The Rising Star Wildcats fell out of the district contention spot last Friday night, losing to Number 1 rated Gorman 28-0. The Wildcats fell to 5-2-1 on the season and 1-1 in District 6B East Zone play.

Gorman took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards with Billy Burgess run of 50 yards for the score. He also got the bonus points.

Six minutes later, Blaine Gibbs went over from the four capping another 65 yard drive. The PAT was booted of themselves but the offensive would move for only a few plays then stymie. The defense got tough but Burgess scored again with 45 seconds left until halftime with the PAT failing to make the score 21-0.

The Wildcats stopped Gorman twice inside the 10 and looked sharp against the number 1 team in the second half. The Cats also forced 2 fumbles inside the Gorman 20 but failed to score either time.

Quarterback Mel Maxfield finally got his 6 points early in the fourth quarter as Burgess and Gibbs ran the ball most 60 yards with Maxfield going over from the 1. Webb kicked good and the final was 28-0.

Burgess led all rushers but Mackey Elliott had a good night rushing and passing. He also punted well all night. The Gorman line constantly were blowing open holes offensively but the Cats shined the last three quarters after a poor first stanza.

This week the 'Cats travel to 2-6 Blanket who always play tough at home. They have defeated Comanche "B" 44-20 and Lometa last week 24-12. Gametime is 7:30 at Tiger Stadium. The fans are the best in the State. Come back to the Wildcats.

BY B.A. BUTLER

Next Tuesday the voters of this nation will go to the polls to choose a president.

And, ironically, one of the most disturbing symptoms of decay in the hospital system by which that result will be achieved has appeared in the process of the campaign.

Not by the caliber of the candidates; no one suggests that the men now seeking the highest office in our land are to be compared with the greats of our history—a Lincoln, a Washington, a Wilson, or a Roosevelt. But it is true that they stand about on par with the average of those who have held the office during the first 200 years of our nation's history.

And who can say without reservation that one of them will not have greatness thrust upon him?

For it is a fact that the more distinguished of our Presidents have often been made so as much by the upthrust of the crises upon which they rose to office as by their own innate qualities. The Presidency seems to have a way of insuring its Therefore, we are told, they intend to stay home next Tuesday and let the other half of the electorate decide that outcome. They intend to vote by NOT voting.

Now that would be fine—for their protest—if by so doing they would themselves escape the consequences of the election. But no matter what the outcome, they will have to live with it.

And it would not be so bad if, as a practical, and ultimate, result, they would not be contributing to the dissolution of the very democratic institutions upon which they depend for the exercise of their freedoms—for the right to have an effective voice in their government.

Let's face it: A failure to go to the polls and cast a positive vote—a refusal to exercise the most basic right and duty of citizenship—will mean, in actual effect, casting half a vote for the candidate you do not want to see elected, or that candidate you least want to see elected.

So, if you wish, stay at home Tuesday; don't go to the polls. But one thing is certain: You will still be voting!

Not only will you be voting for the man or woman you least desire in office. More tragically you will be casting a vote for the ultimate ruin of the American political system. You will be helping to dissuade good men and women from seeking offices of essential leadership and service and encouraging those who selfishly seek power and authority by default and deceit. You will be voting for minority!

Make no mistake about it! An institution—a government, a political party, a church, a chamber of commerce, or any other popular and cooperative organization—belongs to those who work at it!

And an alert, informed and concerned electorate is the only real guarantee that government "of the people, by the people, for the people," shall continue upon this earth.

genius; there have been occasions wherein men of mediocre promise have made exceptional performances under its challenge.

In mind now, and with special emphasis, is the response of Harry Truman to that challenge. The office has rarely been imposed upon a more unwilling or less promising candidate for statesmanship. And yet the free world owes to this hitherto undistinguished man—a political hack in terms of Rooseveltian grandeur—the fortunate fact that a war-ravished Europe was saved from the fate of the satellite nations to become a free world barrier against Soviet expansion.

No, it is not the qualities of the candidates, or lack of them, that threatens our democratic franchise.

The United States has never been, nor will it now be at the mercy of one or two elected officials. Not so long as its free and universal electoral processes maintain their validity—and vitality.

