TV viewers are constantly reminded "that it's not nice to fool Mother Nature", but I guess it's O.K. for Mother Nature to fool us, and that is just what she did. We thought it was spring time, the calendar said it was - the fruit trees, the lilac, the wisteria, the blue bonnets, even the mesquite were in complete accord - then the mercury dropped, the wind blew, the sleet fell, and ice covered the earth (almost). But we have survived late freezes before and in all probability we'll survive this one. At least we have gotten some much needed moisture and we have learned something too (at least this writer has), that the trusty (?) mesquite is not a true harbinger of spring

Years ago a Kentucky grandmother gave a new bride the following "receipt" for washing clothes. It appears below just as it was written, and despite the spelling has a bit of philosophy.

1. Bilt fire in backyard to heat kettle of rain water.
 2. Set tubs so smoke won't blow in eyes if wind is pert.
 3. Shave one hold cake lie soap in bilin water.
 4. Sort things, make three piles. 1 pile white, 1 pile colored, 1 pile work britches and rags.
 5. Stir flour in cold water to smooth, then thin down with bilin water.
 6. Rub dirty spots on board, scrub hard, then bile. Rub colored don't bile, just rinch in starch.
 7. Take white things out of kettle with broomstick handle then rinch, and starch.
 8. Hang old rags on fence.
 9. Spread tee towels on grass.
 10. Pore rinch water in flower bed.
 11. Scrub porch with hot soapy water.
 12. Turn tubs upside down.
 13. Go put on house dress, smooth hair with side combs. Brew cup of tee, sit and rest and rock a spell and count blessings.
- Hang this above your automatic washer, and when things look black, read again. copied

Carl Garrett Issues Statement

Dear Eastland County Voters: Due to the urging of friends in many parts of this County, I decided to run for the office of County Judge again.

I am 59 years of age, married, and reside at 813 West Plummer, Eastland. I am a native of Eastland, attended Eastland Public Schools and Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. For two years I was employed by Texas Electric Service Company, Leon Power Plant. I then secured Government employment in Washington, D.C., where I attended National University graduating in 1940 with a Bachelor of Laws Degree. National University later merged with George Washington University, Washington, D.C., and this university conferred the degree of Juris Doctor to me. While earning my degree by attending law school at night, I worked for General Accounting Office and U.S. Treasury Department. After graduation from law school I was appointed as a Special Agent with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a position I held from 1940 to 1969, working in many states on all USDA programs. I retired after 32 years Government service including Naval service.

Service Record: During World War II I served three years, and 10 months, first as a commanding officer of an Armed Guard Crew on various merchant ships in the Pacific and Alaska. Later I served 18 months as a commanding officer of LSM 40 which participated in 10 D Day landings in the Pacific, and returning as Lt. Sr. Grade USNR. After Government service I was employed on the staff of Ranger Junior College for one year to develop vocational programs. While on this job I helped institute a vocational program known as "Peanut Production" which is the only one of its kind in the nation and also secured numerous scholarships for this program. I had an active part in making surveys of need and requesting vocational funding recently granted to RJC in the amount of $110,000 for a new vocational building.

I am a member of the First Christian Church and serve as a Deacon and Treasurer. I have had the honor of teaching the nondenominational Men's Fellowship Bible Class in Eastland for many years. I am President of the Ex - Students Association, Director of Lions Club, member of the Eastland Masonic Lodge 467, Cross Timbers Shrine Club and Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

I know I am qualified by education as a lawyer and by experience in Government to be your next County Judge.

