Fuel Pipeline Blast

SEOUL (AP)—The U.S. 8th Army's fuel pipeline exploded today in a mighty blast that killed three Korean children and seriously injured two other children, an American soldier and four Korean soldiers.

They vowed to hold the legation, located in a large park at the western edge of the city, until the Bucharest government frees five persons held as political prisoners.

Neighbors said they heard a fusillade of shots and women's screams between 2 and 3 a.m. but the legation chauffeur was the only casualty reported. He was taken to a hospital with serious injuries.

The Red Romanian government demanded formally that the band be arrested and extradited to Bucharest.

The Swiss Cabinet in an emergency meeting at 7:30 a.m. decided the police should first try persuasion rather than force in their effort to get the gang out of the legation.

Bern Police Chief Eduard Freimueller told a news conference the men said they would come out only if the Romanian government released five prominent political prisoners. The Cabinet decided to relay the demand to the Romanian government "just in case," Freimueller said.

Freimueller listed the prisoners whose release was demanded as Gen. Adia Aldea, Bishop Sudeju, Elie Lawar, Anton Mursanu and B. B. Bratianu.

The five prisoners were not identifiable by records immediately available in New York. However, a Gen. Aurel Aldea, who became interior minister after Romania broke with the Axis in 1944, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Bucharest in 1946 after the Soviet army occupied the country.

Freimueller told a news conference the band—estimated to number about five men—was believed to have entered Switzerland illegally for the specific purpose of invading the legation and forcing the release of the five prisoners held within Romania.

Romania denounced the attack as a violation of international law, said Switzerland was responsible and demanded extradition of the band, which it called "a gang of Romanian Fascists and other criminal elements."

Setu's removal to the hospital was delayed several hours while Swiss police sought permission from the Romanian charge d'affaires, Emerich Stoffel, to enter the legation grounds and remove him.

Legations, embassies and similar diplomatic properties have an extraterritorial status. In effect, the grounds are a part of the homeland of the nation their staff represents.

The Romanian government, however, put up no barrier to Swiss police action. It demanded formally that the band be rounded up and shipped to Bucharest to enter the legation grounds and remove him.

But Switzerland, too, will have a claim on the group. The chauffeur's death made each member of the band if convicted of murder, liable to life imprisonment. There is no death penalty in Switzerland.

One or more of the invaders was believed to have escaped in the darkness before dawn with documents stolen from the legation files. One was caught while trying to get away. He was carrying documents, a submachinegun and hand grenades.

The Swiss minister in Bucharest Andre Parodi, was summoned to the Romanian Foreign Office early today and handed one of the most stiffly worded notes received by any Swiss diplomat since World War II.

Matusow Denies Doing Anything To 'Get A Buck'

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Matusow has denied asking a Senate investigator for a $1,000 loan and saying he would raise some money "by hook or crook."

Matusow conceded in cross-examination in federal court yesterday that he was nearly broke when he made a deal to write a book about giving false anti-Communist testimony.

In answer to questions posed by U.S. Atty. J. Edward Lumbard Matusow also acknowledged that after he signed an affidavit retracting testimony against 13 Communist leaders he was given a contract that increased his share of proceeds from the book.

Lumbard said his questioning was to find out whether Matusow would "do anything for a buck." Matusow was examined before Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock at a hearing on an application for a new conspiracy trial by 13 convicted second-rank Communists. They have based their appeal on Matusow's affidavit retracting his testimony.

For several years Matusow has appeared as an ex-Communist at government trials and before investigating bodies. He now says much of his testimony at these hearings was false.

The Senate investigator who figured in questioning of Matusow yesterday was Daniel Buckley a former member of the staff of Sen. McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee. Matusow denied telling Buckley that the forthcoming book would "destroy" him.

Matusow has also retracted testimony he gave in the trial of Clinton Jencks an official of the Independent United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union. Jencks was convicted of lying when he denied that he was Communist.

Martin Makes Hit With Texas GOP

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An old-school orator who likes Ike, Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass.), made a big hit with some 700 Republicans and some former Democrats.

Martin spoke last night at a $100-a-plate Lincoln Day fund-raising dinner and started building up the crowd's enthusiasm with a subject dear to the heart of Texans: Texas and Texasans.

With exuberance that increased nearly every minute of the 30-minute speech, the crowd broke into his talk at least 20 times as he praised Texas, Texas Republicans, the GOP program and President Eisenhower.

"No man, I am sure, could in one evening talk about all of the wonderful things I have seen in this great state," Martin said. From that point on, he had full attention.

He said it was his belief Eisenhower would run for re-election and win "easily with a bigger majority than ever," the Congress would again be Republican, and that the GOP would carry the South.

He told the crowd:

1. Republicans wiped out economic controls, settled the tidelands dispute, ended the Korean War and abolished government agencies that competed with private business.

2. That his party created the Health, Education and Welfare Department and selected "the best-looking Cabinet officer in history"—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, of Houston—to run it.

3. That the Republicans intended to keep the United States so strong militarily and economically that no foreign power would dare attack us.

4. That Red China could be "polished off in 30 days" and that the "Red plotters will resort to arms only if they are sure they can win."

Man-Made Diamonds Made In Lab, Very Costly As Yet

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. Man-made diamonds exactly like nature's own were announced today—a scientific dream come true.

They cost at least twice as much to make as natural diamonds, but in time may be greatly reduced.

These artificial diamonds are no threat, as yet anyhow, to the value of your diamonds; nor any immediate hope for cheaper diamond necklaces or engagement rings.

But they offer a new home-grown supply of diamonds vitally important to industry and national defense. Diamond is the hardest known material. Hundreds of pounds are imported annually to cut steel, dig through rock to find oil, make precision tools, perform scores of tasks. War or blockade could not cut off the man-made supply.

Success in creating diamonds was announced by scientists of the General Electric research laboratory. One process does it by creating pressure and heat equal to that 240 miles deep within the earth.

Diamonds are made within a few minutes when a carbon-containing material is subjected to this pressure and heat. The starting material was not identified. But scientists hinted it contains graphite, the carbon used in "lead" pencils. Diamonds are crystals of pure carbon.

By every test, these diamonds are indistinguishable from those dug from mines in Africa or Brazil, where nature made diamonds from carbon, pressure and heat, said Dr. A. L. Marshall, manager of the laboratory's chemistry department.

They will scratch natural diamonds. They have the X-ray "fingerprint" of natural diamonds, meet the same chemical tests.

The biggest diamond made here yet is only one sixteenth of an inch in its longest dimension. It weighs only a fraction of a carat, and it takes 130 carats to equal one ounce.

Accused Soldier Called Psychotic

FT. BRAGG, N.C. — Army career Sgt. William H. Olson, charged with collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea, today awaited the decision of a general court-martial on a defense contention that he is psychotic.

Olson, 40-year-old veteran of two wars and a prisoner of the enemy in both, was described yesterday as a man with a split personality and a persecution complex, who had shown suicidal tendencies.

Capt. Lester I. Abend, a Ft. Bragg psychiatrist, told the court that a conviction would increase the suicidal tendency. Maximum penalty under military law is death.

Other psychiatrists gave conflicting testimony. Dr. Hann Lowenbach, Duke Hospital psychiatrist, said from his examination of Olson he found no evidence of schizophrenia or inability to distinguish wrong from right.

A report submitted by a Walter Reed Hospital board concurred.

Dr. Lowenbach added however that he found the defendant "very anxious, insecure and tense" but capable of expressing himself coherently.

Olson, a native of Youngsville, Pa., whose family lives at Lumberton, N.C., was a prisoner of the Germans during World War II and for 33 months a prisoner of the Communists in Korea.

He is charged with making derogatory statements about the United States, making pro-Communist recordings and informing on fellow POWs while a prisoner in Korea.

Humphrey Asks Dulles To Detail U.S. Policy On Quemoy, Matsu

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. WASHINGTON — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today Chiang Kai-shek's broad hint that he expects the United States to help defend Quemoy and the Matsus makes it essential that the Eisenhower administration state its policy clearly.

