FARM MARKETING ASS'N, TO HAVE MEETING APRIL 4

The first annual meeting of the Howard county Farm Marketing Association will be held in the W. O. W. Hall in Big Spring, Texas, beginning at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 4th. All members of the Association are urged to be present. Your wives are cordially invited to attend.

Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held and an interesting program is being arranged. Dinner will be served to those attending. A large crowd is expected to be in attendance.

If West Texas folks had to conserve everything and waste absolutely nothing, this would be one of the best sections in the world. But suppose they had to conserve as do the farming element in New Hampshire in order to wrest a livelihood from the thin soils of that rock-ribbed state. Suppose they utilized and carefully tended every foot of soil as they are compelled to do in Belgium and France. More time, money and products are wasted on the farms of West Texas than would support a goodly number of those in sections where it is imperative that everything be conserved and absolutely nothing wasted. We need to be forehanded—not wasteful, if our section be made more prosperous. We overlook hundreds of opportunities to add to our incomes. By watching folks in other sections we may acquire wisdom.

KILLING TIME

Capt. E. V. (Eddie) Rickenbecker: "Development of the airplane, television and radio will do great things in the future for women. They will be able to witness a fashion show in New York from their respective cities by means of television. They will buy their gowns by radio and will receive them the next day by airplane for the banquet they plan to attend. The airplane, television and radio will speed up merchandising so that such things can be done in a very short time."—El Paso Herald.

An old time quilting party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Robinson in the Robinson Chapel community, last Friday and was thoroughly enjoyed by those attending. Ten ladies of the community came to spend the day with Mrs. Robinson and assist her in quilt making. Friendly conversation and a jolly good time was in order, while the women cut the quilt patches and piled a busy needle. There were three and one half quilts completed during the party.

At the noon hour, Mrs. Robinson served her guests an unusually tempting dinner and this was one of the enjoyed features of the occasion.

"Everything's Fair---In Love and Business"

Monday AND Tuesday

R AND R LYRIC

APRIL 2nd

That was the motto of pretty Agnes Dolan, the traveling saleswoman portrayed by Norma Shearer in the unusual and fascinating picture. Norma plays that charming, self-reliant, modern figure, believing that all is fair in love and business. So, then she met Joe Adams, a rival in selling suits and cloaks, and she not only stole his customers, but purloined his heart.

This picture is dedicated to the up-to-the-minute salesman, and to his short haired, short skirted competitor. A picture where love and business meet and lead you on a grand tour of laughs and thrills.

METHODIST NOTES OF JUNIOR DEPARTMENT
 Our Junior attendance is holding up splendidly 70 out of 83 present in our Department at Sunday School Sunday.
 The new literature for the next quarter was given out. We urge the mothers to help the boys and girls take care of their books and pictures. They are in use for 3 months. It costs to run a graded Sunday School.
 The "Little Preachers" were 100 per cent present. Mr. Coker is in charge and greatly interested in his class of 3rd year Juniors.
 Mrs. Manuel had 12 present of the "Knock Outs" and she herself is a "knockout" as a teacher.
 Mrs. Sloan's class of "Star" girls are the ones who fill the Junior choir each Sunday morning.
 The choir as a whole earn their stars which give them a name.
 Mrs. Jett does extremely interesting work with her class of first year Juniors. They get real Bible study in blackboard drills, etc.
 Misses Cochran, Fleeman and Leeper are also on deck with good work from their Junior girls. Miss Mable Eddy assists Miss Elizabeth as secretary. We are to have our seats this coming Sunday.
REWARDS FOR FIRE SAFETY
 Bend, Oregon for years nationally famous for its low fire loss, is to receive a new insurance reduction based on the purchase of another modern pumper fire engine.
 Insurance rates are based on actual risks as shown by actuarial reports. Where the people are careful, where the fire departments are capable and well equipped and operated, where the building regulations are such as to reduce the fire hazards, insurance rates drop. They drop far more as a rule than the equipment and department costs rise.
 No town ever made more profitable investments than good fire fighting equipment.
 The net results of reductions in fire losses permits carrying increased amounts of insurance while decreasing its cost. Criminal prosecution for careless or wanton fires will check the present reign of red terror.
 Shaving utensils of all kinds. Cunningham & Phillips.
 The public something for nothing. The foregoing is simple and self-evident, but the attempts to confuse the people about railroad rates are many and intricate.

E. T. CHRISTIAN DEAD
 Funeral services for E. T. Christian, age 79 years, 2 months 2 days, were held at the First Christian church in this city at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon March 25th, Claude Wingo, minister, conducting the services. Burial was made in the Mt. Olive cemetery.
 Mr. Christian passed away at his home in Lamesa at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Although he had reached a ripe age, he was still very active and in seemingly good health. He passed away suddenly, while in his room at home. His remains were brought to this city Sunday morning, and lay in state at the Eberley Undertaking Parlor until the hour for the funeral.
 Deceased had been a resident of Howard county for over 24 years. He left here about one year ago, to make his home with his son in Lamesa and up to that time he had been engaged in the farming industry in this county. He was industrious and successful in farming and took pride in his business. He was held in high respect by all who knew him, and his many friends in this county grieve at the passing of this esteemed pioneer.
 Surviving are four sons and one daughter, Bernard Christian of Big Spring; John and Z. T., Jr. of Lamesa, Claude of Vernon, Texas, and Mrs. Warren Marx of Tulsa, Wyoming. The four sons were here to attend the funeral services of their father, but the daughter was unable to come. He also leaves one brother, D. W. Christian of Big Spring and one sister, Mrs. Mattie Griffin of El Dorado, Texas, who were also here to attend funeral services.
 Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones in this sad hour.
JUDGING MEN
 It is not necessary to see the man to know what sort of a person he is. You know the farmer by the appearance of his farm—his character is written all over it. His cattle, horses, hogs and sheep all proclaim him. A farmer is known by his team, not by the company he keeps. As a hay I could look at the horses tied in front of a country store and make a close guess as to the moral, mental and financial status of the owners and I was not so awfully smart either.—Elbert Hubbard.
 Mr. Hubbard would have his work cut out for him in this regard today, because he would have to judge from the automobiles. And oftentimes the largest and shiniest auto is covered by the biggest mortgage.

A LIVING AT HOME
 The market price of that part of the vegetables, milk, butter, eggs, poultry and fruit which is consumed at home makes no difference to the farmer who grows them. In fact it is quite possible that the farmer and his family reap greater benefits from the better health and varied diet on their own tables than can be secured by selling some of these products, but it doesn't matter how cheap they may be on the market, he finds them dear enough when he buys them in cans on a credit. There are all things which a farmer may have at first cost, but for which all others must pay cost plus somebody's profit. Since the market price of the things he has to sell and the purchasing price of the things he must buy are alike dominated by forces over which he has no control, doesn't it look reasonable that he should avail himself of the opportunity to reduce operating expenses just as any other business man would do by providing himself with supplies at his lowest possible figure? Can farmers who are indifferent to the value of a well-cared for garden; who refuse to produce milk and butter for home use; who keep scrub poultry or none at all; who fail to provide at least part of their own meat supply; who live out of tin cans, the grocer's salt meat barrel and paper bags, running an account at the store to be paid out of the proceeds of their staple crop, providing there be any—can such farmers expect to prosper?—Southwest Plainsman.

THE MAIN STREET PARKING PROBLEMS

Mark Twain is authority for the statement that folks are always complaining about the weather and nothing is ever done about it. The same is true in connection with auto parking on Main street.

There is much complaint of all day parking on Main street, but business men and citizens have never decided on any definite solution of the problem. It is suggested that all who want a limited parking measure adopted get in touch with C. W. Cunningham and let him know just what parking time should be permitted. If a majority of the interested citizens can agree on this matter he will present same to the City Commission. The Commission realizes some parking limitations should be prescribed but they desire the citizens who are most vitally affected to help solve the problem in the most equitable manner.

PAY CITY STREET TAX BEFORE APRIL 15

All citizens between the ages of 21 and 45 years are subject to a City Street tax of three dollars if paid on or before April 15—after that date five dollars will be collected. The time has been extended for your benefit—pay now and save two dollars.

MIDNIGHT, APRIL 7, 1935, MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY'S STOCK ADVANCED TO $1.25 PER SHARE!

This advance is justified by the rapid advance of events on the McDowell ranch.

Flow of salt was found at 1,000 feet—a marker for this area—135 feet higher than the World Oil Company's well one mile and five feet higher than General Oil Company's No. 4, 300 feet Southwest.

Spring oil was found in Settles pool at 1,000 feet, 8 miles Northeast. The General Company's test has already proved that only 300 feet of oil Southwest of our well.

The World Oil Company's rig is right now assembled for a second well on the Mc. well ranch 1-1/2 miles from our derrick. This gives us a double play in proving up 2,000 acres!

A profit of five for one has been refused. A profit of 4 of a mile from our derrick—enhanced value a direct result of field tests of the World and Meriwether Oil Companies.

FRESHMEN ELECT ARLO FORREST PRESIDENT

The freshman class at W. T. S. F. U met Thursday morning at the chapel hour for the purpose of electing officers for the spring term. In the peppy meeting which ensued the following officers were elected:

Arlo Forrest, president; Skin Counts, vice president; Ruby Cherry, secretary and treasurer; Bob Hunt, representative to the Student Council; Ethel Hourland social committee chairman; Martina Anderson and Malcolm Hunt yell leaders and Alta Williams, Prairie representative.—The Prairie.

WHOSE TASK IS THIS?

Our attention has been called to the fact that the waste paper receptacles which the Coe-Parks Lumber Co. so generously provided our city are permitted to remain full to overflowing with paper and rubbish.

We do not know whether or not the city has made any provision towards keeping the paper and rubbish removed from these cans—but if not, they should. This task could be added on to the street sweeping department or it would not bankrupt the city to have these cans cleaned out and the rubbish hauled off at least once each month.

CLEAN UP VACANT LOTS

The Lord knows we have far too much sickness in our city at present, and we are going to have much more if we do not give our city a thorough renovating.

Vacant lots need a real cleaning. Alleys in many instances are regular dumping grounds. If health must result if we permit such unsanitary conditions to be maintained.

WATER AND ADVERTISING

"Looking out on the great stretches of western desert," writes Grove Patterson, "one is sure that millions of acres of our country need but two things; water and advertising."

They need three things: advertising, men and money. Advertising to attract men with money. Men and money will develop the water, till the soil raises the crops.

The difficulty now is to find (for good land not watered by gravity flow from streams) men with money enough to drill wells, install pumping plants build houses, fence, plow and seed their land, and feed their families and themselves until there is a cash return from their crops.

Farmers who have enough money to do all that, usually prefer land is a reclamation project, with ditches bringing the water to the soil and inexpensive pumping plant to install.

There are these advantages about the private well and pumping plant, however: The owner does not have to wait for water, but takes it when he wants it. He wants it when he sees his crop needing it.

Moreover, he does not have seeds of noxious grasses borne to his land in water which flows along infested canal banks or through the pest polluted field of a neighbor.

But getting back to the first subject: there are a few dry-farming regions in the northwest where at least a few farmers have not proved pump irrigation is profitable. The drawback in those localities nine farmers out of ten have not the money to drill wells and install pumps and engines and cannot borrow it.—El Paso Herald.

STRIVES FOR SERVICE TO TIRE CUSTOMERS

"The fact that we supply motorists with a complete tire service is one of the reasons that our business is showing a steady growth," said Mr. Price who operates the Goodyear service station here.

"Tire stores," he said, "cannot be operated like haberdasheries, furniture stores, or most other places of business where the customer selects his goods, pays for them and the transaction is a closed incident.

"We must and cheerfully do see that our customers get the full number of miles that are built into tires by advising and assisting them in the proper care of their tires and giving them first class repair service when they need it.

