A bouquet of posies to J. D. (Skeet) Clark and his committeemen for their fine work in putting over the Little League program for Rising Star and May. It is one of the finest things for the youngsters that has been done here in many moons. It is too easy to overlook some very effective individuals in trying to name all of those who made contributions of money and time—there were so many—but I have been asked particularly to thank Leroy Laughlin for the big contribution he made in furnishing welding materials and doing all the welding work free of charge at the wonderful lighted field in the city park.

The field is one of the best—a dandy well lighted place, that would be a credit to any town. Ed. Jackson, H. L. Geyer, Bill Button and a host of others are due the credit for it. The inaugural of the Little League program will take place there Thursday night of next week with a double-header introducing all four of the teams.

The number of boys between the ages of 8 and 13 who are participating in the program would amaze you. The place is literally swarming with the kids, most of them in bright new uniforms. I say "most" because 57 of the suits were ordered and they have been exhausted. There are more than 60 youngsters registered for the four teams.

Skeet Clark tells me that by the time the schedule opens all costs of the lighted field, the uniforms and equipment will have been paid for and the League will be out of the red. It will need some money along to pay for the lights and other incidental expenses. There will be no charge for admission, but you can chip in with your quarters and half dollars. The games will be more than worth it.

The Little League program is a tribute to the good work of the Lions Club which was its original sponsor. The club has been joined by the Chamber of Commerce, the Bank, the Hospital, Higginbothams and a number of other business men in Rising Star and May in providing the finances and the support needed. The coaches are due a big hand, too.

You can keep the program going by supporting it. Go to the games.

Rising Star sent $310.60 to the Cancer Fund headquarters to help in fighting this dread disease. Mrs. Louise Weber said. She expressed the thanks of her organization for the contributions made.

Incidentally, Mrs. Fred Roberts sends along a clipping with her copy this week in which a top ranking cancer expert of the government warns that cigaret smoking is generally accepted by scientists as a cause of lung cancer. This is stated by Asst. Surgeon General John R. Heller, who advised heavy smokers to give up the habit.

Good Gas Pay Is Reported In Test

What seems to be a very significant development in a process of proving up an extensive gas territory east of Rising Star took place this week as Costal States Ethel Parker No. 1, five miles east, was cemented preparatory to completion in the Marble Falls pay. A drill stem test was reported to have shown strong gas potential in the stratum topped at 2775. The well was drilled to a total depth of 3150 feet.

Meanwhile test of a stray sand encountered at 1056 feet in the Parker No. 1 where a promising show of oil and gas was found, was under way in the Ethel Parker No. 2 of the same company located 300 feet north of the No. 1. The well, intended to make a better test of the new pay, was spudded Monday. Thirteen feet of sand with five feet of pay potential was encountered in the No. 1 in this horizon.

The good showing in the Parker was creating a considerable amount of interest locally. Three more locations are reported ready for drilling on the Coastal block which covers a large section of the country east of Rising Star.

The Parker is five miles from other successful gas tests drilled by the company.

A THANKS FROM THE EDITOR

As editor of the Wildcat Tales, I would like to thank all members of the staff for their contributions to the paper. Especially do I wish to thank the class reporters for the news they wrote so faithfully week after week. My work on the paper has been small in comparison with theirs.

I, and all members of the Wildcat Tales staff, wish to express our appreciation to Mr. Butler for granting us a space in the Rising Star Record each week free of charge.

A final thanks goes to our sponsor, Mrs. Claborn, who spends much time reading and correcting the articles which compose the Wildcat Tales.

My three years' work on the paper has been very enjoyable, and I have gained valuable experience in composition. My wish is that next year's editor will have as competent and cooperative a staff as the one of '58 and '59.

THE SENIORS' FAREWELL

After graduation the Senior Class of 1959 will no longer be our happy school gang, but a memory of classmates who worked and had fun together at Rising Star High School. The wonderful events of a Senior year are rapidly drawing to a close. The Senior and Junior-Senior banquets are over, leaving us Seniors of '59 with wonderful memories of our last year at our Alma Mater. Our play, into which we put many hours of work, and our class trip, which we so eagerly anticipated since our high school days began, have both come and gone—gone from the calendar of our Senior year, but not from our memories.

