If you are wondering what has happened to so many of the country towns and the small businesses of the nation, you could have found an answer in what was happening on West College Street in Rising Star last week.

Twenty five or thirty years ago the earth moving and base laying which took in the rebuilding of State Highway 36 over that street would have required the work of scores of men, teams and slips over a period of several weeks. Thursday and Friday, a dozen men or less, driving great diesel-driven behemoths accomplished the task in a few hours. Those tremendous "buckets" helped along by great tractors pushing tandem, scooped up and hauled away the excess earth in 15- and 20-yard "bites". Smaller graders smoothed out the new level and almost before you knew it a new roadbed lay awaiting rock and gravel and the ultimate topping.

Muscle power has been exchanged for piston-power and although the cost of building the new road many times exceeds the investment in the old style construction, the amount of money released for spending in the small community is so small as to be almost non-existent. The greater part of the cost is spent for the machinery and for supplies and services gathered from elsewhere. Instead of being concentrated in a small area the money released by such construction is spread over a big territory. A machine which can do the work of a hundred horses and fifty men spends very little time in one place and releases very small wages for local spending.

The same trend toward specialization and "mass" production has affected our farms and small businesses. It is uneconomical in view of capital costs and overhead expenses to operate the small "family" farms of a generation ago. Changing conditions, the smaller percentage of profit, compel farmers and ranchers to operate larger units. Gone are the farm houses on every quarter section. Most of the farmers and ranchers actually live in town and drive to and from their acres. The decline in population in Eastland County and other agricultural counties is the result of this trend. It is at the bottom of the farm problem.

Many of the smaller communities have already faded from the scene. Those which remain must either increase and broaden their services to embrace more trade territory and make a business appeal based upon modern needs and modern standards or pass away also.

Rising Star does have some very real advantages for building a new community future in line with the changes that are taking place.

It stands at the crossing of two increasingly important highways. It could offer some very essential and attractive services to the thousands of truckers and motorists who pass through the community every day. It could develop its residential attractions on the basis of appealing to people to like privacy, the neighborliness of small community life, and suburban conditions at economic cost. It will take some hard work, some intelligent development of its public services, and the investment of some money.

A community exists to serve people, and if it cannot compete with towns elsewhere in the municipal, utility, business, health and school services that it offers, those prospective citizens will go elsewhere. People cannot be forced to live and trade in a town. They must find it profitable and advantageous to do so.

Bailey Favors James Turman in Speaker's Race

Representative Elect Scott Bailey of Cisco, attending the annual meeting of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Assn. at Stephenville, was asked whom he favored in the hotly contested speaker's race. Bailey's immediate answer was, "James Turman of Fannin County." When asked why he preferred Turman rather than Spilman, Bailey gave the following reply: "In my campaign for nomination, I pledged my all out efforts to keep Texas free of a general sales tax. In deciding whom to support for speaker, I felt it was essential that I check the voting record of Mr. Turman and Mr. Spilman on this issue before I made my choice. The record shows that on three vital votes on the sales tax question, Mr. Turman opposed the sales tax three times, whereas, Mr. Spilman voted in favor of the sales tax three times. In supporting James Turman, I am keeping a campaign promise and standing on the same platform that I ran on." Bailey continued, "Out here in West Texas we consider a man's word to be as good as his bond, so when the pressure was put on me to switch my pledge, you can see why I refused."

Goats Elusive; Only One Roper Gets His Animal

Only one roper in a large field of contestants was able to keep a rope on his goat in the goat roping event at the Rising Star rodeo Friday night. He was Don Drum who won the money in a time of slightly over 37 seconds.

The calf roping events produced better times and a full slate of winners. Sonny Phillips took first money in the regular event with a time of 14.1 seconds, followed by Mike Sims with 15.2 seconds and Horace Gibbs with 16.3 seconds, none of them world-shattering successes.

The jackpot event, always the nightcap of the program, produced much more respectable times. Alton Carter won that contest in 11.8 seconds. Sonny Phillips bettered his earlier performance with 12.4 seconds for second place and Tommy Bacon came up with 14.1 seconds to take third money.

Jim Hargroves took the bull riding event with Mike Bryley placing second.

In the bronc riding Randy Johnson was first and Bobby Golson second.