I STAND FOR: ACTION - LEADERSHIP - PROGRESS

1. Wise use of County funds without tax increases.
2. Fairness to all in enforcement of our laws. Vandalism, theft and general crime must be dealt with by stern measures. Good judgment in individual cases would be used especially in dealing with the young and first offenders.
3. Cooperation and teamwork to secure new industry and housing. We are living in one of the finest counties in Texas. Eastland County has much to offer, good roads, recreation facilities, rail and airport facilities and is located close to major markets. I will work with any town, be your spokesman or assist you in any way to secure industry. We need to work as a team for any industry helps the economy of the entire county. I will make every effort to secure much needed housing where needed.
4. Farmers and Ranchers: Due to long experience of 22 years with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, I know the problems of farmers and ranchers and will render every assistance to you. I will work to maintain high support levels and allotments for peanuts and work for any good farm program for our county.
5. Old and needy: I know many old people and those with large families and low incomes are having a hard time in this period of inflation, over eight percent in 1973. I will seek other forms of relief for the old and needy in this county. I will help you secure every federal or state benefit or pension increase possible. I will write letters for you, counsel with you about your problems or help you find employment. I am interested in your welfare and as a Christian man, I make these commitments to you.
6. New Voters and Young Voters: It is amazing that so many of Eastland County's young people, the "Now Generation", are registering, and showing a real desire to see dynamic changes, action and progress. More power to you for you are Eastland County's future. Stay interested in good government and vote. I am interested in you and your future and want you to stay in Eastland County and help fight with me to make it a better place to live.

I am seeking this high position on my qualifications and the desire to serve the people of Eastland County as a full time public servant. I am working hard and am running a clean campaign and believe I

RECP Ready

The 1974 Rural Environmental Conservation Program is now ready for operation in Eastland County according to David Martin, county executive director for the United States Department of Agriculture's Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Martin said the new program will replace the old Agriculture Conservation Program - Rural Environmental Assistance Program formerly in use. The new program will share the cost of carrying out approved conservation practices to a minimum of 50 percent of the total cost.

Martin said the amount of funds available for cost sharing is limited and is about 20 percent of the amount available last year.

Funds will not be dispersed on a first come, first served basis - but due to the limited amount available, Martin said that some requests will not be approved.

April 1 is the final date to transfer peanuts by lease or by sale. The same date applies to the transfer of cotton by lease or sale. It is also part of the cut - off date to release cotton and peanut acreage, and to request reapportioned acreage of peanuts and cotton from the County Committee.

Martin reminded wheat producers that the 1974 wheat program provides for payment to producers who suffer losses from natural disaster, and that payment is limited to allotted acreage. The crop must be appraised before it is disposed of by plowing or grazing out.

In order to qualify for disaster payments, producers must sign up in the program, then report the disaster by completing ASCS Form 574 in the local ASCS office.

Child Care Film To Be Telecast

A documentary film that tells the story of the Texas Baptist child care ministry will be telecast on April 3 at 6:30 p.m. on KRBC, Abilene.

Entitled "Where There Is Love", the film depicts how Texas Baptists care for children who have been separated from their parents because of neglect, abuse and abandonment. The separation may last for a period of months or years.

The film shows the problems that are unique to children and youths in the homes centering on personal inner problems, family relationships, separation, dating and many other personal relationships.

The film also shows the advantage of being in a child care home where others are around who are coping with the same type of problems.

Efforts of Homes Efforts of the children's homes to meet the spiritual needs of the children are shown.

The setting of the film is Texas Baptist Children's Home in Round Rock. There are scenes from Buckner's Children home in Dallas, the South Texas Children's Home in Beeville and the Mexican Baptist Children's Home in San Antonio.

The conclusion of the film features a woman who grew up in the children's home at Round Rock, is now married and has a child of her own. She tells her experiences while growing up and her hopes for her child.

The 30 minute film is being broadcast on Wednesday night to allow churches to view it during their services and become aware of the needs of the four Texas Baptist child - care homes.

Follow The Constitution To Preserve It!

Many years ago Judge J.E. Hickman of Eastland, later to become a distinguished Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, said in a speech at Cisco that the Constitution of the United States was intended to insure a "sober second thought" in the conduct of our government.

This statement comes to mind with peculiar force in the circumstances in which the presidency of the United States is now buffeted. I say "presidency" because the office itself stands to enduring damage by what happens in the disposition of its occupant. Mr. Justice Hickman's cautionary remark identifies an inherent principle - a principle of restraint - which has much to do with the stability of our form of government erected upon a constitutional foundation.

