Awards Made in Art Show

These paintings are a sample of those on view at the art show.

Appreciation goes to the artists who brought their works, the more than 200 guests who viewed the show and made their votes, Peoples State Bank for furnishing a site and the committee, which made the show run so smoothly, said coordinator of the show, Jo Hubbard. She added that guests offered suggestions that will be incorporated in future shows. Votes in the Peoples Choice awards went toward 70 entries made by artists from here and from several area towns. The voting was widespread, making it a tight race for places, with several ties being avoided by only one or two votes. Awards were made in three places in children's and adults divisions.

Children: 1st, Kely Jones; 2nd, Teresa Underwood Curtis; 3rd, Shawnah Harmon. Adult: 1st, Jo Hubbard; 2nd, Emma Jean Steel; 3rd, Charlene Rider. (Had a 4th place been awarded there would have been a three-way tie.

Congratulations to each winner and again, thanks to each one who helped make the show a success.

Coloring Winners Named

The coloring contest was sponsored by GFWC Saturday Club, with its Arts Appreciation Committee designing and preparing the posters. Jo Hubbard, a member, distributed and displayed the posters after they were judged.

The judges found their job difficult as the children showed so much creativity and talent in their work; a good patriotic spirit was evident in the posters. If you haven't seen the posters, go by and see them; they are on display in the windows of the Higginbotham building downtown.

Pre-School: 1st, Lance Claborn; 2nd, Ann Ressler; 3rd, Dusty Goldston; 3rd, Jessica LaBerge.

Kindergarten-Third: 1st, Landon Westerman.

Fourth-Sixth: 1st, Mande Westerman; 2nd, Maci Claborn; 2nd, Kelly Griffin; 3rd, Jackie Hubbard. Other entrants were Kely Jones and Racheal Bush.

Thanks to each child and to their parents for making the effort to take part in this contest.

If you did not pick up your ribbon at the Festival they may be picked up at Hubbard's Gift Gallery.

More than 450 persons enjoyed eating a barbecue meal in the new pavilion at the park.

PROCLAMATION

TO: Pee Wee

FROM: Jerrell D. Bible, Mayor, City of Rising Star

I REMEMBER your big grin, I remember your never being in too big a hurry to stop and say "Hello." I remember your going "head to head" with guys twice your size in football. I remember your shooting a basketball with accuracy exceeding some of us with two hands.

NOW IN THE FACE of extreme tragedy and extreme adversity, you exemplify the human spirit at its highest level. Your courage to go ahead with this experimental and unprecedented surgery will offer hope to thousands that may be faces with similar choices.

THEREFORE, BY THE POWER VESTED IN ME, by the office of the Mayor, I do proclaim that the day you return home to us, whatever that day may be, will be set aside as "Pee Wee Day" in Rising Star.

I FURTHER DIRECT, the Chief of Police of the City of Rising Star, to provide an honor escort for you to City Hall to pick up the original copy of this proclamation.

Very Sincerely,

Jerrell D. Bible
Mayor, City of Rising Star

ASCS News

David W. Martin
Exec. Director
Eastland County

1993 Wheat Program Provisions: USDA has announced a zero percent required acreage reduction program for the 1993 wheat crop. Participating producers will not be required to devote any acreage on the farm to approved conserving use to qualify for price support loans and deficiency payments.

Other provisions announced are target price of $4.00 per bushel and national loan rate of $2.45 per bushel. A paid land diversion will not be implemented. Other provisions, including signup dates, will be announced at a later date.

Peanut Seed Receipts: Peanut producers are reminded to bring their receipts for peanut seed purchases when they request measurement services or when they file their report of acreage.

Final Reporting Date: The final date to file a report of planted acreages of peanuts, corn, grain sorghum, cotton, conserving use and ACR (set aside) is July 15, 1992. Other crops for which an acreage report will be accepted include commercial vegetable crops, melons, guar and any other crop that the farm operator wishes to establish a record of crop history.

Accurate Reporting: When filing an acreage report, be sure to file an accurate report. Failure to do so can result in loss of program benefits and the assessment of a monetary penalty. Measurement service is available to those not sure of their exact acreage.

Spouse Signature Authority: Effective August 1, 1992, the signature requirements will be changed to permit a husband or wife to sign on behalf of the other for most farm programs in which either has an interest. Written notification to the County Office will be required to deny the spouse this authority. Signatures under this policy will be accepted after July 31, 1992 unless a written objection has been filed with the County Office.

ACP Approval Period: Requests for cost-sharing of conservation practices are continuously being accepted. The County Committee has determined that the next approval period will be July 16, 1992 for request filed by July 10, 1992. Request filed after this date will be considered at the next approval period.