Tires Are Better

"At best," he said, "tires are subjected to a great deal of rough treatment. While it is true the average tire of today is built to withstand harder wear than at any time in the history of the industry, it is also a fact that tires are given much harder use than perhaps ever before.

"In addition to giving our customers a product that has reduced the highest point of efficiency than at any time in the history of Goodyear, we try to assist them in getting the greatest possible mileage out of their tires by keeping them properly inflated at all times, and otherwise taking proper care of their tire equipment.

"Periodical checks on air pressure and inspections as to the condition of their tires will often prevent serious tire trouble. We provide this service free. Our repair equipment is also such that we are ready at all times to give quick service on repairs of casings and tubes.

BILL AGAINST IMMIGRATION

Now comes H. R. 8227, a bill introduced before the House in the first session of the Seventieth Congress, advocating suspension of all immigration to the United States until January 1, 1935—and suggesting permission for the importation of emergency farm and ranch labor from Mexico and Canada for temporary periods and for other purposes.

AAside from the National importance of this subject, as a whole, the most significant phase of it lies in the question of importing Mexican labor to the South and more especially Southern cotton fields.

Laying aside the question long rampant, as to whether or not Mexican labor is worth the uncertainty and worry involved in its volatility the more vital question at hand is whether or not this bill serves the purpose intended.

For instance, the bill as it now reads would permit transportation of Mexican labor "whenever any farmer or ranchman files with the Secretary of Labor an application . . . and states therein that an emergency exists, that he can procure needed laborers from no other source," and making it requisite that the Secretary of Labor shall, upon presentation of such an application "forthwith grant such application, and issue a permit authorizing such farmer or ranchman to import from Mexico . . . the requisite number of laborers for the period specified . . . and requiring bond for their return and it shall be unlawful for such laborers not to return to their own country after such an emergency period has ended."

Plainly the time necessary for a farmer or ranchman to make application to sluggish Washington, receive permission, and obtain the laborers would, if the emergency were real, mean possible ruin to crops or herds. Furthermore, the average farmer or ranchman would not care to make

EAST TEXAS FEEDER PIG ASSOCIATION

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsor for an association for the production and marketing of feeder pigs. It is claimed that there is good profit in producing pigs and selling them shortly after they are weaned. By so doing the farmers in the association are not put to the trouble and expense of heavy feeding necessary to produce the finished animal.

East Texas conditions are admirable for a successful undertaking such as a feeder pig association. There is a demand for feeder pigs from sections of the country where corn and other feed stuffs are abundant, and where there are men who know how to feed. But what is to prevent East Texans from doing a little finishing themselves? Certainly East Texas lands, who properly handled, will produce the feed necessary to complete the job, and there must be an added profit in the feeding, else there would be no demand for the pigs.

The organization of this association is a long step toward establishing the swine industry in East Texas. Out of the number who become successful in producing and marketing feeder pigs will develop someone who will successfully undertake to finish their product. East Texas dairy cows, hogs, and poultry will make a combination hard to beat.—Farm and Ranch.

bond for their return if he were able; and he would not have enough spare time to give to seeing that they were returned.

INTOLERANT TOLERANCE

As a sheep dumb before his shearer, the average citizen dares not today publicly express an abiding conviction. Only the most courageous dare face the scorn of the self-styled "broad-minded" element which dominates modern society in its attitude toward all social matters, including religion. To harbor a faith, to hold an ideal, to battle for a belief, is anathema to those whose fetish is "tolerance" regardless of consequences.

Under the banner of a spacious "liberalism," law has been robbed of its majesty and religion has been sapped of its spirit. For fear of being called narrow or provincial, the average man throttles his convictions until they are atrophied. He becomes then only an inert atom in the mass of humanity, moving as the herd moves without purpose or volition of his own, as useless in giving directions to society in its long upward struggle from savagery as the dumb calf in the midst of a stampeding herd.

The apostles of this blatant tolerance are tolerant only of those who believe so little that they believe nothing. They are the most intolerant of all, in that they deery and condemn everyone who refuses to accept a social creed so "broad" that it has neither standards nor definite aims. They read into the American creed of tolerance a false interpretation which robs it of its meaning.

We have cause to be grateful for the remnant who dare to stand for something positive, whether it be in political, social, wrong, but every one of them counts as a force.—Hollands Magazine.

When we land a few more manufacturing plants and industries we will be placing our city on a substantial basis. More weekly, semi monthly and monthly pay rolls insure prosperity continuously instead of periodically.

NEW SANDWICH SHOP ON EAST THIRD STREET

J. W. Froeman has leased of Mrs. R. H. Waldo, the new little stucco building adjoining the new brick building and the Economy Supply Company on East Third Street, and plans to open a Sandwich shop. The building is nearing completion and fixtures will be installed just as soon as the work is completed. Mr. Froeman was formerly proprietor of the American Cafe, and he is experienced in this line.

He is sure to do well in this new venture. His friends and patrons will be attracted to his new sandwich shop, where the very best light lunches will be served. The shop will be attractively furnished and will be now and up to date in every respect.

THE C. OF C. SAYS:

Clubs reflect the tendencies of the time either alive and going or slow, falling behind—quick or dead. You can feel the circulation of a growing city; there is a snap, a go to it, an atmosphere you like to live in—Big Spring, today, gives that impression to the visitor. By Spring will—if you will!

NO USE

The neighbor of a man noted for his extreme thrift saw him going down the road on a week day dressed up in his Sunday clothes.

"What's up, Cy," he called out. "Why the glad rags?" "Haven't you heard the news?" "News! What news?" "Triplets." "Oh, and you're celebratin'?" "No, but what the hell's the sue tryin' to be economical now?"

Complaining and whining is a mighty poor plan to improve conditions. Making the best of a bad situation and working with others to better conditions is the more sensible plan. We just can't have things running to suit us all the time.

BEGGARS EASTWARD BOUND

After enjoying a winter in California the beggars and grafters are now eastward bound, and the majority of them find such easy picking in Big Spring that they usually prolong their visit in our city.

The number of beggars and panhandlers has been especially large the past week or so.

It is a pity we can't maintain an organization here to which all these beggars can be directed. This organization would be in a position to make necessary investigation to uncover the crooks and grafters, and give aid to those who are really deserving.

This begging game is one of the biggest grafts going, and millions of dollars are secured by many able bodied men who are able to make far more, travel in luxury and spend their days in a congenial climate than they could by doing honest toil.

Many of them make the women and children do the begging while the men ride around in their big automobiles or loaf at their roadside camp until it is time to move on to the next town where more easy pickings await them.

We would like to see a movement started to enroll citizens who would bind themselves to refuse to give to any beggar on our streets. Let's organize a Charity Organization and force the beggars to prove they are not grafters before they are given any aid.

COX AND CANTRELL, CHIROPRACTORS, PARTNERS

Dr. Brittle E. Cox this week took as a partner Dr. A. L. Cantrell of Sweetwater and the firm is to be known as Cox and Cantrell. Their offices will be located in the West Texas National Bank Building in the same place occupied by Dr. Cox's office.

Dr. Cantrell, who is a graduate of the Riley, School of Chiropractic, Washington, D. C., comes to Big Spring highly recommended. He has been practicing his profession at the Grogan Wells sanitarium of Sweetwater, Texas, the past several years, and is well experienced in chiropractic as well as therapy.

Dr. Cox's ability is well known since he has been practicing his profession in this city over a year, and his long list of satisfied customers speak well of him. Formal Opening Piggly Wiggly Store Saturday the family food bill from 5 to 25 per cent.

Customers shop at Piggly Wiggly with pleasure, profit and satisfaction.

Piggly Wiggly stores have succeeded because of the low operating costs which is obtained by the customers helping themselves, bringing their purchases to the checking counter, paying cash and taking their purchases with them.

One hundred people can help themselves at Piggly Wiggly in the same time as ten people can be waited upon at the ordinary grocery store.

Piggly Wiggly stores have succeeded because the volume of business by reason of the patented fixtures and the labor saving instrumentalities used, is from 2 to 5 times as large as in an ordinary grocery store, location and floor space being the same.

The cost of operating the average retail grocery store is from seventeen to twenty per cent, according to the United States government figures. The cost of operating a Piggly Wiggly Store is from eight to twelve per cent, according to statements rendered by Piggly Wiggly Operators from every part of the country who have been operating Piggly Wiggly Stores from one to seven years.

The Piggly Wiggly Store is sure to meet with the approval of the housewives of Big Spring and this community, and all are urged to attend the formal opening Saturday.

Seagraves Business Dist. is razed, loss $300,000. Seagraves, Texas, March 27.—Twenty one of the 35 business buildings in this Seagraves county town, the most important trading post between Lamasa, Texas, and Roswell, N. M., lay smoldering in ruins tonight and weary business men were surveying a loss estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000 as the result of a fire which swept the retail district late today.

Carried forward by a high wind, the flames, which had their inception in a cleaning and pressing plant, ate up the buildings on one side of a block on the principal business street, then jumped across and took out all save one of the structures on the other side.

Despite the efforts of some 100 men and boys, who sought to stem the tide of destruction in the absence of a fire department and an adequate water supply, the fire burned briskly until it reached a brick garage, the independent water supply of which finally conquered the flames.

No injuries were reported, no homes were burned and no cases of vandalism were recorded, tonight as hurried inventory was taken of pitiful piles of salvaged stock. Mayor C. M. Armstrong, also the president of the Chamber of Commerce, stopped checking long enough to announce that Seagraves would proceed with reconstruction as rapidly as material could be obtained and that a recently passed city ordinance prohibits the construction of any more frame buildings in the retail section. All of the buildings destroyed were of frame construction.

Some Insurance Carried. A hurried checkup indicated that about $60,000 of the loss was covered by insurance.

Seagraves, with a population of 1,600, has a trading area of 50 miles radius and because of the fact all merchants carried exceptionally heavy stocks. The town is 14 miles southwest of Lubbock and 50 miles from the New Mexico line.

City Building Topics Discussed at Meeting Monday Evening

At Open Meeting at Court House Monday Night, Better Ways to Boost Big Spring Discussed

That the public at large might be more fully apprised of the activities of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and be told of some of the things that had been accomplished, as well as some of the plans for the future, an open meeting was held at the Court House Monday night, at which time the chairman of the various committees made a report of what had been accomplished as well as outlining some of the plans for the future.

The meeting which was held in the county courtroom was called to order by Shine Phillips who stated the purpose of the meeting.

In the course of his remarks, President Phillips stated Big Spring was a going concern and it was up to each and everyone of us to do our part to keep the old town forging ahead. He said that everyone who visited our city stated that Big Spring shows more pep more evidence of having a real future than any city in West Texas. If visitors have this viewpoint, surely the homefolks ought to be proud to keep hustling to make Big Spring a bigger and better city. He said it was very important that we do more advertising and make every visitor a booster for Big Spring. He stated that the recent druggists convention was a big success and Big Spring's praise is being broadcast as a result. He pointed out that the Parent Teachers' Association was to be held in Big Spring April 5 and 7th and we should do everything in our power to make it a success. It is imperative that we throw our homes open to the delegates take them for auto rides and extend every courtesy possible. Later on the Lumbermen's Association, the West Texas Laundrymen's Association and the West Texas Editorial Association will hold conventions in Big Spring and we want to make a good impression on every delegate to these conventions.

President Phillips announced that this was to be an open meeting for the upbuilding of Big Spring, would be given a hearing before adjournment.