As the climax to the Seniors' school days approaches, we hear words of congratulation upon our achievement—graduation from high school. Truly it is an achievement. For twelve years we have climbed toward graduation. Now that we have reached it our steps are a little uncertain as we see the future before us and we know that we must step out and meet it. The future however, holds much in store for the Seniors of 1959 who find a secure footing to steady them when the storms of life bay arise.

The Senior class of 1959 bids farewell to the faculty and students of Rising Star High School the school of which we have been a part for four years—the school which will be a part of us for the rest of our lives.

JUNIOR GOODBYES

It hardly seems that we are rounding out our third year at R. S. H. S. Another thing that seems hardly possible is the fact that this is my last news report for this year. In many ways this Junior year has passed slowly, but in just as many ways it has fled by. It seems that the further we advance in school, the more opportunities we have to enjoy ourselves to the fullest. Believe me, when I say for the Juniors, "We have lived this year to its fullest degree, and we expect to live our Senior year with just as much enthusiasm."

We bid a fond adieu to the Seniors. Can we truthfully say that we have associated with each other for these many years without having misunderstandings and even fights? No. But we can say that you'll leave a definite vacancy to be filled. Honestly, I have never seen a senior class that did not leave a few cavities that could never be filled by another class. It has been fun knowing you, hasn't it, Paul and Douglas?

A word to the Juniors: Leave this place with a pleasant taste that you will have to come back next year. Next year will be undoubtedly our best year, and we want to leave R. S. H. S. this year with that on our minds.

Thanks to our teachers; you have seen us valiantly through this year. A special kind of "Thank you" for Mrs. Claborn, who has again made it seem she feels it is a pleasure to be our sponsor. Mrs. C., we know it isn't always a pleasure for you, but we DO try to work our hardest for you—and for ourselves.

GOODBYE, for now, RSHS, we'll see you next year—early.

SENIOR TRIP

It all started at exactly 10 minutes to 2 on the afternoon of Thursday, May 17, 1959. At that time we gathered together all of our suitcases, cameras, etc. and boarded our air conditioned Arrow Coach for the Lazy H Ranch out of Kerrville, Texas.

The trip down was very nice; everyone talked about what they were going to do, where they were going to go, and how late they were going to stay up.

We arrived at the Lazy H at 5:25, were assigned our cabins, and got acquainted with the ranch before supper. We were informed that Farris, Texas, would arrive at about 12 that night, and, surely enough, we were on hand to greet them.

Farris had five girls and nineteen boys, but one of the girls made up in quality for what they lacked in number, right, Bill and Gay? I believe her name was Sandra.

Bright and early the next morning (Friday), some of us headed for the stable for a horseback ride. I don't think the horses agreed with the horsemanship of one of our Seniors, did he, Jack? I think he really lived up to his name of 'Fury, didn't he?

The Lazy H is the proud possessor of a 35 by 80 foot swimming pool, and we made good use of it. I thought we were going to have to take it home with us to get Kenneth Ridens back to Star with us. What about that, "Fish"?

Several members of the class went swimming a little before they were ready, didn't they Mr. Hill, Jack, Nelda, Judy, Betty, Jerrell, Elmer, and Willie? Oh, well, it was all in fun. Saturday afternoon, we all got on the bus and went in to Kerrville shopping. A lot of us bought some very nice souvenirs, and some of us just got something to eat.

Saturday night will long be remembered as the sleepless night. In fact, hardly anyone got to bed before 4:00 Sunday morning. I think if we had a Lazy H Hit Parade, "Kansas City" would be in the first place for a long time. If you see any of the Seniors going around with a glassy stare and singing "Kansas City", don't think anything about it—they have just been brain-washed with it. Seriously, I don't think it was played over sixty or seventy times.