This is not to cast discredit upon the men now seeking the White House; they are able men, trustworthy men, men of the necessary talent. Otherwise they would not be in leadership of their respective parties. And America will survive, whichever of them is elected; it will continue to exist in strength and promise. Provided—!

The comment is made in response to the reported attitude of about half the voting population of this nation—an attitude of itself the most alarming index to appear among the activities and assessments of the national campaign.

We are being told, and profoundly, that fifty per cent of these voters are prepared to resign all responsibility for the outcome of the election because they are unhappy with both of the major candidates. They can relate to neither of them; neither, in their assessed view, offers the leadership of the program they consider necessary to the prosperity and security of the country.

Simon Reveals Results 'La Estrelitta' Of T.H. D. Study Plans Coronation

AMARILLO--Inflation has handed Texas an $11-billion backlog of needed highway projects and less than $2 billion to meet it in the next 20 years, Charles E. Simons, a member of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission, said here today.

"And I defy anyone here to buy $11 worth of groceries with a $2 bill," he added.

Simons addressed the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association meeting. The Commissioner referred to a yearlong study of the department and the Texas highway program recently completed by the department and an internationally known consulting firm, McKinsey & Company, Inc.

"I know of no study that was done with greater competence or objectivity than this one," he said. The study has stirred public interest in the plight of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

But he added that several questions have arisen since as a result of the wide public interest it has stimulated.

One of the points was the matter of why the highway program needed dedicated sources of funding, Simons said.

There are several reasons, he said.

"First, dedication of funds allows the department to plan and carry out work on the highway system in a rational and orderly pattern." He added that, because of delays occasioned by red tape and required environmental, social, and economic studies, lead times have increased drastically.

"Thus, we need assurance that the money will be ready after plans have been reviewed and re-reviewed and re-reviewed, ad infinitum," Simons said.

Also, with assured income, he said, the department can schedule jobs more efficiently and can spread work loads over an extended time.

The Commissioner said the backlog of work represents projects the commission had every reason to believe they would be able to fulfill in the light of conditions that existed at the time.

He noted that for most of the post-World War II era, growth in vehicle ownership and usage has been sufficient to offset the effects of inflation. But in the early 1970's inflation hit the double-digit range and the program began falling behind.

Simons said the department began early to start tightening belts, decreasing the work force and effecting other economies. At the same time, federal bureaucratic delays put worthy projects further and further back as lead time necessary to get a project underway stretched from about two years to eight years.

"Thus the backlog grew and the department and the commission were powerless to do anything about it," he said.

Now, the department has re-evaluated systems and projects all over the state. The study made specific recommendations on individual projects, including the elimination of many in the backlog.

"At this point," Simons said, "These still are recommendations. They are under careful scrutiny and the future of hundreds of projects depends on a simple five-letter word—m-o-n-e-y."

The staff of "La Estrelitta" has announced that the 1976 coronation of Rising Star High School Queen has been set for Monday evening, November 1, at 8:00 p.m. in the Rising High star gymnasium.

This event is the high light of the school year and everyone is invited to attend.

It is just a plain fact of life that it is impossible for anyone to sell their products below their cost and stay in business. Yet, some discount places would have you believe they do just this on practically everything they sell. The truth of the matter is if you are paying less on one item you are probably paying more than you should on another. Is there a way to beat this game?

Saturday Club Hears Program On Safety

The Saturday Club met on Wednesday, October 20 in the City Library, with Mrs. O.R. Shults as hostess.

Mrs. Lewis Mayfield introduced Roy Muckleroy, District Safety Coordinator for the Department of Public Safety, who showed an interesting and educational film on Driving Safety.

Mr. Muckleroy also conducted a question and answer period on state laws and automobile insurance, which proved to be very informative. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, and coffee were served from the lace covered table which was centered with an arrangement of autumn leaves and red berries.

Mrs. Ed Witt, president of the club, presided at the business session.

The next club meeting is scheduled for November 3, at the Library.

