. You might start to look for some government relief feed; unless it rains soon we are sure going to have to have it," Sam Kim-mell Cisco.

"Yes, more than normal number of stock in my area has been sold. And more will be sold if something isn't done soon. So the stock can be held over," Garland Garrett.

"About 60 to 65 per cent of the peanut acreage in this area is not planted due to lack of moisture," Guy Lyerle, Flatwoods.

"I am going to have to sell 15 or 20 head if it doesn't rain in two or three weeks. We need some kind of hay, Bluff Branch.

"Stock water is low and with few exceptions, is reaching the critical stage requiring emergency actions," Homer E. White, Yello Mound.

"Water supply is only fair. Some tanks are lower than have been since first filled," W. R. Ussery, southeast of Carbon.

"My community seems to be in center of very dry area. Rain-fall at my place — May, .7 inches, June, 1.1 inches," Hubbard Gilbert, Carbon.

"All native pasture is from poor to no grass at all," Bill Childers, north of Cisco.

"Some tanks are getting 'boggy'," Walter Mitchell, south of Strawn.

"The drouth is critical in my area. We have not had a measurable amount of rain since late February," D. F. Williamson, Morton Valley.

"Within a 5 or 6 mile radius of here, I would say there is less than 5 per cent of peanuts planted due to lack of moisture," P. P. Plambeck, Pleasant Hill.

"Worse condition and outlook in years," W. E. Tyler, Rising Star.

"I would say that about 20 per cent of livestock have moved to market than normal," G. T. Dawkins, Sabanno.

"The most serious condition we have seen in a number of years," Arlin Bint, Dotham.

"90 per cent of the peanut farmers have not planted here," Herman Schaefer, Nimrod.

"It is as dry as I have ever seen it since I began here, 27 years ago," Albert A. Hansen, Cisco.

Miss Lela Jane Abernathy and Miss Linda Segar of Palo Pinto were being visited by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shults.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knox are visiting a brother of Mr. Knox, Bob, and family in San Angelo.

DAIRY COWS graze contentedly outside the entrance to an underground livestock shelter near Elkhorn, Neb., which was built by J. Gordon Roberts, president of Roberts Dairy of Omaha, to protect 200 Guernsey cows and three bulls from a nuclear attack. His dairy farm is only about 25 miles from Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha. In peacetime, the $35,000 shelter is used as a "loafing shed" for the cows to get out of the sun. Roberts, who has also built shelters for his family and employees, says he built the livestock shelter because "the American dairy cow is one of the best in the world. It took 300 years to produce this type of animal. It makes sense to preserve it if we can."

B. M. Carroll of Seminole has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Josie Carroll at Twilight Acres Nursing Home here.

Carter and Cynthia Hounsell have returned from a 4-H camp at Lake Cisco. About 400 4-H Club members attended.

Low Calorie-Low Cost Lunch

Creamed foods make delightful luncheon or supper dishes. You can please everyone by preparing the sauce with a low calorie nonfat dry milk, ideal for this type of cookery since the packaged product is homogenized-smooth. It is highly nutritious, too, as it contains all the important elements of top quality pasteurized milk with only the liquid and fat removed. Here is a shrimp sauce developed by the Borden Kitchen. It is low in calories and low in cost, but high in flavor.

Seafood Sauce (Makes 6 1/2 cup servings)

1/2 cup butter	1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1/2 cup flour	2 1/2 cups Starlac nonfat
1 teaspoon salt	dry milk, liquefied
1/8 teaspoon pepper	2 cups (two 5-ounce cans) cooked small shrimp

Melt butter in a medium-size saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually stir in liquefied nonfat dry milk. Cook, over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add cooked shrimp. Cover and simmer 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve in patty shells or on toast.

After you've canned, frozen, eaten and given away all of the peaches, nectarines and apricots you can from your backyard tree — and there's still some left — try drying these fruits. Dried fruits will keep a year or so when stored in a cool, dry, dark place.

Here's how to dry these fruits in your own oven:

Select about 6 pounds fresh, ripe, firm fruit. Wash and drain. Peel if you wish, then cut in halves and remove pits.

To prevent discoloration, soak fruit 15 minutes in a solution of 3 1/2 tablespoons sodium sulfite. The other, but less effective, treatments are: (1) To dip fruit in a salt-water bath of 4 to 6 tablespoons salt to 1 gallon of water for about 10 minutes, or (2) precook fruit in steam or boiling water until tender but firm.

Arrange fruit on trays and place in 150 degree F. oven with the bottom tray three inches from the oven floor. Do not use top unit in electric oven. Prop open the door of an electric oven 1/2 inch; a gas oven door, 8 inches. (This helps control heat and lets out moist air.)

Alternate trays every 1 or 2 hours. Fruit is dry when pliable and leathery, usually about 6 hours or longer. Pieces around the edges of the tray will dry first. Remove these as soon as they are dry.

