Old timers in this country recall the drought of 1886-87—correct me if I am wrong about the years—as the most severe within memory. For a period of 18 months, I am told, little rain fell, and about the only agricultural resource which the people had was the crop of native pecans in the creek beds where there was sufficient deep moisture to mature the nuts.

But Clifford Watkins points out that there were two or three years of the past ten when less rainfall was recorded than was reported for those drought years of the last century.

People probably suffered more during the earlier drought, however, because the water resources of that time were not conserved as they are today. There were few tanks, wells were hand dug and shallow, and for the most, farmers and stockmen depended upon the creeks which soon ran dry from lack of rainfall.

We can be thankful to modern conservation methods, advanced farming techniques, deep wells and good tanks nowadays for the ability of the country to withstand long periods of dry weather with out too much suffering.

If it had not been for these resources in conservation, you could pretty well bet that the country would not have come through the rainless fifties with its present population and sound condition.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Starr of the Dan Horn community north of Rising Star celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary recently on the farm to which they moved in December, 1903, shortly after their wedding in the state of Nebraska.

Eight sons and one daughter, born to the Starrs and reared on the farm—known as Highland Springs Farm—were with their parents to help them celebrate the event.

Mr. Starr, whose early history includes experience as a calendar salesman—a work which, if I recall aright my conversations with him, led him to this country—has been one of the pioneer agriculturists of this section.

I mean in the sense that he has pioneered new fields in agricultural enterprise and cooperative effort. He was one of the organizers of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Ass'n, of the REA and other farm organizations. The fact that a new variety of the Spanish peanut, developed at the Stephenville Experiment station bears his name testifies to the influence he has exerted in his field and the esteem in which he is held.

Besides being one of the largest peanut producers in this area, Mr. Starr has pioneered in many other fields of agricultural endeavor. At one time he was one of the largest growers of sweet potatoes in this section, his Highland Beauty variety commanding top prices. The nematode pest, however, proved too much for this crop, and he was forced to discontinue it.

Mr. Starr is wellknown and respected in Rising Star. He was one of the organizers of the Rising Star Hospital and one of the Hospital Ass'n directors.

Now at past 80 years of age and still keenly interested in the welfare of this area, Mr. Starr can look back upon a life of great influence and accomplishments and he certainly has the respect and best wishes of the people of his community whom he served so well and unselfishly.

Mrs. Earl Marsh has been released from the Eastland Memorial Hospital, and is now at her home here.

Trades Day Plans Are Emphasized

With only three weeks remaining before the next Trades Day in Rising Star, committees in charge of prizes, street sales and other features of the event were urged to get busy with preparations for the program at once.

Prizes will be awarded in drawings to be held during the afternoon, and the solicitation of these gifts from local merchants will be made as soon as possible in order that they may be published in the Record next week.

Merchants who have taken advantage of the street sales feature of the program have had good success, it was pointed out at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Elite Cafe Tuesday noon.

The Trades Day will be held on Saturday, September 6, and will feature a Back to School theme.

Great Plains Range Conservation Program Popular In Rising Star Area

The Great Plains Conservation Program in the Rising Star area. Nineteen farmers and ranchers are now applying their plans of operation under this program, and it is anticipated that fifty farmers and ranchers will have Great Plains conservation plans of operation in effect by January 1, 1964.

Upon the request of the Upper Leon and Brown-Hills Soil Conservation Districts, the Great Plains program was activated in Brown and Eastland Counties about January 1, 1963. The program has now been activated in 93 of the 96 counties in the designated Great Plains portion of Texas. Brown and Eastland counties are eastern boundary counties.

The objective of the program is to assist farmers and ranchers in developing and carrying out on a voluntary basis, a plan of operation that will bring about greater stability through cropping and grazing systems and land use changes and the application of enduring soil and water conservation practices. Farmers and ranchers are assured of cost-share assistance based on a satisfactory plan of operation for their entire unit, including a time schedule for establishing cropping systems, making land use changes and for applying and establishing conservation practices.

To participate in the program a farmer or rancher must submit a plan of operation incorporating needed cropping systems, land use changes and soil and water conservation practices in proper combinations, to the Secretary of Agriculture. The plan shall have a schedule for carrying out these measures within a period of not less than three years, nor more than ten years.

