M. D. Gibson has made improvements in his City Drug Store, removing the soda fountain and adding new and attractive shelving for the convenient display of goods.

C. M. "Mutt" Carroll is convalescing after an operation for a pinched spinal nerve performed by a Ft. Worth neurosurgeon two weeks ago. He will be away from his business at the Magnolia service station on E. College for an indefinite time. It is Mutt's second such operation.

From Boyce House's column, "I Give You Texas":

The absence of crowds is one of the changes that strikes those of us who remember 25 or 30 years ago.

"Farmer Jim" Ferguson spoke to an audience of thousands that rocked with laughter and cheers in Marine Park in Fort Worth in 1932. And the traditional rally on the courthouse lawn the night before the primary would draw five thousand or more.

T.C.U. attracts big crowds to its gridiron battles now but the high school games lure only a fraction of the attendance they once did. (Back in the 1930's, if the "Mighty Mites" of Masonic Home were playing, Farrington Field, seating 17,000, would be packed.)

One Saturday, the horse races at Arlington Downs were viewed by 50,000, declared to be the largest crowd in the history of sport in Texas up to that time. Now the only races are the Quarter Horse sprints at Brady, Fredericksburg and a few other towns in the Hill Country.

A parade in Fort Worth on Armistice Day, would crowd the sidewalks almost all the way from the railroad station on lower main to the courthouse.

In fact, just about any event that offered spectacle, color, and entertainment could count on a throng.

They topped off the streets the day the T & P opened its beautiful station and the estimate of the crowd was 20,000.

When an overpass was dedicated, the ribbon-cutting, the speeches and the square dancing in the street would bring a massed and milling mob.

Not only was this true of Fort Worth but of Texas in general.

The double log cabin at Holland's Lake was the scene of an old-timers reunion. On the day that "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, governor of Oklahoma (a former Parker Countian) spoke, the dust hung in a cloud, as a line of cars inched along, the entire length of the three miles from the Weatherford Courthouse to the grounds. Estimates were that at least 10,000 were there.

When the railroad was built into Woodson, the free barbecue drew some 14,000. (The rails have long since been taken up.)

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Brownwood in 1924 and, the following year in Mineral Wells) was the occasion of a parade that included some 40 bands and the procession was witnessed by 50,000 - which was about four times the population of the host city.

The Fourth of July was a day of excitement, too. There would be plenty of doings at the grove - families would bring picnic baskets; there would be a speech by a great man, perhaps a State Senator or even a Congressman; fireworks; harness races; all kinds of contests, such as three-legged races and sack-races; and the vendors of lemonade and the instantaneous photograph-takers would have a field day.

At Pioneer, where in 1922 an oil boom was in progress, the celebration of the Glorious Fourth drew 5,000 - and they were not even missed from the crowded main street, half a mile long.

Rising Star Voters Turn Thumbs Down On All Amendments

Methodists Hear Noted Japanese At Ranger Meet

Attending the Cisco Methodist missionary institute at Ranger Thursday, Oct. 30 from Rising Star, were Rev. and Mrs. Robert Cook and daughters, Patsy and Jane; Mr. and Mrs. York Eberhart and daughters, Hope and Francis, and Mmes. Beyrl Heath, Vada Arnold, H. S. Switzer, Marshall Groce, L. R. Smith, and Miss Minnie Hudson.

The Rev. Dr. Takuo Matsumoto, famed Japanese religious leader, educator and survivor of the Hiroshima bomb, was the speaker. He told the story of five noted Christian schools in Japan which are supported by Methodists, including Aoyama Gakuin at Tokio, with which he is now associated and which has an enrollment of 10,000, and the Hicshima Girls School which he headed at the time the first atomic bomb was dropped. Dr. Matsumoto's wife and 300 students were killed in the blast.

Changes Made In Social Security By '58 Amendments

By R. R. Tuley, Jr.
Dist. Mgr. - Abilene, Texas

As you know, benefit amounts are figured from a working person's average earnings. Right now, only earnings up to a total of $4,200 in a year can be credited to a worker's social security account. Beginning with 1959, however, earnings up to $4,800 will be creditable and taxable for social security purposes.

Social Security taxes will be increased beginning with 1959. An employed person will have 2 1/2 percent taken out of his pay instead of the present 2 1/4 percent; his employer will contribute 2 1/2 percent also. The self-employment social security tax will be increased 3/8 of 1 percent and will become 3-3/4 percent of net earnings up to $4,800 in the year. Self-employed people will pay at this increased rate for the year 1959 with the tax return they make early in 1960.

