2 Million Livestock Building To Be Opened At Fair

The big new feature of the 1959 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-25, will be the mammoth $2,000,000 Livestock Coliseum and related facilities that will go into use for the first time during the fair this fall.

Under construction on the fairgrounds for over a year, the huge steel and concrete structure is one of the finest and most modern facilities of its type in the nation.

The Coliseum occupies the site where the old fairgrounds Grandstand and Picnic Pavilion were formerly located, between the Cotton Bowl stadium and the main parking lot.

The new Coliseum will be dedicated at ceremonies on the first Saturday night of the fair, Oct. 10. During the fair, it will be the scene of the first annual State Fair of Texas Horse Show a series of competitive events for most of the light horse breeds in the country which will offer premiums totalling $34,840.

The State Fair Coliseum will have seating for 7,108 in permanent and box seats, with all seats having an unobstructed view of arena action. Seating capacity can be increased to 11,000 through use of arena space during center focus event such as boxing.

Observation facilities for judges and officials and for press, radio and TV personnel also are provided.

Adjacent to the Coliseum is a horse building with 304 stalls of the most modern type, wash racks and tack rooms. There is a large exercise space next to the building.

The size and design of the new State Fair Coliseum make it one of the country's most admirable settings for major horse shows and rodeos. The Coliseum's advanced acoustical treatment, its loud speaker system, dressing-room facilities, accessibility of the arena floor and the versatile lighting system equip it for a wide variety of functions.

Mrs. Charles Benson, right, wades knee-deep water here Tuesday, to rescue her bird and get a dress. Brooks-Macedonia Homecoming Held At Legion Hall

The 24th Brooks-Macedonia Homecoming was held in the American Legion Hall Saturday night and Sunday, July 18 and 19, with a good attendance on Saturday night. The rain cut the crowd short on Sunday.

Saturday night, games were played and all had a good time visiting. The last thing on the program was an old time spelling bee. The words were given out by Mrs. Lee Poteet. Mrs. Poteet was the first teacher at Old Brook, which was in the year 1902. Herbert Henry of Amity was the champion.

On Sunday a lot of time was spent singing and at the noon hour spread a bountiful dinner.

All reported a wonderful time.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tunnell of Tahoka, Texas; Mrs. Hugo Franke and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bennett of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Welch of Carrizo Springs; Mrs. Lorene Brown, Fort Worth; Wayne Swift, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Boyd and Miss Nell Barnes of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Archer and son, of Cisco; Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Buzzbee of Cross Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harris and Jack and Mr. and Mrs. Ruble Johnson of Wichita Falls; Mrs. R. J. Cason of Lake Jackson, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henry, Miss Elizabeth Robertson and Norman Ray of May;

Mr. and Mrs. John Boydston of Muleshoe; Master Hank Frankenburg of San Angelo; Walter Hetny of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Proffitt, Hobbs, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Will Parker, Hico; Mrs. Corinne Hopper, Mrs. Ethel Parker, Mrs. Myrtle Angel, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Harris, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Swift, Mrs. Lillian Valliant, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wilson, Claude Parker, J. T. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Irby, Mrs. Lee Poteet, Mrs. Beyrly Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Inglet, Wanda and Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Duggan, John Nunnally, Mrs. Ethel Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. West, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hull, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Petzell and Sammy, J. A. Hancock, Mrs. T. N. Nunnally, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bailey, all of May.

The city gauge recorded 3.82 inches of rain during the down-pour, which ceased about 12:45. Wednesday skies were clear and there was no further threat of rain.

Tuesday's heavy fall brought to 7.84 inches the total rainfall for six days. Monday the gauge recorded 1.60 inches.

After the flood waters had receded and residents assayed the results, the general opinion was that more good than harm had been done. For the most part the rain has fallen in a most beneficial manner, with comparatively little washing. The soil has been thoroughly soaked, and needed bottom moisture has been stored in the ground—guaranteeing plenty of season for crop making provided there will be a summer shower or two. The dry, less winter had left the soil badly depleted of this moisture.

There is plenty of water in tanks, and pastures and crops are in good shape.