ACP Practice Maintenance: Producers that have been paid cost shares for establishing a conservation practice on their farm are reminded that the practice must be maintained through out the lifespan of the practice. Practices that have failed can be put to another use only after the committee has determined that the practice failed due to no fault of the producer and a release of the practice is obtained.

Practices that are converted to another use without prior committee approval will require a refund of the cost shares paid.

Peanut Crop Shares: Lease documentation will be required when a peanut producer, other than either has an interest. Written notification to the County Office will be required to deny the spouse this authority. Signatures under this policy will be accepted after July 31, 1992 unless a written objection has been filed with the County Office.

Spring Peanut Transfer: The final date to temporarily transfer peanut quota under the spring transfer provisions is July 31, 1992. This is also the final date to permanently transfer peanut quota. All transfers filed after this date will be considered fall transfers and will be subject to the 90% planting rule.

Car Care Brief

Give Cooling System a Spring Break: Your car's cooling system should have periodic attention to prevent engine "melt-down," reminds the Car Care Council. Internal engine temperatures of up to 5,000 degrees place heavy demands on the cooling system.

Protect your investment by flushing the system, replacing antifreeze-coolant and, with a pressure test, checking radiator, hose connections and pressure cap.

attended by 18 anglers. At the 9 p.m. weigh-in, Gary Crew was the winner with three fish weighing a total of 7.31 pounds. In second place with two fish weighing 5.04 pounds was Greg Badget. then be set.

At the monthly club meeting held Thursday, July 2, several items of interest to the club members were discussed. Also at the club meeting members were shown the banner that was made for our open tournament in September. This banner will be displayed showing the anglers where headquarters are and it was painted by Ricky Herrera of Eastland, and it really looks nice.

Sidelights And Spotlights

By Julia Worthy

Moving On

Polly Wright is moving to Dallas to be near her daughter and her doctor. Polly is the widow of the late Bill Wright. Bill never practiced law anywhere except in Cisco, and Polly never lived anywhere except Cisco — until now.

Tournament Time

Cisco hosts the Little League All-Star Games July 6 through 10. Albany, Baird, Breckenridge, Cisco and Clyde field teams for Monday and Tuesday, skip Wednesday, and play Friday and Saturday.

For the fast food (as opposed to fast pitch) fans, Joe Renner will man the smokers Monday and Saturday. The rest of the time, Joey York will be the All-Star chef.

Return of the Ark

Bethel Baptist's campers survived the damp beginning of their week with a few abrasions and contusions as well as bruises. Judy Nichols, interim youth director, says of future plans, "We may get to go to Six Flags again this summer."

Fish Barn Beefs Up

Cook's Fish Barn, a restaurant about 12 miles southeast of Rising Star, put frying the fish on HOLD long enough to barbecue five hundred pounds of brisket for Rising Star's Fourth of July Freedom Celebration. The meat cooked all night and was tender eating "down to the scraps." The Fish Barn also catered a big July Fourth affair at Sidney in Comanche County.

90 in the 90's

How's your stamina? Think you're equal to a week-long campout in the hills of Callahan County? Sleep on the ground? Cook out?

That's what you're going to do if you keep up with Rosa Gene Carroll of Breckenridge, and she's ninety years of age. (No way to say "old," and it's too cutesy to say "young." Rosa Gene is "terrific" but not "cutesy.")

The roiling audio-visuals of the weather during the campout were observed from a hilltop near camp, but very little rain fell on the campers. Mrs. Carroll said the group "did a little hiking," and she "...got a little sunburned."

Rosa Gene Yarbrough grew up in the Necessity community north of Ranger. She and her late husband, Tom Carroll, attended church in Rising Star for several years, and there operated a mobile home park in Cisco. They also opened the first nursing home in Stephens County.

Mrs. Carroll's daily walks (often several miles of daily walks) are not deterred by her being legally blind. There must be something special about being 90 in the 90's.

So, how's your stamina? ***

Fun 'n' Games

If summertime is hanging heavily on your hands or mind, game night Wednesdays at Cisco's First United Methodist Church might be just what you need. How about it?

Book Sales

Dean Drug has a display of books written by local authors — most of them are by members of the Cisco Writers' Club. (Don't forget the Club's current contest: only 22 days left to enter!)

Update on YOU

Shanna Jones, participant from Eastland in the YOU division of the Manpower Development Program, came home for the Independence Day weekend.

In addition to the work skills she practices in the Dean's office, Shanna is in a study program in math. She also has sessions in job development and personal growth and in her "free" hours, she is investigating karate.