After reading the minutes of the last meeting of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary Watson mentioned the following as a few of the activities of the organization:

The bollworm meeting, Monday March 19 to aid farmers; the meeting at Memphis, Tenn., March 30th which C. T. Watson, is to attend to represent Howard county farming interests; a Broadway of America Highway Convention at Memphis Tenn., April 19 to advertise this highway; working to secure a Potash survey for Howard County; seeking a refinery to create a market for all oil produced in Howard County; committee appointed to work with postmaster to increase postal facilities; arranging to secure larger building for post office quarters; through efforts of Chamber of Commerce a sterilization plant secured for Ackerley Texas; 2 sterilizing plants in Big Spring to be completed this week; arranging to employ a publicity man in connection with Evening Herald; aiding in entertaining delegates to Parent Teachers' Association, need of accommodations stressed and all who can care for one or more guests are requested to phone the Chamber of Commerce office. The secretary stated that from 10 to 20 applications for rooms or homes are handled at his office daily. In fact so much time is required for this free, but very essential service, that the C. of C. must either employ someone to take charge of it or arrange to turn this service over to the Real Estate Board. The membership of the Chamber of Commerce now numbers 37, with new names being added to the roll each week.

J. B. Fickle, chairman of the Industrial Committee, reported that he had merely made a beginning on his task but he had proceeded far enough to ascertain that a 50 page booklet would be needed to list the necessary information and that gathering the information and publishing the booklet would mean an outlay of from $300 to $500 and that he would want the O. K. of the C. of C. before undertaking this work.

F. J. Keating of the Agricultural committee stated that we were hampered because Howard County had no County Agent to supervise the work and give the necessary information and assistance to those who are eager to better their conditions. He said his committee planned to have a calf feeding contest for the boys; also a Milo Maise contest similar to the one last year when $300 in prizes was awarded in the More Food on Fewer Acres contest in which 70 participated. Livestock and poultry will be awarded in lieu of cash prizes. Working to centralize on one variety of cotton in our county, or in each community so that a higher price can be secured for a better grade of cotton will be one of the main aims of the committee.

R. L. Cook chairman of the Oil and Gas Committee stated that the work of securing a refinery to create a market for the oil of Howard County was being pushed. He said it was necessary to secure a pipe line or a railroad to the Howard County oil field so the Howard County oil could be marketed.

Dr. Blanton stated that the records show the daily pipe line movement of Howard County oil is 3500 to 4000 whereas an additional production of 20,000 barrels has to be pinched in because no pipe line is available to move this oil to market.

H. L. Rix chairman of the Advertising Committee stated that Mr. Brown of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce had warned us about this high power advertising business, pointing out that most cities find it to be a poor investment. He stated with the oil industry in the dumps we could not hope to boost all development as we were unable to provide housing accommodations for the folks now flocking to our city it would be foolish to advertise for more to come; he felt sure that the present firms did not think it necessary to invite any more new business enterprises to locate here at present. Sizing up the situation from all sides he did not deem it necessary to do any great amount of high powered advertising but favored the present newspaper publicity and entertaining conventions in a way to win favor for our city.

Pox Stripping took issue with Mr. Rix's views and stated that he could cite instances where cities which would be mere wide places in the road without advertising, had been able to get almost as many big enterprises as our own. And one in particular, fifty miles from an oil field, was getting more publicity than Big Spring because the citizens knew the value of advertising and were "pouring it on." Folks in other states only know what they see in the papers and if they never hear of Big Spring they will never know there is such a place until they study a map.

Mr. Whitaker of Wichita Falls, contractor, who was a visitor, stated that he was amazed to find this to be such a thriving city. He said he knew Big Spring only as a name on a map until this visit. He said our city was making a mistake in not judiciously advertising our many resources and advantages. Keeping the name of your city before the public is good business.

A. G. Hall of the Civic Committee told of the work of his committee in urging the citizens to plant more grass, flowers and trees. Painting houses and cleaning yards, streets and alleys were other movements fostered by the committee.

Be Reagan complimented the Committee on the wonderful Flower Show, sponsored by the Committee last fall.

Joe Fisher of the Good Roads Committee told of the cost of putting up with bad roads, the wear and tear on tires and autos being more than the tax for paved highways. He stated that the time had arrived for our citizens to put over a bond issue to pave the Glacier to Gulf Motorway and a road to the Borden County line. He stated it would be well to include the county's part of the viaduct across the railway in this bond issue. He pointed out that by voting the bond issue now we could make the oil companies and royalty owners in our oil field pay a big part of the cost of our good roads.

Willard Sullivan reported that the Snowwhite Creameries expected to have a big creamery established in Big Spring by August and that farmers with milk and cream to market daily would find the good roads a great convenience, and a saving in the operation of their autos.

B. Reagan gave a list of the new industries recently started in our city and urged our support of these home industries. Some of them starting in small way grow into great industries if we give them our loyal support. And they are more deserving of it possibly than some big concerns which ask bonuses and concessions before they consent to locate here.

Willard Sullivan of the Membership Committee stated they worked on a regular schedule every Tuesday and were ready to visit every new citizen or industry in an effort to increase the membership. They visited each prospect twice and wrote him at least one letter if necessary in order to secure his membership.

Mr. Reagan called attention to the fact that the Parent Teachers' Association would be in session in Big Spring April 5, 6 and 7th, and since accommodations for the delegates were needed he urged that every one who could take one or more into their homes to phone 512 at once.

Mr. Campbell of Dallas of the Boy Scout Movement made a brief talk in which he complimented Big Spring on being an up and coming city. He stated he was proud to hear of the many accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce but he was surprised that no report on work to better our greatest asset, our boys, had a place on the program. He told of the advantage of Boy Scout work in building for better citizenship and stated Big Spring ought to have at least 200 Boy Scouts. He stated that F. D. Craft would be in Big Spring from now on to work for such a goal.

Mr. Whitehead of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce told of what his organization is doing to aid West Texas in the pink bollworm situation, and stated they would fight the non-cotton zone until the United States persuaded Mexico to clean up the pink bollworm just across the border. In case of a non-cotton zone being ordered, they would insist on a full payment to farmers for losses sustained.

Mr. Whitehead also answered some queries relative to the common point freight rate situation and told of the hard fight the W. T. C. of C. put up to help West Texas.

L. B. Campbell field representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce made a few brief remarks relative to the work of his organization.

A motion prevailed that the $26 donated to the Chamber of Commerce last Monday be used to further some agricultural project in our county.

Slips of paper were passed around and everyone present was requested to make a suggestion as to what they thought the C. of C. ought to do to help promote the welfare of Big Spring and Howard county.

The fellow who is in favor of low wages is lacking in brains. The prosperity of America is possible because wages are higher than in other countries.

Much Activity at Big Spring

With Two New Hotels, Another is Contemplated Soon

The following article is clipped from the Dallas News, Sunday issue:

"Big Spring is active and forward going. Big Spring is now boasting of two new hotels, the Crawford and the Douglass, and is looking forward to the erection of a third within a few months. It will be known as the McAdams Hotel, according to C. T. Watson, secretary of the Big Spring chamber of commerce. A viaduct across the Texas & Pacific Railroad to cost $150,000 to be paid for by the railway company, the county and the city is soon to be constructed; a new $100,000 theater to head a circuit to be owned by Robb and Robb of which Yuell Robb will be manager, is to be built right away; a new $150,000 high school building is among other improvements and these combined with a contract for 40,000 yards of paving awarded to the Carl Pleasant Construction Co. of Amarillo, a new Woman's building and other projects are the things that are making Big Spring people happy and optimistic regarding the future. The Chamber of Commerce is planning to spend a budget of $15,000 during the next year in keeping Big Spring on the map and in the forefront. The chamber will hold its annual meeting March 26 to outline its program for the year.

$500,000 Bond Issue
Among other things in contemplation is a highway bond issue of $500,000 to be presented to the voters of Howard county when the viaduct bonds are voted on. This money would be spent, if voted, on the highways in the county leading toward Big Spring and lateral roads as well.

The city recently was connected up with natural gas, the supply coming from an inexhaustible field some fifteen miles distant through the lines of the Consumers Gas Company of San Antonio. This has long been looked forward to by Big Spring people and they take particular pride in telling of the gas field of which they should be proud, as it is one of the strongest in the western part of the state. The new Woman's Building will be a credit to a city twice the size of Big Spring and is well on the way to completion. The citizens of the town have made it possible that this community center for the women be erected and they are looking forward to its completion with much pride.

Farming is not being neglected. Although it is doubtful if the cotton acreage around Big Spring will be reduced, the Chamber of Commerce is active in efforts to exterminate the cotton pests and is lending its time and influence in that direction.

Signs of Farming
From Big Lake to Big Spring is a perfect highway, passing thru the first town of Stiles, going north from Big Lake and then through Garden City the county seat at Glasscock county. The country is not especially adaptable to agriculture, yet there are signs of farming here and there with great herds of sheep and some cattle. Both sheep and cattle are coming back strong and sheepmen and cowmen are jubilant over the outlook. There are some oil prospects along the route but so far there has been little development.

Big Spring claims a population as of Jan. 1, 1928, of 7,500 people. It has a tax rate of $1.22, school tax $1, county and State $2.11, making a total of $4.33. It boasts of the building of ten homes each month for the last 2 years.

MITCHELL COUNTY HIGHWAY WORK
The new highway from the western county line to the Margolis camp at Iatan was opened to traffic Tuesday and the balance of the newly graded road will be opened to traffic by Saturday, according to Road Foreman Tom Goss. This is the first ten mile section of the new Mitchell county good roads project and extends from Westbrook to the county line.

Grading and drainage structures on this section have been completed and according to Engineer J. B. Early, it is one of the best pieces of work in his district. Traffic will be allowed over the grade for some time in order to settle the road bed before the concrete paving is down.—Coahoma Citizen.

FARMER'S GROCERY BILL FOR YEAR IS $26.15

How would a grocery bill of $26.15 for a whole year suit you? It can't be done, you probably would answer, if you are going to eat with any degree of regularity.

But it was done during 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dysart of Melissa Collin County, and they had everything to eat that you could possibly want—meat, fruit, vegetables and eggs, fresh every day.

Of course they are farmers. But the farmer who can hold his grocery bill down to 50 cents a week is a marvel. Any farmer will admit it. That the low cost of living with the Dysarts last year wasn't an accident is shown by their grocery bill for 1928—an even $26.

The only food items for which the Dysarts paid cash were sugar, coffee, flour, spices and the like. They could have held their food bill down still more by having some of the wheat they sold ground into flour for themselves.

The big item on the expense account was sugar, for which the Dysarts paid $13 for the year. This included sugar for their table use and for canning fruits and berries. The other things they bought, with the exception of flour, were such that they could not raise themselves.

Even all the flour that was used in the Dysart home was not bought. They made their own graham flour and corn meal. Other items that passed directly from the farmyard and garden to the table were beef, pork, mutton, chickens, eggs, butter, lard vegetables and fruits.

"The farmer who doesn't raise his own living is a failure," Dysart, who is an exhibitor at the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock show, said.

There is no reason why a farmer can't raise everything that goes on his table, with the exception of sugar, coffee, spices, Dysart thinks. By so doing, he will cut down to almost nothing his biggest living expense. Wheat, cotton, livestock, poultry and other "money crops," will take care of his clothing bills, taxes and other expenses.

BILL KELLIS OUT OF HARNESS

W. F. Kellis owner of the Sterling City News Record has loaned this newspaper and job office to Frank Herrick who took charge as business man and publisher last Monday. Mr. Kellis reserved the right to loaf around the printing office and get printer's ink on his hands and face whenever the spirit moves him.

Found stationery, with envelopes to match... an ideal way to write... Cunningham & Phillips.

Dysart asks his tenants to do the things he does.

"Some landlords want their tenants to raise only money crops. I insist that my tenants raise their own living," he says. "If they don't, we don't do business. It would pay the landlord to rent an acre or two to the tenant for a cash consideration for his own living, if he is afraid he might lose by not having all his ground taken up by money crops."

The Dysarts look farther ahead than the next week or the next month. If they should have a complete crop failure they would not have to go hungry or ask their grocers for credit. They have enough canned food in their home to last them for a year. In their larder are various kinds of beef, pork, mutton, hash, chili, fruits and vegetables.