Sunday morning several of us got up in time for one last horse ride and then went into Kerrville to church. After lunch we repacked the bus and were soon on the way home.

Speaking in behalf of the Seniors, I want to thank Mr. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Nummally, the room mothers that went along, and Tommy Berry our bus driver for bengi such swell sports and making our trip the success it was. Thanks from the bottom of our hearts.

FISH BOWL

As I begin to write my news for this week, and just get down and start thinking about it, it just seems impossible that the 58-59 school year is almost gone.

I think all the "Fish" have enjoyed their first year more than any in their life. There's been so much happening it's hard to remember it all.

The long awaited day for the seniors finally arrived and they got off in a huff, happy and excited.

The Fish, Sophs, and Jrs. went on their class trips Friday and what a time we had!

Since this is probably my last time to write the news for this year, I want to say it's been fun writing the news for the Fish and thanks a lot.

My closing gossip for this year is:

Maria G. "Mary knows something, uh?"

Muggie - "Have fun?"

Kaye W. - "Keep up the good work, Mo."

Rosa - "Just slap J. B. Crazy"

Sue B. - "Get that quarter."

Morris - "Love that gum."

Kathy - "Best Hobo ever."

Johnny - "Geisha Boy" "Now

That's it for this year, Good-bye and bless your pea-picking hearts! Sherry (Arab)

STATION S-O-P-H

Now this will be the last news broadcast to our readers. The Sophs have had a wonderful and successful year. Our class trip was tops, and we want to thank Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. White, and Mrs. Cawley for the delicious eats we have had all year. We also want to thank our wonderful sponsor, Mrs. Nowlin, for all she has done for us. We will see you next year, Mrs. Nowlin.

There is not much news this week, for the Sophs have been hard at work for our first year.

The Soph class is wishing all the happiness in the world. Okay, Sophs, or should I say Jrs., take it easy during the summer.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By OMAR BURLESON
Cong. 17th Texas District

Washington, D. C. - It is seldom that encouraging news comes from matters dealing with income tax. One has emerged from recent rulings from the Internal Revenue Service.

Farmers and businessmen, in rural areas particularly, may find benefit from it.

Payment of wages to children of a taxpayer may be deducted as a regular business expense, even though the money goes to grow a ton of good may be used for partial payment support of the child. Also, such payment does not, in itself, forfeit the taxpayer's $600 exemption. The test is whether the parent contributes more than half to the support of the child.

Research and plans for the demineralization of salt water has been discussed in this column previously. By reason of its importance, it deserves further mention.

The increase in water usage points to two exceedingly important considerations for the future. First, every drop of water possible needs to be conserved. Second, a way must be found to provide more water in the future, even with the best conservation practices.

It takes 7 gallons of water to flush a commode; 200,000 galroughage; 660,000 gallons to make a ton of synthetic rubber. Paper mills, textile plants, and all the expansion of new industry require an almost unimaginable amount of water.

Surveys indicate a water shortage in the United States by 1980 unless new methods are found to convert salt water to fresh water on a practical and economical basis. It is estimated that skyrocketing population and tremendous industry expansion will lift requirements of the United States in twenty years to 597 billion gallons of water a day. In 1955 the requirement was 221 billion gallons a day. The Department of the Interior says there is not that much water.

Under a $10,000,000 authorization from Congress, an undertaking will be aimed at greatly reducing the cost of converting salt water for domestic use. A plant some place on the Pacific Coast will be built, which will have a capacity of converting a million gallons of water a day at a cost of less than one dollar a thousand gallons. This should represent a 50 per cent reduction in the cost of present methods.

Three plants for direct conversion from salt to fresh water will be built on the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Gulf Coasts. Two others will be located inland for experiments and converting "brackish water", which is prevalent in our West Central Texas area.

We think we have an ideal location for such a plant, but the competition is severe. It is reported that the States of New Mexico and Arizona have offered the Federal Government a million dollars to locate one of these two plants in their States, and will contract to buy the fresh water produced at one dollar per thousand gallons.

Just a thought: It is better to be on the ball than behind it.

