

First United Methodist Church Marks 100th Year

RISING STAR CHURCH AT 100

The First United Methodist Church of Rising Star is observing its 100th year.

The Methodist Church of Rising Star was organized in 1879 as a part of the old Pecan Circuit by James Irby, a very religious man, who came to the sparsely settled community from Travis County near Waco. There were only three charter members: James and Sallie Irby, and a bachelor, Dennis Bond, who soon afterwards moved to New Mexico.

The Rev. L.S. Chamberlain of Sipe Springs held the opening service in a small log structure complete with a dirt floor. It was located on the old Smith place east of the present site of Rising Star. This building was also used as a school, which was taught by Mr. Irby.

A few years later services were held monthly in a frame school house near the present Rising Star Cemetery.

It was not long until a new three-room school building was constructed on a lot north of the present Church of Christ. The Rev. H.E. Raymond, pastor of the Sipe Springs Methodist Church, preached here once each month to a congregation of Methodist, Christian, Baptist, and Presbyterian church members.

During the year 1888 more Methodists moved into the area. With new members the need of a separate church arose. Mrs. Lucy L. Anderson donated a plot of ground for a church, and Rev. Raymond promoted the building of a small frame church building, situated on the lot where the Rising Star United Methodist Church now stands, the corner of West College and Anderson.

Still a part of the old Pecan Circuit, it soon became attached to the Sipe Springs Circuit, which included Pisgah, Salt Tank, Scranton, Sidney, Pioneer, and Coyote Peak.

In the fall of 1903, the Rev. D.A. McGuire was appointed to this charge, and during his three years as pastor an annex was built on to the south of the church building; thus, Rising Star became a full time station with preaching every Sunday.

Big meetings were held under a brush arbor near the church for two weeks each summer. People with large families came for miles to church on foot, riding in wagons, buggies, hacks, and on horseback.

From 1879 until 1926, 33 preachers had served as pastors of the church. They lived in frame parsonages, ranging in size from two to six rooms. The houses were poorly furnished with no conveniences.

The pastors were paid very small cash salaries. Canned fruits, potatoes, meat, poultry, and vegetables were contributed to help feed large parsonage families. Corn, hay, and oats for horses and cows were donated by members of the church. Two or three times each year women of the church collected used clothing to dress the wife and children of the pastor. This was the beginning of church poundings for the parsonage family.

In 1920 the first oil well was brought in near Rising Star, and the economy boomed. More Methodists moved into town. The Rev. Fizer M. Noe became pastor in the fall of 1925; shortly afterward he started a movement to build a new church.

The cornerstone of the present brick structure was laid by Bishop M. Moore of Dallas on June 26, 1926. The church was built at a cost of $26,500.

This building has a basement, a large number of class rooms, assembly rooms, a pastor's study, a library, nursery, kitchen, dining or fellowship hall, and restrooms.

The auditorium is surrounded by stained glass windows, which portray the life and teaching of Jesus. At the base of the windows may be seen the names of many honored members of the church who have had a part in the making of its history. They include James and Sallie Irby, J.W. Boase, Dr. and Mrs. J.A. Tyson, the Rev.

Fizer M. Noe, the Rev. J.J. and Rev. J.T. Terry, P.S. and Martha Venable, J.C. and Addie E. Livingston, E.F. Farr and Joseph Morgan Farr, Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Bucy, Mr. F. and Mrs. Alice Falls, James Burrell Heath, and the Women's Missionary Society.

Mattie Irby, who is a resident in the Rising Star Nursing Center is the daughter-in-law of James Irby.

In the wall behind the pulpit is a silver plaque honoring our missionary to China, the Rev. Sidney Raymond Anderson, son of Hob Anderson and grandson of Mrs. Lucy Anderson, who donated the church land.

Sid Anderson is largely responsible for the success of the great More Memorial Methodist Church of Shanghai, China, of which Marshal and Mrs. Kai-Shek and many of the other Chinese leaders are members.

Jalmar Bowden, another foreign missionary of the Rising Star Church, was assigned to Brazil, where he trained future ministers and missionaries of the Brazilian Methodist Church.

Of the 17 men who have gone out from the Rising Star Church as ministers of the Gospel are Mr. Murry, Neil Turner, Mr. Troy, Harold Gattis, Robert Bingham, W. Oscar Bucy, John Canafax, M. Leoson, Ed Anderson, and John Boatman. Bishop Ovan Lee Holt of Dallas was speaker for the dedication services Sunday, October 12, 1941, during the pastorate of Jack O. Whitaker.

During the one hundred years the church has ministered to thousands, who have held membership in it at one time or another; and to many thousands of others, who have come under its influence represented by ministers and missionaries who have been members of the First United Methodist Church of Rising Star.