In addition to setting their own table, the Dysarts send much to market. In fact the $26.15 they paid the grocer was but "a drop in the bucket" compared with the food they sold. For example, more than 500 pounds of butter were sold to stores of nearby cities. Their butter and eggs both brought premium prices. Sale of hogs was another important item in their revenue. Most of the corn they raised went to fatten hogs which found their way into Fort Worth packing plants.

Cattle and sheep are raised on Sunnybrook Farm, the name of the Dysart place, but they are not major items of revenue, except for the sale of butter.—Albany News.

SCOTTISH RITE REUNION TO BE HELD APRIL 18-17

The Reunion Committee of the El Paso Scottish Rite announced the dates for the Spring Reunion for April 16th, 17th, 18th 19th, 1928. A hundred applications for these degrees of Masonry are now on file, according to Ethan Allen Wells, 33 degree, Secretary. Mr. Wells is the new secretary, succeeding Mr. Berry B. Cobb who is well known in Big Spring.

Charles W. Cunningham, 32 degree of Big Spring is district chairman for Howard and Glasscock counties and stated that he expects a good representation from his district attending this Reunion. J. Harold Homan, 32 degree, is local chairman and Samuel Barton, Jr., 32 degree chairman for the Chalk Field locality.

Special railroad rates of one fare and one half have been granted. This is an open rate and applies to all attending the Scottish Rite Reunion and the Shrine Ceremonial.

On April 8th all Scottish Rite Masons in Big Spring, Odessa, Stanton Crane and other surrounding towns will observe the annual obligatory Maundy Thursday ceremonies at the Masonic Temple in Midland.

Mr. Cunningham states that all Master Masons are eligible to receive the degrees of the Scottish Rite, and that all degrees from the fourth through the 32nd will be conferred in full form at this time.

PLACE NUMBERS ON THE HOUSES

Everyday complaints are to be heard because street signs and house numbers are missing in Big Spring. Better and increased mail facilities could be guaranteed if our city and citizens would arrange for street signs and house numbering.

FEDERATION FOR DEBT REDUCTION FIRST

At its recent annual meeting the American Farm Bureau Federation went on record as opposing National tax reduction by either the administration— Mellon—proposal, or by the democratic demands. The view taken by the Federation is that debt reduction should precede tax reduction—speaking nationally of course.

The New York World points out that the Federation's views "may not be altogether disinterested;" that "relatively few farmers pay income taxes and very few indeed are affected by the surtaxes in the middle brackets." The "World" is eminently right—the Farm Bureau as the representative of a large number of the most intelligent farmers in the country, is not disinterested. On the other hand, it may be said with assurance that the farmers are just as disinterested as are those who are moving heaven and earth to bring about a reduction of income taxes. A well-financed propaganda, to which some of the elected representatives of the people unfortunately lent themselves, has been turning its guns on Congress for months.

The Federation's position on taxation is as follows:

Debt reduction should precede tax reduction. Exemptions and repeated modifications of the National tax structure are undesirable. The basis of Federal taxation should be ability to pay. We recommend reciprocity between the States in matters of estate and inheritance taxation. Estate taxes should be retained permanently. It is unnecessary to reduce corporation taxes in this period of National industrial prosperity. Federal taxes on automobiles should be eliminated.

Practically every student of economics of any standing supports the Farm Bureau contentin that "the basis of Federal taxation should be the ability to pay" In other words, the income tax is generally accepted as the fairest tax that can be devised. Congress and the Legislatures might

(THREE FRIENDLY DRUG STORES)

HARD BOILED

By Bruce Barton

Shining on the front porch of a country club, a sophisticated young gentleman set forth his business biography in these words:

"When I was graduated from college, I was full of ideals and faith in my fellowmen. Now I am hard boiled. They have got to 'show me' every step of the way."

I told him the story of a certain hard-boiled banker who wears side whiskers and is the prominent citizen in a very small town. He was visiting the much younger president of a Detroit bank.

"I have just been going over my records for the past twenty years," he boasted. "How much do you think I have had to charge off as losses in all that time? Less than two thousand dollars. I call that pretty good banking."

"And I call it pretty rotten banking, if you want my opinion!" exclaimed the younger man. "It shows that you have had mighty little faith in your customers or your town. It helps to explain why your town hasn't grown a bit during those twenty years. If you had been willing to take a longer chance on people, you would have had more losses, but you would have had a hundred times more profit."

J. P. Morgan left two sayings that are widely remembered. He said that he had often loaned money on no other collateral than the character of the borrower, and that every man of sense must be a "bull on the United States."

This is the philosophy that has built America—a robust belief that most folks will make good, and that over a period of years the country can't go wrong.

When you are "hard boiled" you "look out for Number One." When you have a certain degree of faith, many other people help to look out for you. You believe in them and when they succeed, you profit by your investment in their enterprises. You believe in your town, and as it grows, the value of your home increases. You believe in your country, whose amazing progress is a constant rebuke to all chartmakers and skeptics.

Inevitably you encounter some disappointments and incur some losses. But you have a heap more fun than the hard-boiled and in proportion to your resources, you make more progress.

You ride on the car that is being pushed forward by all other men's courage and faith.

BUY AT HOME

A community thrives when its merchants thrive.

Home town buying and trading is as essential to a community's growth and progress as its streets, boulevards, churches and schools. It is the duty of every citizen of a community to make his purchases at home. Numerous "Buy at Home" campaigns have stressed this fact and have taught this important lesson; but still there are some people who go elsewhere than their own home surroundings when making purchases.

The truth is that as good merchandise can be obtained at home as can be secured through the mails from any large city; and, as patronage increases, the quality of the local merchant's stock.

There are numerous reasons why you should patronize your home merchants. They have invested their money and their future in your town; they pay taxes in your town; they give employment to people in your town.

The wide-awake citizen should boost his town in every way. He should take a lively interest in local activities of every nature, join local clubs, attend local theatres. No need to go elsewhere; available right at your doorstep, all the real pleasures of life are.

And to put in word for ourselves it is a mighty good idea to be a regular reader of your local newspaper!—Big Lake News.

LOOKS GOOD TO VISITORS
Most every visitor in Big Spring declares there is more business being transacted; more business buildings and homes under construction and more evidence of pep and hustle in movements and activities of the citizenship than in any city along the Texas and Pacific Railway.

SUPV. CHILDRESS SCHOOLS

P. P. Brewster, a former townman and principal of the Big Spring High School, has been elected school superintendent of Childress. Mr. Brewster was very popular with the students and school patrons while in Big Spring 1923-1924, and his many friends here congratulate him on this new appointment. Following is the write up that accompanied the picture in the Fort Worth Star Telegram:

The above is P. P. Brewster of Hondo, recently elected school superintendent of Childress from a list of 80 applicants. He was born at Jarrell, Nov. 5, 1887; moved to Killeen in 1901, and graduated from its high school in 1908. He taught three years in the rural schools of Bell county and graduated from Baylor University in 1918, receiving the Bachelor of Arts degree. Brewster was principal of the Uvalde school in 1916 and 1917. He resigned on Dec. 14 1917 to enlist in the United States Navy for war. He was transferred to the Naval officers' School New York City, September 1918 and was discharged Jan. 1, 1919, two months before time for receiving a commission in the Navy. Brewster spent the following 18 months in the banking business in Yuma, Arizona. From 1921 to 1923 he was head of the mathematics and science departments in the Calvert high school. He was principal in Big Spring High school in 1923 and 1924 when he was elected superintendent of the Hondo public schools. He has served in that capacity since. Mr. Brewster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Brewster of Killeen, and a brother of Few Brewster, pass and Mills counties. He was district attorney for Bell, Lamarried to Miss Faye Wood at Uvalde on Jan. 14, 1920.

N. E. Porter, Secretary treasurer of the Jayton National Farm Loan Association was a business visitor in Big Spring, Tuesday of this week.

Frequent Bilious Attacks

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky.

"I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples.

"My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed.

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells.

"I got some Black-Draught and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells."

WHY NOT DIG THE HOLES TODAY?

A prominent horticulturist in Texas recently wrote Farm and Ranch on the subject of budding pecans. In his letter he said:

"I have budded 3,000 pecan trees in my county. Of this number twenty-six for real dirt farmers and 2,974 were for bankers, merchants, doctors and lawyers."

Our correspondent did not say whether or not the farmers budded their own trees. Probably some of them did, but in the section referred to but few farms are found that do not have a few native trees or are not adapted for the production of pecans. It is unexplainable that a great many farmers have not yet been sold on the value of budding native trees and producing a nut of quality. Nor can pecan enthusiasts understand why every farm should not have at least ten or a dozen pecan trees scattered about, providing shade, improving the beauty of the landscape, and producing a nut that sells at a good price.

There is a woeful lack of trees about many of our farm homes. Any kind of a tree would be better than none, but when setting trees it is no more trouble to set out one that will produce something of value than it is any other kind.

WAR, THE CARNIVAL

War has been outlawed by unanimous vote of the assembly of the League of Nations. "All wars of aggression," declares the successful resolution, "are and always shall be prohibited and every pacific means must be employed to settle disputes of every description which may arise between states."

Thus is realized a dream of many ages of philosophers, statesmen, and peace proponents. The pronouncement embodies an ideal toward which countless generations of humanitarians have striven. It is the culmination of economic pressure quite as much as it is an expression of the sentiment of the antimilitarists.

The scoffers will, "of course, point out practical difficulties of enforcing arbitration of international disputes. And it must be admitted that there exists an amplitude of perplexity. Such admission adds, rather than detracts from, the courage of the League assembly. Having committed itself to compulsory arbitration, the body valiantly undertakes to make a survey of its resources. It methodically goes about the matter of questioning its members as to the military and naval units that will be made available to League command in support of League dictates. It seeks to put down on pagestion, and ask if there is not some merit in the proposition. It will soon be too late to set trees. Why not dig the holes today?—Farm and Ranch.

per the most ships, airplanes money and economic cooperation upon which dependence may be placed. It has taken the only logical steps upon to it.

Laugh and shrug our shoulders as we will, the fact remains that the League in the space of a single roll call has progressed further toward peace than all the conferences and missions and diplomatic round tables in the history of the world. There's no challenging the rightness of the action. There's no controverting the morality of the League attitude.

There's no reason to suspect lack of sincerity or earnestness on the part of any nation represented in the conference.

DEMPSEY QUIT

Jack Dempsey will never don the gloves again except to keep in condition, he said at San Francisco Friday night. Dempsey, one of the most popular champions of all time, has never been a welcher or alibi artist. He said he gave everything he had against Tunney last summer and it wasn't enough to win. "Some that sat in the great crowd at Soldiers Field thought that I knocked him out," said Jack. "Maybe I did; maybe I didn't. The fact remains that Tunney was declared the winner. I am not taking one iota of credit away from him. All I can say is that I gave the public the best I had in me and that it wasn't enough to bring me victory."

Dempsey frowned down his manager's effort to make capital out of the so-called "long count" in the Chicago battle, and refused to register a kick.

JACKALS WHO PREY UPON WIDOWS

If we were to catalogue the undesirable in this country, who through their own fault manage to stay within the letter of the law, we would place at the top of the list the jackals who prey upon the widows and orphans. We have in mind the men and women who daily check up on the death notices in the papers for the purpose of securing prospects for the various "easy money" schemes they have in mind. It makes no difference to them whether or not the widowed beneficiary has other means of support than the few thousand dollars obtained from an insurance company. They know that the smaller the policy the more anxious the widow is to secure the largest returns from the investment and the easier they are to fall prey to their attractively presented scheme. Thus thousands of women without business experience are annually robbed of the money provided for them through the death of a loved one who was thoughtful enough during his life to make preparations for just such an emergency. Not only are there thousands of heartless promoters of this character, but there are others who take advantage of widows and orphans to secure donations for churches, colleges, hospital and other institutions in the name of charity and as a memorial to the departed. The family scarcely has the opportunity to remove their wraps upon their return from the cemetery before they receive offers of alleged great opportunities to invest, and pleas for contributions from professional money beggars who put eighty per cent of what they collect into their own pockets. So profitable has this species of graft become that many insurance companies are making an effort to sound a warning to beneficiaries. One well-known insurance company fastens a sticker on the check issued which reads as follows: "May we be pardoned for expressing the hope that before investing these funds you will secure from a reputable bank or investment house a suggestion or advice in this important matter? The great number of, shall we say, questionable or doubtful schemes, which are being most attractively promoted, leads us to make this suggestion."—Hollands Magazine.