Are you watching for all those ghost and spooks that are preparing to haunt you very soon now? You had better get ready! I can remember when I went trick or treating. Did I ever have fun! Halloween is great for young and old alike. It is so wonderful to see those awful ugly faces at your door and to know under those masked faces are cute begging eyes waiting for the treat to be handed over to them. The Seniors are having fun getting ready for Halloween. We are looking forward to seeing everyone at the Halloween Carnival, even if you just come to see the costume contest we are having this year. I hope for everyone a safe and wonderful Halloween. Beware of the spooks!!
Happy Halloween,

In the Fish Bowl
This week "In the Fish Bowl" we've had a great week. Tuesday we had a sock day. Boy, you should have seen some of the socks. There were striped ones, checked ones, and solid ones. Then, Wednesday was tie day. The ties were really cute. Some were short, and some were long. Then Thursday was Blue and Gold day. Everybody was supposed to wear blue and gold. Friday was quiet day. First period the jug was plugged, and so were our mouths until 2:30 for the Pep Rally. Thanks to all of our parents and friends for coming to the Pep Rally.
The Freshmen Class would like to say "Hi" to a very dear friend that reads our column all the way in Upland, California. Happy Birthday Lourie Stovall.

Judy Hill showed us all about cosmetics and manicures. We really enjoyed it. For the meeting, the Sophomores made the refreshments, and they were really good. Ken Johnson, the FFA State President, spoke at an assembly Wednesday. We really enjoyed him, also. Well, I guess that's it for now.
See ya,
Marilyn

YOU AND YOUR HEALTH

By Peter J. Esse, M.D.

TROUBLE WITH NOSE

Dear Dr. Esse: I am greatly concerned about my husband. He refuses to see a doctor and has made his own diagnosis that he has sinusitis. For three or four years he has used nose drops and nasal spray several times nightly. Also during the day. But he seems worse. His nose doesn't let the air through. -- Mrs. G.

REPLY: Chances are that overuse of nose drops has produced what we call a rebound reaction in his nasal tissues. They swell even more than they did originally.

The remedy -- if there is one -- is self-evident: Have him undergo examination by a nose and throat specialist. Perhaps by an allergist, too.

Does he have a deviated nasal septum? Are his turbinates swollen? Relief may be right around the corner. Many, like your husband, put off examination and suffer unnecessarily. Keep trying to set up a medical examination for him.

REPLY TO MISS D.: You will have to choose between your love for wearing high boots and the appearance of varicose veins. In some, these tight-fitting boots cause a constriction of blood flow in veins, which tends to produce varicosities. There have been some reports that actual inflammation of veins (thrombophlebitis) was due to wearing boots that fitted too tightly.

Dear Dr. Esse: I'm 48 and haven't had a monthly period in two years. What are my chances of ever having a child again? -- Mrs. A.

REPLY: Practically nil. But in this age of miracles I hesitate to say positively not. I'll put your gynecologist on the spot for that answer.

REPLY TO Mr. D.: Your red, scaly itching between the legs and on the scrotum may require more than self-treatment with ointments. If it's a fungal infection (which your doctor can diagnose) you will need special anti-fungal medication. Meanwhile keep the skin dry. Fungus thrives in a moist habitat.

HOTLINE ON SPORTS

You can almost hear Charley Finley chortling in the background. After the years of screaming that agents hurt athletes because they don't have the players' best interests in mind, Finley now has some evidence to back up that claim. Several Minnesota Vikings now have admitted they lost money with agent John Wooten. A running back, Brent McClanahan, estimates he lost $25,000 through Wooten. And now Chuck Foreman, Charley Goodrum and Jim Lash said they lost money. The Vikings took a possibly unprecedented step by hiring a businessman, Dick Lurie of Minneapolis, to handle their players' finances. It's free of charge to the players. And possibly on the theory that he could know something they don't. Now Wooten has been hired to work in the front office of the Dallas Cowboys.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Robert Gainer, who is a 23-year-old yacht designer, will undertake a solo nonstop voyage around the world in a 31-foot fiberglass sloop, the "Boodles Ginny." He expects to be the first American and youngest person ever to circumnavigate the globe alone and without stopping. Two Englishmen have accomplished this feat previously. Gainer, who has crossed the Atlantic alone in a 22-foot sailboat in 1974, will leave on the 25,779 nautical mile trip early this fall, departing from New York Harbor. (© 1976 McNaught Synd.)

