Churches of Christ To Hold Rally at Ft. Worth Aug. 16

A rally is being planned for Sunday afternoon, August 16, at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Church of Christ, 2701 West Berry Street, Fort Worth, Tex. This mass meeting of churches of Christ within a 100 mile radius of Fort Worth is in the interest of a radio and television series for the people of Australia, the last English-speaking frontier in the world today.

Plans are being made to carry this series in the large metropolitan areas of the continent of Australia by means of both radio and television. These mass media are still relatively young in that great nation. The program to be presented is the HERALD OF TRUTH series, currently being produced by the Highland Church of Christ in Abilene, Texas. This group has agreed to furnish the films and tapes for this Australian effort.

There are 10,000,000 people in the "land down under" with most of them concentrated in six major cities, which are the target areas for presenting the HERALD OF TRUTH to the Australians. Already established in several areas of this continent, the church of Christ has a number of missionary families planning to go to the Australian field in the near future.

E. R. Harper, present speaker for the HERALD OF TRUTH Radio Program, will be the principal speaker for the afternoon. At the present time, the program sponsored by the Highland church is being heard over more than 300 radio and television stations, both independent and over ABC and the Mutual networks.

Also appearing on the program will be Sam Mormino who with his family will leave September 1 to work as a missionary in Australia. Mormino is now serving as the minister for the 23rd and Grace Street Church of Christ in Wichita Falls. This congregation will help support Mormino in Australia.

The public is cordially invited to attend this rally at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, August 16, at the Church of Christ, 2701 West Berry, Fort Worth, Texas.

An assembly will be held in Abilene which will be attended by the local members of the Church of Christ. George Bailey, minister for the College Church of Christ in Abilene, will be the principal speaker for a rally Sunday afternoon, August 16, at 2:30 in the auditorium of the Church of Christ, So. Fifth and Highland St., Abilene.

Little League Ends Season In The Black

The Rising Star Little League closed out a highly successful first season both as a project and financially. J. D. (Skeet) Clark, president, told the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday noon at the Elite Cafe.

The chamber of commerce was one of the sponsoring agencies in the program initiated by the Rising Star Lions Club and supported by a great number of Rising Star and May citizens and organizations. More than 70 boys were handled in the four teams that participated. They played on a new, well lighted field, wore attractive regulation uniforms and carried out a schedule of play conforming in all respects to the national Little League requirements. Uniforms were purchased by various sponsors and have been cleaned and stored for next year's use.

Financially the league ended the season with a balance of about $209, Mr. Clark said. There were expenditures of $2,100 for the field, uniforms and all other equipment and there was an income of approximately $2,300.00. Included in the income was $253 turned in from the concession stand operated by Lee Hughes.

The Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution commending the League officers and sponsors, coaches and others who supported the program.

Sponsors of teams were The First State Bank, Higginbothams, Rising Star Hospital and Tom Lewis. Coaches were Rev. Ed Jackson, Horace Geyer, Fred Fisher, Doyle Maynard, Art Fisher and Durwood Fussell.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

A Public Service Feature of the State Bar of Texas

You can give some of your rights to other people, for example, the right to collect a bill; but it's a different thing with your duties. You need your creditor's OK firmly to assign your debts to another.

You can sell what you own, all right, but you can't shake a debt merely by getting somebody else to promise to pay it for you. Your creditor—who is a party to your contract—has something to say about who takes over your obligations.

Thus, your cousin, say, borrows from you and promises to pay the money back. He can't get out of it by getting his neighbor to say he will pay for him unless you agree—takes a written contract.

If you bought Abel's time for $15,000 and he paid $5,000. Then, with your agreement, you get Joe to pay the place.

Mrs. Jesse O. Perry, residing from Temple, Texas, has been under treatment. While under treatment, she was taken to the M. D. Anderson Clinic at Houston.

Mrs. Bert Holamon visited here with Mrs. Ada Holamon, who lives at Goldsmith.

How could Blow pay you for it?

Well, for Blow it would be just dandy for you to let him take over the $10,000 debt, pay you back your $5,000 equity, and then pay off Abel the rest of your $10,000 debt. Blow would save the cost of a new loan—if his credit was good enough to get one in the first place. So you set it up that way.

One day Blow blew; and you, yes you, hold the bag. True, you could turn over your equity to Blow without Abel's consent.

But your agreement with Blow to pay the balance is not binding on Abel. He can hold you to your original deal. Pay up $10,000.