Revival Begins At First Baptist Church Sunday

A series of revival services is scheduled to begin at the First Baptist Church, Rising Star, Sunday, August 18. The revival meeting will continue through August 25. Evangelist for the revival is to be Rev. Cecil Pearson of San Diego, California. Rev. Pearson was pastor of several Texas churches—including First Baptist Church, Monohans—before going to California. He is presently pastor of the First Southern Baptist Church of San Diego.

Leading the music will be Jim Kirkman, music minister of the First Baptist Church in Cisco. Miss Pauline Roberts of Rising Star will play the piano.

Services are to be held at 7:10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily, except Saturday, when there will be no morning service. Sunday services will proceed on their usual schedule. The early morning services will last until 7:45 and will be followed by the serving of coffee and doughnuts.

At 7:30 each evening—prior to the worship service—group players meetings, choir practice, and "booster band" will be conducted.

August 25 has been set as "High Attendance Sunday", when the church will try to break all previous Sunday School attendance records. That date not only closes the revival meeting, but will also be the pastor's last Sunday with the church.

First Baptist's new nursery facilities will be open at each service of the revival.

H. K. Neely, pastor of the church, has indicated that the public is cordially invited to attend this meeting. He feels that it is to be one of the best revivals in the church's history.

Tax Refund Claim Due Before Sept. 30, Farmers Told

College Station, August—Farmers and ranchmen are reminded that claims for the Federal Gas Tax refund must be submitted before Sept. 30, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This refund is on four cents per gallon excise tax on gasoline and diesel fuel used by operators on their farms during the period July 1, 1962 to June 30, 1963, says Bates. He explains that this refund has no connection with the claim for refunds sent to the State Comptroller's office. The gasoline used on an operator's farm by custom contractors is also eligible for the refund, points out Bates, but fuel used in highway travel is not.

The special postcard form 2249 is the proper one to use to submit fuel claims, says Bates, and they have been mailed to operators who reported in 1962. New farmers and those who have not received the form 2249, may obtain them from the office of the county extension agent or the area offices of Internal Revenue Service, he says.

Bates reminds that claims are subject to audit, just as other reports submitted to the Internal Revenue Service, and records should be kept to support refund claims. The specialist emphasizes that the deadline for reporting claims is Sept. 30.

The Prepared Need No Civil Rights Coercion

We are told that the core of the civil rights issue as it affects the Negro, is the problem of jobs. It is our opinion that the average Negro cares less for social intergration—for equal rights to service in restaurants and other public places of business, for the right to send his children to schools on equal footing with the children of the whites—than is represented. He is more concerned for a job that will enable him to live in comfort and dignity and rear his children in communities of his own choosing.

The unemployed Negro makes up the biggest portion of the idle work force of the nation. But it not primarily because he is black. The real reason is that the average unemployed Negro worker is not prepared to do the kind of work for which there is a demand. In that respect he is in the same boat with his white brother, who has neglected to prepare himself for the skilled and specialized services that modern technology requires.

The classified pages of the big dailies are crowded with inducements to skilled workers. They are in short supply. On the other hand there is a surplus of the pick and shovel variety. There just isn't any firm demand for that kind of laborer, and as automation progresses the demand will grow less and less.

The young worker, white or colored, who neglects to acquire training and skills demanded in this world of specialization is asking for a life of frustration and joblessness, a dependence upon public charity and a smoldering resentment against legitimate prosperity which tends to be translated into unhealthy political panaceas.

People, white, black or yellow, who equip themselves for essential work will have employment. Those Negroes who are seeking a quick solution to the problem of civil rights and "equal" employment opportunities through street demonstrations and political fiat would do well to ponder this fact.

Boring From Within

The United States stands before the world as the great national example of a private enterprise, capitalistic society which is the very antithesis of the communist-socialistic philosophy.

We are spending 50 billion taxdollars per year to protect ourselves from the threat of communism from abroad. But at home we are promoting socialism, which is the forerunner of communism, by various political devices.

We have public officials and private citizens dedicated to expanding tax-exempt government ownership of industrial and business activity.

One of the most obvious places this trend is being pushed is in the field of electric power production and transmission—the last place on earth where the taxpayers' money need be spent to serve the people, for private enterprise is doing and can do the job.

Already the drive from within our own country to socialize the power industry under government ownership has succeeded in capturing 20 per cent of the nation's power production.