Parson Jones

Not too many famous people ever stop at our little town, but last week was different. The world-famous consumer advocate, Ralph Potater, spoke to our folks at Hezekiah's cow pasture on the subject, "Pollution in America." He talked about all kinds of pollution, but he really mashed the button on spray deodorants. He told how the spray was making little holes in our atmosphere, called o-zones. "Not only that," said he, "deodorants are causing more and more people to have skin cancer -- even with the roll-ons." All things considered, it was a right good speech.

I've been thinking quite a heap since then, and I think Ralph Potater overlooked some of the more serious problems with the anti-sweat approach.

First and foremost is the theological problem. Over there in the first chapter of the Bible, God tells Adam and Eve to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. But according to the modern move, sweating seems to be both a disgrace and a catastrophe. According to TV, sweating makes clothes look bad, drives away friends, and makes getting married almost impossible. Looks like we are fighting the Good Book.

The second problem is economical. It's getting harder to get people to put in a full day's work. One boss man told me he'd rather see his employes work and sweat than loaf and smell good.

Well, as the roll-on people say, "That about covers the subject." I've gotta go work on Sunday's sermon which I am calling, "Roll-On God's Love."

New Horizons

By JANE FORREST

A reader writes: I get much conflicting advice from friends about what to do in case of an electrical storm. Can you give me accurate information? We are in the thunderstorm season in the mountains where our retirement home is located.

A: The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration offers these safety recommendations:

1. Seek shelter indoors if at all possible. Get into your car, close the doors, and barely open a window. If you get into a building, do not use the telephone during the storm.

2. If you're caught outdoors, get away and stay away from open water of any kind, including swimming pools. Avoid wire fences, clotheslines, metal railings, pipes, and such equipment as tractors or mowers. Put down golf clubs or any metal tools immediately and get a good distance away. Do not stand under a tree or near or under an isolated shed or other small building in an open area.

3. The best way to protect yourself outdoors is to drop down on your knees and bend over so your hands are on your knees.

4. If someone is struck or knocked down by lightning and there is more than one victim, go first to the aid of the one who is not breathing and seems dead as prompt first aid, including artificial respiration, has a good chance of reviving such a person. Those who are simply unconscious but breathing will probably recover spontaneously. Medical attention for all victims should be secured at once, including those who do not appear to have been hurt, for there may be hidden effects.

While discussing summer storms, here's a reminder to check your flashlights and transistor radios to be sure they're ready for emergency use.

CAMPING ALL YEAR ROUND

By BOB NESOFF

CANOEING IS FOR GIRLS, TOO
Having just come through one of the more exciting sections of white water on the river, and being fairly well soaked by the combination downpour and river spray, we decided to bank the canoes and get some food.

With the canoes pulled far enough ashore so that the current would not make pedestrians out of us, we headed for the crest of the hill overlooking the river. Ordinarily little more than a rise of land, the hill was nearly insurmountable in the sea of mud the torrent had turned it into.

Working like a well-oiled machine, the girls began forming a human chain, linking hands as they moved, one ahead of the other, up the hill. As soon as the hill was crested, the remainder of the troop began moving up. Then, reversing the original tactic, the last link worked her way crestward, followed by the next link, etc. Within minutes, all were at the top. Talk about teamwork and coordination. This isn't something taught in gym. Atop the hill my frontierswomen began building an overhead shelter for protection against the downpour. Nature has provided an abundance of things to eat, if only we knew where to look for them. These Girl Scouts did. And they proved they could handle themselves in nearly every situation.

I've heard some people say, "But what good does this type of experience do for them in raising a family?" If these youngsters have the self-confidence and reliance to know that they can handle themselves in these conditions and function together in such smooth teamwork, they know that they can go out and face life with an attitude of "I can do it, because I already have."

Perhaps this is a lesson for our schools to learn from all of this. It might just behoove some of them to offer a few optional courses in the outdoors as elective alternatives to track and basketball.