Shanna's Cheryl Jones' daughter.

Memory Lane

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Coke were recent visitors of Lela Latch Lloyd.

Dr. Coke's father was pastor of Cisco's Methodist Church while Richard was in school, and he later became district superintendent. Lela worked under the elder Coke's supervision in the Methodist "Caravan" program.

The late Emmett Lloyd, Lela's husband, made the Cokes' wedding picture when the Loyds lived in Waco.

"They now have copies of all my books," said Lela. "And for their grandchildren, they bought four of Midget's books."

"Midget," Lela's niece and daughter of Mary Latch Carey, is Jean Richardson of Houston. Her children's books are available at Dean Drug too, as she is one of the long-distance members of the Cisco Writers' Club.

Digging It Up

Recent guest in the JoAnn and Ferris Wilks home was Jon Francis from Hope, Michigan.

Jon was en route to Arlington for a ten-week internship in the Institute for Judaic-Christian Research. He is completing a degree in International Relations with Israel as a specialty.

Vendyl Jones, who is head of the Institute, is credited with inspiring the "Indiana Jones" movie character. He (Vendyl) is an internationally known archaeologist and is also credited with finding a vial of anointing oil meant for use of the Levitical priesthood as well as locating four tons of incense used for temple services.

Bow-Wow

A different "tone" has been added to our neighborhood recently. "Spuds" is a pointer bird dog that belongs to Darwin Modgling who purchased the home of the late Lela Brockman.

So far, it is difficult to say just where Spuds' deep-throated baying fits in the area network of yipping dogs, but he can drown out most of them.

Visitors

Neely and Sabrina Landrum were recent guests of Benny and Martha Thompson. Neely is the minister of the First United Methodist Church of Shamrock in the Panhandle. While here, Neely

Money Matters

By Bruce Redfield

LUMP SUM DISTRIBUTIONS

If you are changing jobs or retiring you may be getting a nice check from your old company's retirement fund. Now you have a nice problem on your hands, what to do with that money? Your options can be grouped into three choices:

1. You can take all the money now, and pay ordinary income taxes on the entire sum. In some cases you may also incur a 10% penalty tax. Now if you have reached 59 1/2 or were at least 50 years old at the beginning of 1986, you would be eligible to pay a reduced tax by using a one-time option of 5 year or 10 year forward averaging. If you were in your plan before 1974 you could also apply for long-term capital gain treatment to a portion of your distribution.

2. You could defer all taxes by rolling over the full amount into a rollover I.R.A. account within 60 days of receiving your check. This could give you the opportunity of building a much larger nest egg.

3. You could elect to use a combination of the above by placing at least 50% into a rollover I.R.A. and filled in for Benny in the regular Thursday night services Benny holds at Canterbury Villa. Benny had a throat problem, so Sabrina led the singing for Benny.

Family reunions are "bustin' out all over" — even in Nebraska — so Joey York, son of Ruth York and the late Jim York of Lincoln, NE, took his children and went home to Mama Thursday (7/2). So what's new about that? Joey's wife, also a Ruth, stayed home while Leighton, Jeddie, Chance, William, Rachael, and Walker went with their dad. It is difficult to decide whether Joey was braver for taking all the children (ages 2-12) or Ruth for letting them go.

take the rest. You would of course pay ordinary income tax and the 10% penalty if you are under 59 1/2.

Next column we will investigate some examples of these choices. I will be doing two lump sum distribution seminars in the Big Country, one in July and one in August. Stay tuned to this column for further information.

Please direct your comments and questions to Bruce Redfield, Eastland Telegram, P.O. Box 29, Eastland, TX 76448.

May the Lord richly bless you!

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. STEPHEN G. BARRY

CHIROPRACTOR

MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors.

The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment. Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work.

At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back pain but treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

John Goodman stars as Babe Ruth in "The Babe", a movie showing at the Majestic Theatre this weekend.

"The Babe" To Show At Majestic

He was the most dominant figure in the history of American team sports and perhaps the most baseball hero of the century. He was a free spirit who embodied the "Roaring Twenties." He was "The Babe," and there would never be another like him.

Now John Goodman is "The Babe" in Universal Pictures presentation of an Arther Hiller film the movie also stars Kelly McGillis, Trini Alvarado and Bruce Boxleitner.

It will show at the Majestic Theatre in Eastland Friday, July 10 at 7:30 p.m., and at the same time nightly through Monday, July 13. Admission will be $3 at the box office, with the picture rated PG.

The story follows George Herman "Babe" Ruth from his youth in Baltimore's St. Mary's Home for Boys through the end of his playing career. McGillis plays Claire Hodgeson, a former Ziegfeld Folly Girl who becomes the Babe's second wife. She is also the force that drives him when his own Herculean strength appears to decline.