At a time when our tax spending is billions more than our tax income, and our national debt is greater than those of all the other nations combined, and when our tax-paying electric power industry surpasses that of any other nation, we see Congress being asked for billions for tax-exempt federal power plants and duplicate power lines which would be built by tax-paying enterprise if it were given the chance.

Instead of undermining private enterprise in the United States, it should be encouraged and strengthened. It is time we realize that tax-exempt government competition in commercial business is socialism any way you care to spell it.

It's the Law in Texas

TRIBAL LAW

American Indians are the only 100 per cent native Americans. Indian matters come under Federal law and the terms of some 3,900 Indian treaties which are also the law of the land.

Thus long ago Rev. Samuel Worcester, preaching to the Cherokees, refused to take out a license, and to swear allegiance to the State of Georgia. When Georgia jailed him for not taking a loyalty oath, the U. S. Supreme Court freed him: The Court would allow no state to interfere in United States Indian affairs which our treaties governed.

In 1834 Congress set up the Bureau of Indian Affairs to make and carry out rules made under the treaties.

Until the Civil War, the Federal government regarded Indians as wards and dependent nations—foreign nations, yet under U. S. control. In 1871, however, Congress declared that Indian nations were no longer independent. Indians still ran their own affairs for the most part, as illustrated in a case titled "In Re Crow Dog."

In 1883 Crow Dog killed another Sioux for stealing a

"It Certainly Is Beautiful---"
 But Let's Keep It That Way!

As It Looks From Here

WASHINGTON, D. C.—THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE has just approved a measure authorizing a little more than $4 billion in foreign aid. In some form or other, it covers just about the four corners of the earth.

AS HAS BEEN THE CASE THROUGHOUT THE HISTORY of foreign aid, it is based primarily on ideology. Actually, we are the only people anywhere in the world who are so deeply concerned with Communism. The vast majority of nations, including those of the free world, do not share our preoccupation with Communism, but rather devote their attention first to the cold economics of national life.

THERE HAS BEEN A CLICHE for the last 15 years or so which refers to the "struggle for the hearts and minds of men," as a main selling point for foreign aid. Minds and hearts are important, but the stomach comes before either.

IN THE CASE OF THE SPLIT BETWEEN Russia and China, we are interpreting it to mean disagreement in ideology. It is doubtful that it has much, if anything, to do with it. By the same token Khrushchev's new attitudes of sweet reason towards the West should not be interpreted as any change of feeling, rather as a matter of political and economic reality.

IN THE FIRST PLACE Khrushchev must have come to the conclusion that the Chinese Reds are not only willing to risk war, but want to promote it.

THE ONLY WINNER IN SUCH A WAR, in which the industry of both America and Russia would be destroyed, would be Communist China. Her inferiority in industry would be relatively eliminated with nothing to stop her from expanding into Soviet territory and into Southeast Asia.

KHRUSHCHEV HAS NOW DECIDED TO ACCEPT the proposal made by the United friend's wife. Crow Dog made amends under tribal law, and the tribe closed the case. Soon afterwards federal officers sought to try him for murder, but the Supreme Court said no: Such cases did come under tribal law and this one had been settled.

Shortly afterwards Congress gave Federal courts jurisdiction over most criminal cases on Indian territories. Accordingly, just the other day, the U. S. Supreme Court invalidated the conviction of a California Indian for murder. He must face a trial in a Federal court instead.

Indian tribal courts still try some criminal cases; and within the tribes, tribal law still holds. For example, they can tax and license traders on reservations.

States and Great Britain some months ago in Geneva. He is not doing so out of any change of heart, but rather out of economic necessity.

FOLLOWING THE SIGNING OF A NUCLEAR TEST BAN TREATY, we can watch for overtures from Russia to ourselves and Western Europe for increased trade. Since the warm wind from Moscow will touch Western Europe first, those who care less about ideology than they do embracing their own economic benefits are likely to increase trade, even in strategic material. They are already doing a far greater business with the Soviets than our own Country, but the lessening of tensions will undoubtedly cause an increase in the present level. As the thaw progresses, look for requests from Russia for loans and grants.

THE VERY NATURE OF THE SITUATION strongly suggests the likelihood that Khrushchev hopes to get what he wants on the economic front by making a big show in agreeing to the Test Ban Treaty. Some of our own leaders and a great many Americans seemingly want to make a life-raft out of a single straw cast out by the Kremlin. When things are dark, a very faint glow makes a lot of light, but it should not be taking as a guiding beacon.