Brenda Whitaker of Abilene placed first in the girls open barrel racing. Judy Moore was second.

In the boys and girls amateur barrel racing Sharon Donham took first place with 20.5 seconds and Linda Koonce and Floyd Benson placed in order with times of 22.3 and 22.6 seconds respectively.

County Reduces Beneficiaries to 1,400 And Renews Surplus Food Program

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

EASTLAND.—Eastland county commissioners Friday, in an unannounced called meeting, voted to renew the USDA Surplus Food Program in this county for another year. The action came as somewhat of a surprise since some members of the court had earlier indicated their plans to oppose renewal of the contract.

In signing up for the government program for another year, the commissioners voted to drop their purchase of surplus food commodities from enough to serve 1900 people monthly to 1400 people monthly.

The court took action after it was learned that during the past six months an average of less than 1400 people received the commodities, while the county was paying for enough food for 1900 people.

The surplus food program in this county would have ended August 31 if the court had not signed another one year contract with the government. The program has been in effect since late in 1957 and has been renewed each year for an additional year since that time.

Since 1957 it is estimated that some $200,000 in surplus food has been distributed in this county. As many as 1900 persons have shared the food in one month alone. Lately, since some of the most popular foods—such as butter—has been cut off the list, the number of persons asking for the food has dropped off sharply.

It is estimated that since the program began, 53,000 "customers" have received food in 33 issues.

You can find those who will be dropped from the program has fed and no check on who has ever been

Big Machines Crack Main Under Street

If detours and torn up roads are signs of progress, Rising Star endured its most progressive phase last week and this. Enormous earth moving machinery made short work of the old pavement on State 36 from the traffic light at Main and College to the western city limits, and in the process shook connections loose on the city's 6-inch water main which underlies the street.

Two days and two night, more or less, of hard work on the part of the city's utility employees restored service over the week-end and made it possible for the contractor on the highway rebuilding job—Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth—to resume construction on the affected sections Monday.

But for hours Friday and Saturday geysers of water shot into the air and pools of water collected where the big machines jarred openings in the pipe and in at least one instance cracked a section of the main. Sections of the city were without water for considerable periods and the entire city suffered from low pressure when the crews held the big water tank down to relieve pressure on the working areas.

Meanwhile two blocks of West College from the traffic light were closed to traffic which was detoured over streets thru the residential section.

The big machines also crashed 400 feet of six inch sewer line on College street from the hospital west. This was being restored this week.

Most of the breaks in six-inch water main occurred where the service lines were connected, Mayor Walter Smith said.

Most of the street through the city was excavated to a foot or more in depth in preparation for the new base which will be laid curb to curb. In the process much old gas pipe, abandoned when the City Utilities took over the gas system many years ago, was rolled out of the ground.

This week preparations were being made to lay the new base of crushed rock on the street and it was expected that traffic would be restored to the section by the week-end.

When completed the street will be most attractive and, of course, it will have a paving second to none.

US Army to Show Air Defense Sites On August 5 and 6

US Army Missile Firing Batteries near Abilene will open to the public their two new Air Defense Sites on August 5th and 6th. Captain Keith B. Verburg commands the North Missile Site located on FM Road 1193 on the West Side of FL Phantom Lake. Captain Elgin L. Eskridge commands the South Missile Site located on the San Angelo Highway 277, six miles south of View. The Sites will be open for visitors on Friday, August 5th, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Saturday, August 6th, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph P. Guinn, Commander of the 5th Missile Battalion (Nike-Hercules) 517th Artillery, said that these sites protect more than 29 Texas counties covering 18,000 square miles against airborne attack.

Visitors will be shown a film of missile firings against aerial targets and will spend about an hour touring the buildings and tactical equipment. On display will be Nike-Hercules Missiles, radars, fire control equipment. Full explanation of the equipment will be given. Photographs will be permitted.

The two missile sites were built by the J. B. Browning Construction Company of San Antonio at a cost of $3,500,000. Over 225 men and officers are stationed at the two sites to keep the missiles ready 24 hours a day. In February, 55 men from Central Texas enlisted and are now serving with this battalion.