Alvarado is Helen Woodford, his young first bride whose yearning for the quiet country life doesn't fit with her husband's bawdy style.

For Goodman, "The Babe" marks his first dramatic starring role in a motion picture. The others have all been comedies.

"It was a tremendous challenge to play this guy who's bigger than life," said Goodman. "He was a

Eastlander Weathers Los Angeles Quakes

Earthquake Report

Dear Editor:
 I am visiting my son in Big Bear Lake. I arrived Wednesday, June 24 and yesterday experienced my first earth quake. I really got initiated-not only one but two.

Just arriving, I was up when the first one hit at 5 a.m. (7 a.m. Texas time). It was shocking but nothing compared to the one three hours later at 8 a.m. that hit here.

Our house wasn't damaged; just a broken water line on the hot water heater; all contents of cabinets and book cases strewn across the floors; and all the water in the toilets and fish tank sloshed out on the floor.

The house across the street was demolished; also a mobile home park a few blocks away. It is not something you can describe or explain; you just stand there and are amazed the world is not upside down. Actually you are amazed that there is STILL a world.

This morning the ground has almost stopped quivering but the after-shocks are more intense; you head for the hall way (the safest place) and by the time you get there it's stopped. We counted three in less than twenty minutes last night but they are farther apart this morning and harder a few seconds (about one), earth quakes really they are that hard.

I just thought you might like to hear from some one from Eastland who is here. I live at 303 S. Connellee in Eastland. I will be here in Big Bear Lake at my son's house till July 8th. I am not afraid but its scary while its happening. We are expecting more earth quakes for five or six days.

The people treat them like we do tornadoes, it's possible when thunder clouds are around.

The fewer structures built in the last ten years are earth quake proof as much as is possible but the one's built before are all in shambles, some parts still standing.

I will be back in Texas August 6. I am on vacation.

Glasgow Speaks About Senate Race At Meeting

"We have the craziest tax system in the world in Texas," declared State Senator Bob Glasgow at a Democratic Party Meeting in Cisco July 2.

Glasgow, who is running for re-election in the 22nd District, told a crowd in the Cisco First National Bank Community Room that the Ad Valorem Tax is the "worst tax known to man."

He said it had made real estate "worth nothing," and in cases he knew of had actually forced elderly people off their farms.

The Senator stated his opinions clearly on this and a number of other issues involved in the Senatorial race between himself and Republican Jane Nelson of Lewisville, Texas. He described himself as a "Conservative Democrat."

The meeting in Cisco also included a report from Saul Pullman on the recent Democratic State Convention. Eastland County had 100 percent participation at the Convention, Pullman said. Bill Clinton was endorsed as Democratic Candidate for President.

Pullman, MC for the Cisco gathering, welcomed County Democratic workers from Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Rising Star, and other area communities.

Guests from out-of-town included Glasgow and staff members: Bob Munson, Head Political Consultant, and Virginia Dorris of Stephenville, a Legislative Assistant.

State Representative John Cook of Breckenridge was present, and Phil Garrett, County Attorney of Palo Pinto County. Garrett is also the Democratic Party Chairman of that County.

Mary Bailey, Eastland County Democratic Party Chairman, registered guests at the meeting. June Hicks and Ann Murray presided at the refreshment tables.

Door prizes of State Lottery tickets were presented in a drawing.

Glasgow began his talk by reviewing the Reagan-Bush years and Republican policies in general.

"Since Reagan went into the Presidency (1980) we've had more bankruptcies since from George Washington to Ronald Reagan.

"If you've been getting anything from that 'trickle down' theory let me know about it," he chuckled. "It looks like a lot of rich folks are running the country."

He mused that kids really ought to be taught history—hopefully they would learn from the past. "The history of great civilizations (that go down) show that they all broke up internally," Glasgow remarked. "Are we breaking up internally?"

"In Texas over three million people have no health insurance. About 25 percent of the children in Texas go to bed hungry. There are about 800,000 children in Texas on the 'Aid to Dependant Children' program."

"We are funding competitors around the world! I wonder—can we be saviors of the world and help everyone in this country too?"

Then he turned to the vast subject of government programs and how to finance them. He outlined how much of the state spending was federally mandated.

"We can't cut the road budget, we are under lawsuits on education, under Federal orders on social programs, and we (Texas) will soon have the 6th or 7th largest penal colony in the world—larger than most countries of the world."

"My opponent is running around saying Glasgow is for a State Income Tax," he told the crowd. "Well, I haven't seen one of those that would work. But if one ever works it would be good for rural Texas."