THE AIMS OF INTERNATIONAL COMMUNISM have always been the same and can not be changed by the small gestures of its representatives. The giving of a little seems a lot when nothing is expected. If Khrushchev has now decided it is better to be agreeable until the economy of Russia can be improved, it is hardly justification for great jubilation.

WHILE ALL THIS IS TAKING PLACE, we continue to pour out our resources in every corner of the earth. The threat of nations that they will look to the Soviet Union for assistance unless it comes from America will continue. This time for a real challenge to this situation is long past due.

AUSTIN—"Pedodontics" is a big word with a simple meaning—the care and treatment of children's teeth. A major part of pedodontics is preventive dentistry, and preventive dentistry for the very young is the one great hope for a realistic solution for our dental woes.

If a child's teeth are properly cared for up to the age 13, a strong foundation has been laid for minimizing dental troubles in later years.

At about 6 months of age the four front teeth—two upper and two lower—begin to peek out. These front teeth are incisors—the cutting teeth. By age 7 to 11 months, four more teeth, upper and lower, start to come in. These are lateral incisors and either side of the central teeth.

Then Mother Nature wisely skips a few spaces in order to properly shape the jaw. In 12 to 16 months, the back teeth or molars, come in. Then the cuspids show to fill in the space between. At about 24 months, the second molars come in.

Up to this point all teeth which have erupted are primary teeth, and although temporary they are vital. They help shape the face, help the youngster learn to speak distinctly, help him nutritionally and must serve the child until 12.

While this has been going on, the permanent teeth are slowly developing in the jaw bone so they can come forth at the proper time.

The first permanent teeth erupting are molars—sometimes called "six-year" molars simply because they emerge at about age 6. Because they do not replace the first teeth but come in just behind them, these molars tend to confuse parents who think they are temporary teeth.

This error can lead to unfortunate consequences. Since the "six-year" molars are permanent teeth, they will not be replaced if lost.

Family dentists strongly emphasize the importance of watching for the six-year molars. They are important to the structure which they interlock with their opposite teeth will determine the eventual shape of the jaw, of the mouth. The manner in facial contour and regularity, of alignment of other teeth.

Because of their importance, these first permanent teeth are often referred to as the "keystone of the dental arch."

The strength or weakness of adult dental health—barring loss of teeth through accidents—can invariably be traced to habits of preventive dentistry learned or left unlearned in childhood. And when it comes to preventive dentistry, the pedodontist is a child's best friend.

Keeping the Free World free is a mighty expensive proposition.

And our enemies are doing everything they can to make it so. They've said they expect to "bury us" economically.

They see us as soft, self-satisfied, lazy. They don't think we're prepared to make any sacrifices for freedom.

It's a symbolic "freedom book" which shows that tens of millions of American families have invested 46 billions of dollars in their country in the form of U. S. Savings Bonds. Dollars the government uses to keep our economy strong. To help keep the Free World free.

Applications For Postal Clerks Are Being Sought

The Rising Star Post Office is seeking applications from local residents who are interested in becoming postal clerks or city carriers, postmaster Mrs. C. Witt announces.

Persons who apply and who pass a written test given by the Civil Service Commission will be placed on a list of eligibles, and they will be considered for future job openings.

Clerks and carriers are now paid a starting rate of $2.26 per hour. Anyone interested in a career in the postal office service may obtain complete information from Postmaster Witt, or from the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Post Office, Fort Worth, Texas.

The Post Office Department is the largest employer in the Federal Service, and provides facilities indispensable to the nation's commerce and defense. Postal employment is unusually stable and normally leads to a lifetime career. Outstanding postal workers advance to supervisory positions as vacancies occur.

Together with all federal employees, they receive regular step increases in salary. They enjoy the benefits of low-cost life insurance, comprehensive health benefits programs, paid vacations, and substantial retirement incomes.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Crisp were visited during the week end by their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young. They had attended an Agriculture convention in Dallas, before coming here. Charles is Vo. Ag. Teacher at Giddings.

Husbands and Wives Need IRS Numbers

In Texas both husbands and wives will need a taxpayer identification number for future income tax filing, according to Arthur E. Fogle, Jr., the Administrative Officer at the Abilene office of Internal Revenue Service.