Don't let someone "assume" your loan unless you protect yourself by an agreement with your lender, or unless you are willing to risk holding the sack.

Your buyer is often a good enough risk for you to let him assume the loan—but don't do it thinking you are free of your debt.

"I GIVE YOU TEXAS"

By Boyce House

(Reminiscences of the winter 1920-21)

The Travelers' Hotel in Co. tulla set a good table and so the traveling salesmen who made the territory regularly would arrive in time for supper, spend the day calling on their customers in the area and get back for another supper.

Among the regular patrons of the dining room was a rancher of about my age. He was nice-looking, with a quiet way about him and a pleasant smile. He was busy with his cattle—riding, roping, branding, driving them in to market.

Had one been a "bookie", if asked to quote the odds on which would live longer, the stalwart rancher or the frail newspaperman, the bookmaker would have set the figure at 50-to-1 in favor of the rancher. Yet such is the uncertainty of life, the rancher died, years ago.

Back to the traveling men—When they found that the new guest was a newcomer to Texas and therefore had not heard the Texas stories, they proceeded to enlighten and educate me.

The very first story, or saying, was General Sheridan's remark, "If I owned Texas and hell, I'd rent out Texas and live in hell." Then someone quoted Senator "Pitchfork" Tillman's utterance, "Texas has more trees and less timber, more rivers and less water, more cows and less milk and you can see further and see less—than any durned country in the world."

Someone quoted the saying, "Nobody but fools and newcomers predict the weather in Texas" and that evoked the story of the farmer who set out for town in a wagon drawn by a yoke of oxen; on the way, one froze to death and, while the owner was skinning the animal, the other one died of sunstroke! Then someone chimed in with the saying that there is nothing between Amarillo and the North

Mrs. Olice B. Jones drove to Mineral Wells Saturday where she met her daughter, Gloria Phillips, who came home with her for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Billie Phillips live in Saint Jo, where they teach in the high school.

Tye Allen and his brother-in-law from Sweetwater were here on business last week.

Pole except a barbed wire fence—and that when Admiral Peary reached the North Pole, he exclaimed, "Gee! I'll bet it's cold in Amarillo today!"

These and many more were told and the youthful newspaperman stored them in his mind; later added to them as a hobby, and one day had the idea, "I know enough Texas jokes to write a book."

"I Give You Texas" was the result—and it began with those after-supper sessions in the Co. tulla Hotel lobby.

What's Your Hurry? Slow Down and Live!

AUSTIN. — "Honestly now, what's your hurry?" This question was put to Texas motorists today by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he sought public support for TSA's current Slow Down and Live campaign.

Musick reminded drivers that 275 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents during August of last year.

Each Texan can give the Slow Down and Live campaign a boost by simply becoming safety conscious. Most of us are familiar with the laws, rules and courtesies of the road, but all too often there is a tendency to forget them. At this point we are most vulnerable to an accident," Musick said.

He reminded motorists that traffic officials are doing all they can to protect drivers and motorists by maintaining a strict enforcement policy, but final responsibility rests individual.

It is a matter of deep concern to all of us that the accident toll is on the increase in Texas (the Texas Department of Public Safety reports an increase of approximately 10 percent for the first half months of this year). We owe it to our families, friends and ourselves to accept the responsibility of practicing safe driving habits.

Internal Revenue Service Looks for 4,000 Tax-Payers

Believe it or not, the U. S. Internal Revenue Service is looking for 4,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District with some good news for them.

Uncle Sam, in the form of the Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service, has thousands of dollars in the form of refund checks which rightfully belong to Dallas District taxpayers.

These are checks left over from the recent filing period. The checks, ranging from $1.00 to $4,000.00 have been returned in the mail for lack of proper address.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., Director of the Dallas District, announced the figures today in kicking off "Operation Remain."

He said a group of his employees have been searching telephone directories, contacting employers and attempting thru other sources to find the correct addresses of the taxpayers to whom the refunds are due.

Now Director Campbell is asking taxpayers to do themselves and his office a favor. In an appeal to readers of this newspaper, he said:

"If you are entitled to a refund check on the tax return you filed this year and have not received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service advising you that your return is being examined, then write me at 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas 1, Texas, or call RI 8.5611, Ext. 2572."

"When writing or calling, a taxpayer should state his or her name and address exactly as it appears on his or her return," Mr. Campbell said.