Dear Dr. Esse: I am a single girl of 18 and have stretch marks on my hips and buttocks. Will vitamins help? -- Miss C.

COMMENT: I doubt it. Have you lost weight lately? This is sometimes a cause.

For Miss Y.: It is true that there is a medication (to be taken by mouth) we sometimes prescribe for the treatment of stubborn fungus infections. Ask your doctor about it. As you may have to take it for months before it gets in its corrective action, it makes sense to have your doctor prescribe it and observe its effects.

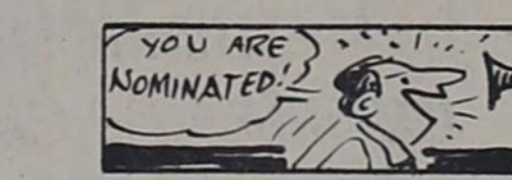

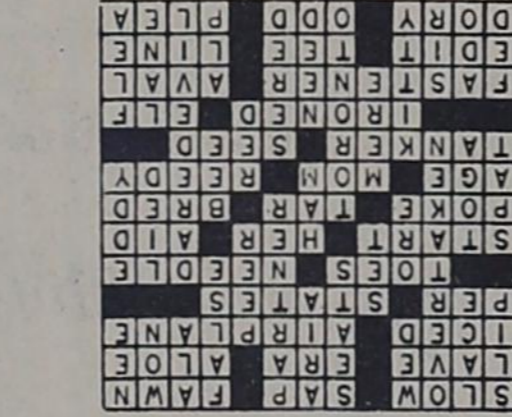

Dear Dr. Esse: Instead of fighting sleeplessness, if the person were to go along with it by saying, "I'm going to stay awake all night," the anticipatory anxiety is cast off. It breaks the vicious cycle and sleep ensues. Essentially, the more one fights, the more intense it becomes. -- Mr. B.

Patient: What do you think of a 500-calorie diet? I want to take off 40 pounds fast.

Her Doctor: What's your hurry? I don't believe in rapid reduction cure.

NEWS OF PETS

Morris wants you to adopt the cat of your choice! This year, Morris, the finicky feline star of TV commercials, is hitting the campaign trail: His platform? To put a cat in the "right house" -- your house!

Every year, thousands of felines must be cared for by animal shelters. But only a small percentage of them are adopted; the rest must be humanely destroyed.

To help find more good homes for these cats and kittens in animal shelters, Morris has proclaimed June, 1976, as national Adopt-A-Cat Month. The program is being sponsored by 9-Lives Cat Food for The American Humane Association, Denver, Colorado, and its 1200 affiliated shelters nationwide.

And Morris, himself a shelter alumnus, is serving as the program's "spokescat."

Every person adopting a feline from a participating shelter this June will receive a special adoption kit, compliments of Morris. The kit includes a cat care booklet, free cat food, letters from Morris, an adoption certificate, a Feline Constitution, and a picture of the Finicky One himself.

So why not cast a vote for the feline of your choice this June. Visit an animal shelter in your community, and help put a cat in the "right house" -- your house.

CRISWELL PREDICTS

UNCENSORED: I predict that Castro of Cuba will again visit the Kremlin and will be given the highest award to date. Castro will be the only living Communist who will have his statue in the Honor Court . . . I predict a strike of gravediggers in New York City which will result in the storage of bodies for months to come awaiting burial. This will result in much bitterness and will advance the cremation service. This edict will hold in spite of any religious objection, and will result in more personal grief than any other strike in the history of our nation . . . I predict that the Shinto Faith of Japan will become very popular with college students. . . I predict that all phony titles will be revoked by the Polish government in exile, joining with France, Spain, England and Italy. These titles sold for about $100 and were used in our social whirl, but these days are now at an end.

PARIS WILL TURN BACK THE FASHION CLOCK to the year 1907 for her next inspiration. The more things change, the more they are the same, and the bride of today will look like the grandmother of yesterday . . . I predict a worldwide funeral service will be broadcast and telecast when one of India's leaders dies . . . I predict that the antique market will boom and replace the present rummage sales with actual antiques that have a bona fide history.