Over 250 US Army Air Defense Command missile firing batteries protect the United States against air attack. The Nike-Hercules Missile with a nuclear capability has been noted for its ability to defeat every airborne target it has fired upon and has a 85% kill record. It has destroyed targets flying over 100,000 feet high and traveling at speeds in excess of 2100 MPH. The Nike-Hercules Fire Control Equipment continuously commands the missile to change direction until it gets close to the target and then bursts the missile. The missile is traveling so fast and is so maneuverable that it can outmaneuver any airborne craft or

Worship with them this week

Naturally you want them to have all the good things in life . . . a happy home . . . a good education . . . plenty of chances to meet other nice young people. But be sure to give them the most precious gift of all . . . Faith.

The wonderful part is that faith is yours to give . . . no matter who you are, what you do for a living, how much money you have in the bank.

Faith is the gift you give a little at a time. Every week you worship with the children at your church or synagogue. The youngsters see you . . . the biggest, smartest, most important people in their world . . . asking God for help, thanking Him for blessings. Then it's clear to them . . . here they can always find the strength they need, always find the happiness they want.

Then you've done the best a parent—any parent—can do!

"I GIVE YOU TEXAS"

By Boyce House

Everyone who has any stature as a Texas writer must have at least one buried treasure experience. For example, O.
Henry hunted for Spanish gold near Austin when he lived there in early manhood. And J. Frank Dobie has traversed remote regions where there are supposed to be great quantities of buried gold and silver.

Not to be outdone, the great House also has his story of lost treasure.

Not long after I resigned—
(I did, too, resign)—as editor of the Ranger Times to take a place on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, a letter arrived.
The name of the writer was unknown to me but he said he knew me. The letter was mailed from Philadelphia. It was two pages long, single-spaced,
and unfolded quite a narrative.

"You will, of course, recall Pete the Hermit who lived out from Ranger," the epistle began. (I could not remember anyone of such a name—in fact,
I had never numbered a hermit among my circle of acquaintances.) The letter continued that the writer had, now and then, befriended Pete by giving him old magazines to read and a little money for smoking tobacco.

One day, going to visit the old man in his shack, the writer said, he found the hermit critically ill. Pete declared that he had hoarded a good deal of money and, as the younger man

was the only one in Ranger
who had ever befriended him,
the hermit wanted him to have the gold. By this time every-word was an effort for his breath was growing short but Pete described the location and his listener made notes. In a few minutes, the old man died.

His "heir" could not immediately get away to dig up the treasure; then his father became seriously ill and he was summoned east. The father died and the son had to take over the operation of the business.
That was some years before and he had never had time to return to Texas.

Then he thought about me as he had read in the Ranger paper (which he still took) that I had gone to work in Fort Worth and he was now offering me one-third of the hoard (which amounted to $13,000 if I would dig it up. A map was enclosed. The spot was a dozen miles or so from Fort Worth. It was near Mary's Creek and there were other landmarks. The distance to be paced from a boulder was given.
It seemed a simple matter to find the location.

However, there were one or two factors which caused me to wonder. One was as already mentioned, that I had no recollection of Pete the Hermit and, as editor of the Ranger paper, I would very likely have known, or at least known of,
so picturesque a character. Another puzzling feature was: Why did the hermit select a spot 75 or 80 miles from Ranger in which to hide his fortune? It would have been more reasonable for him to have chosen a place

close enough that he could visit it and see that the money was safe.

I decided that someone was trying to victimize me and that, if I visited the area, I would be fired upon by my unknown correspondent and his friends who would enjoy a hearty laugh
when I fled ingloriously. There was also the possibility that the owner, not knowing anything about the matter, might fire at me as a trespasser, and those bullets would be real.

Still, the story could conceivably be true. One-third of $13, 000 was a lot of money, especially as this was during the depression.

(Editor's Note—Did our hero seek the gold of Pete the Hermit? Read the concluding chapter of this exciting true adventure next week.)

Several kinds of finishes may be applied to floors and interior woodwork so as to preserve their natural appearance. These are wood sealers, shellac, varnish, or lacquer. Each type of finish has properties peculiar to itself.

Shellac is made from a resin secreted by a tropical insect. The resin is refined and dissolved in alcohol. Shellac dries very rapidly and forms a hard, glossy surface. Shellac will water-stain and turn whitish when exposed to too much moisture.

Varnish is a finish composed of natural or synthetic resins in some type of drying oil. After drying the film is reasonably hard and tough and impervious to moisture. Varnish coatings take longer to dry and tend to darken with age.