Rising Star escaped a repeat performance of its 1957 flood by bare inches Tuesday morning, —inches and the saving fact of cleaner drainage channels. Four inches of rain falling in the space of two hours sent Coppas Creek, which flows under the southern part of the business district, swirling out of its banks and lapping at the thresholds of a dozen or more business houses on South Main St.

Other drainage channels were likewise overflowing with the water that poured into them from the comparatively small watershed which gathers its drainage from the northwestern part of the city and funnels it through two small creeks into Battle Creek east of the city and then into the Leon River.

Fortunately, little damage was done and the flood abated as rapidly as it had arisen, although it looked for a time, as the rain continued, that a situation as bad or worse than that which occurred in the late spring of 1957, was certain to develop.

The West Texas Utilities new office on South Main got a little water in the building, and there were seepages into some of the other buildings in that area, but quick work on the part of the occupants who dammed back the waters with planks, sacks of sand and even bran, kept the flood at bay. Roach Motor Co., Gregory Tractor, the offices of and E. M. Howard, oil man, the Joyce Insurance Agency, Nichols TV and Appliances, and the Avolon Beauty Shop and the Rosa Van Beauty Shop were among the businesses threatened. A city gas line was broken when debris piled against it in the rush of water.

Sections of the residential area in northwest and south Rising Star were likewise flooded, with the water, in some instances rising almost to the floor level.

Water ran over Highway 133 south of town and over State 36 in front of the Rising Star hospital to a depth of a foot or so.

Water flooded some of the residential area on south Main, and portions of Pioneer Street and Horton Street were under water. The area about the elementary school looked for a time like a solid lake.

However, the City reported little damage to its streets, with some washing in the northwest portion of the city which will require repairs. The broken gas line near the old post-office building in South Main was repaired quickly.

Furniture and appliances in the West Texas Utilities office and in the offices of Mrs. Boase and Mr. Howard were lifted and placed on blocks which kept them free from damage. Volunteers worked feverishly in assisting the occupants of the places to guard against the rising flood.

The city gauge recorded 3.82 inches of rain during the down-pour, which ceased about 12:45. Wednesday skies were clear and there was no further threat of rain.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By OMAR BURLESON
Cong. 17th Texas District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The re ought to be a law!" How often we have heard this. In come instances it would be entirely appropriate to say there should not be a law.

That is about the situation connected with efforts to produce some sort of a labor reform bill in the Congress. The recently passed by the U. S. Senate by a vote of 90 to 1 seemingly pleases no one. On the other hand, at the time of passage the only real opposition was to the so-called McClellan "Bill of Rights".

Since the bill is now in the House, it is opposed by the US Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and the large labor unions. This all makes for very strange bedfellows. Of course, they oppose it for different reasons. The N A M and the US Chamber of Commerce says the bill is too weak. Many labor union leaders say it is too strong. All of them say they are opposed to corruption, but supposedly everyone is also against crime and sin, unless it is Jimmy Hoffa.

Just being against corruption does not require much courage, nor does it say in specifics what is being opposed or advocated. Comparatively few people have had occasion to read the Kennedy-Ervin Bill or the several bills pending in the House proposed as substitutes for the Senate measure.

Sweeping generalities made for the purpose of arousing the emotions among various segments of the population is not something on which legislation can be based. Legislation must deal with the exact and technical language which is to become law. Platitudes are not that kind of language.

Unless one looks at the situation realistically and from the standpoint of enacting a good law, he will reach conclusions only on what he hears and what he reads. If what one hears and what he reads is from only source and based only on the proposition there ought to be a law, the opinion may be based on emotion.

For practical purposes legislation is usually a matter of compromise to attain the possible.

Bids On Wildlife Refuge Structures Being Sought

AUSTIN, July 17—Bids are being sought in the construction of two compartments of the Big Hill Bayou wildlife refuge, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The work will consist of building two compartments or lakes on the marshy area, for a waterfowl refuge. Each unit will cover approximately 500 acres.

The estimated cost is in excess of $200,000 and 200 working days will be allowed for completion of the project.