Humphrey disclosed in an interview that he had written to Secretary of State Dulles last week asking for a public statement of the "precise position and policy" of the administration toward these islands just off the Red China coast.

Now, Humphrey said, Chiang's comment at a Taipei news conference yesterday "makes it all the more essential that Mr. Dulles put the record absolutely straight."

Chiang said "in no case" would Quemoy and the Matsus be abandoned, and made it plain he expects U.S. forces to help defend them.

The administration has declined to make a public commitment, although reportedly willing to help with defense of the islands if there should be an attack as conditions stand now. President Eisenhower has said he will reserve to himself any final decision.

Some concern has been expressed that the Red Chinese may attempt a probing action, unwilling to take at face value a defense-Formosa resolution approved by Congress and a mutual defense treaty with Chiang's Nationalist government.

One analyst who asked that his name not be used said yesterday there can be no stability in the area unless Peiping abandons its announced intention to capture Formosa, seat of Chiang's government. And any all-out attack on Quemoy and the Matsus, he said, could be regarded as preliminary to an assault on Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), in a statement yesterday, urged Dulles or Eisenhower to say whether "any commitment, assurance or pledge" has been given to help defend the offshore islands.

A Chinese-language broadcast heard in Tokyo said the bill provides "all male citizens of China have a duty to be enlisted at 18 regardless of racial, tribal, vocational, social background, religion and educational background differences" because "to defend our fatherland is a divine duty of all citizens of China."

Excluded, said Peiping, are non-revolutionaries, feudalistic landlords, bureaucrats and "capitalists deprived of political rights."

Peiping said the next session of the Communist Parliament will "discuss and adopt" the measure.

The broadcast gave these other details:

1. Army and constabulary non-officers will serve for three years; navy, air force and coast guardmen for four years, with their terms extendable up to four months "if they are needed."

2. Eighteen-year-olds will be called up before June 30 each year. After discharge they remain in the reserve until they reach the age of 40.

Korea Graduates First Jet Pilots

OSAN, Korea — South Korea's first 10 jet pilots graduated today in a ceremony which Lt. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, U.S. 5th Air Force commander, said "marks the beginning of training for a modern jet air force for Korea."

The new jet pilots joined U.S. Air Force pilots in a graduation day air show over this base 40 miles south of Seoul.

Maj. John F. Anderson, who headed the U.S. instructor team, said, "The ROK's do as good as I have ever seen."

Anderson, of Buhl, Minn., said they will work out soon in F86 Sabre Jets. The South Koreans soloed in T33 jet trainers.

South Korean air force officials said they would get a wing of Sabre Jets soon under the 420-million-dollar U.S. military aid program.

A new class is already training in jets and joined in the air show.

Nixon Tests Indian Fare In Guatemala

QUEZALTENANGO, Guatemala — Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed for El Salvador today after being entertained with music, dancing and food by one of the largest gatherings of Guatemalan Indians ever assembled to honor a visitor.

Nixon said he was "positively entranced" by the display, staged by the people of villages in the vicinity of Quezaltenango, a city of 49,000 half an hour by air from Guatemala City. The Indian men in this area wear skirts and the women are clad in dazzling beautiful costumes they weave themselves.

The vice president—now on a good will tour of the Caribbean countries—flew here from the capital with President Carlos Castillo Armas. They were accompanied by dozens of security police carrying submachineguns. Castillo Armas, who has faced several revolutionary plots, is one of the best guarded men in Latin America.

Nixon and the President ate a lunch of native dishes in a thatched hut. The menu included pache, an Indian version of Mexican tamales, fried tortillas with a topping of pickled beets, chili peppers and cheese, and a boiled dumpling dessert made of ground corn, raisins and sugar.

New Zealand Joins In Anti-Red Stand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand — Lining up in opposition to a Chinese Communist demand for immediate possession of Formosa, New Zealand said today that the strategic island and the neighboring Pescadores cannot be considered an integral part of the Chinese mainland.

The government stand was outlined in a statement by Foreign Minister Thomas MacDonald. It termed also unacceptable a Soviet proposal for a 10-nation international conference, excluding Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese regime, to settle the Formosa crisis.

Temperatures Drop In Air Crash Area

WINNIPEG — Temperatures had dropped as low as 20 degrees below zero last night in the Canadian area where a Texas Air Force captain is missing.

The unique spectral throng was a feature attraction for a pageant on the Government House grounds tonight. The show was arranged to follow a state dinner in honor of Queen Elizabeth's sister, who arrived here yesterday from Barbados in the royal yacht Britannia.

Book On Nuptial Write-Ups Is Boon To Brides, Editors

"Happy The Bride The Press Shines On" is a booklet by Lucy Rosser, which will be the delight of brides-to-be, their mothers, dotting aunts or friends. Anyone who is in charge of giving wedding publicity to newspapers would do well to study it in advance of the pre-nuptial affairs.

In a preface to the brochure, Emily Post describes the author as a person familiar with the field of publicity for social events and adds that the book is "both practical and easy to read."

Written for those planning a church or home wedding, the background is laid down with five simple rules which will make an editor "appreciate your announcements and your thoughtfulness." And how right she is!

Beginning with a discussion of the correct finish on a picture, the book goes on to tell why it is so important to have the information on any events in the hands of the editor well in advance or immediately following the affair.

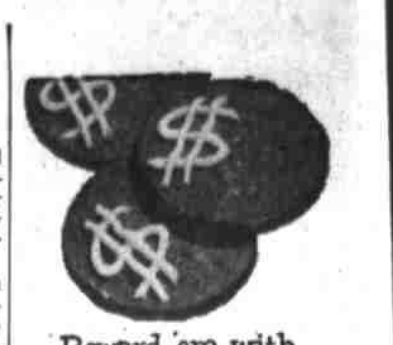

Several specimen releases are given, with blanks for filling in the necessary details. These run all the way from the announcement of the engagement through accounts of parties and showers to an account of the wedding itself.

A checklist is included as a final reminder of things to be submitted in the publicity release, with an explanation of a few newspaper terms. This last will help clarify the language of a reporter or editor as you discuss the stories.

Miss Rosser is a member of an old Southern family, whose ancestors came to America before the Revolution. The first Rossers settled in Virginia, but later, some moved to Georgia and some came to Texas. The town of Rosser, in Kaufman County, was named for some of her forebears.

The book sells for $1. Miss Rosser's address is 350 5th Ave., New York 26.

Her little book will prove helpful not only to the bride and her mother, but, if followed, will cause women's editors to rise up and bless both the bride and Lucy! (A. L.)

1954 U. S. Output Dropped Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's output of goods and services last year was reported by the Commerce Department last night at 357 billion dollars, as compared with 365 billions in 1953.

There was thus a drop of about 2 per cent in valuation, but the department said that since 1954 prices averaged a little higher than in 1953, actual production of goods and services declined about 3 percent from the previous year.

The 1954 national product, second only to 1953's peak, was about 3 per cent higher in dollar valuation than that of 1952.

GOP Abandons Hope Of Having 1956 Convention In September

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans have abandoned plans for a September presidential nominating convention in 1956 but National Chairman Leonard W. Hall indicated today he hopes state election laws can be changed to permit an August meeting.

Hall told newsmen practical difficulties, such as certification requirements in certain states, stand in the way of a September meeting, first suggested as a means of shortening the presidential campaign.

Democrats announced yesterday in advance of a GOP convention site subcommittee meeting here tomorrow, they will open their convention in Chicago's International Amphitheater July 23 unless changes are made in state laws before then.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said that if these changes were made, the convention would be moved back to Aug. 13.

The amphitheater, in the Chicago stockyards, was the scene of both GOP and Democratic 1952 conventions.

Hall indicated that if efforts to amend the Massachusetts, Connecticut and South Dakota election laws are carried forward, the Republicans would like to hold their convention as late as possible.