"Your social security number and the amount of the refund also will be helpful," he said. "Of course, don't forget to give us your new address."

LOCAL BRIEFS

Billy McKinnerney will receive a degree from East Texas State College at Commerce and has signed a contract with the school board at Sanderson where he will join the high school staff. His wife, the former Dorothy Murdock, has a business college diploma, and has helped her husband in his college work.

Mrs. Earl Marsh has as her guests her two sisters from East Texas and Louisiana.

CHILDREN and SAFETY

This mother is showing some of the common things used around a house which can be dangerous to infants and small children unless they are kept out of their reach.

Just as a mother keeps her children out of contact with matches, knives, scissors, electrical devices, etc., she should also exercise the same caution with the disposable ultra-thin plastic bag which protects her family's freshly cleaned clothes.

Mis-use of this disposable ultra-thin plastic film as substitute covers for cribs, play pens, baby carriages, furniture, etc., has resulted in a number of infant deaths attributed to suffocation when the non-porous material came in contact with the child's face.

National experts in safety, health, and medical fields are cooperating with the Society of the Plastics Industry in a campaign to save lives by urging parents not to mis-use this ultra-thin material by letting it come into contact with small children.

These experts urge that once the ultra-thin plastic bag has served its intended purpose it should be shredded or knotted and disposed of in a covered can, safely away from children.

Mrs. Johnnie Abbott had as her guests during the past week, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chaffin and daughter, Ilene, from Elkhart, Texas; her brother, Lonnie Edwards and his two sons from Venita, Okla., and her brother, Junior Edwards, from Chelsea, Okla.

Mrs. Roger Reeds of Scottsville, Mich., was a visitor here Sunday.

Man Who Saw Lincoln Killed Dies Suddenly at Home in Romney Community—Had Interesting, Eventful Career

Uncle Johnny Freeland, 91, one of the most colorful characters of this section, passed away at the family home near Romney Saturday morning while sitting in his favorite rocking chair. He was one of the last survivors who was present at the assassination of President Lincoln in Ford's Theatre in Washington, D. C. Uncle Johnny had stated in previous years that at the time of the assassination he was working as an apprentice in a butcher shop in Washington and had also been playing small soldiers parts at the theatre where the assassination occurred. Junius Brutus Booth, father of the assassin, instructed him in his stage activities. In an interview last summer Mr. Freeland says that he is sure that no one saw Booth fire the shot that killed the President but he heard the report of the revolver and saw him leap to the stage and go limping off after breaking his leg. Uncle Johnny characterized the report that Booth escaped and came to Texas as plain "Hokey" stating that he talked to the undertaker who prepared the body or burial under the old Washington arsenal and who later took up the body and moved it to Mount Olive Cemetery.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Cooperators of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District are among those honored by issuance of the world's first Soil Conservation stamp, Anson Oden of the board, said today.

Oden said the stamp, to be issued August 26 at Rapid City, South Dakota is "a tribute to the nation's conservation farmers and ranchers" including the cooperators of the local districts. The issuance celebrates no anniversary and honors no man. Its issuance is, rather, a dramatic recognition by a grateful nation that American farmers and ranchers and their government, are hard at work to protect and improve, for the benefit of us all, our most valuable natural resource, the soil. The stamp portrays the beauty that modern conservation farming brings to rural living. The city skyline on the horizon signifies at the same time that dwellers of skyscrapers also have a stake in soil conservation. The stamp will be to them a symbol of assurance that a plentiful supply of food and other products of the land will continue to flow to the seven-eighths of our people who live in town.

The stamp is a tribute to the countless farmers and ranchers who are demonstrating good soil stewardship. It is a salute to their locally organized soil conservation districts, and to the scientists, technicians and other agricultural workers of state and federal government who lend assistance.

Its design contains a reminder that soil conservation is an orderly combination of practices and land use that carefully relate grass, trees, livestock, wild life and other crops of the land.

The stamp will go on sale August 26 at Rapid City, South Dakota, at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America, a professional organization. One day after its first-day release at Rapid City, 120 million copies of the stamp will go on sale at post offices throughout the country.

The observances being planned will combine pride of accomplishment in soil conservation with serious acceptance of the big job still ahead. To complete and maintain a soil conservation program that will insure the widest and best use of this vital national resource for all time—that is the challenge the first soil conservation stamp lays before all citizens of our nation.

People who know say a single rat can waste through $2 worth of dry corn without any trouble whatever, and despoil another $30 worth in the process.