The State bought the 8,000 acre Big Hill Bayou tract a year ago. Controlled hunting was permitted on the wetlands during the season. Since that time, however, engineers and biologists have been working up plans for the improvement which will continue by stages until provision is made for fresh water and feed over the entire 8,000 acres.

The project is just a short distance from Port Acres in Jefferson County. It is completely surrounded by other marshland and is recognized as tops in waterfowl concentra-

Homemakers News and Views

This week—National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25—emphasizes that "Safety Makes Sense." Farm families who continually include safety in their plans and work are award of this. Safe farming and living saves time, money, sound bodies, carefree hours and even life. Safety that saves makes sense.

How can we measure the savings of farm safety? Does one death a year for every 1,700 farm people seem a small accident toll in county? Remember, that is what makes up the alarming national total of 12,000 deaths from farm accidents. For every fatal farm accident there are also about 80 time-loss injuries including many cases of permanent disability. For every serious injury there are also scores of minor injuries and close calls. Exposure to hazard and harm is reduced only by planning and working for safety.

Our objective is to establish safety in farm living. Farm safety activities aim at developing the attitudes, customs and environment for safe living for every member of the family every day in the year. In the vital contest of Education vs. Accidents, the score should be Safety Education, 100 percent; Accidents, zero.

Homemakers are sometimes puzzled over causes for improper jelling, sugar crystallization, "weeping" and cloudiness in homemade jellies. Some causes for this are:

Sugar crystallization may be caused by an excess of sugar, insufficient acid, overcooking or delay in sealing.

Weeping results when the juice used is too high in acid content.

Cloudiness may be caused by imperfect straining, or by starch in underripe fruit—often found in apple and crabapple jelly.

Failure to form jelly is due to an improper balance of pectin, sugar, and acid. This improper balance may be caused by overcooking or undercooking the jelly, but undercooking the fruit in extracting the juice using too much water in extracting the juice or using fruit which is too ripe.

Mold or fermentation of jelly may be caused by storage in warm or damp places, failure to sterilize glasses, imperfect sealing with paraffin, or not enough sugar.

Make sure of good results in commended methods. Get a copy of MP-279, How To Make Jellies, Jams, and Preserves at Home, from your home demonstration agent. It gives directions and recipes for a variety of jellies, jams, preserves, marmalades and fruit butters.

Survey Reveals Need for Cattle Theft Prevention

What are the main problems of modern ranchers? What is being done to solve them?

In search of answers to these and other questions, the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, 83 year old "grandfather" of all livestock associations with more than 10,000 members, sponsored a survey of cattlemen's opinions, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at A & M College.

During the long history of TSCRA, many aspects of ranching in Texas have changed completely. The survey revealed, however, that cattlemen are still struggling with their traditional enemies: rustlers, drought and disease. Although the drought problem may never be "solved," cattlemen are learning more each year about water conservation and drought-resistant grasses. Laws recently enacted by the Texas Legislature point the way to solution of animal health problems.

Cattle theft is still a serious problem to producers, according to the survey, and cattlemen still look to TSCRA inspectors for protection. Although rustlers can no longer drive off entire herds, fast pick-up trucks which occasionally steal into modern fenced pastures sometimes carry off one or more registered animals worth more than a hundred native steers.

Ninety per cent of the cattlemen queried in the survey listed brand inspection, which discourages theft and the recovery of stolen cattle as the most beneficial services performed by TSCRA.

Files containing detailed information on the ownership of more than 230,000 registered brands are maintained in the Association's Fort Worth office. At cattle sales all over the state, TSCRA inspectors note the vendor's name, license number of the truck which delivered the cattle to market, and the brands of all cattle sold. This service is rendered at 100 posted and six non-posted markets. If a rancher reports a steer branded "X" on the right hip as strayed or stolen, chances are the sale is listed on a TSCRA inspector's report. Armed with this evidence, the inspector works with law enforcement officers until the thief is apprehended, and either the animal or the proceeds from the sale is returned to the owner.