A REDUCTION OF SECOND CLASS POSTAGE

Second class postal rates which were boosted during the war have never been reduced. In failing to give the publishers a square deal the government and the public are losers. In a recent presentation of the reasons for a lowering of rates, the members of Congress were shown that present high rates have brought about a sharp decrease in postal revenues from this class of matter. Diversion of newspapers from the mail, brought about by present high rates, has reached a total of more than $25,000,000 a year. Reasonable rates for carrying this matter in the mail would return the Government largely increased revenues. The first interest in the matter of postal rates on newspapers is that of the public for it is the public which must pay. Excessive rates, which penalize the public for reading to acquire information and to provide the individual grasp of affairs as a citizen, are measures in restriction of the spread of intelligence. Congressmen who are not amenable to the suggestion that the Government owes it as a duty to its citizens to remove such a penalty, should nevertheless listen when it is asserted and proved that the high rates produce actually lower revenue than would be

Easy to Trace Origin of Names of States

Twenty-one states bear names that are clearly Indian. One other that is not Indian refers to the Indians. That one is Indiana, the name readily conveying the meaning, land of the Indians. Oregon and Wyoming, whose derivation is not clear or is disputed, may also be Indian, says a writer in the Detroit Daily News.

The Spanish influence on the southwest section of the country appears in the names of the states there, six of the state names being clearly taken from that language. Such are Colorado, California, Arizona and New Mexico.

It is generally supposed that Texas is a Spanish or Mexican name, but the state librarian of Texas says it has neither a Spanish nor an Aztec origin, but is pure Indian and means friends or allies. Ten state names are from the names of persons, including Pennsylvania, which is a combination of the name Penn and the Latin name for woods. Five take their names from places, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York, New Hampshire and Maine.

Two are plainly coined words descriptive of the outstanding physical features of the states that bear them—Vermont and Montana.

Schoolmaster of Old Stern in Discipline

An occasional copy of the Two Pies Magazine for 1836 is found in New England's "antique libraries." In one of these yellowed volumes treasured in a Bradford (N. H.) home is a casual mention of a statistical matter that might be of interest to present-day pedagogues.

It is stated that a certain schoolmaster named John James Hubbard had taught school 51 years. In that time he had given the youths entrusted to his care 811,807 blows with a stick, 24,410 strokes with a rod, 29,990 ferrals, 130,715 blows with one hand, 18,000 slaps on the chops, 1,990 boxes on the ear, 1,115,000 raps on the head, 12,342 Notis Bases with the Bible, catechism, Psalm book and grammar, and had made boys kneel 613 times on peas and 771 times on a three-cornered block of wood.

Perhaps Not

Mathematics, one of the most brilliant achievements of his century, couldn't conceal the multiplication table to memory. Mathematics proved too much for him. It is said Emerson was never quite certain about nine times seven. This supposed deficiency in mathematics on the part of men who are brilliant in other lines does not always really exist. Some men and women think they are unable to understand mathematics when the truth is they were badly taught. They may have the same capacity that others have, but they have approached the subject in the wrong way.

Many people have more intellectual capacity than they suspect. What they are afflicted with is not dumbness but mental indolence.—Grove Patterson in The Mobile Register.

Behanding An Unwed

Visitors to the British home of the Whitehall, London, still see a relic of the Civil War conspiracy in 1659 in a behanding ax which is kept in a glass case. The ax has never behanded anyone, but it was made to behead the conspirators. The five persons convicted were sentenced to be behanded in the ordinary way but the authorities decided to hang them first and not take any chances. The behanding was done in public immediately afterward on the scaffold. It was performed with a surgeon's amputating knife by a masked "resurrection man" who was paid 20 guineas for his services.

Enemies of Cockroach

In Europe a parasitic four-winged fly often lays its eggs in the capsules of the cockroach. This fly has become widely distributed over the world, following the roach. Unfortunately, its usefulness as a means of keeping the roach in check by destroying the egg capsules is greatly impaired by the occurrence of another four-winged fly which is parasitic upon the first. Among other natural enemies of the roach are tree frogs, and it has been stated that if these animals are lodged in a room overnight they will entirely starve it of roaches.

Diplomatic Privileges

Not many people know that diplomats, even though civilians, wear a distinctive uniform for formal occasions. The more gold on sleeve and collar the higher the rank. All wear dress swords. Their order of precedence is not governed, as many people think, by size or importance of the country. It hinges on length of service at a particular post. In other words, the man who has longest represented his country as ambassador at Washington comes first. He is called the dean of the diplomatic corps.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Such Language!

From a merchant's notice to the public in Langfusa, an open-air market in Peking:

"Notice!! My dear customers! Please do not bring your rickshaws boys with you when you come to Langfusa to buy goods, because they want commission from us as they go. If we do not give them they will pursue you by some bad words, as 'Too dear' or 'Not good.'"

Hidden Threat

It is said that a plate over the door in Peking indicates that a marriageable girl lives within the house. Over here a wife gets caught without warning.—Charlotte Observer.

The asphalt heating plant, elevators, concrete mixers and other equipment used in constructing twenty blocks of paving in Big Spring are being taken down for removal to Midland and Arlington, Texas.

The General Construction Co was awarded the contract for the first 30 blocks of paving in the business district in Big Spring and our folks are reminded every day of their good work when driving on the paved streets in our city.

One can't help noticing and remarking about the cheerful sight of gas being used in several of the business houses in town. It is something new, that we have never seen in use in Big Spring before. Many of us are rejoicing that this cheap fuel can now be obtained, and the demand for it will be greater when more of our folks realize that it is here in abundance and of very good quality.

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Big Spring, Texas, under Act of Congress, May 3, 1897.

Big Spring Friday March 30 1928

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC: Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to attention of the editor.

LET'S BACK UP ONE OF OUR IMPORTANT ASSETS

Natural gas is Big Spring's greatest industrial asset. In going after factories and industries of various kinds one of the best inducements we have to offer is this natural gas.

We were very anxious to have this cheap, clean fuel brought to our city, we should be just as anxious to patronize the company that has made it possible for us to enjoy this convenience for our homes, business firms and factories and make it possible for our city to bring new industries to our city because we have a cheap, clean fuel.

Somehow our folks seem a little backward in having their homes equipped to use gas as a fuel when it is the most economical and efficient that can be procured. All of us who were so anxious to have natural gas brought to Big Spring should remember that considerable money was necessary to bring this dependable fuel to our city and we should co-operate by patronizing the firm which brought gas here for our use and convenience.

The fact that this gas is a sweet, dry gas, secured from the gas field south of Big Spring in-ures of a permanent supply and uninterrupted service.

HOSPITALITY WINS BIG SPRING PRAISE

Big Spring people are making this city famous for hospitality according to many letters received by Shine Phillips. These letters are expressions from druggists over Texas who attended the recent meeting of the West Texas Retail Druggists' Association that held a two day session in Big Spring.

Four more conventions are to meet in Big Spring within the next few weeks, sixth district of the Parent Teachers' Association the West Texas Lumbermen, the West Texas Press and the West Texas Laundrymen. With the completion of two new hotels and a third under construction, hotel accommodations equal to any can be had in Big Spring.

CHICKENS DO DAMAGE TO FLOWERS IN CITY

"Won't you please say something in the paper asking people to shut up their chickens?" asked a distressed voice over the phone yesterday. "The bulbs are coming up, and the chickens are ruining the flowers."

"Kill the chickens" shot back the reporter. "That's the quickest and most effective manner."

"I hate to do that to my neighbors, but they don't seem to be interested in my flowers," said the anxious voice.

Owners of chickens are urged to keep their chickens shut up now that spring is here and flowers and gardens are in the making.—Scurry County Times.

This same complaint is being broadcast from many Big Spring flower growers.

The bug experts at Washington and Austin are making a mountain out of a mole hill. At least that is the opinion of farmers who have had experiences with the pink boll worm in the Rio Grande Valley. Some of them denigrate this anti-pink boll worm propaganda as pure bunk. It all reminds us of the fellow who declared he had found a bull frog down on the coast that weighed 350 pounds. When his statement was challenged he explained that 245 pounds of it was bull and two pounds frog. The trouble with the bull in this bull worm business is that it is so expensive to the farmer and the taxpayer.—Lynn County News.

But even so that the worms and entomologists have West Texas on the hip and looks like they are going to be able to force a new cotton zone.

The mechanical eye has arrived. The other day at the Forest Park Zoo, before the elephant house, we overheard a youngster: "See, Ma, look at the wheelbarrow on that thing."

In backing and encouraging the Boy Scout movement in Big Spring our folks are doing something really worth while. Boys who receive scout training are never found in the ranks of the criminal. Let's have a Boy Scout baseball team to represent Big Spring in the national baseball tournament. The local American Legion can sponsor this team. The big league owners have donated $50,000 to encourage this amateur championship baseball tournament.

Unless the State Railroad Commission steps in and orders a slow up in the granting of permits for new test wells in the Winkler oil field—Independent operators are going to be hurt. The big oil companies can stand cheap oil as long as they can clean up on the refined products. The old oil game is in a bad way unless some action is taken to keep the big oil companies from forcing further cuts in the price of crude oil in West Texas.

We thought it was all a farce about the "big guns" wanting to bring about a reduction of the cotton acreage. Along comes the pink bollworm and agrees to reduce the cotton acreage and the cotton men have hysterics. They won't have to pass any laws to force folks to plant less cotton if they will allow nature to take her course.

Members of the State Highway Commission are opposed to gravel roads. Gravel roads blow away in seasons of dry weather, according to their statements. West Texas folks can vouch for the truth of such statements for we have witnessed the destruction of our gravel highways.

It would be worth a great deal to Big Spring if it could be conclusively proved that we have another inexhaustible supply of pure water adjacent to our city, in addition to our present supply. Oil well drillers say such a supply can be secured at a depth of 700 feet. They have found a big supply at this depth in the Guitard and Connelley test wells.

With a swimming pool assured the coming summer is not going to have any terrors for the guys who won't be able to take a trip to the seashore. The pool will no doubt be a big drawing card in our city the coming months.

Some sanitary inspector is needed to insist that the numerous tent dwellers making their appearance in our city observe some sanitary regulations. It is to their interest as well as the best interest of our city that sanitary regulations be enforced.

Barney Google's Billy Goat Society should sweep the nation this year. With the Democratic and Republicans now principally engaged in a goat getting tournament, Barney will have to keep a close watch on his angora or it will be confiscated in the round-up.

Howard county is going to be a big oil field when the smoke blows over and the big producing fields have become exhausted. It is better to keep oil stored in Mother Earth than give it away as they are now doing in some of the big fields to the West of us.

C. T. Watson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has a man-sized task in hearing that cotton meeting in Memphis Friday, March 30. He will be fighting a lone fight, practically, against the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the big cotton men of the South.

If you have not yet given your name as hostess to some delegate of the P. T. A. do so at once. We need every vacant room. Let the chairman hear from you at 452. This is most important. Don't wait until they begin to arrive next week.

The Texas and Pacific railway has completed a $5,000,000 building program at Fort Worth and will now be in a position to look into big improvements planned at other points along the system. As Big Spring is one of the points, our folks are very much interested.

Paving Highway No. 3 across our county and extending paved roads to the Glasscock and Borden county lines will give Howard county a real system of highways. We pay more for poor roads than the taxes for other improvements would amount to.