ARIZONA'S FUTURE: I predict that Arizona will utilize state and federal land to set up model communities for the increasing number of retired persons in the United States. Virtually the whole state will be irrigated by 1981. There will be only one problem arising from this and it will be the riots caused by squatters who will move on these lands after they are irrigated and developed, and then will refuse to move off. This will be one of the big stories of 1981! . . . I predict that the Reincarnation Society will establish chapters in each area where their members will band together, not only to enjoy their past lives, but also their present life under a new personality and name. This will extend in the future and the Society will be self-perpetuating.

THE GOSSIP MILL will be working overtime when the present Prince of Wales, King Charles III, elopes with a commoner from Italy. He will become King Charles III before 1978 becomes history. The House of Lords and the House of Commons will jointly deplore this marriage . . . I predict new hauntings in the White House during a state function which will make the front pages.

LAUGH OUT

Bursting open the door marked "Private," the butcher confronted the local lawyer.
"If a dog steals a steak from my shop, is the owner liable?" he asked the man behind the desk.
"Certainly," replied the lawyer.
"Very well, your dog took a piece of steak worth 2 dollars about five minutes ago."
"Indeed," he returned smoothly. "Then if you give me the other half, that will cover my fee."

First United Methodist Church

An unknown author has written the following poem that gives us food for thought: "Look well to this day! For it is life; the very life of life. In its brief course lie all the verities. And realities of your existence. The bliss of growth, the glory of action. The splendor of beauty; For yesterday is only a dream, Tomorrow only a vision; But today, well lived, makes of every yesterday A dream of happiness and of every tomorrow A vision of hope, Look well, therefore, to this day."

Perhaps the prayer of Phillips Brooks ought to be our own: "O God, give me strength to live another day. Let me not turn coward before its difficulties or prove recreant to its duties. Let me not lose faith in my fellowman. Keep me sweet and sound of heart, in spite of ingratitude, treachery, or meanness. Preserve me from minding little stings or giving them. Help me to keep my heart clean and to live honestly. Inspire me with the spirit of joy and gladness, and make me a cup of strength to suffering souls. Amen."

We extend our Christian sympathy to the family of Mrs. Maggie Jane Pittman Groce who passed away last Tuesday.

Plans for this year's Harvest Festival are well under way. Our Country Store will be open for the public in the old Western Auto Store building on November 12 and 13th. Many items worthy of gifts for Christmas will be on display.

Tickets for the Harvest Festival Dinner are on sale beginning this week. A fine Bar-B-Que plate is being prepared at a price of just $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12. Make sure you get your tickets so that the cooks may plan on having enough prepared for all who want to eat with us in the Fellowship Hall of Our Church on November 13. The ladies will begin serving at 11 for those who want to eat early and continue to serve until 2:00 p.m.

Our Church is enjoying a Bible study each Sunday evening the worship hour. We invite you to unite with us in the study of the Gospel of Matthew. With the time change this weekend, Our evening services will begin at 5:00 p.m.

We pray you shall have a good week and if you feel we can help you in any way give us a call.

Universal Full Gospel Assembly

Taking up the Cross and following Jesus may lead us through heartaches and trials, thru persecution and for some, might lead to physical crucifixion like many have experienced in Russia and Communist China and other dark lands, but it always leads us to "Crucifixion of Self". The Apostle Paul said, "I am crucified with Christ." The tendency today is to drop the Cross when it becomes heavy, and bruises and stings the flesh. Many have decided that the price is too high, and just before the final commitment of everything to God, have left the place of Crucifixion and gone back down into the Valley of Sin.

The way of the Cross is not easy, but it is the only sure way to Eternal Life.

In this last day the Cross still stands as the sign of Victory and Hope. It is rugged and splintered, but by this sign we can conquer Sin, death, hell and the grave.

Today the Lord must be lifted up as the hope of the world, and the only way is to take up our Cross and follow Him.

In Isaiah's Vision, the Angel touched his lips with a coal of fire. After this glorious experience he heard the Lord say: "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" Then Isaiah said "Here am I, send me."