Hall, who conferred with President Eisenhower yesterday about the convention time and place, has made it clear he expects Eisenhower to be the GOP nominee again. He was backed strongly in this viewpoint by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who said, "It seems perfectly obvious to me that Eisenhower should and will be a candidate again."

But Hall said the subject of Eisenhower's possible candidacy did not come up at the White House talk.

The Democrats' choice of Chicago put Republicans under pressure to go there, too, to save money by splitting costs.

The site selection subcommittee headed by Hall was reported to be giving serious consideration to a last-minute bid by San Francisco.

Committee officials said San Francisco had offered to match the $250,000 pledged by Chicago and Philadelphia, had assured that 10,000 hotel rooms could be made available and had cited cool August weather as a special inducement.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Peat farming on The Somerset Moors, England.

Scientists say that coal developed on the earth because plants died in wet places and slowly changed into coal.

The first stage appears to have been peat. To this day we have peat in many countries. Over in Ireland I saw piles of peat on various farms. The owners had dug up the material, and had laid it in the sunshine to dry. Later, when they needed it for fire, they would burn the peat.

Until the present century, there was strong doubt about the history of coal. Petrified trunks and branches of trees had been found in coal beds, but there was a question as to whether the coal itself had been made of plant material.

Thanks to close study with microscopes, we know that coal contains material which came from the bark, leaves, roots, wood and seed of trees. Moss, ferns and water plants also went into the origin of coal.

Little use for peat has been made in North America because other fuels are cheap enough. Much peat does exist on the continent, however, with big amounts of it in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Minnesota.

Lignite, a brown coal, represents the next main stage in the development of coal. Canada is richly supplied with lignite, and in South Dakota there are thousands of square miles covered by this material. The South Dakota lignite beds vary in thickness from five feet to 35 feet.

The next stage of coal gives us the kind called "soft" or "bituminous." The United States contains more soft coal than Europe and Asia together.

The hardest coal is "anthracite," also known as "hard coal." Pennsylvania is most famed for this type of coal.

Tomorrow: Soft Coal.

4 Railroads Set To Test New Trains

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Trains of "startlingly different" designs will be rolling over tracks of four of the nation's largest railroads before too long.

The Pennsylvania, the New Haven, the New York Central and the Santa Fe railroads announced yesterday they expect to place orders soon for radically new equipment. The announcement followed completion of a six-month study by a joint committee.

The PRR has agreed to test a new train of tubular design, with depressed centers. It is designed to be used in integrated trains, but can also be interchanged with present standard equipment. The PRR plans to use the train between New York and Pittsburgh and New York and Washington.

The New York Central has agreed to order a complete integrated train similar to the design known as "Train X." This is described as similar to the "Talgo" type train now being built by the American Car and Foundry Co. for the Rock Island Railroad. "Talgo" cars are low slung, lightweight and designed for use only as integrated units.

Details were not immediately available on a third design, to be put in operation by the New Haven.

The announcement said the Santa Fe will soon decide upon a new design of equipment to be used first in its El Capitan between Los Angeles and Chicago.

Ike, With Cold, Delays Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, nursing a cold which an aide said "certainly is serious," quit work a couple hours earlier than usual yesterday and rearranged his schedule for today and tomorrow. A weekly meeting with Republican congressional leaders, normally held on Tuesday, was put off until tomorrow. Plans for a news conference, normally held on Wednesday, were canceled.

Redistricting Through Mandate

Although the usual gestures toward congressional redistricting are being made in this session of the Texas Legislature, it doesn't necessarily follow that anything will be done about it. There are various ways of putting off the inevitable, including bringing in a bill that is so full of flaws nobody would vote for it. That was the case while back, when one bill would have placed Taylor and Navarro counties in the same grouping, thus creating a string-bean district resembling the human appendix.

But while no redistricting is likely to be done, if House Bill 2, which has been given committee approval, becomes law not many future sessions of the Legislature will show the constitutional mandate requiring redistricting after each decennial census into the wastebasket and leave it there. This bill provides that if the Legislature fails or refuses to redistrict at its first session after the decennial census, the chore must be handed to a board authorized to perform that function.

There is sound warrant for this method, since the voters amended the Constitution several years ago providing the same thing with respect to state legislative redistricting. No legislator wants to turn that task over to a nonpartisan group interested in serving the state rather than the individual politician, so action would be prompt in every instance.

There is something to be said in favor of redistricting by a non-legislative board as a permanent fixture. There is no sound reason why politicians should be given the privilege of cutting themselves a slice of pie every 10 years, by a process of mutual back-scratching. Redistricting should be done for the best interests of the people, and not for the selfish interests of the politicians, as a matter of principle.

Most states have redistricting trouble, especially congressional. Texas hasn't had a revision since 1933, which was 22 years ago. Before that the issue had been bypassed term after term. Until something like House Bill 2 is adopted, congressional redistricting will continue to be a political football, to the hurt and detriment of the state.

Adversity Sometimes Begets Harmony

The Democratic Party, which rediscovered the facts of political life in 1952—that is, that a party divided against itself cannot stand—is well on the way to repairing some of the damage done by party division on controversial issues.

The Democratic National Committee at New Orleans last December took a long step forward in removing a major cause of the party split at the Chicago convention of 1952. Young Turks led by Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. pushed through the so-called loyalty pledge practically over the dead bodies of Southern Democrats. At New Orleans Humphrey and former Governor John S. Battle of Virginia, who led the Southerners' fight at Chicago, jointly announced that the party had decided to junk the loyalty oath.

Now comes another step toward unity. One of the civil rights planks which so angered Southern Democrats was the proposal to abolish the poll tax by statute. The Southerners contended there was no constitutional warrant for such a proceed-ure, and filibustered against it and other proposals along the same line.

But what happens now? Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) has introduced a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to ban the poll tax in national elections. Among nine co-sponsors of the resolution are the two Democratic senators from Arkansas, which, along with Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia still retains the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting. All the co-sponsors are from Southern states, including J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who headed the States Rights Democratic party in 1948.

To round out this little Democratic love feast, Senator Humphrey notified Senator Holland that if the effort to abolish the poll tax by statute fails, he will gladly support the amendment resolution. This makes it seem likely that there will be no serious effort at this session, on the part of the Democrats at least, to push through the statute.

Nothing like a good scare or drubbing to quiet factional strife within a political party.

Ex-Commie's Lies Create A Problem

WASHINGTON — The confession by Harvey Matusow that he repeatedly lied under oath both before Congressional committees and as a professional government witness in several important cases in Federal courts has created a most embarrassing dilemma for the government. No one as yet sees the way out.

The concern is not merely for those particular instances in the courts and before Senate and House committees when his testimony helped to document charges of Communist affiliation or association. If one ex-Communist can recant, then there may be others in the stable of witnesses who allegedly left the party to tell all. Their word has been taken almost as though it were law, which is one reason for the shock that Matusow's defection has caused.

This reporter had an encounter with Matusow last summer. He telephoned to say that he wanted to see me to apologize for lies that he had told about me. In the subsequent conversation he said that he was writing a book in which he was going to confess to all the lying that he had done before Congressional committees, in the Federal courts, and when he had campaigned in 1952 at the instigation, so he said, of Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

But it also developed that he needed money to have the leisure in which to finish writing the book. The implication was plain that if I could provide several thousand dollars he could complete the book and thereby do the world a great service.

Potomac Fever

WASHINGTON — The White House is awaiting this cable from Marshal Zhukov in Moscow: "Have golf bag. Will travel."

Marshal Zhukov, wartime friend of President Ike, is named Soviet defense minister. Both men shot to the top. The difference is that Ike doesn't have to keep looking over his shoulder to see who's doing the shooting.

Democrats claim Ike's federal aid for education isn't enough money. Democrats aren't satisfied with higher pay for teachers. They want a bonus for the kids — to encourage them to tolerate the teachers, encourage them to tolerate the teachers.

Ousted Russian Premier Malenkov is named "Minister of Power." Correction, Moscow. Shouldn't that be out-of-power?