It is a principle which needs to be kept foremost in consideration of demands that Richard Nixon resign in what Senator Buckley of New York so curiously suggests would be a "courageous and statesmanly" gesture of surrender to the storm of Watergate.

I respectfully decline to agree with his thesis. There is much more at stake here than the guilt or innocence of Richard Nixon. The disposition of the precise issue is essentially related to the question of whether or not we will continue to have the kind of government which his accusers assert can be saved only by his removal. In professing to "save" the system they may be advocating its ineffectiveness.

Our Constitution establishes in process two principles in dealing with wrong - doing in high public office. First, it provides, as in all criminal action, that an accused is entitled to a fair and impartial trial in the courts of the land and that he be considered innocent until proven guilty.

Second, it sets up as the only legal method of deciding the guilt or innocence of an accused President, and certain other high officials, a system of trial by Congress wherein the House of Representatives prefers charges known as impeachment, and the Senate, sitting as a court, determines the guilt or innocence of the accused. Thus a sound and judicial means of dealing with official misconduct is invoked.

To abort that constitutional process by yielding to frantic political pressures and aggravated public demands would impair the Constitution in one of its most vital features. It would, in effect, be an appeal to mob law. The integrity of our form of government would henceforth be compromised in that a de facto and capricious court of public "trial" would be recognized.

Resignation would be justified within the constitutional frame only if

Richard Nixon should appear before Congress in an overt confession of guilt. Demands for his resignation are nothing more than presumptions of such guilt. But if he holds himself innocent of the charges brought against him - charges which have not been legally preferred or even identified - then I believe that he is as morally and patriotically obligated to pursue the constitutional mandate as his accusers are so obligated.

The authority of the presidential office is vital to our form of government. It will exist long after Nixon. Its integrity would be irreparably damaged by abandoning constitutional restraint and yielding indecisively to popular clamor. That would mean breaching the form without determining a question of guilt or innocence, an expediency doubly sinful. It is against the disastrous consequences of such precipitant action that the Constitution was erected, as Judge Hickman pointed out.

What happens to the ambitions of a few politicians, indeed, what happens to the fortunes of either the Democratic or Republican party is not half so important as the existence of our form of government. The strength of the Constitution is established by the stress it can endure. In such a crisis and challenge as Watergate ought we not insist that those processes fundamentally established be followed scrupulously in matters having to do with charges against high political officials of our country? Only thereby will the integrity of the constitutional system be insured.

To yield to the demands of those who seek an indecisive resignation would tend to set up a situation wherein the vote of the people in all future national elections would be subject to the capricious veto of a self - esteemed "Praetorian Guard" at Washington or New York. As a former newspaperman, I value superlatively the freedom of the press. And I know of nothing that can destroy that freedom sooner than its misuse.

We tend to equate the "press" with certain concentrations of its machinery in heavily urban or governmental areas. But these are only manifestations, necessary to the system and influenced largely by the increasingly corporate character of our society.

Over a century ago Lord John Acton of England made the profound observation that "power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely". I say that concentrations of press power are as subject to Acton's "law" as are concentrations of political or economic power. This is a fact that some significant areas of the "Fourth Estate" might well study lest a mechanism of information, so recently amassed, degenerate into a means of subtle propaganda despite its virtuous protestations.

The strongest insurance against such sinister evolution exists in the body of the real "press", those thousands upon thousands of able and dedicated men and women throughout the land who serve innumerable local and regional newspapers and TV and radio stations in gathering and disseminating news and in the stimulation of opinion. In their diversity of mind exists the greatest assurance that the power of the press shall not become the tool of concealed and secretive interests, and that the freedom to think and write and speak shall continue to be a primary and emancipating right of every American.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible
 Then the eleven disciples left for Galilee, going to the mountain where Jesus had said they would find him. There they met him and worshiped him—but some of them weren't sure it really was Jesus! He told his disciples, "I have been given all authority in heaven and earth. Therefore go and make disciples in all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and then teach these new disciples to obey all the commands I have given you; and be sure of this—that I am with you always, even to the end of the world."