SCS Chief Conservationist

The intensive search for better pasture grasses over the past ten years by the experiment and research stations, both State and privately supported, has been very successful. The work of these stations in cooperation with other agricultural agencies and with individual farmers and ranchers is having a remarkable influence on the agriculture of the Rising Star area. Because a grass in rotation on cropland is so vital to real conservation of our soil and water and your local Soil Conservation District is taking action in seeing that local farmers receive full benefit from the work being done. The District is grateful for the fine cooperation it has received from local farmers in making observational and adaptability planting of the recently improved grass varieties.

Perennial sudan and sorghum alnum have been most popular with farmers of the area during the past two year period. These fast growing easy to plant grasses are high forage producers and are readily grazed by all types of livestock. However, in that they have suffered from 40 to 100 per cent winter kill during the past winter, it is expected that they will be weak perennials at best.

Blackwell switchgrass is becoming increasingly popular because of its winter hardiness and its high production of quality forage. Four year old stands of this grass do not show any loss from drought or winter kill.

Switchgrass on the Guyle Greynolds farm south of Rising Star produced 26,000 pounds of green forage per acre in 1958. Perennial sudan in the same field produced 28,000 pounds of green forage per acre. The sudan suffered 90 per cent winter kill. The switchgrass did not winter kill.

Greynolds reports switchgrass and Indian grass being grazed by his cattle in preference to Johnson grass and sorghum alnum at the present time.

Colonel Charles Andrus planted 5 acres of NK-37 bermuda grass for adaptability determination and seed increase on his farm near Lake Philpeco. The Colonel is hoping to find a bermuda grass adapted to this area that has comparable forage and quality production as the coastal bermuda. Should the NK-37 bermuda grass compare favorably with coastal, an expensive sodding operation can be eliminated. Coastal bermuda grass does not produce good seed. However, following three years observation, coastal bermuda

Over one hundred acres of coastal bermuda is being planted on farms owned by G. M. Hill, A. L. Buchanan, W. E. Tyler, Jim Phillips, Harold Pleerson, Delma Dean, Doss Alexander, Fred Cooper. Other farmers who might want to plant coastal bermuda this spring may use the grass sprigger made available for use in the area by the Uper Leon S C D. This sprigger can plant up to one and one-half acres an hour in 36 inch rows. It will also put down fertilizer with the sprigs. Contact the Soil Conservation Service for use of the machine.

Observational Plantings of Gordo, Fraetoria and Caucasian bluestem and Argentine winter grass was made on the Greynolds farm in 1958. Their adaptability to this area is doubtful but conclusions are doubtful. Uvalde side-oats grama and green sprangleton on the Greynolds farm look good after going through the winter without death loss. These are quick growing range grasses that will be used to reseed the depleted ranges of the area.

Grasses introduced to this area this year are El Reno, side oats, grama, and Cado Switchgrass. Charles Ballew has recently planted 15 acres of these grasses on his farm in the Amley community.

Plant sorghum alnum or perennial sudan now if you want summer pasture in July. These grasses will grow off fast and produce high tonnage yields of forage until frost. Plan now to get Blackwell switch or Indian grass planted early next year. These long time perennials can be planted in a dead litter cover of the sudan or sorghum alnum in February or March. They stay for many years in this area and with proper fertilization and management will produce up to 15,000 pounds of green forage per acre each year.

RISING STAR, TEXAS

New Premier Service Station To Open Here Friday

Free Sugar For Customers During Three-Day Event

The "sweet tooth" of the Rising Star area should be well sugared this weekend when Van Gardenhire opens his new Premier Truck Stop and Service Station on East Collage Street to the motorists of this area and the truckmen of busy Highway 36.

That is literally true, for Mr. Gardenhire and the Premier Oil Company of Texas will give away hundreds of pounds of the sweet stuff during the three-day open house event beginning Friday morning.