The big dispute of the moment is whether the Russians have more H-bombs than we do. The way wars are going, a more important question is who's got the best bow and arrow?

Allen Dulles, central intelligence boss, is looking for a new house in Washington. He needs more room to entertain all the committees Congress is creating to "supervise" him.

Formosa Example Of Unplanned Mess

WASHINGTON — Formosa, prime example of an unplanned mess, is fogbound at the moment because no one outside the inner circles of the Eisenhower administration and the Red Chinese government knows what to expect next.

They may not be too sure either. But if the administration makes concessions to the Communists, the real Formosan fighting may come, not in or around the island, but inside the Republican party.

Neither the American government nor the Chinese Communists planned the present Formosan dilemma long-range. It just grew.

This government would not have interfered if the Reds had grabbed Formosa when they drove Chiang Kai-shek there in 1949. President Truman said so. He was disgusted with Chiang at the time. The Reds stayed on the mainland, missed their chance.

Truman decided to defend the island, to keep the fighting from spreading, when the Korean War began. When the Chinese Reds got into it, thus becoming an active enemy, Chiang became a full-fledged American ally. He couldn't then be abandoned.

Beginning last fall the Chinese Communists made such loud vows about taking Formosa it's difficult to see how they can back down unless they can wring enough concessions from the Eisenhower administration to save face.

In turn, President Eisenhower talked tough. He got Congress to pass a resolution giving him power to defend Formosa as he saw fit, and he vowed to defend it.

This quieted, at least temporarily, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), leader of Republicans who have demanded tough action. There was nothing for Knowland to do but wait to see how tough Eisenhower would be.

Eisenhower let the Reds have several Chiang-held islands, explaining they weren't worth defending and that Formosa's defenses would be stronger without them. Yesterday the Reds began talking tougher than ever. They may begin probing attacks on two more island groups, Quemoy and Matsu, to see whether Eisenhower lets them go without a fight too.

What will Eisenhower do about those islands? He hasn't said. He wants a cease-fire. What price is he willing to pay? All the Chiang-held Islands except Formosa and the Pescadores? Those are the only ones he specifically has said he'd defend.

Yielding any more islands might be too much for Knowland and force an explosion in the Republican party because the questions to which the administration doesn't know the answer to at this time are:

Will the Reds accept a cease-fire? If they do, will they live up to it? Or are they crazy to force a war on Formosa?

The Reds have some advantage as long as they can keep the administration guessing. But if the administration gets a cease-fire and pledges itself to observe it, Chiang can kiss goodby any hope of recapturing China unless the Reds break the truce or in some other way force a war on the United States.

A Pavement Plato Comments

NEW YORK — Curbstone comments by a pavement Plato:

Doctors now say it is easier to lose weight by skipping bread than skipping rope.

They play down the role of exercise and play up the importance of self-restraint at the table. But are human bodies as predictable in the way they burn up calories as an engine is in its consumption of gasoline? I doubt it.

A man who spends more time bragging about his children than talking about his own dreams is regarded as a fond parent. But it doesn't necessarily follow that he is. Often it is only a sad admission that he secretly has lost all hope of getting ahead himself.

There is one sure thing about the puzzling crisis in China—while we're doing all the brooding, they're doing most of the breeding.

Anybody can be the toast of the town if he has the right kind of dough.

An oldtimer recalls it used to be a problem to keep wandering cows off Broadway. Now it's crowded with calves, and nobody minds at all.

What cynic was it that said he didn't intend to leave any money behind, because he didn't want any smiling faces at his funeral?

The old-fashioned girl who saved her pin money to buy a hope chest for her wedding trousseau now has a marriageable daughter who is purchasing an electric dishwasher on the installment plan.

Except for the difference in size, it is hard to tell one of the new 1955 automobiles from a two-tone summer shoe.

Man Free After Sentence Illegal

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — A 37-year-old man is free today — nine years after he was given the choice of spending a year in jail on manslaughter charges or contributing to the support of 10 children.

W. H. Sherrill chose to help support of the family of John Gardner, who was killed when his logging truck collided with Sherrill's car. Sherrill subsequently paid a total of $2,107.

But a new district judge ruled the unique sentence illegal and said Sherrill would have to serve his term anyway.

County Judge E. C. Fishel yesterday ordered a new trial but the district attorney refused to prosecute.

Guard Confesses Looting Businesses

PHILADELPHIA — A guard employed by a private protective agency has admitted that in the course of a year he looted stores in his care more than 100 times.

Police yesterday quoted the ex-guard, 25-year-old Frederick A. Sherwood Jr. of nearby Cornwell Heights as saying he burglarized 19 business places.

Detectives recovered a $5,000 mountain of merchandise and Sherwood was held on larceny charges.

On Collectors And Junkmen

I've never seen any statistics that I'd trust on the number of collectors of one type or another that there are in the U. S., but the number must run into the millions. There's hardly any object, however useless, that someone somewhere doesn't collect.

It's fine with me. Anyone can spend their time and money just about anyway they please as far as I'm concerned. But I'll confess there are certain aspects of collecting that I don't understand.

When I read about some rare stamp selling for thousands of dollars, canvases with the paint peeling going for $100,000, some antique car being purchased for twice or more than its original price, and similar situations, I just wonder.

No one can tell me that such merchandise is bought strictly for utility. After all, the rare stamp is not going to be used to mail a letter and the rare auto is hardly likely to be the family vehicle.

It must be just for the sheer pleasure and pride of ownership that such prices are paid for utterly useless objects. What price pleasure and pride though!

It would seem to me that more pleasure could come from a snapshot of a member of the family, some knickknack that Junior made in shop class or the soup tureen Great Aunt Mathilda brought with her when she came to Texas years ago.

Of course even with family mementoes one eventually runs into the problem of where is all the stuff going to go. When moving day comes all the stuff accumulated through the years in the attic or basement becomes a problem.

Some of our older and more historic cities see fights between those ardent advocates of progress who would like to rebuild the city every ten years or so and those equally as ardent folks who believe that every decrepit old house has some historic quality. While I can't say I think every old building should be torn down to make way for a more modern structure, I'll have to admit my loyalties tend to the tear down and rebuild school rather than the historic sites segment.

I'll go along with the idea that there are some older buildings with historic backgrounds that should never be torn down (Mt. Vernon or Monticello or The Alamo, for instance), but I can't quite see where blocks and blocks of ancient and decrepit structures must be saved for the same reasons.

Perhaps that's one reason why I'm glad to live in Texas. Outside of parts of East Texas most Texans welcome progress rather than try to live in the past.

There's a limit to how much junk you can save and keep moving ahead. And there's also a limit to how much attention and money can be lavished on antique objects.

Junkmen I understand; collectors not quite.

When The Senate Votes In 'Secret'

The Texas Constitution makes one exception to transacting government business in public. It authorizes the Senate to close its doors when voting on confirmation of appointees.

Most people think it's a regrettable exception. The governor has to make his nomination in public first. There is nothing sacred about saying "I agree," or "I disagree."

The Texas Senate hasn't quit the ceremonial "clearing of the chamber," locking the doors and voting in secret on routine appointments. But this is to record a public service in bringing to the Senate and the people a better realization of the Senate's job and its responsibility to the public.

Dick Vaughn was at one time the Capitol correspondent of the Houston Press. His public service was that after the Senate's vote on a seriously important state appointment to high office, he simply published a roll-call showing how the senators voted. No senator questioned its accuracy. But some of the members resented this invasion into the sacred privacy of a locked-door vote.

So the Senate called him before it, to "explain." He was required to stand while being questioned a couple of hours, something not required of a suspect for murder while on the witness stand.

Vaughn stood his ground. No senator had divulged how anybody voted. He simply had studied the record and attitude of each member, until the senator's stand was obvious. If anybody wanted to deny his vote was as published, he had that right.