"I'm for tax equity—taxing according to ability to pay."

The Ad Valorem Tax does none of that, he said, and is destroying the family farm. The franchise tax is also harmful, he declared, for 28 percent of the businesses pay all the taxes. And the sales tax is regressive—devastating to lower income people.

Glasgow said that the only people who get a break on taxes are "Doctors, lawyers, and other high income earners."

He indicated that a three or four percent State Income Tax, with an equitable business tax and a low Ad Valorem tax (for local funds) might work.

"The worst thing in the country is the Gramm-Rudman law," the Senator declared. "It shifts burdens down to the state and local levels."

He hit the redistricting of Senate District 22, a decision that joined part of the Metroplex with a large rural area.

"A judge implemented the redistricting plans the Republicans handed him," Glasgow stated. "What does Carrollton have in common with Gorman or Rising Star?"

He characterized his opponent, Jane Nelson, as a "rich lady, looking for something to do."

He alleged that her work on the State Textbook Committee had included involvement on "not to adopt any theory of evolution without putting creationism in the book also." He referred to that as a right-wing fundamental religious purpose.

"She is from Lewisville, Texas, national home of the Home-Schoolers," he remarked. "There are good home schools, but I don't believe the state should do away with any and all control over home schools."

Glasgow also said that she (Nelson), "along with religious fanatics," is opposed to all abortions.

"I don't claim to always know the best answers on abortion, but I believe there are moral problems people are going to have to solve for themselves," Glasgow said. "The Government cannot solve all the problems."

He told the crowd he thought this would be a tough Senatorial race. Although he has served in Austin since 1980, Republican areas of the Metroplex may vote for Nelson, he said.

But Glasgow also mentioned that if all the agricultural counties in District 22 would support him the way Eastland and Comanche counties always have there would be no problem in getting elected.

Then Glasgow opened the meeting for questions, and answered a number of them. One person asked him how he thought Ross Perot would do in the Presidential election.

"I think Ross Perot will run extremely strong in urban areas," Glasgow answered. "I think Bill Clinton will carry the state, with Perot second and George Bush third. Perot will hurt George Bush."

He had some comment on the reason Perot would run strong.

"The liberals have taken over the Democratic Party, and the religious righters the Republicans."

"We have to get back to the middle, where the people are."

Glasgow had a final comment on his Senatorial race. "There is no telling what they will say about me—there will be some big-time negative advertising."

"I've been in the Senate more than eight years, worked hard, carried more bills, helped pass more and served on more Committees than most people who go there."

He said he would stand on his record—experience ought to count for something.

Senior Citizens Center

by Marjorie West

July 2 was a very warm day, but our attendance at the center was good. The prior Thursday we had our birthday party and our attendance was 52.

Everyone is looking forward to the 4th of July Celebration. Many people have put in many hours making our town look more attractive. You can really see the difference in the appearance of our streets as you drive down Main.

We wish to thank Ray Hutchinson for the carpet strip he gave us to place in front of our kitchen cabinet and the one to place in front of our exit door.

Marion and Marjorie West enjoyed Wednesday at Cisco Senior Citizens; they had a nice visit with their friends and enjoyed lunch. The Rhythm Band is taking vacation during the month of July.

Bill Thompson and Anna Lovell were back at the club Thursday. It was good to see them again.

Anna Lovell has been caring for her son's garden and canning vegetables. She had a nice two-week visit with her sister in Lubbock in April.

During our meeting Thursday, Henry Robertson was rushed to an Abilene hospital with a heart problem. We hope he will be well soon.

Sula Harris has returned from a good visit in Cleburne, visiting two sisters and a nephew.

Curtis and Stella Hill visited their friends, Dick and Glenn Walker, in Nocona the first part of the week.

Marguerite Alford dropped by the center a few minutes Thursday.

Erma Jones' brother-in-law, Loyce Henry, of Monahans passed away. Our sympathy goes out to the loved ones of the family.

Visitors at the center last Thursday were Pauline Parsons, Maurice Martin, Betty and Garry Duggan and Paul Owen.

Two nurses from Concepts of Care, Inc. were at the center Thursday checking blood pressures. We appreciate this service, which is conducted the first Thursday of each month. Mark the date on your calendar.

David Young Heads WTU's Business Development Dept.

West Texas Utilities Co. is strengthening its commitment to the future of west Texas with the creation of a new business development department. Heading the department will be David Young who was promoted from manager of economic development to director of business development.