HELPFUL SAFETY TIPS

by Elizabeth Stimley
 Plymouth Safety Writer

EMERGENCY STOPS

If you put your foot on the brake pedal and nothing happens, don't panic, use the parking brake.
 Modern cars have three braking systems - one for the front, one for the rear - and the parking brake. The possibility of all systems failing at the same time is small. You can also slow down by moving the gear shift lever into a lower gear.
 One day, go to a deserted parking lot and practice using the parking brake to stop the car.
 First, put the car in drive and start the car rolling slowly. Pull out on the hand lever, and press down on the parking brake. You'll find that you have to jam down on the parking brake quite hard, but it will stop the car. Do this several times until you get the feel of it.

Practice may save your life.
 Should you lose braking power while in traffic, move over to the slow driving lane, testing the brake pedal as you do so. Then shift into a lower gear to slow down. If you feel that you can't drive the car further, move onto the shoulder of the road with care. Don't slam on the brakes, pump them. Watch out for soft shoulder surface roads. Slow down as much as possible before you leave the pavement, keeping the wheel straight. Turn on the four-way flashers to indicate that you are having trouble.
 Be ready for an emergency braking problem, test the brakes before you leave home and learn to use the parking brake. It's as simple as running a sewing machine.

Peanut Disease Survey In Central Texas

AUSTIN - Weather, insects and ground diseases continue to plague Central Texas peanut producers according to a recent survey, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

Forty-one peanut farmers in Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Brown and Callahan Counties participated in a survey conducted by the Texas Department of Agriculture to determine the amount of acreage affected by diseases and insects in the five-county area.

A total of 7,363 acres was reported, 70 percent of which was infested with diseases. Survey results for 1972 indicated that only 57 percent of the reported acreage had a disease problem that year. Grower awareness is directly related to the reported increase in incidence of disease. Through the combined efforts of the TDA Peanut Research lab in DeLeon, the Texas A&M Extension Service and the Texas A&M Experiment Station, farmers are becoming more aware of the disease problem and are capable of recognizing many of the ground and foliage diseases.

The Peanut Research Lab also reported that ground diseases are on the increase, in spite of what research has done to control them.

More land was treated last year for ground diseases than ever treated before. Forty-two percent of the irrigated and 35 percent of the dry land acreage were treated for ground diseases in the five-county area, White said.

Southern blight and pod rot are the most widespread diseases in the Central Texas area. Seventy-eight percent of the farmers interviewed reported cases of southern blight, and 76 percent reported pod rot. Both increased from one to three percent over 1972 figures.

Sixty-three percent of the surveyed acreage reported insect problems.

The lesser cornstalk borer is the most damaging insect on a peanut crop. The insect is widespread, and 90 percent of the farmers surveyed reported the insect. The cornstalk borer is a problem, especially on dry land.

Spider mites and other foliage feeding insects were also problems in 1973 with 71 percent of the farmers reporting cases of these insects.

The Central Texas area is one of two major peanut producing areas in the state. The other is in South Texas.

Texas is second in the nation in peanut production, with the Central Texas area producing almost 36 percent of the state's 471 million pounds, White reported.

Comanche County leads the state and the area in peanut production. Southwestern Peanut Growers Association estimated that farmers in Comanche County produced 81.1 million pounds of peanuts last year.

Eastland County is second with 51.7 million pounds.

White stated that with research and continued grower awareness of disease problems, the yields in the Central Texas area could be higher.

"Great strides have been made in controlling insects and diseases, however, much remains to be done. Through the cooperation of peanut farmers and various state and university agencies, peanut diseases and insects can be controlled, White said.

FROM OUR CHURCHES

First United Pentecostal Church Rising Star

Church of Christ Rising Star

Spring is on the way. The seasons will always be as long as the earth remaineth. He said there would be seed time and harvest, summer and winter, day and night would not cease.