Important changes have been made in the disability insurance provision in the law. If a worker, age 60-64, is getting monthly disability benefits because he is too disabled for further substantial gainful work, payments can be made to his dependents just like the payments made to old-age insurance beneficiaries. Moreover, a person entitled to social security disability benefits no longer has the amount of his benefit payment reduced or withheld because he is receiving disability payments from some other Federal or State agency.

The amended law also makes it easier for people whose disabilities develop gradually to qualify for either cash disability benefits or the disability "freeze". This is brought about through a change in the work requirements. It is no longer necessary that the worker have at least 1 1/2 years of social security credit out of the 3 years before he became disabled. The standards for determining disability remain the same. A person must still be unable to perform substantial, gainful work. The new requirement is that the worker be fully insured and have 20 quarters of coverage out of the 40 calendar quarters before he became disabled.

Other changes have been made in the social security law, including several relating to benefits for dependents. I shall discuss the latter in my next article.

Rising Star voters turned thumbs down on all nine proposed constitutional amendments in comparatively light voting in the two local boxes Tuesday.

In county, state and congressional races, voting was, of course, overwhelmingly democratic, but in the matter of authorizing annual sessions of a salaried legislature, and in other matters in which constitutional authority is required, the local voters registered an emphatic "No."

The West box, where Raymond Gray presided, had a total of 137 votes, while in the East side box, presided over by M. B. Shook, 83 ballots were cast.

The results as to the amendments were:

Adequate Training Essential To World Farm Leadership

By H. L. Geys.
Teacher of Vocational Agriculture
Rising Star High School

If the United States is to maintain her world leadership in agriculture, it is essential that we maintain an adequate number of college trained individuals in the science of agriculture. High school departments of vocational agriculture offer basic college preparatory training for those students who plan to become tomorrow's college trained agricultural leaders and scientists.

The nation needs 15,000 college graduates in agriculture annually. We are getting less than 7,000. The shortage will probably continue for some time. Each year we need 2,000 college graduates for re-placements in farming and ranching.

The field of agricultural research, which is responsible for most of the rapid progress we have made in agriculture, needs 1,000 research workers each year. Agricultural education, which has the responsibility of educating farm youth and adults, and others connected with agriculture, needs 3,000 new professional workers each year. Agricultural business and industry, which employs approximately 30 percent of the workers in the United States, needs 6,000 workers annually. Each year we need 1,000 for conservation, 500 for agricultural communications and 1,500 for agricultural services.

E. V. Walton, head of the Department of Agricultural Education, states that, "When and if global war comes, the difference between Russia and the United States will not be in technology but in agriculture. Agriculture is the one productive area in which we are superior to Russia. We have had a 40 year lead. It is expedient for us to keep this substantial superiority."

High school vocational agriculture students obtain a background that prepares them for college work in these various fields of agricultural sciences.

(Next week) Mr. Geys will discuss "Vocational Agriculture Prepares for Related Farming Occupations."

Rising Star Meets Gorman Saturday In Final Game

By J. C. Crump

To have a punt blocked early in a game, resulting in a score for their opponents is one of the most distressing things that can happen to a football team, and it happened to the Rising Star Wildcats on their home field last Friday night.

The Jim Ned Indians kicked off to Rising Star to start the game. Failing to gain a first down, the Wildcats attempted a punt which was blocked on Rising Star's 9-yard line. Jim Ned took over at that point and needed only one play to score. Bill Swindle, who impresses us as being about the best back in the district, raced into the end zone with the game's initial score. The conversion attempt failed.

Rising Star's running game was slowed down by the absence of Left Half Douglas Walker, who was out with a knee injury. The passing department, too, was not as sharp as it had been lately, as several passes went far over the intended receiver. The Wildcats sparked at times, but could not keep a sustained drive going.

Shortly before the first quarter ended, Swindle zoomed down the field and caught a pass from Quarterback Aldridge which covered 65 yards and a TD. The conversion attempt was successful for two points.

In the second quarter, Swindle set up a touchdown with two long runs. In quick succession the fleet Jim Ned back scored two more touchdowns with a 60-yard run and an intercepted pass which he returned 50 yards.

Swindle scored the only TD in the third on a plunge from two yards out.

In the last quarter Gary Scott furnished the thrill for the Rising Star partisans when he rolled out and ran 50 yards to score and then added two extra points on a left end run.