Young will be responsible for the company's economic support programs which help local and regional groups like cities, chambers of commerce and industrial development agencies attract business and jobs to west Texas. "Attracting new industries is critical to the economic well being of this region" according to Paul Brower, WTU's vice president of marketing and business development. He announced the changes. "This organizational change emphasizes the increased importance we see for this effort and will allow David and his team to maximize their efforts in promoting the many advantages of WTU's service territory" Brower said.

Young, a graduate of Northeast Louisiana University, holds a BS degree in business administration and a BBA in marketing. He joined Southwestern Electric Power Company in 1979 as a research assistant, then held staff advisor positions in energy audits and residential marketing before he became an economic development specialist in 1986. He moved to WTU in 1989 as manager of economic development.

Both WTU and SWEPCO are subsidiaries of Central and South West Corp.

Working with Young are David Scott, community development consultant, Eric Geisler, economic development specialist and Rita Sanchez, secretary. The department concentrates its efforts on promoting the region's traditional economic strengths and exploring opportunities for a more diversified future.

Traditionally railroads, agriculture, ranching and oil were the economic foundations of the West Texas economy. As these industries have matured, cities and counties have initiated economic development programs to help diversify the local business base and capitalize on regional resources.

WTU's business development team is staffed to help communities and regional economic development organizations establish strategic plans and marketing strategies for their local job attraction efforts.

To identify prospective businesses which may have an interest in WTU's service territory, the department attends trade shows and conducts out-of-state trips armed with information about the many economic advantages of the region. Together with other WTU departments, the economic development staff encourages existing businesses to expand or become more competitive through efforts like in-

New Book Provides Good Key Business Data

The Definitive Home Business Income Opportunities Summary. By MLR Enterprises, P. O. Box 28, Olden, TX 76466. $15.00.

A big title for a little book, but oh-so accurate and an absolute gold mine for all looking for opportunities "to make a little extra money." There are so many "would be" get-rich schemes out there one can get bogged down quickly in trying to wade through the pounds of material you're barraged with if you write for information.

The author of this little book has done the work for you and attempts to provide the information you need to make educated decisions to protect yourself from chain letters, scams and others schemes that only make money for others. Learn the difference between Multi-level Marketing and Multi-level Networking.

Hundreds of companies are reviewed in a fair, systematic manner with all the data necessary to evaluate the potentials for profit.

And in addition to a good bibliography, there are two bonus features, either of which is worth the price of the book. One is a listing of firms that sell computers and supplies by mail and the other is a list of mail order liquidators.

If you've dabbled in the "work at home" marketplace, then you know it's a jungle out there. This book, properly used, can save time, tears, and legal tender. -- H.V.O.

Texans tighten the spigot

Texans are using less water today than in the early 1970s. In 1974, Texans used a total of 17.3 million acre-feet. In 1989, water use totaled 15.0 million acre-feet.

Better Ways To Cope With Increased Demand For Water As State Population Grows

"There's an important message for Texans in the parable of the man who went to the well for water once too often: while the well isn't dry yet, Texas' water supplies cannot grow fast enough, and we must find new ways to meet the future water needs of this state," State Comptroller John Sharp says.

"Population growth in Texas over the next 50 years will generate a 40 percent increase over present water use in the state. Since there's not much room for growth of existing water supplies, we must shift our focus to better use of existing supplies and facilities," Sharp said.

An assessment of Texas' future water needs is explored in the current issue of Fiscal Notes, a monthly publication of the Comptroller's Research Division. The report finds that while Texans are using less water today than in the early 1970s, the demand will increase dramatically in future years. Conservation, recharging water supplies, better water management and public education are the keys to assuring an adequate water supply for Texas, the Fiscal Notes article says.

Fiscal Notes reports that in 1974, Texans used a total of 17.3 million acre-feet of water. By 1989, total water use had declined to 15 million acre feet. Since 1974, significantly less water has been used for crop irrigation, while municipal use has risen. Manufacturing and other users have remained relatively constant.

"But any conversation about the future must center on whether there will be enough clean usable water to support the nation's third largest state populace and one of the country's leading agricultural producers," Sharp said. "Without adequate water resources, Texas' future is limited at best. Water is essential to the well-being of 17.6 million Texans and the thousands of businesses that provide more than 6 million jobs in the state."

Planning for future water needs has taken a dramatic turn in recent years. With almost 80 percent of the potential reservoir sites in Texas already built, and federal funds for construction of new water projects all but evaporated, the Fiscal Notes article concludes that the cost to the state of assuming costs of new projects would drain billions of dollars from the state treasury. Better environmental controls, land use restrictions and property owner lawsuits make new reservoir construction more difficult today than in the past. Since water planners don't find much room for growth, they must shift their focus from expansion to better use of existing supplies and facilities.