Mrs. A.J. Martin

First Baptist Church Rising Star

"For me to live is Christ". This is Paul's testimony about his Christian experience. Your life is your testimony. What is most important - your work, your education, your social life?

Preoccupation with the life of this world only bears out the importance of the teaching of Christ. He said to the disciples when speaking of the cost of discipleship, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me."

What does it mean to deny ourselves? It means to disregard, lose sight of and forget ourselves and our own interest. As a sinner we come to Christ in faith for salvation. We soon learn that salvation means not only being saved from hell, the punishment for our sin.

Our Lord says let the one who would be my disciple "deny himself". It means that the Christian must say no. "No, I will not let my business be the most important function of my life."

No, I will not allow my own desires, ambitions and interests become the most important aspect of my life. The Christian life is to know and live in Christ in all His fullness. Someone has written: "The presence of Christ is the joy of my life."

The service of Christ is the business of my life. The Will of Christ is the law of my life. The glory of Christ is the crown of my life.

Whatever a Christian does, work, recreation, home life, church life he does it all well, keeping in mind that Christ is in first place and in control of his life.

Visiting Sunday was Don Turner from Roscoe.

Looking forward to Easter Sunday the pastor continues his messages on the life of Christ in the Sunday morning and Wednesday evening services. Sunday morning: "Christ Fights Back". Wednesday: "Final Preparations".

Sunday evening: John chapter 18, "Betrayed and Condemned". Wednesday, April 3, over KRBC - TV Abilene, the film "Where There Is Love" will be shown from 6:30 to 7:00 p.m. This film will present the Child Care industry of the Texas Baptist Convention. You are invited to watch this film.

North Star Meets With Mrs. Burkhead

The North Star Home Demonstration Club met in the club room in the home of Mrs. Clara Burkhead Wednesday, March 19. Mrs. J.R. Bucy was hostess and used the 8th Psalm for the devotion and voiced the opening prayer. Roll call was on "Friendship".

Mrs. Jess Perry gave a paper on How to Treat the Handicapped. She stressed the main idea to remember is the

In last week's article, we noted that early Christians often used the symbol of the fish to identify themselves, because the Greek word for fish "IXTHUS" summarized powerfully their faith. The letters, in Greek, stood for: Jesus Christ, God's Son, Savior.

Each of these terms had a very special significance for these pioneers of the Christian faith. This is no less true for the believer of the Twentieth Century.

The first word: Jesus, is not just simply a proper name, as is often the case in English. It was more of a descriptive title and literally means "savior". Thus, when the angel told Joseph that Mary was to have a son of the Holy Spirit, the name to be given him was JESUS, "for it is he that shall save his people from their sins" (Matthew 1:21). As stated by Jesus himself, this was his primary role: "to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10). The prophets, and particularly Isaiah, had spoken and written at length concerning this essential feature of the Messiah's work: to be "wounded for our transgressions...bruised for our iniquities", to heal us "with his stripes" and to bear the "iniquity of us all" (Isaiah 53:1-12). In imitation of Eve and Adam, through the transgression of God's law (sin - 1 John 3:4; 5:17), "all we like sheep" had "gone astray" (Isaiah 53:6), and were subject to death (Romans 6:23). Because of his love, God sent his Son "in the form of a servant...in the likeness of men" (Philippians 2:5-11), to die for us "while we were yet sinners" (Romans 5:8), in order that, if we believe and obey him, we "might not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

The salvation Jesus brought not only included deliverance from condemnation for all those who "obey him" (Hebrews 5:8, 9) but also from a number of other things. Jesus' salvation means a victory over the frightening spectre of physical death (1 Corinthians 15.) Jesus' coming meant deliverance from despair, for he brought hope instead (Ephesians 2:12; Romans 8:24-25; Hebrews 6:19; 1 John 3:1-3). Jesus' salvation gave meaning to life itself, in that he came to deliver from ignorance: of God, in his love and purpose for man (John 14:6-10; 17:3-6). The saving work of Jesus includes likewise the blessing of peace: with God (Romans 5:1; Ephesians 2:11-22), with one another (Ephesians 2:11-22; Colossians 3:5-11), and within ourselves (Philippians 4:4-7).