The final score: Jim Ned, 44; Rising Star, 8.

The Wildcats go to Gorman Saturday where they will meet the Gorman Panthers in the feature event of the Gorman homecoming and the final district game for the Wildcats.

Compost Pile Will Pay Big Dividends

College Station, Nov. 4 - Leaves which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens can give a boost to next year's flower or vegetable garden if properly handled, says Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Burning the leaves may be easier but the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, explains Bennett. The compost can be used next year to increase soil organic matter for mulching flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Making a compost pile is simple operation, points out the chemist. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts will take care of the enclosure. Then start with a six inch layer of leaves. For every four square feet of enclosure, dissolve a cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 6-2-6, in water and sprinkle the solution over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, Bennett suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

A gradual improvement in grade was being noted this week at the peanut grading station here as the bulk of the crop began coming into the station Monday and Tuesday. First receipts at the station graded very poor, but buyers pointed out that the receipts were small - only about 60 or 70 tons and were dug early. Misty weather last week held up the harvesting, but clearing skies and dry weather at the end of the week sent harvesters into the fields in great numbers.

Fortunately there was only slight rainfall, less than half an inch being recorded by the city hall station, during the period and it was not believed to have done much damage to the crop. Slight frost was also discounted in its effect.

Throughout the county as a whole the same conditions pertained. Even so, the best crop in many years was expected to be harvested.

Ross Wilson, general manager of the Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association in Gorman, said that Texas and the region is lagging behind Oklahoma due to unfavorable weather. About 45,000 tons of peanuts have been marketed in Oklahoma, he said, while about 30,000 tons have gone to market in Texas.

Wilson indicated that he had heard of yields running from 30 to 45 bushels per acre, in the vicinity of Gorman and De Leon, and he expects the average county yield to exceed 20 bushels per acre. (The County average for the past 15 years has been 20 bushels.)

Melvin Shell, president of the Gorman Peanut Co., reported that over 10,000 tons of Spanish peanuts from Texas and Oklahoma had been received by Thursday. Shell is connected with one of the largest plants in the nation.

T. C. Wylie, vice-president and general manager of Ranger Peanut Co., Inc., agrees that the average yield of the county is between 23 and 25 bushels per acre. Wylie said that the grade of peanuts now being received, has improved over early peanuts. The early harvested peanuts were graded in the 50's and low 60's, as compared with the high 50's and 60's now. Highest grade this season has been 68.

A few scattered peanut fields on irrigated land, should produce even better grades and a higher yield, Wylie said.

About 15 or 20 percent has been thrashed, but less than five percent has been marketed. Most of it is in the drying stage, Wilson indicated.

Peanuts are now being sold at prices above the government loan advance, said Wilson. He expects to come more into the picture when the prices come down on the loan level. The Association, operating in Texas, Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico, will then start storing peanuts in government warehouses.

At the present, about 1,200 tons are stored in 12 Oklahoma towns, including Star, Santo and Tolar, Wilson said. A few tons are stored at Rising Star.

The Oklahoma peanut crop is estimated to total between 60,000 and 70,000 tons while the slower Texas crop is estimated as high as 100,000 to 115,000 tons. Oklahoma is farther along on harvesting due to warmer weather conditions.

The Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association has warehouses across Central Texas ready to take the crops when prices are lower. Several thousand bushels are expected to be stored by the Association in Texas.

Charles Steel, a student in Texas Tech, at Lubbock, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Steel.

SPECS—

On one occasion, J. R. Record, the managing editor of the Star-Telegram, suggested I work up a motorcade to Weatherford. (I was a reporter.) A few articles in the paper and the result was the longest motorcade that Fort Worth ever sent forth.

Just to make a drive of 60 miles in the open air of night (in that pre-air-conditioning time), to pay a visit to a neighboring city and to eat a slice of chilled Parker County watermelon, how many people do you think went? Two thousand!

Talking pictures in technicolor and on the wide screen; radio, television - these are the factors that are usually credited with making crowds in Texas, and else where, a rarity - but I think that the world has become more sophisticated, more skeptical - less given to enthusiasm, less wide-eyed with wonder, more grown-up, if you please.

But I believe this generation is the loser thereby. Folks may be smarter but they have a harder time having a good time.

Mrs. Lillie Belle Bandau, daughter of the late John Landreth and a cousin of Mrs. Dixon Boggs, was a visitor in the Boggs home recently. She also visited relatives in the Amity community. Mrs. Bandau lives in Denver, Colo.