"For the past 20 years, the state's role in water management has expanded dramatically, while the federal government's participation, particularly in water planning and financing, has diminished," Sharp said.

"The role reversal is most apparent in the financing of water, wastewater and flood protection facilities. From 1930 to 1980, the federal government financed construction of more than 1,000 dams in the United States, but none since."

The Fiscal Notes article concludes that state officials are exploring four key strategies as the need for additional water grows in Texas, including:

- Conservation—More efficient use of water, such as drip irrigation, watersaving plumbing fixtures and repair of leaks in pipelines. Rationing is a drastic measure sometimes required during an extended drought and is not considered an ongoing conservation practice.

- Alternative supplies—Recharging aquifers by artificial means can increase the supply of usable groundwater in some areas, as demonstrated by El Paso's storage of treated sewage in the Hueco Bolson geologic formation. In other areas, mixing poor and high quality water supplies may produce a usable, consumable water supply at comparatively low cost.

- Regional planning—The Texas Water Commission has called for concrete and systematic water policies that extend management strategies across watersheds and adopt a regional approach to water issues. Without this approach, the multitude of regulatory agencies, river authorities, water districts and supply corporations makes it difficult to coordinate solutions to the state's water problems.

- Education—Public

Vivid Characters In Classic 'To Have and Have Not'

The screen play was by Jules Furthman and William Faulkner, based on a novel by Ernest Hemingway. It was produced and directed by Howard Hawks for Warner Brothers.

But notable as these professional were, it was the actors cast in the leading roles that really made the 1944 Classic "To Have and Have Not" stand out. Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall were the stars, with strong support from Walter Brennan, Hoagy Carmichael and others. There is intrigue, romance, danger, and a sultry and colorful Caribbean setting.

awareness of water issues is essential for conservation and pollution control to succeed. Citizens need to know how to prevent water contamination due to oil, dirt, trash and other wastes carried by runoff and drainage. Pollution prevention is far cheaper than paying the higher costs of water treatment, dredging lakes and removing toxic materials.

Forces of Change, the Comptroller's ongoing study of issues affecting the state's future, is exploring the growing demands on water and other natural resources in Texas, and how environmental quality is the key to the state's continued economic wellbeing.

Poem

LOVE
Bright beams our Father's mercy
As He sends to us His
love
Like a shepherd that lost his sheep
In this sinful troubled world.
Oh little child of sorrow
and trouble
Cast your eyes to the heavenly sky
You can see an artists
masterpiece
As he paints the stars
on high.
So when the load gets too heavy

And you never seem to get to the end
Remember that some one still loves you
In our Jesus you have a friend.
So when the final trumpet sounded
And the dead in Christ shall rise
Will you join in the celebration
Or forever be cast aside.

Fishing Outdoors

by Terry Wilson

LEON'S BLACK ARE BACK

A vacation can really help sometimes, I know this past week gave me a much needed mental rest. And it reflected in some good catches of blacks at Leon. The fish seem to be establishing some good summer patterns with early biter coming shallow on Pop-R's Hell-Raisers and Slug O's. As the sun rises the better bites seem to be coming from 6 to 20 feet of water on worms, cranks, and Pork O's. Minnow colors (green and white) seem to be working best since the high winds have stained the water. Should the wind settle and the water clear, try some black and blue.

The river section of Leon seems to be sour with the shad almost jumping up on bank, and the bass bites are tough. But we did see a few croppie being caught.

Mid lake starts clearing and water temperatures begin cooling. So if you get a chance to head out to Leon this would be a great place to start.

July 11 and 12 Leon will place host to the Anglers Choice Two Person Team Tournament. This is the next to last event for this region and teams are jockeying for sports in the fall classic to be held once again at Lake Texoma September 30 through October 3. These anglers 15 qualifiers and 5 wildcard will compete for fully rigged Ranger Boats, plus cash and prizes.

High waters since December have had a positive impact at Canyon Lake, a recent electrofishing survey showed. Several other Texas reservoirs also have completed spring surveys.

Historically low in nutrients and with limited prey fish production, May electrofishing data showed 183 threadfin shad collected per hour, up from 133 per hour in 1991. Blacktail shiners increased from 33 per hour in 1991 to 69 per hour this year, and silversides increased from 23 per hour to 38 per hour. Green sunfish, redbreast sunfish and bluegills also increased significantly.

Steve Magnolia, a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist from San Marcos, said the largemouth bass population should respond favorably. The "plumpness" of bass already has increased 5 percent to 10 percent over last year.