Get your banquet ticket this week and attend the Federation banquet honoring the P. T. A., this coming week. It is to be a big affair. You will enjoy the speaking and also the good eats. Buy your ticket early, one dollar per plate.

Looks like the cards are going to be stacked against us at that meeting in Memphis March 30th. The heads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have their backs bowed and its non-cotton zone or bust, with them.

When we get some property lines and grade lines in our city permanently established we should wage a campaign to have more sidewalks constructed in Big Spring. Sidewalks are a great convenience and add to the value of your property.

The Republicans have so much dirty linen in the wash that they had about decided Coolidge is their only hope, he seems to have kept his shirt fairly clean and has kept his mouth shut except when taking nourishment. Anyway it is to be a lively time for politicians.

There is too much selfishness in our program—most of us are so anxious to take all that the traffic will bear that we forget the other fellow has to live.

There will be no incentive for further new oil fields to be developed as long as the price of oil is as low as it is at present. Better let the oil remain underground than give away as the producers are now forced to do.

The earlier you begin a fight on weeds the less work you will have to do later on. We must keep our city neat and clean if we hope to keep it attractive and beautiful.

We have a good town and we should take pride in keeping it a Class A burg. What helps your town helps you and when you knock your town you are peeling the skin off your own back.

Some of our streets could stand quite a bit of improvement as you will conclude after you get through bouncing over them.

Wider highways and wider streets are the need of the hour, and will be needed until airplanes send the automobile to join the horse.

Sure, we want to have a big time during the P. T. A. Convention. Shake out your glad rags and make a big hit with our visitors—April 5th, 6th and 7th.

The other fellow might not be right, but he has as much right to his opinion as you have for yours.

We are due to have one more cool snap, since it seldom skips handing us a little wintry weather along the forepart of April.

There is always room at the top, as is true today as on the day this truth was first uttered.

In the language of the poet: we are here today and the devil knows where tomorrow.

We all know that it is easiest to give and the hardest to take—advice and castor oil.

The year's at the Spring, West Texas is gay. For coming is April And our P. T. A.

Our standards are lifted, Flags proudly unfurled, Big Spring's at her best, All's well with the world.

BRAKE-TESTING LAW IS NEEDED

Police at Fort Arthur, Texas, have delivered an ultimatum to motorists to the effect that unless individuals compulsory testing of brakes twice a month will be enforced. Repeated traffic accidents caused by faulty brakes are responsible.

Texas ought to have a brake law. Each municipality should good condition, and police should require brakes to be kept in have an ordinance requiring be required to test brakes whenever an arrest is made for speed

There is no maintaining the speed which might have had brakes tested but logic argues is large. A man is safe largely to its capacity ly. Good brakes times, in addition coltheadedness driver.—P. T. A. gram.

The secret of fine candy-making and the roasting of Hills Bros Coffee depend upon the same rule

When the recipe calls for the hot syrup to be beaten into the egg whites, you add the syrup a little at a time. Then the candy is smooth as velvet. When Hills Bros. roast their coffee, they roast only a few pounds at a time by their patented, continuous process, and as a result secure a flavor and uniformity that no other roasting method can create.

This exact process of roasting is Hills Bros.' exclusively. They originated it, also the famous vacuum pack which seals in every bit of the exhilarating aroma and satisfying flavor. People Never Partial to Perforated Coins Perforated coins were never in vogue in the United States, though various efforts were made to popularize them. The first United States coin with a perforated center was a gold dollar issued in 1869, which had a square hole in the middle of the planchet. It was the forerunner of the gold dollar issued by the United States mint in 1890. The coin was engraved, not struck from dies. The next United States coin with a perforated center was a silver dime issued in 1890 and was of the denomination of 1 cent. It was about the size of the bronze cent now in use.

At that time the large, old-fashioned copper cent was in general circulation and the perforated coin received the name of "ring cent." The designer reasoned that by means of the perforation the cent could be distinguished by touch from the dime. Another perforated cent issued the same year showed two rings in the field, with the words "Cent, one-tenth silver." The reverse showed an olive wreath around the perforation and the words "United States of America." The mint authorities undertook to design a coin that would answer all requirements, and the pieces were struck with both pierced and perfect centers in silver, copper, nickel and composition metal, six varieties in all, without counting the various metals, but none of the designs was favored by the government authorities, and consequently they were never put in general circulation.

Marriage No Light Ceremony in China

Getting married is complicated business in China. Anna Louise Strong, writing in Harper's Magazine, gives the following description of Chinese wedding customs as related to her by a Chinese student: "If a marriage is honorable in China, the parents of the groom will pay the money needed. They will send notes from the groom's father: 'On such a date my son will marry the daughter of Mr. So-and-so. Your presence is requested at the feast.' But it is worth much to him, for at the wedding, all honor is shown to this old man, who will now be a grandfather, since his son has taken a wife. "But if the marriage be without parents' consent, then the young folks cannot be at home on their wedding day. A proper, honorable marriage—it really cannot be done without the parents; otherwise, all is disorder. There are only two other ways for young folks. One is to wait and beseech the parents. Even if they do not like the girl, still they love their son, and if they see him always unhappy, refusing to take any other woman or to give them grandsons in the end they will often give way."

To Clinch the Bargain

A Kansas City man employed in an expert capacity received an offer from a rival firm recently, and went to talk the matter over. The prospective employer named a certain sum to start the salary discussion, but the expert did not like the looks of the new job, and so he said: "I'm sorry, but I have a contract with my company which has two years to run." "Contract be blown!" said the rival boss, who is also a lawyer. "I can break any contract ever written. Now, you come with us, and I'll give you $100 a month more than you're getting now." "Well, I guess I'd better not." "Listen, I'll give you $150 more." "No, I—"

Jewels in Legend

The fact that the misfortunes that have so often attended the careers of famous jewels may be explained away as coincidences, just as the mystical qualities ascribed to pearls may be dispelled on scientific grounds, will probably lessen the appeal of the stories and legends about them. On the other hand, optimists may point with some pleasure to a contrary example, in which the pawning of some more or less valuable jewelry financed Columbus' discovery of a new world.

Youth Laughs Last

A professor at George Washington university failed to show up on time for class. The young men waited 15 minutes. No professor! The class evaporated. Next day the teacher avowed he had been "constructively present" because his hat had been on his desk. On the third day the instructor entered the classroom to find the usual chairs, each with a hat upon it. American humor is still "constructively present."—Lafayette Journal and Courier.

Burial of Giants

To bury a woman who died at Bagassai, South Africa, the services of 50 men were required. The coffin was 3 feet 4 inches high at the shoulder and 6 feet 3 inches in length. Twenty men had to assist in putting the corpse into the coffin, and 50 pallbearers lowered it into the grave. The deceased, who was a young woman, had been bedridden for a year. Owing to her weight a special bed had to be made on the floor.

Royalty Men Contest Charge

A new legal battle over petroleum in West Texas looms as the result of a reduction by Roxann Petroleum Corporation and Landreth Production company of 10c a barrel from the posted market price in payment for Winkler Co. royalty oil to cover the cost of pipe line transportation from the field and tank car loading at Monahans on the T. & P. and at McCamey on the Orient railroad.

Termining this assessment unjustified, unprecedented and in violation of lease contracts the royalty owners have declined to accept payment on this basis and have so advised the two companies individually and collectively through the Winkler County Royalty Owners' Association, just formed. Its purposes are to contest the 10c carrying charge, to obtain an equitable assessment of taxes so far as is possible and to promote and protect the interest of royalty owners generally.

Garza County Test Has Oil

A good showing of oil in a Garza county test was one of the interesting developments reported in Dallas oil circles as the week began. This well, which was drilled by the Emerald Oil Company on the Boren land and designated as the No. 2, is located in the southeastern corner of the county about five and one half miles from the Scurry county line and about the same distance from the Kent county line. The well had oil showings at 2,495 feet, 2,532 feet and 2,585 feet, and at latest report was drilled at 2,855 feet. The oil is said to be 28 gravity

WHAT MEANS HAPPINESS?

To the News: I had occasion once to spend a few days in the home of a man deeply imbued with the spirit of philosophy. Thought ruled his life and his greatest passion was the pursuit of truth. His speech was eloquent and of a depth few ordinary men could fathom. He believed in the power to will, the philosophy of the blonde beast, and somehow even Bergson had made a deep impression on his mind. Aristotle, Spinoza, Kant, Hobbes and Bacon were household words with him. Marriage had never appealed to him. He lived in the empyrean heights of pure thought; rather the unknown than the plain and obvious. Abstract things alone were worth while. I found his mind rich, his living commendable and his attitude above reproach.

"Are you happy?" it occurred to me one day to ask him. "I have never been," he said, "I scarcely know the meaning of the word."

Some time later I was for a while with an old farmer. He was uneducated, uncouth, dirty; but he managed to extract a bare living from the soil he tilled. He owned his home, his farm, his tools; had some live stock, and possessed a few other things that were necessary to carry on his farming. He never seemed to worry, always following each day to take care of itself. No newspaper or magazine came to his house; the only book I ever saw there was the Bible. He was married to the mother of his eight children, a slovenly, ugly woman who was He appeared happy and well contented. It happened one day that I put the same question to him I had asked the philosopher.

"Well, yes," he said. "I guess I'm happy. I ain't got nothin' to kick about. God give me all this!" he indicated his holdings, "an' I believe He loves jest about as much as He do his best preachers. I don't hate nobody, and I live peaceful like with my family. I

SHIFT IN RADIO STATIONS PLANNED

Washington March 27.—Another general shifting about of radio broadcasting stations has been undertaken by the Federal Radio Commission on the basis of the recently enacted radio law.

In the opinion of the commission the law demands a new allocation of wave lengths and power among broadcasting establishments, but while the new scheme is being worked out the commission will allow all present operating stations to continue service under temporary license.

"To bring the status of broadcasting station licenses into strict compliance with the new legislation by Congress," the commission announced Monday, "Providing equitable distribution of licenses, power, frequencies and time of operation the Federal Radio Commission is compiling a new allocation of broadcasting stations and powers, to be put in effect at the earliest possible date following executive approval of the new act."

"Meanwhile, all broadcasting stations licenses in force until April 1, 1928, have been extended by the commission to be in effect until 3 a. m., May 1, 1928."

In the new allocation, a considerable number of broadcasting stations might be dropped out but no member of the commission was ready to say directly. The commission tentatively adopted last winter a plan to reduce materially the total number of broadcasting stations, but no vote indicating its present stand has been taken since congressional committees in hearings thrashed out arguments on the subject prior to the enactment of the new bill.

A number of Big Spring folks attended the semi-annual meeting of District 17 of Texas Hardware and Implement Association at Midland Tuesday. H. L. Rix led the discussion on the subject, "Your Association, Its Benefits and Needs."

SHINE PHILLIPS GETS NOTORIETY IN PRINT

Shine Phillips, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce in business, as part owner of Cunningham and Phillips, three friendly drug stores, and one of the biggest boosters for Big Spring and Howard county, is getting his name in the limelight, and his picture in print. An exact reproduction of Shine's bald head, and other features appears on the front page of "The Texas Druggist" March issue, the official publication of The Texas Pharmaceutical Association, of which Shine is president. This association is to hold its Forty-Ninth Annual convention in Abilene in June, with Shine presiding.

In Saturday's issue of the Ft. Worth Star Telegram, appeared a picture of our fellow-townsmen, with the following complimentary write-up: "This introduces 'Shine Phillips' new president of Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, considered one of the most enthusiastic city builders of West Texas. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce under his leadership is launching for 1928 the biggest program the city ever attempted, practically doubling the financial budget of 1927. 'Shine' is also president of the State Pharmaceutical Association, vice president of the West Texas Retail Druggists Association and is actively identified with several fraternal organizations of the city."

There is no doubt that Phillips is a man of vision and energy. He has been instrumental in securing a brick factory, a cement plant, a tanning plant, for our city. It is a proper effort to secure the material expert in raw materials. Phillips, power and submit the like way to the building locations.