Vaughn didn't achieve for Texas what the entire press corps did for the United States Senate, and the secret votes continue. But he made the senators who took him on a lot more gingerly about challenging the publication of news about the official acts of public officials. He deflated the idea of a group of senators that would punish an individual in such cases. The question hasn't come up since. Abandonment of the Star Chamber is more likely for the future, following the United States Senate's precedent, than adding the Inquisition to it.

Evacuate Those Other Fringe Islands

The evacuation of the Tachens should by now be complete, and if it has been successful, which we need not doubt, the position will be stronger and safer than it was before.

A great deal has been said and written about how important it is to hold positions of strength. The Tachens were not a position of strength. They were a military and political liability. They could not be defended except at the risk of a general war which no one in his senses would undertake for such unimportant territory.

The Chinese Nationalist troops on them had nothing useful to do, and they were in a military trap — like the French at Dien Bien Phu. Had they been lost, instead of being evacuated, Chiang would have made the same military error as the French made when they locked up a garrison at Dien Bien Phu, locked it up in an outpost of no decisive importance which could not be defended. The story in Indochina might well have been different from what it is today if a policy of evacuation from indefensible outposts to concentrated strong points had been carried out.

These considerations apply to the other off shore islands, and the sound American policy would be to follow up what is being done in the Tachens by doing the same thing in Quemoy and Matsu. This is the surest way to carry out the policy which the President laid down in his message to Congress. The policy is to keep Formosa and the Pescadores out of unfriendly hands, and to bring about a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. There is one way by which at present Formosa can be defended. That is by American military power. But there are two ways in which the policy of the cease-fire can be put into effect. The one — which we have been attempting — is to negotiate a cease-fire with Peking. If they would agree to it, they would tacitly assent not to attack Formosa and we — so it is generally understood — would in return bring about either the neutralization or the evacuation of the off shore islands.

This way of arriving at a cease-fire has been rebuffed angrily by Chou En-lai. We ought not to be surprised. It was wishful thinking to suppose that the Chinese government, which has won the civil war on the mainland, would appear as a non-member before the Security Council in which China is represented by a faction that is no longer on the Chinese mainland. It was no less wishful to suppose that the Red Chinese would publicly sign a cease-fire which meant that they had renounced the right to complete the defeat of Chiang and to recover by force the island of Formosa.

It is most improbable that the cease-fire can be obtained by public agreement either in the U. N. or in any other kind of conference.

There is, however, another way to bring about the cease-fire for which the United States national policy calls. It can be done by direct American action, and it does not depend upon the negotiation of an agreement with Peking. This is to do in Quemoy and Matsu what we are doing in the Tachens — to evacuate them not as the result of a bargain but as a strategic measure to liquidate a position of weakness, and to find backup on Formosa, which is a genuine position of strength.

Once that is done, there will be in fact, whatever Peking may or may not agree to, a practical cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. Bombing, shooting and shooting and raiding, which the Nationalists do from these offshore islands, will stop. There will be a hundred miles of blue water between the Chinese, which has no navy, and Formosa, which we are defending. In a military sense this will be for all practical purposes a cease-fire between the two Chinas — as there is between the whales and the elephants who cannot get at one another. Formosa will not be in Peking's military orbit. The fantasy of putting Chiang back on the mainland by an all-out American war will have been dissipated. The risk of a great war over trifling islands will have been greatly reduced. We shall have protected our genuine, as distinguished from our fictitious, interests, and we shall have the moral and political support of our allies.

Lodge Says Foreign Policy Looks Ahead

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration is enabling the free world to "settle down confidently to the long haul" toward strengthening world peace.

Speaking last night at a Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Pennsylvania Republican Committee, Lodge said one of the foremost ingredients of that foreign policy is President Eisenhower's "fight for Formosa" declaration.

"Communist China has been put on notice by the President, with the backing of Congress, that we will not tolerate aggression against Formosa and the Pescadores," Lodge said. "This courageous and timely move is our best insurance against war in that area."

Lodge made no mention of the islands of Matsu and Quemoy, which figured in a statement by Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek yesterday. Chiang said his forces had no intention of evacuating the islands close to the China mainland, as was done in the case of the Tachens.

In listing the foreign policy accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration, Lodge deviated briefly to predict that the President would be drafted for another term in office. He also said he is firmly convinced the 11 America fliers held prisoner by Red China will be returned.

Among the major accomplishments by the administration, Lodge said, have been the defeat of communism in Guatemala; the London and Paris agreements, "which will give back sovereignty to West Germany"; settlement of the Trieste dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia; the defense pact between Pakistan and Turkey; maintenance of peace between the Arab states and Palestine; the end of the Korean War; settlement of the Indochina conflict; the Manila Pact, and President Eisenhower's program for pooling the fissionable materials of the world.

"It all adds up to this," he said, "that for the first time since World War II, there is no large scale fighting going on anywhere in the world. Of course, the situation is precarious and peace is not established on a durable basis. But for the first time we and other nations, instead of rushing from one emergency to another, have begun to settle down confidently to the long haul to defend and strengthen peace and freedom."

Better Foreign Moves Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today President Eisenhower has done a better foreign policy job since the Democrats regained control of Congress.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he does not believe the Democrats should make any attempt to spell out a partisan foreign policy. But he said he agreed with Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler that it might be wise to issue a statement of party principles on domestic issues.

"I've always believed that we should have an American foreign policy," Mansfield said. "I think we have that now because President Eisenhower has adopted the foreign policy of his Democratic predecessors and he is depending on Democrats in Congress to help carry it out."

"Eisenhower has been doing a better job since the Democrats have taken over control of Congress. He has more confidence in his own leadership and he is paying less attention to isolationist elements of his party."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said in a separate interview he too feels that "Democratic control of Congress has given President Eisenhower solid support on his foreign policies."

Meanwhile, the Democratic Digest monthly publication of the Democratic National Committee, spoke of "wavering White House leadership" and a "consistent pattern of presidential backslidings."

The Democratic publication listed more than 30 instances in which it said Eisenhower had either shifted ground or reversed himself on important issues. The Digest accused Eisenhower of undercutting his own Cabinet officers on some occasions. It predicted more "major reversals."

CIO Warned Reds Might Seek Back In

WASHINGTON (AP)—CIO labor unions were alerted today against possible Communist efforts to sneak into the CIO to duck a new law aimed at Red-infiltrated labor organizations.

CIO General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg wrote all affiliated unions, cautioning them to be careful to distinguish between "genuine rank-and-file rebellions" against Communist leadership and "camouflaged attempts" of Red labor leaders "to seek shelter within the covering cloak of CIO affiliation."

A new law passed last summer provides machinery whereby the Board may officially label a union as Communist-infiltrated, if it reaches this determination after a hearing set in motion by the attorney general. A labor union so labeled would lose its legal standing before the National Labor Relations Board.

The CIO several years ago ousted a number of unions, including the United Electrical Workers and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, on grounds of Communist domination.

Goldberg noted that the Communist Control Act of 1954 "in effect established a presumption that a union affiliated with the AFL, CIO or any other established anti-Communist federation or organization, is not Communist-infiltrated."

JESS TALKING

Many Observe Sandy Land Best, Year In And Year Out

By JESS BLAIR

J. L. Sawyer, who ranches seven miles northwest of Garden City, says his country needs rain more than anything else. He had a few winter weeds coming out, but the cold weather ripped them. He is feeding his cattle corn and cottonseed cake.

Few ranchers around Garden City are selling any stock. Cecil Wilkerson recently sent 207 fat weanlings to the Fort Worth market. Steve Calverly also sold about the same number. Very few ranchers are feeding anything except the animals they intend to keep.

On the Harry Echols' farm south of Stanton the fields are wet down a couple of feet. Echols keeps a rain gauge and says it showed two and a quarter inches of moisture since Jan. 1. He says this is the most moisture he has had since 1950.

Echols' house is only a short distance from the old Line schoolhouse in northern Glasscock County. The school was abandoned in 1928, and the 6d building is now vacant and falling apart. He says this was once a thriving community, with a good school, neighborhood parties and twice as many farm families as live there now. The children are school-bussed to Garden City 25 miles away, and there is very little community spirit left.