Peanut Program Changes

Segregation 3 peanuts being transferred from additional to quota loan will be discounted at the rate of $25. per ton instead of $50. per ton, said David Martin, County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The change is one of several made by ASCS in the 1979 peanut program. Peanut qualities are classified as segregation 1, 2, or 3, and the lowest number indicates the smallest degree of damage kernels. Segregation 3 peanuts are used for crushing only. Under the program, each peanut farm is assigned an acreage allotment and a poundage quota. If more peanuts are grown on the acreage allotment than are covered by the farm's poundage quota, the extra peanuts are called "Additional peanuts" and are supported at a lower level than the quota peanuts. The maximum discount on segregation 2 peanuts under the same program was lowered from $100. to $25. per ton.

According to Martin, shellers may contract additional peanuts to be used in domestic markets if they put up an irrevocable letter of credit equal to the penalty rate for selling additional peanuts in domestic markets. These shellers must then agree to sell for export an equal quantity and quality of quota peanuts by the deadline required for the export of contract additional peanuts. Other changes in the program extended to three days, the time for buyback of additional peanuts for domestic use without added cost; eliminated field dried peanuts from the minimum allowable moisture level for quota support' and revised the definition of peanut products to read: Any products manufactured or derived from peanuts such as but not limited to peanut candy, peanut butter, peanut granules or peanut flakes. Deadline

July 15 is the deadline mailers have to use up small and undersized envelope and cards, Fort Worth Sectional Center Manager JACK D. WATSON reminds customers. Starting that date, the Postal Service makes its new size standards effective. Cards and envelopes measuring less than 3 and one-half inches high or 5 inches long no longer will be mailable and will be returned to the sender. Extra large First-Class envelopes--more than 6 and one-eighth inches by 11 and one-half inches--will incur a 7 cent surcharge if they weigh one ounce or less. Postmaster WATSON advises these oversized pieces will be returned to the sender if they do not carry the 7 cent surcharge but can be remailed if the surcharge postage is then affixed. However, delays for these pieces can be avoided if mailers make sure that sufficient postage has been applied. The new regulation also will prohibit thin or flimsy cards. After July 15, the cards must be at least

"The surcharge on oversized or odd-shaped pieces is intended to cover the added cost of handling such pieces which must be processed manually," he said. "These standards have been established to allow the Postal Service to process mail more efficiently and this will mean better service for customers."

A reception for about 250 guests followed the ceremony where Miss Ethyl Peasegood of Fairbanks, Alaska (the groom's first grade teacher) presided over the guest book.

Rising Star guests were Rev. Dick Williams and Miss Susan Walker. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stienberg, former band director of Rising Star.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf of Mexico, the couple will make their home in Denton to continue their studies at North Texas State University.

CHURCH NEWS

First Baptist Church

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A great host have fought and many have given their lives for this our great nation. We are now facing many new problems and issues in our national life.

How will we survive? What will make us strong? Where will we get wisdom to see through the problems which now threaten us?

The christian can look to the Lord as the source of wisdom and strength for such a time as this.

Our Best Defense

We may plan a new world charter
And its pros and cons debate,
How to build a higher order,
And a better world create.
But they build in vain who trust in Starry palaces and domes,
For no nation's worse or better
Than the fiber of its homes.
Did not once an ancient statesman
Say with fluent tongue and pen
That the nation's best defended

"That can boast a wall of men?"
So our nation's strongest fortress
In this most important hour
Is the virtue of its people;
And its character, its power.
Yes, the strength of any nation
On its family life depends,
And no program can replace it
For its failure make amends.
Would we build a real Gibraltar,
For the past make recompense,
We must know the family altar
Is our nation's best defense.

COMMENTARY

By Myrtle Owen

Romans 8:31, What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?
You can afford to be beaten down today, if you know you will rise tomorrow. You can afford to be hounded and humiliated and criticized today, if you know you will be unquarable when the sun rises in the morning. And yet many of us are fighting our own battles and losing every one of them. We fret and worry and are tormented by our own fear, because we do not submit our way to God so that he can fight our battles. Jesus said, "Put up thy sword." When your faith is in God, you are victorious over all evil forces which come against you. Trust in God and take hope. He is for you and against all that would harm you. When the greatest power of all is on your side, you cannot be defeated.

Half Cutting Mesquite For Quail

By: Tony R. Taylor
Soil Conservationist SCS
The mesquite, an often cussed and discussed invader-type brush species can be turned into a beneficial plant for quail habitat. A modification technique known as "half-cutting" will improve its value as a quail cover.

This modification consists of cutting about half way through the main stems of the plant about 30 to 36 inches above ground height and allowing the cut limbs to fall to a horizontal position.
Half-cut mesquites increase the amount of overhead cover which reduces trampling and disturbance by livestock.
"Half-cutting" also provides a protected seed source for desirable plant species and improves quail nesting cover.

Dr. Dick Hodges shown with a "half-cut" mesquite which will continue to live and provide a living protective canopy for quail. Note the field in the background which is a food plot for wildlife.