Cities along the way plan entertainment for those guests while in their cities. Abilene plans a civic reception, hands will greet

POSTER'S WEATHER
 Washington March 24.—A general rise in average temperatures will be expected to occur near March 24, bringing spring weather features as far north as is usual or normal at this date; storm force will decrease after the average storm wave centering on 20, but it will be well for the Southwest to watch weather developments south and west of the Rio Grande for a few days, as storm wave of 20 is expected to attract a moderately severe storm wave from that direction. Such storms take a few days to form and begin their travels, which would mean that arrival in west Gulf would be near 27. A storm wave of moderate intensity will be expected to cross continent in central transcontinental storm path during week centering on 25; this storm wave will occur during a general warm wave east of the Rockies and cool wave west of the Rockies that threatens to be a cold wave farther south than usual on Pacific slope. During the last ten days of March, precipitation will be expected to increase in sections 6, 7, 8 and 9, far eastern part of 1, 3 and 5; decrease in central and western parts of sections 3, 1 and 5; little change in balance of continent. Heaviest precipitation during this period will be expected near meridian 90 Great Lakes to Gulf and in section 6, eastern cotton belt.

As an average of the North American continent, spring crop weather 1928 will average very near a normal season. Every agriculturist knows or should know the average dates of arrival of principal cropweather features in the vicinity. I have forecasted no drought in any section of North America for this season but do expect a material shortage of rainfall in a considerable portion of the continent growing more severe as season advances. Excepting spring wheat and rye which I believe should be in the ground as early as possible in most sections of the country, average spring cropweather of continent seems favorable to normal dates for all spring plantings and that once planting is started, every advantage to forward operations be taken as planting season will average wet and growing weather will arrive early. Summary of expected April cropweather features will appear in next weekly bulletin.

About a year ago these bulletins carried a discussion of the probable effect of Jupiter on general and local precipitation, principally the theory advanced by a Mr. Husted that greatest precipitation occurred near Jupiter's perihel-ion and least near his aphelion. Jupiter reaches his perihel-ion on March 15, 1928, his point in his orbit when he is nearest the Sun. I believe that certain localities will receive very heavy precipitation this year, but that, due to influences that do not coincide with the Jupiter cycle, greatest precipitation for the continent as a whole will occur about 18 months later; that the highest stage of the great lakes during this Jupiter year considering 1928 as the middle of that year which is about twelve of our years, will occur during the fall of 1929; that a second flood of the lower Mississippi during this period is not probable.

 Schenectady, N. Y., March 24.
 —Fryless fried eggs and unbaked baked beans are stunts of radio cooking made possible by development of a new high frequency radio tube announced at the General Electric Company's laboratories here.

Demonstrations which a few years ago would have been relegated to the realm of fairy tales are being shown at the laboratories where a short wave radio, an innocuous looking vacuum tube five inches in diameter, set down in a wooden cage, does the work of a cook stove, and electric warming pad, or an electric light, ing plant. An incandescent lamp pulled from its socket for the first time, lights to full brilliancy without wires or socket; a copper bar lying on the floor blisters the hand that picks it up, though the metal is cold, and a neon tube suddenly floods the room with its lurid red glow when merely touched by a spectator.

The tube is surrounded by a net work of wires, condensers and electric meters. The tube operates as a self-excited oscillator on a wave length of six meters, and is capable of radiating from 10 to 15 kilowatts of high frequency power—probably 50 times as much as any short wave tube has heretofore been able to produce. The tube is connected thru a coupling system to a copper bar approximately three meters long, which constitutes the tuned aerial circuit, and is able to radiate

LUXURIOUS PLANE, TO RE-PLACE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS

New York, March 22.—A luxurious new airplane, with a nickel-plated motor, self starter and other conveniences lacking in the Spirit of St. Louis, will be ready for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by April 1.

William Mankey, chief engineers of the Spirit of St. Louis for the Mahoney Aircraft Co., has divulged the details of the new plane which was designed by the flying colonel himself.

It will have the same wing spread as his famous transatlantic plane and something of the same appearance, but will differ in other details.

It will have accommodations for three passengers in addition to the pilot and will have a speed of 126 miles an hour. The pilot will have a clear view ahead in contrast to the Spirit of St. Louis. The interior finish will be the last word in airplane luxury. The seats will be deep cushioned leather chairs and the instrument board will be of mahogany.

The nickel plated motor probably is the most beautiful thing of its kind ever built. It is a Wright whirlwind of 220 horse power and was the gift of its builders. Other parts of the plane also were gifts from their builders to Lindbergh.

Special landing lights are to be installed in the wing and parachute flares, necessary in emergency landings, will be installed in the fuselage so they can be released from the cockpit.

The plane has a gas capacity of only 115 gallons. The Spirit of St. Louis was built primarily for long distance flying with little thought for the comfort of the pilot. The only concession Lindbergh ever made to comfort in the Spirit of St. Louis was an air cushion which he used in the seat of the plane after his return from France.

We could well afford to pool our resources and secure a cotton mill and cotton seed oil mill for Howard County. We would thereby make a market for our main crop and add another big payroll to keep prosperity camping in our community.

See Crosley's ICY BALL

The Mechanical Ice Man insures Refrigeration for the ranch, farm or city home. The Icyball is new. We presume that you have never seen one Call at 113 W. First Street and see one in operation.

The Icyball not only keeps the food compartment cold, but dry and crisp as well.

No electricity is necessary. It may be used in a place where there is a cook stove or a campfire.

The Icyball can be used anywhere. In the city home, on the farm, in the summer cottage or in the wilds of Central Africa.

In the city it not only reduces the cost of keeping the food cold as compared with the cost of ice, but it eliminates the bother of getting the ice, the muddy tracks of the ice man and the nuisance of emptying the drip pan.

It also effects a saving of from eight to twenty cents a day in the average home.

In the country, it is a God-send.

It permits several days' supply of meat to be purchased and kept fresh and wholesome.

The Icyball requires no service. There are no moving parts. There is nothing to get out of order. It is unnecessary to replace the liquid with which the Icyball is charged.

See the Icyball now on display at 113 W. First Street.

HYSTERIA PLUS

The Dallas News seems thoroughly convinced that anything short of complete prohibition of cotton growing in the West Texas localities where pink bollworm infestation has been reported is unsafe. With such a conviction the News is able to view with resignation the paralysis of industrial and economic relations in these localities which would certainly ensue if the farmers were forbidden by law to plant what is now their most important crop. Such a sacrifice is necessary, the News believes, if the pink bollworm is to be stopped at the present farthest point of its invasion, thus saving the humid section of Texas which, the News points out, still produces "most of the cotton grown in this State."

Yet there is no intention anywhere of falling in this protection. The regulatory measures now being put into effect in the West Texas localities under the specification and supervision of the State Boll Worm Commission have as their purpose nothing other than the prevention of the spread of the pest to the "humid sections" where it is admitted greater ravages would be produced as the insect found climatic conditions more to its liking. It is in the demand for "going the limit" in protection, when the burden of such measures falls directly only on others, that there lies the hysteria which the Star-Telegram referred to, a term to which the News objects.

Along with the hysteria there is a selfishness which is not mitigated by the willingness of those proposing such measures that the cotton growing interests of the West Texas counties shall be indemnified sometime for their losses. The News holds that, in the event of cotton prohibition, the farmers should be "fairly compensated." The difficulty is that under present conditions farmers cannot be fairly compensated. The funds for such compensation must come partly from the Federal Government and partly from the State, with the State supplying the larger portion. There are no State funds available, and in regular order there is no opportunity for making state funds available for this purpose until next Winter when the Legislature meets. It is obvious therefore, that if cotton growing were prohibited this year, the growers, ginners and other interests dependent upon the cotton crop would have to wait some time before they could be "fairly compensated." The loss to the communities in such a situation would be enormous. Compensation to be "fair" must be not on full but prompt.

If the money were at hand to pay the farmers and others in the non-cotton zones the question would not be such a grave one. But the money is not at hand, and there does not appear any likelihood that will soon be available. It is true that there is a bill in Congress for the taking over by the Federal government of the entire financial burden of fighting the pink bollworm. There also has been a movement for a special session of the Legislature to make available the State's share of funds require under the existing system of federal and state cooperation. But, in legislative matters, there is often a long spread of time between the proposal and enactment.

In the meantime, the fight against the boll worm must proceed. The State Boll Worm Commission has approved a program which calls for strict regulatory measures. The counties where the pest has been found are co-operating. The News admits that regulatory measures are equal at least to the job of preventing the spread of the insect beyond the regulated zones. That should be sufficient to allay hysteria, which is inevitably an accompanying phenomenon of all organized battles against pests and diseases.

So long as West Texas is content to continue to raise cotton under regulation, and so long as regulation will prevent the spread eastward of the bollworm it appears that level-headed persons should be content to let matters rest there for the year, confident that should any further measures be necessary, the boll worm commission will see that they are carried out.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

1927 CROP AMOUNTS TO 19,748 BALES
Howard County produced 13,748 bales of cotton in 1927, according to the U. S. Bureau of Census in comparison with 23,814 bales produced in 1926. More real money was made on the 1927 than on the 1926 crop.

ALL WEATHER ROUTES

News that even this late in the Spring airmail planes are occasionally delayed by snows and blizzards as they attempt to cross the continent serves to emphasize the value of the southern route through El Paso for dependable air service.

Only recently a passenger was severely injured when the airmail plane in which he was riding made a forced landing in a snow storm near Cheyenne, Wyo. Another plane which was attempting to fly from Denver to Wyoming capital with mail was forced back to its home port.

It is said that transcontinental air service by way of El Paso is awaiting only the completion of a municipal airport. It takes no astute prophet to foresee the time when a large percentage of coast to coast airmail matter will be coming through El Paso, especially in the winter.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the Fort Worth municipal airport is already paying its own expenses. Cargoes are made for storing planes, either for overnight in the case of visitors passing through or for the week or month in the case of Fort Worth residents who do not have their own hangars, just as garages charge for storage.

El Paso's airport when built, may provide the city with additional revenue, instead of being an expense.—El Paso Herald.

Just as it was necessary to build the Bankhead Highway to serve as an all-weather 12-months highway across the continent, so it is going to be necessary to designate the same route as an all-weather airway. They will never get snowbound on this route and they will encounter fewer rain storms.

Sickle Still in Use at Galician Harvest
A Galician peasant girl frames her bronzed face with a russet-colored hair-beret. She wears a colored blouse with a pattern of checked gingham, and a gray woollen skirt. The white and blue striped apron is crumpled by the sheaf of yellow wheat clasped in her smooth brown arms.
In Galicia many of the men emigrate to find employment, and the women carry on the work of the four seasons. The fields are small; the farming methods are the methods of the Homeric age. The red earth is turned in shallow furrows with wooden plows drawn by black-colored oxen.
The seed is scattered by hand and the soil is cultivated with wooden harrows. In June the grain is ripe, and the peasant girl goes into the field with her sickle.
The harvester bends low; in the left arm she gathers a cluster of grain stalks; with the sickle in her right hand she cuts a swift stroke near the roots. Catching the severed grain in the curve of her arm and waves it in a circular movement; then, pivoting on her hips, she lays the sheaf on the ground behind her. In tireless rhythm she moves across the rows of grain.
A boy follows in the field, tying the sheaves with straw.—Exchange.