Today as the Harvest field grows whiter, the Lord is looking for Men, Women, boys and girls who will dare to seek God's will for their lives. Those with the Spirit, vision, and courage of Isaiah, who will volunteer for Service and say "Here I am, send me", will be those who have laid their all upon the altar, and prayed for God to take their lives and their possessions and use them for His glory, wherever and however he see's fit. It may be overseas or over to your next door neighbor. It could lead to a Martyr's death, or to be a prayer warrior in your own home, but whatever it must be the Lord's decision for our lives. "Let us take up our cross and follow Him."

We invite those who wish to do so, to come and worship God with us. "May Our Lord bless each one." Vernon McGinn, Pastor

Church of Christ

From the eloquent pen of Joe Barnett comes the following, which I would like to share with you. It is entitled: When It's Dark.

"If often think of Jot Gowen. He's been gone five years—and I didn't really know him well. But he made an unforgettable impression.

Jot was dying with cancer when I first became acquainted with him. But he possessed an enviable peace. One day, I said, "Jot, I'm sorry you're having to suffer like this." And he said "Joe, this has been the greatest experience of my life."

That puzzled me. "How can you say that?" I asked. And Jot said, "My illness has caused me to see things in proper perspective." He went on to explain that his illness may have saved his soul. He had always been a decent, lovable guy. But he said that he hadn't always really put "first things first." He said, "Joe, life is short at best. Eternity is long. I know I'm right with God now—this illness has helped me make sure of that. What's a few years shaved off of earthly life compared with eternity in heaven?" Beautiful!

Many can testify that the Lord has dispensed his sweetest blessings in hours of greatest darkness. David discovered deeper fellowship with God in the darkness of tribulation. He said, "Thou hast visited me in the night" (Psalm 17:3).

Are you experiencing a period of darkness—problems big and foreboding? It's a proper time to get your life right with God. Like any loving parent he will hear your cries in the dark. He may not erase your problems—but the night is never as dark when you Father is there.

As G. Campbell Morgan said, "However dark the 'now' may be, there will be light enough in God's 'after' to explain it all." (End Quote)

God has made abundantly clear both the reality and the channels of his providential workings in the Bible. To know more about this, join us in Bible study: on Sunday at 9:30 a.m., on Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., and the Assemblies on Sunday at 10:30 and 6 p.m.

This Wednesday evening (October 27), we are to have the privilege of hearing John Stevens, President of Abilene Christian University, speak to us. He will be preaching at 7:30 p.m., followed by a short movie and informational session about the school. All are invited, including especially young people of High School age and parents of such.

Most of our sick show considerable improvement. Alice Harris is still not able to be up and around much, but is some better. Buck Maples is experiencing some additional pain lately. Vina White is home again after a visit and check-up.

A number of our ladies planned to go to Ranger Wednesday for a special program with the ladies of the church there.

May your week be a good, under God's direction. Call us if we can serve you in any way.

GORDON SPOT

by DeMarquis Gordon

Peanut harvest is picking up momentum in Eastland County, but harvest is several weeks behind last year's schedule reports County Agent DeMarquis Gordon. He said the late harvest was caused by several factors. First, the crop was planted late because of cool temperatures in the spring. Next, hot, dry, weather in August caused a stress on the peanut crop. When rains came in late August and early September, the dry land crop started putting on peanuts, but cool temperatures the last thirty days have delayed maturity. Maturity slows down as the temperature drops. Another reason for the later harvest season is that a larger percentage of the crop is Florunner peanuts which takes about three weeks longer to mature than Spanish peanuts.

The Agent estimates that about 25 percent of the peanut crop has been harvested. It's too early to estimate the size of this year's crop. Yields as well as grades have been variegated. However, it appears that yields will be down from the 1283 pounds per acre average in 1975. There will be about 35,000 acres of peanuts harvested in Eastland County this year.

Even with the expected lower yields the Eastland County peanut crop should sell for $8-MILLION TO $9 MILLION.

The price of the peanuts is determined partially by the grade. Franklin Cox, Manager of the Pioneer Farmers Co-op, said that grades are running between 58 and 80. Most of the higher grades are on Florunner peanuts. This is expected since they have larger kernels. The grades are generally lower than grades this time last year.