"No one will stay on the farm anymore," he said. "Why, right around here, nearly all the farmers are older men past 50—like myself."

Mr. Echols is one of the few diversified farmers left. He keeps sheep and cattle, raises and stores his meat in the deep freeze. He also keeps milk cows, grows a big garden, and raises much of the family's food right on the farm.

On his 275 acres he makes a good living and has a fine rock home that would cost $200,000 in town. Let others go to the city if they choose to. Harry Echols is satisfied with his lot right out on the farm he moved to 25 years ago.

Bitterweed is not easing up in Glasscock County. If anything, it is on the increase. One rancher says it has spread to so many pastures on most ranches that there is not much way of preventing sheep from eating it.

Rexie Cauble has sold one of his yearling bulls to W. S. Windsor for delivery to the Windsor Ranch near Booneville, Mo. While Mr. Windsor was attending the South Plains Sale here in January, he became interested in Cauble's 7 Lord Lamp-lighter 2nd. A short time later he bought the 14-months old bull for $500.

Cauble obtained the bull's sire in 1932 at Amarillo where the animal was reserve champion bull of the show.

Land is still being put into cultivation in this area. Talmage Whitehead of Stanton has been grubbing out land with his equipment for several years, and says the end is not in sight.

"Most of the big pasture jobs are over," he said, "although right now we have a big one northwest of Knott where the Holcomb Estate is going into cultivation."

Whitehead says the recent rains have brought in a lot of small acreages to be cleared. Most farm pastures have become so heavy infested with mesquite that grass can't compete for the limited moisture.

"These small pastures are almost worthless," Whitehead said, "and all of them that are not too rocky will someday go into cultivation."

The newest and most fabulous irrigated district in Texas is the Fort Stockton. This was broken out two or three years ago. It now boasts 16,000 acres under irrigation, with another 4,000 to be put in this year.

The soil is rich and moderately deep, and water is plentiful. Last year George Brown gained 225 bales of cotton from 130 acres. Almost anything grows there, including corn, vegetables and rattle-snakes. The community is literally crawling with snakes. Most farmers have found it pays to wear high-topped shoes or boots when walking through their waist-high crops.

If you had your choice of land in this area, what would it be—light, mixed or sandy? Most farmers agree that light land will produce the most during wet-years. But year in and year out, through good years and bad, a good many would go along with the sand.

One couple who likes the sand is Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paige of the Brown community. The poorest cotton crop the Paiges have ever made was 14 bales.

"The sand blows and you don't like it," said Mrs. Paige, "but just a few showers will make a crop in the deep sand. And we nearly always get a little rain."

He was appointed by the board to represent the district including Reagan County and parts of Howard, Glasscock and Martin counties.

Cauble owns a six-section ranch in the northern part of Reagan County and raises sheep and cattle. He has served on the Reagan PMA committee and is a member of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn., owning a private plane.

Charges Of Driving While Intoxicated Filed Against Two

Charges of driving while intoxicated were filed against two persons in County Court Monday afternoon. Neither has entered a plea, due to the absence of the county judge who is attending a legal institute at Southern Methodist University.

Mrs. Agnes C. Womack of Big Spring was released on $500 appearance bond Sunday afternoon following her transfer from custody of city to county authorities. She was arrested following an accident at Fourth and Abrams about 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Daniel Robertson, Negro airman from Webb Air Force Base, remained in the county jail today. It is alleged that he was driving while intoxicated on Feb. 9.

Robertson was charged in city court with driving without license, and laid out a fine in the city jail before being transferred to county authorities, officers said.

West Texas Students In Safety Session Here Today

Approximately 200 delegates from 60 West Texas high schools gathered in Big Spring this morning for an all-day planning session of Youth for Traffic Safety Week.

The delegates were to have discussed the aims of the week and then set a date for its observance in West Texas.

Purpose of the meeting is to standardize activities in the various cities planning to celebrate Youth for Traffic Safety Week. It was pointed out.

The local session is being sponsored by the high school, the Parent-Teachers Association, and the Citizens Traffic Commission. Visitors were from all over the 13th District, which includes the territory between Abilene and Odessa.

One of the outstanding visitors to arrive this morning was C. E. Sanderson, executive director of the Congress of Parent-Teachers of Austin. He was expected to take part in the program this afternoon.

Clay Bedner of the Department of Public Safety in Lubbock was to have given two driving demonstrations today. One was to have been on radar and the other on automobile brakes.

Midland High School students were to have presented a skit this afternoon, having already given a demonstration this morning.

Lunch today was sponsored by the Big Spring Parent-Teachers Association. Registration was at 8:30 a.m. and visitors attended the high school assembly program during the morning.

Big Spring was selected as a site for the planning session because of the successful program instituted here last year during the week's observance.

This city had one of the more successful campaigns in the state, it was pointed out by George Oldham, executive secretary of the Citizens Traffic Commission. Oldham was to have been on today's program also.

LEGISLATURE

committee sent it to the Senate floor with a recommendation for passage. The House panel put the bill in subcommittee for one week's study.

Opponents denounced the proposition as "special interest legislation disguised to eliminate competition."

Supporters of the measure by Sen. Gus Strauss of Hallettsville and Rep. J. O. Gillham of Brownfield said such legislation would protect the public from unscrupulous used car dealers.

They said many cars represented as new have been driven—sometimes as much as 1,000 miles. They also attacked inability or refusal of some used car dealers to make good on factory warranties when a new car breaks down.

Members of the Texas Independent Automobile Dealers' Assn. said all the wrongdoing in the car-selling business isn't on one side. They accused new car franchise dealers of gouging the public.

Tom Blundell of Fort Worth, general manager of the TIADA, agreed industry malpractices need cleaning up but said the proposed bill isn't the answer.

"The whole automobile industry stinks—if you'll pardon the expression," he told the House committee during a 4-hour hearing that ended shortly before midnight. "But the mere fact of licensing a man doesn't guarantee his honesty."

The bill would provide one license for dealers who handle new and used cars both, another license for those handling only used cars.

"It is a new car as one would be subjected to a 'first sale.' This would preclude used dealers from advertising as 'new' the cars they buy from franchise dealers for resale.

In other committee action yesterday, the Senate State Affairs Committee delayed action until tomorrow on a labor control bill by Sen. George Parkhouse. Delay was ordered to allow additional witnesses to testify.

Parkhouse's bill would disqualify workers for unemployment compensation if a work stoppage was due to strike action anywhere by a union of which the worker was a member.

The House Committee on Municipal and Private Corporations unanimously approved and sent to the House floor a bill liberalizing provisions of the firemen's and policemen's civil service code.

It would require written examinations for all candidates for civil service promotion; allow accumulation of sick leave beyond 90 days; and allow right of appeal to district court in case of adverse decision by a civil service commission board in demotion cases.

A bill to give firemen and policemen in cities over 450,000 population a minimum salary of $310 per month was sent to subcommittee for one week. It is by Rep. Charles Lieck Jr. of San Antonio.

Returned to subcommittee for further study was Rep. Marshall O. Bell's bill to prohibit incorporation of new towns within five miles of already incorporated cities without the permission of those cities.

Delay of the San Antonio lawmaker's measure resulted when Paul A. Vogler of West Corpus Christi called it the "most vicious" bill imaginable. He was not present when the bill was originally given a public hearing last week.

Three Plead Guilty Here

CTC Executive Board Meets

Financial problems, street sign improvements, juvenile driving, and law enforcement were discussed Monday in an executive committee meeting of the Citizens Traffic Commission.

Members of the executive committee donated $130 to the organization's operating fund.

The financial problems were discussed at length by Lewis Price, financial chairman, and engineering projects such as street signs were outlined by Jake Douglas Jr., engineering chairman.

Both discussions are to be continued in a meeting of the CTC membership in the near future.

Members of the juvenile driving licensing board were commended for their activities in screening under-age juveniles applying for licenses, and Larson Lloyd of the enforcement committee discussed traffic laws.