It is no wonder then that the name of Jesus became, and is, so revered and meaningful to so many (Acts 4:12; Philippians 2:9, 10). To us, as for the first disciples, this son of the Holy Spirit and Mary is indeed the SAVIOR.

Next week, God willing, we purpose to look at additional parts of this identifying symbol.

As for our sick, we are grateful for the progress they seem to have made. Vonda White is now home and doing well. Mary Carroll is also home from the hospital and mending, slowly but surely. Mrs. Charlie Tyler is still very weak, but gradually improving. Mrs. Matilda Elliott remains in serious condition, as she goes through periodic bouts with fever and stomach upsets. Mrs. Looney's son is quite ill in Abilene. Mrs. Luther McClung is at home, but is very ill. Clifford Hale is doing better. Buck Maples suffered some last week with stomach pains. Most of the ones with the flu have now recovered and were back with us Sunday. Calvin Woody had a lymphatic gland infection, but is back in school.

handicapped is a person and should be treated as such. The club voted to have their annual "Easter Bake Sale" April 13, at Agnew Grocery. After adjournment refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Burkhead. Eight members were present.

The Man Behind "Funny Car Summer"

Alex Phillips has two loves, computers and drag racing. He is twelve years old.

FUNNY CAR SUMMER, the new, color, full-length motion picture from Ambassador Releasing, was Alex's idea. He suggested to his father, writer, producer, director, Ron Phillips, that a whirlwind tour of the world of drag racing coupled with an in-depth look at one of its participants would make an outstanding film. He was right.

FUNNY CAR SUMMER has stunningly captured all the drama, tension, and excitement of the fastest sport on earth. For this, Alex deserves much credit. He was present throughout production, helping to set up shots and later working on the edit. He brought to this task his experience acting in children's films and in several television commercials.

And when it was over, Alex Phillips returned to Aspen, Colorado, where he attends school, and where, every Monday, he goes to work at a local Aspen company and programs computers.

6 WAYS TO CONSERVE AND SAVE ON WATER HEATERS

Normally the quantity of Hot water used in a household is about 1/4 to 1/3 of the total water usage. Here are some suggestions that can help you get the most out of your water heater.

1. With a little planning, you can arrange to wash only full loads of clothing in your washer and full loads of dishes in your dishwasher. Less than full loads consumes energy and wastes water needlessly.

2. To assure long life and efficiency, the water heater tank should have a small amount of water drained periodically. Once a month should be adequate. The purpose of draining water from the tank is to prevent sediment build-up in the tank bottom.

3. A water heater that's old, or too small for your family needs, can be wasteful because it's working too hard and using too much energy to keep up with your hot water demands.

4. It's amazing how much water a leaky faucet will drip in a month's time and if the leaking faucet is a hot water faucet, it will waste both energy and water needlessly. As an example, a faucet dripping 90 drops per minute, will waste 300 gallons per month.

5. The thermostat controlling the water temperature is pre-set at the factory to deliver hot water at 150°F. This setting has proven most satisfactory from the standpoint of operating cost and household needs.

6. The thermostat can be adjusted to provide warmer or cooler water temperatures. The thermostats are clearly marked for easy adjustment to increase or decrease the water temperature.

IN THE FISH BOWL

Hi!
 I hope you have had a nice week! Track has been going along just fine for the Freshmen. The girls have a track meet this week at Stephenville with the Junior High Girls. The band students went to U.I.L. at Brownwood last week; it was a great experience for us.
 This week in math we are dividing and multiplying directed numbers. We are still working in Homemaking. The dresses are nearly finished. We are going to have a style show for the P.T.A. later on in the year. We just finished studying Arthropods in Biology and had a test over it last week. The new chapter we are starting is about fish. In English we are studying parts of speech; that is about all for this week.