Lacquer coatings consist of cellulose nitrate or derivatives dissolved in a rapidly evaporating solvent. Resin is frequently added to the mixture. Lacquer dries quickly and is resistant to moisture. However, it is difficult to apply and is generally more expensive than other finishes.

Wood sealers usually consist of wax, resins and drying oils together with a water repellent. Essentially, they do not coat the wood but shallowly penetrate into the material. When applied, the excess sealer is removed and the wood buffed to provide a pleasing appearance.

Although floors may be beautified and protected with any of these finishes, care must be exercised to select products made specifically for wooden floors and applied as directed.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jenkins and children of Houston are here to spend some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jenkins, and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Conner. Marcelene Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Roberts, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. D. D. Chadwick, and Miss Alice Faye Roberts in Midland.

Four Amendments To Constitution To Be Voted Upon

Texans voters should look to the month of November 1960 as another time of decision, for it is in this month which a general election will be held.

At this time a new president will be elected. Running for vice-president on the democratic ticket will be a Texan. All other elective offices, both national and state, will likewise be voted upon.

There will be much pre-election campaigning and ballyhoo by both democratic and republican candidates. And, because of the publicity in the newspapers, and on radio and TV, interested voters will be afforded ample opportunity to study the various candidates and their respective platforms.

At the same time Texans will again be called upon to amend their constitution, but the four propositions which will be submitted for approval or rejection are not likely to attract as much attention as the candidates.

Nevertheless, these amendments should be carefully studied by every voter, because each involves matters of finance even though the specific subject matter of the amendments is unrelated. The amendments will be headed as follows: "Proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on at an election to be held on November 8, 1960."

Amendment No. 1 would authorize the Legislature to create a Hospital District including Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and County Commissioners' Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County.

Amendment No. 2 would increase to three and one-half percent (3½%) the maximum permissible interest rate on bonds hereafter issued by the Veteran's Land Board.

Amendment No. 3 would allow an annual salary for Members of Legislature of not to exceed $4800 per year, and a per diem allowance of not more than $12.00 per day for the first 120 days only of each Regular Session, and for 30 days of each Special Session of the Legislature. The Regular Session would be limited to 140 days.

Amendment No. 4 would give the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest.

Voters should study these amendments carefully, and watch their newspapers for further discussions of these amendments. Above all, plan now to vote!

Mrs. Sue Harris and children, who have been living in Fort Worth, have moved back to Rising Star. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Jenkins.

Sisters of G. E. McDonald, Mmes. Chas. Morrison and Edgar Underwood of May, were here to visit their brother and wife. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McDonald and to attend the revival services at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holly have returned from a vacation trip which was spent in Frederick, Okla.; and a mountain trip near there, and in Rule, Tex., where they visited Mrs. Holly's parents. They were gone eight days.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Crisp recently visited their daughters, Mrs. Noble Hall and family of Dumas, Mrs. Melvin Darnell and family of Borger, a granddaughter, Mrs. Roy Havron and family of Borger and niece, Mrs. Byron Cox and family of Borger and a nephew, Jessie Powell and wife of Stannette.

Price Campbell Made Honorary WTU Co Chairman

ABILENE.—Price Campbell today was named honorary chairman of the West Texas

Utilities Company board of directors, stepping down from the active chairmanship he has held since 1955.

Cal Young, WTU president, said there are no immediate plans to name an active chairman to replace Campbell.

Campbell began his forty-five years of service in the electric industry when he was employed at Marshall, Texas, by the American Public Service Company, predecessor of the West Texas Utilities Company.

He came to Abilene in 1920 as an engineer for the companies that were to become the West Texas Utilities. In 1930, Campbell was named president of the company and held that position until 1955, when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 and was named Chairman of the Board.

His election as honorary chairman came as a result of his attaining the mandatory retirement age for the board chairman. As honorary chairman, Campbell will be relieved of his administrative duties will continue as an active director of the company and will maintain an office in the First National-Ely Building.

Widely known for his work in the development of West Texas, Campbell has been interested in numerous civic and area development programs.

Among other activities, Campbell is a director of Texas A & M College, board member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the United Fund of Abilene, and a trustee of the Abilene YWCA.