They're mighty expensive critters to tolerate in town or country, both by virtue of the food they eat and the some 27 diseases—including typhus fever and bubonic plague—they are known to spread.

This time of year rats will be in field burrows. Soon though, with rural harvest well under way and cooler weather coming, they'll move into grain bins and feed stacks and buildings where food is stored.

If you're interested in keeping them out of your place, now's the time to formulate a plan to deprive them of food and shelter this winter and avoid a repetition of last year's record-breaking infestation.

Start by burning or piling scrap lumber at least two feet off the ground. Scatter feed stack chaff and manure piles over fields. And keep the inevitable weeds and grass around outbuildings cut so as not to attract rats.

Rats breed so rapidly that mere killing campaigns without accompanying sanitation are worthless. On the other hand, striking reductions in rat populations have been made by rat proofing without killing procedures.

Farm buildings in good repair are seldom infested with rats, so it follows that's the way to keep them. Check to make sure walls are tight and that floors and foundations are crackless. A strip of galvanized metal three feet or so high, placed around the base of a building will keep rats out—provided they can't get through the floors.

By and large, rats as a group probably prefer grain to any other type food. Which is a good argument in favor of building new granaries tight and off the ground.

All known rat runs ought to be baited with poison. In one closely supervised campaign, almost 12,000 rats were killed at a cost of about 4 cents per rat. Warfarin bait was used; and the amount required to kill a rat averaged slightly less than a quarter pound.

Other effective poisons are available but many of them must be used with extreme caution. Persons unfamiliar with advice before attempting to use rodenticides should get expert them. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, State Health Department.)

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

"Better Seeds for Better Living" to Be Fair Feature

A new team of professional workers made up of plant breeders, research scientists and seed growers is changing the scenery down on the farm.

The way the team is moving greenery around to substitute new varieties, strains and hybrids for old staple crops is putting greenbacks into the pockets of farmers, cattlemen and businessmen.

The story of "Better Seeds for Better Living" will be depicted in the big Agriculture Show at the 1959 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-25 in Dallas, in exhibits created jointly by the Texas A&M College System and the Fair.

Texas A&M economists figure that the better seeds produced by the team of scientists, breeders and growers save the average family $600 a year in food purchases.

New crops released by the team through certified seed growers have advanced the cat-tleman from seasonal to year-round activity.

And farmers of course have benefitted through new cash crops which can offset income losses caused by surpluses in major crops.

Three-fourths of the varieties cultivated on farms today were unknown twenty years ago. And the surface has hardly been scratched. Fewer than a dozen species account for most of the entire farm production in this country. At the most, farmers cultivate only 150 to 200 species.

But there are 15,000 species in this country and Canada. And this weary old planet has at least 250,000, probably 300,000, scattered over its thin skin of soil.

The State Fair Agriculture Show will feature a modern greenhouse, 80 by 40 feet, in which A&M scientists and specialists will show from germinating seed to mature plant the scientific development of new varieties of eight major crops—corn, grain sorghum, cotton, rice, pine trees vegetables, oil seed and small grains.

The show will offer the general public the opportunity to study for the first time the methods used in creating such modern miracles as corn and grain sorghum hybrids, in mating plants that differ genetically, and in producing entirely new crops for specific uses.

Have Grooming Kit . . . Will Travel!

Family car trips are a favorite form of summer vacation. If you're off to the highways and byways soon, make your trip pleasant and memorable by driving carefully — and stopping frequently to stretch and freshen up. Such "breaks" are particularly important if there are youngsters along, for a quick romp will do wonders to restore everyone to good humor.

A sturdy cardboard box filled with grooming essentials — and kept handy in the car — is a boon to traveling families, the makers of Trushay point out. Include cleansing tissues, safety pins, comb, brush, bobby pins, a small sewing kit, scissors and nail file, small sizes of your favorite grooming products.

Especially valuable is a versatile lotion such as Trushay, that can help counter the drying effects of wind, dust, sun, harsh soaps and towels — and double as a powder base. Remember, a vacation should be relaxation — so plan to stop as well as go, and you'll return safe, happy, and looking your best.

Times Are Changing Fast—

... and so are governments, economic conditions, ways of life and even human nature itself. Likewise revolutionary changes have taken place in the field of land titles. Not so long ago title chains were short and simple but today the records in this county are voluminous and the changing times have wrought havoc to many titles. The abstract is about the only answer.