The committee authorized George Oldham, executive secretary, to attend a West Texas conference of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y in Odessa in March to discuss the subject, "How About That Hi-Y Driver?"

Fifteen members of the executive committee attended the session Monday, and Glenn Rogers reported on today's planning session of Youth For Traffic Safety Week to be held at the high school.

12 Exhibitions Are Booked For Cosden Cops

The Big Spring Cosden Cops will play a 12-game exhibition schedule starting April 3, Manager Pepper Martin has announced.

Half of the contests will be untelevised in the local park. The Cops open up against Hobbs, newest Longhorn League entry, on Sunday, April 3 here. Martin said he may add more games to the schedule but those would be played in other parks.

The Cops will meet Lubbock twice, both times here. Lubbock, a WT-NM League club, will train at Midland rather than at home. The Cosden Cops will begin their 1955 training grind on April 1. Their league campaign will get under way on April 20.

The schedule: April 3—Hobbs here. April 6—At Hobbs. April 8—Lubbock here. April 9—Midland here. April 10—At Hobbs. April 11—At Plainview. April 13—At Midland. April 14—Lubbock here. April 15-16 San Angelo here. April 17-18—At San Angelo.

Martin said this morning he had no doubts about Odessa continuing as a Longhorn League team but was hopeful that Tom Ray, the club president, would name a business manager before long.

Knott Seeks To Even Buff Series Tonight

FORSAN, (SC) — The Forsan Buffaloes had to go all out to defeat the Knott Hill Billies in a first round playoff game for the District 19-B basketball championship here Monday night, 54-53. The teams clash again tonight in Knott. Should Bill Bolin's Billies win, the deciding contest will be untelevised in the Howard County Junior College Gymnasium in Big Spring Thursday evening.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart Sports dialogue: ELROY HIRSCH, the pro footballer-turned-movie actor, telling how he got the name "Crazylegs": "Ever see a woman run? They point the toes in and throw the legs wide. That's the way I run in the open — I wobble. I picked it up as a kid. I used to run home from the movies at night and race my shadow under the street lights. They thought I was crazy."

CHARLES CARAWAY, Junior High School basketball coach here: "I think Billy Bob Satterwhite is perhaps the most improved player on our team. He was a real steady influence at the end of the season and did a lot to help beat Snyder in the finals of that tournament here Saturday night."

ED PRICE, University of Texas football coach: "Football is a laboratory for living. It teaches four important things in life — how to be a competitor, the value of team work, the ability to get up where you've been knocked down or discouraged, and good sportsmanship. If a boy isn't a competitor, he won't make good in life when his playing days are over. A player must learn to congratulate the winner when he's hurt deeply by a defeat and to keep from bragging when he's bursting with pride over a victory."

NORMAN BASS, father of the West Coast high school football phenom, Dick Bass, when asked whether he leaned toward baseball or toward college football in deciding his boy's future: "I stand erect."

FROSTY ROBSON, Big Spring's great running footballer: "Of the schools I've visited, I've been most favorably impressed with Southern Methodist. I'm going to wait a while to make up my mind but I want to stay in Texas. Right now, it looks like SMU, though."

BOB MADURO, owner of the Havana baseball club: "Every year, it seems to me, I hear the same men say the same things over and over, about how much money they lost (in baseball) last year. But each year the same people are back in business. What kind of business is this baseball?"

WILL COLLALLY, San Francisco sports scribe: "Adolph Rupp (the Kentucky coach) was reared over the coals by Judge Saul Strait of New York in 1952, when the judge in his charity handed down suspended sentences to three Kentucky basketball players involved in a 'fix' charge. Judge Strait teed off from the bench on the unhealthy atmosphere created by Coach Rupp. The Baron is no rooster. The NCAA couldn't stomach his works and pomp, and the NCAA can swallow a lot. But now and then the elders of collegiate morals choke on an elephantine gnat. There was that day, in 1952, when the NCAA council put Kentucky on probation for violating subsidization and eligibility rules hand over fist... That didn't embarrass Rupp. He came right back with another good team, as witness Kentucky's No. 1 rating. A more sensitive soul would have recognized the rap on the knuckles. But not the dear old Baron. He is no good for the game. There are times when cuteness and worldly smartness reach the point of diminishing returns. He's a dead duck, or should be."

LARRY WARTES, Stanton basketball coach: "Those people in the other half of our district don't think we're much down here. We got hit hard when we lost Burley Polk but we're still going to give them a tussle and we just might make them sit up and take notice."

RAY ARCEL, the famous fight trainer: "There's no question about a talent scarcity in the fight game. Fighters no longer work at their trade. They aren't hungry. Yes, they train. But the incentive isn't there. This doesn't apply to all boxers, of course. I've seen some of the best ones come and go. The boys who lasted the longest stayed in top condition. Today, most of the fighters won't do road work. They lack ambition."

FRANK BRIDGES, the former Baylor coach, answering to the charge he is responsible for more changes in the football rules than any other man: "It wasn't because I wanted them to change the rules, but it was just because I found so many loop holes in the rules they had to change them. I used to read that rule book over and over, cover to cover looking for loopholes. When I'd find one, I'd take advantage of it. I had to. I never had the players the other schools did."

ARAH PHILLIPS, High School girls' volleyball coach, on the Steerettes' recent loss to Odessa: "Odessa is a much improved club but I think the score will be different the next time we play. The game was played on a court running cross-wise of the gym, which did not give my girls the serving space they are accustomed to. Also, they were unable to stand up on the asphalt floor and the lighting was not up to par."

Wentzel Is Named Manager At Waco WACO (AP)—Stanley Wentzel, player-manager of the Burlington, N.C., club in the Carolina League last season, will manage Waco in the Big State League this year.

Wentzel succeeds Jack Paepke, who transferred to Billings of the Pioneer League at his own request. Wentzel, an outfielder-first baseman, hit .318.

QUEEN TO BE CROWNED

Lamesa Plays Longhorns In Final 1-AAA Game

Two traditional athletic foes, Lamesa and Big Spring, square off here tonight in the final District 1-AAA basketball game of the season for both teams.

The co-feature of the program will be the crowning of the 1955 Big Spring High School Basketball Queen. The ceremony takes place about 7:55 p.m., or shortly before the A game gets under way.

There'll be a B team contest, beginning at 6 p.m. Third place in 1-AAA will be at stake in tonight's game. Each team has won seven times in 13 starts. Should Snyder falter in its game with Sweetwater, the winner could gain a deadlock for second place with the Tigers.

Plainview clinched the league's championship last week by beating Big Spring and will represent the conference in the playoffs for the third straight year.

Charles Clark will be out to add to the 411 points he has scored throughout the season. He shaded Bobby Malnes' all-time Big Spring record in a game at Levelland last week. Of his aggregate, 209 points have come in conference play.

Clark will team with Al Kloten, Wayne Tollett, Kenneth Harmon and Bobby Phillips against the Tornadoes.

Boxing Teacher Resigns Post

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City school board accepted the resignation of Tommy Ratliff, high school science teacher and declined to act on an extension of Head Coach Dillard Adair's contract, Monday night.

Ratliff resigned in the latter part of January, after a tiff with school officials concerning what Ratliff believed to be unfair treatment of his Golden Gloves squad. Ratliff had been coaching the Golden Gloves group in his spare time, since the Colorado City school does not recognize boxing as a sport.

Ratliff told reporters that Principal J. F. Jones had instructed teachers to cut three grade points from the grade of any boxer leaving school to participate in the bouts.

Jones said that the eight boxers went to Abilene without Ratliff and "it was against school policy to allow students to leave classes without a sponsor." Ratliff said that on the day of the fights, he had been out of town undergoing a medical examination but had met the fighters in Abilene on the night of the matches.

Superintendent Ed Williams recommended the acceptance of the resignation.

Steerettes Go To Midland

Arah Phillips takes her Big Spring High School girls' volleyball team to Midland tonight for a game, which will serve as a tune-up for the Odessa Junior College Tournament next weekend.