In many sections of the state, TSCRA inspectors work so closely with cattlemen that they memorize the brands of most cattle raisers in their districts. Their knowledge of cattle is invaluable not only to cattle owners, but to law enforcement officers as well.

As a result of Association efforts, 1,634 head of cattle valued at $222,681.32 were returned to their owners during 1958. Association Officials estimate that during the past 20 years more than $30,000,000 worth of strayed or stolen livestock has been recovered.

Theft prevention is possibly the most valuable aspect of TSCRA's brand inspection system. "A TSCRA membership sign on your gate scares off most cattle thieves" many ranchers said.

In answer to survey questions, many cattlemen urged stricter brand laws. Several cattlemen suggested that the Association should work with the Legislature on a uniform brand law requiring brand registration every three years.

There is currently no time limit on brand ownership. In 1943, county clerk's record books were bulging with brands no longer in use, and the Legislature passed a law nullifying all Texas brands, giving owners two years in which to re-record their brands. TSCRA 230,000-card brand file is composed of brands which have been recorded since that date.

One cattlemen, not a member of the Association, suggested that a uniform brand law should designate the Association as the official organization to handle brand registration on a fee basis. He pointed out that with a bigger staff and with brand registration tied in with cattle sales inspection, the sale of stolen cattle within the state would become virtually impossible. The A & M research staff reported there seemed to be a general feeling among cattlemen that if a plan of this sort could be made law, cattle theft could be greatly decreased.

About Your Health

Six years ago, more than 230,000 new Texans were born, and they will be entering school for the first time in both public and private schools in September.

The right preparation for those first school days is vital and adjustment of your child in his new environment.

If he has an older brother or sister the task will be easier, but still there are many steps of getting ready for school before September 1.

Some effort should be made to make it clear to the child that he will be on his own — without Mom or Dad watching over him all the time — a good while before that first day of school.

Clothing should be given much thought. Check the habits of your local school and find out what is the predominant mode of dress. If all boys wear long pants, by all means make sure your son has them too.

Make sure everything is large enough, but not baggy or his classmates will make fun of him.

Proper nutrition is very important. When school starts allow enough time in the morning for a wholesome breakfast. A good breakfast includes citrus fruit or juice, milk, whole grain cereal or bread, eggs, or bacon or both.

Lunch and dinner should be leisurely and pleasant too. The new adventure of school is pretty fast paced, but meal-time offers an opportunity for the family to pause and enjoy being together.

Now is the time to check up on your school's requirements regarding vaccinations or other health measures and take care of them well in advance.

"I Give You Texas"

By Boyce House

If Alaska is the state that's farthest north, why Texas is the state that's farthest south.

Some of Alaska's mountians may be taller—mind you, I said are closer to the stars. This is because the air above them is so clear. That's why the finest view of the heavens in all the world is through the observatory on top of Mt. Locke in the Davis Mountains.

I knew two brothers. One was straight-laced and the other was a rollicking, happy-go-lucky sort—in fact, he liked to "tread the primrose path", as the poet puts it. This brother had a heart attack and his upright brother said, "I warned you that your drinking and carrying on would have to be paid for." The other replied, "Thunder! I've lived a dozen lives."

"Space men", junior, are nothing new.

I have known quite a few; in fact, I was one myself. When I was editor of the Banner in Piggott, Ark., I also wrote news for the Memphis Commercial Appeal and the Arkansas Gazette. I kept a 'string'—that I clipped out the items as they were published and pasted them and sent the string at the end of the month as I was paid my rates. So that made me a string man, didn't it?

The high brow magazine print a few productions each month that are supposed to lines:

"Silence spoke with you Voice As you slept."

This, as near as I can figure out, means—if it means anything—that the fellow snored.

James P. Eagle, who served as governor of Arkansas brought his bride from Kentucky and he named their residence, "the Eyrie" (The Eagle home.)

Some unknown authority oratory gave this advice, "Be low and go slow; rise high and make a fire; then grow warm and raise a storm."

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Winfrey on July in Eastland Hospital. His name is Michael Lynn Winfrey, and he weighed 6 lbs. 8 oz. They have another son, Tony, who four years old.