Liked Old Costumes but Stuck to Modern Looking at some pictures of Ireland, old and new, a friend remarked the other day that men on the streets of Dublin looked like men on the streets of New Bedford, and pointed regrettably to the posed picture of the typical Irish countryman of an older day, with his breeches and his characteristic hat and stick.
"What a pity they haven't stuck to the old costumes," "Well," I said, "they haven't; but if you are stuck on that rig there is nothing on earth to prevent you wearing one like it." He said that was different. "Don't be so," I went on, "you admire the Hungarian women in their quaint old-style dress." He said he did. "Do you want your wife to dress that way?" But he said that, too, was different.
"If you are so strong for the old and the picturesque," I persisted, "you might wear silk knee breeches and stockings and a gilet-buttoned coat and an elaborate starched ruffled collar and a three-pointed hat, just like your Revolutionary forbears." But it was no use. I couldn't interest him in wearing old clothes, and he wouldn't think of cooking his meal in an open fireplace, preferring the standardized, dull, stupid gas stove with hot-water attachment.—C. G. in New Bedford Standard.

Tides of the Earth
Because it is by no means rigid, our earth's crust rises and falls like the ocean's side under the gravitational attraction of the moon and sun. There is no doubt that this occurs, says Dr. Walter D. Lambert of the United States coast and geodetic survey, though difficulties have so far prevented exact measurement.
Another thing that makes the crust of the earth heave and fall, says Doctor Lambert, is the pressure exerted upon it in spots by the rising tide of the ocean. Atlantic tides have caused an observed earth bulge at Williams Bay, Wis., 800 miles away, and it is thought probable that this influence strikes the earth.

Great Actress' Prank
Sarah Bernhardt, generally credited with never having laughed or joked while on the stage, is said to have played a prank on an actress, presumably Mrs. Patrick Campbell, in retaliation for a joke the latter had played on her. There was a scene wherein she had to grasp the hands of Mrs. Campbell, to help her over the rock. The astonished Mrs. Campbell discovered that the "Divine Sarah" carried a raw egg and left it crushed in Mrs. Campbell's hands, but went on with the scene as if nothing had happened.

Unique Religious Rite
A devout Buddhist, Doctor Inazo, of Osaka, Japan, held a mass for the souls of the flies whose death he had caused by a deadly fly poison he invented. He invited priests, newspaper men and friends to the ceremony and read a funeral scroll, asking the pardon of the flies. Priests chanted the funeral mass and the assembled mourners joined in prayers for the repose of the flies' souls. After the ceremony Doctor Inazo paid the priests liberally and invited the mourners to an elaborate dinner.

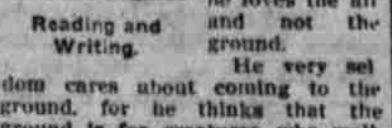

Short but Sweet
Prince Arthur of Connaught tells an amusing line of his experiences while serving as governor general of South Africa. He had made a journey up the Zambesi to some of the paramount chiefs. One of them made a speech of welcome which took three-quarters of an hour to deliver. When he had finished a native interpreter came forward to explain the oration. Pointing to the chief, the interpreter discharged his task with a single sentence: "Him say him dem pleased to see you."—GHC

Kiddies' Evening Story
By MARY CLAYTON BONNER

The Insect's End
The scissor-tailed flycatcher lives far north of the United States during the winter.
He is known by such a name because he has a very long tail which is very much the shape of a pair of scissors.
In fact his tail is like two tails which open and shut as one would open and close a pair of scissors.
He is very graceful and a beautiful bird. He loves the air and not the ground.
He very seldom cares about coming to the ground, for he thinks that the ground is for creatures who walk and the air for creatures who fly and that it is silly to do both.
He loves the woods, and the best meals, he thinks are meals of insects.
He goes off flying for them between meals just as ladies go marketing.
Instead of saying to a storekeeper: "How much is that piece of meat?" he says: "I shall catch you, Miss Insect, and you shall be my dinner."
He opens and closes his scissors-like tail when he does his marketing just as ladies would open and close their purses after they had bought something.
His home is a very large nest, and it is made of anything at all—grass and bits of twigs.
He doesn't care whether his nest is in a big tree or a little tree, or whether it is high, high above the ground, or just a little above the ground. In fact he is very good-natured.
Mrs. Scissor-Tailed Flycatcher has a happy time with such a pleasant mate and she is pleasant herself, which makes them both happy.
The event of her life is hatching time. When she is sitting on four whitish brown eggs which will soon be little scissor-tailed flycatchers she is as happy as a bird can be, and that is pretty happy, as you can imagine.
I am going to tell you now about Mr. Scissor-Tailed Flycatcher, and his talk to an insect.
"Little insect," said Mr. Scissor-Tailed Flycatcher, "I am very well named. I am called a flycatcher and I catch flies."
"But I don't only catch flies. I catch insects as well."
The little insect moved a wing, but it was captured by Mr. Flycatcher and couldn't do anything.
"I wouldn't admire myself if I could only catch flies any more than I would admire children who learned how to read but not to write. So I catch insects, too."
"I don't need to be told that," the insect whispered.
"Very well," said the Flycatcher. "I will take up another subject."
"I only told you in case you didn't know. But it is nice to go on to another lesson. Children go on from reading and writing to arithmetic and then on to something known as algebra."
"You're very much interested in children," said the insect.
"Yes," said the Flycatcher. "I am. Children enjoy good things to eat. That is sensible of them."
The insect shivered again. It knew that soon, soon it would be eaten.
"I have a secret to tell you next," said the flycatcher. "I don't go on the ground as it would be very uncomfortable for me."
"I try it once in a while, but my long tail makes it hard for me to get along."
"I am at my best when flying. Then my tail spreads out and closes. And another thing, little insect: I live here in the winter because it is cold farther north, but even in the summer I live far, far south, for I like heat and not a mere warmth."
"In a little while now I will be moving to my summer home—but it will be a few months still and in the meantime I will enjoy the scenery around these parts—and the insects as well."
"Ah, I'm a wise bird. I didn't eat you when I had enough, though I could still eat more."
"I waited until I worked up an appetite once more. I have had a good talk. Now I am hungry. Now I will enjoy a dish of afternoon insect, though I won't bother whether it is afternoon or not—nor about the dish—but I will enjoy you, little insect."
And the insect heard no more, for he had been swallowed by the flycatcher.

SEMI FINALS IN DEBATE AND DECLAMATION HELD
The Big Spring debating teams of the High School were defeated by the Colorado debating teams, in a try out at the Big Spring High School Tuesday afternoon. The boys' team, composed of Phillips Slusser and Curtis K. Bishop, handled the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved that Congress Should Pass the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill." The girls' team composed of Misses Jessel Slusser and Lillian Little, were defeated by the Colorado girls' team. These two teams are debating in Colorado again this afternoon, and we feel that our teams will come home with the victory.
Try-outs in declamation were held at the High School auditorium Wednesday night, and resulted as follows:
Senior girls, first place, Miss Margaret Bettie. Second place, Miss Doris Cauble.
Junior girl—Miss Maydell Henry. Miss Henry won a beautiful gold medal offered to the prize winner in the Junior department of the Big Spring city schools. Six girls entered the contest for this medal.

Some of our citizens are real optimists. They are still of the opinion that Big Spring will eventually secure that office building. Anyway we all need whether it is built this year or not.

STATEMENT OF AMERICAN RESCUE WORKERS

While it has been reported by some that the American Rescue Workers were no longer operating in Big Spring we wish to state that we are still carrying on the good work and are still located at 708 East 3rd Street, and that Captain and Mrs. E. O. Dodson are still in charge of the Mission.

In the past few weeks there have been representatives of another charity organization, known as the American Charity Workers, soliciting funds, etc., in Big Spring. As the two names, American Charity Workers and American Rescue Workers are very similar, many people who are not aware of the existence of the two organizations are liable to become confused and help one when the intent was to help the other. We do not wish to condemn any charity organization as they are all good when conducted by good people, but we believe the people of Big Spring want to help their home mission, therefore we are drawing your attention to the fact that the two separate organizations exist with names very similar, and that the American Rescue Workers, under the supervision of Captain and Mrs. E. O. Dodson, are located permanently in Big Spring.

The American Rescue Workers hope in the near future to build a mission here that will be a credit to the town and one that the citizens will be proud of.

As there are many people in our community who get sick from time to time and need hospital attention but are unable to pay their way, we are planning to have a hospital ward in our building. But for our work to succeed we need the cooperation of the citizens of Big Spring.

We wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation and thanks to those who have been cooperating with us and helping us, but as is usually the case, some of those who are helping are doing more than their share. If everyone would help a little so one would have a heavy burden to carry and our work would progress nicely.

There are several ways in which people can help. As there are many poor people here who need clothing your discarded clothing will be of much benefit. You can also help by giving your discarded furniture, cooking utensils, etc as there are many people in need of these household necessities. You can also help with your money as it takes funds to pay rent

Old timers in Big Spring admit the old home town has undergone a change. They say that on a trip down the streets in the business district you meet ten times as many people you don't know as those you do. Where all the new folks are coming from and what their business is keeps our curious ones quite busy.

ICE

Is an absolute necessity as the thermometer mounts higher and higher each day.

MORE and more people each year are taking ice in winter as well as in summer. You wouldn't feel safe in patronizing a restaurant that didn't keep all perishable foods properly refrigerated in January as well as in July! Do restaurant patrons deserve more consideration than your loved ones? No! Every home needs refrigeration the year 'round. But especially do you need to take ice—plenty of ice—now as the thermometer rises higher and higher each day.

Ice keeps milk pure, butter sweet, vegetables crisp, meats fresh. Ice brings out the flavor and appetizing quality of the many things you serve. And ice more than pays for itself in the food it saves—because low-cost ice protects high-cost food. It isn't a question of whether you can afford to take ice—plenty of ice—but a question of whether you can afford not to do so!

Ice is the cheapest commodity that comes into your home. Start now using plenty of ice... save food... health... money!

Deep Tests in Reeves Loving Area
 Exhausting tests of several wildcat areas in the Reeves-Loving area have been made by major companies, with the Owen & Sloan no making new hole below 4535 feet in their location in the center of Loving County, the Earl W. Brooks, below 5126 feet in south Reeves, and the Humble Oil and Refining Company below 4225 in their mountain wildcat.
 Owen & Sloan, W. D. Johnson No. 1, are expecting to find the blue klime, somewhere in the next few feet of hole, with a present depth of 4535 feet. They may have to drill 4600 feet or deeper, but some reports show promise of finding the lime around that depth.
 The Earl W. Brooks well, Ed-dias No. 1, is another wildcat in a territory that has never seen anything but cows and jackrabbits before, having a total depth of 5126 feet, and orders to go to 5000 feet if necessary. The crew is now rigging up with a new string of tools with which to drill deeper.

 The Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s test in the edge of the Davis mountains is now drilling below 4225, having cemented their casing at 3900 and gotten a shut-off. This test is another one that will be carried a great deal deeper if considered worth the shot—Pecos Enterprise.
Reagan County Oil Development
 The J. T. White well two miles north of Big Lake, is shut down awaiting orders. The big line was struck at 2,575 feet, which is very high, bids fair for a producer. A party of men visited the well recently when it was balled. After running four or five ballers a five-gallon can of oil was brought to town and placed on display at the Big Lake hotel. A considerable quantity of oil was allowed to run off into the slush pit, and the odor of gas around the well is very strong. The oil-bearing lime has been penetrated but a few inches the well being shut down as soon as it was struck.

 Northern Reagan county this week has held the interest of scouts and oil men in general due to a report that the Roxana Oil Co on the Casey survey about nine miles north of Stiles, has encountered an oil sand at around 2,700 feet that carried oil and would make 75 barrels daily. This report proved untrue. This well probably had a nice showing at that depth, but was cased off and deepening is in progress. The well is drilling around 3,000 feet the contract depth.
 Four miles east of the Roxana well, on Sluggs lands, section 165, the Texas Company is drilling around 2,550 feet. This is reported a favorable well and possibilities on encountering a strata of oil due to high lime being found. At present there has been no oil seen and these false reports are due, possibly, to pranks and street talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart Phillips returned Tuesday from an extended auto trip to points in South Texas and made a brief visit in Old Mexico. They had a narrow escape from serious injury on the return trip when their Oakland Sedan was overturned at a blind curve.