Cool and package at once. Pack dried fruit in glass jar, plastic, metal, or heavily waxed cardboard frozen food containers. Use a tightly fitting lid. Plastic bags that can be heat sealed may also be used. They should then be placed in a rigid container to prevent tearing.

Art of Tying and Pruning Greenhouse Tomatoes One of Most Important

COLLEGE STATION — One of the first problems to confront the beginning greenhouse tomato grower is the art of tying and pruning plants. Greenhouse tomato production is a rapidly expanding business in Texas. The fruit is grown during winter months, enabling the producer to take advantage of higher market prices.

Dr. John E. Larsen, Extension Service horticulturist at Texas A&M University, says most greenhouse tomato plants are supported by wires running directly above each row and attached to the house frame wires are generally six to seven feet above the soil surface. Number 11 wire is adequate to support 200 feet of row if supported by cross wires tied to the overhead structure.

Individual plants are most commonly supported by a length of ordinary binder twine tied to the wire and the other end tied loosely around the stem in a non-slip knot near the plant's base. The twine should be tied to a plant not directly below the knot on the wire, but to the right or left depending on which direction plants are to be "dropped" later.

Larsen says the twine should be of such length that after tying to the plant and to the overhead wire, about 3 feet of "pig-tail" is left hanging from the wire. The twine should have some slack.

Tomato plants are pruned to a single stem by removing small shoots at the leaf axils that would develop into lateral branches.

"Generally, pruning is necessary about once a week," the horticulturist said. "But during early fall, it may be required about every four to five days when growth is very rapid."

Shoots should always be removed by breaking and not cutting, Larsen emphasized. Small shoots less than 3 inches long can be snapped off easily by a sharp bend and pull to one side. Larger shoots are bent over sharply to one side, then snapped off with a sharp bend and pull in the opposite direction.

"This method helps prevent excessive injury to the leaf axil or the bark of the main stem," Larsen explained.

Twine should be in place and tied to plants before the plants grow too tall and fall over. Any visible lateral shoots can be removed during the tying operation.

As growth progresses, the plant is supported by winding it around the twine once between each cluster. Because of danger in breaking the tender tops, the plants should not be wound around the twine much closer than 5 to 6 inches from the growing tip.

State Highway Patrol Seeking 50 Candidates

AUSTIN — Opportunity for an advanced education with a regularly monthly income while preparing for a career in outstanding public service as a patrolman is being offered by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Fifty young men who can qualify will be selected to attend school at the Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. Upon graduation they will fill vacancies in one of the Department's four uniformed services — Highway Patrol, License and Weight Motor Vehicle Inspection, or Driver Licensing.

Examinations will be given on August 8, September 12 and October 10. Applications for these examinations must be received by 5 p.m. on the Mondays preceding those dates.

Only young men between the ages of 21 and 35 will be accepted as applicants. Full information can be obtained by contacting any patrolman or the nearest DPS station.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director, urged interested young men to submit applications early to insure enrollment and to allow time for processing.

The four-month school will begin on November 19. Courses include 95 subjects which consume some 800 hours of classroom and other activities. Students will receive a broad education, ranging from law enforcement and investigation to table manners and from physical conditioning to the art of professional driving.

While in training, students earn $375 per month. Upon graduation they become commissioned officers and receive salaries ranging from $438 to $453 per month, depending on branch of service. In addition, they receive longevity pay of $10 per month extra for each five years of service up to a maximum of $50 per month. Promotions are given on the basis of annual competitive examinations.

AUSTIN — Are you under the impression that lightning never strikes the same place twice?

If so, you are sadly mistaken, and that mistake could cost you your life. Statistics show that lightning can and does strike the same place more than one time.

As a case in point, the Empire State Building is struck many times each year. One summer it was struck 15 times in 15 minutes.

A single bolt from one of the estimated one million annual thunderstorms is sufficient to cause injury, death or property damage.

The greatest number of injuries and death occur to persons who are in rural or open areas. Campers, golfers and swimmers are most vulnerable.

In an open area, lightning will usually strike the highest object. Many people will run under a tree when caught in a storm, exposing themselves to great danger, as lightning often strikes lone trees.

The bolt travels down the moist interior of the tree, building up extreme heat and pressure which causes the tree to explode. Also, as the electrical charge travels down the tree, small streamers may depart from the main bolt, jumping to nearby persons or objects. Many golfers and others have been killed or injured in just this manner.

Are you safe in an automobile during a thunderstorm? Yes, if the auto is all steel. The steel shell of a car will lead the electrical charge down to the wheels, and from there the charge will jump to the ground. But a convertible does not afford protection.

If a thunderstorm develops while you are out in the open, head for a building and stay inside until the storm is over. If you are boating or swimming, leave the water and get to a building. If there is no building available, head for a grove of