See ya' around,
Pam

Who gave Charles Windmann the machine to remove telephone poles?

Continental Telephone did... with your help.
 Your telephone is a vital part of your daily life you can take for granted because Continental people, like Charles, don't.
 As a lead lineman, Charles operates this versatile "Polecat" to perform a number of heavy tasks. Here, it pulls poles made obsolete when phone lines were buried. The new underground cables cut maintenance costs, insure better, more dependable service and contribute to a more attractive environment.
 Continental Telephone is reinvesting your revenues into machinery and equipment to bury lines and eliminate poles wherever possible. It is a long-term project, requiring tens of millions of dollars—another part of the CTS goal of providing you the best possible service at the lowest rates consistent with a fair return to investors and being fair with our employees.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY
 "Grant that I may not criticize my neighbor until I have walked a mile in his moccasins."

WE CAN MAKE IT HAPPEN

Hello, again.
 Last week the school had State Accreditation Committee; everyone was a bit nervous!

Six weeks' tests will be soon but for the last time this year. Next six weeks we will have exams toward the year - less than two months until graduation.

The Seniors are in the process of planning the Little Mr. and Miss Rising Star Pageant. We are trying to get sponsors for all the pre-schoolers. If any individual would like to sponsor a couple for $5.00, just let any Senior girl know or call The Rising Star.

Both the track teams are running hard at all the meets, and we are very proud of them. The boys' golf team had a meet this past Monday. All our boys did a superb job.

That's all for this week,
Lorri

READY FOR EVERYTHING

The cleanup held at Dr. Carpenter's farm really brought in the money for the Junior - Senior banquet. Keep it up, Juniors.
 History class was a nice clam affair last week with one clam sleeper. Mr. N. should be proud of that.

K.J. did W.K. tell you how to fly that plane or were you just going by Radar? I think Mrs. C. wonders about it that too.

G.S. was the low pointer of the week with a score of ten; J.B. came in with an eleven, and you are wrong if you think I am referring to a sport of some sort. I am referring to Bookkeeping! Watch those grades.

The marvelous math class of Mr. H. is still alive. They have survived this long so I am sure they will last through the rest of the year. (Maybe So!)

Remember us broke juniors, and also any donations are appreciated.

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

Almost six weeks again! We have all been taking it easy this week. Thanks to all you wonderful people, we collected a very large sum for the Muscular Dystrophy Chapter last week. We received a certificate from the Chapter thanking everyone for a job well done. Classes are not very busy at this time. We must be getting lazy since the spring weather has begun. Freshmen girls are adding the finishing touches to their garments. Sophomore girls are almost finished. Consumer Ed. class has been discussing many different topics. We have begun plans on our Mother - Daughter Banquet.

That is all the news for this week.
Kathy

DO RE' MI

Hi!
 Texas weather can really change can't it - - a beautiful warm sunny ninety degrees to a frozen drizzle - - can you believe it?

Well people, contest is over for this year - - thank goodness! Last Friday we went to Brownwood to U.I.L. and did great! Thanks to all you people who came to hear us that early in the morning! I'll have our ratings next week!

We are now planning our spring concert, which will be sometime in May. Each morning we try out pieces of music we think we might like to play - our folders are really getting crowded.

As a reminder to all of you who missed the last band booster meeting, there will be another one in a couple of weeks and it is really important that you attend so please come! Have a nice week,
Nancy

P.S. - K.M. we really enjoyed your appearance at rehearsal last week - the 1st clarinets really appreciated you.

WITH THE FARMHANDS

Well it looks like everyone made it through the Stock Show with flying colors especially Dottie Chambers and Tanner Schlittler. Dottie won Grand Champion Steer and Tanner won Reserve Grand Champion. All of the boys who showed hogs came home with prime ribbons, and we are proud of them all.
 Ag. II and III are learning how to judge livestock and what to look for in beef and pork carcasses. We are learning the desirable characteristics in meat.