The new station, to be operated by Max Wilson, is one of the most modern of its kind in the ten-county area for which Mr. Gardenhire is the Premier Distributor, with wide drive-ways designed to handle all kinds and sizes of motor vehicular equipment, four gasoline pumps serving ethel and regular gas, and other pumps providing diesel oil and butane fuels for trucks and tractors, a wash house with rack designed for modern cars and provided with all the equipment necessary for fast and thorough washing, greasing and lubrication, and an all-glass front, attractive station house where motorists may find their choice of lubricants among 18 different grades and kinds, as well as what ever other products they may need for servicing their cars.

"If we haven't got it, you don't need it," said Mr. Gardenhire.

24-HOUR SERVICE

The new station, with asphalted paving and brilliant flood-lighting, will be a 24-hour station as soon as its operations can be properly organized, he said. It is located on the south side of Highway 36, three blocks from the business district with ample room for servicing big trucks while the requirements of the automobile driver customer are being attended to.

During the three big days - Friday, Saturday and Sunday - Mr. Gardenhire will give away two pounds of sugar with every gasoline purchase. There will also be balloons filled with helium and candy suckers for the youngsters.

The station will give S & H Green Stamps and offer courtesy cards.

The new station "as modern as tomorrow" is the newest of 54 stations owned and operated by Mr. Gardenhire in the ten counties he serves. In addition to Premier gas and oils, it will handle Armstrong and Goodyear tires.

"I am particularly well pleased to have Mr. Wilson as the operator of the station," said Mr. Gardenhire. "He is capable and efficient and in his hands you can be sure that the station will provide our customers with the kind of service that makes them happy and keeps them coming back."

"We have spent a great deal of money in making this a place of business that Rising Star can be proud of and which will attract Highway 36 business to this community. I and Mr. Wilson and the Premier Oil Company invite you to visit the station during the next three days, service your cars and get your share of the free sugar we are going to give away. I believe you will be well pleased with the service you receive."

Joining Mr. Gardenhire and Mr. Wilson in hosting the big open house event will be I. D. Corn of Baird, Premier Sales Manager, and other officials of the company from Longview, Texas.

Mr. Gardenhire, incidentally, has been in the gasoline and service station business in this area since 1931 and for the past 20 years has been with the Premier Oil Company.

It's The Law In Texas

BUILDING YOUR HOME
When you are ready to build, you will find that the law helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then, let's go into detail's

1. Your lot: Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out -

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvements for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "covenants" or restrictions run with the land? To protect residents, the plats or basic deeds of some neighborhoods call on you to build a certain size or type house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements: Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

2. Zoning Ordinances: For your protection the local government frequently zones some areas, for example, for single houses only, for multiple dwellings; for retail stores, for manufacturing, etc.

Unless the local governing body changes its zoning ordinance, no filling station, for instance, can go up next to you in a residential area. Neither could you turn your home into a store. In any case, you should find out what your neighborhood restrictions are.

3. Building Codes: Be certain that the plans and construction will meet the requirements of the local building code as to size, location and structure. Municipal ordinances usually impose strict standards for the building, the plumbing and the electrical wiring. In many cases only licensed building tradesmen are permitted to make the installations.

4. Financing: Financing contracts protect both you and the lender. Unless you pay cash, you will use credit to pay for your house, most likely a deed of trust or a land contract. Your installments often include principal, interest, insurance and taxes. Under a land contract the lender holds the title to your house until you pay for it. If you fall behind, the holder can take pal; but you may also have to make up any loss the lender makes in re-selling the house. Well worked-out contracts can help make your dream house come true. A construction contract or a so-called "earnest money" agreement or receipt is no job or an amateur. Too many legal details are involved. Your lawyer is trained by experience and education to protect your best interests in contracting and closing real estate deals.

You should know what you want. You should be careful to get what you want through careful planning and a properly prepared and executed contract.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

WTU Co. Magazine First In Better Copy Contest In '59

The Electric Times, employees' monthly magazine edited by Jimmie Martin of the Public Service Department of the West Texas Utilities Company, was named first place winner in the 1959 Better Copy Contest, sponsored by the Public Utilities Advertising Association.