Thanksgiving Day will be a happier, more meaningful day...

for a "thank-you visit" to your church

It's a story we all know and love—the first Pilgrim Thanksgiving. The excitement in their little homes must have been pretty much as it is today—the tantalizing smells of roast turkey and pumpkin pie—the bustle and rush of eager children—it must have been a wonderful day!

But before the Pilgrims sat down to their feast they observed the true meaning of Thanksgiving. They all gathered together in their meetinghouse to give thanks for the good they had received, for survival through a long year of hardship, and to pray for the strength and courage to keep their faith in this strange, new land.

This Thanksgiving, why not take your family to your house of worship. A quiet hour of prayer and thanks will make your holiday so much more meaningful.

Wherever you are . . . whatever your beliefs may be . . . take time to offer your words of thanks . . . just as the Pilgrims did more than 300 years ago.

GIVE THEM A FAITH TO LIVE BY...
WORSHIP WITH THEM THIS WEEK

VETERAN'S DAY

Forty years ago "the war to end war" was ended with an armistice. A day was set aside to commemorate the happy event.

Now, thirteen years after a vastly more disastrous World War II, the American people have learned that "armistice" means only a temporary cessation . . . and a condition of our national life for some time to come; however, we now call it "Veteran's Day."

We have learned that against fanatical force . . . peace, justice, reason, are only empty words unless backed by force; that national policy is not a matter of white papers and diplomats meeting . . . but something we must be prepared to die for.

We have learned that to the men who do the fighting, there are no small wars. In Korea, or anywhere, "the guns are just as heavy, and the dead are just as dead."

We have learned the hard way . . . but luckily in time . . . If our adversaries now realize that the American people will not hesitate to take the hard way out, our sacrifice has been worth its cost.

THE VIEW FROM A SENIOR'S HEAD

It well might be said that the Seniors' motto is "Aint we got fun", for it seems that if there is fun to be had, our Seniors will have it. How about that, Delwin? (Moved any more houses lately, Delwin). Several of the boys enjoyed the pleasure of helping initiate the Tarleton freshmen last week. And that's not all, for then there was Hallowe'en night. (Aw, yes!) If you went home Friday night after the game and found some of your property missing, don't look at us, 'cause we were all neatly tucked in our little beds within an hour after the game, or maybe it was 12:00 (a.m. that is!)

"Wonder how those Jim Ned Indians feel after being burned at the stake at our bonfire? I'll bet that's the first time in history a Wildcat "barbecued" an Indian. The girls are real excited about the football boys' jackets that they ordered, 'cause it surely will be nice to have bright new jackets to wear; the old ones were getting a little shabby.

'Til next time 'tis "Naughty Nellie" closing with my final view "Love is a wonderful feeling that would be still more wonderful if it were as easy to keep as it is to make".

P. S. You'll never know how old you are getting until you've snake-danced through the streets of dear 'ol Twinkle (eh, Joe?)

JUNIOR LIVE WIRE

It has gotten cold here lately! Ralliers kept warm at the bonfire Thursday night, though, we are having no home coming game, we thought the year just couldn't pass out without a bonfire. Certain of the Junior girls were on hand for the gathering of the wood and tires for the framework of the bonfire. How about that, Jettie, Mary Lois, LaVeda and Janis? It is such fun, running around in the "Toad Frog" collecting things no one else would have; getting dirty hands and clothes; and having a general, organized free-for-all! Who will agree with me? What is a year of hard played football without a bon-fire? Our purpose for having it in the first place, to boost the spirits of the fighting Wildcats, paid off. Our big team fought to the finish and we are still backing them, all the way!!

How many of you Juniors got your term themes in on time? Due on Hallowe'en Day, most of us were glad they weren't due the day after. We were especially thankful that we at least got to choose the subject matter for our themes for ourselves this year. Mrs. Claborn ordered material on any author we chose to write on from the Extension Loan Department, Texas University. I enjoyed writing about Mark Twain and the Juniors enjoyed writing theirs, I am sure.

As I type this, I can look up from my typewriter and see many faces, all of Juniors. They all have character; and all are so different. There is Frank Weise -- patient and forgiving; Bonnie Tyler -- serious, yet loving life and living in this world; John Bob Wilson -- an impish quality about him, but nonetheless, a strong character all his own; Virginia Townsend -- a tender personality that shows in her face; Danilia Darnell -- intelligent, pretty, not in the least conceited all these traits are hers; these are only a few of the Juniors, not all, but typical of the class we are terribly proud to be a part of. Not a one of us would ever change our heritage; we love this class.