"The community property law creates many situations where both husband and wife have income that belongs only to one spouse in other states," Mr. Fogle explained. "Quite a few wives feel that they do not need a taxpayer identification, or social security number, because they file a joint return with their husband. There are times when it is to their advantage to file separate returns. Naturally, the wife can not report her share of dividends, interest and other income on a separate return without having a taxpayer identification number. However, she still needs the taxpayer identification number of the community property law."

Taxpayers who do not have an identification number should secure a Form SS-5 from their nearest Post Office, Internal Revenue Service office, or Social Security office, complete the application and get a number assigned.

Top Junior Contestants Among Early Entries for Comanche AJRA Rodeo

Among the early entries received for the Comanche AJRA rodeo are some top Junior contestants. Donna Kinkead of Tucumcari, N. M., leads the 16-19 cowgirls roping with Annette Juncan running a close second. Miss Kinkead was the 1962 World's Champion All-Round Cowgirl. Miss Kinkead presently has the honor of Miss AJRA. The Austin area will be represented by Bob and Bill Steiner, sons of Tom Steiner, producer of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show Rodeo.

Bobby Campbell, 12, of El Paso is being crowded by 10 year old Larry Todd of Odessa for the roping championship in the boys 8-12 group. Special interest will be shown toward the 16-19 boys calf roping contest for the next two weeks as Ernie Taylor and Terry Wells were tied with 1722 points each up there the last release of standings. They are battling down to the National Finals for the 2 horse Milky trailer.

The Comanche area will have plenty to cheer about when hometown roper Billy Albin performs. Bill is currently in the lead for the optional roping championship which includes breakaway, ribbon and team roping. Gary Sibert will be in the bull riding; Scotty Morris in the bronc riding; also Jimmy Armstrong in the 8-12 boys roping events; Sue and Lous Albin in barrel racing; Cassie Wilhelm in the barrels and probably several more who have yet to get their entries in.

Gustine will be well represented by Billy Pettit and a few others.

Bill Bevon of Fort Worth is entered in the bull and bronc riding. Dar Graham of Fort Worth and Jimmy Kemp of Dallas are entered in the 16-19 roping events.

Browsing With Bev

By Beverley Nicholson, County HD Agent

Careful operation of food waste disposers pay off in continued operation during rush periods. There are many things which should not be put through the disposer. Some of these items are metal, glass, china, plastic, hard seafood shells, large bones, filter-tipped cigarettes, large quantities of raw dough, paper or string.

Egg shells should be mixed with other types of waste, as they have tendency to float on top of the water instead of going down the drain.

The filters from cigarettes will mat over the cutting teeth and decrease the cutting efficiency.

Grease should be allowed to solidify and then mixed with other refuse in the disposer.

Use plenty of cold water. Water all food has left the disposer. Water should be allowed to run after the water used keeps the disposer clean and odorless.

Proper use of food disposers saves time and energy and is the most sanitary means of garbage disposal.

If you are planning to buy a swim suit, here are some helpful hints.

Suits elasticized with Lycra spandex fiber are popular this season, and sheaths seem to take the lead in sea going classics. They look newest in soft knits, luxurious taffetas of Antron nylon and power nets with Lycra. Swim suits of this unique yarn weigh only a few ounces and feel supple as a second skin. Suits of this fiber will dry quickly, resist deterioration from sunlight and salt water and chlorine in swimming pools, as well as suntan lotion and body oils.

Expert Says Test Soil For Fall Planting Now

College Station—Now is the time to have your soil tested in preparation for fall planting, says William F. Bennett, soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Early soil sampling is encouraged by the chemist to avoid the fall rush that crowds the state's three testing laboratories. Samples being received now are mostly from pastures, fall-seeded crops and lawn or flower beds, he says. The number of samples received during May and June was about normal for this period at all three labs. In May 839 samples were tested and about 495 were examined in June.

$27 MILLION

. . . has been spent recently for commercial construction in our service area.

. . . more proof that the Center of the Southwest is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions.

Recently published figures of industrial expansion in our service area reached a huge $28 million.

Add to that another vast expansion figure and you have an even more impressive total.

$27,000,000 was spent on new commercial construction and for expansion of existing businesses in the same time period, in the same WTU service area. This is why we say "The Center of the Southwest" is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions.

Such industrial and commercial expansion, plus civic and other improvements, strengthen our conviction that this region faces growth unlimited.