Cal Young, WTU President, announced today that WTU again has won outstanding honors in the field of advertising but in a new category. The company has won several first awards in this contest in recent years in advertising and window displays, but this is the first time to win honors in the magazine category. The awards were made May 9 at the annual PUA Convention in Dallas.

The Electric Times is one of the pioneers in the employee magazine field and is now in its thirty-second year of publication. Jimmie Martin has served as publication editor for the past 14 years.

This is the second national honor to be awarded to the Electric Times in recent years. In 1951 the magazine was awarded the Freedom Foundation Medal for editorials and feature articles promoting a better understanding of the American Way of Life. One was awarded the company, a second to Martin.

More than 2,000 entries were received in this year's Better Copy Contest, which is the 36th annual contest conducted by the association and the oldest continuous advertising competition. The Electric Times was awarded first place in the top category which includes employee publications of all privately managed electric utilities companies with 100,000 or more customers.

The contest included newspaper advertisements, magazines, employee newspapers, direct mail, publications, display, posters, billboards, annual reports, radio and television, and motion pictures.

Time To Watch For Casebearers Says Pecan Expert

CISCO—This week is a crucial time for pecan growers of this region because the pecan nut casebearer, the tiny worm that takes a heavy toll in orchards, is due to make his appearance.

That was the forecast of Dr. Don King, entomologist at Texas A&M College, in an address here Friday at the annual Eastland County Pecan Field Day. Dr. King said the pecan casebearer is scheduled to begin laying eggs around May 20 each year. The egg laying time usually lasts about five days.

Orchard men were urged to go on the defensive this year as signs point to a heavy infestation, Dr. King said. He suggested that a good job of spraying during the crucial period would pay big dividends.

Spraying with DDT, parathion, nicotine sulfate, toxaphene or malathion, during the time the casebearer's eggs are on the tiny pecans or soon after they hatch would kill most of the pests. He said that the eggs would be visible on the tiny nuts — white specs on the brown tips — and that orchard men should already be watching for them.

"Our studies show that spraying between the 20th and 30th of May usually takes care of the casebearer," Dr. King said. "Most sprays will do the job as the casebearer is easy to kill."

Spraying usually kills some of the natural enemies of the casebearer — the lady bug and so forth — and often mites and aphids show up later, Dr. King said. He added, however, that the damage from the latter is seldom very extensive.

Dr. King expressed the belief that ground spraying equipment was about twice as effective as spraying from the air.

The walnut caterpillar caused considerable damage in some areas during the past two years, and orchard men should watch for a reappearance, Dr. King said. They show up in June and August and any good spray will kill them, he added.

L. D. Romberg, superintendent of the U. S. Pecan Experiment Station at Brownwood, showed picture slides and discussed characteristics of the new Choctaw and Wichita varieties of pecans. He described them as good, big paper shells with an average of 60% meats. He discussed the progress of studies in crossing popular pecan varieties.

The afternoon session was spent at the F. O. Hilburn orchard, five miles south of Cisco, where demonstrations in budding and grafting, a survey of casebearer eggs and larvae, orchard spraying and use of power saws were on the program.

Sandra Kirkland Home Dem. Agent Nancy Weathers Dist. Home Dem. Agent

Spring brings a variety of hungry insects out of hiding—It's time to stock the garden shelf with ammunition to protect flowers, shrubs, grass and trees from damage.

There is no one miracle insecticide. You will need at least four different packages on the shelf. Malathion spray or dust will kill aphids, lace bugs and red spider mites. Use a spray for white flies and young scale in the crawling stage.

A 10 percent chlordane dust will kill cut worms, leaf-eating caterpillars, sowbugs, termites, flea hoppers, grasshoppers, cedar bag worms and many other kinds of beetles. It is our best control for red ants.

A 10 per cent DDT dust will control thrips, blister bugs and other beetles, army worms and many other worms. It also kills some of the insects mentioned above as lace bugs, pill bugs, sowbugs, and termites.