Ag. I is studying a unit on livestock handling and how to pen and hold them while vaccinating or branding.

Mr. West is doing a fine job now that he is used to us.
 All for now, be a good farmer; see ya' next week.
Dwane

WILDCAT COUNTRY

The Wildcats are trying to pick up the pace now as they draw closer and closer to the District meet. They did their best at DeLeon last week and that is all that can be asked of them.

There is going to be something new this year for the Wildcats - like a tennis team. Can you imagine the Wildcats playing tennis? If not, try coming to the District Meet.

The off - season program is still moving along smoothly. The improvements are beginning to show in some but in others not so good. It was so cold last week that we did not play much football, and even track boys were wanting it to grow warm. See all you fans at the next track meet.
Johnny

TODAY NOT TOMORROW

Hi, everybody. How was your week? All the sophs have discovered that there are only seven more weeks of school. That means only thirty - five days of homework, book reports, experiments, tests, reviews, and other school-associated activities.

It is nearly six weeks' test time again; everybody is studying hard, but some are wanting to play hooky and skip a day here and there.

Did everyone get some of the delicious candy sold by the Sophs? We appreciated your buying from us. It seems that a few bought more for themselves to eat than to sell.

Our classes have been going at a very fast pace that is hard to keep. It seems all the teachers want to finish with the

National FHA Week, March 31-April 6

The Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America will observe NATIONAL FHA - HERO FHA WEEK, March 31 through April 6. Using the theme IMPACT '74 the 68,000 Texas members will join some half - a - million young men and women across the country in demonstrating projects that are challenging, stimulating, and of real value to youth in preparation for future responsibilities.

"We have a new approach to program planning, Annette Reznik, State President, of Friona, pointed out. Working with our PROGRAM ACTION IMPACT kit is exciting. IMPACT was developed by youth and introduced to chapters this year by state and area officers. We analyze member concerns and then develop what we call 'in depth' projects that are related to our home economics classroom study. Most people have no idea of what is taught in home economics classes today. They think of home economics as cooking and sewing and of Future Homemakers of America as just another 'fun and games' club.

During NATIONAL FHA - HERO WEEK we want to impress on people that Future Homemakers of America, as a part of home economics education, provides opportunities for us to learn, to know, to care and to do the things that help prepare us for future living."

Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945, as an incorporated, non profit organization supported by membership dues. There are two types of chapters. FHA chapters place major emphasis on consumer education, homemaking and family life education combined with exploration of jobs and careers. HERO chapters, taking the name from home economics related occupations, place major emphasis on preparation for jobs and careers with recognition that workers also fill multiple roles as homemakers and community leaders.

Nationwide in membership and effort, Future Homemakers of America is co - sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. National Headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

High school home economics teachers, members of the state home economics education staff and leading home economists serve as advisors to chapter, state and national youth officers, giving guidance and counseling to the program.

The annual state meeting of the Texas Association will be April 25 - 26 in the Convention Center, Dallas. More than 5,000 members and advisors are expected to attend.

The theme of the meeting is "Today's Concern - Tomorrow's IMPACT". Programs are planned to provide delegates further information and ideas about implementation of the new IMPACT program of work, which was first introduced last July at the National Meeting of Future Homemakers of America in Dallas.

Keynote speaker for the meeting will be Roger Staubach, Dallas Cowboy quarterback and popular youth speaker. Other highlights include an address by Vonda Van Dyke, former Miss America and popular entertainer, presentation of Honorary Membership to non - members who have contributed their time and effort to the organization and a breakfast honoring members who are to ATTEND STATE - WIDE CONFERENCE - - Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Guthery of Desdemona represented the Eastland County Farm Bureau at a state - wide Leadership Conference March 23 - 25 in Waco. At right is David Hoelscher of Alice, chairman of the Texas Farm Bureau Young Farmers and Ranchers Advisory Committee. Purpose of the Conference, which was sponsored by the TFB, was to give young farm and ranch couples an opportunity to understand how they can work to solve agricultural problems in Farm Bureau.