The Steerettes will be seeking their initial conference win. The local netters play their first home conference games on March 8, at which time they test Lamesa.

The Steerettes have drawn the Andrews B team as a first round opponent in the Odessa meet. The two teams clash at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Preparations are nearing completion for the tenth annual Big Spring Tournament, which will be staged Feb. 24-25-26.

Midway Is Scene Of Donkey Game

Men of Midway and the Cosden area square off tonight in a donkey basketball game at the Midway School gym. The benefit contest starts at 7:30 p.m.

Cliff Dunham is bringing in donkeys from Crescent, Okla., for use in the game. When a similar game was played here last year, a near-capacity crowd turned out.

Admission prices have been pegged at 50 cents adult, 35 cents student and 25 cents small child. Proceeds over and above expenses go into the Midway athletic fund.

Schoolboy Cage Campaign Comes To Halt This Week

By The Associated Press The ponderous Texas schoolboy basketball campaign ends for all except 176 teams this week. They are the district champions to be determined in five divisions.

Next week Class AAA and AAA will decide bi-district champions, each class sending four teams to the tournament in Austin March 3. Classes AA and A will decide four regional champions each while Class B will send eight regional winners to the state tournament.

Only three district champions have been determined in Class AAAA thus far—Poly of Fort Worth, Crozier Tech of Dallas and Waco. Pampa, the defending state champion, is in a playoff with San Angelo to decide the District 1 title.

Class AAA has six of eight district champions—Plainview, Sherman, Kilgore, McCallum of Austin, French of Beaumont and Harlingen. The defending state champion, Alamo Heights of San Antonio, is in a tie with Victoria for the district lead.

Class AA has determined these district champions: Phillips, Childress, Stamford, Seminole, Alpine, Coleman, Stephenville, Birdville, Lancaster, Athens, Mt. Vernon, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Spring Branch, West, Gatesville, San Marcos, Beeville, Webster, Nederland, Uvalde, South San Antonio, Freer and Weslaco.

Class A district champions determined include Cross Plains, Merkel, Pevitt, Thordale, Cypress-Fairbanks, Boerne and Sundeen.

Class B district champions include Quitaque, Megargel, Avoca.

WEST ZONE Standings: Team, W, L, Pct. Odessa 4-0 .800, Amarillo 3-1 .750, Frank Phillips 2-2 .500, Colorado 1-3 .250

Stanton Visits W'face Tonite

STANTON (SC)—Larry Wartes takes his Stanton Buffaloes to Whiteface today for the opening of a best of three game basketball series that will determine the District 4-A champion.

Stanton won South Half honors last week while Whiteface defeated Suddow in a special playoff 56-50.

The Buffaloes from Martin County will not be at full strength. Burley Polk, their leading scorer, is out of action with an injury and Wartes thinks he will miss the entire series.

Jimmy Henson, Mike Baulich and Reggie Myrick will feature the Stanton attack while Whiteface's offense is built around Reese Washington, Weldon Curbo and L. S. Salsner.

The second game of the series takes place in Stanton Thursday night.

If a third game is needed, it will probably be played at a neutral site.

Whiteface is favored to win the series but Wartes is confident his boys are capable of springing some surprises, even without Polk.

ROUGHIES TANGLE

Gallagher, Ross In Tag Match

Tag team wrestling matches, as a rule, pit a "clean" duo against a so-called "dirty" team, but on tonight's card at The Howard County Fair building two "rough" or unscrupulous teams are pitted against each other.

On one side is Doc Gallagher and Tony Ross, combining forces for the first time; on the other, Angelo Poffo and Boris Kameroff, who have worked together before this meeting.

John "Doc" Gallagher, from Bayonne, N. J., is one of the roughest in the business, and doesn't mind admitting it. A qualified and accepted artist in chiropractic, Gallagher knows all the bones, muscles and nerves, and he works on them when he's wrestling.

Doc's partner in this event is a newcomer, probably, to the Big Spring territory. Tony Ross, a three-quarter Indian from Salem, Oregon, is known in the wrestling world as "Tough Tony," a strong man who wrestles roughly.

Angelo Poffo, an Italian who lives in Chicago, and Boris Kameroff, a Russian who lives in New Haven, Conn., are also on the rough side. The referee — and there should be at least two of them — will have earned his pay when settlements are made.

Poffo, once known as Tony Angelo, has changed his style on end. Once he was a tall, dark and handsome Italian with blue eyes and a clean attitude toward TONY ROSS wrestling. He got mixed up somewhere and now he has adopted a different style of approach and adventure. Whereas he was a modest gent, with anger toward none, he now is a full-fledged, arrogant, dresy, colorful menace to any wrestler who opposes him. He dresses flamboyantly, acts accordingly, and he is a strong, big man who can hold his own in the junior heavyweight classification.

Luis Martinez, from Mexico and Chicago, meets, or challenges, Con Bruno of Athens, Greece, in the semi-final, two best falls or 45 minutes. In the opener, one fall or 15 minutes, two principals of the main event, Poffo and Ross, meet in a warm-up which might have dire reverberations.

The show begins at 8:15 p.m.

Independent Tourney Slated For Knott

A six-team tournament for independent teams will be held at Knott starting Thursday and continuing through Saturday, Darrell Shortes has announced.

Bracket for the meet is being drawn up today. The Phillips 66 team will be the host quintet.

Jayhawks Bid For 25th Win In Abilene Game Tonight

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, with the West Zone basketball championship safely tucked away, mark time for their Friday night clash with Odessa in Odessa by meeting the HSU Buttons in Abilene this evening.

The Jayhawks hold one victory over the Buttons, having lashed them here in early December, 91-66. The locals may not be meeting the same team, however, since the HSU lineup has undergone several changes.

HCJC, which is already entered in the Region V and State Tournaments, will be seeking its 25th victory in 27 starts. Only Schreiner

Connors Is Top Rated In Meet

AMARILLO (AP) — The Connors State Aggies of Oklahoma head the field in the Region 5 junior college basketball tournament scheduled here next week.

Connors won the title last season, went to the national junior college tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., and is improved over last year, its coach, Lee Galloway, said.

Howard County College also is entered. Six teams are to be named.

Rice's Smackover Well Comes In

HOUSTON (AP)—The first Texas producer in the Smackover zone oil field has begun a flow expected to send six million dollars into the Rice Institute treasury.

Rice gets the first six million from a 3-32nds share of royalties on the 1 Joe Ross Heirs wildcat. The athletic department will have first call on the money.

The well produced a flow of 121.49 barrels of 50.1 gravity oil on a quarter-inch choke.

Jones Resigns

RANKIN (AP)—D. E. Jones has resigned as head football coach of Rankin High School but will remain in the school as a teacher and coach of girls basketball.

WEEK'S SPORTS MENU IN BS

Economy Run For Cars Set For March 14

The 1955 Mobilgas Economy Run will follow a rugged new course from Los Angeles to the foot of Pike's Peak on March 14, 15, and 16, it was announced today by Guy L. Tate, vice president of Magnolia Petroleum Company, co-sponsor of the event with its affiliate, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company and General Petroleum Corporation.

Tate said that for the first time in the history of the annual Economy Run all competing cars will be equipped with automatic transmissions. This ruling, he said, was made because most American automobiles manufactured today are equipped with automatic transmissions, and standard shifts soon may almost disappear from passenger automobiles.

The Economy Run, which annually puts America's new crop of passenger cars to a severe gasoline mileage test for the benefit of the motoring public, is sanctioned and supervised by the American Automobile Association.

Tate said the 1955 run will begin at 12:01 a. m. Monday, March 14, in Los Angeles and will terminate at the Broadmoor Hotel, Colorado Springs, Colorado, the afternoon of March 16. Awards will be presented March 17.

The exact route to be followed by competitors in the run will be designed by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, an affiliate of the AAA. It will remain secret until all selected automobiles have been placed under lock and key in the final impound area to prevent entrants from practicing with competing cars. The impounding of cars will be completed by March 4.