Use bait on slugs and snails. It also kills sowbugs and other insects. Finely ground bug bait is as effective as the large pellets and is not eaten by birds. To get best results from insecticides read directions on the package carefully and follow them as given. Also check for safety precautions in use. Some insecticides are very deadly.

Along the line of clothing—We want to make every penny count when we buy sport shirts. You can, if you will keep some important buying guides in mind. Take fabrics, for instance. They come in many fibers, new blends con, nylon, orlon, or even cotton that has been treated with a special finish? Unless you ask for a label that gives this information, or depend upon a sales person you know well, you may be disappointed by the wearing qualities of the shirt.

Quality is not always a matter of price alone. It pays to check construction features, such as pleats and gathers along shoulder blades to give ease; buttonholes, cuff finishes and stitching along the front panel.

Color makes a difference, too. Colors appropriate for the individual, the occasion, and the other parts of the ensemble make for a better appearance. Sandra Shelton, ECHDA

About Your Health

The discarded nail was hidden in tall grass. The mower blade hit it and suddenly it was buried an inch deep alongside the shinbone of the 23-year-old Williamson County secretary.

Accidents of this type will be on the increase now — this is lawn-mowing time, you know — until fall weather brings a welcome respite from the weekly chore.

The State Department of Health does not keep statistics on non-fatal accidents, so the extent of injuries from carelessly handled power mowers is unknown. But a random check of private physicians and an emergency hospital confirms the fact that the number is considerable.

Like the man who stopped his car at the curb, intending to say hello to his perspiring neighbor busily mowing the grass. Neighbor wheels up with the mower to return the greeting. Man in car — elbow resting on window — finds his forearm pinned to bicep with a five-inch piece of wire flung at him by the whirling blade.

Power equipment is a tremendous boon to the man who likes to keep his yard neat with a minimum of effort. But it takes constant concentration to do the job safely. Even experience is no substitute for concentration.

A garden club member in a major Texas city used to pride himself on his safe and sane use of power tools that helped him maintain the sharpest yard in the block.

But no more. One afternoon recently, while trimming his driveway with a power trimmer, he reached down to lift a bloom-laden branch of a rose bush out of the way.

When he withdrew his hand two fingers were missing. "I wasn't alert," he wryly explained.

One of the most frequent mower accidents has this sequence:

A stick or wire or rock jams between the cutting bar and blade. The operator attempts to clear the jam without going to the trouble of killing the motor. Result: Badly cut or severed fingers when the surge of power spins the freed blade.

Most power mowers come equipped with safety guards. Trouble is that guards are removed by owners for one reason or another and never replaced.

But use one carelessly and you're liable to become a candidate for a quick trip to the emergency ward of the City Hospital.

Livestock Buyers Must Register Under New Law

Scores of southwest livestock buyers are expected to register and furnish bond under a new amendment to the Packers and Stockyards Act, effective May 24, 1959.

This was announced today by W. C. Ball, district supervisor, Packers and Stockyards office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Ft. Worth, Texas.

Dealers, market agencies, either buying or selling on a commission basis, and packer buyers — operating across state lines either in the country or at markets subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act — must register, Mr. Ball points out.

Also, all except packer buyers must furnish bond. Bond coverage is based upon the volume of business transacted, but in no case less than $5,000.

Previously, the regulations on interstate livestock marketing applied only to persons dealing at markets subject to the Act.

Mr. Ball emphasizes that the law places the responsibility on the dealer to register and obtain bond coverage if he is operating across state lines.

Texas and Eastern New Mexico livestock dealers should register immediately with the District Packers and Stockyards office, 231 Livestock Exchange Building, Ft. Worth, Texas.

Looking Backward to Earlier Days—

... the most of the lawyers compiled their own abstracts. Then the records were simple and few. But how times have changed! Today the modern abstract office is a mass of indices, files, field notes, plats, tracings and copy taken from thousands of records at the court house—all co-ordinated, assembled and classified in systematic order by trained personnel with years of title experience behind them. What we relied on then for title evidence falls far short of modern-day requirements.