Electrofishing at Sam Rayburn Reservoir produced a catch rate of 116 largemouth bass per hour. Thirty-one percent exceeded the 14-inch minimum length limit. These figures are steady over the past three years.

Spring gill net samples produced good numbers of channel catfish, white bass and hybrid striped bass. Channel catfish ranged from 10 inches to 20 inches and averaged close to 2 pounds each. White bass were more numerous than any other time during the past three years with all fish measuring longer than the 10-inch minimum length. Hybrid stripers averaged about 4 pounds.

Toledo Bend Reservoir produced 119 bass per hour and 26 percent were longer than 14 inches, an increase of 30 percent in legal-sized fish. Paul Seidensticker, biologist in Jasper, said the increase was expected because 12-inch fish were stocked into the lake in 1991.

About 110 bass per hour were recorded from Lake Nacogdoches, 55 percent of which were within the 14-inch to 21-inch slot. These figures have remained constant for the past four years.

Lake Pinkston produced a catch rate of 206 bass per hour, similar to past years, but higher than other lakes because the lake was under an 18-inch minimum length limit until September 1991, when it was changed to a 14-inch to 18-inch slot limit. Thirty-six percent of the bass caught were within the slot limit.

Kurth Lake, an 800-acre impoundment near Lufkin, produced 44 largemouth bass per hour from electrofishing, 75 percent of which were over the 14-inch minimum length limit. Gill net samples in the lake produced only small numbers of channel catfish, but several large flathead catfish were captured.

Electrofishing on B.A. Steinhagen Reservoir produced 87 largemouths per hour, 11 percent over the 14-inch minimum. Seidensticker said the sample indicated good reproduction and recruitment but slow growth because of the high turbidity in the shallow, muddy reservoir. Gill net samples also produced good numbers of blue and channel catfish, gizzard shad and freshwater drum.

A special electrofishing survey was conducted on the Lower Sabine River near Orange to evaluate the effects of the 14-inch minimum length limit on the largemouth bass population in a marsh-river environment. The catch rate of bass 2 years old and older was 48 per hour. Eighteen percent of the bass exceeded the 14-inch minimum length limit. Age and growth analysis indicated that the bass reached about 8 inches in their first year, 13 inches by age two, 15 inches at age three, 17 inches at age four and more than 19 inches by age five. Thirty percent of the bass were Florida hybrids.

Cow Bayou near Bridge City produced 65 largemouth bass per hour with one bass longer than 14 inches. The lack of larger bass could be the result of higher salinities from a tidal influence in the lower reaches, higher turbidity in the stream and possibly harvest of the bass as soon as they reach 14 inches, Seidensticker said.

The catch rate at Taylor Bayou near Port Arthur was 48 bass per hour with 13 percent exceeding 14 inches. An exam showed that 50 percent were either Florida bass or Florida hybrids. These bass reached 11 inches the first year, 13.5 inches by age two, 15 inches by age three, and more than 16 inches by age four. These rates were similar to a 1985 survey.

"One important factor to consider on the bass populations in the streams of Southeast Texas is that before the 14-inch minimum length limit was imposed in 1986 a common complaint among fishermen was that most of the fish were 9.5 inches long," Seidensticker said. "Now the complaint is that most of the bass are 13.5 inches long. This usually indicates that fishermen are harvesting the bass as soon as they reach the legal limit."

Sun's UV Light Effect On Eyes

The sun's ultraviolet (UV) light causes skin damage, but it may also be linked to age-related eye disorders, say researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Understanding how ultraviolet light ages cells in the eye may help doctors treat disorders such as cataracts and macular degeneration, two major vision disorders that can be age-related," said Dr. Laurence Rapp, assistant professor of ophthalmology at Baylor.

Rapp is measuring the effects of UV-A light in the eyes of rats. Cells in the retina of the eye are examined to evaluate damage and to determine the influence of that light on the aging process. Rapp says this research may also answer some questions about one of the mechanisms which may be involved in aging called oxidation.

When oxidation occurs, cells lose the ability to break down matter which leads to a buildup of material known as 'debris'. "The debris buildup caused by oxidation may cause several age-related problems in the eye such as detachment of the retina, hemorrhaging and cell death," said Rapp. "If we can learn how UV-A light enhances this process, we may be able to treat these and other disorders of the eye in earlier stages."

There are three bands of ultraviolet light called UV-B and UVB, and UV-C. Only two of them, UV-A and UV-B, penetrate the earth's protective ozone layer.

Rapp suggests using sunglasses with full UV-light protection. "Your ophthalmologist can tell you if a pair of glasses properly blocks out the harmful rays. Sunglasses with 100-percent UV-light protection may help lessen the risk for age-related vision problems."