Reporter for the greatest class Jones

Ugh! er-I mean. Well, well. They tell me this is the Sophomore Pow-Wow. How nice. If there is anything I love it's a little pow-wow. (Thought I was going to say something else, didn't you?)

By the way. What is that shiny object on Elaine's left hand? Speaking of hands, there are about three Sophomore girls that can't seem to control their hands in the lab. Their hands cling to anything within reach, and automatically mix it. Maybe someday those mysterious girls will get blown sky high. I doubt it though. No such luck. You have to admit it, Mr. White, that the mixture turned the funniest colors. At that time Mr. White didn't think it was so funny.

What say? A sailor. Here? Coming to see a Sophomore? Ah-get off, you know better than that. Hey! Wait a minute. Seems I heard Jetta singing something about "coats of navy blue". Why sure, that's it. Oops - I think I let the cat out of the bag.

As most of you already know Tom Hardin, one of our Sophomore Wildcats had his leg broken in scrimmage Tuesday afternoon. At the present time he is in Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene. If you have ever been in the hospital, you know how Tom feels; so to break the monotony and bring a little hope, let's all take just a minute of our time to send him a card; he would appreciate it.

The Sophomore girls are so happy. They are just about to get through with the clothes they have been making ever since school started. Some of them are already through and ready to go again. Speaking of getting through, we are almost finished with the play, "Julius Caesar", by William Shakespeare.

Ho-hum, (I surely am sleepy). I am sure if this responsibility were mine every week, I would need a breather. After all, we are only Sophomores; you can't expect too much from us.

I want to ask all you people reading this to come out and back the Wildcats Saturday at Gorman. Come on out; see your old classmates, and witness a fine ball game; you'll be glad you did.

Well, power to you! and don't forget -- -- BEAT THOSE PANTHERS!

FISH BOWL

We are looking forward to our game with Jim Ned. The fish girls are real excited about pin-

ACTIVITIES OF THE R. S. H. S. CHEERLEADERS

Last week was the busiest one the cheerleaders have had since school started. The Wildcats were getting ready to meet the Jan Ned Indians and the duties of the cheerleaders were numerous.

The bonfire was one of the responsibilities of the cheerleaders. Wood had to be hauled and much wood was needed; several of the students helped with the task, and this was greatly appreciated.

At 6:15 Thursday night the cheerleaders, football boys, and the dummy rode through town, followed by the band. We stopped under the red light and yelled "Victory" and "If We're Goin' to Win". At 6:30 the cheerleaders, band, students, and general townspeople watched the burning dummy, which cheerleaders had made and tossed into the fire - piece by piece. A short pep rally was held; the band played, and yells were given. It ended with the singing of the school song and a snake dance through town.

On Wednesday, the cheerleaders were busy making the ribbons to be pinned on the football players at pep rally. On Thursday we sold beat ribbons.

Finally Friday morning arrived and we presented our longest pep rally. A stunt called "Gas Smog at All Night Canal" and a pom-pom routine to "Lollipop" were given. The girls whom the football players had chosen pinned on their ribbons. The pep rally, as usual, ended with the school song and the fight song.

Several speeches were made. Some included were by Jack Smith, President of the Student Council, Don Long and Gary Scott - football captains, Karen Steel, drum major, Mary Awall, head majorette, Nita Scott, football sweetheart, and Dorothy Whiteside, one of our exes.

This week we play our last football game of this season with Gorman. Everyone try to attend pep rally and the football game.

BEAT GORMAN, WILDCATS!

Mrs. Lua Hammond of Knox City was the guest this week of her sister, Mrs. M. S. Sellers, and Mr. Sellers.

Esso Extra Out-performs many gasolines selling for 1¢ more!

Esso Extra sells for premium—not super-premium—price, but it out-performs many gasolines selling for 1c to 2c more.

Out-performs them in clean-burning characteristics: it burns so clean that spark-plugs last up to 50% longer.

Out-performs them in anti-knock operation: its octane rating is high—higher, in fact, than the octane rating of many gasolines for which motorists pay a super-premium price.

Out-performs them in quick starting . . . in smooth, safe acceleration . . . in mileage.

Esso Extra is the No. 1 premium in Texas . . . first in premium sales . . . first in premium performance.