Many growers are finding a considerable amount of southern blight and pod rot damage in their peanuts. This is causing some of them to consider digging earlier than they normally would. However, weather is getting much cooler and soil temperatures are dropping rather rapidly. Gordon said with a drop in soil temperatures, a corresponding drop in the activity of many soil borne diseases is expected.

The County Agent said there are thousands of acres of peanuts in the county that lack from several days to a few weeks being mature enough to harvest. Those who wait for more maturity will be well rewarded. The peanuts will weigh more and grade higher with additional maturity. More weight and better grades mean more money.

The last few weeks in the life of a peanut are very important. They gain in size and weight very rapidly in the 3 to 4 weeks before harvest.

Gordon reminds growers if they do not have a bad disease problem and need to dig, let the peanuts mature all they can.

It takes a lot of knowledge and insight to get along in life. Most of the time we have to learn from experience and that is the hard way. Sometimes we can listen to what others have to say.

I have found it very helpful for me to take time to read from Proverbs in God's word. From this book I have wisdom to act and relate to people which really works. I have a good solid truth to hold on to each day.

"The farm of man bringeth a snare; but whose putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will direct your paths."

"There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. "Be not wise in your own eyes; revere the Lord and depart from evil; it will be healing to your body and nourishment to your bones."

"But the path of the just is like the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day. The way of the wicked is like darkness; they know not at what they stumble. Above all that you guard, watch over your heart; for out of it are the sources of life. Put away from you a crooked mouth, and put far from you perverse lips; let your eyes look forward and your gaze straight ahead of you. Consider well the path for your feet and all your ways will be sure. Turn not to the right or to the left; keep your foot from evil."

God has given us all the instruction we need to always be at our best. Will we head? Will we obey?

The above thoughts are selections from the Book of Proverbs.

Can we afford four more years without effective leadership?

There is a critical decision to be made on November 2nd. It goes far beyond the question of which Presidential candidate can govern with integrity and honesty. We must determine which candidate has the ability and strength to lead our country out of economic chaos, and the vision to see that all Americans—not just the powerful and influential—have a better future.

During the past two years, the middle class has paid far too dear a price for a President lacking that ability.

Since Gerald Ford took office, the unemployment rate has risen 50%, from 5.5% or 5 million people, to 7.9% or 7-1/2 million jobless Americans. Today's inflation rate of 6% is higher than it was at any time between the Korean War and the inauguration of Richard Nixon.

The 1968 food dollar is now worth 57¢.

Mr. Ford's budget will account for the largest single deficit and more than 1/3 of the public debt incurred during our entire 200-year history.

Real GNP has actually declined during each of Gerald Ford's two years in office.

And who is most affected by these distressing statistics? Not the Washington establishment, or the economic elite courted by the Republicans. The burden falls on the person who can least afford it: the average American.

Jimmy Carter means to change all that. As President, he will make government responsive to your needs.

Tax Reform: "The average family in this country actually pays a higher proportion of their income in taxes than the average family that makes more than a million dollars a year. That's disgraceful. We need to move toward a truly progressive and simplified tax system, with reduced tax rates for the average American."

Economy: "We'll never have a balanced budget nor an end to the inflationary problems as long as we have 7-1/2 million people out of work. Employment needs to be the major thrust of the whole domestic policy of our government."

Efficiency in Government: "We now have in the federal government the most bloated, confused, wasteful bureaucracy ever created. There's no way to get an answer out of Washington and no way to understand what's going on there. We need to reorganize completely the executive branch of government, making it fair, efficient, effective, and responsive to our people's needs."

Housing: "No government that cared about our neighborhoods would stack the tax deck against them. A landlord can let a building run down and make a good living on tax breaks. But when a home owner spends a little hard-earned money fixing up his home, the assessor raises his taxes. And the FHA no longer cares about families getting started in their own homes. I intend to restore the FHA to the time when, for a down payment, a family could get a mortgage which the government would insure."

Health Care: "We need a nationwide health care delivery system which will make adequate health care a right for all people."

Jimmy Carter has the strength to take charge of our government. If you are tired of paying the high price of Republican ineffectiveness, you have only one choice on November 2nd, and that choice is for change.