The best plants for "half-cutting" are second growth mesquite trees which have regrown with multiple stems averaging 2 to 3 inches in diameter. The taller the bushier the plant, the larger amount of cover it provides.
Land such as abandoned cropland fields have regrowth mesquite as do pasture and rangeland that had some form of brush control such as chaining done in previous years. Areas adjoining cropland fields, pastures of Kleingrass, draws and odd areas are key areas for quail and can often benefit by having mesquite
"half-cut" to provide cover adjacent to other food sources.
Five or six mesquite trees per acre in an irregular pattern should be sufficient for quail habitat.

Older trees sometimes do not survive "half-cutting"
but the second growth trees do well providing a living canopy for many years that will not decay and lose the cover value. Other species that this same procedure may be used to include yaupon, Texas persimmon and multi-stemmed oak.
"Half-cutting" mesquite is only one of a variety of wildlife conservation management practices. For more information on wildlife management check with the Soil Conservation Service personnel located in room 311 of the Eastland National Bank Building or phone 629-1480.

Cottonwood Exes Hold Reunion

Cottonwood Exes had a reunion with Mrs. Lucy (McGaha) Hagan and Mrs. Pearl (McGaha) Callaway calling together their students of the 1929-1930 school year at the Corral Room in Cisco Saturday, June 23.

The meeting was called to order by the ringing of the old school bell.

Mrs. Lucy Hagan welcomed one and all and introduced Oletta (Huestis) Garuic who led in the singing of America the beautiful from the old original song book used in the two room country school house located some nine miles northwest of Cisco.

Dr. C.M. Cleveland gave the devotional on Elija and the Juniper tree. He also recalled some experiences that had taken place in those early days.

Mrs. Pearl Callaway gave a short and interesting resume of some of the escapades by her pranksters as she corralled the lower grade students.

Lucy Hagan gave a reading The Book-Mark Philosophy and presented Mrs. Jessie (King) Kelly and Mr. Weldon Ussery who taught at the school in the years to follow and both spoke briefly to their ex-students.

There was a pause in the program honoring those students who have passed from this life. Mrs. Pearl Callaway read the names of those who have gone on. They were as follows: Mrs. Mary (Cleveland) McClain, Mr. Bill Cleveland, Mr. Clyde Cleveland, Mr. Henry Boatman, Mrs. Mary (Garcia) Escobedo, Mr. Charlie Harris, Mrs. Odessa (Pence) Miller, Mr. Herbert Callaway, Mr. Hayden Callaway and Mr.

Harlie Callaway.

Prayer was lead by Mrs. Oletta (Boatman) Hagan.

Each one present was given an opportunity to tell about their family and where they live and recall any funny incidents from the past.

The teachers separated their students into separate room groups. They were handed out papers that had been kept by the teachers these 50 years. One report card (also kept by his teacher) was handed to Mr. Milton Cleveland. Though yellowed with time, these papers were treasures indeed by those receiving them.

There were on display pictures, valentines, cards, play books, song books and other items to remind all that time changes everything except God and His Word.

Each family brought lunch and a most delicious meal was enjoyed by all.

Reminiscing and picture taking was the primary thing after lunch.

The group voted to meet again in June of 1984.

Those attending were Opal (Callaway) Mann from Collins, Miss.; Henry and Lucile Callaway of Cross Plains; Bennie and Sallie White of Waco; Lander and Marion Cleveland of Iowa Park; Fowler and Era (Marshall) White of Mullin; Barbara Grady of El Campo; Quent and Oletta (Boatman) Hagan of Moore, Okla.; Ray and Maxine (Yeager) Gallagher of Conaga Park, Calif.; Jessie Cleveland of Sanford, Florida; Martin Cleveland of Abilene; Don and Geneva Hallmark of Moran; Lawrence and Jessie (King) Kelly of Abilene; Bill P. Yeager of Austin; Jim and Oletta (Huestis) Garuic of Donwy, Calif.; Roy Cleveland of Fort Worth; Weldon and Rozelle Ussery of Eastland and Mrs. Pearl (McGaha) Callaway of Phoenix, Arizona.

Those attending from Cisco were Harlon and Orella Callaway, Edgar and Frances Pence, Lawrence Alvey, Fay Callaway, Florine (Yeager) Hagan, Henry Pence, Edna (Harris) Pence, Eunice Pence, Claude and Ila (Parmer) Wilson, Clifford and Catherine (Boatman) Pippen, Dr. C.M. and Josephine Cleveland, Jeff and Lois Pippen, Bill Pence, Carole Clower, Suzette Eisenboch, Peggy Hagan, Bertie Travis, Lucy (McGaha) Hagan and Dr. and Mrs. G.S. Cleveland.

One could readily see some receding hairlines here and there as a whole. The group, pound wise, was quite some heavier, and of course an accumulation of face line here and there. All said and done it was a very happy time for all present. Dr. C.M. Cleveland closed with prayer.

For The Men Who Succeed

...and for those who will someday succeed them, our suggestions is that they invest part of their earnings in real estate. Wise investments in real properties have yielded fortunes to many people. And those who succeed in this venture never gamble on the title. They buy only quality abstracts or title insurance made or written by those who have themselves invested wisely - in their plant - in their personnel - and in their responsibility to the public.
